The Living Path

Celestial Whispers to the New Humanity

Containing
The Old Path: Born of Stardust
and
The New Path: Born of the Eternal Spark

Casper, Wyoming 82609

The Living Path: Celestial Whispers to the New Humanity ®
Copyright © 2025 by Brillaris LLC
All rights reserved

Published by Brillaris
Casper, Wyoming 82609, U.S.A

Library of Congress Control Number: 2025930182

“The Living Path,” the “Celestial Whispers to the New Humanity,” “The Old Path: Born of Stardust,” “The New Path: Born of the Eternal Spark,” “TLP” and the BRILLARIS logo are trademarks registered in the United States by Brillaris LLC. Use of any of these trademarks requires the permission by Brillaris LLC

The text of The Living Path may be quoted by any form (written, visual, electronic or audio) up to and inclusive of five hundred (500) verses without express written permission oof the publisher, providing the verses quoted do not amount to a complete book of The Living Path nor do the verses quoted account for 25 percent or more of the total text of the work in which they are quoted.

Notice of copyright must appear on the title or copyright page of the work as follows:

Passages taken from The Living Path ®. Copywrite © 2025 by Brillaris LLC. Used by permission of Brillaris. All rights reserved.

When quotations from The Living Path are used in non-salable media such as bulletins, orders of service, posters, transparencies or similar media from-- bars, prisons, brothels, churches, mosques, Hindu temples, stupas, pagodas, Jain temples, synagogues, gurdwaras, cathedrals, basilicas, chapels, monasteries, Shinto shrines, pagodas, meeting houses, madirs, ashrams, Zoroastrian fire temples, Bahia houses of worship, meditation centers, prayer halls, kivas, sweat lodges or other communities –a complete copyright is not required but the initials 'TLP' must appear at the end of each quotation.

Any commentary or other reference work referring to The Living Path produced for commercial sale that uses The Living Path must obtain written permission for use of the TLP text.

Permission requests for commercial use within the U.S. and Canada that exceed the above guidelines must be directed, and approved in writing by Brillaris LLC, 5830 East 2nd Street, Suite 7000 #18605, Casper, WY 82609

Table of Contents

` The Old Path: Born of Stardust 1
~ 101 | Inception | Genesis 2
~ 102 | Celestial Deliverance | Exodus 75
~ 103 | Captain's Directives for Living Pure | Leviticus 131
~ 104 In the Wilderness | Numbers 170
~ 105 | Essences | Deuteronomy 221
~ 106 | Yehoshua | Joshua 268
~ 107 | Peacemakers | Judges 300
~ 108 | Friend | Ruth 327
~ 109 | 1 Shmu'el | 1 Samuel 331
~ 110 | 2 Shmu'el | 2 Samuel 368
~ 111 | 1 Sovereigns | 1 Kings 397
~ 112 | 2 Sovereigns | 2 Kings 435
~ 113 | 1 Narratives | 1 Chronicles 471
~ 114 | 2 Narratives | 2 Chronicles 509
~ 115 | The-Helper | Ezra 554
~ 116 | The-Comforter | Nehemiah 568
~ 117 | The Covert Intervener | Esther 587
~ 118 | The Persecuted | Job 596
~ 119 | Proclamation Songs | Psalms 631
~ 120 | Wisdom | Proverbs 732
~ 121 | Purpose | Ecclesiastes 764
~ 122 | The Allegory | Song of Songs 775
~ 123 | The Rescuer | Isaiah 783
~ 124 | Ascension | Jeremiah 850
~ 125 | Inner Grievings | Lamentations 921
~ 126 | My Strengthener | Ezekiel 928
~ 127 | My Judge | Daniel 991
~ 128 | My Salvation | Hosea 1010
~ 129 | My Sovereign Captain | Joel 1021
~ 130 | My Transporter | Amos 1026
~ 131 | Servitude | Obadiah 1034
~ 132 | The Dove | Jonah 1036

~ 133 | The Promise | Micah 1039
~ 134 | Downfall | Nahum 1046
~ 135 | The Wrestler | Habakkuk 1049
~ 136 | Treasured | Zephaniah 1052
~ 137 | My Holidays | Haggai 1056
~ 138 | My Remembrance | Zechariah 1059
~ 139 | My Messenger | Malachi 1071
` The New Path: Born Of The Eternal Spark 1076
~ 201 | Promise and Fulfillment | Matthew 1077
~ 202 | The Mystery | Mark 1132
~ 203 | The Promise Has Arrived | Luke 1163
~ 204 | Humanity Empowerment | John 1217
~ 205 | Movement | Acts 1260
~ 206 | Inclusion | Romans 1307
~ 207 | 1 Sophisticates | 1 Corinthians 1329
~ 208 | 2 Sophisticates | 2 Corinthians 1351
~ 209 | Celtics | Galatians 1364
~ 210 | Consummation | Ephesians 1372
~ 211 | Contentment | Philippians 1380
~ 212 | Be Transformed | Colossians 1386
~ 213 | 1 Standfast | 1 Thessalonians 1392
~ 214 | 2 Standfast | 2 Thessalonians 1397
~ 215 | 1 Timotheos | 1 Timothy 1400
~ 216 | 2 Timotheos | 2 Timothy 1406
~ 217 | Transformed | Titus 1411
~ 218 | Brotherhood | Philemon 1414
~ 219 | The Promised People | Hebrews 1416
~ 220 | New Wisdom | James 1432
~ 221 | Hope | 1 Peter 1438
~ 222 | Pursuit | 2 Peter 1444
~ 223 | 1 Empowerment | 1 John 1448
~ 224 | 2 Empowerment | 2 John 1455
~ 225 | 3 Empowerment | 3 John 1456
~ 226 | Stay Trustworthy | Jude 1457
~ 227 | Disclosure | Revelation 1459

The Old Path: Born of Stardust

~ 101 | Inception | Genesis

§ 10030 THE INCEPTION

1 In the inception, the Preeminent Sovereign formed the celestial realms and the terrestrial sphere.

2 In the initial state, the planet was shapeless and vacant, with obscurity covering the expanse of the abyss. At the same time, the Eternal Spark lingered above the aqueous domain.
3 At the Preeminent Sovereign's command, brilliant light burst forth and illuminated everything.
4 On observing the brilliance, the Preeminent Sovereign acknowledged its goodness and clearly distinguished between the light and the darkness.
5 The Preeminent Sovereign named the light "day," and He called the darkness "night." There was an evening, and then there was a morning—the first inception cycle.

6 The Preeminent Sovereign declared, "Let there be an expanse amidst the waters, and let it form a partition between the waters, separating one from the other."
7 So, the Preeminent Sovereign created the expanse, and it caused a division between the waters below the expanse and the waters above it. This act precisely came as the Preeminent Sovereign had commanded.
8 The Preeminent Sovereign named the expanse "celestial realms." As the inception cycle ended and dawn arrived, the second inception cycle began.

9 The Preeminent Sovereign commanded, "Let the waters beneath the celestial realms come together into a single spot and let dry land emerge." And indeed, it happened just as the Preeminent Sovereign had conveyed.
10 The Preeminent Sovereign named the dry ground "Earth" and the converged waters He called "oceans." And the Preeminent Sovereign observed that it was promising.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign commanded, Let vegetation sprout on Earth: trees yielding fruit with seeds and plants bearing kernels, each according to its kind. And it occurred just as the Preeminent Sovereign had expressed.

12 The Earth brought forth an assortment of vegetation, with plants producing seeds according to their separate kinds and trees carrying fruit with seeds in them according to their sorts. The Preeminent Sovereign observed and acknowledged that it was brilliant.
13 The evening arrived, and dawn followed—the third inception cycle.

14 And the Preeminent Sovereign commanded, "Let there be luminaries in the expanse of the celestial realms to distinguish between the daytime and the nighttime, 15 and let them exist for signs that honor set-apart times, days, and years." And it came to pass.
16 The Preeminent Sovereign created two magnificent lights: the larger one to rule the daytime and the smaller one to govern the night. He also fashioned the stars.
17 The Preeminent Sovereign placed the lights in the expanse of the celestial realms to illuminate the Earth,
18 to preside over the day and the night and to distinguish light from the darkness. The Preeminent Sovereign celebrated that it was immaculate, 19 and the evening came, and then dawn—the fourth inception cycle.

20 The Preeminent Sovereign commanded, “Let a profusion of life fill the rivers, and let birds soar above the planet in the vastness of the celestial spheres.”
21 The Preeminent Sovereign gave life to all aquatic life, including all majestic marine monsters, each according to its kind and every flying bird belonging to its kind. The Preeminent Sovereign observed that it was awesome.
22 The Preeminent Sovereign empowered them, expressing, “Procreate and prosper, replenishing the waters of the oceans, and let the birds thrive and increase in numbers on the Earth.”
23 And evening arrived, and dawn followed—the fifth inception cycle.

24 The Preeminent Sovereign commanded, “Let the planet produce life by each species’ needs:
domesticated animals, creatures that crawl on the ground, and wild creatures, each according to its kind.” And it came to pass.
25 The Preeminent Sovereign created the creatures of the Earth, each according to its kind: wild animals, domesticated animals, and all the crawling creatures. And the Preeminent Sovereign regarded that it was favorable.
26 “We shall make humanity resembling Us, with authority to command the fish in the water, the avian species in the skies, the farm animals, all the untamed creatures, and every crawling animal on the Earth,” declared the Preeminent Sovereign.
27 So the Preeminent Sovereign fashioned humankind in His likeness, resembling the Preeminent Sovereign’s image; He created both male and female.
28 The Preeminent Sovereign favored them and instructed them, “Procreate and prosper; let the Earth be filled and be subjected to your sovereignty. Exercise authority over the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, and every living creature that wanders the land.”
29 The Preeminent Sovereign declared, “Pay Heed!, I nourish you with every plant bearing grain throughout the entire Earth and every tree bearing fruit with seeds. They shall be your food.
30 To every living creature of the land, to every bird soaring in the celestial realms, and to all the creatures that crawl on the Earth—every being possessing the breath of life—I grant every verdant herb for sustenance.” And it came to pass as such.
31 The Preeminent Sovereign looked over His creation, which was exceedingly good. With the passing of eve and the arrival of dawn, inception cycle six came to completion.

2 So, the celestial realms and the Earth were completed with their entire array.
2 By the seventh inception cycle, the Preeminent Sovereign had completed the task He had been working on, so He rested on the seventh day, ceasing all His labor.

3 The Preeminent Sovereign honored and recognized the seventh inception cycle as exalted.
For on that inception cycle, He refrained from all the endeavors of creation that He had accomplished."

§ 10040 ADAM AND EVE

4 This account is the chronicle of the universe and the Earth at their inception. The Sovereign
Captain brought forth the Earth and the celestial realms.
5 At that time, no shrubs or plants existed on Earth because the Sovereign Captain had not sent rain, and no one could cultivate the ground.
6 However, an aquifer emerged out of the Earth and moistened all the more elevated parts of the Earth.

7 Then the Sovereign Captain formed a human from the smallest elements of the earth and infused them with the breath of life, making them a living, vibrant being.

8-9 The Eternal Reality designed a beautiful space full of life, like a carefully curated urban oasis, where every plant serves a purpose—nourishing, inspiring, and creating a sense of belonging., where He placed the man He had shaped.

10 A brook arose from Eternal Reality's garden, providing water to the garden, and from there, it branched out into four separate rivers.
11 The first river, the Pishon, flowed throughout Havilah's territory, where precious gold was abundant.
12 The gold in that region is of high quality, and aromatic resin and onyx stones were also found there.
13 The Gihon, the second river, encircles the whole territory of Cush.

14 The third river, called the Tigris, flowed East of Assyria. The fourth river was the Euphrates.

15 The Sovereign Captain placed the man in the Eternal Reality's garden, assigning him to care for it and look after it.
16 The Sovereign Captain gave the man this instruction: "You may consume any fruit from any plant in the garden, 17 but you are forbidden to partake of the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, for on the day you partake of it, you will surely meet death."
18 The Sovereign Captain declared, "It is not beneficial for the man to be alone; therefore, I will create a companion who perfectly suits him."

19 The Sovereign Captain had shaped all the creatures of the wild and every bird of the sky from the fertile ground. He presented them to the man to determine what names he would grant to them. Whatever name the man assigned to each living being became its identity.
20 The man named all the domesticated animals, all the birds soaring above, and all the feral creatures. Yet, for Adam, there was no fitting companion to be found.
21 So Yahweh Elohim, the Preeminent Sovereign, induced a profound slumber on the man. As he slept, He extracted one of the man's ribs and sealed the opening with flesh.
22 Then Yahweh Elohim formed a woman from the rib He had taken from the man and brought her to the man.
23 The man exclaimed, "This is part of me, my flesh and bone. She will be known as a 'woman' because she was taken from a man."
24 Therefore, a man forsakes his father and mother and joins with his wife, becoming one entity.
25 Adam and his wife were unclothed and experienced no embarrassment. "

§ 10050 THE FALL

3 The serpent, the most cunning of all the creatures the Sovereign Captain had created, questioned the woman, "Did the Preeminent Sovereign genuinely say that you are not allowed to consume from any tree in the garden?"
2 The woman responded to the serpent, "We are allowed to partake of the fruit from most of the trees in the garden.

3 The Preeminent Sovereign explicitly warned, ‘You are forbidden to consume the tree fruit of the Knowledge of Good and Evil situated at the garden’s center. You must not even touch it, for doing so will lead to death. ’”
4 The serpent assured the woman, “You will not face death.
5 The Preeminent Sovereign knows that your eyes will be opened on eating from it, and you will gain knowledge of good and evil, much like the Preeminent Sovereign Himself.”

6 Observing that the tree’s fruit was both delicious and visually appealing and held the promise of wisdom, the woman took some and ate it. She also shared some with her husband, who was beside her, and he, too, partook of it.
7 At that moment, their eyes were opened, and they became aware of their nakedness. Hastily, they joined fig leaves together and fashioned coverings for themselves.

8 At that moment, the man and his wife perceived the sound of the Sovereign Captain moving about in the garden during the refreshing evening breeze. They concealed themselves from the Sovereign Captain among the garden’s trees.
9 The Sovereign Captain called out to the man, inquiring, “Where are you?”
10 He responded, “I heard Your presence in the garden, and I felt fear due to my nakedness. So,
I concealed myself.”

11 He inquired, “Who informed you of your nakedness? Did you partake of the tree I prohibited you from eating?”
12 He confessed, “The woman you placed here as my companion; she offered me fruit from the tree, and I consumed it.”

13 Next, the Sovereign Captain asked the woman, “What have you perpetrated?” The woman confessed, “The serpent led me astray, and I partook of it.”
14 Then, the Sovereign Captain addressed the serpent: “Due to your actions, you shall be under a curse more severe than any livestock or wild creatures. You will slither on your belly and consume dust throughout your existence.
15 I shall set hostility between you and the woman and between your descendants and hers; she will shatter your head, and you will aim to harm her heel.”

16 The Preeminent Sovereign declared to the woman, “I will intensify the distress of childbirth, and with painful labor, you will bring forth children. You will long for your husband, who will hold authority over you.”
17 The Preeminent Sovereign addressed Adam, “Since you heeded your wife and ate from the tree I forbade you to eat, the ground will be cursed because of you. You will have to work hard and toil to eat from it all the days of your life.
18 The ground will yield thorns and prickly weeds, and you will consume the plants of the field.
19 Through hard work, you will earn your living until the end of your life, when you return to the basic elements you were made from. You are formed from the earth, and to the earth, you will return.

20 Adam named his wife “Eve,” foreseeing that she would be the progenitor of all living beings.
21 The Eternal Reality fashioned clothing from animal skins and dressed Adam and his wife.

22 And the Eternal Reality Innovator said, “Now that humans know the difference between good and evil, they are starting to resemble Us. We cannot permit them to extend their hands and partake of the fruit of the Tree of Eternity, thereby living forever.”

23 Therefore, the Sovereign Captain expelled him from the Eternal Reality's garden and sent him to cultivate the soil from which he had been formed.
24 Once the man was banished from the Eternal Reality's garden, the Preeminent Sovereign positioned a Celestial Envoy with a flaming tactical blade that patrolled the path to the Tree of Eternity by going up and down on the eastern side of the garden. “

§ 10060 CAIN AND ABEL

4 Once Adam and Eve got to know each other well, Eve became pregnant and gave birth to Cain. Joyfully, she exclaimed, “With the assistance of the Sovereign Captain, I have brought forth a man.”
2 Afterwards, she bore his brother, Abel. Abel tended to flocks of livestock, while Cain toiled as a farmer.

3 Eventually, Cain presented an offering to the Sovereign Captain, bringing some of the crops from the soil as his gift.
4 Abel offered an offering to the Sovereign Captain, bringing some of the best parts from the first-born of his livestock as his gift. the Sovereign Captain looked favorably on Abel and his offering.
5 However, the Preeminent Sovereign did not favor Cain and his offering. As a result, Cain became extremely angry, and his look showed disappointment.
6 The Sovereign Captain asked Cain, “Why are you angry? Why does your face show such despair?”
7 “If you make worthy choices, you’ll be welcomed. But if you don’t, temptation is lurking like a scammer waiting at your doorstep—it wants to take over your life, but you must take control.”

8 “Let us go outside to the field,” Cain told his brother Abel. Abel’s brother Cain rose against him and killed him when they were out in the field.
9 The Sovereign Captain asked Cain, “Where is your brother, Abel?” Cain responded, “I do not know his whereabouts. Am I responsible for my brother’s actions?”
10 The Sovereign Captain questioned Cain, “What have you done? Pay heed! Your brother’s blood is crying out to me from the Earth.”
11 “You are cursed and banished from the soil, for it opened its mouth to receive your brother’s blood spilled from your hand.”
12 “When you cultivate the soil, it will no longer produce crops for you. Instead, you will become a restless wanderer without a settled home on Earth.”

13 Cain spoke to the Sovereign Captain, saying, “The burden of my punishment is too much for me to endure.”
14 “Today, you are banishing me from this land, and I will be concealed from your sight. I will become a restless drifter on the Earth, and anyone who comes across me might seek to end my life.”
15 The Sovereign Captain responded, “No, that will not happen; whoever kills Cain shall face sevenfold vengeance.” Then, the Sovereign Captain placed a distinguishing mark on Cain to ensure no one who encountered him would harm him.

16 Cain departed from the Sovereign Captain’s sight. He took up residence in the region of Nod, situated to the East of Eternal Reality's garden.
17 Cain was intimate with his wife, and she conceived and bore Enoch. At that time, Cain was constructing a city named after his male heir, Enoch.

18 Enoch had a male heir named Irad, and Irad became the progenitor of Mehujael. Mehujael was the forefather of Methushael, and Methushael was the ancestor of Lamech.

19 Lamech took two wives, one called Adah and the other named Zillah.
20 Adah bore Jabal, who became the forefather of those who dwelled in tents and tended to livestock.
21 His brother's name was Jubal, and he became the forefather of all those who skillfully played strung and wind instruments.
22 Zillah gave birth to Tubal-Cain, who was skilled in crafting various implements from bronze and iron. The sister of Tubal-Cain was Naamah.
23 Lamech addressed his wives, Adah and Zillah, saying, "Listen to my words; wives of Lamech, heed my speech. I have taken a man's life in self-defense because a young man hit me."
24 "If Cain's payback is sevenfold, then Lamech's punishment is seventy sevenfold."

25 Adam had intimate relations with his wife once more, and she bore a male heir whom they named Seth. She said, "Yahweh has given us another child to replace Abel because Cain ended his life."
26 Seth also became a father and named his male heir Enosh. During this period, people started invoking the name of the Eternal Reality. "

§ 10070 FROM ADAM TO NOAH

5 This account is the recorded history of Adam's descendants. When the Preeminent Sovereign brought humanity into existence, He made them in His likeness.
2 He brought them into existence as male and female, showering His empowerments on them.
He designated them as "Mankind" at the time of their creation.

3 When Adam reached 130 he became the father of a male heir who bore his resemblance, being in his image, and called this male heir Seth.
4 After the birth of Seth, Adam lived for 800 years, during which time he had additional sons and daughters.
5 Adam's entire lifespan spanned 930 years, and he eventually died.

6 When Seth reached 105 he gave life to Enosh.
7 After Enosh was born, Seth's life continued for 807 years, giving life to other sons and daughters.
8 Seth's life spanned 912 years before he died.
9 At 90, Enosh gave life to Kenan.
10 After Kenan was born, Enosh lived for 815 years; then, he had additional sons and daughters.
11 Enosh lived for a total of 905 years, and after that, he passed away.

12 When Kenan reached 70, he gave life to Mahalalel.
13 After the birth of Mahalalel, Kenan's life spanned 840 years, during which he gave life to other sons and daughters.
14 Kenan's life spanned 910 years before he died.
15 When Mahalalel reached 65, he gave life to Jared.
16 After Mahalalel gave life to Jared, he lived for 830 years and had additional sons and daughters.
17 Altogether, Mahalalel's life lasted 895 years, and he passed away.

18 When Jared reached 162, he gave life to Enoch.
19 After Jared gave life to Enoch, he lived for 800 years and had additional sons and daughters.
20 Jared's life spanned 962 years, then died.
21 When Enoch reached 65, he gave life to Methuselah.
22 After Methuselah was born to him, Enoch remained devoted to the Preeminent Sovereign for 300 years. During this time, he also had other sons and daughters.
23 Enoch's lifespan lasted 365 years.
24 Enoch trustfully walked in close fellowship with the Preeminent Sovereign. He was no longer here, for the Preeminent Sovereign took him away.

25 When Methuselah reached the age of 187 years, he gave life to Lamech.
26 Methuselah lived for 782 years and had more sons and daughters after giving birth to Lamech.
27 Altogether, Methuselah's life spanned 969 years, after which he died.
28 When Lamech reached the age of 182 years, he became the father of a male heir.
29 He called him Noah, saying, "He will bring us comfort amid the labor and painful toil of our hands due to the ground that the Sovereign Captain has cursed."
30 After the birth of Noah, Lamech lived for 595 more years and gave life to additional sons and daughters.
31 Lamech's lifespan reached 777 years, after which he died.
32 When Noah reached the age of 500, he gave life to Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

§ 10080 IMPURITY IN THE WORLD

6 As the population of humans multiplied on the Earth, daughters were born to them.
2 The Celestial Envoys of the Preeminent Sovereign beheld the beauty of human women. They took any of them they desired as their wives.
3 The Sovereign Captain declared, "My Eternal Spark will not strive with mortals indefinitely, for they are mortal beings; their days will be limited to one hundred and twenty years."
4 The Nephilim were present on the Earth during that time and even afterward when the sons of the Preeminent Sovereign mated with human women, and they bore children. These offspring were the renowned heroes of ancient times.

5 The Sovereign Captain observed the magnitude of the horror prevailing among humanity on the Earth and how every intent and thought of their inner selves was continually twisted towards evil.
6 The Sovereign Captain was sorrowful that He had created human beings on Earth, and His core was troubled.
7 So the Sovereign Captain declared, "I will erase from the Earth the human race that I have brought into existence, along with the animals, the birds, and all the creatures that crawl on the ground. I deeply regret having made them."
8 But Noah was regarded with favor in the sight of the Sovereign Captain. "

§ 10090 NOAH AND THE FLOOD

9 This account is the story of Noah and his descendants. Noah was a rightful, integrid man without fault in his generation. He lived a life of loyal devotion to the Preeminent Sovereign.

10 Japheth, Ham, and Shem were Noah's three sons.
11 Now, the world had become authentically corrupt in the eyes of the Preeminent Sovereign and was plagued with brutality.

12 The Preeminent Sovereign observed the Earth and saw its depravity, as all the inhabitants had turned away from the correct path.

13 The Preeminent Sovereign said to Noah, "I will end all humanity because their violence has overrun the Earth. I will certainly exterminate both them and the Earth."
14 "Construct a ship using cypress wood, create compartments within it, and apply pitch both inside and outside."
15 "These are the specifications for constructing it: The life barge must have a length of 157.5 meters, a height of 15.75 meters, and a width of 26.25 meters.
16 Construct a roof for the life barge, ensuring a half-meter gap below it for ventilation. Install a door on the side of the life barge and create lower, middle, and upper compartments."
17 "Pay heed: I will unleash a deluge on the Earth to obliterate all living beings under the Celestial Realms, every creature that possesses the breath of life. Everything on the Earth will be annihilated."
18 "But I will solemnly agree with you, and you shall board the life barge—you, your sons, your wife, and their sons' wives alongside you."
19 "To keep them living with you, bring two of every living thing—male and female—into the life barge.
20 Pairs of birds, animals, and creatures that crawl on the ground will come to you to be preserved.
21 You are to gather every sort of food eaten and store it away so it can serve as food for you and them."
22 Noah followed all of the Preeminent Sovereign's directives without exception.

7 The Sovereign Captain instructed Noah, "Enter the life barge, you and your entire household. I have recognized your integrity in this era.

2 Gather seven pairs of pure animals, consisting of a male and its mate, and one pair of impure animals, consisting of a male and its mate.
3 Additionally, seven pairs of each variety of flying creatures, male and female, will be included to ensure the survival of their different species across the entire planet.
4 I will destroy every living thing I have made in seven days by bringing rain to the Earth for forty days and forty nights."
5 Noah carried out all the instructions given to him by the Sovereign Captain.
6 Noah reached the age of six hundred years when the floodwaters inundated the Earth.
7 Noah and his sons and wives entered the life barge to seek refuge from the floodwaters,
8 couples of healthy and unhealthy animals, birds, and all creatures that crawl on the ground.
9 Pairs of male and female animals arrived at Noah and entered the life barge, following the Preeminent Sovereign's command.
10 The floodwaters engulfed the Earth after seven days.

11 In the six hundredth year of Noah's existence, on the seventeenth day of the second month, all the underground water sources erupted, and the floodgates of the sky were opened.
12 For forty nights and forty days, the Earth experienced nonstop rain.
13 On that very day, Noah and his three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth, entered the life barge with Noah's wife and his sons' three wives.

14 They brought along every kind of untamed creature as per its species, all domesticated animals according to their respective types, every creeping thing that crawls on the Earth as per its species, and every bird as per its species, including every winged creature.

15 They arrived in pairs, every living creature with the breath of life, and entered the life barge with Noah.
16 Males and females of every living creature entered the life barge as the Preeminent Sovereign had instructed Noah. Then, the Sovereign Captain closed the door.

17 The flood persisted for forty days, and the rising waters elevated the life barge above the Earth.
18 The waters surged and grew significantly on the Earth, causing the life barge to float on the water's surface.
19 The waters surged immensely on the Earth, and all the lofty mountains under the entire expanse of the sky were submerged.
20 The waters surged and buried the hills at more than 7.875 meters.
21 Every living creature that moved on the Earth met its end—birds, livestock, wild animals, all the creatures that teem across the land, and every human being.
22 Every living entity on dry land, whose nostrils were the breath of life, perished.
23 All living beings on the surface of the Earth were destroyed: humans, animals, crawling creatures, and birds were all obliterated from the land. Noah and those accompanying him in the life barge survived.
24 The floodwaters covered the Earth for a hundred and fifty days.

8 But the Preeminent Sovereign remembered Noah and all the wild creatures and domestic animals with him in the life barge. The Preeminent Sovereign sent a breeze across the Earth, and the waters withdrew.
2 Now, the underground springs and the floodgates of the celestial realms had been closed, and the rainfall had ceased from the sky.
3 The water gradually diminished from the Earth. After a hundred and fifty days, the water had subsided.

4 On the seventeenth day of the seventh month, the life barge finally found respite in the mountains of Ararat.
5 The waters steadily diminished until the tenth month, and the mountain peaks came into view on the first day of that month.

6 Forty days later, Noah opened a window he'd built into the life barge.
7 Noah released a raven, which circled the planet until all the water disappeared after the rain fell nonstop for forty days and forty nights.
8 He released a dove to check if the water had receded from the land's surface.
9 However, the dove found no resting place for her feet, so she returned to Noah inside the life barge. Since water still covered the Earth's entire surface, Noah reached out, took the dove, and brought it back to himself within the life barge.
10 After a seven-day wait, he again released the dove from the life barge.
11 As the dove returned to him in the evening, it held a newly plucked olive leaf in its beak. This sign assured Noah that the water had receded from the Earth.
12 After waiting another seven days, he rereleased the dove, but it did not return to him this time.

13 In Noah's six hundred and first year, the water had disappeared from the Earth on the first day of the first month. Noah uncovered the life barge and observed that the ground's surface was dry.
14 The land had dried up entirely by the second month's twenty-seventh day.
15 The Preeminent Sovereign spoke to Noah and said,
16 "Go forth from the life barge, you, your wife, your sons, and your sons' wives."
17 "Bring forth all living things that move on the Earth, including all earthly reptiles, birds, and animals. Let them multiply on the Earth, be prosperous, and increase in number."

18 So, Noah and his sons and wives emerged from the life barge.
19 Every creature, every crawling thing, and every bird—everything that moves on land—emerged from the life barge, one category after another.

20 Afterward, Noah constructed a pedestal table dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. He offered scorched absolving payments, taking some of every approved animal and bird.
21 The pleasing aroma reached the Sovereign Captain. He decided within Himself: "I will never again bring a curse on the Earth because of humans, even though every intention of their inner selves is corrupt from childhood. I will never again destroy all living creatures as I have done."
22 "As long as the world exists, the cycles of growth and renewal, the changing seasons, the rhythm of days turning into nights, and the ebb and flow of life will continue without interruption."

§ 10100 THE PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN'S PACT WITH NOAH

9 The Preeminent Sovereign empowered Noah and his sons, instructing them, "Prosper, procreate, and populate the Earth."

2 "All the animals on Earth, all the birds in the sky, all the creepy-crawly things, and all the fish in the sea will be filled with wonder and fear at your presence; they have been placed in your care.
3 Every creature alive and in motion shall sustain you. In the same way I provided you with green vegetation, I now grant you access to all nourishment."

4 "However, you are not allowed to consume meat with its lifeblood still present."
5 "Indeed, I will require an explanation for the shedding of your lifeblood. I will seek an answer from every creature and each individual as well; I will seek a justification for the taking of another person's life."

6 "If a human being spills another's blood, other humans will shed the spiller's blood because the Preeminent Sovereign created mankind in His image."
7 "And you, thrive and multiply in abundance; spread out and increase in number on the Earth."

8 The Preeminent Sovereign addressed Noah and his sons, speaking to them.
9 "Pay Heed!, I solemnly agree with you and your offspring that will come after you.
10 And with all the living creatures with you—the birds, the domesticated animals, and every beast of the Earth that came out of the life barge—every living being on the planet."
11 "I solemnly pledge to you: A flood that destroys all life will never occur again; floodwaters will not devastate the Earth."

12 And the Preeminent Sovereign declared, “Here is the signature of the solemn agreement I establish between myself and you and every living being in your company. It is an everlasting solemn agreement that will endure for all future generations.”
13 “I’ve placed my rainbow in the clouds to symbolize the solemn agreement between myself and the Earth.”
14 “Every time I cover the Earth with clouds, the rainbow becomes visible in the clouds.”
15 “I will remember the earnest agreement I made with you and all living creatures of every sort.
There shall never again be a flood to destroy all life.”

16 “Whenever the rainbow is visible in the clouds, it will serve as a reminder of the everlasting weighty agreement between the Preeminent Sovereign and all living creatures of every kind on the Earth.”

17 So the Preeminent Sovereign conveyed to Noah, “This serves as the symbol of the solemn agreement I have established between me and all living beings on the Earth.” “

§ 10110 THE HEIRS OF NOAH

18 Noah’s offspring, who emerged from the life barge, consisted of Shem, Ham, and Japheth.
Ham was the progenitor of Canaan.
19 These three individuals were Noah’s sons, and from their descendants, the entire population of the Earth spread out.

20 Noah, being a farmer, decided to cultivate the land and establish a vineyard.
21 He had a little wine, became tipsy, and fell asleep in his tent naked.
22 Ham, the father of Canaan, observed his father’s nudity and informed his two brothers standing outside.
23 But Shem and Japheth, taking a robe, placed it over their shoulders and moved backward into the tent, concealing their father’s exposed body. They deliberately turned their faces away, ensuring they did not see their father without clothes.

24 Noah regained consciousness after sobering up. He became aware of what his youngest male heir had done to him.
25 He cursed, saying, “May Canaan be cursed! He will be the most inferior of servants to his brothers.”
26 He continued, “Fortunate be the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Shem! Let Canaan serve as Shem’s enslaved servant.
27 May the Preeminent Sovereign increase the lands of Japheth, allowing him to reside within the dwellings of Shem while Canaan serves as Japheth’s servant.”

28 Noah’s life extended for 350 years after the deluge.
29 Noah’s entire lifetime lasted 950 years, and he passed away. “

§ 10120 THE TABLE OF NATIONS

10 This account is the narrative of Shem, Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah, who, in turn, became fathers after the flood.

[2] The descendants of Japheth: Japheth had descendants named Tiras, Meshek, Tubal, Javan, Madai, Magog, and Gomer.
[3] Gomer had three sons: Ashkenaz, Riphath, and Togarmah.
[4] Javan had four sons: Elishah, Tarshish, the Kittites, and the Rodanites.
[5] (From these, the coastal nations dispersed into their respective lands, each with its distinct language and communal divisions within their countries.)

[6] The descendants of Ham are Cush, Mizraim, Put, and Canaan.
[7] The descendants of Cush: Havilah, Raamah, Sabtah, Sabteca, and Seba. The descendants of Raamah: Dedan and Sheba.
[8] Cush gave Nimrod life, and Nimrod grew up to be a mighty warrior on Earth.
[9] He was a mighty hunter before the Preeminent Sovereign. So, it is said, “Like Nimrod, a mighty hunter before the Preeminent Sovereign.”
[10] The initial hubs of his realm were Babylon, Uruk, Akkad, and Kalneh, which were situated in Shinar.
[11] He journeyed from that region to Assyria and established the cities of Nineveh, Rehoboth Ir, and Calah.

[12] Resen was the grand city between Nineveh and Calah.
[13] Mizraim gave rise to the Luddites, Anamites, Lehabites, and Naphtuhites.
[14] Pathrusites, Kasluhites, and Caphtorites were the ancestors of the Philistine Warriors.
[15] Canaan gave life to Sidon, his first-born, and the Hittites.
[16] The Jebusites, the Amorites, and Girgashites,
[17] Hivites, Arkites, Sinites,
[18] Arvadites, Zemarites, and the Hamathites. Later, the Canaanites’ families were dispersed, [19] , and the Canaanites’ domain stretched from Sidon to Gaza, heading toward Gerar. Then, it extended toward Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim as far as Lasha.
[20] Their families and languages in their lands and nations identify these as the descendants of Ham.

[21] Sons were also born to Shem, who was the elder brother of Japheth; Shem was the progenitor of all the descendants of Eber.
[22] The descendants of Shem are Elam, Asshur, Arpachshad, Lud, and Aram.
[23] The descendants of Aram are Uz, Hul, Gether, and Meshek.
[24] Arphaxad’s descendants: Shelah and Shelah’s male heir: Eber.
[25] Eber had two sons: Peleg, the first, was called after the division of the planet Earth during his lifetime; his brother was named Joktan.
[26] Joktan gave life to Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, and Jerah, [27] Hadoram, Uzal, and Diklah,
[28] Obal, Abimael, and Sheba,
[29] Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab. These were all Joktan’s sons.

[30] Their inhabited territory extended from Mesha towards Sephar in the eastern mountains.
[31] Shem’s descendants are listed according to their families, languages, lands, and nations.

[32] These are the family groups originating from Noah’s sons, categorized by their lines of descent within their respective nations. The nations dispersed across the Earth following the flood from these family groups. “

§ 10130 THE TOWER OF PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN'S DISPERSION

11 Earth had one language and a shared mode of expression.
2 As people journeyed from the East, they came across a plain in the land of Shinar and chose to dwell in the city of Babel.
3 They suggested to one another, “Let’s create bricks and thoroughly bake them.” They employed bricks as a substitute for stone and tar as mortar.
4 They proposed, “Let’s construct a metropolis and a tall tower that stretches to the Celestial Realms to establish our reputation, or else we might disperse across the entire Earth.”
5 The Sovereign Captain descended to observe the city and the tower the inhabitants were constructing.
6 The Sovereign Captain observed, “Look at them, a unified people with a common language. This situation is just the beginning of their endeavors. There’s nothing they envision that will be beyond their reach.”
7 “Let’s descend and scramble up their speech so they can’t comprehend one another.”
8 The Preeminent Sovereign scattered them across the entire Earth, and their exertions to construct the city terminated.

9 That’s why it received the name Babel, as the Sovereign Captain jumbled up the entire world’s languages. From that place, the Sovereign Captain spread them across the surface of the whole Earth.

§ 10140 FROM SHEM TO ABRAM

10 This account is the record of Shem’s descendants. It was two years after the flood when Shem, at the age of 100, became the father of Arphaxad.
11 After Shem gave life to Arphaxad, he lived for 500 years and had additional sons and daughters.

12 When Arphaxad reached 35, he gave life to Shelah.
13 Arphaxad lived 403 years after Shelah was born and had additional sons and daughters.

14 When Shelah reached 30, he gave life to Eber.
15 After Shelah gave life to Eber, he lived 403 years and had additional sons and daughters.

16 When Eber reached the age of thirty-four, he gave life to Peleg.
17 After becoming Peleg’s dad, Eber lived four hundred-thirty years and had additional sons and daughters.

18 When Peleg reached 30, he gave life to Reu.
19 After giving life to Reu, Peleg lived for 209 years and had additional sons and daughters.

20 Reu reached 32 and gave life to Serug.
21 After giving life to Serug, Reu lived for 207 years and had additional sons and daughters.

22 When Serug reached 30, he gave life to Nahor.

23 After giving life to Nahor, Serug lived 200 years and had additional sons and daughters.

24 When Nahor reached 29, he gave life to Terah.
25 After Nahor gave life to Terah, he lived for 119 years and had additional sons and daughters.

26 After reaching 70, Terah gave life to Abram, Nahor, and Haran. “

§ 10150 ABRAM’S FAMILY

27 This account is the record of Terah’s descendants. Terah gave life to Abram, Nahor, and Haran. Haran gave life to Lot.

28 Haran passed away in the presence of his father, Terah, in the city of Ur in Chaldea, his birthplace.

29 Abram and Nahor entered into matrimony. Abram’s spouse was called Sarai, and Nahor’s spouse was named Milkah; she was the daughter of Haran, the father of both Milkah and Iskah.

30 Now, Sarai could not have children as she could not conceive.

31 Terah decided to journey from Ur of the Chaldeans to Canaan, taking along his male heir Abram, his grandson Lot (the male heir of Haran), and his daughter-in-law Sarai, who was the wife of Abram. However, on reaching Harran, they chose to settle there.

32 Terah’s lifespan lasted 205 years, and he passed away while residing in Harran.

§ 10160 THE CALL OF ABRAM

12 The Eternal Reality had spoken to Abram, commanding him to depart from his homeland, relatives, and his father’s house and journey to the land that would be disclosed to him.

2 The promise of the Preeminent Sovereign to Abram involved the formation of a remarkable nation with abundant empowerment given to him, resulting in the magnification of his name and the outpouring of goodness from him to others.

3 “Favor of the Preeminent Sovereign will be granted to those who show kindness and support to you, and any who speak ill or act against you will be met with celestial retaliation. Through you, all the Earth’s diverse peoples will receive empowerment and find causes to celebrate.”

4 Therefore, Abram and Lot embarked on the journey, following the Sovereign Captain’s instructions. Abram was 75 when he departed from Harran.

5 Abram left with his wife Sarai, his nephew Lot, all the belongings they had gathered, and the individuals they had acquired in Harran, and they journeyed to the land of Canaan, ultimately reaching their destination.

6 Abram journeyed across the land until he reached the location of the mighty tree of Moreh in Shechem. The Canaanites were residing in the land during that period.

7 The Sovereign Captain disclosed Himself to Abram and promised, “I will give this land to your descendants.” As a result, Abram assembled a pedestal table for the Sovereign Captain who had shown Himself to him.

8 He left that location. He traveled to the hills East of Bethel, where he pitched his tent with the city of Ai to the East and Bethel to the West. On that site, he constructed a pedestal table and invoked the Name of the Sovereign Captain.

9 Abram launched his expedition, advancing toward the Negev.

§ 10170 ABRAM IN EGYPT

10 A severe famine struck the land. Abram decided to go to Egypt and reside there for a period, as the famine was intense and challenging.

11 As he approached the borders of Egypt, Abram spoke to his wife Sarai, acknowledging, “I am well aware of your captivating beauty.”

12 “When the Egyptians look at you, they’ll declare, ‘She is his wife. ’ Consequently, they will aim to harm me, but they will spare your life.
13 Say that you are my sister so that I may receive favorable treatment on your behalf, and my life will be spared because of you.”

14 When Abram arrived in Egypt, the Egyptians noticed that Sarai was a lovely woman.
15 When Pharaoh’s officers caught sight of her, they lauded her to Pharaoh, and she was brought into his palace.
16 He dealt favorably with Abram for her sake. Abram obtained sheep, livestock, female and male servants, female and male donkeys, and camels.
17 However, because of Abram’s wife Sarai, Yahweh sent harsh plagues on Pharaoh and his household.
18 Pharaoh called Abram, saying, “What have you done to me? Why did you not inform me that she was your wife?”

19 “Why did you claim, ‘She is my sister, ’ leading me to take her as my wife? Now, here is your wife. Take her and depart!”
20 Pharaoh then commanded his men to lead Abram out of Egypt, and they escorted him with his wife and all his possessions.

§ 10180 ABRAM AND LOT SEPARATE

13 Abram, along with his wife and possessions, departed from Egypt. Lot traveled with him to the Negev region.
2 Abram had accumulated substantial wealth in livestock, silver, and gold.
3 He traveled in stages from the Negev until he reached Bethel, the area between Bethel and Ai, where he had previously set up his tent.

4 This place was where he had initially constructed a pedestal table, and Abram had invoked the Name of the Sovereign Captain.
5 Now Lot, who accompanied Abram, possessed flocks, herds, and tents.

6 The land couldn't sustain both living together due to their vast possessions, making it impossible for them to remain together.

7 Conflicts erupted between the herders in charge of Abram's livestock and those in charge of Lot's livestock. The Canaanites and the Perizzites were also in the land during that period.
8 Abram urged Lot, "Let's avoid any disputes between us and let there be no arguments between our herdsmen. We are family, and we should present a united front."
9 "Is the entire land not in front of you? Let us separate now. If you choose the left, I will go right; if you choose the right, I will go left."
10 Lot surveyed the entire Jordan Valley, and he observed that the region toward Zoar was abundantly watered, resembling the garden of the Sovereign Captain and the fertile land of Egypt. (This observation was made before the Sovereign Captain's destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, the cities of transgression.)
11 Lot claimed the entire Jordan Valley for himself and began his journey eastward. As a result, Abram and Lot separated from each other.

12 Abram resided in Canaan. In contrast, Lot settled amidst the cities of the plain and set up his tents close to Sodom.
13 Now, the inhabitants of Sodom were exceedingly corrupt and committed grave unworthy choices against the Sovereign Captain.
14 The Sovereign Captain spoke to Abram after Lot separated, saying, "Survey your surroundings, observing the North, South, East, and West from where you stand."
15 "I will grant you and your descendants permanent possession of all the land within your view.
16 Your offspring will number in the billions, much like the dust particles on Earth, and it is impossible to number them all.

17 Rise and explore the land, traveling through its length and width, for I am granting it to you."
18 Abram settled near the majestic oaks of Mamre in Hebron, where he set up his tents and constructed a pedestal table for the Eternal Reality.

§ 10190 ABRAM RESCUES LOT

14 During the reign of Prime Ruler Amraphel of Shinar, Prime Ruler Arioch of Ellasar, Prime Ruler Kedorlaomer of Elam, and Prime Ruler Tidal of Goyim, war erupted in the region.
2 During that time, these Prime Rulers fought with Prime Ruler Shemeber of Zeboim, Prime Ruler Shinab of Admah, Prime Ruler Birsha of Gomorrah, Zoar, the Prime Ruler of Bela, and Prime Ruler Bera of Sodom.
3 All these Prime Rulers allied in the Valley of Siddim, now known as the Dead Sea Valley.
4 They had been under the dominion of Kedorlaomer for twelve years. Still, in the thirteenth year, they staged a rebellion.

5 In the fourteenth year, Kedorlaomer and his confederate Prime Rulers set forth and overcame the Emites in Shaveh Kiriathaim, the Zuzites in Ham, and the Rephaites in Ashteroth Karnaim, 6 and the Horites in the mountainous region of Seir, extending to El Paran, situated near the wilderness.

7 Then they retraced their steps and reached En Mishpat (also known as Kadesh), where they prevailed over the entire region occupied by the Amalekites as well as the Amorites residing in Hazezon Tamar.

8 Then the Prime Ruler of Sodom, the Prime Ruler of Gomorrah, the Prime Ruler of Admah, the Prime Ruler of Zeboiim, and Zoar, the Prime Ruler of Bela, advanced and formed their military formations in the Valley of Siddim

9 against Arioch, the Prime Ruler of Ellasar; Amraphel, the Prime Ruler of Shinar; Tidal, the Prime Ruler of Goyim; and Chedorlaomer, the Prime Ruler of Elam— four Prime Rulers facing five.
10 The Siddim valley was filled with deep holes containing tar. As the Prime Rulers of Sodom and Gomorrah, the cities of transgression, escaped, some of their men stumbled into these pits. At the same time, the remainder fled to the hill country.
11 The victors took all the possessions and provisions of Sodom and Gomorrah, the cities of transgression, and then departed.
12 They also captured Lot, the male heir of Abram's brother, who lived in Sodom, with all his belongings.

13 One of the survivors arrived and informed Abram the Hebrew about the events. Abram was residing near the Amorite, Mamre, beneath the majestic oaks. Mamre, Aner, and their brother, Eshcol, had allied with Abram.
14 On learning that his relative had been taken captive, Abram assembled his 318 well-trained servants born in his household. He embarked on a pursuit as far as Dan.
15 Abram orchestrated a nocturnal assault, dividing his men into groups to confront the enemy. They achieved victory, chasing the adversaries to Hobah, situated North of Damascus.
16 Abram successfully reclaimed all the stolen belongings. He rescued his relative Lot, his possessions, the ladies, and the rest of the captives.

17 After Abram triumphed over Kedorlaomer and the Prime Rulers who stood by his side, the Prime Ruler of Sodom emerged to greet him in the Shaveh Valley, commonly known as the Prime Ruler's Valley.
18 Prime Ruler Melchizedek of Salem presented bread and wine. He served as the ensovereigned mediator of the Eternal Reality, the Preeminent Sovereign. *
19 He empowered Abram, proclaiming, "May the Eternal Reality, the Great Innovator of the Celestial Realms and the Earth empower Abram."

20 And honor be given to the Preeminent Sovereign Most High, who has granted you victory over your adversaries." Then Abram offered a tenth of all his possessions to Prime Ruler Melchizedek.

21 The Prime Ruler of Sodom requested Abram, "Hand over the people to me, and you may retain the possessions for yourself."
22 Abram responded to the Prime Ruler of Sodom, declaring, "I have taken an oath to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign Most High, the Great Innovator of the celestial realm and Earth."
23 Abram declared that he would not take anything that belonged to the Prime Ruler of Sodom, not even a thread or a sandal strap, so the Prime Ruler could never claim credit for enriching him.

24 Abram stated that he would take exclusively what his men had consumed and the portion that belonged to the men who accompanied him—Aner, Eshkol, and Mamre. He urged that they be given their rightful share."

§ 10200 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN'S PACT WITH ABRAM

15 After these events, the message from the Preeminent Sovereign reached Abram through a vision: "Don't worry, Abram. I am your security system and your ultimate assurance of success."

2 But Abram questioned, "Almighty Sovereign Captain, what can you grant me, for I am without biological descendants, and my male heir is Eliezer of Damascus."
3 Abram remarked, "Look, you have not granted me any children; a household member will inherit my possessions."
4 The Sovereign Captain told him, "This individual shall not inherit from you; instead, a male heir who is your flesh and blood will be your inheritor."
5 He led Abram outdoors and directed his gaze toward the celestial realms, saying, "Observe the stars and attempt to count them; if you are capable, your progeny will be just as numerous."

6 Abram put his trust in the Sovereign Captain, and this act of trust was accounted to him as integrated.

7 The Sovereign Captain declared to him, "I am the Eternal Reality, who led you away from Ur of the Chaldeans to grant you ownership of this land."
8 Abram inquired, "Preeminent Sovereign, how can I be certain that I will obtain ownership of it?"
9 The Supreme Sovereign Captain instructed him, "Fetch for Me a three-year-old heifer, a three-year-old female goat, and a three-year-old ram, along with a turtledove and a young pigeon."
10 Abram presented all these to Him, splitting them in two and placing each piece opposite. However, he refrained from cutting the birds in half.

11 Afterward, predatory birds descended on the carcasses, but Abram frightened them off.
12 Abram entered a profound slumber as the sun sank, and intense and dreadful darkness encircled him.
13 Then the Sovereign Captain made it clear to him, saying, "Be fully aware that your offspring will be strangers in a foreign land, enduring slavery and injustice for four centuries."
14 "However, I will pass judgment on the nation that holds them in servitude, and eventually, they will depart with abundant riches.
15 You will peacefully join your ancestors and be laid to rest in your old age.
16 This place is where your ancestors will return in the fourth generation because the Amorites' transgressions have not yet reached their zenith."

17 As night fell and the sunset, a fiery torch-and a smoking oven emerged and moved between the separated animals.

18 On that day, the Sovereign Captain made a solemn agreement with Abram and declared,
“Your heirs, I give this land, from the River of Egypt to the great Euphrates River,
19 the land where the Kenites, Kenizzites, and Kadmonites dwell,
20 the territories of the Hittites, Perizzites, and Rephaites, 21 and the lands of the Amorites, Canaanites, Girgashites, and Jebusites.”
22 Kadmonites,
23 the nations of the Hittites, Perizzites, and Rephaites, 24 the peoples of the Amorites, Canaanites, Girgashites, and Jebusites.” “

§ 10210 HAGAR AND ISHMAEL

16 Abram’s wife Sarai had not given birth to any children but had an Egyptian servant named Hagar.
2 Sarai told Abram, “the Sovereign Captain has prevented me from having children. Go and sleep with my enslaved servant; perhaps I can have a family through her.”
3 So, after Abram had resided in Canaan for a decade, Sarai, his wife, presented her Egyptian servant, Hagar, as a wife to Abram.
4 After they had sexual contact, Hagar got pregnant. Knowing she was expecting, Hagar started to despise her matron.
5 Then Sarai accused Abram, saying, “The harm I am enduring is because of you. I entrusted my servant to you, and now that she knows she is pregnant, she looks down on me. May the Sovereign Captain be the judge between you and me.”

6 “The woman who serves you is under your control,” Abram stated. “Treat her as you see fit.” Sarai then treated Hagar harshly, and Hagar ran away from her.

7 The Celestial Envoy of Yahweh discovered Hagar by a desert well along the road to Shur.
8 He inquired, “Hagar, servant of Sarai, what is your origin and destination?” She replied, “I am escaping from the presence of my matron Sarai.”
9 The Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain instructed her, “Return to your matron and subject yourself to her authority.”
10 The Celestial Envoy stated, “I will multiply your descendants to such an extent that they will be innumerable.”
11 The Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain also conveyed to her, “Pay Heed! You are with a child and will bear a male heir. You shall name him Ishmael, for the Sovereign Captain has taken note of your suffering.”

12 “He shall be like an untamed beast of a man; he will oppose everyone, and everyone will oppose him, living in hostility towards all his brothers.”
13 She had suggested the name of Ishmael when she spoke to the Sovereign Captain, “You are the Preeminent Sovereign who watches over me,” for she said, “I have now witnessed the One who watches over me.”
14 Therefore, the well, named Beer Lahai Roi, remains there to this day, located between Kadesh and Bered.
15 Hagar gave childbirth to a male heir for Abram, and Abram named him Ishmael.
16 Abram was eighty-six when Hagar gave birth to Ishmael. “

§ 10220 THE PACT

17 When Abram reached the age of ninety-nine, the Sovereign Captain disclosed Himself to him and declared, “I am the Preeminent Sovereign Almighty; live your life trustfully in My presence and be blameless.
2 I will establish My pact with you and significantly multiply your population.”

3 Abram fell facedown, and the Preeminent Sovereign said to him,
4 “As for Me, this is My agreement with you: You will become the father of numerous nations.
5 No more shall you go by the name Abram; from now on, you shall be known as Abraham, for I have appointed you as the father of numerous nations.
6 I’ll bring you a lot of inner fruit. You will become the father of nations, and Prime Rulers will descend from you.
7 I will establish an eternal agreement between us, extending to your future generations. I will be your Preeminent Sovereign and the Eternal Reality of all your heirs.
8 The entire territory of Canaan, where you currently live as a stranger, I will grant you and your future generations an eternal inheritance, and I will be their celestial protector.”
9 Then the Preeminent Sovereign conveyed to Abraham, “Your responsibility is to uphold my earnest agreement, and this obligation extends to you and your future generations for all the generations to come.
10 This is the agreement between Us for you and your offspring to uphold: Every male among you must undergo circumcision.
11 You shall be circumcised in the flesh of your foreskin, and this act will serve as the sign of the solemn agreement between you and Me.
12 Every male child among you, when he is eight days old, must undergo circumcision, whether he is born in your household or acquired with money from any foreigner who is not of your family.
13 The one born in your household and purchased with your money must undergo circumcision.
My solemn agreement in your flesh is to be an eternal solemn agreement.
14 Any male who has not undergone circumcision and remains uncircumcised in the flesh will be excluded from his community as he has violated my solemn agreement.”

15 The Preeminent Sovereign again spoke to Abraham and said, “You shall no longer call your wife Sarai; her name will now be Sarah.”
16 The Preeminent Sovereign added, “I will empower her and give you a male heir through her. I will empower her to become the mother of nations, and Prime Rulers of various peoples will descend from her.”
17 Abraham prostrated himself with his face to the ground; he couldn’t help but laugh, pondering, “Could a child be born to a man who is a hundred years old? Could Sarah, at ninety years, bear a child?”
18 “If only Ishmael could live under Your empowerment . . .” Abraham said to the Eternal Reality.
19 The Preeminent Sovereign answered, “Yes, your spouse Sarah will conceive and bear a male heir for you, whom you shall name Isaac.” “I shall reaffirm our eternal, solemn pact with each other. That will also apply to his offspring.
20 I have noted your request regarding Ishmael. I will grant him empowerment, causing him to bear much inner fruit and multiply his descendants significantly. He will be the patriarch of twelve leaders, and I will establish him as the head of a great nation.
21 I will confirm my solemn agreement with Isaac, with whom Sarah will give birth next year.”

22 When He had completed His conversation with Abraham, the Preeminent Sovereign ascended from his presence.
23 Abraham followed the Preeminent Sovereign's command that same day. He circumcised his male heir Ishmael and all the males in his household, whether they were born in his house or acquired through purchase.
24 Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he chose to cut off his piece of skin.
25 His male heir, Ishmael, was thirteen.
26 Abraham and his male heir, Ishmael, were circumcised that day.

27 And on that very day, all the men in Abraham's household, whether they were born there or acquired as enslaved people from a foreign land, underwent circumcision along with him. "

§ 10230 THE THREE VISITORS

18 Abraham was seated at the entryway to his tent during the hottest part of the day when he saw the Sovereign Captain by Mamre's oak trees. After drinking some wine, he got inebriated and lay in his tent without covering himself.
2 Abraham raised his eyes and noticed three men nearby. On seeing them, he hastened from the entrance of his tent to meet them, and he humbly bowed to the ground.

3 Abraham spoke, "If I have obtained favor in your sight, my sir, I implore you not to overlook your servant.
4 Fetch a small amount of water, and after washing your feet, find relaxation and comfort under the shade of this tree.
5 Allow me to offer you some food for rejuvenation. Afterward, you may continue your journey now that you have graced me with your presence." They responded, "Certainly, do as you have suggested."

6 Abraham rushed into the tent to Sarah. He urged her, "Hurry, get 82.5 liters of the finest flour, knead it, and bake bread."
7 Then Abraham hurried to his herd. He chose a delicate, tender calf, which he handed to a servant to prepare quickly.
8 Abraham served the guests curds, milk, and the calf he had prepared, placing the food before them. He stood close to them under a tree as they ate.

9 The visitors inquired, "Where is your wife, Sarah?" Abraham replied, "She's in the tent."

10 One visitor said, "I will return to you next year, and Sarah, your wife, will have a male heir." Sarah overheard this conversation from the tent's entrance, just behind him.

11 Abraham and Sarah were both well advanced in age, and Sarah had reached the point where she could no longer have children.
12 Sarah chuckled inwardly, thinking, "After I have grown old and my husband is old too, will I still experience such delight?"
13 Then the Sovereign Captain asked Abraham, "Why did Sarah laugh and question, 'Can I genuinely have a child now that I am old?'
14 Is there anything too difficult for the Sovereign Captain? I shall return to you at the designated time next year, and Sarah will have a male heir."

15 Sarah pretended not to laugh because she was terrified. But the Sovereign Captain acknowledged that she had giggled. “

§ 10240 ABRAHAM PLEADS FOR SODOM

16 As the men prepared to depart, they turned their gaze toward Sodom. Abraham accompanied them on their journey to bid them farewell.
17 The Sovereign Captain asked, “Should I keep Abraham in the dark about my plan?
18 Abraham is destined to become a formidable and influential nation, and all the countries across the globe will find empowerment through him.
19 I have selected him with the intention that he will guide his children and his household after Me to walk in My path, practicing integrity and justice so that I may fulfill my promises to Abraham.”

20 And then the Sovereign Captain told Abraham his plan: “The clamor arising from Sodom and Gomorrah, the cities of transgression, is immense, and their wrongdoing is exceedingly grave.
21 I will assess whether their actions are as corrupt as the outcry against them suggests. If not, I shall establish the ultimate authenticity.”
22 The men dispersed and headed toward Sodom, but Abraham remained before the Sovereign Captain.
23 Abraham drew near and inquired, “Are you planning to destroy the integrid along with the corrupt?
24 What happens if the city contains fifty authentic people? Will You not spare the place for the sake of the fifty full of integrity and sweep it away instead?
25 It is inconceivable for you to do such a thing—to cause the integrid to die with the impure, treating the integrid and the impure alike. This action is not fitting for you! Won’t the judge of all the Earth exercise fairness?”

26 Yahweh declared, “Should I discover fifty integrid individuals in Sodom, I will spare the entire place on their account.”
27 Abraham, with courage, addressed the Sovereign Captain again, acknowledging his humble state as mere dust and ashes.
28 “Suppose there are five fewer integrid individuals than fifty. Would you bring about the destruction of the entire city due to the absence of five?” the Sovereign Captain replied, “I will not bring devastation if I discover only forty-five there.”

29 Abraham asked again, “What if only forty are found there?” the Sovereign Captain replied, “For the sake of forty, I will refrain from erasing it.”
30 Then Abraham implored, “May the Sovereign Captain’s displeasure be averted and allow me to speak. Imagine if there are merely thirty innocent people to be found there. . . ?” the Sovereign Captain responded, “I will refrain from eradicating them if I encounter thirty there.”

31 Abraham inquired, “Now that I have mustered the courage to address You. . . imagine if exclusively twenty were found?” The response came, “I will spare it from destruction on account of the twenty.”
32 Abraham continued, “I implore that Your patience prevails. . . allowing me to speak again. Suppose there were just ten honorable people present?” the Sovereign Captain replied, “Considering ten, I will refrain from its obliteration.”
33 Once the discourse with Abraham concluded, the Sovereign Captain departed, and Abraham returned to his dwelling. “

§ 10250 SODOM AND GOMORRAH, THE CITIES OF TRANSGRESSION, DESTROYED

19 The two Celestial Envoys arrived in Sodom in the evening, and Lot was positioned at the city's gateway. As soon as he spotted them, he rose to approach them and humbly lowered himself with his face toward the ground.
2 "Distinguished sirs," he beckoned, "kindly divert to your aid's dwelling. There, you can cleanse your feet and lodge for the evening. At dawn, you may proceed."
3 He was so persuasive that they finally agreed to accompany him and enter his fortress. He cooked a meal for their nourishment, producing yeast-free bread, which they devoured.

4 Before retiring for the night, every male from all corners of Sodom, regardless of age, encompassed the dwelling.
5 They yelled to Lot, "Who are the men that arrived at your place this evening? Send them out to us so we can know them intimately."
6 Lot stepped out to greet them, ensuring he closed the door on his exit.
7 He implored, "My companions, please do not commit such an evil act.

8 I possess two virgin daughters. Allow me to present them to you; you may do as you wish with them. However, avoid harming these men, as they are under the safekeeping of my home."
9 "Step aside," they responded. "This individual arrived as an outsider and now attempts to act as a judge. We will treat you more harshly than him." They relentlessly pressured Lot and advanced, intent on smashing down the door.

10 The Celestial Envoys inside the house stretched their hands. They ushered Lot back into the dwelling and barricaded the entryway.
11 All the individuals in front of the house's entrance, irrespective of age, were inflicted with blindness, making the door's location unreachable.
12 The two Celestial Envoys asked Lot, "Are there any other individuals here— sons-in-law, sons, daughters, or any other relatives in the city who belong to you? You should take them out of this location.
13 We are on the verge of obliterating this place; the clamor against its inhabitants has escalated to an extent before the Sovereign Captain that He has commanded us to annihilate it."

14 Lot made his way, communicated with his future sons-in-law, and engaged with his daughters. He advised, "Make haste and vacate this spot, for the Eternal Reality is on the verge of eradicating the city!" Yet, to his sons-in-law, he seemed to be joking.
15 At sunrise, the Celestial Envoys encouraged Lot, telling him to hasten. They said, "Quickly, take your wife and two daughters who are present, or you will be carried away when the city faces its punishment."
16 As Lot was uncertain and delayed, the men seized his hand along with the hands of his wife and two daughters. Despite this, the Sovereign Captain guided them to safety outside the town because He showed compassion towards them.
17 As soon as they led them out, one of them urgently said, "Flee to save yourselves! Do not glimpse back, and don't hesitate anywhere in the valley! Rush to the hills, or you will be swept away!"

18 Lot responded to them, imploring, “Oh, not so, my sir!
19 I have been endowed with Your approval, and You have demonstrated immense transformative generosity by preserving my life. However, escaping to the hills is a challenge; I’ll surrender to this catastrophe, leading to my death.
20 Observe a relatively tiny settlement within running distance. Permit me to flee to it—it is a pretty negligible stretch. In this way, I will manage to preserve my existence.”
21 He responded to him, “Alright, I accept your request; the city you mentioned will not be demolished.
22 However, speedily escape to that place, as my actions are restricted until your arrival.” (For this reason, the settlement was labeled Zoar.)
23 The sun was already high in the sky when Lot reached Zoar.

24 Subsequently, the Sovereign Captain, dispatched from the celestial realms, unleashed a downpour of flammable sulfur on Sodom and Gomorrah, the cities of transgression.
25 Consequently, He demolished those towns along with the whole valley, obliterating everyone residing in the cities and every bit of flora in the region.
26 Lot’s spouse turned her gaze back, transforming into a salt artifact.
27 At the crack of dawn, Abraham arose and retraced his steps to the location where he had previously been in the presence of the Sovereign Captain.
28 He gazed down at the direction of Sodom and Gomorrah, the cities of transgression, over all the valley territory. He spotted thick fumes ascending from the Earth, resembling the smoke from a kiln.
29 During the devastation of the plain’s cities, the Preeminent Sovereign kept Abraham in mind and escorted Lot away from the disaster that demolished the cities where Lot resided.

§ 10260 LOT AND HIS DAUGHTERS

30 Lot and his two daughters departed from Zoar and settled in the mountains due to his fear of staying in Zoar. They lived in a cave.
31 One day, the elder daughter told her younger sibling, ‘Our father has aged, and there is no male presence in our vicinity to grant us offspring following the tradition observed worldwide. ’
32 ‘Let’s get drunk our father with wine and have physical relations to secure descendants through him. ’
33 During the evening, they made their father consume wine, and the elder girl had sex with him. He remained oblivious, not knowing when she laid down or rose.
34 The following morning, the older sibling told her younger sister, ‘Yesterday evening, I was with our father. Let’s have him consume more wine this evening; then, it’s your turn to be with him. This way, we can maintain our progeny through our dad. ’
35 That night, too, they intoxicated their father with wine, and the younger one approached and shared the bed with him. He was once more oblivious, neither realizing when she came to bed nor when she left.
36 As a result, Lot’s two daughters conceived children with their father.
37 The elder daughter had a child, and she called him Moab; he is the forefather of the men of Moab up to the present time.
38 The less-aged daughter birthed a male heir, whom she named Ben-Ammi; he is recognized as the progenitor of the present-day Ammonites.

§ 10270 ABRAHAM AND ABIMELEK

20 Abraham journeyed from that place to the southern region and settled between Kadesh and Shur. He lived in Gerar for some time.
2 Abraham claimed his wife Sarah as his sister. Consequently, Abimelek, the Prime Ruler of Gerar, summoned Sarah and brought her to him.

3 The Preeminent Sovereign appeared to Abimelek in a nocturnal vision. This vision declared, “Your death is imminent due to the woman you’ve commandeered, as she is already united.”
4 Abimelek, who hadn’t approached her yet, questioned, “Captain, would you ruin an innocent nation?
5 Didn’t he inform me that she is my sister, and didn’t she also confirm that he is my brother? I acted in all sincerity and with hands-free from wrongdoing.”
6 Indeed, the Preeminent Sovereign spoke to him in the dream, recognizing that his actions were undertaken with an unclouded mind. The Preeminent Sovereign obstructed him from committing an unworthy choice against Him. So, the Preeminent Sovereign didn’t permit him to contact her.

7 “Give back the man’s spouse, given he is a seer. The meldings of his consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign for you will ensure your survival. However, failure to return her will inevitably lead to death for you and all who are related to you.”
8 Abimelek gathered all his administrators at the break of dawn, and on sharing with them the entirety of the events, they were filled with great fear.

9 Abimelek summoned Abraham and asked, “What actions have you taken against us? In what way have I offended you to cause such immense guilt in me and my realm? You have performed acts on me that are simply intolerable.”
10 Abimelek asked Abraham, “What prompted you to act this way?”
11 Abraham stated, “I convinced myself that there is no reverence for Preeminent Sovereign here, and they would take my life due to my wife.”
12 She became my wife, and she is, in fact, my sister—my father’s daughter, not my mother’s.
13 When the Preeminent Sovereign induced me to leave my father’s house, I told her, ‘Here’s how you can express your affection for me: At any location we visit, mention that I am your brother. ’”

14 Subsequently, Abimelek presented Abraham with sheep, cattle, and male and female servants and reinstated his wife, Sarah.
15 Abimelek proposed, “My territory is before you; establish yourself at any location you desire.”
16 He told Sarah, “I am granting your brother a thousand shekels of silver. This payment addresses the wrong done to you in the eyes of all those accompanying you; your innocence is unequivocally affirmed.”

17 Abraham interceded with the Preeminent Sovereign, and the Eternal Reality restored health to Abimelek, his wife, and his female servants, enabling them to bear children again.
18 (The inability of all women in Abimelek’s household to conceive was because the Sovereign Captain had rendered them infertile, an outcome of the incident involving Abraham’s wife, Sarah.)

§ 10280 THE BIRTH OF ISAAC

21 The Sovereign Captain kept his word and carried out what He had assured Sarah.
2 Sarah conceived and gave birth to a male heir for Abraham during his later years precisely when the Preeminent Sovereign had foretold it.
3 Abraham named his offspring Isaac, whom Sarah bore.
4 Abraham circumcised his male heir, Isaac, on the eighth day after his birth by the Preeminent Sovereign's directive.
5 Isaac was born when Abraham reached the age of one hundred.

6 Sarah said, "The Preeminent Sovereign has given me a reason to giggle, and anyone who discovers this elation will share in my amusement."

7 She asked, "Who could have predicted I would suckle Abraham's babies? However, I gave birth to a male heir for him during his elderly years."

§ 10290 HAGAR AND ISHMAEL SENT AWAY

8 Isaac advanced in age and ceased nursing. Abraham celebrated this milestone with a grand banquet when Isaac was weaned.
9 Sarah observed that Ishmael, born to Abraham by the Egyptian Hagar, was trashing Isaac.
10 She instructed Abraham, "Dispose of this servant woman and her child because Ishmael shall never partake in the legacy of Isaac."
11 The situation with his male heir deeply troubled Abraham.

12 The Preeminent Sovereign assured him, "Don't let the state of the lad and your servant woman upset you. Heed to any advice Sarah gave, as it is through Isaac that your descendants will be traced.
13 The servant's child will also be transformed into a nation, for he, too, is your descendant."

14 At the break of dawn, Abraham provided Hagar with food and a water container. Positioning Ishmael on her shoulders, he then bid her and the young boy farewell. Setting out, she aimlessly roamed the Wilderness of Beersheba.
15 After the water from the container had run out, she left the young one under a shrub.
16 She moved away, positioning herself as far away as a projectile could reach, distressed by the thought, "I can't witness the death of my male heir." Her sobs started to overwhelm her.

17 The Preeminent Sovereign heard the lad's cries and sent a Celestial Envoy to Hagar. "Hagar, why are you troubled?" the Celestial Envoy asked, "Fear not, for the Eternal Reality has heard the lad's weeping from where he is situated.
18 Raise the lad and grasp his hand because I have plans to transform him into a distinguished nation."

19 The Preeminent Sovereign enabled her eyes to see a water well. She filled the water container and let the lad have a drink.
20 The Eternal Realty guided the lad during his upbringing. Inhabiting the wilderness, he developed into a skilled bowman.

21 During His fortress in the Paran Wilderness, his mother arranged a union for him with a woman from Egypt.

§ 10300 THE TREATY AT BEERSHEBA

22 Abimelek and Phicol, his army's leader, communicated to Abraham during that period, indicating that the Preeminent Sovereign supported you in all your endeavors.
23 "Pledge to me now, in the presence of the Preeminent Sovereign, that you will not deceive me, my children, or their descendants. Demonstrate to me and the nation where you have settled as an outsider the same compassion I have extended you."

24 Abraham responded, "I give you my word."
25 Abraham protested with Abimelek regarding a water well that Abimelek's servants had forcefully taken control of.
26 Abimelek replied, "I'm unaware who committed this act. You didn't inform me about it; I just learned it today."

27 Abraham conveyed sheep and cattle to Abimelek as part of their arrangement, resulting in a mutual agreement.
28 Abraham separated seven female sheep from his herd.
29 Abimelek questioned Abraham, "Why have you separated these seven female lambs?"
30 He responded, "Take these seven lambs from me as proof of my claims that I was the one who excavated this well."

31 So, the location came to be known as Beersheba, as it was there that the pair of men pledged their words to each other.
32 Following establishing the agreement at Beersheba, Abimelek and Phicol, his army's leader, proceeded back to the Philistine Warrior territory.
33 Abraham established a grove in Beersheba, invoking the Name of Yahweh, the Everlasting Preeminent Sovereign.
34 Abraham resided as an outsider in the territory of the Philistine Warriors for an extended period. "

§ 10310 ABRAHAM TESTED

22 After a while, the Preeminent Sovereign put Abraham to the test. He called out to him, "Abraham!" Abraham responded, "I'm here."
2 Then the Eternal Reality ordered: "Bring your child, your sole offspring, the one you dearly treasure—Isaac—and journey to the territory of Moriah. Offer him there as a human sacrificial burning on a hilltop that I will indicate to you."

3 Abraham woke up at dawn the following day, prepared his donkey, and embarked on a journey with two helpers and his male heir, Isaac. After chopping ample firewood for the absolving payment, he headed towards the location that the Preeminent Sovereign had disclosed to him.

4 Abraham spotted the area three days later.

[5] Abraham instructed his administrators to remain with the donkey while the boy and he proceeded. “We’ll express joyful adoration to the Sovereign Captain, and afterward, we’ll return to you.”

[6] Abraham carried the wood on his back for the absolving payment of his male heir, Isaac. At the same time, he held the flint and the tactical blade. Together, they journeyed onward.
[7] Isaac addressed his father, “My father.” Abraham responded, “Yes, my child Isaac,” then pointed to the flint and wood’s presence. Then Isaac queried him about the location of the lamb intended for the scorched absolving payment.
[8] Abraham responded, “The Preeminent Sovereign, Himself, will arrange a sheep for the scorched payment.” Then, they continued their journey together.

[9] On arriving at the location that the Preeminent Sovereign had disclosed, Abraham set up a pedestal table and neatly placed the wood on it. He then tied up Isaac and positioned him on the wood-laden pedestal table.
[10] Subsequently, he extended his arm and picked up the tactical blade to eliminate his only heir.
[11] Then, from the celestial realms, the Celestial Envoy shouted to him, “Abraham! Abraham!” To which Abraham responded, “I am present.”
[12] The Celestial Envoy said, “Refrain from harming the boy! Do not cause him any harm! At this point, it is clear that your reverence for the Preeminent Sovereign is profound, given that you did not refrain from offering me your male heir, your one and exclusive male heir.”

[13] Abraham lifted his gaze and saw a male sheep with horns entangled in a bush. He approached, retrieved the sheep, and offered it as an entire scorched payment as a substitute for his male heir.

[14] From now forward, Abraham called that location “the Sovereign Captain Ensures Provision.” (It has often been stated that “The Mountain of the Sovereign Captain will render the necessary supply.”)
[15] Abraham received a second call from the Sovereign Captain’s messenger from the celestial realms:

[16] “the Sovereign Captain has sworn an oath on His Name, affirming that you have acted by His will by not refusing to give up your exclusive child, your male heir:
[17] ‘I pledge to enrich you and multiply your offspring like the constellations in the celestial realms and grains of sand along the beach. Your family will conquer the strongholds of their antagonists.
[18] All the Earth’s nations will find empowerment via your descendants because you followed my command. ’”

[19] Abraham then returned to his administrators. They all embarked on a journey back to Beersheba. Abraham made Beersheba his dwelling place.

§ 10320 NAHOR’S HEIRS

[20] After a certain period, news reached Abraham that Milkah had also become a mother by giving birth to sons for Nahor, his brother.
[21] Uz was born first, followed by his siblings Buz and Kemuel, the latter known as Aram’s progenitor.
[22] The names Kesed, Hazo, Pildash, Jidlaph, and Bethuel.

[23] Bethuel was the progenitor of Rebekah. Milcah gave birth to these eight children for Nahor, brother of Abraham.
[24] Reumah, his concubine, gave birth to sons named Tebah, Gaham, Tahash, and Maakah. “

§ 10330 THE DEATH OF SARAH

23 Sarah reached the age of one hundred and twenty-seven years.
[2] And then Sarah expired in Kiriath Arba, now referred to as Hebron, situated in the land of Canaan. Subsequently, Abraham expressed his sorrow for Sarah’s departure and shed tears.

[3] After getting up from the side of his deceased spouse, Abraham addressed the Hittites:
[4] “I am an outsider and a sojourner among you. Provide me ownership of a funeral site in this area so that I can lay my deceased to rest.”

[5] The Hittites responded to Abraham,
[6] “Respected sir, our regard for you is that of an influential leader. You are at liberty to inter your deceased in the finest of our burial sites. Not a single individual among us would disallow you the usage of his grave to lay your dead to rest.”

[7] Abraham then gave respect to the Hittites, the land’s inhabitants, by saluting them.
[8] He told them, “Should you agree on allowing me to lay my deceased to rest, kindly heed my words and negotiate with Ephron, the male heir of Zohar.
[9] I requested that he trade the Machpelah cave with me, which is his possession and situated at the border of his land. Insist him in setting me its total value to secure it as a place of interment in your vicinity.”

[10] Ephron the Hittite, seated amidst his community, responded to Abraham within earshot of all the Hittites at his city’s entrance:

[11] “Reject not, my sir,” he proclaimed. “Pay heed to my words; I freely offer you the land and the cavern. I grant it on you before my fellow beings. Bury your deceased.”

[12] Abraham once more showed his respect by saluting the region’s locals.
[13] He communicated to Ephron in the presence of others, appealing for his attention. He stated that he was ready to compensate for the field and requested Ephron to take the payment from him so he could proceed with the burial of his deceased there.
[14] Ephron responded to Abraham:
[15] “Heed my words, overseer. The land holds a value of 4.6 kilos of silver. Yet, what does this signify between us? Proceed with the internment of your deceased.”

[16] Abraham accepted Ephron’s offer. He provided the stated price he quoted in the presence of the Hittites: 4.6 kilos of silver per the prevalent commercial weight.
[17] Ephron’s plot of land in Machpelah, close to Mamre, including the field, the cave, and every tree within the field’s boundaries, was legally transferred.
[18] Abraham’s land became recognized in the sight of the entirety of the Hittites that had gathered at the city’s entrance.
[19] Subsequently, Abraham interred his spouse, Sarah, within the cavern of the Machpelah field, in proximity to Mamre, also recognized as Hebron, in the Canaan territory.

20 So, the Hittites officially transferred the field and the cave within it to Abraham, designating it as a burial plot.

§ 10340 ISAAC AND REBEKAH

24 Abraham had reached an advanced age in all aspects. The Preeminent Sovereign had graced him with empowerment.
2 Abraham spoke to his eldest servant, who was responsible for all he possessed, instructing him to place his hand beneath his thigh.
3 "Pledge to me under the authority of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of the celestial realms and the Earth, that you will not select a wife for my male heir from the female descendants of the Canaanites, where I currently reside.
4 You should proceed to my native land and family to find a spouse for my male heir, Isaac."

5 The servant inquired, "What if the woman doesn't agree to return with me to this territory? Should I bring your male heir back to the land you originated from?"
6 Abraham insisted, "Be sure you do not return my male heir to that place."
7 The Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain of the celestial realms, guided me away from the home of my ancestors and my place of birth, conversed with me, and made a solemn vow, stating, 'This land will be granted to your descendants. ' The Eternal Reality will dispatch his Celestial Envoy ahead of you, enabling you to secure a spouse for my male heir from that location.
8 Should the woman refuse to return with you, you are absolved from my oath. However, my male heir must not be taken back there."

9 The servant solemnly promised his overseer Abraham regarding this case, placing his hand under Abraham's thigh.
10 The attendant, accompanied by ten camels from his overseer's herd, embarked on his journey. The camels were laden with a diverse collection of valuables from his overseer. He set his course for Aram Naharaim and arrived at Nahor's city.

11 The camels were made to rest near the city's well; it was nearing dusk when ladies typically fetch water.

12 He implored, "My Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of my mentor Abraham, grant me a favorable fortune this day and goodwill on my guide Abraham.
13 Observe, I am positioned by this fountain, with the young women of the city approaching to collect water.
14 May she be the one You have chosen for your servant Isaac when I ask a young woman to 'Please let down your jar so I may have a drink. ' If she responds, 'Yes, drink, and I'll get water for your camels too, ' I will know if You have been kind to my overseer by this scenario."

15 Before he melded his conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign, Rebekah appeared, carrying a jug on her shoulder. She was the progeny of Bethuel, who was the male heir of Milkah, the spouse of Nahor, Abraham's sibling.
16 The lady was lovely, untouched, and had never been intimate with any man. She descended to the well, replenished her jug, and ascended again.

17 The servant quickly approached her and requested, "Kindly let me have a small sip of water from your pitcher."

18 She kindly offered, “Have a sip, sir,” rapidly bringing down the jug to her palms, and she gave him hydration.
19 Once she had quenched his thirst, she proposed, “Let me also fetch water for your camels until they are adequately hydrated.”
20 She swiftly drained her pitcher into the trough, darted to the well to fetch more water, and collected sufficient water for all his camels.
21 The man observed her silently, eager to ascertain if the Sovereign Captain had made his voyage prosperous.

22 Once the camels had quenched their thirst, the man produced a gold nose ring of 5.7 grams and two gold bangles, each weighing 114 grams.
23 He inquired, “To whom are you a daughter? Kindly inform me if there is sufficient space in your father’s home for us to lodge overnight.”
24 She responded, “I’m the offspring of Bethuel, Milkah’s male heir whom she gave birth to for Nahor.”
25 She also conveyed that they have a good supply of hay and feed and a comfortable place for overnight accommodation.

26 The man knelt and bowed to the Sovereign Captain,
27 proclaiming honor to the Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain of Abraham, who has not withdrawn His merciful love and reliability. the Sovereign Captain has guided me on my voyage to the dwelling of my relative.”
28 The maiden darted off and reported all that had transpired to her mother’s family.
29 Rebekah‘s brother, Laban, swiftly approached the man by the fountain.
30 After hearing the phrases Rebekah had repeated from the stranger and observing the nose piercing and wristbands on his sister‘s hands, he approached the man standing beside the camels close to the water source.
31 “The Eternal Reality has graced you,” he said. “Why linger outside? I’ve prepared the dwelling and allocated a spot for your camels.”
32 The gentleman entered the dwelling, where the camels were unfettered. They provided hay and feed for the camels and water for the gentleman and his companions to cleanse their feet.
33 A meal was prepared and placed before him, yet he refused, stating, “I won’t eat anything until I’ve spoken my piece.” “Then share with us,” urged Laban.

34 So, he declared, “I am a servant of Abraham.

35 The Eternal Reality has empowered my overseer immensely, leading him to prosper exceptionally. He has granted my overseer herds and flocks, gold and silver, as well as male and female administrators, along with camels and asses.
36 Sarah, the wife of my overseer, gave birth to a male heir when he was already old, and he has passed on all his possessions to the heir.
37 My overseer bound me by a solemn pledge, stating, ‘You must refrain from procuring a spouse for my male heir from the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I dwell.
38 Instead, proceed to my father‘s household and my relative and secure a wife for my male heir. ’
39 I questioned my overseer, ‘Suppose the woman isn’t willing to return with me?’
40 He responded, ‘the Sovereign Captain, whom I have continuously obeyed, will dispatch His Celestial Envoy with you and ensure the prosperity of your mission, enabling you to secure a wife for my male heir from my family and my father‘s household.
41 If you approach my relatives and they decline to provide her, you will be absolved from the promise I made to you. ’

42 Today, as I arrived at the spring, I merged my consciousness with the Eternal Reality, ‘My Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of my overseer Abraham, if it‘s Your will, kindly make this journey I’m undertaking successfully.
43 Notice I am positioned near this water source. Should a maiden come forth to fetch water, and I request her, “May I sip a bit of water from your jug?”
44 Should she respond to me, “Take a sip, and let me also draw water for your camels,” She should be the woman the Sovereign Captain has selected for my overseer‘s offspring. ’

45 Before concluding the silent melding of my consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign, Rebekah appeared, bearing a jar on her shoulder. She descended to the spring and fetched water. At that point, I requested, “Kindly, may I have a sip?”

46 Swiftly, she took the jar from her shoulder, offering, “Have a drink. Let me also give your camels water.” Consequently, I quenched my thirst, and she also ensured the camels were hydrated.
47 Promptly, I questioned her about her family. She disclosed she was the offspring of Bethuel, Nahor‘s child, whom Milcah mothered. Subsequently, I adorned her with a nose ring and armlets.
48 I knelt low in reverence to the Eternal Reality. I expressed my gratitude to the Eternal Reality, the Eternal Reality of my overseer Abraham, who had guided me along the correct path to secure my overseer‘s brother‘s granddaughter as a spouse for his male heir.”

49 “If you’re prepared to demonstrate love and loyalty to my overseer, inform me; if not, let me know, enabling me to understand how to proceed.”
50 Laban and Bethuel responded, “This matter is clearly from the Sovereign Captain. We are not able to voice an opinion, either positively or negatively.
51 Rebekah is here before you; take her and proceed, and let her marry your overseer‘s male heir as the Sovereign Captain has commanded.”
52 On hearing their words, Abraham‘s eldest servant prostrated himself on the Earth in homage to the Sovereign Captain.
53 The confident servant presented Rebekah with gold and silver trinkets and attire; subsequently, her mother and brother were given valuable presents.
54 Subsequently, he and his companions partook in a meal, indulged in beverages, and lodged there through the darkness. At the break of dawn, he expressed, “Hasten my journey towards my overseer.”
55 Her brother and mother responded, “Allow the girl to stay with us for around ten days before she departs.”
56 He pleaded with them, imploring them not to hold him back, given that the Sovereign Captain‘s favor had led to accomplishing his mission. He requested them to let him proceed so he could return to his overseer.

57 They suggested, “Let‘s invite the young lady and seek her opinion.”
58 Rebekah was summoned and inquired, “Are you willing to depart with this gentleman?” She affirmed, “Yes, I am.”
59 So, they bid farewell to their sister Rebekah, her nurse, and the servants of Abraham and his accompanying men.
60 Rebekah was fortunate, and they expressed, “Dear sister, may you multiply into uncountable numbers; may your descendants conquer the strongholds of their adversaries.”

61 Rebekah and her cohorts prepared themselves, climbed on the camels, and were escorted by Abraham‘s servant. Consequently, the servant departed with Rebekah in tow.
62 Isaac had arrived from the location known as Beer Lahai Roi, as His fortress was in the southern desert region of Negev.
63 In the calm of the evening, he ventured out into the open fields for contemplation. He noticed the arrival of camels, raising his gaze.
64 Rebekah raised her eyes and noticed Isaac as she swiftly dismounted from her camel.
65 She queried the attendant, “Who is that individual advancing in the meadow towards us?” The attendant responded, “That is my boss.” Consequently, she seized her headscarf and shrouded herself.
66 Abraham‘s servant conveyed everything he had accomplished to Isaac.
67 Isaac ushered her into the dwelling that had belonged to his mother, Sarah, and took Rebekah as his life partner. Her status transformed into a wife‘s, and Isaac ‘s affection for her was palpable. This union brought Isaac comfort in the aftermath of his mother‘s passing.

§ 10350 THE DEATH OF ABRAHAM

25 Abraham wedded anew. His fresh spouse was dubbed Keturah.

2 She delivered the offspring of Ishbak, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Shuah, and Zimran.
3 Jokshan gave life to Sheba and Dedan, and the children of Dedan were Ashurim, Letushim, and Leummim.
4 Epher, Hanok, Abida, and Eldaah were all Midian’s progeny, themselves Keturah’s family.
5 Isaac was the recipient of all possessions belonging to Abraham.
6 He gave presents to his concubines while alive. He directed them to relocate towards the eastern territory, apart from his male heir, Isaac.

7 Abraham‘s existence amounted to a hundred and seventy-five years.
8 Abraham then gave up his vitality, passing away contentedly at a ripe age, stuffed and filled with years, and united with his ancestors.
9 Isaac and Ishmael, his offspring, laid him to rest in the Machpelah cavern, close to Mamre, within the territory of Ephron, the progeny of Zohar the Hittite.
10 Abraham acquired land from the Hittites as the final resting place for himself and his spouse, Sarah.
11 Following the demise of Abraham, his male heir Isaac obtained empowerment from the Eternal Reality. He took up residence in the vicinity of Beer Lahai Roi.

§ 10360 ISHMAEL‘S HEIRS

12 This narrative recounts the genealogy of Ishmael, Abraham’s offspring, born to Sarah’s servant, Hagar the Egyptian.
13 Here‘s the lineup of Ishmael‘s sons, organized according to their sequence of birth:
14 Nebaioth, Ishmael‘s eldest, followed by Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam, Mishma, along with Dumah and Massa, 15 Hadad, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and (finally) Kedemah.

16 Ishmael’s progeny, serving as communal leaders for twelve communities, each distinguished themselves by their specific residential areas and encampments.

17 Ishmael reached 137 years old, took his final breath, passed away, and was reunited with his forefathers.
18 His offspring established their dwellings from Havilah to Shur, adjacent to the eastern frontier of Egypt, in the direction of Ashur. They cohabited in open conflict with all their kindred communities.

§ 10370 THE BIRTHS OF JACOB AND ESAU

19 This account narrates the family of Isaac, a male heir of Abraham, with Abraham being the cause of his birth.
20 Isaac was forty when he took Rebekah, the daughter of Bethuel the Aramean from Paddan-Aram and sister of Laban the Aramean, as his spouse.
21 Isaac implored the Sovereign Captain for his spouse due to her inability to conceive. the Sovereign Captain responded to his intervention, and her barrenness ended as Rebekah, his wife, became pregnant.
22 The infants in her womb struggled against one another, prompting her to ask, “Why is this occurring to me?” Consequently, she sought answers from the Sovereign Captain.
23 The Eternal Reality disclosed to her, “Two distinct nations reside in your womb, and two different groups will diverge from within you; one group will hold more power than the other, and the eldest will be subordinate to the youngest.”

24 On her due date, she bore twins.
25 The initial emerged reddish, entirely wrapped in a fur-like coat; hence, they named him Esau.

26 His sibling emerged, clutching Esau’s heel, prompting him to be called Jacob. Isaac was a sixty-year-old man when the twins were born to Rebekah.
27 As the lads matured, Esau became an adept huntsman and an outdoor enthusiast. In contrast, Jacob was satisfied with a tranquil life within the confines of the tents.
28 Isaac, fond of the taste of the wild game, cherished Esau, while Rebekah favored Jacob.

29 Jacob was preparing a meal one day when Esau returned from the wild, completely starved.
30 He told Jacob, “Hurry, give me some red soup! I’m starving!” (Because of this, he was also referred to as Edom.)
31 Jacob responded, “Firstly, trade your birthright to me.”

32 “Pay heed. I stand on the brink of death,” said Esau. “What value do I have of this birthright to me?”
33 Jacob repeated, “Firstly, trade your birthright to me.” So, Esau made a solemn promise and traded his birthright to Jacob.
34 Jacob then offered Esau a meal of bread and lentil soup. After devouring his food and drink, Esau promptly left the scene. In doing so, Esau disregarded his birthright.

§ 10380 ISAAC AND ABIMELEK

26 Food was scarce in the region, distinct from the earlier famine during Abraham‘s era, leading Isaac to venture to Gerar and address Abimelek, the Prime Ruler of the Philistine Warriors.

[2] The Sovereign Captain manifested Himself to Isaac, instructing him not to venture into Egypt and instead reside in a designated territory.

[3] “Live as an outsider in this region for some time, and I will accompany and favor you. I will grant all these territories to you and your future generations and uphold the solemn vow I made to your patriarch Abraham.
[4] Your progeny will be multiplied to match the count of stars in the celestial realms, all these territories will be given to them, and every nation globally will find empowerment through your family.
[5] Since Abraham heeded My voice and adhered to all I asked, maintaining My decrees, My directives, and My path.”
[6] Isaac made Gerar His fortress place.

[7] Fearful of admitting that Rebekah was his wife due to her striking beauty, Isaac misled the local men by stating she was his sister. He held a belief that her attractiveness could lead to his death at the hands of the men from that area on their inquiry about her.
[8] After Isaac‘s stay in Gerar, Abimelek, the Prime Ruler of the Philistine Warriors, glanced from his window. He observed Isaac showing affection towards his spouse, Rebekah.
[9] Abimelek called Isaac to his presence and declared, “Truly, she is your wife! Why, then, did you introduce her as your sister?” To which Isaac replied, “I feared that I might be put to death because of her.”
[10] Abimelek exclaimed, “How could you have placed us in such a predicament? It would have been relatively easy for one of our men to share a bed with your wife, thereby putting us blameworthy.”
[11] Abimelek clarified to everyone: “The person who harms this Isaac or his spouse will unquestionably be executed.”

[12] Isaac settled in that territory, sowed seeds, and harvested a hundred times more than he had planted within the same year, as empowerments from the Eternal Reality favored him.
[13] Isaac‘s accumulated affluence and prosperity were amplified until he achieved immense wealth.

[14] The Philistine Warriors grew jealous due to the considerable amount of livestock and numerous enslaved people under his possession.
[15] As payback, the Philistine Warriors sealed up and covered all the wells that Abraham‘s father‘s enslaved people had dug during Abraham‘s lifetime.
[16] Abimelek then urged Isaac, “Depart from our vicinity; you‘ve grown substantially mightier than we are.”
[17] Isaac departed from his previous location, pitched his tent in the Gerar Valley, and made it his home.
[18] Isaac re-excavated the water sources his father Abraham had established, which the Philistine Warriors had closed following Abraham’s passing. He named the wells with matching titles his father had initially used.
[19] Isaac‘s laborers excavated in the valley and uncovered a spring-fed well.
[20] Gerar’s livestock keepers conflicted with Isaac‘s livestock keepers, who claimed the water was theirs. So, their arguments triggered Isaac to name the well Esek.
[21] Subsequently, another well was excavated, yet they entered into a dispute concerning that one, so he named it “Sitnah.”
[22] He progressed from that location and excavated an additional well, which didn’t incite any disputes. He named it “Rehoboth,” expressing that the Sovereign Captain had now provided us with ample space, and we would prosper in this territory.

23 He proceeded from that location towards Beersheba.

24 That evening, the Sovereign Captain made Himself known to Isaac, saying, “I am the Eternal Reality of your forefather Abraham. Have no fear, for I stand with you; I will provide you with my empowerment and amplify the count of your offspring in honor of my devotee, Abraham.”
25 Isaac constructed a site to offer absolving payments in that location and invoked the Name Sovereign Captain. He established his camp at the same spot where his servants excavated a well.

26 In the meantime, Abimelek, accompanied by Ahuzzath, his principal consultant, and Phicol, the chief of his military division, traveled from Gerar to visit him.
27 Isaac asked them what the purpose of their visit was, considering that they had pushed him out due to their hatred towards him.
28 They responded, “It is evident to us that the Preeminent Sovereign is indeed in your presence; so we propose, ‘An oath should be affirmed among us between you and us. We wish to form a pact with you. ’
29 Assure us that you will not cause us any injury, as we have not bothered you and have acted kindly towards you, allowing you to depart in tranquility. You are presently the recipient of the Sovereign Captain‘s empowerment.”
30 Isaac organized a banquet for them, where they consumed food and beverages.
31 All the men pledged their promises to each other at the break of dawn. Subsequently, Isaac bid them farewell, and Abimelek‘s people left on harmonious terms.

32 On that particular day, Isaac‘s workers told him about the well they had excavated, declaring, “We have struck water!”
33 He gave the name “Shibah,” and the city has retained the name Beersheba.

34 At forty, Esau entered into union with Judith, the daughter of Beeri, a Hittite, and Basemath, the daughter of Elon, another Hittite.
35 They induced a considerable measure of sorrow in Isaac and Rebekah.

§ 10390 JACOB TAKES ESAU‘S EMPOWERMENT

27 Isaac, in his advanced age, was plagued with failing eyesight to the point of blindness. One day, he summoned his elder child, Esau, addressing him as my male heir. Esau responded, indicating his presence by saying, “Here I am.”

2 Isaac expressed, “I have reached an advanced age and am uncertain when my end will come.
3 Now, please gather your hunting tools—projectile holder and launcher—and venture into the wilderness to nab some game for me.
4 Craft the delicious meal I favor and present it to me for consumption. This food will enable me to empower you before I depart from life.”

5 Rebekah was eavesdropping when Isaac conversed with his male heir, Esau. Later, Esau took off for the wilderness for a hunting trip to bring back game meat.
6 Rebekah informed her male heir, Jacob, saying, “I secretly heard your father speaking to your sibling Esau:
7 ‘Procure some wild animal for me and cook a savory dish that I can consume to grant my empowerment to you before the Sovereign Captain before my demise.

’”

8 “Now, my Jacob, pay heed and perform as I instruct you:
9 Proceed to the herd and fetch two of the finest young goats so I may concoct a delicious meal for your father, precisely to his preferences.
10 Carry the meal to your father for him to devour, enabling him to grant his empowerment on you before his passing.”

11 Jacob told his mother, Rebekah, “My brother Esau is a man covered in hair; however, my skin is unblemished and smooth.
12 If my father feels me, he‘ll perceive me as a deceiver, leading to a curse on me instead of empowerment.”
13 Rebekah communicated, “The curse be on me, my offspring. Follow my directives; proceed and retrieve the goats for me.”

14 Jacob ventured out and fetched them; he then gave them to his mother, who whipped up a mouth-watering meal precisely how Isaac would have enjoyed.
15 Rebekah dressed her younger heir, Jacob, in the outstanding garments of Esau, her older heir, stowed in her place.
16 She also clothed his hands and the hairless part of his neck in the skins of the goats.
17 Subsequently, she gave the delicious meal and freshly baked bread to her heir, Jacob.

18 Approaching his father, Jacob voiced, “My father.” His father responded affirmatively, “Yes, my child,” and then inquired, “Who might you be?”
19 Jacob spoke to his father, asserting, “I am your eldest heir, Esau. I’ve followed your instructions. Kindly rise and have a portion of the meal I prepared so you can empower me.”
20 Isaac questioned his heir, “My male heir? How could you encounter it so hastily?” Jacob answered, “The Sovereign Captain gave me good fortune.”
21 Isaac, now almost blind, told Jacob, “Draw near so that I may touch you, my child, to confirm if you are my male heir, Esau.”
22 Jacob approached his father Isaac, who felt him and remarked that the speech was that of Jacob, but the hands matched Esau‘s.
23 Because Jacob‘s hands were covered with goat skin and resembled his brother Esau‘s, Isaac could not identify him. Nevertheless, Isaac still empowered Jacob.

24 “Is it authentic that you are indeed my male heir, Esau?” he inquired. “Yes, I am,” was the response.
25 Isaac requested, “My child, provide me some of your hunted game to devour so I may offer you my empowerment.” Jacob subsequently served it to him, and Isaac ate the food. Jacob also gave him some wine, which Isaac drank.
26 His father, Isaac, beckoned, “Approach, my child, and grant me a kiss.”

27 Jacob approached and embraced him. On inhaling the aroma from his garments, Isaac offered his empowerment, commenting, “Indeed, the scent of my offspring is comparable to the fragrance of a field which the Eternal Reality has graced with abundance.”

28 “May celestial providence confer the celestial moisture and terrestrial bounty, yielding plentiful harvests of grain and copious amounts of fresh wine.
29 Nations shall serve you, and communities adore you. Rule over your relative and your mother‘s progeny should kneel before you. May the ones who revile you meet hatred and those who empower you be granted the same.”

30 After Isaac ended his empowerment over Jacob, and Jacob had barely departed from his father‘s surroundings, his sibling Esau returned from his hunt.
31 He also cooked a savory meal and presented it to his father. Then he pleaded, “Father, would you kindly rise, consume some of the wild game I have prepared for you, and pronounce empowerment on me?”
32 Isaac, his father, questioned him, “To whom do I speak?” He responded, “It‘s me, your eldest child, Esau.”
33 Isaac started shaking uncontrollably, then asked, “Who hunted the animal and brought it to me? I swallowed it all just before your arrival, even favored him. His empowerment by my authority will remain intact.”
34 On hearing his father‘s proclamations, Esau let loose an excruciating wail. He pleaded for empowerment from his father, imploring, “Father, grant me, even me too, your empowerment!”
35 Isaac responded, “Your sibling arrived under deception and claimed your empowerment for himself.”
36 Esau exclaimed, “Isn’t Jacob appropriately named? He‘s cheated me for the second time: first, he stole my birthright, and now he‘s taken my empowerment!” He then questioned, “Do you not have any empowerment left for me?”

37 In response, Isaac told Esau, “I have sustained him with grain and new wine, and I have made him overseer over you and made all his relatives his servants. So, my heir, what can I do to help you?”
38 Esau pleads with his father, “Is there exclusively single empowerment for you to give, father? Give me empowerment as well, my father!” Subsequently, Esau broke into loud sobs.
39 His father, Isaac, responded that His fortress would be distant from the Earth‘s fertility and the celestial morning dew.
40 “You will survive due to your tactical blade skills and be subservient to your brother when you rebel. You will break free from his control.”

41 Esau bore extreme resentment towards Jacob due to the empowerment their father gave to Jacob. He contemplated in his mind, “My father‘s mourning period is looming; at that time, I shall eliminate my twin Jacob.”
42 On hearing the words of her elder heir, Esau, Rebekah summoned her younger heir, Jacob. She warned him, “Esau, your brother, has plans to exact revenge by taking your life.
43 My heir, listen to me and act on my advice immediately: escape to the house of my brother Laban in Harran.
44 Live with him briefly until your brother‘s rage diminishes.
45 As soon as your sibling‘s wrath subsides and he no longer remembers your actions against him, I will ensure your return from that place. I cannot bear the thought of losing both my sons in a single day.”

46 Rebekah told Isaac that her existence was unbearable due to the Hittite females. If Jacob were to marry a woman from this region, particularly a Hittite, she would find life meaningless.

28 So, Isaac summoned Jacob and gave his empowerment to him. He then instructed him: “Forbid yourself from marrying a woman of Canaanite descent.

2 Immediately leave for Paddan Aram to the residence of Bethuel, your maternal grandfather. Choose a spouse for yourself from among Laban‘s daughters, your maternal uncle.
3 May the Eternal Reality grant His empowerment to you, enhance your fertility, and multiply your offspring until you become a numerous assembly of communities.

[4] May the empowerments given to Abraham also come to you and your offspring, enabling you to inherit the land where you currently dwell as an outsider, which the Preeminent Sovereign granted to Abraham."
[5] Isaac sent Jacob on a journey. Jacob headed to Paddan Aram to meet Laban, heir of Bethuel the Aramean and brother of Rebekah, the mother to both Jacob and Esau.

[6] Esau understood that his father Isaac had given his empowerment to Jacob and dispatched him to Paddan Aram to seek a wife from that place, with explicit instructions not to wed a female from Canaan.
[7] Jacob listened to his parents' instructions and headed towards Paddan Aram.
[8] Esau understood how unacceptable the Canaanite women were to his father, Isaac.
[9] Esau traveled to the land of Ishmael. He took Mahalath, Nebaioth's sister, and Ishmael's daughter, as additional spouses to those he possessed.

§ 10400 JACOB'S DREAM AT BETHEL

[10] Jacob departed from Beersheba and journeyed toward Harran.
[11] On arriving at a particular location, he decided to camp as the sun had already gone down. Jacob selected a stone from the surroundings, positioned it beneath his head for comfort, and settled for a night's rest.
[12] He envisioned a dream where he noticed a ladder on the ground, its pinnacle touching the celestial realms. He witnessed the Preeminent Sovereign's messengers rising and falling on it.

[13] Standing above, the Sovereign Captain proclaimed: "I am the Sovereign Captain, your ancestor Abraham's Eternal Reality and Isaac's Preeminent Sovereign. I will grant you and your family the terrain on which you rest.
[14] Your family will be as numerous as the dust particles on the Earth, extending towards the West, the East, the North, and the South. Every nation on Earth will receive empowerment through you and your progeny.
[15] Know that I'm with you, guarding you wherever your journey takes you. I will ensure your safe return to this homeland. I won't abandon you until I've fulfilled every promise I've made to you."

[16] Having roused from his slumber, Jacob realized with conviction that the Eternal Reality Being resides in this location, undisclosed to him prior.
[17] Filled with fear, he exclaimed, "This place is astounding! It must be the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign and entrance to the celestial realm."
[18] Jacob arose at dawn, positioned the stone beneath his head as a monument, and drenched it with oil.
[19] He named that location 'Bethel'; previously, it was known as Luz.
[20] Jacob solemnly promised, "If the Preeminent Sovereign remains with me, safeguards me during this expedition I am embarking on, and provides nourishment to consume and attire to clothe myself, [21] if I return safely to my father's house, the Sovereign Captain will be my Eternal Reality.
[22] This rock I have chosen as a monument will serve as a place of expression of joyful adoration for the Preeminent Sovereign. I will assuredly return a tenth of all you grant on me."

§ 10410 JACOB ARRIVES IN PADDAN ARAM

29 In pursuing his journey, Jacob pressed on, traversing the vast landscapes until he found himself in the heart of the Eastern communities. The air was thick with anticipation as he embarked on a destiny-altering path.
2 As he ventured further, he saw the landscape unveil a picturesque scene—a vital water source in the countryside, with three flocks of sheep resting peacefully around it. A massive stone stood sentinel, covering the well.
3 Each day unfolded with a ritual: caretakers carefully shifted the rock to unveil the well's refreshing waters for the assembled flocks. Then, like a harmonious dance, they would restore the stone to its place, securing the well's secrets once more.

4 Jacob approached the sheep keepers, curious and yearning for connection, his inner-self pulsating with curiosity. "Where do you hail from, my kinsmen?" he inquired. Their response disclosed Harran as their homeland, sparking a cascade of questions.
5 "Do you know Laban, the relative of Nahor?" he pressed further, his words hanging in the air.
6 Affirmative replies echoed, and the conversation unfolded, revealing Laban's well-being and the imminent arrival of his daughter, Rachel.

7 Guided by compassion, Jacob urged the sheep keepers to delay the herding until the proper time, attending to their flock's thirst. The air crackled with anticipation as he awaited the arrival of Laban's daughter.
8 They responded, "We can't continue until all the groups of sheep are assembled and the stone has been shifted from the well's opening. After that, we can hydrate the flock."
9 Rachel emerged as the sun lingered in the midday sky, a vision of transformative generosity amidst the grazing sheep.
10 Overwhelmed by the moment, Jacob approached the well, his strength moving the stone. Jacob's inner-self overflowed as cool water quenched the thirst of Laban's sheep.

11 In an exuberant burst of delight, he embraced Rachel, a kiss sealing a connection that transcended mere kinship. Tears of ecstasy adorned his cheeks, reflecting the profound emotions coursing through him.
12 In the presence of Laban's daughter, Jacob couldn't conceal his delight. Filled with immense delight, he disclosed their familial connection, initiating events that would permanently change their paths.
13 Laban welcomed him with open arms on hearing Jacob's arrival. In a heartfelt embrace, he acknowledged the kinship.
14 Laban exclaimed, "You are indeed my flesh and bone." The air resonated with the emotions of reunion and the unfolding saga of family ties.

§ 10420 JACOB MARRIES LEAH AND RACHEL

15 Following Jacob's residency with Laban for an entire month, Laban asked, "Why would you offer me your services without compensation because we're relatives? Please tell me more about your anticipated pay."
16 Laban was the father of two daughters; the senior was known as Leah, while the more youthful was called Rachel.

17 Leah had poor eyesight. However, Rachel was remarkably stunning and had a beautiful physique.
18 Jacob declared his affection for Rachel by saying, “For the privilege of marrying your younger daughter, Rachel, I shall dedicate seven years of service to you.”
19 Laban expressed, “I would prefer to hand her over to you instead of another man. So, stay with me here.”
20 Seven years was all Jacob had to strive for to have Rachel, yet he loved her so much that it only seemed like days.
21 Jacob addressed Laban, asking for his wife as his agreed-upon service time had ended, expressing his desire to consummate the marriage with her.

22 Laban assembled all the locals and threw a huge wedding feast with copious quantities of wine.
23 As late night fell (knowing that Jacob now had impaired judgment), Laban surreptitiously switched out Rachel for her older daughter and presented (veiled) Leah to Jacob, who unknowingly consummated their relationship with Leah.
24 Laban gave his personal assistant Zilpah to Leah as her helper as a bonus.
25 Jacob woke up in shock at the crack of dawn, finding Leah in his bed! So, Jacob challenged Laban, “Have you tricked me? Rachel was the one for whom I labored, wasn’t she? Why have you misled me?”
26 Laban responded, “It‘s not the tradition in our region to wed the junior daughter before the senior one.
27 Accomplish this daughter‘s wedding week; subsequently, we will compensate you with the younger one for seven more years of service.”
28 Jacob complied, and when the bridal week with Leah was complete, Laban provided Jacob with his younger daughter, Rachel, to become his wife.
29 Laban assigned his personal assistant Bilhah to his daughter Rachel to serve her.
30 Jacob also had intimate relations with Rachel. His affection for her greatly surpassed his feelings for Leah. Consequently, he labored for Laban for an additional seven years.

§ 10430 JACOB‘S CHILDREN

31 Observing that Leah was unloved, the Sovereign Captain allowed her to bear children while Rachel could not conceive.
32 Leah conceived and bore the first male heir. She named him “Reuben,” stating, “It is because the Sovereign Captain has taken notice of my suffering. Assuredly, my spouse will adore me now.”

33 Leah became pregnant once more and, during the birth of her second male heir, disclosed that since the Sovereign Captain recognized my unloved state, “He has endowed me with this child as well.” Consequently, Leah decided to call him Simeon.
34 Again, Leah conceived and gave birth to a third male heir, saying, “Now, finally, my husband will be connected to me, as I have given birth to three sons.” So, he was named Levi.
35 Once more, Leah became pregnant, and on giving birth to a fourth male heir, she exclaimed, “Now I shall honor the Sovereign Captain.” Consequently, Leah named him Judah. Following this, Leah ceased to bear any more offspring.

30 On realizing that she couldn’t have children for Jacob, Rachel was filled with envy for her sister. Therefore, Rachel implored Jacob, stating that she might as well perish without children.

2 Jacob‘s irritation flared against Rachel, retorting, “Do you think I’m the Preeminent Sovereign? He‘s the one who has denied you the ability to bear offspring.”
3 Rachel suggested, “Here‘s Bilhah, my personal assistant. Have relations with her so she can deliver offspring for me and so I can also establish my family through her.”
4 Rachel offered him her personal assistant Bilhah as his spouse, and Jacob shared the bed with her.
5 She conceived and presented him with a child, a boy.
6 Rachel said, “The Preeminent Sovereign has defended my rights; He has responded to my call and brought a male heir into my life.” Because of this, she named him Dan.
7 Bilhah, Rachel‘s personal assistant, became pregnant for the second time and bore another male heir to Jacob.
8 Rachel proclaimed, “I have fiercely competed with my sister and emerged victorious.” So, she dubbed him Naphtali.

9 Observing that she had ceased bearing offspring, Leah offered her personal assistant, Zilpah, to Jacob for matrimony.
10 Another male heir was born to Jacob through Zilpah, Leah‘s personal assistant.
11 Leah exclaimed, “How fortunate I am!” Therefore, she dubbed him Gad.
12 Zilpah, Leah‘s personal assistant, gave birth to another male heir for Jacob.
13 Leah proclaimed, “What delight is mine! Other women will consider me endowed.” So, she named him Asher.

14 Reuben ventured into the meadows throughout the wheat-gathering season. He discovered some mandrake plants, which he gave to his mother, Leah. Rachel then requested that Leah share some of the mandrakes her Reuben gathered.
15 “Rachel, isn’t it enough for you to have taken my spouse? Are you also trying to seize my Reuben‘s mandrakes?” Rachel responded, “Right, so let Jacob stay with you this night in exchange for your child‘s mandrakes.”
16 Jacob returned from the fields at dusk; Leah approached him, “Rachel insisted you stay with me tonight, for I have traded my Reuben‘s mandrakes for you.” Consequently, Jacob shared Leah‘s bed that night.

17 The Sovereign Captain answered the meldings of Leah‘s consciousness with the Eternal Reality, allowing her to conceive and bring forth a fifth male heir for Jacob.
18 Leah proclaimed that the Preeminent Sovereign had compensated her because she provided her personal assistant to her husband. So, she named him Issachar.
19 Leah became pregnant again and delivered a sixth child to Jacob.
20 With genuine emotion coursing through her, Leah proclaimed the celestial gift the Preeminent Sovereign had given her, her tearful gratitude. In a voice that echoed with awe and delight, she declared, “The Most High has graced me with a priceless treasure. He shall look on me with favor, acknowledging that I have brought forth six sons in His name.”

21 After this profound disclosure, a name with deep significance spilled from her lips: Zebulun. Each syllable held the weight of a mother‘s devotion, a testament to the profound bond forged in the crucible of childbirth and celestial favor. The air reverberated with the echoes of an exalted moment as Leah‘s inner-self overflowed with love and reverence for the marvelous endowments given to her. After a while, she bore a daughter named Dinah.

22 The Preeminent Sovereign noted Rachel‘s plight, heard the meldings of her consciousness with the Eternal Reality, and made it pragmatically possible for her to bear a child.

[23] She conceived, took a male heir, and proclaimed, “The Preeminent Sovereign has removed my shame.”
[24] She gave him Joseph’s name, expressing her wish: “May the Sovereign Captain empower me with an additional male heir.”

§ 10440 JACOB‘S FLOCKS INCREASE

[25] Following Joseph‘s birth to Rachel, Jacob requested Laban to permit him to return to his native territory.
[26] “Allow me to take my wives and children whom I’ve earned through service to you, and let me depart. You’re aware of the extensive labor I’ve performed for you.”
[27] However, Laban retorted to him, saying, “If I have gained your favor, kindly remain. Through celestial sources, I have discovered that you are the reason for my empowerment from the Sovereign Captain.”
[28] He continued, “Specify your payment, and I will give it.”
[29] Jacob told him, “You know the effort I’ve put in for you and how your herd has flourished under my supervision.
[30] Your modest resources have greatly blossomed before my arrival, and the Eternal Reality has favored you with empowerment wherever I have set foot. But now, when can I begin to cater to the needs of my own family?”

[31] “What can I provide you with?” Laban inquired. “You need not give me anything,” Jacob responded. “Nevertheless, suppose you commit to this single request from me. In that case, I will keep your livestock and ensure their protection.
[32] Today, allow me to sift through all your herds, separating every sheep with spots or streaks, each lamb of a dark hue, and each goat exhibiting spots or streaks. Such will constitute my compensation.
[33] My integrity will stand as evidence for me in the future every time you verify the compensation you‘ve given me. If I have any goat that lacks speckles or spots or any sheep that is not of a dark color, these will be deemed stolen.”
[34] Laban concurred, affirming that it would proceed as per his proposal.
[35] On that day, Jacob took out all the male goats with streaks or spots, all the speckled or spotted female goats (those with white patches), and all the dark colored lambs. He entrusted them to his sons’ care.
[36] He established a distance comparable to a three-day trip from Jacob. At the same time, Jacob was left to guide the remaining flocks of Laban.

[37] However, Jacob gathered fresh shoots from poplar, almond, and sycamore trees, creating white lines on the surface of the branches by stripping off the bark and revealing the white core of the branches.
[38] He positioned the stripped branches in all the drinking troughs, ensuring they were visible to the herds as they came for hydration. The herds were receptive to the stripped branches and used to mate when they arrived to quench their thirst.
[39] When they bred before the branches, they gave birth to striped, dotted, or mottled offspring.
[40] Jacob isolated the young from the herd. He directed the remaining flock to face the animals in Laban‘s possession, which had stripes and darker shades. He then established his independent herds, ensuring that they didn’t mingle with those belonging to Laban.

[41] Whenever the more robust females were ready to mate, Jacob would set the stripped branches in the watering troughs before them, encouraging them to breed near the branches.

42 When the livestock was frail, Jacob refrained from placing the branches there; the feeble ones became Laban‘s and the robust ones Jacob‘s.
43 In this way, Jacob amassed immeasurable wealth, owning vast herds alongside many female and male servants, camels, and donkeys.

§ 10450 JACOB FLEES FROM LABAN

31 Jacob learned that Laban‘s children claimed that he had seized everything their dad possessed and had derived all his affluence from their dad‘s belongings.
2 Jacob discerned a significant alteration in Laban‘s demeanor towards him from what it previously was.
3 The Sovereign Captain instructed Jacob to “Go back to your ancestral land and your relatives, and I will accompany you.”
4 Jacob sent a message to Rachel and Leah, inviting them to the pastures where his herds grazed.
5 Jacob conveyed his sentiments on arrival: “I perceive a shift in your father‘s stance towards me, unlike in the past. However, my ancestor‘s Eternal Reality has stayed by my side.
6 It is evident to you that I have served your father with the entirety of my might,
7 despite your father‘s repeated attempts to deceive me by altering my compensation on ten occasions, Preeminent Sovereign did not permit any harm to come to me.
8 When Laban announced, ‘All the spotted animals will be Jacob‘s payment, ’ then it so happened that all the animals born were spotted. When Laban stated, ‘All the striped animals will be Jacob‘s payment, ’ then it so happened that all the animals born were striped.
9 The Preeminent Sovereign has transferred your father‘s animals into my possession.”

10 “During the mating period, I experienced a dream where the male goats interacting with the flock showcased a mix of striped, spotted, and speckled patterns.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign‘s messenger communicated to me in the vision. He said, ‘Hey, Jacob. ’ I responded, ‘Sir, I’m right here. ’
12 He then instructed, ‘Raise your sights and notice that all the male goats engaging with the herd are striped, dotted, or spotted, as I’ve observed Laban‘s actions towards you in their entirety.
13 I am the Eternal Reality of Bethel. You set-apart a special stone in this location and pledged an oath to me. Depart from this territory immediately and return to your place of birth. ’
14 Rachel and Leah responded, ‘Is any distribution or inheritance remaining for us in our father‘s property?
15 Doesn’t he consider us as strangers? He traded us and wasted all the earnings he gained from us.
16 Undoubtedly, all the riches that the Preeminent Sovereign has reclaimed from our father are rightfully ours and our offspring‘s. Accordingly, complete whatever the Preeminent Sovereign has directed you. ’
17 Given the approval of Leah and Rachel, Jacob moved forward with plans to relocate his wives and children and started to mount the camels.
18 He led all his acquired livestock and every possession he had gathered in Paddan Aram, journeying towards Canaan to reunite with his father, Isaac.
19 Rachel stole her father‘s domestic idolized deities while Laban was away, shearing his flock.
20 Jacob tricked Laban the Aramean without informing him of his intended escape.
21 He absconded with everything he owned, traversed the Euphrates River, and set direction towards the hill region of Gilead. “

§ 10460 LABAN PURSUES JACOB

22 Laban received the news of his flight three days after Jacob's departure.
23 He and his relatives chased Jacob for seven days, finally catching up to him in the mountain region of Gilead.
24 The Preeminent Sovereign appeared to Laban the Aramean during the night in a dream, cautioning him not to utter a word to Jacob, whether favorable or unfavorable.
25 Jacob had set up his camp in the Gilead's hill country when Laban and his relatives reached him, and they, too, settled in the same area.
26 Laban questioned Jacob, "Why have you done this? You've tricked me and taken my daughters as if they were prisoners of war.
27 Why did you secretly make off and deceive me? Why didn't you bid me farewell with honesty, surrounded by happiness and songs amid the rhythm of tambourines and the strumming of harps?
28 You didn't permit me to bid farewell to my granddaughters and daughters. This omission was an unwise action on your part.
29 I can inflict damage on you. Still, your father's Eternal Reality cautioned me last evening, 'Exercise prudence in not uttering a word to Jacob, whether benevolent or malevolent. '
30 You have left because you intensely desired your father's home. Yet, why did you take my venerated idolized deities?"
31 Jacob responded to Laban, "I left secretly out of fear, thinking you might forcefully take your daughters from me.
32 If you discover any of my people possessing your idolized deities, they won't remain alive. With our relatives as testifiers, validate whether anything here belongs to you; if you find anything, retrieve it." However, Jacob was oblivious that Rachel had stolen it.
33 Laban looked through Leah's tent, Jacob's tent, and the tent belonging to the two personal assistants. However, he found nothing. After exiting Leah's tent, he moved to Rachel's tent.

34 Rachel had stealthily hidden the domestic idolized deities inside the camel's saddle on which she was seated. Despite Laban's thorough investigation of all items in the tent, he discovered nothing.
35 Rachel pleaded with her father, imploring him not to be upset, for she could not rise in his presence due to her monthly cycle. Despite his efforts, he could not locate the domestic idolized deities.
36 Jacob was furious and confronted Laban, demanding, "What is my offense? How have I erred that you pursue me so relentlessly?
37 Having rummaged through all my belongings, what items have you identified? Place it before us and our relatives; let them be the judges between us.
38 I've been in your service for two decades. None of your ewes or she-goats have ever lost their young, and I've never feasted on the male sheep from your herds.
39 I never presented you with any animal that a predator had mauled; I absorbed the loss personally. You required me to compensate for any property stolen, day or night.
40 My condition was such that the day's sweltering heat took a toll on me; the frosty nights were harsh, and slumber became a stranger to my eyes.
41 I remained part of your household for over 20 years. I committed fourteen years for the sake of your two daughters and an additional six for your livestock. Meanwhile, you altered my compensation on ten separate occasions.
42 Had the Preeminent Sovereign of my progenitor, the Eternal Reality of Abraham, and the Preeminent Sovereign of Isaac not been in my favor, you would have undeniably fired me without a thing. Yet, the Eternal Reality has witnessed my travail, my hands' exhaustive labor, and chastised you during the preceding nocturnal period."

43 Laban responded to Jacob, "These women are my children, the offspring are mine, and the herds belong to me. All that is within your sight is rightfully mine. However, what is within my capacity today concerning these daughters of mine or the offspring they have delivered?
44 Now, let's enter into a pact, you and I, which shall confirm our agreement."

45 Jacob selected a rock and fabricated it as a monument.
46 He instructed his relatives to assemble some stones. Consequently, they gathered stones and constructed a mound. After that, they shared a meal next to the accumulated rocks.
47 Laban named it Jegar-Sahadutha, while Jacob called it Galeed.
48 Laban declared, "This pile of stones is a testifier to our agreement today," hence the name Galeed.
49 The site earned the name Mizpah, for Laban declared, "May the Sovereign Captain observe us both when we are separated.
50 Should you cause harm to my daughters or choose to marry women apart from my daughters, even if no one is around, bear in mind that the Preeminent Sovereign stands as our testifier."
51 Laban asked Jacob to observe this mound of stones and the marker I had established as a boundary between us.
52 "This pile of rocks serves as proof, and the marker stands as an affirmation that I won't cross beyond these rocks to cause you harm, and you should not cross these rocks and the marker to spoil me.
53 May Abraham and Nahor's Eternal Reality, their ancestor's Eternal Reality, arbitrate between us." Jacob made a solemn vow to honor his father Isaac's Eternal Reality.
54 He made an absolving payment on the mountain and invited his relative for dinner. Following their meal, they stayed at that location for the night.
55 Laban rose early in the morning, kissed his grandchildren and daughters farewell, gave blessings, and departed his abode.

32 Jacob proceeded on his journey and came on the Preeminent Sovereign's Celestial Envoys.
2 On spotting them, Jacob proclaimed, "This must be the Preeminent Sovereign's assembly!" So, he named the location Mahanaim.
3 Jacob dispatched emissaries to his sibling Esau, who resided in the region of Seir, also known as the territory of Edom.

4 Jacob gave them these directions: "Communicate this to my overseer Esau, 'Your subordinate, Jacob, informs: I have been residing with Laban and have continued my stay there until now.
5 I possess oxen, donkeys, flocks, and male and female servants. I am dispatching this communication to my overseer to secure your approval. '"
6 On their return, the messengers informed Jacob, stating, "Your brother Esau, whom we approached, is headed in your direction, and he brings along a group of four hundred men."
7 Overwhelmed by fear and anguish, Jacob split the people with him, the flocks, herds, and camels into two factions.
8 Jacob speculated that if Esau assaults one camp, the remaining one might have a chance to flee.
9 Jacob then intervened, "Oh the Preeminent Sovereign of my forefather Abraham, Eternal Reality of my forerunner Isaac; Captain, it was you who instructed me to return to the land of my origin and relatives, promising to grant prosperity on me.

10 I do not deserve all the affection and loyalty you have extended to me. I had nothing but a walking stick when I navigated this Jordan, but I have grown into two separate groups.
11 I implore you to protect me from my brother Esau's wrath, as I am terrified he may inflict harm on me and the mothers and their offspring.
12 Yet, you've promised, 'I will indeed bring you success and make your offspring as plentiful as the grains of the sand on the seashore, which are far too numerous to be counted. '" 13 Jacob lodged there that night and chose a gift from what he owned for his brother Esau.
14 There were two hundred goats of female gender and twenty of male gender, in addition to two hundred female sheep and twenty male sheep, 15 thirty nursing camels, their offspring, forty cows, ten bulls, and twenty female donkeys, including ten male donkeys.

16 He entrusted each herd to his servants individually. Jacob instructed them to proceed before him, ensuring a gap was maintained between the herds.
17 He gave directions to the first one: "If my brother Esau encounters you and queries, 'To whom do you serve, where is your journey headed, and who is the owner of these animals ahead of you?'
18 You must state, 'These items belong to your servant Jacob. They are a present dispatched to my overseer Esau, with Jacob himself trailing behind us. '" 19 He further directed the second, the third, and all those trailing the livestock: "You must convey the same message to Esau on meeting him.
20 Make sure to mention, 'Jacob, your servant, is trailing behind us. '" He thought, "I might appease him with these presents I'm dispatching in advance; afterward, perhaps he will accept me during our encounter."
21 Therefore, the gifts from Jacob proceeded in front of him while he lodged in the camp that evening.

§ 10470 JACOB WRESTLES WITH THE PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN

22 During the cover of the night, Jacob woke up. He guided his two spouses, his pair of personal assistants, and his eleven offspring across the shallow waters of the Jabbok.
23 Following their ride across the brook, he also relocated all his belongings.
24 Consequently, Jacob found himself in solitude, and a man struggled with him until the first light of dawn.
25 Observing that the man was not gaining the upper hand, he made contact with Jacob's hip socket, causing it to disjoint during their wrestling match.
26 The man implored, "Release me as the sun rises." However, Jacob stated, "I will refuse to set you free until you grant empowerment to me."
27 The man inquired, "What do you call yourself?" To which he responded, "Jacob."

28 "From now forward," the man declared, "your identity will not be Jacob, but Israel, for you've engaged in battle with the Preeminent Sovereign and humanity, emerging victorious." 29 Jacob inquired, "Could you disclose your name?" However, the man responded, "What's necessary for knowing my name?" Following that, he empowered him at that spot.
30 Jacob named the location "Peniel," given that he took on the Preeminent Sovereign directly.
Jacob's existence remained unscathed.

31 As he traversed past Peniel, the sun started shining on him, and his gait was slowed down due to his hip injury.
32 As a result, even till the present day, the descendants of Israel refrain from consuming the animal ligament connected to the hip socket since Jacob's hip socket was affected near the sinew.

§ 10480 JACOB MEETS ESAU

33 Jacob lifted his gaze and noticed Esau arriving with his four hundred-person company; subsequently, he distributed his offspring between Leah, Rachel, and their two handmaidens.
2 He positioned the servant women and their offspring at the forefront; Leah and her children followed, and Rachel and Joseph brought up the rear.
3 Jacob personally moved forward, prostrating himself on the Earth seven times while nearing his sibling.
4 Esau dashed towards Jacob, hugging him; he draped his arms over his neck and kissed him. They both shed tears.
5 Esau glanced upwards, noticing the women and offspring. He questioned, "Who are they attending you to?" "They are the progeny that the Preeminent Sovereign has kindly given me."
6 The handmaidens and their offspring came forward and prostrated themselves.
7 Leah and her children then approached and prostrated themselves. Finally, Joseph and Rachel arrived and performed their obeisance as well.

8 Esau questioned the rationale for all these herds and flocks I encountered. "To obtain favor in your presence, my overseer," he replied.
9 Esau replied, "My brother, I have more than enough; hold to your possessions."
10 "Kindly," Jacob implored, "if I have now won your favor, graciously accept my offering, for witnessing your face is just like beholding the Preeminent Sovereign's countenance, given that you have taken me with kindness.
11 Kindly receive the gift delivered to you. Preeminent Sovereign has shown me great kindness, and I possess all I want." Due to Jacob's persistence, Esau conceded and accepted it.
12 Esau suggested, "Let's commence our journey, and I will travel alongside you."
13 Jacob told him, "My overseer knows that the kids are fragile, and I'm responsible for nurturing sheep and cattle. All the creatures would perish if they were excessively pushed for even a day.
14 I request that my overseer proceed before me. At the same time, I steadily advance at the speed of the livestock and children in front of me until we reunite in Seir."
15 Esau proposed, "Allow me to leave a few of my people with you." However, Jacob questioned the need for such an action, insisting he merely desired to gain his overseer's approval."
16 From now forward, Esau embarked on his return journey to Seir that day.
17 On the other hand, Jacob journeyed to Succoth, constructed a house, and built temporary havens for his livestock. So, the location was named Succoth.
18 Following his journey from Paddan Aram, Jacob reached the city of Shechem in Canaan without harm. He set up his encampment where he had a view of the city.
19 He spent a hundred units of currency to acquire the land where he set up his tent from the children of Hamor, Shechem's father.
20 Jacob fabricated a pedestal table in that location, entitled El-Elohe Israel.

§ 10490 DINAH AND THE SHECHEMITES

34 Dinah, the daughter of Leah and Jacob, ventured out to meet the women residing in that region.
2 Shechem, the male heir of Hamor the Hivite, who was the leader of that region, spotted her. He seized her and forcibly sexually assaulted her.
3 He experienced a deep affection for Dinah, Jacob's daughter. He was in love with the young lady and expressed his feelings warmly to her.
4 Shechem spoke to his father Hamor, pleading for him to arrange for this maiden to become his bride.
5 Jacob remained silent after learning of Shechem's scandal with his daughter Dinah. His sons were occupied with the livestock in the countryside, choosing to withhold any action until their return.
6 Meanwhile, Shechem's father, Hamor, approached Jacob for a conversation.
7 On learning about the scandal, Jacob's sons were shocked and angry, returning from the fields. The reason is that Shechem had committed a disgraceful act in Israel by forcing Jacob's daughter into sexual relations. This act should never have happened.
8 Hamor spoke to them, "Your daughter deeply smites my heir, Shechem; I request that you allow her to become his spouse.
9 Enter into spousal alliances with us; provide us with your daughters and welcome our daughters as your own.
10 You are welcome to reside among us; the land is yours. Dwell within it, conduct business, and obtain real estate."
11 Speaking to Dinah's father and siblings, Shechem requested their approval, promising to fulfill their proposed demands.
12 "Feel free to demand any sum for the bridal payment and the gift. I'll provide whatever amount you desire. Just allow me to make the young lady my wife."
13 Since their sister Dinah was violated, Jacob's sons gave a deceptive response to Shechem and his father Hamor.

14 They declared to them, "We can't consent to this; we cannot allow our sister to marry a man who hasn't undergone circumcision. It would disgrace us.
15 Our consent to form a pact with you hinges solely on one term: that you mirror us by ensuring every male among you undergoes circumcision.
16 We shall enter a marriage pact, offering our daughters to you while accepting yours, making our dwelling among you, uniting to form a single community.
17 However, if you decline our proposition to undergo circumcision, we shall retrieve our sister and depart."
18 Hamor and his heir, Shechem, found their proposal agreeable.
19 The young man, greatly esteemed above everyone in his father's family, swiftly acted on their request, captivated as he was by Jacob's daughter.
20 Hamor and his male heir, Shechem, journeyed to their city's gate to converse with the male inhabitants of their city.
21 "These men desire peace with us," they proposed. "Let them inhabit our region and conduct commerce here; our territory is sufficiently vast to accommodate them. We can wed their daughters and offer ours to them in return.
22 However, the men will exclusively consent to residing among us and becoming a unified population if our males undergo circumcision, just as they have.

23 Wouldn't all their cattle, acquisitions, and beasts become ours? Therefore, consent to their demand; they will dwell among us."
24 Every man who passed through the city gate consented to Hamor and his male heir Shechem's proposition, and all the males within the city underwent circumcision.
25 After three days, while they were still suffering, two of Jacob's offspring, Simeon and Levi, brothers of Dinah, drew their weapons and launched an assault on the oblivious city, massacring all male inhabitants.
26 Hamor and his male heir, Shechem, were slain. Dinah was retrieved from Shechem's dwelling, and they departed.

27 Jacob's offspring descended on the deceased and ransacked the town where their sister was violated.
28 They took possession of their sheep, cattle, donkeys, and everything else they owned, both within the city and in the open country.
29 They seized all their riches, women, and offspring while looting every item from their residences.
30 Jacob told Simeon and Levi, "You have stirred turmoil for me, making me detested by the Canaanites and Perizzites, the region's inhabitants. Our numbers are scarce, and if they unite against me and assault me, both my household and I stand to be annihilated."
31 They retorted, "Was it right to let our sister be treated that way?"

§ 10500 JACOB RETURNS TO BETHEL

35 The Preeminent Sovereign instructed Jacob, "Move to Bethel, make it your home, and construct a pedestal table for the Eternal Reality, who disclosed Himself to you during your escape from your sibling, Esau."
2 Jacob instructed his household and all those accompanying him, "Dispose of the venerated figurines of foreign idolized deities they harbored, cleanse themselves, and switch to fresh attire.
3 Let's proceed toward Bethel; I plan to construct a pedestal table dedicated to the Preeminent Sovereign. He extended His help during my tribulation and has been my constant companion, irrespective of where I traveled."
4 They handed Jacob all the venerated idolized deities they possessed and the earrings they wore, which Jacob concealed beneath the oak tree near Shechem.
5 They embarked on their journey, striking the surrounding towns with a fear of the Preeminent Sovereign and preventing anyone from following them.
6 Ultimately, Jacob and his companions reached Luz, also called Bethel, located within Canaan's territory.

7 He established a place of joyful adoration. He named it El Bethel because it was where the Preeminent Sovereign had disclosed Himself during his escape from his sibling.
8 Deborah, who served as Rebekah's nurse, passed away and was laid to rest beneath the oak tree near Bethel, subsequently named Allon-Bakuth.
9 On Jacob's arrival from Paddan-Aram, the Preeminent Sovereign reappeared to him, granting empowerment.
10 The Preeminent Sovereign declared to him, "Your identity was known as Jacob. However, you shall cease to bear the name Jacob; your new identity will be Israel." So, the Eternal Reality assigned Jacob the name Israel.

11 The Preeminent Sovereign spoke to him, declaring, “I am the all-powerful Eternal Reality; multiply and flourish. From you will emerge a nation, even an array of nations, and Prime Rulers shall be a part of your family.
12 The territory I gave to Abraham and Isaac, I am entrusting to you as well, and I will ensure that your future generations inherit this same land.”
13 The Preeminent Sovereign ascended, leaving him alone at the location where He had spoken to Israel.
14 This place is where the Preeminent Sovereign communicated with Jacob and where he fabricated a stone monument. Here, he made a poured offering and commissioned it with oil.
15 Jacob named Bethel to the location where he had conversed with the Preeminent Sovereign.

§ 10510 THE DEATHS OF RACHEL AND ISAAC

16 They continued their journey from Bethel, and while they were still a considerable distance away from Ephrath, Rachel began experiencing childbirth pains and faced significant challenges during the labor process.
17 Amidst her strenuous labor, the midwife assured her, “Don’t lose hope; you’re having another boy.”

18 With her life ebbing away, she called her male heir, Ben-Oni, in her final moments. However, his father named him Benjamin.
19 Rachel passed away, and her remains were interred on the route to Ephrath, also known as Bethlehem.
20 Jacob made a memorial stone over her grave, which still designates Rachel’s grave today.
21 Jacob (now Israel) further established his encampment beyond the tower of Eder.
22 When Israel resided in that area, Reuben engaged in a forbidden sexual act with Bilhah, his father’s secondary wife, and Israel became aware of the scandal. The offspring of Jacob were twelve in total.
23 Leah’s offspring included Reuben, Jacob’s eldest child, and Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun.
24 Rachel’s offspring included Joseph and Benjamin.
25 Dan and Naphtali were the offspring of Bilhah, who served Rachel.
26 Leah’s personal assistant, Zilpah, bore him two sons, Gad and Asher while residing in Paddan Aram.
27 Jacob returned to his father Isaac at Mamre, near Kiriath-Arba (also known as Hebron), where Abraham and Isaac had resided.
28 Isaac’s lifespan was one hundred and eighty years.
29 Finally taking his last breath, Isaac perished and rejoined his predecessors, advancing in age and having lived a fulfilled life. His children, Esau and Jacob, laid him to rest.

§ 10520 ESAU’S DESCENDANTS

36 This account is Esau’s family record, also known as Edom.

2 Esau chose his wives from the daughters of Canaan: Adah, the child of Elon the Hittite, and Oholibamah, the offspring of Anah and the granddaughter of Zibeon the Hivite, 3 Basemath, Ishmael’s daughter, and Nebaioth’s sister were also included.

4 Adah birthed a male heir, Eliphaz, for Esau, while Basemath gave him another male heir named Reuel.
5 Oholibamah was the mother of Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. They were all sons of Esau, born in the territory of Canaan.
6 Esau assembled his wives, offspring, and all the household members, along with his herds, animals, and possessions he had gathered in Canaan, relocating to a region far removed from his relative, Jacob.
7 They had too many belongings to coexist in the same area; the territory where they resided could not sustain both of them due to their considerable amount of livestock.
8 Esau, also known as Edom, made his home in the mountains of Seir.
9 Here's the history of Esau's family, the Edomites' progenitor residing in the Seir mountainous region.
10 The sons of Esau were named Eliphaz, born to his wife Adah, and Reuel, born to his wife Basemath.
11 Eliphaz's offspring were Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, and Kenaz.
12 Eliphaz, the offspring of Esau, had a secondary wife named Timna, who gave birth to Amalek for him. These were the grandsons of Adah, wife of Esau.
13 Reuel's offspring were Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These individuals were the grandkids of Esau's spouse, Basemath.
14 Jeush, Jalam, and Korah were the offspring of Esau's spouse, Oholibamah, who was the descendant of Zibeon and the daughter of Anah.
15 The leaders from Esau's family were the progeny of Eliphaz, Esau's first-born, including the chieftains Teman, Omar, Zepho, and Kenaz.

16 Korah, Gatam, and Amalek, descendants of Eliphaz, who were Adah's grandsons, were the communal leaders in Edom.
17 The progeny of Esau's offspring, Reuel, includes leaders Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. These individuals were acknowledged as the communal heads who were descendants of Reuel from the land of Edom, and they were the grandsons of Esau's consort, Basemath.
18 The descendants of Esau's spouse, Oholibamah, were leaders Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. These leaders came from Esau's spouse, Oholibamah, who was Anah's daughter.
19 The mentioned were the sons of Esau, also known as Edom, and these were their communal leaders.
20 The progeny of Seir the Horite, who resided in that area, included Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, and Anah, 21 Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. They were the leaders of the Horite people; they were the descendants of Seir in the region of Edom.
22 Lotan gave life to Hori and Homam. Timna was his sister.
23 Shobal's progeny included Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, Shepho, and Onam.
24 Zibeon's offspring were Aiah and Anah. (Anah is noted for locating hot water springs in the barren wilderness while tending to the donkeys belonging to his father, Zibeon.)
25 Anah's offspring were Dishon and his daughter Oholibamah.
26 Dishon's offspring consisted of Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran, and Keran.
27 Ezer's offspring were Bilhan, Zaavan, and Akan.
28 Dishan's offspring were Uz and Aran.
29 The leading figures among the Horites were Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, and Anah.
30 Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan were the leaders of the Horite peoples, each according to their respective divisions, in the territory of Seir.

§ 10530 THE PRIME RULERS OF EDOM

31 These Prime Rulers ruled Edom before any Prime Ruler overseeing the Israelites.
32 Bela, the offspring of Beor, ascended to authority in Edom, ruling over a city known as Dinhabah.
33 On Bela's death, Jobab, Zerah's male heir from Bozrah, ascended to authority.
34 On Jobab's demise, Husham, hailing from the land of the Temanites, ascended to authority.
35 Following the demise of Husham, Hadad, the male heir of Bedad, who claimed victory over Midian in the territory of Moab, ascended to authority. The metropolis he ruled was identified as Avith.
36 After Hadad's demise, Samlah, who came from Masrekah, claimed the authority.
37 Following Samlah's death, Shaul of Rehoboth inherited his authority along the Euphrates River.
38 On Shaul's death, Baal-Hanan, the male heir of Akbor, ascended to authority.
39 Following the demise of Baal-Hanan, the heir of Akbar, Hadad ascended to authority. He governed from a city known as Pau, and his spouse was named Mehetabel, the offspring of Matred and granddaughter of Me-Zahab.
40 The leaders that emerged from Esau, identified by their names and classified according to their communities and territories, were Timna, Alvah, and Jetheth, 41 Oholibamah, Elah, and Pinon.
42 Kenaz, Teman, Mibzar,
43 Magdiel and Iram. These stood as the chiefs of Edom, ruling over their respective regions in their inhabited land. They were from the family of Esau, known as the Edomites' forerunner.

§ 10540 JOSEPH'S DREAMS

37 Jacob resided in the land where his father had lived as a foreigner, namely the land of Canaan.
2 This account is Jacob's family line narrative. A seventeen-year-old Joseph cared for the flocks with his brothers, the sons of Zilpah and Bilhah, his father's wives. He reported unfavorable behavior from his brothers to their father.
3 Israel (formerly Jacob) held Joseph in higher favor than all his other children due to his birth in his advanced years; consequently, he crafted a multi-colored tunic.
4 Observing that their father held him in higher regard than all of them, they harbored hatred towards him. They found themselves incapable of handling him in a friendly manner.
5 Joseph experienced a vision in his sleep, and their hatred towards him heightened on sharing it with his siblings.
6 He implored them, "Please heed to the details of the vision I dreamt:
7 We were out in the field, securing stacks of wheat when unexpectedly, my stack ascended and stood up. In contrast, your stacks gathered around mine and paid homage to mine."
8 His father questioned Joseph, "Are you planning to govern over us? Are you seriously going to have control over us?" His brothers' resentment towards him increased due to his dreams and assertions.
9 Joseph experienced a second vision he shared with his siblings. "Pay heed," he stated. "I've had a fresh dream where the sun, moon, and eleven stars showed deference to me."
10 As he relayed this to his father and brothers, his father scolded him and questioned, "What does this dream imply? Do you genuinely trust that your mother, your brothers, and I will prostrate ourselves before you on the ground?"

11 His siblings harbored envy toward him. However, his father contemplated the issue profoundly.

§ 10550 JOSEPH SOLD BY HIS BROTHERS

12 His siblings had left to tend to their father's sheep around Shechem.
13 Israel communicated to Joseph, acknowledging that his siblings were tending the flocks close to Shechem, and he intended to dispatch Joseph to them. To this, Joseph affirmed readily.
14 Israel directed Joseph to verify the conditions of his brothers and the herds and report back to him. Consequently, Joseph departed from the Hebron Valley. On reaching Shechem, Joseph arrived where the brothers presumed to work.
15 A gentleman discovered him aimlessly roaming the fields and inquired, "Who are you searching for?"
16 Joseph responded, "I'm searching for my brothers. Could you inform me where they are keeping their flocks?" The gentleman replied, 17 "They've already left this location. I overheard them mention, 'We should head to Dothan. '" Consequently, Joseph followed his brothers and located them close to Dothan.
18 They spotted Joseph from afar, and before he even approached them, they conspired to end his life.
19 "Pay heed: here comes the overseer of dreams," they exclaimed collectively.
20 "Let's go ahead and murder him, tossing his body into one of these wells. Then we can claim a savage beast ate him. Afterward, we'll observe the outcome of his dreams."
21 Hearing their plan, Reuben intervened, attempting to save Joseph from them. He suggested, "Let's not end his life.
22 Avoid any form of violence. Instead, throw Joseph in this well here in the wilderness, but refrain from causing him harm." Reuben suggested this to free him from their clutches and return him safely to his father.
23 As Joseph approached his siblings, they disrobed him of his garment—the beautifully adorned robe that he had on.
24 They seized and flung him into the pit. The pit was devoid of water; it was vacant.

25 While participating in their meal, they noticed a group of Ishmaelites approaching from Gilead. Their camels were laden with aromatic substances, healing resins, and fragrant myrrh, all destined to be transported to Egypt.
26 Judah posed a question to his siblings, asking what benefit they would derive from murdering their relative and hiding the evidence of his death.
27 "How about we trade him to the Ishmaelites and refrain from harming him, as he is our relative, our bloodline?" His siblings concurred.
28 As the Midianite traders passed, his siblings hauled Joseph out of the well and traded him for twenty silver pieces to the Ishmaelites, who then led him to Egypt.
29 On Reuben's return to the pit, he discovered, to his horror, that Joseph was missing. In despair, he ripped his garments.
30 He returned to his siblings and declared, "The lad is gone! Now, where should I venture?"
31 They procured Joseph's apparel, culled a goat, and immersed the garment in its blood.
32 They presented the intricately designed tunic to their father, uttering, "We stumbled on this. Could you determine if this is your male heir's apparel?"
33 He identified it, exclaiming, "This is my heir's tunic! A wild beast must have consumed him. Undoubtedly, Joseph has been ripped apart."
34 Jacob (Israel) ripped his garments, adorned himself in mourning attire, and grieved for his offspring for an extended period.

35 All his offspring endeavored to offer him solace; however, he declined any consolation. He declared his intention to grieve until he would meet his heir in the afterlife eternally. Consequently, his father shed sorrowful tears for him.
36 Meanwhile, the Midianites sold Joseph in Egypt to a man named Potiphar, an official of Pharaoh and the commander of the palace guard.

§ 10560 JUDAH AND TAMAR

38 Judah left his siblings during that period and chose to reside with a man called Hirah from Adullam.
2 Judah encountered a Canaanite woman whose father was named Shua during his time there. He took her as his wife and had an intimate relationship with her.
3 She conceived a first heir named Er.
4 She once more fell pregnant and bore a second heir, Onan.
5 Once more, she conceived and had a third heir named Shelah. Her location was Kezib when she delivered him.
6 Judah then selected a woman recognized as Tamar to be the spouse of his oldest male heir, Er.
7 Er, the eldest male heir of Judah, was seen as evil in the eyes of the Sovereign Captain, so the Eternal Reality took his life.
8 Judah instructed Onan, “Join with Er’s widow, undertake the responsibility as her relative by marriage, and ensure family for your sibling.”
9 Onan was aware that the offspring wouldn’t be his; hence, every time he had an intimate relationship with his brother’s wife, he released his semen on the ground to avoid giving life a child to his brother’s wife.
10 The actions he committed were considered completely unworthy by the Sovereign Captain. So, the Sovereign Captain took his life as well.
11 Judah then instructed his daughter-in-law Tamar to reside as a widow in her paternal home until his male heir, Shelah, reached adulthood. He had a concern that Shelah might also meet death like his siblings. Consequently, Tamar relocated to live in her father’s residence.
12 Following a considerable period, Judah’s spouse, Shua’s daughter, passed away. Once Judah had overcome his sorrow, he journeyed to Timnah, where his sheep were being sheared. Judah’s companion, Hirah the Adullamite, accompanied him.
13 Somebody learned that her father-in-law (Judah) was heading to Timnah for sheep shearing, and Tamar was informed.

14 She discarded her mourning attire, disguised herself with a veil, and sat at the gateway to Enaim on the route to Timnah. Despite Shelah’s maturity, she did this in recognition that she hadn’t been wedded to him.
15 On encountering her, Judah assumed she was a woman of ill repute as her countenance was veiled.
16 Unaware that she was his daughter-in-law, he approached her at the side of the road, saying, “I desire to lie with you.” “What do you demand in return for sleeping with me?” she inquired.
17 He said, “I will deliver a kid from my herd to you.” She asked, “Would you provide me with something as security until you send it?”
18 Judah asked, “What kind of guarantee should I provide?” She responded, “Your identification seal, its string, and the cane you’re holding.” Consequently, he handed them over and was intimate with her, which resulted in her conception.

19 Following her departure, she removed her veil and once more donned her garments of widowhood.
20 Judah, delegating to his acquaintance the Adullamite, delivered the young goat to retrieve his security from the woman, to find out she was nowhere to be found.
21 He asked the local inhabitants, “Where can I find the temple sex worker that used to be alongside the Enaim roadway?” They replied, “No such sex worker has ever existed here.”
22 He returned to Judah, reporting, “I couldn’t locate her. Additionally, the locals claim there has never been a temple prostitute in their midst.”
23 Judah suggested letting her retain what she possesses, or else we risk becoming a butt of jokes. “After all, I did dispatch this young goat to her, yet you were unsuccessful in locating her.”
24 Roughly three months later, it was reported to Judah that Tamar, his daughter-in-law, had been practicing prostitution and was consequently pregnant. “Extract her and execute her by fire!” Judah commanded.
25 While escorting her out, she told her father-in-law, “I carry the child of the man to whom these items belong.” Then she implored, “Please establish to whom this signet, cord, and staff belong.”

26 Judah identified them. He admitted, “She has been more upright than I, given that I didn’t permit her marriage to my male heir, Shelah. Furthermore, there were no subsequent intimate encounters with her.”
27 At the moment of labor, she found out that she was expecting twin boys in her womb.
28 One of the twins extended his hand during childbirth. The nurse then tied a crimson thread around his wrist and announced that this child had emerged first.
29 But his sibling emerged as he retracted his hand. The nurse exclaimed, “Is this the method you’ve employed to enter the world?” Therefore, he was named Perez.
30 The sibling with the crimson string tied to his wrist finally emerged, receiving the name Zerah.

§ 10570 JOSEPH AND POTIPHAR’S WIFE

39 Joseph was transported to Egypt, and there, Potiphar, an Egyptian official serving Pharaoh as the commander of his guards, purchased him from the Ishmaelites who had brought him into the land.
2 The Preeminent Sovereign provided Joseph with success. He resided in the dwelling of his overseer in Egypt.
3 Joseph’s overseer recognized that the Sovereign Captain’s presence was on him, leading all his undertakings to successful outcomes.
4 Potiphar liked Joseph and made him his aide. He placed Joseph at the helm of his household affairs and transferred all his possessions under Joseph’s supervision.
5 Since he trusted Joseph to manage his estate and possessions, empowerment from the Sovereign Captain showered over the Egyptian’s home. In Joseph’s presence, favor from the Eternal Reality enriched everything Potiphar owned within his residence and across his fields.

6 Potiphar handed over all of his possessions to Joseph’s supervision; with Joseph at the helm, he had no worries apart from deciding what to consume. Joseph was strikingly handsome and had a muscular physique.
7 After some time, Joseph’s overseer’s wife developed an attraction towards him and propositioned him for physical relations.

8 He declined. He informed the overseer's wife, "With me being the overseer, my overseer isn't concerned about anything in the household; he has assigned all his possessions under my supervision.
9 Nobody holds a higher position in this home than myself. There hasn't been anything that my overseer has denied me, except for you, as you are his wife. How could I commit such a monstrous act and transgress against the Preeminent Sovereign?"
10 Even though she consistently communicated with Joseph daily, he persistently declined her propositions to sleep with her or even spend time in her company.
11 On a particular day, he entered the residence to carry out his responsibilities with none of the home administrators inside.
12 She seized him by his attire, insisting, "Sleep with me!" Yet he left his clothing in her grip and bolted from the premises.
13 Noticing his garment remaining in her grasp as he escaped from the residence, 14 she summoned her home administrators. "Observe," she told them, "this Hebrew man was introduced to us to ridicule us! He entered my chamber intending to lay with me, but I shrieked.
15 On hearing my outcry for assistance, he abandoned his garment beside me and bolted from the premises."
16 She retained his garment close to her until the arrival of his overseer.
17 She told him the following tale: "The Hebrew servant you introduced to us approached me to ridicule me.
18 The moment I cried out in distress, he abandoned his garment next to me and fled the premises."

19 Hearing his wife's account of how his servant acted towards her, his overseer was consumed with rage.
20 Joseph's overseer hauled him off and confined him in the jail, where the Pharaoh's captives were kept. Yet, Joseph lingered there in the detention.
21 The Eternal Reality remained loyal to him, genuinely loved him, and secured him a special place in the eyes of the jail's commander.
22 The jailor assigned Joseph the responsibility of overseeing all the detainees in the prison. He was accountable for all operations conducted there.
23 The jailer didn't concern himself with any matter under Joseph's supervision since the Eternal Reality's presence was with Joseph, orchestrating prosperity in his every endeavor.

§ 10580 THE CUPBEARER AND THE BAKER

40 After a certain period, the wine steward and the baker for Egypt's Pharaoh transgressed against their Prime Ruler.
2 The Pharaoh of Egypt was furious with his two high-ranking servants, the primary wine steward and the leading bread maker.
3 He placed them under arrest in the dwelling of the commander of the governance guard, within the same jail where Joseph had been held.
4 The guard chief designated them to Joseph's care, and he catered to their needs.
5 The wine steward and the chief baker of the Egyptian Prime Ruler, who was incarcerated, experienced a dream on the same occasion, with each vision having its unique significance.
6 On Joseph's visit to them the following dawn, he observed their downcast demeanor.
7 He inquired of the Pharaoh's officers confined with him in his overseer's residence, "Why do they appear so downcast today?"

8 They responded, “The two shared dreams, but nobody could decode them.” Joseph then told them, “Aren’t the disclosures of dreams the province of the Preeminent Sovereign? Share your dreams with me.”
9 The chief cupbearer related his dream to Joseph, stating, “In my vision, I beheld a vine before me.
10 Three branches sprouted on the vine. With its budding, its flowers broke forth, and the clusters matured into fruits.
11 I held the Pharaoh’s goblet, crushed the grapes, and handed it to the Pharaoh.”
12 Joseph explained, “The three branches in your dream symbolize three days.
13 Pharaoh will honor you in another three days and return you to your duties. You will again present Pharaoh his cup, as when you were his chief cupbearer.
14 When things are going favorably for you, please don’t forget about me; show kindness towards me, speak about me to Pharaoh, and help me escape this jail.
15 Indeed, I was unjustly taken away from the Hebrews’ territory, and even here, I haven’t done anything to merit entry into this prison.”
16 Observing Joseph’s favorable dream interpretation, the head pastry chef told Joseph he had a vision: “Three loaves of bread were positioned on my head.
17 All sorts of baked food for Pharaoh were contained in the uppermost basket, yet the birds consumed them from the basket perched on my skull.”
18 Joseph defined the symbolism: “The trio of baskets signifies three days.
19 Pharaoh will decapitate you and hang your body on a stake in the next three days. Then birds will come and devour your flesh.”
20 On the third day, Pharaoh’s birthday, he hosted a banquet for all his servants. In front of his officials, he honored the chief wine steward and the principal baker.
21 The chief cupbearer was reinstated, again delivering the cup to Pharaoh’s hand.
22 The head baker was executed as Joseph had predicted when explaining the dream.

23 Regrettably, the chief wine steward didn’t recall Joseph; he dismissed him from his memory.

§ 10590 PHARAOH’S DREAMS

41 After two complete years, Pharaoh experienced a dream where he found himself beside the Nile.
2 Seven healthy, plump cows emerged from the river, grazing in the grass of the reeds.
3 Then, seven more cows, unsightly and thin, emerged from the Nile and positioned themselves next to the others on the river’s edge.
4 The unattractive and skinny cows devoured the seven healthy and plump cows. Following this, Pharaoh abruptly awoke.
5 He dozed off again and encountered a second vision: On a single stalk sprouted seven heads of grain, prosperous and healthy.
6 After those, seven additional heads of grain emerged, frail and roasted by the eastern breeze.
7 The slender grains consumed the seven robust and abundant heads. Subsequently, Pharaoh awakened; “It must have been an exclusive figment of my imagination.”
8 Feeling disturbed at dawn, he summoned all the sorcerers and intellectuals of Egypt. Pharaoh disclosed his dreams to them, yet none disclosed their meanings.
9 The head wine taster then spoke to Pharaoh, revealing that the present day brought back memories of his past transgressions.

10 “There was a time when Pharaoh was furious with his enslaved persons, and he put the head baker and me in confinement in the brig of the guard’s residence.
11 On the same night, we experienced dreams, each with unique significance.

12 A young Hebrew man with us served as a servant to the guard’s commander. We relayed our dreams to him, and he delivered individual interpretations for each dream.
13 Precisely as he had envisioned, that is how it occurred: my role was reinstated, and the other individual met his end through impalement.”
14 Posthaste, Pharaoh summoned Joseph, who was hastily fetched from the pit. After grooming himself and altering his attire, he presented himself to Pharaoh.
15 Pharaoh told Joseph, “I experienced a dream which no one could decipher. However, it has come to my attention that you possess the ability to interpret dreams on hearing them.”
16 Joseph responded to Pharaoh, stating his inability but mentioning that the solution Pharaoh sought would come from the Preeminent Sovereign.
17 Pharaoh recounted to Joseph that he had found himself stationed at the edge of the Nile in his vision.
18 “Suddenly, seven healthy, plump cows emerged from the river and began to graze on the reed grass.
19 Subsequently, seven additional cows emerged emaciated and highly unsightly, and I had not witnessed such repugnant cows throughout Egypt.
20 The emaciated, unpleasant cows devoured the primary seven well-fed cows.
21 Despite consuming them, their appearance disclosed no evidence; they remained as unappealing as they initially were. Subsequently, I was roused from sleep.
22 In my slumber, I envisioned seven full and favorable ears of grain sprouting from a solitary stalk.
23 Then, seven more heads of grain emerged; these were lean, shriveled, and dried up by the easterly wind.
24 The slender grain heads consumed the seven nutritious ones. I communicated this to the mystics, yet only a few could enlighten me on its significance.”
25 Joseph told Pharaoh his dreams shared the same meaning. He added that the Preeminent Sovereign had given Pharaoh a glimpse of his forthcoming actions.

26 “The seven healthy cows represent seven years, just as the seven robust heads of grain do; both visions carry the same meaning.
27 The seven gaunt and hideous cows that arose subsequently denote seven years, and the same goes for the seven insubstantial ears of grain charred by the East wind: These symbolize seven years of scarcity.
28 In line with what I conveyed to Pharaoh, the Preeminent Sovereign has unveiled His imminent actions to Pharaoh.
29 The entire land of Egypt will experience a period of immense prosperity for seven years.
30 However, seven years of intense scarcity will follow them. The prior opulence in Egypt will fade into oblivion, and the shortage will devastate the land.
31 The plentiful yield in the territory will be forgotten, given the extreme severity of the forthcoming famine.
32 The recurrence of Pharaoh’s dream in two versions signifies that the Preeminent Sovereign has conclusively commissioned the event and will swiftly actualize it.
33 Pharaoh should now seek out a man full of wisdom and understanding and assign him the leadership of Egypt.
34 Pharaoh should assign administrators over the territory to collect one-fifth of Egypt’s crop yield throughout the seven prosperous years.

35 During the advantageous years ahead, all the excess food should be gathered and preserved under the Pharaoh's control within the urban granaries for future nourishment.
36 This sustenance ought to be retained as a provision for the nation to be utilized during the seven years of scarcity that will transpire in Egypt, averting the country's devastation due to the famine."
37 Pharaoh and all his advisors found Joseph's suggestion appealing.
38 Pharaoh asked, "Is there another individual comparable to this one, possessing the Eternal Spark within?"

39 "As a result of the Preeminent Sovereign's revealing all this to you," Pharaoh told Joseph, "there isn't anyone as wise and intelligent as you are.
40 You will oversee my household; all my subjects must obey your directives. Only my authority will surpass your rank.

§ 10600 JOSEPH IN CHARGE OF EGYPT

41 So, Pharaoh designated Joseph, proclaiming, "I now confer on you authority over the entirety of Egypt."
42 In a display of power, Pharaoh removed the seal ring from his hand and gave it to Joseph. He adorned Joseph in garments crafted from exquisite linen and hung a golden necklace around his neck.
43 Pharaoh set up Joseph to journey in his deputy's main strike vehicle, with people saluting and paving the path, symbolizing his appointment as the overseer of all Egypt.
44 Pharaoh told Joseph that while "I am the highest authority, no action will be conducted, nor will anyone traverse anywhere in Egypt without your explicit consent."
45 Pharaoh renamed Joseph Zaphenath-Paneah and gave him Asenath, daughter of Potiphera, the priest of On, as his life partner. Subsequently, Joseph embarked on a journey across the entire expanse of Egypt.
46 At the age of thirty, Joseph started serving Pharaoh, the Prime Ruler of Egypt, after which he departed from Pharaoh's court and traveled across the entirety of the Egyptian nation.
47 The Earth yielded bountiful harvests in the seven years of prosperity.
48 During the seven prosperous years in Egypt, Joseph assembled all the harvest and preserved it in the cities. He stored the crop yield of each city's surrounding fields within its limits.
49 Joseph stopped measuring the grain because it was so plentiful, like the sand on the sea, that he could no longer keep track of it.

50 Joseph was blessed with two boys before the start of the famine by Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, the priest from On.
51 Joseph mentioned, referring to the first-born Manasseh, "The Eternal Reality helped me forget all my suffering and all my father's household."

52 Grateful that the Preeminent Sovereign had made him prolific in the land of his misery, he called his second heir Ephraim.
53 Seven prosperous years in Egypt concluded.
54 The seven years of scarcity, as foretold by Joseph, arrived. While every other region was hit with famine, food was present throughout Egypt.
55 As Egypt started suffering from food scarcity, the populace implored Pharaoh for nourishment. In response, Pharaoh instructed all Egyptians to seek Joseph and heed his advice.

56 As the hunger crisis engulfed the entire nation, Joseph unlocked all the granaries and sold wheat to the Egyptians due to the intensifying severity of the famine across Egypt.
57 The entirety of the globe turned to Egypt to purchase grain from Joseph, owing to the extreme extent of the famine across all nations.

§ 10610 JOSEPH'S BROTHERS GO TO EGYPT

42 On discovering that Egypt had grain, Jacob questioned his sons, asking why they continually stared at one another.
2 He added, "I've gotten word that there's a food supply in Egypt. Travel there and procure some to sustain ourselves and not perish."
3 Consequently, Joseph's ten siblings traveled to purchase grain from Egypt.
4 Out of fear that his youngest heir may encounter harm, Jacob decided not to send Benjamin, Joseph's sibling, along with the others.

5 The sons of Israel were among those multitudes who traveled to purchase grain, as food scarcity had also hit the entire Canaan.
6 Joseph was Egypt's authoritative figure, selling grain to its entire population. On their arrival, his brothers prostrated before him, their faces touching the ground.
7 When Joseph looked at his siblings, he immediately recognized them; however, he disguised his identity and addressed them sternly. He queried their origin, too. They responded that they had journeyed from Canaan to purchase food.
8 Even though Joseph identified his siblings, he failed to reveal himself.
9 Recalling his dreams about them, he accused them, "You are undercover agents! You've arrived to determine our land's vulnerabilities."
10 They responded, "No, my overseer. We, your servants, have come to purchase provisions.
11 We all come from the same father. We, your servants, are men of integrity, not intelligence agents."
12 "Not so," he responded. "You're here to identify the undefended areas of our territory."
13 They responded, "We are a family of twelve siblings, all sons of a single man residing in Canaan. The youngest brother remains with our father, and another brother has ceased to exist."
14 Joseph insisted, "As I've stated, you all are spies!
15 You will be tested this way: Until your youngest brother shows up, you are not allowed to leave this place, as certain as Pharaoh lives.
16 Send one among you to bring your sibling; the rest will stay captive for your statements to be scrutinized for veracity. If they're not authentic, then by the certainty of Pharaoh's life, you are indeed spies!"
17 Joseph kept them all under guard for three days,
18 and then he told them, "I fear the Preeminent Sovereign. So you will live if you do this:

19 If you are authentic, leave one of your brothers in detention while the remaining go and take back grain to ease the hunger of your people.
20 Ensure that you present your youngest sibling to me; in doing so, your claims will be confirmed and your lives spared." They acted accordingly.
21 They told each other, "Indeed, we are facing payback due to our actions toward Joseph. We witnessed the severity of his distress when he begged us for mercy, yet we dismissed his pleas; this is why the turmoil we are experiencing now."

22 Reuben responded, “Did I not warn you not to harm the young man? But you did not heed my words! Now, we are liable for his lifeblood.”
23 Unknown to them, Joseph could comprehend their words as he communicated through a translator.
24 He distanced himself from them and shed tears. Yet later, he returned and resumed their conversation. He seized Simeon from their presence and restrained him in full view of them.
25 Joseph instructed his assistants to fill their sacks with grain, return each man’s money to their sacks, and provide them with supplies for their trip. These instructions were successfully carried out.
26 They hoisted their grain sacks on their donkeys and set off.
27 At the lodging spot where they settled for the evening, one individual unfastened his bag to nourish his donkey and discovered his money at the top of his sack.
28 He told his siblings that my money had been returned; “it was in my bag.” Their inner selves were filled with fear as they asked each other tremblingly, “What has the Preeminent Sovereign enacted on us?”
29 On reaching their father Jacob in Canaan, they relayed every event that had befallen them.
30 “The man governing the land addressed us sternly and dealt with us as if we were conducting espionage on the terrain.
31 We told him, ‘We are upright individuals; we have never been involved in espionage. ’

32 We hail from a family of a dozen siblings, all born of the same parent. Sadly, one sibling is no longer among us, while the youngest remains in Canaan with our father.
33 The man with authority over the region told us, ‘This is how I can determine if you are authentic individuals: Leave one of your siblings in my custody. Procure sustenance for your famished homes. Depart.
34 Present your youngest sibling to me so I can ascertain that you are not spies but authentic individuals. Once verified, I will restore your brother to you, and you will have the liberty to conduct commerce in the territory.
35 When they started to unpack their sacks, each one found his bag of silver in his sack!” When they and their father saw the bags of money, they were filled with fear.
36 Jacob, their father, lamented that they had stripped him of his offspring. “Joseph and Simeon are gone, and now you aim to seize Benjamin. All circumstances are conspiring against me!”
37 “Kill my two sons if I do not bring him to you,” Reuben said to his father. “Entrust him to me, and I’ll return him to you.”
38 Jacob declared, “My child won’t accompany you there; his brother is no more, and he is the sole survivor. If any mishap occurs to him on your journey, it will send this older man sorrowfully to his final resting place.”

§ 10620 THE SECOND JOURNEY TO EGYPT

43 The scarcity of food remained harsh in the territory.
2 On consuming all the grain that the brothers of Joseph had acquired from Egypt, Jacob instructed them to return and procure some additional food.
3 Judah addressed Judah, asserting, “The Pharaoh’s man sternly cautioned us, saying, ‘You will not see my sight unless your brother accompanies you. ’”
4 “You must send Benjamin along if we can get a nod.

5 If you refuse to send him, we will not take the journey, as the Pharaoh’s man told us, ‘You will not observe my presence again without your brother accompanying you. ’”

[6] Israel (Jacob) inquired, “Why did you cause me such distress by informing the Pharaoh’s man that you have another sibling?”
[7] They responded, “The individual probed us meticulously about ourselves and our relatives. ‘Is your father yet alive?’ he inquired. ‘Do you have another sibling?’ We merely responded to his queries. How could we foresee him instructing, ‘Bring your sibling here’?”
[8] Judah addressed his father Jacob (Israel), urging him to “let the boy accompany me. We should set off immediately, ensuring that our family and children survive and do not perish.
[9] I pledge his security; you can hold me accountable for him. If I fail to return him to you and present him in your presence, I will shoulder the fault for the rest of my days.”
[10] By now, we could have visited twice if we hadn’t delayed.
[11] Israel (Jacob), their father, then proposed to Judah and his brothers: “If it must be this way, proceed as follows: gather some of the prime products of the land in your sacks and take them to the Pharaoh’s man as a gift some medicinal resin and honey, aromatic spices and gum, pistachios, and almonds.
[12] Carry with you twice as much silver this time, as the silver returned in your bags must be replaced. It could have been an oversight.
[13] Accompany your sibling and promptly return to the Pharaoh’s man.
[14] May the Eternal Reality show you kindness in the Egyptian’s presence and persuade him to release your other brother and Benjamin so they can return with you. Regarding myself, if I am destined to lose my children, then so be it.”
[15] Jacob’s sons and Benjamin carried the gifts twice the money. They promptly journeyed to Egypt and made their appearance before Joseph.
[16] On noticing Benjamin’s presence among them, Joseph instructed his household manager to guide these individuals to my dwelling, slaughter an animal, and prepare a feast; “they are invited for lunch.”

[17] Following Joseph’s instructions, the manager brought the brothers to Joseph’s home.
[18] The men were petrified on being ushered into his dwelling. They reasoned that their presence was due to the reappearance of the silver in their bags from the initial journey. They were under the impression that an assault was imminent to overpower them, transform them into enslaved people, and confiscate their beasts of burden.
[19] They approached the man managing Joseph’s household and conversed with him at the doorway.
[20] “Kindly excuse us, our overseer,” they said; “our first journey here was to purchase sustenance.
[21] On halting at our sleepover location, we unsealed our bags to discover each man’s silver, matching its exact weight, placed at the top of his bag. So, we have returned it with us.
[22] We also have extra money to purchase provisions. We need to find out who deposited our money in our bags.”
[23] “Stay calm,” he assured them. “There’s no need to fear. Your Eternal Reality, your father’s Preeminent Sovereign, placed wealth in your bags; I got your payment.” Afterward, he introduced Simeon to them.
[24] The manager led the men into Joseph’s dwelling, supplied water to clean their feet, and ensured their donkeys were fed.
[25] Anticipating Joseph’s return at midday, they arranged their absolving payments, given they were informed they would lunch in that place.
[26] On Joseph’s arrival home, the brothers handed over the absolving payments they had carried into the dwelling, prostrating themselves on the Earth before him.
[27] He inquired about their well-being, then questioned, “Is your elderly father that you mentioned still alive?”

28 They responded, “Our father is alive and healthy.” Then, they knelt and paid their respects to him.

29 He gazed and saw Benjamin, his sibling from the same mother. He asked, “Is this the youngest brother you mentioned?” Then he voiced, “May the Preeminent Sovereign show you favor, my child.”
30 Overwhelmed with emotion for his brother, Joseph quickly left the room, searching for a solitary place to shed his tears. He found refuge in his quarters, where he cried undisturbed.
31 Having cleansed his visage, he emerged; maintaining his composure, he instructed, “Dish out the meal.”
32 The Egyptians and the Hebrews were served separately, primarily due to the Egyptians’ repugnance towards eating with Hebrews.
33 Positioned before Joseph, the Hebrew brothers were arranged from eldest to youngest by birth; their surprise was evident as they exchanged puzzled glances.
34 As servings were distributed from Joseph’s table, Benjamin’s serving was enormous, five times greater than anyone else’s. Consequently, they indulged in a feast and imbibed without restraint in his company.

§ 10630 A SILVER CUP IN A SACK

44 Joseph told his household manager these guidelines: “Load the men’s bags with food to their maximum capacity and place everyone’s money in the opening of his sack.
2 Then, put my silver cup inside the mouth of the youngest brother’s sack and the silver for his grain.” And he exactly followed Joseph’s instructions.
3 The men continued their journey with their donkeys at dawn.
4 They had yet to travel far from the town when Joseph instructed his house manager to pursue the men. “When you reach them, question them, ‘For what reason have you exchanged malice for generosity?
5 Is this not the goblet my overseer drinks and utilizes for foretelling? You have committed a heinous act. ’”
6 The manager reiterated Joseph’s words on reaching them.

7 However, the brothers responded to him, “Why would my overseer utter such words? It is unthinkable for us to commit such an act!
8 Did we not return to you the money we discovered in our sacks from Canaan? It would be illogical for us to thieve gold or silver from your overseer’s dwelling.
9 Should the cup be discovered with any of your administrators, he will meet his end; the rest of us will be enslaved to my overseer.”
10 He concurred, stating, “The one found with the item will become my servant; the others will remain blameless.”
11 everyone promptly lowered their bags to the ground and opened them.
12 The manager initiated the investigation, starting with the eldest and concluding with the youngest, and discovered the goblet in Benjamin’s bag!
13 On witnessing this, they ripped their garments in despair. Subsequently, every man reloaded his donkey before they all returned to the city.
14 Joseph was still home when Judah and his siblings arrived. They promptly prostrated themselves on the ground before him.
15 Joseph asked them, “Why did you do this?” He pointed out that he could discern the authenticity; “Didn’t you know that?”

16 Judah responded, “What words can we use? How can we justify our innocence? The Preeminent Sovereign has disclosed our wrongdoing. We stand here as enslaved to our overseer—not just us, but also the one discovered with the cup.”
17 Joseph responded, “It’s unthinkable for me to fathom such an act! Merely the one found with the cup will become my servant. As for the rest of you, return to your father in tranquility.”
18 Judah approached him and pleaded: “Please forgive me, my overseer. Allow me to express a thought to you. Don’t resent me, considering you possess the same authority as Pharaoh.
19 You previously asked, ‘Is there a father or a sibling in your family?’

20 We replied, ‘Our father is of advanced years, and he has a young child born to him later in life. His sibling has passed away, leaving him as the sole remaining male heir of his mother, and his father cherishes him. ’
21 You told us, ‘Bring him here to me so I might see him with my own eyes. ’
22 We told you, ‘If the lad departs from his father, his father’s life will cease. ’
23 You clarified, ‘Without your youngest brother accompanying you, you will not be permitted to see me again. ’
24 We relayed your words on our return to our father.
25 Our father instructed, ‘Return and purchase a small amount of additional food. ’
26 We asserted, ‘We can’t do that without taking our youngest relative. We cannot see the man’s face unless our littlest brother is with us. ’
27 Our father informed us, ‘It’s well-known that my spouse gave birth to two of my offspring.
28 One heir took off on a trip, and I am now convinced he was savagely torn apart. Since then, I’ve had no sightings of him.
29 Should you also take this one away from me and misfortune befalls him, you’ll drive this old man with white hair to his grave in sorrow. ’
30 If I return to my father and the young man is not with us, considering his life is so intertwined with the boy’s life,
31 and if he notices the young man is absent, he’ll pass away. The grief will drive me to send our white-haired father to his final resting place.
32 I pledged to my father to take responsibility for the young boy’s safety, stating, ‘If I fail to return him to you, then I’ll be accountable for this guilt before you, my father, for the entirety of my existence!’
33 Kindly let me become your enslaved person instead of Benjamin and let him return with his siblings.
34 How could I return to my father if the young man was not with me? Spare me the sight of the sorrow that would overcome my father.”

§ 10640 JOSEPH MAKES HIMSELF KNOWN

45 Joseph reached a point where he couldn’t restrain his emotions in the presence of his brothers, so he ordered all his staff to leave. Consequently, no one else remained in the room when Joseph disclosed his identity to his siblings.
2 The intensity of his crying was so pronounced that it reached the ears of the Egyptians, and even those in Pharaoh’s house were made aware of it.
3 Joseph told his siblings, “I am indeed Joseph! Is our father still among the living?” They could not respond to him as they were afraid to realize his identity.
4 Joseph implored his siblings, urging them to approach him. Once they did, he confessed, “I am Joseph, your sibling, whom you shipped as an enslaved person to Egypt!

[5] Hold no sorrow or resentment towards yourselves for having sold me into this place, as it was in the Eternal Reality's plan to preserve your lives. This purpose is why the Preeminent Sovereign positioned me before you.
[6] Food scarcity has plagued the territory for the past two years, and there will be no cultivation or harvest for the next five years.
[7] The Preeminent Sovereign positioned me before you, ensuring your survival and protecting your existence through this significant act of deliverance.
[8] Consequently, it wasn't your actions that brought me here, but the Eternal Reality's will. He appointed me as a parental figure to Pharaoh, the overseer of his entire nation, and the governor of all of Egypt.
[9] Speedily return to my father and convey to him, 'Your heir Joseph implores: "Preeminent Sovereign has exalted me as the Prime Ruler of Egypt. Make haste and journey down to me; do not procrastinate.
[10] You are to reside in the area known as Goshen and stay close to me, along with your offspring, grandchildren, livestock, cattle, and everything else in your possession.
[11] In that place, I'll sustain you since food scarcity will continue for another five years. If you don't, you, your family, and all that belongs to you might end up impoverished.

[12] You and my brother Benjamin can discern that it is genuinely me, not an imposter, who converses with you.
[13] Inform my father about all the respect I have earned in Egypt and share everything you have observed. Hurry to get my father over here promptly. '"
[14] Sobbing with delight, he held his brother Benjamin close. Benjamin, too, burst into tearful delight in their embrace.
[15] Joseph embraced each of his siblings while shedding tears. Subsequently, his siblings conversed with him.
[16] The report of Joseph's siblings' arrival was spread in Pharaoh's court, satisfying Pharaoh and his administrators.
[17] Pharaoh ordered Joseph to inform his brothers to gather their livestock and return to Canaan.
[18] "'Return to me with your father and family. The finest land of Egypt will be yours, and you'll have the richness of the land to relish. '
[19] You're further instructed to convey this: 'Secure some wagons from Egypt for your offspring and spouses, fetch your father, and return.
[20] Do not concern yourselves with your possessions, as the finest of Egypt will be given to you. '"
[21] The children of Israel acted accordingly. Joseph provided them with wagons in line with Pharaoh's directive, and he supplied them with food and other necessities for their trip.
[22] He presented everyone of them with a change of clothes. However, Benjamin was given five heaps of clothing and three hundred pieces of silver.
[23] Joseph dispatched to his father a team of ten donkeys weighted down with the choicest products of Egypt and an additional group of ten female donkeys bearing grain, loaves, and other sustenance for his voyage.
[24] He bid farewell to his brothers, and as they embarked on their journey, he urged them not to engage in disputes along the way.
[25] They left Egypt and returned to their father, Jacob, in Canaan.

[26] They informed him, "Joseph remains alive! He governs the entirety of Egypt." Jacob was shocked and found it difficult to accept their words.
[27] However, as soon as his sons had unfolded Joseph's detailed proclamation to him and Jacob saw the wagons Joseph had dispatched for his return journey, there was a renewed vitality in their patriarch, Jacob.

28 Israel proclaimed, “I am persuaded! Joseph, my child, is yet living! I must visit him before my demise.”

§ 10650 JACOB GOES TO EGYPT

46 Embarking on his journey with all his belongings, Israel arrived at Beersheba, where he honored the Preeminent Sovereign of his father, Isaac, with absolving payments.
2 The Eternal Reality communicated with Israel through a vision during the nocturnal hours, exclaiming, “Jacob! Jacob!” He responded, “I’m here. Front and center!”
3 He stated, “I am your family’s Eternal Reality, the Preeminent Sovereign. Don’t fear journeying into Egypt; I will transform you into a mighty populace there.
4 I will accompany you to Egypt and ensure your return. Joseph will be the one to shut your eyes at your end.”
5 Jacob embarked from Beersheba, and the offspring of Israel conveyed their patriarch Jacob, their little ones, and their spouses in the wagons furnished by Pharaoh for his journey.
6 Jacob and his entire family ventured to Egypt, bringing their farm animals and the belongings they had gathered in Canaan.
7 Jacob took his sons, grandsons, daughters, granddaughters, and all his descendants to Egypt.
8 The list of names of Jacob’s offspring, known as the sons of Israel and who migrated to Egypt, begins with Reuben, Jacob’s eldest male heir.
9 Reuben’s offspring included Hanok, Pallu, Hezron, and Karmi.

10 Simeon’s children had Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jakin, Zohar, and Shaul, born to a woman from Canaan.
11 Levi’s offspring included Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
12 Judah’s offspring were Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah. However, Er and Onan passed away in Canaan. Perez’s children were Hezron and Hamul.
13 Issachar’s offspring were Tola, Puah, Jashub, and Shimron.
14 Zebulun’s offspring were Sered, Elon, and Jahleel.
15 Leah had given birth to these children for Jacob in Paddan-Aram, not including his daughter Dinah. In total, his sons and daughters numbered thirty-three.
16 Gad’s offspring were Ziphion, Haggi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, Arodi, and Areli.
17 Asher’s offspring included Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, and Beriah. Asher’s sister was Serah. Beriah’s sons were Heber and Malkiel.
18 Zilpah bore Jacob, whom Laban gave to his daughter Leah. These children totaled sixteen.
19 Jacob’s spouse, Rachel, bore him two sons, Joseph and Benjamin.
20 Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, an Egyptian priest from On, gave birth to Manasseh and Ephraim in Egypt, with Joseph as their father.
21 Benjamin’s offspring included Ard, Ashbel, Gera, Naaman, Ehi, Rosh, Muppim, Huppim, and Beker.
22 Rachel produced fourteen male heirs for Jacob.
23 Hushim was the offspring of Dan.
24 Naphtali’s offspring included Jahziel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem.
25 The offspring of Jacob and Bilhah, whom Laban had presented to his child Rachel, totaled seven.

26 A total of sixty-six individuals who were the direct offspring of Jacob, excluding his sons’ wives, made the journey to Egypt with him.

27 Including Joseph's two sons in Egypt, the total count of Jacob's family members who relocated to Egypt was seventy.
28 Jacob sent Judah in advance to Joseph to acquire travel guidance to Goshen. They reached the area of Goshen eventually.
29 Joseph prepared his main strike vehicle and journeyed to Goshen to encounter his father, Israel. When Joseph disclosed himself to him, he embraced his father and shed tears for an extended period.
30 Israel told Joseph, "Now, I am prepared to meet my end, having witnessed with my eyes that you continue to live."
31 Joseph addressed his siblings and his father's family, stating, "I will ascend to inform Pharaoh and explain to him, 'The relative and household of my father, who used to dwell in the Canaan region, have joined me.
32 These individuals are professional sheepherders; they manage farm animals and have brought their sheep, cattle, and possessions. '
33 If Pharaoh summons you and asks about your profession,
34 you must reply to him, 'We, your servants, have been in charge of livestock since our young age, following the path of our ancestors. ' This reply will secure your residence in Goshen, as the Egyptians find all sheep keepers repugnant."

47 Joseph informed Pharaoh that his father, brothers, and their livestock and belongings had arrived from Canaan and settled in Goshen.
2 He selected five men among his siblings and introduced them to the Pharaoh.
3 Pharaoh inquired about the brothers' professions. They told Pharaoh that they, as well as their ancestors, were involved in sheep herding.
4 "We have come to reside here temporarily because the famine in Canaan is quite harsh, and there's no grassland for our flocks. So, we request you to allow us to inhabit Goshen."
5 Pharaoh told Joseph, "Now that your father and your siblings have arrived,

6 Egypt's vast expanses are available; establish your father and siblings in the choicest part of the territory. Allow them to inhabit Goshen. If distinguished or competent individuals are among them, I assign them leadership roles over my herd.
7 Joseph ushered his father, Jacob, into the presence of Pharaoh. Subsequently, Jacob gave the Pharaoh a well-being pronouncement.
8 Pharaoh inquired about his age, asking him, 'How many years have you been alive?'
9 Jacob told Pharaoh, "I've journeyed through life for 130 years. My days have been scarce and fraught with hardships, not measuring up to my forefathers' lengthy and traveled lives."
10 Jacob gave Pharaoh his final empowering pronouncement and left his presence.
11 By Pharaoh's instructions, Joseph secured residence for his father and his brothers in Egypt, granting them ownership in the prime region of the land, known as Rameses.
12 Joseph ensured that his father, his siblings, and everyone in his father's household were supplied with food, considering the number of their offspring.

§ 10660 JOSEPH AND THE FAMINE

13 Nonetheless, there was a significant lack of food across the entire region due to the intense famine; as a result, Egypt and Canaan were extensively depleted.
14 Joseph amassed all the currency available in Egypt and Canaan for purchasing grain and then transferred it to the treasury governed by the Pharaoh.

15 As the funds of the inhabitants of Egypt and Canaan were depleted, the entire populace of Egypt approached Joseph, imploring him for food. They contemplated their impending death in Joseph's sight as they had exhausted all their monetary resources.
16 Joseph suggested handing over their animals if they needed more cash. "In return, I will offer you food for your livestock."

17 They presented their farm animals to Joseph, who bartered them food for their equines, bovines, caprines, and asinines. He sustained them throughout that year by trading food for all their farm animals.
18 On completing that year, they reappeared the subsequent year, expressing to him that it was undeniable that their monetary resources had been depleted. "Our livestock is already your possession, leaving nothing else for you but our physical selves and terrain.
19 Why must we and our territories wither away under your gaze? Purchase us with our land in return for food, and we, together with our land, will serve Pharaoh. Provide us with seeds to ensure our survival and prevent the land from turning barren."
20 Consequently, Joseph procured every piece of land in Egypt on behalf of Pharaoh. The intensity of the famine compelled every Egyptian to sell their land. Consequently, the entire land fell under Pharaoh's control.
21 Joseph transformed the population into servitude, spanning the entirety of Egypt.
22 (Nevertheless, he did not purchase the priests' land because they were provided a consistent share from Pharaoh and had sufficient sustenance from the share Pharaoh gave them. This share was the reason the priests did not auction their land.)
23 Joseph addressed the people, stating, "Since I have acquired you and your territory for Pharaoh this day, you will be given seeds to cultivate the soil.
24 When the harvest yields, allocate one-fifth to Pharaoh. Retain the remaining four-fifths to sow in the fields and provision yourselves, your households, and your offspring."
25 They exclaimed, "You have preserved our existence. May it please you to let us serve as Pharaoh's servants!"
26 Joseph made it a decree in Egypt, which remains influential today, that Pharaoh should own one-fifth of all harvests. The sole exception to this rule was the land belonging to the priests, which Pharaoh did not gain.
27 The people of Israel made their home in the Goshen area in Egypt. Here, they attained possessions, produced offspring, and saw significant growth in their population.

28 Jacob resided in Egypt for seventeen years, attaining a lifespan of one hundred and forty-seven years.
29 As the end of Israel's life approached, he summoned his male heir, Joseph, saying, "If I have earned your respect, place your hand beneath my thigh, pledging to treat me with kindness and loyalty. I implore you to refrain from burying me in Egypt.
30 On my passing, transport me from Egypt and lay me to rest alongside my predecessors."
"Your will shall be my command," Joseph responded.
31 "Pledge it to me," Israel demanded. Consequently, Joseph gave his oath, and Israel paid homage, propping himself on his walking stick.

§ 10670 MANASSEH AND EPHRAIM

48 After a while, Joseph received news that his father was ill. Consequently, he brought his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim, to visit.

[2] On being informed that his male heir Joseph had arrived, Israel, also known as Jacob, marshaled his energy and lifted himself on the bed.
[3] Jacob conveyed to Joseph that the Eternal Reality, the Preeminent Sovereign, had manifested Himself to him at Luz, located in Canaan, and there, He graced Jacob with empowerment.
[4] "The Eternal Reality told me, 'I will make you fertile and multiply your family. You will give rise to a conglomerate of nations, and this land will be a perpetual inheritance for your future generations. '"
[5] "Your two sons, born in Egypt before my arrival, will be considered mine; Ephraim and Manasseh will be treated as my own, just as Reuben and Simeon are.
[6] Children from Manasseh and Ephraim will also be your own. The names of their brothers will be recognized in the land they acquire.
[7] On my return journey from Paddan, Rachel sadly passed away in Canaan while we were on our way, just a short distance from Ephrath. Consequently, I laid her next to the path leading to Ephrath, also known as Bethlehem. '"

[8] On noticing Joseph's sons, Israel asked, "Who might these be?"
[9] "These are my offspring," Joseph informed his father, "that the Eternal Reality has granted me two sons in this location." Subsequently, Israel requested, "Bring them closer to my presence so that I might also grant them my empowerment."
[10] As Israel aged, his vision started to deteriorate significantly, making it hard to see. Consequently, Joseph brought his children closer to his father, who shared a heartfelt moment with them. Jacob gave them both a kiss and a warm embrace.
[11] "Joseph," Israel mentioned, "I had not anticipated seeing you again. Yet, the Preeminent Sovereign has also given me the privilege of witnessing your offspring."
[12] Joseph then took them off Israel's lap and bowed his face to the Earth.
[13] Joseph positioned both Ephraim on Israel's left and Manasseh on Israel's right, drawing them near him.
[14] Israel, though aware of their birth order, deliberately laid his dominant hand on the younger Ephraim and crossed his arms to place his left hand on the elder Manasseh.
[15] He then imparted his empowerment on Joseph, invoking the Eternal Reality's presence that guided his forefathers Abraham and Isaac, the same Eternal Force that had guided him throughout his existence until now.
[16] "May the Celestial Envoy, who has protected me from all adversity, empower these children. May my identity and those of my predecessors, Abraham and Isaac, live on through them, and may their presence expand abundantly across the globe."
[17] Joseph was upset when he noticed his father laying his right hand on Ephraim's head. So, he lifted his father's hand from Ephraim's head and positioned it on Manasseh's head instead.
[18] Joseph responded: "Father, you're mistaken. Manasseh is the elder sibling; lay your dominant hand on his head."

[19] But Jacob refused, asserting, "I know my grandchildren! I comprehend the situation. Manasseh will indeed evolve into a nation and ascend to greatness. Nonetheless, his younger sibling, Ephraim, will surpass him in greatness, and his family will form many countries."
[20] That day, Jacob empowered them, proclaiming, "The nation of Israel will use your names in their empowerments, the meldings of their consciences with the Preeminent Sovereign, and that the Eternal Reality grants them prosperity as He did so to Ephraim and Manasseh." So, he positioned Ephraim as superior to Manasseh.
[21] Israel then told Joseph his end was near. "However, the Preeminent Sovereign will remain by your side and guide you back to your progenitor's territory.
[22] I grant you an additional territory compared to your siblings, which I seized from the Amorites through combat with my tactical blade and projectile launcher."

§ 10680 JACOB EMPOWERS HIS HEIRS

49 Jacob summoned his sons, requesting them to assemble so he could reveal what was in store for them.
2 “Sons of Jacob, unite and pay heed; give ear to Israel, your father.
3 Reuben, you are my oldest male heir, the initial evidence of my vigor, superior rank, and excellent might.
4 Being as erratic as a torrent, you won’t prevail anymore; given that you trespassed on your father’s sleeping area, you sullied my resting place.
5 Simeon and Levi, as brothers, employ their tactical blades as implements of brutality.
6 I should avoid participating in their meetings and steer clear of their gatherings, given that they have committed homicide out of rage and intentionally crippled oxen for their amusement.
7 May their anger be damned, for it is too violent, and their fury, for it is too brutal! I will divide them among Jacob’s communities and spread them throughout Israel.

8 Judah, you are the one your siblings will honor; your grip will be on your adversaries’ throats; your father’s children will prostrate before you.
9 Judah, you are just like a lion’s cub; my male heir, you have returned from a successful hunt. As a lion, he settles and reclines, much like a lioness with the audacity to disturb him.
10 The right to rule will not leave Judah, nor will the symbol of authority leave his family until the authentic Prime Ruler arrives, and the compliance of all nations will be His.
11 He will secure his beast of burden to a grapevine, his young one to the most exquisite stem. He will cleanse his clothing in the inner fruit of the vine, his cloak in the crimson sap of grapes.
12 His eyes will possess a depth surpassing wine’s, while his teeth will be more radiant than milk.
13 Zebulun will reside at the shore, serving as a safe harbor for vessels; his territory will expand in the direction of Sidon.
14 Issachar is a sturdy donkey at rest among the sheep enclosures.
15 Observing the comfort of his dwelling and the allure of his territory, he willingly agrees to shoulder heavy tasks and succumbs to mandatory toil.
16 Dan will dispense fairness for his populace as a member of Israel’s communities.
17 Dan is like a serpent on the trail, an adder in the journey, snapping at the horse’s feet, causing its rider to fall backward.
18 Captain, I’m waiting for Your redemption.
19 Gad shall experience an assault from a group of marauders. However, he will retaliate at their retreat.
20 Asher will yield opulent foods and furnish governance delights.
21 Naphtali is a free-running deer producing lovely offspring.
22 Joseph is a productive, fertile branch close to a fountain with offshoots extending over a barrier.

23 Shooters targeted him in resentment; they aimed their projectiles at him in anger.
24 But his projectile launcher was always ready, and his mighty arms remained flexible due to the aid of Jacob’s Mighty One, because of the Protector, the Rock of Israel,
25 owing to the Preeminent Sovereign of your forefathers who assists you because of the Eternal Reality that showers you with Celestial Empowerments from high above, gifts from the profound depths beneath, and Who grants empowerments of motherhood and fertility.

26 The empowerments from your father surpass those of the ancient hills and the wealth of the durable mountains. May these empowerments dwell on Joseph's forefront, the one distinguished among his siblings.
27 Benjamin behaves like a hungry wolf. He consumes his catch in the morning and shares the spoils in the evening.
28 These constitute the twelve communities of Israel, encapsulating what their father articulated to them as he favored them, granting each an empowerment fitting him.

§ 10690 THE DEATH OF JACOB

29 He gave them the following directive: "I will soon join my ancestors. Lay me to rest alongside them in the cave in Ephron the Hittite's territory.
30 In the confines of the Machpelah region, the cave is adjacent to Mamre in Canaan—a place Abraham procured, including the field, from Ephron the Hittite to serve as his eternal resting site.
31 Abraham and his spouse Sarah found their eternal rest there, as did Isaac and his wife
Rebekah, and I also laid Leah to rest in that same place.
32 The land and the cavern were acquired from the people of Heth."
33 After instructing his sons, Jacob tucked his legs under the covers of his bed, took his concluding breath, and joined his ancestors.

50 Joseph, overwhelmed with emotion, clung to his father, shedding tears over him while granting him a farewell kiss.
2 Joseph instructed the doctors under his proclamation to mummify his father, Israel, which they subsequently did.
3 The preservation process took forty days, and the Egyptians lamented Jacob for seventy days.
4 After the grieving period, Joseph addressed the Pharaoh's governance court, "If you look on me with favor, please convey my message to Pharaoh:
5 My father obligated me to pledge, stating, 'I am on the verge of passing away; bury my body in the burial pit I prepared for myself in the Canaanite soil. Now let me ascend to perform the burial rites for my father; I will then resume back here.
'"
6 Pharaoh agreed, stating, "Proceed and fulfill your oath by burying your father, just as he demanded you promise."

7 Joseph made the journey to lay his father to rest. All of Pharaoh's high-ranking officials joined him, the elders from Pharaoh's court, and all the prominent leaders of Egypt.
8 In addition to Joseph's entire family, his brethren and all those from his father's family, exclusively their young ones and their livestock, were left behind in Goshen.
9 An enormous entourage, military strike vehicles, and assault forces accompanied him.
10 On their arrival at the grain processing area of Atad, close to the Jordan, they expressed their grief through loud and profound sorrow. In this place, Joseph dedicated a whole week to mourning the loss of his father.
11 Observing the sorrow at the threshing floor of Atad, the local Canaanites noted, "Such a profound display of grief is characteristic of the Egyptians." Consequently, this location near Jordan was named Abel-Mizraim.

12 Jacob's sons followed his instructions as he had directed.

13 His sons transported him to the territory of Canaan. Abraham procured the property in the field of Machpelah, close to Mamre, from Ephron the Hittite as a cemetery, where they interred him in the cavern.
14 Following his father's funeral, Joseph, his siblings, and everyone who accompanied him for the burial returned to Egypt.

§ 10700 JOSEPH REASSURES HIS BROTHERS

15 After acknowledging their father's demise, Joseph's siblings expressed their concern, wondering if Joseph might still harbor resentment towards them and seek reprisal for all the injustices they had inflicted on him.
16 They dispatched a message to Joseph, stating that their father had provided specific directives before his demise.
17 "Here is what you should communicate to Joseph: 'We request you pardon your brothers' wrongdoings and unworthy choices; they have wronged you severely. We now beg you to forgive the unworthy choices of the adorers of your father's Preeminent Sovereign. '" On receiving this message, Joseph broke into tears.
18 His siblings approached him, prostrating themselves to the ground. "Look, we're your servants," they announced.
19 Joseph reassured them, saying, "Do not fear. Can I assume the Preeminent Sovereign's role?
20 You planned to inflict harm on me. Still, the Preeminent Sovereign turned it into an advantage to achieve the current outcome, preserving numerous lives.
21 So, there's no need to worry. I'll be there to support you and your little ones." Joseph soothed their worries and addressed them with gentleness.

§ 10710 THE DEATH OF JOSEPH

22 Joseph and his father's family continued their lives in Egypt until he reached the age of one hundred and ten.
23 Joseph witnessed the family of Ephraim's children extending to the third generation. The offspring of Makir, Manasseh's male heir, were also born into Joseph's care.
24 Joseph told his siblings that his end was nigh. Yet, he reassured them that the Preeminent Sovereign would indeed provide assistance and lead them away from this territory to the land he solemnly pledged to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.
25 Joseph had the Israelites take a pledge. He stated that the Preeminent Sovereign would unerringly assist them. When that occurred, they had the duty to transport his remains from their current location.
26 Joseph passed away at the age of 110 After preparing his body through the process of mummification, he was laid in a burial case in Egypt.

~ 102 | Celestial Deliverance | Exodus

§ 10720 THE ISRAELITES OPPRESSED

1 Here are the names of the children of Israel who, along with their respective households, journeyed to Egypt with Jacob.
2 The sons were known as Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah;
3 the trio of Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin;
4 Dan alongside Naphtali; Gad in unison with Asher.
5 The total of those who traced their family back to Jacob was seventy; Joseph had already established his presence in Egypt.
6 Joseph, his siblings, and everyone from his era eventually died.

7 The descendants of Israel thrived abundantly. Their population swelled remarkably, their number surged, and they became so vastly populous that they occupied the entire land.
8 Ultimately, a ruler unrecognized with Joseph emerged to rule Egypt.
9 “Observe,” he communicated to his nation, “that the Israelites have grown overwhelmingly large in number for us to manage.
10 We must devise a smart strategy for them, or their population will grow. They might unite with our adversaries, battle against us, and vacate the nation if conflict arises.”
11 They assigned overseers over them to subdue them with strenuous work. They constructed the cities of Pithom and Rameses as storage centers for Pharaoh.
12 However, the more they faced oppression, the more their growth and expansion intensified, which instilled fear in the Egyptians toward the Israelites.
13 They forced them into relentless labor.
14 The Egyptians imposed hardship on them, compelling them to engage in intense toil in making bricks and mortar and various forms of fieldwork; their merciless exploitation was evident in the severe nature of the work they were subjected to.
15 The Egyptian Prime Ruler addressed the midwives of the Hebrew family, identified as Shiphrah and Puah.
16 “While assisting the Hebrew women in their labor, if you notice that the newborn is a male, eliminate him; however, if it’s a female, let her exist.”
17 However, the midwives revered the Preeminent Sovereign. They disregarded the Egyptian Prime Ruler’s orders, sparing the male infants.
18 The Prime Ruler of Egypt asked the midwives, “What led you to act this way? What is the reason for allowing the male children to survive?”
19 The midwives responded to Pharaoh, stating that Hebrew women differ from Egyptian women; they are full of vitality and usually have their babies even before the midwives can reach them.

20 The population increased due to the Preeminent Sovereign’s kindness toward the midwives.
21 As the midwives revered the Preeminent Sovereign, they were endowed with their families.
22 In response to the rapid growth of the Hebrew population, Pharaoh issued a decree to his people: “Every female child should be spared, but all boys born to the Judeans must be cast into the Nile.”

§ 10730 THE BIRTH OF MOSES

2 A man from the Levi community married a woman from the same family.
2 She conceived and bore a son. Seeing his exceptional beauty, she hid him for three months.
3 When she could no longer conceal him, she made a papyrus basket, waterproofed, sealing it with pitch and tar, put the infant inside, and set it among the reeds by the Nile.
4 His sister watched from a distance to see what would happen.
5 Pharaoh's daughter bathed in the Nile, accompanied by her maids. Spotting the basket, she sent her servant to retrieve it.
6 Opening it, she saw the crying baby and felt compassion, recognizing him as a Hebrew child.
7 The baby's sister asked Pharaoh's daughter, "Shall I get a Hebrew woman to nurse the baby for you?"
8 "Yes, go," she replied. The girl fetched the child's mother.
9 "Take this infant and breastfeed him for me, and I will reimburse you," Pharaoh's daughter said to her father. So, the mother took the infant and breastfed him.
10 When the child grew older, she brought him to Pharaoh's daughter, who adopted him and named him Moses, saying, "I drew him out of the water."

§ 10740 MOSES FLEES TO MIDIAN

11 As an adult, Moses saw his people's suffering. He witnessed an Egyptian attacking a Hebrew, one of his own.
12 After ensuring no one was around, Moses killed the Egyptian and hid him in the sand.
13 The next day, he saw two Hebrews fighting and asked the aggressor, "Why are you hitting your fellow Hebrew?"
14 The man retorted, "Who made you our authority? Are you going to kill me like you did the Egyptian?" Moses then realized his deed was known.
15 When Pharaoh heard, he sought to kill Moses, but Moses fled to Midian and sat by a well.
16 In Midian, an ensovereigned mediator with seven daughters came to draw water for their father's livestock.
17 Some sheep keepers tried to drive them away, but Moses defended them and watered their flock.
18 When the daughters returned home early, their father, Reuel, asked why.
19 They explained that an Egyptian saved them from the sheep keepers and watered their flock.
20 Reuel asked, "Where is he? Why did you leave him? Invite him for a meal."
21 Moses agreed to stay with Reuel, who gave him his daughter Zipporah as a wife.
22 Zipporah bore a son named Gershom, for Moses said, "I have become an outsider in a foreign land."
23 During this time, the Egyptian ruler died. The Israelites cried out for assistance as they moaned under their captivity. Their intervention reached the Preeminent Sovereign.
24 The Preeminent Sovereign heard their cries and remembered His agreement with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

25 He saw the Israelites and felt compassion for them.

§ 10750 MOSES AND THE BRILLIANT EMANATION

3 While tending Jethro’s sheep, Moses led the flock to Horeb, the mountain of the Preeminent Sovereign.
2 There, a Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain appeared, vibrant and unconsumed. Moses noticed that the light burned bright but left the source untouched, a sign of enduring power."
3 Moses decided to investigate this extraordinary sight.
4 As he approached, the Eternal Reality called out, “Moses, Moses!” and he replied, “I’m here.”
5 The Sovereign Captain commanded, “Halt your approach and remove your footwear, for you tread on exalted soil.”
6 He then declared, “I am the Preeminent Sovereign of your forefathers— Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.” Moses hid his face in fear.
7 The Sovereign Captain continued, “I have seen the hardship of my people in Egypt and heard their cries. I am aware of their suffering.
8 My mission is to free them from the rule of the Egyptians and lead them to the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites—a region that flows with honey and milk.
9 I have heard the intervention of the Israelites and seen their oppression.
10 Therefore, I am sending you to Pharaoh to lead my people out of Egypt.”
11 Moses asked, “What makes me qualified to approach Pharaoh and lead the Israelites out of Egypt?”
12 The Eternal Reality assured him, “I will be with you. The sign of my sending you will be that you will express adoration to the Preeminent Sovereign on this hill after leading the people out of Egypt.”
13 Moses asked, “What if they ask for your name?”

14 The Sovereign Captain replied, “I AM THE ONE WHO IS. Tell them that the Eternal Reality has sent you.”
15 He added, “Tell the Israelites that the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of your forefathers—Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—has sent you. This Name will be my identity forever.”
16 Gather Israel’s leaders and tell them that the Sovereign Captain has appeared to you and observed their plight in Egypt.
17 I swear to bring you out of Egypt to a land rich in milk and honey.
18 The leaders will heed your words. You and the elders will approach the Prime Ruler of Egypt and request a three-day journey into the wilderness to perform absolving payments for our Preeminent Sovereign.
19 However, Pharaoh won’t let you go without coercion from a substantial force.
20 I will use my power to bring down the Egyptians with marvelous works, and then he will set you free.
21 I will ensure that the Egyptians view you favorably so that you do not return empty-handed.
22 Each woman shall ask her neighbor for silver, gold, and clothing to adorn your sons and daughters. In this way, you will seize the wealth of the Egyptians.”

§ 10760 SIGNS FOR MOSES

4 Moses questioned what would happen if they dismissed his words, saying, “Preeminent Sovereign did not manifest to you.”
2 The Sovereign Captain asked, “What’s in your hand?” Moses replied, “A staff.”
3 The Innovator instructed, “Throw it on the ground.” Moses did so, and it became a serpent, causing him to flee.
4 The Eternal Reality then told him to grab it by the tail. Moses obeyed, and it turned back into a staff.

5 The Sovereign Captain explained this was to make them trust that the Eternal Reality of their forefathers—Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—had appeared to him.
6 Next, the Sovereign Captain said, “Put your hand inside your tunic.” Moses did, and when he withdrew it, his skin was leprous, white as snow.
7 “Now put it back,” he instructed. Moses complied, and his hand was restored.
8 The Preeminent Sovereign stated that they might believe the second if they didn’t believe the first sign.
9 “If they still don’t believe, pour some Nile water on the ground; it will turn to blood.”
10 Moses pleaded with the Sovereign Captain, admitting his struggle with speech.
11 The Sovereign Captain asked, “Who gives humans speech? Who causes their deafness or loss of hearing? Who makes them blind or grants them eyesight? Is that not Myself, Captain?
12 Go; I will help you speak and teach you what to say.”
13 Moses implored, “Please send someone else.”
14 The Sovereign Captain’s anger burned against Moses, and He said, “Isn’t Aaron your brother a good speaker? He is coming to meet you and will be glad to see you.
15 Put ideas in his mouth and talk to him. I’ll educate you both on what to do and assist you both in communicating.
16 He will speak for you, and you will be like a Sovereign to him.
17 Take this staff to perform the marvelous works.”

§ 10770 MOSES RETURNS TO EGYPT

18 Moses approached his father-in-law, Jethro, expressing his wish to visit his relatives in Egypt and check their well-being. Jethro agreed and wished him well.

19 While still in Midian, the Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to return to Egypt, assuring him that those seeking his life were dead.
20 Moses took his wife and children on a donkey and set out for Egypt, holding the Preeminent Sovereign’s power staff.
21 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses, “When you return to Egypt, perform all the marvelous works I have empowered you to do before Pharaoh. But I will harden his inner-self so he will not release the people.”
22 Tell Pharaoh, ‘the Sovereign Captain says: Israel is my first-born son. ’
23 ‘I told you to release my son so he could serve me, but you refused. Therefore, I will take your first-born son’s life. ’
24 On their journey, the Sovereign Captain met Moses at a campsite, intending to kill him.
25 With a sharp flint, Zipporah severed her son’s foreskin and used it to touch Moses’ feet, saying, “You are my groom of blood due to this act of bloodshed.”

26 So, the Eternal Reality spared him. (She referred to a ‘groom of blood’ because of the circumcision.)
27 The Sovereign Captain instructed Aaron to meet Moses in the wilderness. Aaron met him at the Preeminent Sovereign’s mountain and kissed him.
28 Moses told Aaron all the instructions from the Preeminent Sovereign and the marvelous actions he was commanded to perform.
29 Moses and Aaron gathered all the Israelite elders.
30 Aaron relayed everything the Sovereign Captain had told Moses and performed the marvelous works before the people.
31 They trusted when they realized the Sovereign Captain had noticed their plight and suffering, leading them to kneel and elevate.

§ 10780 BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW

5 Moses and Aaron approached Pharaoh, declaring, “the Sovereign Captain, Eternal Reality of Israel, commands: ‘Free my people to celebrate a feast in my honor in the desert wilderness. ’”
2 Pharaoh retorted, “Who is this Preeminent Sovereign that I should obey His proclamation to release Israel? I don’t know this Preeminent Sovereign and won’t free Israel.”
3 They explained that the Hebrews’ Preeminent Sovereign had encountered them. “We request a tri-day journey into the wilderness to perform fixed payments to our Preeminent Sovereign, lest he inflict disease or unsheathes his tactical blade against us.”
4 The Egyptian Prime Ruler demanded, “Why are you distracting the populace from their tasks? Return to your duties!”
5 Pharaoh noted, “The land’s populace has increased significantly, yet you halt their labor.”
6-7 Pharaoh then ordered the taskmasters and supervisors to stop providing straw for brick-making; the people must gather their own straw.
8 “Insist on the same brick production as before; do not lessen the demand. Their laziness is why they plead, ‘Allow us to go and offer an absolving payment to our Preeminent Sovereign. ’
9 Intensify their workload so they continue laboring and ignore deceitful language.”
10 The overseers and taskmasters informed the populace of Pharaoh’s proclamation: “I shall cease to provide you with straw.”
11 “Gather your fodder wherever it may be found, though your workload will not be reduced.”
12 The populace dispersed throughout Egypt, seeking dry stalks to substitute for straw.
13 The overseers persistently urged them to fulfill their daily labor obligations as when straw was accessible.

14 Pharaoh’s taskmasters chastised and questioned the Israelite supervisors they had appointed: “Why didn’t you achieve your expected brick production both yesterday and today as you did previously?”
15 The Israeli forepersons approached Pharaoh, questioning his unfair treatment of his servants.
16 “Despite not being provided with straw, we’re ordered to craft bricks. Our workers experience corporal punishment, yet the blame rests on your populace.”
17 The Prime Ruler responded, “You’re merely shirking! This petition is why you persist with the notion, ‘Allow us to go and offer absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain. ’
18 Commence your labor now. No straw will be provided to you. Nevertheless, you’ re expected to deliver the same number of bricks.”
19 The supervisors of the Israelites realized they were in a difficult situation when instructed to maintain the daily brick production quota.

20 On their departure from Pharaoh, they encountered Moses and Aaron, who had anticipated their arrival.
21 They exclaimed, “May the Eternal Reality observe you and determine your judgment! You have turned us into a stench in the eyes of Pharaoh and his administrators and have armed them with a blade to end our lives.”

§ 10790 THE PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN PROMISES DELIVERANCE

22 Moses questioned the Sovereign Captain, “Why bring adversity upon these people? Was this my mission?”
23 “When I delivered your message to Pharaoh, he only increased their suffering, and you haven’t saved them.”

6 The Sovereign Captain replied, “You will see what I will do to Pharaoh: My forceful hand will compel him to release them; he will expel them from his land.”
2 The Preeminent Sovereign also said, “I am the Eternal Reality.

3 I revealed myself to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as the Preeminent Sovereign, the Eternal Reality; they didn’t fully know me as the Sovereign Captain.
4 I promised them the land of Canaan, where they lived as outsiders.
5 I have heard the Israelites’ cries under Egyptian oppression and remembered my agreement.
6 Tell the Israelites: ‘I am the Sovereign Captain. I will free you from Egyptian burdens; I’ll rescue you from slavery with mighty acts of judgment.
7 You will be my people, and I will be your Eternal Reality. You’ll recognize that I, your Sovereign Captain, liberated you from Egyptian oppression.
8 I will bring you to the land I promised Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. It will be yours. I am the Eternal Reality. ’”
9 Moses relayed this to the Israelites, but they ignored him due to their despair and hard labor.
10 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses again.
11 “Tell Pharaoh to release the Israelites.”
12 Moses protested, “If the Israelites didn’t listen to me, why would Pharaoh, given my poor speech?”

§ 10800 FAMILY RECORD OF MOSES AND AARON

13 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses and Aaron to lead the Israelites out of Egypt, addressing the Egyptian Prime Ruler, Pharaoh.
14 Reuben’s descendants, Israel’s eldest son, were Hanok, Pallu, Hezron, and Karmi, forming Reuben’s family groups.
15 Simeon’s descendants included Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jakin, Zohar, and Shaul, whose mother was a Canaanite woman, forming Simeon’s communities.
16 Levi’s sons were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. Levi lived 137 years.

17 Gershon’s descendants were Libni and Shimei.
18 Kohath’s descendants included Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. Kohath lived 133 years.
19 Merari’s descendants were Mahli and Mushi.

20 Amram married his aunt Jochebed, who bore Moses and Aaron. Amram lived 137 years.
21 Izhar's sons were Korah, Nepheg, and Zikri.
22 Uzziel's sons were Mishael, Elzaphan, and Sithri.
23 Aaron married Elisheba, Amminadab's daughter and Nahshon's sister, who bore Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
24 Korah's sons were Assir, Elkanah, and Abiasaph, forming the Korahite families.
25 Eleazar married one of Putiel's daughters, who bore Phinehas. These were the leaders of the Levite lineages.
26 This was the same Aaron and Moses whom the Preeminent Sovereign commanded to lead the Israelites out of Egypt.
27 Moses and Aaron spoke to Pharaoh about the Israelites' emancipation from Egypt.

§ 10810 AARON TO SPEAK FOR MOSES

28 When the Eternal Reality Entity spoke with Moses in Egypt, He remembered Abraham's intervention to save Lot from disaster.
29 He said, "I am the Sovereign Captain. Relay all my messages to Pharaoh, the Egyptian Prime Ruler."
30 Moses, worried about his speech impairments, doubted Pharaoh would listen.

7 The Sovereign Captain reassured Moses, "I have made you like an Eternal Reality before Pharaoh, and your brother Aaron will be your spokesperson.

2 Convey my directives, and let Aaron demand Pharaoh release the Israelites.
3 I will harden Pharaoh's inner determination and multiply my marvelous acts in Egypt.
4 he will not listen despite your warnings. I will then exert my power over Egypt and lead my people, the Israelites, out through significant acts of justice.
5 The Egyptians will know me as the Sovereign Captain when I display my power and lead the Israelites out."
6 Moses and Aaron followed the Sovereign Captain's instructions.
7 During their dialogue with Pharaoh, Moses was eighty, and Aaron was eighty three.

§ 10820 AARON'S STAFF BECOMES A SNAKE

8 The Eternal instructed Moses and Aaron:
9 "If Pharaoh demands proof, have Aaron cast his power staff before him. It will become a serpent."
10 Following the Sovereign Captain's directives, Moses and Aaron did as told. Aaron dropped his power staff before Pharaoh and his officers, and it turned into a serpent.
11 Pharaoh summoned his wise men and enchanters, who replicated the feat using their hidden knowledge.
12 Each cast down their rod, transforming it into a serpent, but Aaron's rod consumed theirs.
13 Pharaoh's inner-self remained hard, ignoring them as the Sovereign Captain had foreseen.

§ 10830 THE PLAGUE OF BLOOD

14 The Sovereign Captain informed Moses that Pharaoh's inner-self was obstinate; he refused to release the people.
15 In the morning, as Pharaoh goes to the water, approach him at the Nile's banks with the power staff that turned into a serpent.
16 Tell him, "The Preeminent Sovereign of the Hebrews, Yahweh, commands you to release my people so they can venerate me in the desert. But you have not listened."
17 The Sovereign Captain declares: "You will know I am the Sovereign Captain when I strike the Nile's water with the power staff, turning it into blood.
18 The Nile's aquatic life will die, the river will stink, and its water will be undrinkable for the Egyptians."
19 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to tell Aaron, "Use your staff to extend your hand over Egypt's waters—rivers, channels, ponds, and all water storages—to turn them into blood. Blood will permeate all of Egypt, even in wooden and stone containers."
20 Moses and Aaron followed the Sovereign Captain's orders. In front of Pharaoh and his aides, he struck the Nile's waters, turning all the water into blood.
21 The aquatic life in the Nile died, and the river emitted such a foul odor that the Egyptians couldn't drink its water. The entire country was filled with blood.
22 However, Egypt's sorcerers replicated these feats through their secret practices, making Pharaoh's inner-self more obstinate; he ignored Moses and Aaron, as the Sovereign Captain had foretold.
23 Unaffected, he returned to his palace, disregarding what had happened.
24 All Egyptians had to dig around the Nile for potable water since the river's water was undrinkable.

§ 10840 THE PLAGUE OF FROGS

25 A week after the Sovereign Captain's assault on the Nile,

8 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to tell Pharaoh, "the Sovereign Captain commands: 'Release my people to express joyful adoration to me. '"
2 "If you refuse, I will plague your land with frogs.
3 The Nile will overflow with frogs, invading your governance residence, sleeping quarters, beds, dwellings of your servants and populace, cooking places, and dough containers.
4 Frogs will ascend on you, your population, and all your authoritative figures."
5 The Sovereign Captain told Moses to instruct Aaron to extend his arm with his power staff over the waters of Egypt to summon frogs.
6 Aaron did so, and frogs blanketed the country.
7 The sorcerers replicated this act, causing more frogs to appear.
8 Pharaoh asked Moses and Aaron to petition the Sovereign Captain to remove the frogs, promising to let their people perform sacrificial activations.
9 Moses asked Pharaoh to decide when he should intercede to remove the frogs from their homes and leave them only in the Nile.
10 Pharaoh chose the next day. Moses agreed, ensuring it would happen as promised to show that no entity compares to our Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.
11 "The frogs will depart from you, your homes, your servants, and your people; they will remain only in the Nile."

[12] After leaving Pharaoh, Moses implored the Sovereign Captain about the plague of frogs.
[13] The Sovereign Captain acted on Moses' request, causing the frogs to die in residences, yards, and fields.
[14] They were gathered into piles, and their foul smell permeated the territory.
[15] When relief came, Pharaoh's inner-self became stubborn, and he refused to heed Moses and Aaron's words as the Sovereign Captain had foretold.

§ 10850 THE PLAGUE OF GNATS

[16] The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to tell Aaron to stretch out his power staff and strike the Earth's dust, turning it into gnats throughout Egypt.
[17] Aaron did so, and gnats infested humans and beasts as all the soil in Egypt became gnats.
[18] The magicians tried secret techniques to remove the gnats but failed, resulting in gnats everywhere.
[19] They told the Prime Ruler it was an act of the Preeminent Sovereign. Still, he remained obstinate and ignored them, following the Sovereign Captain's decree.

§ 10860 THE PLAGUE OF FLIES

[20] At dawn, the Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to meet Pharaoh at the river and deliver this command: "Release my people so they may offer me their joyful adoration.
[21] If you refuse, I will unleash swarms of insects upon you, your servants, your people, and your homes. The Egyptians' dwellings and land will be overrun.
[22] But there will be no flies in Goshen, where my pathseekers live, proving that I, the Sovereign Captain, am present.
[23] I will distinguish between my people and yours. This sign will occur tomorrow. '"
[24] The Eternal Reality fulfilled His word. Swarms of insects infested Pharaoh's palace and his servants' homes, causing extensive damage throughout Egypt.
[25] Pharaoh urgently summoned Moses and Aaron, asking them to honor their Eternal Reality with absolving payments within Egypt.
[26] Moses replied, "It's not appropriate. Our absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain are offensive to the Egyptians. If we do this here, they might stone us.
[27] We must journey three days into the wilderness to offer absolving payments as He directs."

[28] Pharaoh agreed but insisted they stayed within a reasonable distance and asked for intercession on his behalf.
[29] Moses promised to seek the Sovereign Captain's intervention once he left Pharaoh. By tomorrow, the flies would leave Pharaoh, his officials, and his people. Still, Pharaoh must not deceive them again by preventing their absolving payments.
[30] Moses left Pharaoh and melded His conscience with the Eternal Reality to the Sovereign Captain.
[31] The Eternal Reality granted Moses' request, removing the insects from Pharaoh, his servants, and his people.
[32] Yet again, Pharaoh remained stubborn and refused to release the people.

§ 10870 THE PLAGUE ON LIVESTOCK

9 The Sovereign Captain directed Moses to tell Pharaoh, “the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of the Hebrews, commands: ‘Release my people so they can serve me.
2 If you refuse and keep them constrained,
3 The Sovereign Captain’s hand will inflict a dreadful disease on your field animals—horses, donkeys, camels, cattle, sheep, and goats.
4 The Sovereign Captain will distinguish between the cattle of Egypt and Israel, ensuring none of the Israelites’ animals will perish.
5 The Sovereign Captain set a schedule for this action to occur the next day. ’”
6 The following day, the Sovereign Captain fulfilled His decree: Every Egyptian beast perished, but none of the Israelites’ livestock was lost.
7 Pharaoh investigated and found not a single Israelite beast had died. Yet, his inner-self remained stubborn and refused to release the people.

§ 10880 THE PLAGUE OF BOILS

8 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses and Aaron to take furnace soot and scatter it in the air before Pharaoh.
9 “This fine powder will cover Egypt, causing boils to break out on animals and humans.”
10 They did so, and Moses threw the ashes skyward, resulting in inflamed ulcers on people and animals.
11 The sores were so severe that the sorcerers couldn’t confront Moses, as they, too, were afflicted.
12 Despite this, the Preeminent Sovereign hardened Pharaoh’s inner determination, leading him to ignore Moses and Aaron, just as foretold.

§ 10890 THE PLAGUE OF HAIL

13 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to rise early, meet Pharaoh, and deliver this message: “the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of the Hebrews, commands: ‘Release my people to serve me. ’”
14 “If you refuse, I will unleash my full wrath upon you, your leaders, and your people, so you understand there is none like me on Earth.
15 I could have already struck you with pestilence, erasing you from the planet.
16 But I have spared you to demonstrate my might and spread my name globally.
17 You oppose my people and refuse to release them.
18 Therefore, tomorrow at this time, I will bring the most severe hailstorm Egypt has ever seen.”
19 “Gather your livestock and possessions undercover, as the hail will strike every human and animal left in the field, leading to their death.”
20 Some Pharaoh’s officials, who respected the Sovereign Captain’s message, sheltered their servants and animals indoors.

21 Those who disregarded the Sovereign Captain’s instructions left their servants and cattle exposed.
22 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to extend his hand towards the celestial realms to initiate a hailstorm over Egypt, affecting humans, livestock, and vegetation.

23 As Moses pointed his power staff to the celestial realms, the Sovereign Captain unleashed thunder and hail, with lightning striking the Earth. Consequently, hail fell on Egypt.
24 Hail and frequent lightning characterized the most severe storm in Egypt's history.
25 The hail destroyed everything in the open fields across Egypt, including humans, animals, vegetation, and trees.
26 Goshen, where the Israelites resided, remained unaffected by the hail.
27 Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron, admitting his mistake and acknowledging that the Sovereign Captain was just while he and his people were guilty.
28 "Intervene with the Sovereign Captain; the thunder and hail are too much. I will release you; you need not stay any longer."
29 Moses responded, "When I leave the city, I will raise my hands in intervention to the Sovereign Captain. When the hail and thunder stop, you will recognize that the Earth is the Sovereign Captain's.
30 However, neither you nor your advisers elevate the Eternal Preeminent Sovereign."
31 The flax and barley crops were damaged as they had developed heads and were blooming.
32 However, the wheat and spelled survived due to their late maturing nature."
33 Moses departed Pharaoh and exited the city. He extended his hands toward the Sovereign Captain; at that moment, the thunder and hail ceased, and the rain stopped pouring on the land.

34 Observing this cessation, Pharaoh transgressed again: He and his aides became obstinate.
35 Pharaoh remained unyielding and refused to release the Israelites, as the Sovereign Captain had expressed via Moses.

§ 10900 THE PLAGUE OF LOCUSTS

10 "Proceed to Pharaoh," the Sovereign Captain conveyed to Moses, "for I've rendered his inner-self and his administrators unyielding, enabling me to display my signs amid them."
2 "So you can narrate to your offspring and descendants the severity of my actions against the Egyptians and how I demonstrated my marvelous signs among them, and consequently, you will realize that I am the Sovereign Captain."
3 Moses and Aaron approached Pharaoh, conveying the message from the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of the Hebrews, asking, "How much longer will you resist submitting to me? Release my people so they can serve me.
4 Should you deny their release, I shall summon a swarm of locusts into your land the following day.
5 They will blanket the terrain that is impossible to see. They will consume the small remainder that survived the hail, including all the trees growing in your fields.
6 Your homes, all your servants, and the entirety of Egypt will be inundated in a manner that not even your forebears or predecessors have witnessed since establishing their roots in this terrain." After stating this, Moses turned his back and exited Pharaoh's presence.
7 Pharaoh's servants questioned him, "For how much longer will this individual trap us? Allow the people to leave to express joyful adoration to the Preeminent Sovereign, the Sovereign Captain. Don't you recognize that Egypt is devastated?"
8 Moses and Aaron were summoned again to Pharaoh. "Serve the Sovereign Captain your Preeminent Sovereign," he instructed. However, he asked for clarification on who exactly would be departing.

9 Moses responded, “All of us, from the youngest to the oldest, including our boys and girls, along with our livestock, would attend. We must partake in the Sovereign Captain’s festival.”
10 The Prime Ruler responded, “May Yahweh assist you if I ever release you and your families! You’re plotting something sinister.
11 Indeed, the men should proceed to serve the Sovereign Captain, as the prior request was.” Consequently, Moses and Aaron were expelled from Pharaoh’s sight.
12 The Sovereign Captain ordered Moses to stretch out his hand over Egypt, which led to locusts swarming the country and eating all the vegetation in the fields, especially the crops the hail had left untouched.
13 Moses extended his power staff over the territory of Egypt, and the Preeminent Sovereign caused an eastern breeze to sweep across the region all day and night. At dawn, this wind had ushered in a swarm of locusts.
14 Egypt was overrun with locusts that populated every region in vast quantities. Such an intense outbreak of these insects had never transpired before, nor would it ever occur in the future.
15 They blanketed the entire landscape until it appeared dark. They consumed everything that had survived the hailstorm, including all the flora in the fields and the fruits on the trees. No green leaf was left on any tree or plant across Egypt.
16 Pharaoh hurriedly called for Moses and Aaron, confessing, “I have transgressed against you, the Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, and you.
17 Kindly absolve my transgression again and petition your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, to eliminate this fatal infestation from my presence.”
18 Moses departed from Pharaoh and entreated the Sovereign Captain.
19 The Eternal Reality shifted the direction of the breeze towards a powerful westerly gust, which lifted the swarm of locusts and hurled them into the Red Sea. No locust remained in any part of Egypt.
20 Nevertheless, the Sovereign Captain reinforced Pharaoh’s resolve and refused to release the Israelites.

§ 10910 THE PLAGUE OF DARKNESS

21 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to extend his hand towards the celestial realms, causing tangible darkness to engulf Egypt.
22 Moses did so, resulting in absolute darkness for three days.
23 No one could see or move for three days, but the Israelites’ dwellings were illuminated.
24 Pharaoh summoned Moses, allowing him to serve the Sovereign Captain with women and children, but demanded their flocks and cattle remain.
25 Moses replied, “We need absolving payments and scorched absolving payments for our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.
26 We must bring our cattle, leaving none behind, as some will serve in reverencing the Sovereign Captain. We will know the exact requirements once we arrive.”
27 The Preeminent Sovereign fortified Pharaoh’s resolve, making him unwilling to release them.
28 Pharaoh commanded Moses, “Depart from my presence! Do not see me again! If you do, you will die.”
29 Moses replied, “As you say, I will never see your face again.”

§ 10920 THE PLAGUE ON THE FIRST-BORN

11 The Eternal Reality informed Moses: “I will bring one final affliction upon Pharaoh and Egypt. After this, he will release you completely.”
2 “Tell the people to ask their neighbors for silver and gold items.”
3 The Preeminent Sovereign ensured the Egyptians viewed the Israelites favorably. Moses was highly esteemed by both the Prime Ruler’s court and the common people in Egypt.

4 Moses announced that the Sovereign Captain had decreed: “I will pass through Egypt at midnight.
5 Every first-born in Egypt will die, from Pharaoh’s heir to the first-born of the female servant at the hand mill, including all livestock.
6 A great cry will echo throughout Egypt, unlike any before.
7 Among the Israelites, not even a dog will growl at any person or animal. This display will show that the Sovereign Captain distinguishes between Egypt and Israel.
8 Your officers will come to me, saluting and saying, ‘Leave you and all who follow you!’ Then I will depart.” Moses, enraged, left Pharaoh’s presence.
9 The Sovereign Captain’s vision to Moses that Pharaoh would not listen was an opportunity to multiply my marvelous works in Egypt.
10 Moses and Aaron performed all these marvelous acts before Pharaoh. Yet, the Preeminent Sovereign hardened Pharaoh’s inner-self, and he refused to release the children of Israel from his land.

§ 10930 THE EMANCIPATION AND THE FESTIVAL OF UNLEAVENED BREAD

12 In Egypt, the Sovereign Captain conveyed his message to Moses and Aaron.
2 “This month marks the beginning of your year.
3 Announce to Israel that each man must select a lamb for his family on the tenth day.
4 If a household is too small, they should share with their nearest neighbor, based on consumption capacity.
5 Choose flawless males of one year from either sheep or goats.
6 Keep them until the fourteenth day; then, all Israelites must kill them at dusk.
7 Apply some blood on the doorposts and lintel of the houses where the lamb is eaten.

8 Eat the fire-roasted meat with bitter herbs and unleavened bread that night.
9 Do not eat it raw or boiled; roast it over a fire with its head, legs, and inner parts.
10 Leave nothing until morning; burn any leftovers.
11 Eat it dressed for travel, with shoes on and staff in hand, as it symbolizes the Sovereign Captain’s Emancipation.
12 That night, I will pass through Egypt and kill every first-born, human and animal, executing judgment on all Egyptians. I am the Sovereign Captain.
13 The blood will be a sign on your houses; I will spare you from harm when I see it.
14 This day is to be commemorated as a festival to the Sovereign Captain for generations to come.

15 Eat unleavened bread for seven days. Remove yeast from your homes on the first day; anyone eating yeast from the first to the seventh day will be cut off from Israel.
16 Hold an exalted assembly on the first and last days; do no work except preparing food.
17 Celebrate the Feast of Unleavened Bread as it marks the day I brought your divisions out of Egypt. Observe this day for generations to come.
18 Eat unleavened bread from the evening of the fourteenth day until the twenty first day at sunset.
19 No yeast should be found in your homes for seven days; anyone eating yeast will be cut off from Israel.
20 Eat nothing with yeast; eat unleavened bread in all your dwellings.
21 Moses instructed Israel's leaders to select and sacrifice a lamb for Emancipation.
22 Dip a bundle of hyssop in the blood and apply it to the doorframe; do not leave your house until morning.

23 When the Sovereign Captain passes through to strike down the Egyptians, He'll see the sign of your trust displayed on your entryway and will pass over your building. The danger won't touch your home because of His protection.
24 Follow these instructions as a lasting ordinance for you and your descendants.
25 When you enter the land the Sovereign Captain promised, continue this observance.
26 When your children ask about this practice,
27 tell them it is the Emancipation offering to the Sovereign Captain, who spared Israelite homes in Egypt when He struck down the Egyptians." The people bowed in a joyous expression of adoration.
28 The Israelites did just as the Sovereign Captain commanded Moses and Aaron.
29 At midnight, the Sovereign Captain struck down all firstborns in Egypt, from Pharaoh's heir to the first-born of prisoners and livestock.
30 Pharaoh, his officials, and all Egyptians rose during the night, and there was loud wailing in Egypt, for there was not a house without someone dead.

§ 10935 THE CELESTIAL DELIVERANCE

31 In the dead of night, Pharaoh summoned Moses and Aaron, commanding, "Arise! Leave my people—you and the Israelites! Go and express joyful adoration to the Sovereign Captain as you wish."
32 "Take your sheep and cattle as stated, and invoke empowerment for me."
33 The Egyptians urged the people to leave quickly, fearing they'd all perish otherwise.
34 Before any leaven could be added to the dough, the people swiftly lifted it on their shoulders in fabric-covered kneading bowls.
35 The Israelites followed Moses' guidance, requesting silver, gold items, and Egyptian garments.

36 The Sovereign Captain made the Egyptians view them with kindness, fulfilling their requests, so they looted the Egyptians.
37 The Israelites traveled from Rameses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand non-disabled men on foot, excluding women and children.
38 Individuals of diverse origins, along with vast herds and flocks of livestock, joined them.
39 The Israelites made bread without yeast from the dough they carried from Egypt. The dough had no leavening since they were hastily expelled and couldn't prepare food for their journey.
40 The Israelites resided in Egypt for four centuries and three decades.
41 Exactly today, after 430 years, all the hosts of the Sovereign Captain departed from Egypt.

42 In honor of the Sovereign Captain's watchfulness that night, leading them out of Egypt, all Israelites are to maintain this observance throughout future generations.

§ 10940 EMANCIPATION RESTRICTIONS

43 The Preeminent Sovereign instructed Moses and Aaron on the Emancipation Feast: "Non-natives cannot partake."
44 "A purchased enslaved person may join after circumcision."
45 "Temporary residents and hired workers are not allowed to consume it."
46 "Eat the meal entirely within the residence; do not take any meat outside or break its bones."
47 "All the ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel must celebrate this."
48 "An outsider wishing to observe the Sovereign Captain's Emancipation must ensure all males in his household are circumcised; then he may participate as a native. Uncircumcised males cannot partake."

49 "This rule applies to both natives and aliens in your community."
50 The Israelites followed every command the Sovereign Captain gave Moses and Aaron.
51 On that day, the Sovereign Captain led the children of Israel out of Egypt, organized by their divisions.

§ 10950 COMMISSION OF THE FIRST-BORN

13 The Sovereign Captain communicated to Moses.
2 "Dedicate to me every first-born male. Any first offspring from any womb among the Israelites, human or animal, is mine."
3 Moses urged the people to memorialize the day they were freed from Egypt, as it was through the decisive intervention of the Sovereign Captain that their liberation came. They were instructed not to consume any food made with yeast.
4 "On this day, you are about to go forth in the month of Aviv."
5 "Once the Eternal Reality escorts you into the territory of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Hivites, and Jebusites—a province He vowed to your forefathers to grant you a land rich with milk and honey—then you should commemorate this formality during this particular month."
6 "Consume unleavened bread for seven days, then honor the Sovereign Captain with a celebration on the concluding day."
7 "For a week, consume exclusively bread devoid of yeast; ensure no trace of yeast is present within you or anywhere across your territory."
8 "Declare to your child that day, 'This act is a result of what the Sovereign Captain accomplished for me during my celestial deliverance from Egypt. '"
9 "This commemoration shall act like a symbol on your hand and an aide-mémoire on your forehead, ensuring the laws of the Sovereign Captain are constantly in your speech, for it was with an immense show of strength that the Sovereign Captain liberated you from Egypt."

10 "This Law must be adhered to at the scheduled time annually."
11 "When the Sovereign Captain leads you into the territory of the Canaanites and delivers it to you, in keeping with the pledge sworn to you and your forefathers, 12 each womb's initial offspring must be presented to the Sovereign Captain. All the first-born male animals from your livestock should be dedicated to the Sovereign Captain."

13 “Every first-born donkey should be repurchased using a lamb, but its neck must be broken if it’s not ransomed this way. You should also ensure that every firstborn among your sons is repurchased.”
14 “When your child inquires in the future, ‘What’s the significance of this?’ you should respond, ‘the Sovereign Captain, deploying his formidable strength, liberated us from Egypt, where we were enchained in servitude. ’”
15 “the Sovereign Captain ended the life of every first-born in Egypt, of both man and beast, due to Pharaoh’s obstinate refusal to free us. That’s why I offer to the Sovereign Captain every first male born of every womb and ransom each of my eldest sons.”
16 “It will be a mark on your hand and a token on your forehead that the Sovereign Captain led us out of Egypt with his powerful grip.”

§ 10960 CROSSING THE SEA

17 When the people were released, the Preeminent Sovereign did not guide them through the Philistine Warrior territory, even though it was the direct route, fearing they might return to Egypt if they faced conflict.
18 Instead, He led them through the wilderness toward the Red Sea, prepared for warfare.
19 Moses carried Joseph’s remains as promised. Joseph had declared that the Preeminent Sovereign would support them, and they must take his remains.
20 They camped at Etham after leaving Sukkoth on the edge of the wilderness.
21 The Sovereign Captain led them by a cloud column during the day and a flaming pillar at night, guiding them continuously.

22 The columns never left their position, leading the people.

14 Then, the Sovereign Captain instructed Moses.
2 “Tell the Israelites to change course and camp near Pi Hahiroth, between Migdol and the sea, opposite Baal Zephon.”
3 “Pharaoh will think the wilderness traps them as they wander aimlessly.”
4 “I will harden Pharaoh’s inner determination to pursue them, but I will gain honor through Pharaoh and his army. The Egyptians will know I am the Sovereign Captain.” The Israelites obeyed.
5 When Pharaoh heard of their escape, he and his advisors regretted losing their labor force.
6 He prepared his main strike vehicle and rallied his troops.
7 He assembled six hundred select strike vehicles and all other Egyptian strike vehicles under officers’ command.
8 The Sovereign Captain hardened Pharaoh’s inner determination to pursue the Israelites as they confidently departed.
9 Pharaoh’s army, which included troops, strike vehicles, and assault forces, pursued and caught up with the Israelites camping by the sea close to Pi Hahiroth, across from Baal Zephon.
10 As Pharaoh approached, the Israelites saw the Egyptians and were terrified, crying out to the Sovereign Captain.
11 They questioned Moses, “Were there not enough graves in Egypt? Why bring us to die in the wilderness?”
12 “Didn’t we say in Egypt to leave us alone to serve the Egyptians? It’s better than dying here!”
13 Moses reassured them, “Do not fear. Stand firm and see the Sovereign Captain’s redemption today. The Egyptians you see now will never be seen again.”

14 “the Sovereign Captain will fight for you; just stay calm.”

15 The Sovereign Captain told Moses, “Why cry out to me? Tell the Israelites to move forward.”
16 “To allow the Israelites to cross on dry land, lift your power staff and divide the sea with your hand.”
17 “I will harden the Egyptians’ inner determination to follow, and I will gain honor through Pharaoh and his army.”
18 “The Egyptians will know I am the Sovereign Captain when I am glorified through Pharaoh and his forces.”
19 The Celestial Envoy moved from ahead of Israel to behind them, and the cloud column shifted to their rear.
20 It stood between Egypt and Israel, casting darkness on one side and light on the other all night.
21 Moses stretched his hand over the sea, and the Sovereign Captain drove back the waters with a strong East wind all night, turning the sea into dry land.
22 The Israelites crossed on dry ground with walls of water on both sides.
23 The Egyptians pursued all of Pharaoh’s military strike vehicles and assault forces.
24 Near dawn, the Sovereign Captain threw the Egyptian army into confusion from the pillar of fire and cloud.
25 He jammed their main strike vehicle wheels, making it hard to drive. The Egyptians said, “Let’s flee from Israel! the Sovereign Captain fights for them against Egypt.”
26 The Sovereign Captain told Moses to stretch his hand over the sea so the waters would return over the Egyptians and their military strike vehicles.
27 Moses did so at dawn, and the sea returned to its depth as the Egyptians fled into it. the Sovereign Captain swept them into the sea.
28 The waters covered Pharaoh’s entire army that had followed Israel into the sea; none survived.
29 But Israel walked on dry ground with walls of water on both sides.

30 That day, Eternal Reality saved Israel from Egypt’s power, and they saw Egyptian bodies on the shore.
31 Seeing the Sovereign Captain’s great power against Egypt filled Israel with awe; they trusted Him and His servant Moses.

§ 10970 THE SONG OF MOSES AND MIRIAM

15 Moses and the Israelites sang this hymn to the Sovereign Captain: “We will praise the Sovereign Captain, for he is gloriously triumphant. He has cast both the steed and its charioteer into the sea.”

2 “Yahweh is my source of power and protection; he has emerged as my deliverance. This deliverance is my Eternal Reality, whom I’ll acclaim, the Preeminent Sovereign of my forefathers, whom I’ll uplift.”

3 “The Eternal Reality is a man of battle named the Eternal Reality.”

4 “He has cast the military strike vehicles and soldiers of the Egyptian Prime Ruler into the sea, with his finest officers meeting their end in the Red Sea.”

5 “The profound waters shrouded them; they descended to the abyss like a rock.”

6 “My Sovereign Captain, your dominant hand, showed remarkable strength. Your dominant hand, the Sovereign Captain, pulverized the adversary.”

7 “Due to your immense majesty, you overpowered those who stood against you. Your raging fury was unleashed; it devoured them like trash.”

8 “The waters amassed due to the force of your breath. The tumultuous water stood tall like a barrier, and the depths turned solid in the sea’s core.”

9 “The foe bragged, ‘I will chase them, I will capture them, I will share the riches; I will satisfy my desire on them; I will unsheathe my weapon, and my hand will bring them to ruin. ’”

10 “Yet, when you exhaled, the sea engulfed them. They plunged like lead into the mighty waters.”

11 “Among the Celestial Envoys, who can compare to you, My Sovereign Captain? You stand unparalleled, glorious in your exalted purity, awe-inspiring in your magnificence, a being capable of performing marvelous deeds.”

12 “When you extend your strong hand, the ground ingests your adversaries.”

13 “Your steadfast love will guide the people you have saved; you’ll lead them to your exalted home with your might.”

14 “Fear will pervade as the story reaches different nations; Philistia’s inhabitants will be distressed.”

15 “All the people of Canaan will vanish in terror, the mighty men of Moab will be overpowered by trembling, and the communal rulers of Edom will be terrified beyond trust.”

16 “Fear and horror will overwhelm them. Due to the might of your arm, they’ll be motionless like a stone—until your people, whom you’ve acquired, proceed past, Captain.”

17 “Captain, you will guide your people to the exalted space on your heritage mountain, the place you chose to reside and crafted with your hands.”

18 “the Sovereign Captain will rule as Prime Ruler eternally and beyond.”

19 As Pharaoh’s armored personnel carriers, armored resupply vehicles, and assault forces entered the sea, the Sovereign Captain made the seawater flow back over them. However, the people of Israel traversed the sea on parched land.

20 Subsequently, Miriam, an eternally wise servant, and Aaron’s sister grasped a tambourine, prompting all the women to unite with her in dance and tambourine play.

21 Miriam echoed: “Praise the Sovereign Captain for his vast and overwhelming acclaim. He has cast armored personnel carriers and assault troops into the sea.”

§ 10980 THE WATERS OF MARAH AND ELIM

22 After leaving the Red Sea, Moses led Israel into the wilderness of Shur. Despite a three-day trek, they found no water.
23 At Marah, the water was too bitter to drink, giving the place its name.
24 The people complained to Moses, asking, “What will we drink?”

25 Moses appealed to the Sovereign Captain, who showed him a piece of wood. When Moses threw it into the water, it became drinkable. the Sovereign Captain then established a decree and guidance for them.
26 He said, “If you listen to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and follow His directives, I will not bring upon you any of the diseases I inflicted on the Egyptians, for I am the Sovereign Captain, your healer.”
27 They arrived at Elim, where twelve springs and seventy date palms stood by the water.

§ 10990 MANNA AND QUAIL

16 On the second month of the fifteenth day after departing from Egypt, the entire assembly of Israelites departed Elim. It arrived at the Wilderness of Sin, which was situated between Elim and Sinai.
2 The ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel expressed their discontent with Moses and Aaron.
3 They exclaimed, “We wish we had perished by the Preeminent Sovereign’s hand in Egypt! There, we had pots of meat and plenty of food. But you’ve brought us into this wilderness to starve us.”
4 The Sovereign Captain told Moses, “I will provide sustenance like a daily delivery from the sky. The people must collect only what they need for each day and follow my guidance.”
5 “On the sixth day, they should prepare to double what they collect on other days.”
6 Moses and Aaron told the Children of Israel, “By dusk, you will know that the Eternal Reality led you out of Egypt.”
7 “In the morning, you will see the Sovereign Captain’s magnificence, for He has heard your complaints against Him. What authority do we have for you to complain against us?”

8 Moses said, “It will be clear that it is the Sovereign Captain’s action when He provides meat for supper and bread for breakfast, acknowledging your complaints against Him. Who are we? Your complaints are against the Sovereign Captain.”
9 Moses instructed Aaron to tell the ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israelites to “gather before the Sovereign Captain, as He has heard your complaints.”
10 As Aaron addressed the assembly, they saw the Sovereign Captain’s splendor in the cloud.
11 The Eternal spoke to Moses.
12 “I’ve heard the Israelites’ complaints. Tell them, ‘In the evening, you will have meat, and in the morning, bread. Then you will know that I am Yahweh, your Preeminent Sovereign. ’”
13 At dusk, quails covered the camp, and in the morning, dew surrounded it.
14 Thin flakes covered the desert surface when the dew evaporated.
15 The Israelites asked each other, “What is this?” They didn’t know. Moses said, “This is the sustenance the Sovereign Captain has provided.”
16 “the Sovereign Captain commands: ‘Each person should collect 2.25 liters for each individual in your tent. ’”

17 The Israelites did so; some gathered much, others little.
18 When they measured by 2.25 liters, those who gathered much did not have any excess, and those who gathered little did not experience any shortage. Each person had what they needed.
19 Moses instructed them not to leave any for the next day.
20 Some ignored this and kept it until morning; it became wormy and foul-smelling, angering Moses.
21 Each person collected what they needed each morning; it melted as the sun grew hot.

22 They gathered double—4.5 liters each on the sixth day. The leaders informed Moses.
23 He said, “This is the Sovereign Captain’s command: ‘Tomorrow is a Day of Rest, an exalted Day of Rest dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. Bake and boil what you need today; save what remains for tomorrow. ’”
24 They kept it until morning as instructed; it didn’t smell or become wormy.
25 Moses said, “Eat it today; it’s a Day of Rest dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. There will be nothing to gather today.”
26 “Collect it for six days; there will be none on the Day of Rest.”
27 Some went out to gather on the seventh day but found none.
28 The Sovereign Captain asked Moses, “How long will you ignore my instructions?”
29 “Remember, the Day of Rest is an empowerment from the Sovereign Captain; He provides food for two days on the sixth. Stay in your places on the seventh day.”
30 The ensovereigned lifestyle community rested on the Day of Rest.
31 The Israelites called the nourishment celestial food; it resembled white coriander seeds and tasted like honey wafers.
32 Moses said, “the Sovereign Captain commands: ‘Preserve 2.25 liters of celestial food for future generations to see what I provided in the desert when I freed you from Egypt. ’”
33 Moses instructed Aaron to fill a jar with 2.25 liters (an omer) of celestial food and place it before the Sovereign Captain for future generations.
34 Aaron placed the Mosaic Law tablets as the Sovereign Captain had instructed through Moses by the solemn agreement.
35 The Israelites lived off celestial food for forty years, or until they came to the boundaries of Canaan, before finding a place that could support them.
36 An omer equals 2.25 liters.

§ 11000 WATER FROM THE ROCK

17 The ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israelites traveled from the Wilderness of Sin, following the Eternal Reality’s command of the Sovereign Captain. They camped in Rephidim, but there was no water.
2 The people quarreled with Moses, demanding water. Moses asked, “Why are you in conflict with me? Why are you challenging the Sovereign Captain?”
3 The people, suffering from dehydration, complained, “Did you bring us away from Egypt just so our livestock, children, and ourselves could starve to death?”
4 In desperation, Moses called on the Sovereign Captain, “How am I to handle these people? They are about to resort to violence.”
5 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses, “Go ahead of the people. Take some of Israel’s elders and the power staff you used to strike the Nile.”
6 “I will be there, on the rock at Horeb. Strike the rock, and water will flow for the community.” Moses did this in full view of Israel’s elders.

7 The place was named Massah and Meribah because of the Israelites' contention and their trial of the Sovereign Captain. "Is the Sovereign Captain genuinely present among us?"

§ 11010 THE AMALEKITES DEFEATED

8 The Amalekites attacked the Israelites in Rephidim.
9 Moses directed Joshua, "Choose some men and fight the Amalekites. I will stand on the hill tomorrow with the Preeminent Sovereign's power staff."
10 Following Moses' orders, Joshua battled the Amalekites while Moses, Aaron, and Hur went to the hilltop.
11 The Israelites prevailed when Moses raised his hands, but the Amalekites gained ground when he lowered them.

12 As Moses' hands grew tired, they placed a rock for him to sit on, and Aaron and Hur held up his hands until sunset.
13 Joshua defeated the Amalekite army with the tactical blade's strength.
14 The Eternal Reality told Moses to record this event and ensure Joshua knew, saying, "I will erase the memory of Amalek from under the celestial realms."
15 Moses built a fortress and named it Yahweh, My Battle Flag.
16 He declared that because fists were raised against the Sovereignty of the Sovereign Captain, He would fight the Amalekites forever.

§ 11020 JETHRO VISITS MOSES

18 Jethro, the Midian's mediator and Moses' father-in-law, heard about the Preeminent Sovereign's deeds for Moses and Israel, especially their celestial deliverance from Egypt.
2 After Moses' wife, Zipporah, left him, she stayed with Jethro, along with her two sons.
3 One son was named Gershom, reflecting Moses' status as an outsider.
4 The other was named Eliezer, signifying the Preeminent Sovereign's aid in saving Moses from Pharaoh.
5 Jethro brought Moses' wife and sons to the wilderness near the celestial mountain where Moses was staying.
6 Jethro informed Moses of his arrival with his family.
7 Moses greeted Jethro with respect and a kiss, and they exchanged pleasantries before entering the Tent.
8 Moses recounted to Jethro all the Sovereign Captain had done against Pharaoh and the Egyptians for Israel, including their journey's challenges and the Sovereign Captain's rescues.
9 Jethro was delighted by the Sovereign Captain's empowerment for Israel's liberation from Egypt.

10 He praised the Sovereign Captain for freeing them from Egyptian control.
11 Jethro acknowledged the Sovereign Captain's supremacy over idolized deities for His actions against Israel's oppressors.
12 Jethro offered a scorched absolving payment and additional absolving payments to the Preeminent Sovereign. Aaron and Israel's senior ensovereigned mediators joined him in dining under the Preeminent Sovereign's watchful eyes.
13 The next day, Moses arbitrated for the people from dawn until dusk.
14 Observing this, Jethro asked why Moses judged the people all day alone.

15 Moses explained that people sought his judgment to understand the Preeminent Sovereign's desires.
16 He judged disputes and taught them the Preeminent Sovereign's statutes and teachings.
17 Jethro advised that Moses' method was unsustainable.
18 He warned that both Moses and the people would exhaust themselves under such a burden.
19 Jethro suggested that Moses act as a liaison to the Preeminent Sovereign and teach His directives and guidelines.
20 He recommended appointing competent, trustworthy leaders over groups of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens to share the burden of arbitration.
21 These leaders would handle simple cases while bringing complex matters to Moses, easing his load.
22 If this plan aligned with the Preeminent Sovereign's will, it would enable Moses to endure and ensure people's contentment.
23 Moses heeded Jethro's advice and appointed capable leaders over Israel.
24 They judged the people continually, bringing only complex cases to Moses.

25 Moses then bid farewell to Jethro, who returned to his homeland.
26 They also constantly assessed the populace; they would present Moses with the most challenging situations, but they would judge themselves on any trivial matter.
27 After then, Moses dispatched his father-in-law, and Jethro went back to his homeland.

§ 11030 AT THE EXALTED MOUNTAIN OF THE MOSAIC LAW

19 Three months after leaving Egypt, Israel arrived in the Sinai wilderness.
2 They set up camp before the mountain after departing from Rephidim.
3 Moses ascended to meet the Preeminent Sovereign, who instructed him to convey this message to Jacob's descendants and the Israelites:
4 "You witnessed My actions against Egypt and how I delivered you like an eagle carrying its young."
5 "If you heed My directives and maintain My agreement, you will become My extraordinary asset among all peoples, as the entire world belongs to Me."
6 "You are designated to become a nation of ensovereigned mediators and exalted people." These are the messages of the Israelites.
7-8 Moses relayed all instructions to the leaders, who pledged to adhere to the Preeminent Sovereign's directives. Moses then relayed their commitment.
9 The Eternal Reality informed Moses that He would approach in a thick cloud, enabling the people to listen and instill trust in Moses. Moses communicated the people's response.
10 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to purify the people—today and tomorrow—and cleanse their attire.
11 "Prepare for the third day when the Sovereign Captain shall descend from the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law, visible to all."

12 "Establish boundaries around the mountain and caution them not to approach or touch it. Anyone who does shall be condemned to death."
13 "They must be executed with stones or darts. No one, human or animal, who touches the mountain base is allowed to survive. They can approach by signaling with the warning alarm."
14 Moses purified the population, and they cleaned their garments.

15 He told them, “Ready yourself for three days; refrain from physical intimacy.”
16 The mountain was blanketed in thunder, lightning, and heavy clouds on the third day, and everyone shook as a trumpet sounded.
17 Moses guided them to encounter the Preeminent Sovereign at the mountain’s base.
18 Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law was engulfed in smoke due to the Sovereign Captain’s fiery descent, surging skyward like kiln fumes, while the mountain trembled intensely.
19 As the trumpet’s noise intensified, Moses spoke, and the voice of Eternal Reality responded.
20 The Eternal Reality descended on the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law’s peak and summoned Moses to ascend. So, Moses went up.
21 The Sovereign Captain told him, “Descend and caution the people not to climb the mountain to witness Me; it would be fatal.”
22 “The ensovereigned mediators must purify themselves beforehand; otherwise, I will be fatal to them.”
23 Moses reiterated that the people should not ascend the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law, as previously cautioned.
24 The Eternal Reality descended and ascended with Aaron and his compatriots. Neither the ensovereigned mediators nor the crowd should force their way up; otherwise, His wrath would be unleashed.
25 Moses then descended and conveyed this to the people.

§ 11040 THE TEN CELESTIAL DIRECTIVES

20 “The Preeminent Sovereign articulates each of these phrases:

2 • ‘I am your Almighty, who rescued you from Egypt, the place of your enslavement. ’

3 • ‘You must not worship any deity. Express joyful adoration exclusively to me. ’
4 ‘You must not craft an idolized deity or any likeness of things in the celestial realms above, on the Earth below, or in the water bodies beneath the Earth.

5 • ‘Do not prostrate yourselves before them or serve them. I am your Sovereign Captain. I am the possessive Preeminent Sovereign, inflicting the repercussions of your parents’ wrongdoings on their offspring up to the third and fourth generations of those who despise me. ’
6 ‘Yet, I grant kindness to thousand-fold generations who are affectionate towards me and obey my directives. ’

7 • ‘You must not deceitfully invoke the name of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, for the Sovereign Captain will ensure that no one who does so will escape punishment. ’

8 • ‘Remember to observe the Day of Rest as an exalted day. ’
9 ‘You must complete all your tasks within six days. ’
10 ‘The seventh day is an exalted rest day for the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality. On this day, refrain from any labor, neither you, your offspring, your male or female servants, your animals, nor any outsiders residing within your communities.

11 The Sovereign Captain crafted the celestial realms, the Earth, the seas, and everything within them over six days. Then He rested on the seventh. Consequently, He empowered the Day of Rest and declared it exalted. ’

12 • ‘Show respect and obedience to your father and mother; doing this will result in a long life in the land that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, has promised to provide you with. ’

13 • ‘Taking another person’s life is prohibited. ’

14 • ‘Do not be guilty of an extramarital affair. ’

15 • ‘You are not to take what is not yours. ’

16 • ‘You must not lie about your neighbor in court. ’

17 • ‘You must not desire your neighbor’s property. You must not want your neighbor’s spouse, servants, livestock, or any possession your neighbor owns. ’

18 The sight of thunder and lightning, the blaring of the trumpet, and the sight of a mountain shrouded in smoke instilled fear among the people, causing them to tremble and maintain distance.

19 They told Moses, “We will heed your words exclusively and no others. Please don’t allow the Preeminent Sovereign to converse with us, for our fear may result in our demise.”

20 Moses told the masses that fear is unnecessary. “the Sovereign Captain has arrived to put you through a trial, embed His reverence within you, and prevent transgressions.”
21 As the people stayed far off, Moses went close to the deep gloom where the Preeminent Sovereign resided.

§ 11050 IDOLIZED DEITIES AND EXALTED PEDESTAL TABLES

22 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to tell the Israelites: “You have heard Me speak directly from the celestial realm.”

23 “Do not create idolized deities of silver or gold to rival Me, nor make them for personal use.”

24 “Build a pedestal table from dirt and offer your scorched reconciliation payments and food offerings, including sheep, goats, and cattle. Wherever My Name is esteemed, I will appear and grant My empowerments.”

25 “If you build a pedestal table from stones, avoid shaping the stones with tools as this taints them.”

26 “Do not use stairs to climb My pedestal table to prevent indecent exposure.”

21 “These are the regulations for the Israelites:

§ 11060 HEBREW SERVANTS

2 “If you acquire a Hebrew servant, he shall work for you for six years. However, in year seven, he will be given his freedom without the need to make any payment.”

3 “Should he arrive single, he should depart the same way; however, if he brings a wife, she should accompany him when leaving.”

4 “If the overseer grants him a spouse, and she brings forth sons or daughters, the wife and her offspring shall be under the ownership of the overseer, while the man alone shall attain his freedom.”

5 “However, if the servant proclaims, ‘My affection for my overseer, my wife, and my children override my desire for freedom, ’
6 the owner is required to bring him in front of the authorities, guide him to the entrance or door frame, and make a hole in his ear with a sharp instrument. Subsequently, he will serve his overseer perpetually.”

7 “Should a man trade his daughter as a bondwoman, her release will not follow the same process as the male servants.”

8 “If she fails to satisfy her owner, who has chosen her for his own, she must be allowed to be repurchased. Given his unfair treatment of her, he lacks the right to offer her to a foreign country.”

9 “Should the owner choose her as a wife for his male heir, he is obliged to treat her as he would his daughter.”

10 “If he enters a union with an additional wife, he cannot diminish the first wife’s allotment of nutrition, apparel, and conjugal privileges.”

11 “If he fails to fulfill these three duties to her, she can depart freely without making any financial compensation.”

§ 11070 PERSONAL INJURIES

12 “A person who assaults another and results in their death must certainly face execution.”
13 “Yet, if the act was unintentional and permitted by the Preeminent Sovereign, they are instructed to seek refuge in a location that I will select.”
14 “However, if someone willfully plots and murders another person, you must remove him from My fortress and execute him.”
15 “The death penalty is imposed on anyone who assaults their father or mother.”
16 “The person who abducts another individual must surely meet capital punishment, irrespective of having sold the captured person or still retaining him in control.”
17 “Death is the penalty for one who reviles or dishonors their mother or father.”
18 “In a dispute, if a perpetrator strikes a victim using a rock or their hand and the victim doesn’t die but is obliged to remain in bed,

19 the perpetrator will not face punishment if the victim can get back on their feet and walk outside with a staff. Nonetheless, the offender must compensate the victim for their lost time and ensure their full recovery."
20 "If an owner strikes their enslaved male or female with a rod, there must be consequences if the enslaved person dies as a direct outcome."
21 "There will be no penalty if the servant gets well after a day or two, as they own the servant."
22 "If individuals are quarreling and unintentionally strike a woman who is expecting, leading to her having a premature birth without causing any severe harm, the individual who caused the accident must pay the penalty. "The woman's spouse and the court determine the penalty sum."
23 "In the event of significant harm, you must reciprocate with a life for a life."

24 "The principle of proportional justice remains: if harm is inflicted on someone's eye, the response should be equivalent—an eye for an eye. The same applies to a tooth, a hand, and a foot:
25 a sear for a sear, an injury for an injury, a contusion for a contusion."
26 "If the overseer strikes the eye of his male or female servant, causing it to be blinded, he is obligated to free the servant as reparation for the damaged eye."
27 "If an overseer causes the tooth of his male or female servant to fall out, he is obliged to release them as free individuals as a form of reparation for their tooth."
28 "Should a bull attack a man or woman, resulting in their demise, the bull will be sentenced to death by stoning, and its flesh is not to be consumed. However, the bull's owner remains free of any liability."
29 "If the owner of the bovine beast fails to control it after being informed that it had a history of attacking, resulting in the death of a human, then both the animal and the owner would be executed."
30 "If a sum is required, the proprietor can salvage his existence by satisfying the amount designated."
31 "The same rule is applicable if the bull gores a male heir or daughter."
32 "If a bull injures an enslaved person, be it a man or a woman, the bull's owner is obligated to compensate the enslaved person's owner with thirty units of silver. Furthermore, the offending bull must be stoned till death."
33 "If a person opens a pit or excavates a hole and neglects to cover it, and as a result, a bull or a donkey tumbles into it,
34 the individual responsible for uncovering the pit must compensate the owner for the incurred loss and is allowed to claim the deceased beast."
35 "Should one person's bull harm another's, leading to its death, both parties must sell the surviving bull and evenly split both the sale proceeds and the carcass of the deceased animal."

36 "Nevertheless, if it was recognized that the ox was prone to attack in the past, and its owner did not confine it, the owner is obliged to compensate, providing another animal for the one killed, and he retains the deceased animal."

§ 11080 PROTECTION OF PROPERTY

22 "Any individual who unlawfully takes an ox or a sheep kills it or sells it, is obliged to compensate with five oxen for the stolen ox and four sheep for the pilfered sheep."
2 "Should a robber be discovered during a nocturnal intrusion and succumb to a lethal strike, the individual defending is not held accountable for the loss of life."

3 “However, if this occurs once the sun has come up, then the one who killed is accountable for murder. Whoever commits theft must make amends, though if they’re penniless, they must be sold to cover the costs of their thievery.”
4 “Should the pilfered beast be found living in their custody—an ox, donkey, or sheep—they must repay twice the amount.”
5 “Should an individual allow their pets to feed in a field or rooftop garden and let them wander into another person’s property to graze, compensation must be made from the finest of their rooftop garden.”
6 “Should a blaze ignite and spread to thorny bushes, leading to the burn of sheaves or still-growing grain or the entire field, the individual who lit the fire must compensate for the damage.”
7 “When someone entrusts money or other items to another person for safekeeping, and they are stolen from the other person’s house, the thief, if apprehended, must compensate twice the amount.”
8 “If the thief remains undiscovered, the householder must present himself before the judiciary, whose responsibility is to ascertain whether the homeowner has illicitly taken possession of someone else’s belongings.”
9 “In all instances where there’s an unlawful claim of an ox, a donkey, a sheep, a garment, or any other misplaced item that someone asserts belongs to them, both parties must present their dispute to the judges. The party found guilty by the adjudicators is obligated to repay twice the amount to the other party.”

10 “Should a person entrust their neighbor with an animal, whether it be a donkey, an ox, a sheep, or any other kind, and it gets injured, dies, or is stolen unnoticed, 11 the dispute between them will be resolved by taking a vow before the Sovereign Captain asserting that the neighbor has not stolen the other’s possession. The owner ought to acknowledge this; no compensation is necessary.”
12 “The guilty person must compensate the owner of the neighbor’s stolen animal.”
13 “If a wild beast has killed a domestic animal, the neighbor must produce the carcass as proof and won’t be held accountable to compensate for the destroyed creature.”
14 “Should a person borrow an animal from their neighbor, and it suffers harm or death in the absence of the owner, they must compensate for the loss.”
15 “If the owner is present with the creature, the borrower isn’t required to pay. If the beast was rented, the rental fee absorbs any damage.”

§ 11090 SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

16 “If a man deceives an unengaged woman and has sexual intimacy with her, he must provide a marital payment, and she becomes his spouse.”
17 “Even if her father refuses, the man must still pay the equivalent of an unmarried woman’s dowry.”
18 “Never let a witch live.”
19 “Sex with an animal results in death.”
20 “Anyone offering a reconciliation payment to an entity other than the Sovereign Captain should be eradicated.”
21 “Do not mistreat or exploit an outsider, remembering you were outsiders in Egypt.”
22 “Never exploit a widow or orphan.
23 I will hear if they cry out to Me.

24 My wrath will lead Me to slay you with the tactical blade; your spouses will become widows, and your children orphans.”
25 “If you lend to My poor people, do not act like a creditor. Do not charge interest.”
26 “If you take your neighbor’s garment as collateral, return it by sunset.
27 That garment may be their only protection. If they call out, I will respond: My nature is kind and merciful.”
28 “Do not speak ill of the Preeminent Sovereign or disrespect your community leader.”
29 “Do not withhold contributions from your grains or wine. Offer Me your first-born sons.”
30 “Do the same for your cows and sheep. They should stay with their mothers for a week, then present them to Me on the eighth day.”
31 “You are My set-apart individuals. Do not eat the flesh of an animal mauled by predators; cast it to the wolves.”

§ 11100 LAWS OF JUSTICE AND MERCY

23 “Refrain from spreading false rumors. Do not aid a wrongdoer by being a malicious testifier.”
2 “Do not follow the majority in wrongful acts. Avoid distorting authenticity by siding with popular opinion in legal disputes.”
3 “Do not show bias towards an underprivileged individual in a legal dispute.”
4 “If you find your adversary’s stray ox or donkey, ensure its return.”
5 “If you see the donkey of someone who despises you collapsing under its burden, do not ignore it; help alleviate it.”
6 “Defend the justice that low-income people deserve in their legal battles.”

7 “Avoid false accusations and do not condemn an innocent or authentic person to death, as I will not pardon the guilty.”
8 “Do not accept bribes, as they obscure vision and pervert the language of the integrid.”
9 “Do not harass an immigrant; you know their feelings, having been immigrants in Egypt.”

§ 11110 REST DAY LAWS

10 “Plant seeds on your land for six years and collect the yield.”
11 “Let the land rest in the seventh year to provide for those in need and for the beasts to consume what remains. Apply this to your vineyards and olive orchards.”
12 “Work for six days, but rest on the seventh. This rest benefits your ox, donkey, the child of your domestic servant, and the non-native among you.”
13 “Follow all my instructions closely. Do not mention the names of idolized deities; keep their names unspoken.”

§ 11120 THE THREE ANNUAL FESTIVALS

14 “On the Preeminent Sovereign’s obliteration of the plain’s cities, He heeded Abraham’s intervention, rescuing Lot from the calamity that engulfed the towns where Lot resided.”

15 “Commemorate the Festival of Unleavened Bread; consume bread without yeast for a week, following My directives. Perform this formality during the determined time in the month of Aviv, marking your celestial deliverance from Egypt. Ensure no one comes to express joyful adoration to Me without absolving payments."

16 "Commemorate the Harvest Festival with the initial yield from the seeds you planted in your field. Observe the Festival when the year concludes and when you collect your agricultural produce from your land."

17 "All of your males must appear three times yearly before the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces."

18 "Never include leavened elements with your animal blood absolving payments as an absolving payment to me. The fat from scorched reconciliation payments at My Festival must not be allowed to last at the subsequent dawn."

19 "Offer the finest yield from your land's earliest harvest to the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress. Never cook a juvenile goat in the milk derived from its mother."

§ 11130 THE PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN'S CELESTIAL ENVOY TO PREPARE THE WAY

20 "Pay heed; I am dispatching a Celestial Envoy before you to safeguard you on your journey and guide you to the destination I have readied."

21 "Be attentive to him and obey his voice. Do not defy him; he will not pardon your acts of rebellion, for My authority is within him."

22 "If you diligently obey his voice and execute all I command, I'll stand against those who stand against you, and I will become a foe to your foes."

23 "My Celestial Envoy will proceed with you and escort you into the territory of the Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hivites, and Jebusites, and I will annihilate them."

24 "Refrain from kneeling before their idolized deities, adoring them, or emulating their rituals. Instead, you should destroy them and shatter their revered stones."

25 "Serve the Sovereign Captain. You're the Preeminent Sovereign, and He shall grant His empowerments on your meals and drinks. I will eradicate diseases from your midst."

26 "No individuals will experience infertility or lose their offspring prematurely in your territory. I will ensure you live to your full age potential."

27 "I'll make My dread precede you, causing panic among all the nations you come across. I will ensure that all your adversaries turn their backs to flee."

28 "I will send a hornet to dislodge the Hivites, Canaanites, and Hittites from your path."

29 "I will not expel them within the first year because the land would turn into a wasteland, and since the wild creatures would become overwhelmingly numerous for you."

30 “Gradually, I will expel them from your presence until your population has grown sufficiently to claim the land.”

31 “I’ll define your territory from the Red Sea to the Mediterranean Sea, stretching from the wilderness to the Euphrates River. The inhabitants of this land will be handed over to you, and you’ll expel them from your path.”

32 “Never form an agreement with them or their idolized deities.”

33 “Refrain from allowing them to inhabit your territory, for they might lead you into transgressing Me, as the adoration of their idolized deities will undoubtedly be a trap for you.”

§ 11140 THE PACT CONFIRMED

24 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to ascend with Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and seventy of Israel’s elders. “You must exalt Me from a distance.”
2 “Only Moses can approach Me; the rest must stay back. The ensovereigned lifestyle community is forbidden from ascending with him.”
3 Moses relayed all the Sovereign Captain’s decrees and directives to the people, who collectively assured, “All that the Sovereign Captain has commanded, we shall abide by.”
4 Moses recorded the Sovereign Captain’s words. Early the next day, he built a site for adoration of Him at the mountain’s base with twelve standing stones representing Israel’s twelve communities.
5 He then sent young Israelite men to offer scorched reconciliation payments and slaughter juvenile bovines as absolving payments of peace to the Sovereign Captain.
6 Moses collected some blood in containers and dashed the rest on the exalted pedestal table.
7 He then read the Book of the Solemn Agreement to the people, who responded, “We will implement all that the Sovereign Captain has commanded; we will be obedient.”

8 Moses proclaimed, “This represents the bond the Sovereign Captain has made with you and all these terms,” as he splashed blood on the people.
9 Moses, Aaron, Nadab, Abihu, and seventy Israel’s leaders ascended the mountain.
10 They beheld the Eternal Reality of Israel. Under His feet was a surface like a terrace of azure sapphire stone, clear as the sky.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign did not harm Israel’s leaders; they witnessed Him and shared a meal and drink.
12 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses to ascend and stay on the mountain to receive stone slabs inscribed with laws and decrees for their improvement.
13 Moses and his assistant Joshua went to the Preeminent Sovereign’s mountain.
14 He instructed the leaders to wait until their return, with Aaron and Hur standing by for any disputes.
15 The cloud enveloped the mountain as Moses ascended.
16 The Sovereign Captain, with a majestic presence, graced the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law, which a cloud surrounded for six days. On day seven, the Sovereign Captain summoned Moses from inside the cloud.
17 The Israelites saw the Sovereign Captain’s splendor as a blazing inferno atop the mountain.
18 Moses entered the cloud and ascended, spending forty days and nights atop the mountain.

§ 11150 OFFERINGS FOR THE TENT

25 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses:
2 “Tell the Israelites to offer a gift. Collect it from everyone whose inner-self is moved to give.”
3 “Accept absolving payments of gold, silver, and bronze,

4 azure, mauve, and crimson threads, fine linen, and goat hair;
5 tanned ram skins, durable leather, and acacia wood,
6 olive oil for light, herbs for ensovereigning oil, and aromatic incense,
7 onyx and other precious stones for the sleeveless garment and chest piece.”
8 “Have them build an exalted tent for Me to dwell among them.”
9 “Construct this Tent and all its fixtures exactly as I will show you.”

§ 11160 THE STRONGBOX

10 “Craft a Strongbox from acacia wood; its dimensions should be 131.25 centimeters in length, 78.75 centimeters in width, and 78.75 centimeters in height.”
11 “Encase it in pure gold, internally and externally, and establish a gold trim around it.”
12 “Construct four rings from gold and affix them to the four legs, positioning two rings on each side.”
13 “Construct rods from acacia wood and plate them with gold.”
14 “Introduce the rods into the loops on the flanks of the Strongbox for its transport.”
15 “The staves must always stay secured within the Strongbox’s rings. They should not be taken out.”
16 “Put the stone tablets stating the conditions of the solemn agreement which I will grant you inside the Strongbox.”
17 “Fashion a reconciliation cover from pure gold; its dimensions should be two and 22.86 centimeters long and a half in width.”
18 “Construct two sculptural representations of My Celestial Envoys using beaten gold at both ends of the lid.”

19 “Construct one Celestial Envoy sculpture at one extremity and the second at the opposite; ensure the Celestial Envoys’ representations are integral to the lid at both ends.”
20 “The representations of the Celestial Envoys should extend their wings upwards, providing a shield over the lid. The sculptures of the Celestial Envoys should face one another, directing their gaze toward the center of the lid.”
21 “Position the lid above the Strongbox and place the stone tablets of the Agreement (which I shall provide you) within the Strongbox.”
22 “In this place above the Strongbox, with two representations of Celestial Envoys on either side, I will reveal My incredible redemptive power and share all the decrees I intend for the Israelites.”

§ 11170 THE TABLE

23 “Construct a table using acacia wood; its length should be 105 centimeters, width 52.5 centimeters, and height 78.75 centimeters.”
24 “Adorn it with unblemished gold and construct a golden border around it.”

25 “Construct a frame of one hand’s width around it and apply gold ornamentation to its edge.”
26 “Construct four rings of gold for the table and attach them at the four corners where the four legs stand.”
27 “The rings should be adjacent to the frame as holders for the poles for transporting the table.”
28 “Construct the rods from acacia wood, cover them with gold, and utilize them to transport the table.”
29 “Construct its plates and utensils from pure gold and jars and bowls used for reconciliatory pouring.”
30 “Always maintain the bread, symbolizing My presence, on the table, ensuring it remains within My sight.”

§ 11180 THE LIGHT FIXTURE

31 “Craft a light fixture from pure gold, hammering its base and stem, and integrate its floral cups, sprouts, and flowers.”

32 “The light fixture will have six branches, three on each side.”

33 “Each branch will feature three almond blossom cups with buds and petals, uniformly across all six branches.”

34 “The light fixture itself will have four almond blossom cups with buds and blooms.”

35 “Place one bud under the first set of branches, another under the second pair, and a third under the final pair, totaling six branches.”

36 “The buds and branches must be a single piece, hammered from pure gold.”

37 “Create seven lamps for it to illuminate the area in front.”

38 “Make the snuffers and trays from pure gold.”

39 “Use about 34 kilos of pure gold for the light fixture and its equipment.”

40 “Follow the design shown to you on the mountain.”

§ 11190 THE TENT

26 “The Tent will be built using ten curtains made of finely produced linen and blue, purple, and crimson yarn, woven with skilled craftsman’s images of Celestial Envoys.”
2 “Each curtain should measure 1470 centimeters in length and 210 centimeters in width.”
3 “Bind together five curtains and do the same with the remaining five.”
4 “Create rings of blue fabric on the border of the terminal drape in one batch and replicate this on the terminal drape in the parallel batch.”
5 “Construct fifty loops at one curtain and fifty loops at the terminal curtain of the distinct set, ensuring the loops are aligned facing each other.”
6 “Construct fifty gold clasps to link the curtains so that the Tent forms a whole.”
7 “Construct eleven drapes from goat’s hair to cover the Tent.”

[8] “Each of the eleven curtains should measure 15.75 meters long and 210 centimeters wide.”
[9] “Unite five curtains into one group and six into a separate group. Double over the sixth curtain at the entrance of the Tent.”
[10] “Create fifty loops at the fringe of the final drape in one group and do the same for the concluding drape in the alternate group.”
[11] “Construct fifty bronze fasteners and insert them through the loops to join the Tent into one complete structure.”
[12] “The half curtain that remains from the extra length of the tent curtains is meant to drape down at the back of the Tent.”
[13] “The drapes of the Tent will extend 52.5 centimeters more on both sides; the excess will drape over the sides of the Tent to protect it.”

[14] “Construct a tent cover using red-colored ram skins; above that, place an additional cover made from sturdy leather.”
[15] “Construct supporting acacia wood panels for the Exalted Tent in an upright position.”
[16] “Every frame should measure 5.334 meters in length and 78.75 centimeters in breadth.”
[17] “Equip each frame with two parallel pegs. These instructions are how all the Tent’s frames should be constructed.”
[18] “Construct twenty boards for the southern side of the fortress.”
[19] “Construct forty silver pedestals to be positioned beneath them with a pair of pedestals for every frame, one beneath each protrusion.”
[20] “Construct twenty planks for the alternate side, the northern facet of the Tent.”
[21] “Furthermore, two support each of the forty silver pedestals present.”
[22] “Construct six boards for the distant side, specifically the western section of the Tent.”
[23] “Construct two boards for the Tent’s rear corners.”
[24] “The two corners should be doubled from the base to the peak and connected into a single hoop. Both shall mirror this design.”
[25] “So, there will be eight panels, each supported by two of the total sixteen silver stands.”
[26] “Construct five crossbeams from acacia wood for the panels on one side of the Tent.”
[27] “Five for those on the opposing side, and another five for the structural components on the western side, at the utmost rear of the Tent.”
[28] “The middle brace should run the entire length of the frames, positioned halfway up.”

[29] “Cover the frame panels with gold, create gold rings to grip the crossbars, and coat the crossbars in gold, too.”
[30] “Construct the Tent per the design demonstrated on the mountain.”
[31] “Fabricate a veil using blue, purple, and scarlet strands and finely spun linen, incorporating representations of Celestial Envoys patterns expertly crafted into it.”
[32] “Affix the veil using golden clasps to four gold-coated acacia wood pillars on quadruple silver foundations.”
[33] “Position this partition from the hooks and put the Strongbox of the Solemn Agreement behind this veil. This partition will divide the Exalted Space and the Most Exalted Space.”
[34] “Install the lid on the Strongbox of the Solemn Agreement where the Preeminent Sovereign reveals His tremendous absolving power in the Most Exalted Space.”
[35] “Arrange the table exterior to the veil on the northern side of the Tent and position the light fixture in opposition to the southern side.”
[36] “Craft a curtain for the Tent entrance using threads of blue, purple, and scarlet along with finely spun linen—a creation of an embroiderer’s skill.”
[37] “Construct five acacia wood posts for the curtain, cover them with gold, and attach gold hooks. Also, prepare five bronze pedestals for these posts.”

§ 11200 THE PEDESTAL TABLE OF SCORCHED ABSOLVING PAYMENTS

27 “Construct a pedestal table using acacia wood, square-shaped, 1.37 meters tall, and 2.25 meters long and breadth.”
2 “Add horns to each of the four corners, making them one piece with the table, and cover it all in bronze.”
3 “Make all its utensils from bronze—vessels for ashes, shovels, basins, meat hooks, and fire holders.”
4 “Create a bronze mesh grating and place a bronze ring on each corner.”

5 “Position it under the table’s ledge to reach its midpoint.”
6 “Make rods from acacia wood and coat them with bronze.”
7 “Slot the rods through the loops on either side for transportation.”
8 “Construct the table hollow, using planks, as shown on the mountain.”

§ 11210 THE COURTYARD

9 “Construct an enclosure for the exalted Tent. The southern side should extend to 53.34 meters and be adorned with delicate woven linen drapes.”

10 “There are to be twenty columns with twenty bronze pedestals, and the pillars’ hooks and rings should be made of silver.”

11 “Similarly, the northern side will have a length of 53.34 meters and feature curtains. The setup will include twenty pillars, and twenty bases made of bronze, with hooks and bands on the posts made of silver.”

12 “The design will feature the courtyard’s western boundary measuring 26.25 meters in width, including drapes, and supported by ten pillars and ten bases.”

13 “The eastern side of the court, which faces sunrise, shall also have a width of 26.25 meters.”

14 “Three pillars supporting 7.875 meters long drapes should stand on one side of the entrance, each established on three bases.”

15 “Three pillars and sockets should support drapes measuring 7.875 meters on the contrasting side.”

16 “For the gateway of the court, construct a screen of 10.5 meters in length, made from finely twined linen and yarns in hues of blue, purple, and scarlet, crafted by an embroiderer, and set it on four pillars, each with its base.”

17 “All the pillars enclosing the court should possess silver fillets, hooks, and bronze pedestals.”

18 “The open space will occupy an area of 53.34 meters in length and 26.25 meters in breadth, with curtains made of fine woven linen reaching a height of 225 centimeters, and their support bases will be bronze.”

19 “Every single item used in the activations of the Tent, regardless of their specific use, along with all the tent pegs for both the Tent and the courtyard, should be made of bronze.”

§ 11220 ENERGY FOR THE LIGHT FIXTURE

20 “Instruct the people of Israel to supply pure olive oil from crushed olives for the lamps, ensuring they stay lit.”

21 “In the gathering tent, beyond the curtain hiding the Strongbox of the Solemn Agreement, Aaron and his descendants must keep the lamps burning before the Sovereign Captain from dusk till dawn. This will be a perpetual statute for the Israelites for future generations.”

§ 11230 THE GARMENTS FOR ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS

28 “Request your brother Aaron and his sons Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar from the Israelites to join you so they can fulfill the roles of ensovereigned mediators in My service.”

2 “Fashion specialized attire for your sibling Aaron, granting him distinction and prestige.”

3 “Instruct all the artisans that I’ve imparted wisdom to create garments for Aaron. These clothes will purify him, allowing him to serve as my ensovereigned mediator.”

“These are the specialized garments they should fashion:

- A chest piece
- A sleeveless garment
- A formal robe
- A checkered tunic
- A turban
- A girdle.”

4 “They shall fabricate these exalted attires for your sibling Aaron and his offspring, facilitating their roles as My ensovereigned mediators.”

5 “Instruct them to utilize gold and thread in shades of blue, purple, scarlet, and high-quality linen.”

§ 11240 THE EPHOD

6 “Skillfully fashion the sleeveless garment from finely spun linen and gold, blue, purple, and scarlet threads.”
7 “It should possess two shoulder straps connected to its edges, enabling it to be secured.”

8 “The expertly crafted girdle should resemble the sleeveless garment; it must be of the same piece, made with gold, intertwined with fine linen, and blue, purple, and scarlet threads.”
9 “Procure a pair of onyx stones and inscribe the names of Israel’s sons on them,
10 engraved in order of their birth; six names will be on one stone and the other six on a separate stone.”
11 “Carefully inscribe the sons of Israel’s names on the two stones, just as a gem cutter would carve a seal. Then, place these stones in ornamental gold settings.”
12 “Attach them to the shoulder pieces of the sleeveless garment as commemorative stones for the Israelite communities. Aaron shall continue to bear their names as a reminder of them before the Eternal Reality shows up.”
13 “Fashion gold filigree settings.”
14 “Construct two pure gold chains intertwined like a cord and secure these chains to the fittings.”

§ 11250 THE BREAST PIECE

15 “Construct a chest piece for judgment calls—crafted by skilled artisans. Use finely woven linen and blue, purple, and scarlet threads.”
16 “It should be square, a span in length and width, and folded in two.”
17 “Fasten four rows of valuable gemstones to it. The first row: carnelian, chrysolite, and beryl.
18 The second row: green feldspar, sapphire, and emerald.
19 The third row: jacinth, agate, and amethyst.

20 The fourth row: topaz, onyx, and jasper. Set them in ornamental gold.”
21 “There should be twelve stones, each representing the names of Israel’s sons; each stone engraved like a seal for one of the twelve communities.”
22 “Make braided cords of pure gold for the chest covering.”
23 “Make two golden rings and attach them to the two corners of the chest ornament.”
24 “Attach the two golden cords to the rings at the breastplate’s corners.”
25 “Attach the other ends of the cords to the decorative pieces on the front of the sleeveless garment’s shoulder portions.”
26 “Create two gold rings and sew them to the other two edges of the chest piece, right next to the sleeveless shirt, on the inside edge.”
27 “Add two more gold rings and sew them to the front of this sleeveless garment, just above the waistband, at the lower portion of the shoulder pieces.”
28 “The breast piece’s rings should be tied to the sleeveless garment’s rings with a blue cord, ensuring it stays attached to the waistband and doesn’t detach from the sleeveless garment.”
29 “Whenever Aaron enters the Exalted Fortress, he will carry the names of Israel’s descendants on his inner-self through the ornamental chest piece used for judgments, serving as a perpetual remembrance before the Sovereign Captain.”

30 “Also, insert the Urim and Thummim into the breastplate, ensuring they remain over Aaron’s inner-self whenever he stands before the Sovereign Captain. So, Aaron will constantly carry the decision-making mechanism for the Israelites in his inner-self within the Sovereign Captain’s presence.”

§ 11260 OTHER GARMENTS FOR ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS

31 “Construct the sleeveless garment’s robe entirely out of blue material.”
32 “There will be an aperture for the head at its center. A protective edge like a collar woven into the design will be around this aperture, preventing it from tearing.”

33 “Design pomegranates using blue, purple, and scarlet yarn all over the robe’s hem, inserting gold bells between them.”
34 “The robe’s hem should have an alternating pattern of golden bells and pomegranates.”
35 “Aaron is required to wear it while serving. The chime of the bells will resonate as he enters and leaves the Exalted Space in the presence of the Sovereign Captain; this is to prevent his demise.”
36 “Create a medallion of unblemished gold and imprint it as if it were an official seal: ‘EXALTED IS the Sovereign Captain. ’”
37 “Secure it to the turban using a blue cord. It should be positioned at the front of the turban.”
38 “Aaron will carry this on his forehead, so accepting any guilt linked to the exalted items the Israelites fashioned, no matter the nature of their gifts. Continually, it must be on Aaron’s forehead to secure their acceptance by the Sovereign Captain.”
39 “Fashion the fine linen tunic and create a fine linen turban. The craftsmanship of an embroiderer will be needed for the sash.”
40 “Construct robes, belts, and headgear for Aaron’s sons to grant them respect and prestige.”
41 “Ensovereign and appoint your brother Aaron and his sons once you have dressed them in these garments. Purify them so they can fulfill their roles as My ensovereigned mediators.”
42 “Construct underclothes of linen covering the body, extending from the hips to the thighs.”
43 “Aaron and his offspring should wear these specific garments each time they venture into the Communal Tent. This requirement especially applies when they come near the pedestal table to conduct their operational duties in the fortress. This underwear is to avoid condemnation and untimely death. This directive will continue perpetually for Aaron and his successive generations.”

§ 11270 COMMISSIONING OF THE ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS

29 “Here’s the procedure to purify them, enabling them to function as My ensovereigned mediators: Procure a young bull and a pair of rams free from defects.
2 Prepare round bread from premium wheat flour sans yeast, dense cakes without yeast incorporating olive oil, and thin flatbreads free of yeast and glossed with olive oil.
3 Place them in a receptacle and offer them with the bovine and the pair of rams.

4 Guide Aaron and his sons to the doorway of the Assembly Tent and cleanse them with water.
5 Dress Aaron in the garments, including the tunic, sleeveless robe, and breastplate. Secure the sleeveless garment on him using its intricate, woven belt.
6 Set the wreath on his head and fasten the exalted insignia to the wreath.
7 Pour the purifying oil and administer it to his head.
8 Present his sons and clothe them in long coats.
9 Secure the head coverings on them, then wrap the belts around Aaron and his sons. The operational role is to be theirs by a perpetual decree. In this manner, you shall commission Aaron and his sons."
10 "Escort the bull to the entryway of the gathering tent, where Aaron and his progeny will place their palms on its skull."
11 "Execute the bull in the sight of the Preeminent Sovereign at the gateway of the assembly tent."
12 "Smear a portion of the bull's blood on the pedestal table horns using your finger, and then drain all the remaining blood at the foot of the pedestal table."
13 "Remove all the fat surrounding the inner parts, the lengthy part of the liver and both kidneys, and the fat on them, and incinerate them, making these parts into smoke on the pedestal table."

14 "Incinerate the bull's meat and skin and deposit the ashes beyond the encampment. It is intended as a reconciliation payment."
15 "Procure one of the rams and let Aaron and his sons touch the creature's head."
16 "Execute the ram, collect its vital fluid, and disperse it around the boundaries of the pedestal table."
17 "Divide the ram into sections, cleanse its inner organs and legs, and position them along with its head and the remaining parts."
18 "Proceed to incinerate the whole ram on the pedestal table. It serves as a scorched tribute to the Sovereign Captain, exuding a soothing scent, an absolving meal offered to the Sovereign Captain."
19 "Seize the second ram, and Aaron and his sons will place their hands on its head."
20 "Slay the ram, extract some of its blood, and apply it to the earlobes of Aaron and his sons, the thumbs of their dominant hands, and the big toes of their right feet. Then, scatter the blood across the sides of the pedestal table."
21 "Obtain some of the redeeming blood and the sovereign olive oil from the pedestal table and spread them on Aaron, his clothes, and his sons and their garments. This act will purify Aaron, his sons, and their attire."
22 "Extract the adipose tissue, the chunky tail, the grease that cloaks the innards, the extensive liver section, renal organs with fat coverings, and the right limb from this ram (This ram is designated for the formal commissioning of ensovereigned mediators)."
23 "Add one loaf of unleavened bread, a cake infused with olive oil, and a wafer from the bread basket devoid of yeast within the presence of the Sovereign Captain."
24 "Place all these items into Aaron and his sons' possession and instruct them to present them as an uplifted offering in the presence of the Sovereign Captain."
25 "Instruct Aaron to accept this offering from their hands and combine this with the scorched reconciliation payment on the pedestal table, emitting a soothing fragrance to the Preeminent Sovereign, an absolving meal offered to the Sovereign Captain."

26 "Once you have obtained the breast of the ram used for Aaron's commissioning, present it to the Sovereign Captain as a waving offering, and it will constitute your portion."

27 “Set apart the breast and the thigh from the commissioning ram. This portion, lifted as a reconciliation payment, belongs to Aaron and his sons.”
28 “Aaron and his sons will consistently receive this ongoing portion from the Israelites. The Israelites are to provide this as their gift to the Sovereign Captain, taken from their peace payments.”
29 “His family will inherit this dedicated attire of Aaron for their ensovereigning and commissioning.”
30 “The descendant who takes over from him as an ensovereigned mediator and enters the Assembly Tent to serve in the exalted area should don them for seven days.”
31 “Obtain the ram used for commissioning and boil its flesh in a set-apart location.”
32 “Aaron and his sons must consume the ram’s meat and the bread in the basket by the Communal Tent’s entrance.”
33 “They alone should consume the food used for purification during the commissioning and installation rites. Any others must not eat it, for it is deemed exalted.”
34 “If remnants of the ordination ram’s flesh or any bread persist until dawn, incinerate it. It’s prohibited to consume it, given its set-apart nature.”
35 “Carry out all the tasks for Aaron and his sons per My instructions, taking a whole week for their commissioning.”
36 “Each day, provide a bull as a scorched purification payment as a reconciliation offering. Cleanse the pedestal table when you have finished the reconciliation offering. Afterward, smear the table with olive oil to set it apart as Exalted.”
37 “Engage in the purification process of the pedestal table for a week and purify it. Following this, the pedestal table will be of utmost cleanliness, and anything that comes into contact with it will be purified.”

38 “The instruction calls for two one-year-old lambs to be presented daily on the pedestal table as a regular offering.”
39 “Present one lamb at dawn and the other when evening falls.”
40 “Deliver 2.25 liters of high-quality flour combined with 918 milliliters of oil from crushed olives and an identical measure of wine as a poured offering accompanying the initial lamb.”
41 “Present the other lamb at dusk alongside identical grain and drink offerings as in the morning. This offering will emanate an appeasing fragrance for a food tribute to the Sovereign Captain.”
42 “This scorched payment will be perpetually offered for future generations at the Communal Tent’s entrance in front of the Sovereign Captain. I will encounter and communicate with you in this Most Exalted Space.”
43 “I will engage with Israel at that location, which will be set-apart through My magnificent presence.”
44 “I will purify both Communal Tent and pedestal table, along with Aaron and his sons, so that they may serve as My ensovereigned mediators.”
45 “I will reside among Israel’s people as their Eternal Reality.”
46 “They will recognize that I am their Sovereign Captain who led them away from Egypt to reside among them. I am indeed their Eternal Reality, their Sovereign Captain.”

§ 11280 THE PEDESTAL TABLE OF INCENSE

30 “Construct a pedestal table from acacia wood for burning incense.”
2 “It should be square, 52.5 centimeters in length and width, and 105 centimeters high, with integral horns.”

3 “Cover its top, sides, and horns with pure gold and add a gold trim around it.”
4 “Attach two gold rings below the trim on opposite sides for the poles used to carry it.”

5 “Make the poles from acacia wood and cover them in gold.”
6 “Place the pedestal table in front of the veil that hides the Strongbox of the Solemn Agreement, just before the Strongbox’s lid covering the stone tablets of the Solemn Agreement, where I will meet with you.”
7 “Every morning, Aaron must burn sweet-smelling incense on the pedestal table when he tends the lamps.”
8 “At dusk, he must offer incense again, ensuring its continuous burning before the Sovereign Captain for all generations.”
9 “Do not use unauthorized incense, scorched absolving payment, or grain offering on this pedestal table, and do not pour any offering on it.”
10 “Each year, Aaron must perform the purification activation on the horns using the blood from the reconciliation payment. Future generations are to uphold this annual purification tradition, and they exalt it to the Sovereign Captain.”

§ 11290 ABSOLVING PAYMENTS

11 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses:
12 “During a population count of the Israelites, each person must offer a consideration to the Sovereign Captain for their life to prevent any epidemic during the census.”
13 “Each individual must contribute a half shekel, equivalent to 5.7 grams of silver, as an exalted offering to the Sovereign Captain.”
14 “Anyone twenty years or older must contribute.”
15 “The affluent should not give more than 5.7 grams of silver, and the less fortunate should not give less.”
16 “Use the redemption money for the upkeep of the Communal Tent. This will serve as a remembrance of the Israelites before the Sovereign Captain, providing a reconciliation payment for your lives.”

§ 11300 BASIN FOR WASHING

17 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
18 “Create a cleaning basin with a bronze stand. Place it between the Communal Tent and the pedestal table, and fill it with water.”
19 “Aaron and his offspring must wash their hands and feet with this water.”
20 “Whenever they enter the Communal Tent or approach the pedestal table to offer an absolving payment meal to the Sovereign Captain, they must wash to avoid death.”
21 “Aaron, his family, and their successors must follow this regulation indefinitely.”

§ 11310 ENSOVEREIGNING OIL

22 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses,
23 “Gather these premium spices:
24 half a kilogram of liquid myrrh, an equal amount of aromatic cinnamon and fragrant calamus, 12.5 kilograms of cassia by standard weight, and 3670 milliliters of olive oil.

25 Craft a hallowed ensovereigning oil, an aromatic blend by a perfumer. This will be the distinct ensovereigning oil.
26 Apply it to the Communal Tent and the Strongbox containing the solemn agreement Law, 27 the table furnishings, light fixture equipment, incense pedestal table utensils, 28 the stand, basin, and pedestal table for scorched absolving payments and various tools.
29 Dedicate these objects to reach the most exalted state; any entity that contacts them shall also become exalted.

30 Prepare Aaron and his sons with an oil formality to purify them for operational duties for me.
31 Tell the Israelites my exalted ensovereigning oil is for eternity and future generations.
32 It must not be applied to a person's body, nor should anyone create a similar oil using this recipe. It is exalted and must be treated as such.
33 Anyone who compounds and applies a similar fragrance to someone, not an ensovereigned mediator, must be excommunicated from their community."

§ 11320 INCENSE

34 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to gather equal parts of resin, onycha, galbanum, and pure frankincense.
35 "Craft a delightful incense blend, like an expert perfume-maker, seasoned with salt to maintain its purity and exaltedness."
36 "Crush some into fine dust and place it before the solemn agreement in the assembly tent, where I will meet with you. It should be exceptionally exalted to you."
37 "Do not make this incense for personal use. It is exalted to the Sovereign Captain."
38 "Anyone who makes similar incense for personal enjoyment shall be separated from their community."

§ 11330 BEZALEL AND OHOLIAB

31 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
2 "Pay heed: I have chosen Bezalel, the male heir of Uri, grandson of Hur, from the Judah community.
3 I have endowed him with the Eternal Spark, granting him wisdom, comprehension, intelligence, and proficiency in every craft,

4 to create ingenious patterns for craftsmanship in gold, silver, and bronze,
5 to engrave and mount gemstones, to carve wood, and to participate in every variety of craftsmanship.
6 Additionally, I have designated Oholiab, the male heir of Ahisamak from the community of Dan, to assist him. Moreover, I've endowed all the proficient artisans with the capability to create everything I have directed you:
7 the Communal Tent, the solemn agreement chest, its mercy seat, and all the accouterments of the tent;
8 the furnishings of the table, the immaculate gold light fixture with completion of its components, and the incense pedestal table;
9 the pedestal table is entirely burned, absolving payments, equipment, and washbasin with its stand;

10 additionally, the intricately crafted garments, the exalted attire for Aaron as the ensovereigned mediator, and the clothing for his sons for their service in Mediatorship;
11 the exalted oil and scented incense for the fortress should be prepared precisely per my instructions."

§ 11340 THE REST DAY

12 Afterward, the Sovereign Captain spoke to Moses,
13 "Tell the sons of Israel, 'You must observe my Day of Rest. This day symbolizes our solemn agreement for future generations, showing that I am the Sovereign Captain who sets you apart.
14 Honor the Day of Rest, for it is exalted to you. Whoever violates it shall face capital punishment. Anyone who works on this day shall be expelled from their community.
15 Work is allowed for six days, but the seventh is a purified day of complete tranquility, exalted to the Sovereign Captain. Anyone working on the Day of Rest shall face death.

16 The people of Israel must honor the Day of Rest, maintaining its observance for future generations as an enduring agreement.
17 This symbol is eternal between the Israelites and me. the Sovereign Captain crafted the sky and Earth in six days, and on the seventh day, he rested and regained his strength. '"
18 When He finished speaking with Moses atop the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law, the Sovereign Captain gave him two stone tablets of the pact Law, etched by the Preeminent Sovereign's finger.

§ 11350 THE GOLDEN CALF

32 Observing Moses' delay in descending from the mountain, the individuals gathered around Aaron. They implored, "Create a deity to guide us. As for this man Moses, who extricated us from Egypt, we are uncertain of his whereabouts."
2 Aaron responded, "Remove the golden earrings your wives, sons, and daughters wear and bring them to me."
3 everyone removed their gold earrings and handed them to Aaron.
4 He accepted what they gave him and formed it into an artifact resembling a calf using an instrument. They proclaimed, "These are your idolized deities, Israel, who led you out of Egypt."
5 Aaron then fabricated a pedestal table before the calf and declared a celebration in the Sovereign Captain's honor for the next day.
6 They got up early, performed absolving payments by burning sacrifices, and provided peace absolving payments. They then settled down for a meal and drinks before engaging in wild festivities.
7 The Sovereign Captain commanded Moses to descend immediately, as those he led out of Egypt had tarnished their principles.

8 "Swiftly, they deviated from my directives, creating an idolized deity in the likeness of a young bull. They've paid homage to it, offered absolving payments, and declared, 'These are your idolized deities, Israel, who escorted you out of Egypt. '"
9 The Sovereign Captain told Moses that He had observed these individuals; indeed, they were a stubborn and obstinate group.

10 “Permit me to proceed undisturbed so my fury can blaze against them and annihilate them. Subsequently, I will turn you into a significant nation.”
11 Moses advocated for the Sovereign Captain, his Preeminent Sovereign. He questioned, “My Sovereign Captain, why does your fury blaze towards your people, whom you rescued from Egypt with immense strength and a formidable hand?
12 Why would the Egyptians claim, ‘He led them out with malicious intent, to slaughter them in the mountains and erase them from the Earth’s surface?’ Avert your intense ire; reconsider and refrain from inflicting catastrophe on your people.
13 Remember your devout servants Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, to whom you pledged yourself: ‘I will expand your family as numerous as the celestial bodies in the sky. I will allot to your family all this land, I assured them, and it will be their possession for eternity. ’”
14 The Sovereign Captain reconsidered and decided not to inflict the catastrophe He had warned His people against.
15 Moses descended from the mountain, carrying the two stone tablets of the solemn agreement in his grasp. These tablets were marked on both surfaces, from front to back.
16 The stone inscriptions resulted from the Preeminent Sovereign’s labor; the text was His penmanship, etched on the tablets.
17 On detecting the crowd’s commotion, Joshua told Moses that a battle had appeared within the camp.
18 Moses responded: “It’s not the noise of triumph nor loss; it’s the melodies of celebration that I perceive.”

19 As Moses neared the camp, the sight of the calf and dancing stoked his rage. Incensed, he cast the tablets from his grasp, shattering them at the mountain’s base.
20 He seized the calf that the people had crafted, scorched it in flame, then crushed it into dust, dispersed it into the water, and compelled the Israelites to ingest it.
21 Moses questioned Aaron about what caused him to steer them toward such a significant transgression.
22 Aaron implored, “Please curb your anger, overseer. You know these people’s inclination towards mischief.
23 They told me, ‘Craft idolized deities that can lead us. As for this man Moses, who guided us out of Egypt, we are clueless about his whereabouts. ’
24 I asked them to remove any gold ornaments. They handed me the gold, which I cast into the flames, creating this calf!”
25 Moses noticed that the people were uncontrolled, and Aaron had lost control over them, causing ridicule by their adversaries.
26 Positioned at the camp’s gateway, he declared that anyone who sides with the Sovereign Captain would join him. All the Levites assembled around him.
27 He told them what the Sovereign Captain dictates: “Every individual must attach a tactical blade to his flank. Traverse the encampment from one extreme to the other, each eliminating his relative, comrade, and acquaintance.”
28 The Levites followed Moses’ instructions, resulting in approximately three thousand deaths that day.
29 Moses declared, “You have dedicated yourselves to the Sovereign Captain today by opposing your children and siblings; He has empowered you today.”
30 The following day, Moses told the people that a severe transgression had been committed. However, he would ascend to the Sovereign Captain, hoping to obtain forgiveness for their unworthy choices.
31 Moses then returned to the Sovereign Captain. He exclaimed, “These individuals have made an egregious unworthy choice by creating golden idolized deities for themselves.

32 However, pardon their transgression now; if not, erase my existence from the ledger you have inscribed.”
33 The Sovereign Captain told Moses, “The names of those who have transgressed against me will be erased from my record.
34 Proceed now and guide the individuals to the location I have previously mentioned. My envoy shall precede you. Yet I will hold them responsible for their transgressions when retribution comes.”
35 The Sovereign Captain inflicted a disease on the populace due to their actions involving the calf that Aaron had crafted.

33 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to depart with the people he transported from Egypt and ascend to the territory assured to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: ‘Your offspring will inherit it. ’
2 A Celestial Envoy will be dispatched ahead of you to expel the Canaanites, Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites.
3 Proceed to the territory abundant with milk and honey. However, I won’t accompany you as your stubborn nature may lead me to annihilate you during the journey.”
4 Hearing this troubling news, the community started grieving, and nobody adorned themselves with jewelry.
5 The Eternal Reality had communicated to Moses, instructing Israel to remove their adornments. At the same time, He contemplated what actions to take toward them.
6 The people of Israel left behind their adornments at Mount Horeb.

§ 11360 THE TENT OF MEETING

7 Moses regularly set up a tent outside the encampment, calling it the tent of consultation. Anyone seeking answers from the Sovereign Captain would go there.

8 Each time Moses approached the tent, everyone would stand at their doorways, watching until he entered.
9 A pillar of mist would descend upon Moses’ entry and remain there until the Sovereign Captain conversed with him.
10 Seeing the cloud, the people would rise and pay homage from their doorways.
11 The Sovereign Captain spoke with Moses like friends conversing. Afterward, Moses returned to the camp, but his assistant Joshua, son of Nun, stayed in the tent.

§ 11370 MOSES AND THE MAJESTY OF THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

12 Moses addressed the Sovereign Captain, saying, “You keep instructing me to ‘guide these individuals, ’ yet you haven’t told me who will accompany me. You’ve said, ‘I know you by name, and you have my approval. ’”

13 “If I have your approval, enlighten me about your ways so I can understand you and stay in your good graces. Remember, this nation is your chosen people.”

14 The Sovereign Captain replied, “I will accompany you and bring you peace.”

15 Moses insisted, “If your aura does not accompany us, do not lead us from here.”

16 “How will it be known that you favor me and your people if you don’t accompany us? What will set us apart from the rest of the populace on Earth?”

17 The Sovereign Captain assured Moses that He would fulfill his request because He found Moses pleasing and knew him by name.

18 Moses then asked, “Please let me witness your radiance.”

19 The Sovereign Captain affirmed, “I will display my ultimate authenticity before you. I will declare my name, the Sovereign Captain, while you are before me. I will extend mercy to those I choose and show empathy to those I choose.”

20 However, it was conveyed that “my face cannot be seen, as no one can witness my presence and live.”

21 The Sovereign Captain proclaimed, “There is a place near me where you can stand on a large stone.”

22 “As my magnificence passes by, I will place you in a fissure of the stone and shield you with my hand until I have passed.”

23 “I will then remove my hand so you can see my back; however, my face shall remain unseen.”

§ 11380 THE NEW STONE TABLETS

34 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses to carve two stone tablets like the first ones. “I will inscribe the same words that were on the original tablets, which you broke.”
2 “Be ready in the morning and come up Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law. Present yourself to me at the summit.”
3 “No one is to come with you or be seen anywhere on the mountain. Not even livestock may graze near it.”

4 Moses obeyed, carving two new stone tablets and ascending the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law early in the morning with them.
5 The Eternal Reality descended in a cloud, stood with him, and proclaimed His name, the Sovereign Captain.
6 He passed in front of Moses, declaring, “the Sovereign Captain, the Sovereign Captain, an Eternal Reality full of mercy and transformative generosity, patient in anger, abounding in love and loyalty.”
7 “He maintains a love for thousands, forgiving transgressions, rebellion, and transgression. Yet He does not leave the guilty unpunished; He visits the unworthy choices of the parents upon their children and grandchildren to the third and fourth generations.”
8 Moses immediately bowed to the ground and worshipped.
9 “Captain,” he said, “if I have found favor in your eyes, then go with us. Although these people are stubborn, forgive our impurity and transgression, and take us as your inheritance.”

10 The Sovereign Captain responded: “I am making a solemn agreement with you. I will perform wonders never before done in any nation. The people you live among will see how awesome the work that I, the Sovereign Captain, will do for you.”
11 “Obey what I command you today. I will drive the Amorites, Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites before you.”
12 It is important to exercise caution when entering into treaties with locals in the area you are visiting since they may turn into a trap for you.
13 “Chop down their Asherah poles, smash their altars, and smash their sacred stones.”
14 “Do not worship any idolized deity, for the Sovereign Captain, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous Preeminent Sovereign.”
15 “Be careful not to make a treaty with those who live in the land; for when they prostitute themselves to their idolized deities and sacrifice to them, they will invite you, and you will eat their absolving payments.”

16 “And they will lead your sons to do the same when you choose some of their young women as mates for your sons, and those women prostrate themselves before their idolized deities.”
17 “Do not make any idolized deities.”
18 “Celebrate the Festival of Unleavened Bread. As I instructed you, eat bread prepared without yeast for a week. Since you left Egypt on that date, fulfill this task at the designated time in the month of Aviv.
19 “Every first-born male of your livestock, flock or herd, is mine. I own the firstborn of every womb.”
20 “Break the neck of the first-born donkey if you do not redeem it with a lamb. All your first-born sons, redeem them. Nobody is allowed to come before Me without anything.”
21 “You will work for six days, but on the seventh one, you will rest; you must rest even during the harvest and plowing season.”
22 “Celebrate the Festival of Gathering at the beginning of the year and the Festival of Weeks with the first harvests of the wheat harvest.”
23 “Three times a year, all your men are to appear before the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel.”
24 “When you go up three times a year to stand before the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, no one will covet your land; I will push out armies before you and enlarge your territory.”

25 “Do not let any of the absolving payments from the Emancipation Feast Festival remain until morning, nor offer Me anything that contains yeast along with the blood of an absolving payment.”
26 “Bring the best of the first fruits of your soil to the house of your Sovereign Captain. A young goat should not be cooked in its mother’s milk.
27 The Sovereign Captain told Moses: “Write down these words, for by these words, I have made a solemn agreement with you and Israel.”

28 Moses and the Sovereign Captain were on the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law for forty nights and days without food or water. And he inscribed the Ten Directives—the words of the solemn agreement—on the tablets.

§ 11390 THE RADIANT FACE OF MOSES

29 Moses had no idea his face was glowing from his talk with the Sovereign Captain as he walked down Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law carrying the two tablets containing the Solemn Agreement.
30 Aaron and all the Israeli people were afraid to approach him upon seeing his radiant face.
31 Moses called them back, and Aaron and the community leaders returned to speak with him.
32 Then, all the Israelites came near, and he conveyed all the Sovereign Captain's directives from Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law.
33 After speaking with them, Moses covered his face with a cloth.
34 Whenever he met with the Sovereign Captain, he removed the veil until he left. Upon exiting, he shared the instructions with the Israelites, who saw his glowing face.
35 Moses would then cover his face again until his next conversation with the Sovereign Captain.

§ 11400 REST DAY REGULATIONS

35 Moses addressed the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israelites, detailing the Sovereign Captain's directives.
2 "Work for six days, but the seventh is a Day of Rest, dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. Anyone working on this day will be executed.
3 "Do not ignite a flame in your homes on the Day of Rest."

§ 11410 MATERIALS FOR THE TENT

4 Moses addressed the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israelites, delivering the directives given by the Sovereign Captain.
5 "Contribute to the Sovereign Captain from your possessions. Those with generous enthusiasm are invited to present an offering of gold, silver, and bronze to the Sovereign Captain.
6 Azure, violet, crimson threads, delicate fabric, and fur from a goat.
7 Tanned ram skins, fine goatskin leather, and acacia wood.
8 Olive oil for illumination, spices for the commissioning oil, and the aromatic perfume.
9 Onyx stones and gemstones are meant to be affixed to the sleeveless garment and the chest protector.
10 All you with expertise should arrive and construct everything the Sovereign Captain has instructed.
11 The exalted tent includes an outer tent and cover, hooks, wood pieces, crosspieces, pillars, and their bases.
12 The solemn agreement chest, poles, the mercy lid, and the concealing veil.
13 The table, including its carrying poles, every associated item, and the bread that symbolizes the presence of the Preeminent Sovereign.
14 The light-giving light fixture, fittings, light sources, and corresponding oil.
15 The pedestal table for burning incense alongside its carrying rods, the oil for ensovereigning, and the sweet-smelling incense; the screen covers the Tent's entrance portal.

16 The pedestal table for burning absolving payments along with its bronze grate, accompanying poles, and all necessary accessories; the bronze washbasin and its corresponding base;
17 The drapes of the courtyard, inclusive of its pillars and foundations, along with the screen intended for the entryway to the courtyard,

18 The stakes used for the exalted tent and the enclosure, along with their binding cords.
19 The intricately crafted attire used for sovereign lifestyle activations in the fortress included the exalted vestments for the prime ensovereigned mediator Aaron and the clothes for his sons who perform operational services."
20 The entire assembly of the children of Israel departed from before Moses.
21 All those feeling an inner tug and motivated by their inner selves stepped forward to contribute to the Sovereign Captain for the tasks involved in setting up the Communal Tent, providing its associated services, and crafting the exalted clothes.
22 All those eager, male and female, came forward and offered various types of gold jewelry, including pins, earrings, rings, and other adornments. They all gifted their gold as a unique offering to the Sovereign Captain.
23 Any individual possessing blue, purple, or scarlet material, exquisite linen, goat's hair, rams' skins dyed red, or any other type of solid leather brought them.
24 Individuals who could contribute silver or bronze presented it as a gift to the Sovereign Captain, and everyone with acacia wood usable for any element of the task supplied it.
25 Every woman skilled in spinning crafted her work with her hands, presenting her handiwork made of blue, purple, scarlet threads or refined linen.
26 Each woman, whose inner selves were stirred with wisdom, utilized their abilities to craft thread from the goat hair.
27 The rulers presented onyx stones and additional precious stones to be affixed on the sleeveless garment and the breastplate.
28 They also presented aromatic spices and olive oil for the lamps, the ensovereigning oil, and the sweet-scented incense.
29 Each man and woman from Israel, eager to contribute, provided voluntary absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain to accomplish all tasks directed by Moses through celestial command.

§ 11420 BEZALEL AND OHOLIAB

30 Moses addressed the Israelites, saying, "Pay Heed! the Sovereign Captain has chosen Bezalel, son of Uri, descendant of Hur, from the community of Judah."
31 "He was endowed with the Eternal Spark of the Preeminent Sovereign, encompassing wisdom, understanding, knowledge, and proficiency in all craftsmanship, 32 to devise ingenious plans for crafting in gold, silver, and bronze,
33 for cutting jewels to be mounted, carving wood, and every other artistic work."
34 "He and Oholiab, son of Ahisamak from the community of Dan, have been graced with the ability to instruct others.
35 "They are skilled artisans, innovators, and embroidery experts in blue, purple, scarlet threads, fine linen, and weavers, all possessing proficient craftsmanship and design expertise."

36 So, Bezalel, Oholiab, and every proficient individual whom the Sovereign Captain has given competence and knowledge to understand how to execute all the work for the creation of the fortress should undertake the task as per the directives of the Sovereign Captain.

[2] Subsequently, Moses called together Bezalel, Oholiab, and every gifted artisan in whom the Sovereign Captain had instilled expertise, every individual whose inner-self was moved to participate and contribute to the task.
[3] Moses gave them all the donations the Israelites had provided for the fortress' construction work. The people persisted in presenting voluntary contributions every day at dawn.
[4] All the adept artisans engaged in the fortress' construction eventually ceased their respective tasks.
[5] They expressed to Moses that the ensovereigned lifestyle community has contributed far more than is needed to complete the work the Sovereign Captain has ordered.

[6] Consequently, Moses issued a directive, and the decree was communicated across the encampment: "It is no longer necessary for any man or woman to prepare any additional offering for the fortress." So, the ensovereigned lifestyle community ceased to give more.
[7] The previously possessed resources they owned were surplus to complete all the intended tasks.

§ 11430 THE COMMUNAL TENT

[8] Skilled artisans crafted the Tent with ten curtains of fine linen, scarlet, and blue and purple threads featuring Celestial Envoy designs.
[9] Each curtain measured 1470 cm in length and 210 cm in width.
[10] Five curtains were joined together, and the same was done for the other five.
[11] They made blue fabric loops along each set's edge of the end curtain.
[12] Fifty loops were on one sheet and fifty on the end sheet of the other set, aligned opposite each other.
[13] They then made fifty gold clasps to join the two sets, forming a single Tent.
[14] Eleven goat hair curtains covered the Tent.
[15] Each curtain was 15.75 meters long and 210 cm wide.
[16] Five curtains were joined together, and the remaining six formed another group.
[17] They made fifty loops on each group's edge of the end curtain.
[18] Fifty bronze hooks joined the Tent into one structure.
[19] They made a cover from red-tinted ram skins and added another layer of durable leather.
[20] Acacia wood was used for the Tent's vertical supports.
[21] Each frame was 4.57 meters long and 68.58 centimeters wide.

[22] Each frame had two parallel pegs. This design was used for all the Tent's frames.
[23] Twenty panels were made for the southern end of the exalted tent.
[24] Forty silver sockets were made, two per frame, one for each peg.
[25] Twenty supports were made for the North side of the Tent.
[26] Forty silver foundations supported each frame with two sockets.
[27] Six boards were made for the rear, specifically the western side of the Tent.
[28] Two support structures were made for the distant corners of the fortress.
[29] These edges were coupled from base to top and linked into a single hoop, both constructed similarly.
[30] Eight frames were present, each with two silver bases, totaling sixteen.
[31] Five acacia wood support beams were made for one side of the Tent's frames.
[32] Five crossbars were made for the opposite side and five for the rear towards the West.
[33] The central bar spanned from one end to the other at the midpoint of the frames.
[34] The frames were covered in gold, with golden rings to hold the crossbars, which were also gold-covered.

35 They skillfully crafted a veil with blue, purple, and scarlet yarn intertwined with fine linen, adorned with a Celestial Envoy design.
36 Four acacia wood pillars were covered in gold with gold attachments and four silver bases.
37 A drapery woven with fine linen and blue, purple, and scarlet threads was made for the entrance.

38 They crafted five support columns with hooks, gold-coated tops, and connecting bands with five bronze bases.

§ 11440 THE STRONGBOX

37 Bezalel constructed the Strongbox from acacia wood, measuring 131.25 cm long, 78.75 cm wide, and 78.75 cm tall.
2 He covered it entirely in pure gold, inside and out, and added a golden border.
3 He made four gold rings for its legs, two on each side.
4 He fashioned carrying poles from acacia wood, overlaying them with gold.
5 He inserted the poles through the rings for transport.
6 He created the atonement cover from pure gold, measuring 2.5 cubits by 1.5 cubits.
7-8 He hammered two golden celestial arch agents and placed them at the ends of the lid.
9 The celestial arch agents were part of the same piece as the cover, with their wings extended high, casting a shadow over the lid, facing each other, and looking towards the lid.

§ 11450 THE TABLE

11 The acacia wood table measured 105 cm in length, 45 cm in width, and 135 cm in height.
11 It was overlaid with pure gold, with a gold strip around it.
12 A 7.5 cm wide rim with a golden molding was added.
13 Four gold rings were attached to the table’s corners, aligning with its legs.
14 Near the edge, these rings secured the poles for carrying the table.

15 The poles were made of acacia wood and covered in gold.
16 The table’s utensils—plates, dishes, bowls, and pitchers for poured offerings— were all crafted from pure gold.

§ 11460 THE LIGHT FIXTURE

17 The light fixture had integrated floral-like cups, sprouts, and flowers. It was composed of solid gold, with its foot and stem hammered into shape.
18 It had three branches on each side.
19 Each branch had three almond blossom-like cups with buds and flowers, consistent across all six branches.
20 The light fixture itself had four almond blossom-like cups with buds and flowers.
21 There was one bud under each pair of branches, totaling six branches.
22 The buds and branches were crafted from the same piece of pure gold as the light fixture.
23 They crafted seven radiant light fixtures, along with their tools for maintenance and decorative holders, all made from the finest materials.
24 The entire light fixture and its accessories were crafted from 30 kilograms of pure gold.

§ 11470 THE PEDESTAL TABLE OF INCENSE

25 The incense pedestal table, made from acacia wood, was square-shaped, measuring 52.5 centimeters in length and width and 105 centimeters in height. The horns were part of the structure.
26 The top, edges, and horns were covered with pure gold, with a gold trim around it.
27 Two gold rings were placed beneath the trim on opposite sides for the poles used in transportation.

28 The acacia wood rods were overlaid with gold.
29 They also prepared the exalted oil for ensovereigning and the pure, sweet-smelling incense, crafted like a skilled perfume maker.

§ 11480 THE PEDESTAL TABLE OF SCORCHED ABSOLVING PAYMENT

38 “The pedestal table for scorched absolving payments, made from acacia wood, stood 1.37 meters high and was square, 225 centimeters on each side.”
2 Horns were crafted on its four corners, forming a single piece with the table, and covered in bronze.
3 All tools for the table—pots, shovels, basins, meat hooks, and fire pans—were made of bronze.
4 A bronze grating was placed under the ledge, reaching halfway up the table.
5 Bronze rings were attached at the four corners of the grating for poles.
6 Acacia wood poles were made and covered in bronze.
7 The poles were inserted into the rings on the table’s sides for transport. The table was made of wooden planks and hollow inside.

§ 11490 THE BASIN FOR WASHING AND THE COURTYARD

8 “The women serving at the Communal Tent’s gateway donated mirrors to make the bronze washbasin and its stand.”
9 “They constructed the courtyard with precision. The southern side was 52.5 meters long, adorned with fine-spun linen drapes.”
10 It featured twenty posts with bronze bases, silver hooks, and bands.

11 The northern section mirrored this, extending 53.34 meters with twenty pillars and bronze foundations, all adorned with silver clasps and bands.
12 The West side, 26.25 meters long, had drapes supported by ten pillars and bases with silver pegs and rings.
13 The East side, facing the sunrise, was also 26.25 meters wide.

[14] One side of the entrance had hangings spanning 7.875 meters, supported by three pillars and bases.
[15] Three pillars and bases upheld drapes of the same length on the opposite side.
[16] All courtyard fabrics were delicately spun linen.
[17] Bronze pedestals supported all posts, with silver hooks, bindings, and silver tops encircling the posts.
[18] The entryway drape was crafted from blue, purple, scarlet thread, and finely woven linen by an expert embroiderer, measuring 10.5 meters long and 225 centimeters tall.
[19] Four posts with bronze bases supported it, with silver hooks, rings, and tops.
[20] Every peg anchoring the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent and courtyard enclosure was made of bronze.

§ 11500 THE MATERIALS USED

[21] "This summary of materials was utilized in constructing the fortress of the solemn agreement Law, listed at the behest of Moses by the Levites under the supervision of Ithamar, Aaron's male heir and mediator."
[22] Bezalel, Uri's son and grandson of Hur from the community of Judah, accomplished all that the Sovereign Captain instructed Moses.
[23] Assisting him was Oholiab, a descendant of Ahisamak from the community of Dan, skilled in engraving, designing, and the art of embroidery using blue, purple, and scarlet threads, as well as fine linen.

[24] The overall sum of gold procured from the waving offering, which was utilized for all the construction activities in the fortress, amounted to 878.322 kilograms, per the fortress' standard of measurement.
[25] From the individuals of the community who were registered during the headcount, the garnered silver was 3020.113 kilograms, conforming to the standard of the fortress gram.
[26] Each individual contributed 5.67 grams, equivalent to half a shekel per the fortress' standard of measurement, from everyone enrolled, aged twenty or older, to 603,550 men.
[27] 3000 kilograms of silver were utilized to form the bases for the fortress and the curtain, with each of the hundred bases requiring 30 kilograms.
[28] The 20.115 kilograms were used to construct the pillars' hooks, cover their tops, and fabricate their connecting bands.
[29] The bronze contributed to the offering, equating to 2127.216 kilograms.
[30] They used the materials to construct the foundations for the gateway of the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent, the copper pedestal table, its accompanying copper grate, and all related accessories.
[31] The foundations for the court's perimeter, along with those for its gateway and all the tent stakes for the fortress and the surrounding court.

§ 11510 THE GARMENTS FOR ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS

[39] They created intricately woven garments for duties in the exalted space using blue, purple, and scarlet thread. They also made formal attire for Aaron, following the Sovereign Captain's directives through Moses.

§ 11520 THE EPHOD

[2] “The sleeveless garment was crafted from finely woven linen and blue, purple, and scarlet yarn.”

[3] They flattened the gold into thin panels, trimming them into delicate threads to integrate with the blue, purple, and scarlet yarn and superior linen—an endeavor requiring skilled craftsmanship.
[4] Shoulder straps were crafted for the sleeveless garment and joined to two corners for secure fastening.
[5] The intricately crafted belt of the sleeveless garment was assembled similarly, an extension of the garment itself. It was crafted using gold, along with threads of blue, purple, scarlet, and well-twisted linen, according to the directives given by the Sovereign Captain to Moses.
[6] The onyx stones were set in gold lacework structures and etched like an official seal with the designations of the children of Israel.
[7] They attached them to the shoulder straps of the sleeveless garment, serving as tangible reminders for the Israelites’ family, in strict compliance with what the Preeminent Sovereign instructed Moses.

§ 11530 THE BREAST PIECE

[8] The breast piece was skillfully crafted like the sleeveless garment, using gold, blue, purple, and scarlet thread woven from fine linen.
[9] It formed a square when folded, measuring a span in both length and width.
[10] Four sequences of exquisite gems adorned it. The first sequence included carnelian, chrysolite, and beryl.
[11] The second line had turquoise, sapphire, and emerald.
[12] The third series featured orange zircon, agate, and amethyst.
[13] The fourth string included topaz, onyx, and jasper, all set in ornamental gold settings.
[14] The twelve stones represented the sons of Israel, each inscribed like a seal with the name of one of the twelve communities.
[15] They made twisted cords of pure gold for the chest piece, like a rope.

[16] Two ornamental gold settings and two gold rings were connected to two corners of the chest cloth.
[17] The two gold chains were secured to the rings at the breast piece’s edges.
[18] They attached the other ends of the chains to the two fixtures on the front shoulder pieces of the sleeveless garment.
[19] Two gold rings were positioned at the other corners of the breast pieces lining the inner edge next to the sleeveless garment.
[20] They made two more golden rings. They fastened them to the lower section of the sleeveless garment’s front shoulder pieces, near the stitch line, slightly above the woven waistband.
[21] The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to secure the breast piece to the sleeveless garment with rings, using a blue cord anchored to the waistband to prevent detachment.

§ 11540 OTHER GARMENTS FOR ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS

22 A skilled weaver crafted a robe for the sleeveless garment entirely of blue fabric.
23 The robe featured a central hole, surrounded by a band to prevent rips, similar to a collar's opening.
24 Pomegranates of blue, purple, scarlet yarn, and finely twisted linen were crafted and attached around the robe's hem.
25 They constructed pure gold bells and fastened them between the pomegranates lining the bottom edge of the robe.
26 Per the Sovereign Captain's instruction to Moses, the robe designed for attending had alternating bells and pomegranates around its hem.
27 Tunics from fine linen, expertly woven, were crafted for Aaron and his offspring.
28 The miter is made from exquisite linen, ornamental bonnets of linen, and finely woven linen underclothes.

29 As per the instructions given by the Sovereign Captain to Moses, the belt was crafted from finely spun linen and yarn in shades of blue, purple, and scarlet, all intricately woven by an expert embroiderer.
30 They constructed the medallion, the exalted symbol, from unadulterated gold and inscribed on it like a seal engraving: "Exalted the Sovereign Captain."
31 They secured a cord of azure hue to it and tied it on top of the headpiece, following the instructions that the Sovereign Captain provided to Moses.

§ 11550 MOSES INSPECTS THE TENT

32 "The construction of the Communal Tent was completed. The Israelites followed every instruction the Sovereign Captain gave Moses."
33 They presented the Tent to Moses, including all its equipment: hooks, framework, bars, columns, and bases.
34 The ballistic shield was made from red-dyed ram skins, another type of durable leather, and a protective drape.
35 The Strongbox carried the solemn agreement Law, its poles, and the cover where the Preeminent Sovereign manifests reconciliation.
36 The table, with its utensils and bread, signified their presence before the Preeminent Sovereign.
37 The unalloyed gold light fixture, with its lights, all its complements, and olive oil, served as the illumination source.
38 The gold-covered incense pedestal table, ordination oil, sweet-smelling incense, and the screen at the tent's entrance;
39 The bronze pedestal table, its bronze grate, carrying poles, and all equipment— the washbasin and its base.
40 The courtyard coverings, including pillars and foundations, as well as the drapery for the gateway; cords and stakes for the courtyard; each piece of equipment needed for the Tent, also known as the tent of ensovereigned lifestyle community.

41 The specially crafted clothing for conducting sovereign lifestyle activations in the fortress, including exalted attire for the ensovereigned mediator Aaron and his sons during their Mediatorship.
42 The Israelites completed all tasks precisely as the Sovereign Captain instructed Moses.
43 Moses scrutinized all the work, saw that it was done exactly as the Sovereign Captain had taught, and empowered them.

§ 11560 SETTING UP THE TENT

40 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses:
2 "Set up the Tent on the first day of the first month."
3 "Place the chest with the solemn agreement's directives inside and cover it with the drapery."
4 "Bring the table and arrange its items, then set up the light fixture and light it."
5 "Position the golden pedestal table for incense before the chest and hang the entrance screen to the fortress."
6 "Place the pedestal table for entirely burned absolving payments at the Communal Tent's entrance;"
7 "Set the washbasin between the tent and the pedestal table and fill it with water."
8 "Construct the surrounding enclosure and place the curtain at its gateway."
9 "Anoint the dwelling and everything in it with purification oil; set it apart, and it will be exalted."
10 "Empower the pedestal table for scorched absolving payments and its tools; purify it, making it exceedingly exalted."
11 "Purify the washbasin and its pedestal by ensovereigning them."

12 "Bring Aaron and his sons to the Communal Tent's entrance and cleanse them with water."
13 "Dress Aaron in exalted attire, anoint him with ensovereigning oil, and purify him to serve as an ensovereigned mediator."
14 "Bring his sons and put inner robes on them."
15 "Commission them as you did their father so they can serve as ensovereigned mediators. This commissioning ensures an Mediatorship for all generations."
16 Moses followed all instructions given by the Sovereign Captain precisely.
17 The Tent was set up on the first day of the first month of the second year.
18 Moses began by positioning the bases, installing frames, attaching crossbars, and building pillars.
19 He spread the canopy over the fortress and set the curtain atop the tent, following the Sovereign Captain's instructions.
20 He placed the solemn agreement Law tablets in the Strongbox, attached its carrying poles, and covered it with the atonement lid.
21 He carried the Strongbox into the Tent and hung the covering curtain to shield it, following the Sovereign Captain's instructions.
22 Moses positioned the table at the front of the Tent, beyond the veil, in the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent.
23 He placed each loaf of bread according to directions in the Sovereign Captain's view.
24 He set up the menorah facing the table on the southern end of the dwelling.
25 He arranged the radiant light fixtures in the Sovereign Captain's presence, following instructions.
26 Moses placed the gold incense pedestal table inside the Communal Tent before the veil.

[27] He lit aromatic incense on it following the Sovereign Captain’s instructions.
[28] He established the screen at the exalted tent’s entryway.
[29] The pedestal table for scorched absolving payments was placed near the Tent’s entryway, where he presented scorched and grain offerings per instructions.
[30] The washbasin was set between the Communal Tent and pedestal table, filled with water for cleansing.
[31] Moses, Aaron, and Aaron’s sons used it to clean their hands and feet.
[32] As the Sovereign Captain commanded, they cleansed themselves each time they entered or approached the pedestal table.
[33] Moses established the perimeter around the Tent and pedestal table. He positioned the screen at the courtyard’s gateway, completing his task.

§ 11570 THE MAJESTY OF THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

[34] “Subsequently, the cloud enveloped the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent, and the magnificent presence of the Sovereign Captain permeated the fortress.”
[35] Moses could not enter the Communal Tent because the cloud had descended on it, and the Eternal Reality’s radiance of the Sovereign Captain filled the Tent.
[36] During all their wanderings, the Israelites would commence their journey each time the cloud was lifted from the Tent;
[37] However, if the cloud wasn’t taken up, they refrained from starting their journey until the day it ascended.
[38] Throughout their entire trip, all the Israelites could see the Sovereign Captain’s cloud over the Tent during the day, and at night, they could see the fire within that cloud.

~ 103 | Captain's Directives for Living Pure | Leviticus

§ 11580 THE SCORCHED ABSOLVING PAYMENTS

1 "From the tent of the meeting, the Sovereign Captain summoned Moses and communicated with him."
2 "Convey to the Israelites: 'Whenever any among you presents a tribute to the Sovereign Captain, you may submit your tribute from an animal of either the cattle or the sheep. '"
3 "If the contribution is a scorched absolving payment from the cattle, it must be a flawless male. It should be offered at the entrance of the ensovereigned lifestyle community Tent to gain approval from the Sovereign Captain."
4 "You must place your hand on the head of the scorched absolving payment, and it will be received to absolve your unworthy choices on your behalf."
5 "The young bull must be slain in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, following which the ensovereigned mediators, sons of Aaron, will collect the blood and distribute it on all surfaces of the pedestal table situated at the Tent of Meeting's entryway."
6 "The scorched absolving payment must be skinned and sliced into sections."
7 "Aaron's sons, ensovereigned mediators, will light the pedestal table and place wood on the fire."
8 "Aaron's sons, ensovereigned mediators, should place the sections, including the head and the fat, atop the wood aflame on the pedestal table."
9 "The offering's inner parts and lower limbs should be cleansed in water. Afterward, the ensovereigned mediator should set all ablaze on the pedestal table. It is a scorched absolving payment, a food gift, with a fragrance that delights the Sovereign Captain."
10 "Should the absolving gift be a scorched absolving payment from the flock, either sheep or goats, it must be an unblemished male."
11 "On the North side of the pedestal table, you must kill the animal in the presence of the Sovereign Captain; the sons of Aaron, serving as ensovereigned mediators, will then scatter its blood on all edges of the pedestal table."

12 "The individual must divide the animal into sections, and the ensovereigned mediator must place them, including the head and the suet, on the wood ablaze on the pedestal table."
13 "The inner parts and the legs should be cleansed with water before the ensovereigned mediator presents, and they should all be scorched on the pedestal table. This contribution is a scorched absolving payment, a food offering, and a fragrance that delights the Sovereign Captain."
14 "If the 'absolving gift' to the Sovereign Captain constitutes a bird for a scorched absolving payment, a turtledove or a juvenile pigeon should be given."
15 "The ensovereigned mediators will take it to the absolving stage, detach the head, and set it aflame on the pedestal table; its life fluid should flow down the side of the pedestal table."
16 "The part where the bird's food is stored along with its plumage must be eliminated and discarded towards the eastern side of the pedestal table where the ashes accumulate."
17 "Tear the bird apart by its wings without completely dividing it." Then, the ensovereigned mediator will burn it on the wood aflame on the pedestal table. This absolving payment constitutes a scorched payment, an ‘absolving’ meal, a fragrance that gratifies the Sovereign Captain.”

§ 11590 THE GRAIN OFFERING

2 “When presenting a grain tribute to the Sovereign Captain, use superior flour, drizzle with olive oil, and top with incense.”
2 “Bring it to the ensovereigned mediators, the sons of Aaron. The ensovereigned mediator will scoop a measure of flour and oil, add all the incense, and set this memorial part ablaze on the pedestal table; it serves as a food offering, emanating a fragrance that delights the Sovereign Captain.”
3 “The remaining grain offering is for Aaron and his descendants; it is the most exalted portion of the meal absolving payments given to the Sovereign Captain.”
4 “A grain offering baked in the oven should be made with premium flour; it can be either flatbread without yeast and flavored with olive oil or dense bread made without yeast and coupled with olive oil.”

5 “If your grain offering is baked on a griddle, use top-grade flour blended with oil without any leavening agent.”
6 “Disintegrate it into fragments and drizzle oil; it qualifies as a grain tribute.”
7 “If your grain tribute is prepared in a skillet, use superior flour combined with olive oil.”
8 “Bring the grain tribute prepared from these elements to the Sovereign Captain; submit it to the ensovereigned mediator, who will then transport it to the pedestal table.”
9 “The designated part of the grain offering will be removed and consumed on the pedestal table, serving as a food offering that delivers a delightful fragrance to the Sovereign Captain.”
10 “Aaron and his sons are entitled to the remaining portion of the grain offering, regarded as an exceptionally exalted element of the meal tributes made to the Sovereign Captain.”
11 “Every tribute of grain you present to the Sovereign Captain must not contain yeast since you are not allowed to burn either yeast or honey as a food tribute to the Sovereign Captain.”
12 “One can present them to the Sovereign Captain as a first-choice offering. However, they should not be entirely burned on the pedestal table for a soothing smell.”
13 "Infuse your actions with meaning, just like salt is used to enhance and preserve. Let every contribution you make reflect your commitment to what’s good and lasting."
14 “If presenting a grain offering from the initial harvest to the Sovereign Captain, ensure fresh grain heads are provided that are crushed and dried over a fire.”
15 “Apply oil and frankincense to it; it constitutes a grain absolving payment.”
16 “The ensovereigned mediators will convert into smoke its token share of the crushed kernels and oil, including all the frankincense, as a tribute of nourishment made to the Sovereign Captain.”

§ 11600 THE PARTNERSHIP OFFERING

3 “If your tribute is a communal absolving payment, choose a flawless bull or cow from your livestock to offer to the Sovereign Captain.”
2 “Place your palm on the head of the absolving animal and end its life at the Communal Tent’s entrance; Aaron’s sons, as ensovereigned mediators, will scatter the blood around the pedestal table.”

3 “Present a food from the peace offering to the Sovereign Captain, including the entrails and all attached fat.”
4 “Detach the two kidneys with their surrounding fat near the lower back muscles and the extended section of the liver.”
5 “Aaron’s sons will offer it up in smoke on the pedestal table over the scorched absolving payment on the firewood; it is an absolving payment with a delightful fragrance to the Sovereign Captain.”
6 “If a sheep or goat is brought as a peace offering to the Sovereign Captain, it may be male or female but must be without blemishes.”
7 “If you bring a lamb as an offering, present it before the Sovereign Captain.”
8 “Place your hand on its head and kill it before the Communal Tent. Aaron’s descendants will dash its blood around the pedestal table.”
9 “From the communal absolving payment, present a food gift to the Sovereign Captain, including its fat, the whole fat tail removed near the spine, the inner organs, and all associated fat.”
10 “Extract the pair of kidneys with surrounding fat near the lower back muscles and the extended portion of the liver.”
11 “The ensovereigned mediators will convert them into smoke on the pedestal table as a meal offered to the Sovereign Captain.”
12 “If you choose a goat as your absolving offering, bring it before the Sovereign Captain.”

13 “Position your hand over its head and kill it before the tent of the ensovereigned lifestyle community. Aaron’s offspring will scatter its blood around the pedestal table.”
14 “From your contribution, provide this nourishment to the Sovereign Captain: internal parts and all associated fat.”
15 “Detach the pair of kidneys with surrounding fat at the flanks and the extended part of the liver.”
16 “The ensovereigned mediator will incense them on the pedestal table as a food gift, releasing a satisfying fragrance. All fat belongs to the Sovereign Captain.”
17 “Regardless of residence, it is a perpetual rule for future generations: Abstain from consuming fat or blood.”

§ 11610 THE ABSOLVING OFFERING

4 “The Preeminent Sovereign communicated with Moses.”
2 “Inform the descendants of Israel: ‘If anyone inadvertently transgresses and violates any of the Sovereign Captain’s prohibitions,
3 and the purified mediator commits an error causing guilt among the people, he must present a flawless young bull to the Sovereign Captain as a restitution offering for the transgression.
4 The individual must bring the bull to the entrance of the ensovereigned lifestyle community’s tent in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, place their hand on the bull’s head to transfer guilt, and then end the bull’s life there.
5 The chosen ensovereigned mediators will transport some of the bull’s blood into the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent.
6 He should immerse his finger in the blood and scatter it seven times in the Sovereign Captain’s sight towards the Exalted Space veil.

7 The ensovereigned mediators will place some blood on the horns of the pedestal table in front of the Sovereign Captain within the Communal Tent and empty the remaining blood at the foundation of the pedestal table designated for scorched absolving payments at the Communal Tent's entrance.

8 All the fat associated with the internal organs of the bull intended for the unworthy choice offering must be eliminated.
9 The kidneys, surrounding fat near the lower back muscles, and part of the liver will be detached alongside the kidneys.
10 Like fat from an ox used in a peace offering, the ensovereigned mediator should set them ablaze on the pedestal table for scorched absolving payment.
11 However, the bull's skin, meat, head, lower legs, inner organs, and waste material—
12 all remaining parts must be brought to a clean location outside the camp where ashes are deposited and scorched on a wooden fire at the ash mound.
13 If the entire assembly of Israel unknowingly commits an unworthy choice and violates any of the Sovereign Captain's decrees, even if unaware, once they acknowledge their transgression,
14 they must offer a juvenile bovine as atonement for unworthy choices and place it in front of the Communal Tent.
15 Community leaders must place their hands on the bull's head in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, and it must be put to death before Him.
16 The ensovereigned mediator should carry some of its blood within the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent,
17 immerse his finger in it, and scatter it seven times before the Sovereign Captain faces the veil.
18 He must apply some blood to the horns of the pedestal table inside the Communal Tent and empty the remaining blood at its foundation.
19 He must eliminate all its grease and incinerate it at the pedestal table.

20 The ensovereigned mediator should handle this bull as he did for the unworthy choice, offering to recompense and absolve the ensovereigned lifestyle community.
21 He will transport it beyond camp peripheries and incinerate it like the inaugural bull. This act is an 'absolving' offering for the ensovereigned lifestyle community."

22 "If a ruler inadvertently transgresses, violating his Sovereign Captain's directives, and later acknowledges his fault."
23 "On realizing his transgression, he must present an unblemished male goat as his absolving payment."
24 "He should place his hand on the head of the goat and kill it in the exact location where the scorched absolving payment is dead in the presence of the Sovereign Captain. This action serves as a 'fix' for unworthy choices committed."
25 "The ensovereigned mediator is then required to collect blood from the unworthy choice offering using his finger, apply it to the scorched absolving payments' projections, and dispense the remaining blood at the foundation of the same pedestal table."
26 "The ensovereigned mediator will turn every piece of fat into smoke on the pedestal table, just as the fat of the peace offering is burned. In doing so, the ensovereigned mediator will redeem the leader's wrongdoings, leading to his forgiveness."
27 "Should anyone in the community inadvertently transgress ant Sovereign Captain's directives, they will be deemed guilty of acknowledging their transgression."
28 "When their transgression comes to light, a perfect female goat must be presented as their atonement offering for the unworthy choice they have committed."
29 "They should place their hand on the transgression payment's head and kill it where the scorched absolving payment is slaughtered."

30 “The ensovereigned mediator should collect some of the blood on his finger, apply it to the horns of the pedestal table designated for scorched absolving payments, and dispense the remaining blood at its foundation.”
31 “All of the fat shall be removed, just like how the fat is discarded from the wellbeing offering. The ensovereigned mediator would transform it into smoke on the pedestal table, offering a pleasing scent to the Sovereign Captain. Through this act, the ensovereigned mediator shall secure their atonement, and forgiveness shall be granted.”
32 “Should an individual offer a lamb for their unworthy choice offering, it must be a flawless female.”
33 “They should place their hand on the transgression payment’s head and offer it a ‘fix’ for an unworthy choice at the location where the scorched absolving payment is customarily sacrificed.”
34 “Using his finger, the ensovereigned mediator takes blood from the transgression payment. It applies to the projections of the pedestal table meant for scorched gifts. He should drain all remaining blood at the pedestal table’s base.”
35 “All of its excess fat shall be disposed of, just like removing adipose from the absolving lamb. The ensovereigned mediator will then incinerate it on the pedestal table, augmenting the absolving payments set ablaze for the Sovereign Captain. In doing so, the ensovereigned mediator will create restitution for their transgressions, leading to their absolution.”

5 “Suppose an individual commits an unworthy choice by remaining silent when called on to give evidence about something they have seen or come to know. In that case, they will be made to bear the consequences.”
2-3 “Should an individual recognize their culpability inadvertently coming into contact with anything unhealthy (be it the remains of a defiled wild or domestic creature or any contaminated organism that scurries on the Earth) and unknown to them, they have been contaminated but later come to acknowledge their transgression;

4 “If a person, without conscious thought, swears to carry out a deed whether it is adverse or beneficial (regarding any topic one might impulsively vouch for) even if they’re initially ignorant of it, yet when they become aware and comprehend their fault, they are culpable.”
5 “If someone realizes their guilt in any of these instances, they should admit how they have transgressed.”
6 “Due to their transgressions, they must present a female sheep or goat from their herd to the Eternal Reality as a purification offering; consequently, the ensovereigned mediator will perform reconciliation for their misdeeds.”
7 “Suppose an individual doesn’t have the means to offer a lamb. In that case, he should instead present two doves or two young pigeons to the Sovereign Captain as a reparation for his transgression—one as an atonement for unworthy choice and the other as a holocaust offering.”
8 “They must present them to the ensovereigned mediator, who will initially provide the one for the unworthy choice offering. The ensovereigned mediator should pinch its head at the nape of its neck but must not sever it entirely.”
9 “He needs to scatter some of the transgression payment’s blood against the pedestal table’s flank; the excess blood must be emptied at the pedestal table’s foot. It’s an offering for transgression.”
10 “The ensovereigned mediator is then to prepare the second offering as a scorched absolving payment, following the proper directives, and by doing so, he shall secure their forgiveness for the unworthy choice they have committed.”
11 “However, they lack the means to present two pigeons or doves. In that case, they should offer the best quality flour, equivalent to 2.25 liters, for their unworthy choices. They mustn’t embellish it with olive oil or any fragrance as it remains an unworthy choice, absolving payment."

12 "The individual must present it to the ensovereigned mediator. The ensovereigned mediator must take a pinch of it as a token of remembrance and incinerate it on the pedestal table alongside the Sovereign Captain's food, absolving payments. This action constitutes a 'fix' for an unworthy choice."
13 "So, the ensovereigned mediator will render reconciliation for them because of any unworthy decisions they might have committed, and they shall receive forgiveness. The remaining part of the offering will be the ensovereigned mediators, similar to the grain tribute situation."

§ 11620 THE ABSOLVING PAYMENT

14 "the Sovereign Captain communicated to Moses."
15 "If an individual unintentionally commits an unworthy choice against any of the Sovereign Captain's exalted items, they must offer a flawless ram from the herd as an absolving payment, evaluated in silver according to the fortress gram."
16 "They should compensate for their omissions concerning the exalted items by adding a fifth of their value and presenting the entire sum to the ensovereigned mediator. The ensovereigned mediator will then perform a reconciliation using the ram."
17 "If someone transgresses and commits an act that ant Sovereign Captain's directives prohibit, they bear the guilt and will face accountability, regardless of their ignorance."
18 "They must present to the ensovereigned mediator a flawless ram from the flock, appropriately valued as an absolving payment. The ensovereigned mediator will then perform reconciliation for their inadvertent wrongdoings, and they will receive forgiveness."
19 "It's a reparation offering; they have committed an offense against the Sovereign Captain."

6 "the Sovereign Captain conveyed his message to Moses."
2 "If an individual commits an offense and acts disloyally towards the Sovereign Captain by misleading a fellow about an item given for safekeeping, finding a stolen item, or defrauding their fellow;
3 or if they find misplaced items and give false statements or take a dishonest oath related to any transgression people can commit—
4 when they commit unworthy choices and recognize wrongdoing, they should restore what they've unlawfully taken or deceitfully obtained, the deposit left in their care, or the misplaced item they discovered."
5 "Any item lied about under oath must be compensated fully, with an additional fifth of its worth added, and all must be given to its rightful owner on the same day they bring their absolving payment."

6 "They must present a flawless ram from their flock, of appropriate worth, as their reparation to the ensovereigned mediator, specifically to the Sovereign Captain, for their absolving payment."
7 "So, the ensovereigned mediator will recompense with them in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, and they shall receive forgiveness for whatever actions induced guilt."

§ 11630 THE SCORCHED ABSOLVING PAYMENT

8 “the Sovereign Captain communicated to Moses.”
9 “Instruct Aaron and his sons: ‘The directives for the scorched absolving payment require it to stay on the pedestal table’s hearth all night until morning, with the fire on the pedestal table continually maintained. ’”
10 “The ensovereigned mediator must wear his linen attire, including the underclothing near his skin. He is to gather the remaining ashes from the scorched absolving payments devoured by the fire on the absolving pedestal table and position them adjacent to the pedestal table.”
11 “He must change his garments, put on a different set, and transport the ashes to a formally sanitized location outside the camp.”
12 “The flame on the pedestal table must continually be fueled; it should never cease. The ensovereigned mediator should replenish the logs each sunrise, set up the scorched absolving payment on the flame, and burn the fatty parts of the communal absolving payments over it.”
13 “The blaze on the pedestal table has to be sustained unceasingly. It is not to be extinguished.”

§ 11640 THE GRAIN OFFERING

14 “These are the guidelines for the grain offering: Aaron’s offspring must present it to the Sovereign Captain right in front of the pedestal table.”

15 “The ensovereigned mediator shall scoop up some of the finest flour and olive oil, mixing all the incense from the grain offering. Then, the ensovereigned mediator will offer this memorial portion on the pedestal table, creating a delightful fragrance for the Sovereign Captain.”
16 “Aaron and his sons are to consume what remains of the offering as unleavened bread in the set-apart vicinity; they must eat it in the enclosure of the Communal Tent.”
17 “It cannot be prepared with yeast; I’ve awarded it as their portion of my absolving meals. It’s supremely exalted, just as the peace and guilt absolving payments are.”
18 “Any male among Aaron’s family can consume it. It’s their everlasting portion from the Sovereign Captain’s served food, absolving payments for all future generations. Anything that comes with these absolving payments must be set-apart.”
19 “the Sovereign Captain conveyed a message to Moses.”
20 “The contribution that Aaron and his sons are to make to the Sovereign Captain on the day of his ensovereigning entails 2.25 liters of superior quality flour as a routine cereal offering, to be presented in two parts—one in the morning and the other in the evening.”
21 “The grain offering, mixed with oil, should be well stirred and prepared on a grill. The offering, broken into pieces, should be presented as a scent pleasing to the Sovereign Captain.”
22 “Sovereign’s mediator, who will follow him from among his sons, shall make the offering. It is an endless statute for the Sovereign Captain and should be entirely scorched.”
23 “Fire is to consume the entirety of an ensovereigned mediator’s grain offering; man shall not finish it.”

§ 11650 THE UNWORTHY CHOICES OFFERING

24 “the Sovereign Captain spoke to Moses.”

25 “Tell Aaron and his descendants the directives for the unworthy choice offering: It must be presented before the Sovereign Captain, at the same place as the scorched absolving payment; it is supremely exalted.”
26 “The ensovereigned mediators who perform the formality must consume it within the Exalted Space, inside the courtyard around the fortress.”
27 “Any object that touches the meat will be made exalted, and if any blood splashes on clothing, it must be cleansed within the exalted premises.”
28 “The earthen vessel used to prepare the meat should be broken; if prepared in a bronze vessel, it should be polished and rinsed with water.”
29 “Every male in the operational family may consume it. It’s profoundly exalted.”
30 “However, any unworthy choice offering, whose blood is carried into the Communal Tent for reconciliation in the exalted space, must not be consumed; it should be wholly scorched.”

§ 11660 THE ABSOLVING PAYMENT

7 “These are the instructions for the absolving payment, which is exceptionally exalted.”
2 “The animal for the absolving payment must be killed where the scorched payment is slain, and its blood scattered against all edges of the pedestal table.”
3 “All its fat, including the fatty tail and the fat around the inner parts, shall be offered.”
4 “The two kidneys, the fat around them in the loins area, and the liver’s protruding partition must be removed with the kidneys.”
5 “The ensovereigned mediator shall incinerate them on the pedestal table as an absolving payment meal to the Sovereign Captain, serving as a reparation offering.”
6 “A male from the operational family may consume it; it must be eaten in an exalted space; it is of the highest purification.”

7 “The same rule applies to both ‘absolving payments’: for remediating unworthy choices and resultant guilt. The ensovereigned mediator controls them and reconciles with them.”
8 “The ensovereigned mediator who presents anyone’s scorched absolving payment can keep the animal’s skin.”
9 “Any grain tribute prepared in the oven, skillet, or stove belongs to the ensovereigned mediator who presents it.”
10 “Each gift of grain, whether dry or blended with oil, is divided equally among Aaron’s sons.”

§ 11670 THE PARTNERSHIP OFFERING

11 “These are the guidelines for the absolving payment that any individual can offer the Sovereign Captain.”
12 “If the offering is a gesture of gratitude, they must provide hefty bread loaves free of yeast mixed with olive oil, slender yeast-free loaves smeared with oil, and dense loaves of superior quality flour combined with oil.”
13 “With their Thanksgiving peace offering, they should also include thick yeast-infused bread loaves.”
14 “One of each type should be presented as an offering, dedicated to the Sovereign Captain; it is assigned to the ensovereigned mediator who sprinkles the peace offering’s blood on the pedestal table.”
15 “The meat from their Thanksgiving absolving payment of fellowship should be consumed on the same day it is presented; no part should be kept until the next day.”

16 “If their gift is due to a pledge or a spontaneous offering, it should be consumed on the day it is presented. However, any leftovers may be finished the following day.”
17 “Any remaining meat from the offering that persists until the third day must be completely scorched.”

18 “If any meat from the peace offering is consumed on the third day, the individual who presented it will not be acknowledged. It will not be attributed to their account, as it’s considered unhealthy; anyone consuming it will bear the consequences.”
19 “Flesh that contacts any formally unsanitary object should not be consumed; instead, it should be incinerated. However, officially clean people can consume other meat.”
20 “If an individual in a state of impurity consumes any meat from the peace offering dedicated to the Sovereign Captain, they must be excluded from their community.”
21 “Individuals who come in contact with anything contaminated—impurity from humans, an unhealthy animal, or any defiled crawling creature—and subsequently consume some of the meat from the Sovereign Captain’s communal absolving payment should be excluded from their community.”

§ 11680 EATING FAT AND BLOOD FORBIDDEN

22 “The Eternal Reality continued speaking to Moses.”
23 “Inform the people of Israel: ‘Do not consume the fat of cattle, sheep, or goats. ’”
24 “People must not eat fat from animals that perish naturally or are killed by predators, but they can use it in other ways.”
25 “Anyone who consumes the fat of an offering-worthy animal shall be excommunicated.”
26 “Wherever you live, drinking the blood of any animal or bird is strictly forbidden.”
27 “Those who consume blood shall be disconnected from their community.”

§ 11690 THE PRIME ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS’ SHARE

28 “the Sovereign Captain spoke to Moses.”

29 “Tell the Israelites that anyone offering a communal absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain must also present a portion as their payment to the Sovereign Captain.”
30 “They must personally present the Sovereign Captain’s meal-offering, bringing both the fat and the breast, and give the breast as an elevated gift to the Sovereign Captain.”
31 “The ensovereigned mediator will incinerate the fat in the absolving place, but the thoracic part is allocated to Aaron and his descendants.”
32 “The ensovereigned mediator should receive the right thigh from your peace offerings as a gifted part.”
33 “The one from Aaron’s family who presents the communal absolving payment’s blood and fat shall receive the right leg as his portion.”
34 “I have assigned the breast, part of the collective absolving payments, and the thigh, given as a contribution from the Israelites, to Aaron the ensovereigned mediator and his sons. This will be their eternal portion from the Israelites.”

35 “This assigned share is from the Sovereign Captain’s food offerings given to Aaron and his sons on the day they were commissioned as ensovereigned mediators to the Sovereign Captain.”
36 “the Sovereign Captain commanded the Israelites to grant this on them on the day they were ensovereigned to be a continual portion across all future generations.”
37 “These are the established procedures for the scorched payment, grain absolving payment, unworthy choice absolving payment, guilt absolving payment, installation absolving payment, and peace absolving payment.”
38 “These are the instructions that the Sovereign Captain imparted to Moses on Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law, in the Sinai wilderness, on the day He directed the children of Israel to present their gifts to the Sovereign Captain.”

§ 11700 THE COMMISSIONING OF AARON AND HIS HEIRS

8 “Yahweh addressed Moses.”

2 “Summon Aaron and his offspring, their vestments, the commissioning oil, the young bull for the absolution offering, the pair of rams, and the pannier of flat bread.”
3 “Assemble the entire community at the doorway of the Communal Tent.”
4 “Moses followed the Sovereign Captain’s instructions, and the whole community assembled at the Communal Tent’s entrance.”
5 “Moses informed the gathering that this was the instruction from the Sovereign Captain to follow.”
6 “Moses led Aaron and his children close and cleansed them using water.”
7 “The vestment was placed on Aaron, the sash was securely knotted around him, he was adorned with the robe, and the sleeveless garment was positioned on him. The sleeveless garment was then secured with an intricately designed belt tightly around him.”
8 “He placed the chest piece on him and inserted the Urim and Thummim within the chest piece.”
9 “He then put the turban on Aaron’s head. He affixed the golden plate, the exalted symbol, on its front, in compliance with the Sovereign Captain’s instructions to Moses.”
10 “Then, Moses utilized the exalted oil to empower the tent, expressing joyful adoration and all its contents, thereby purifying them.”
11 “He ensovereigned the pedestal table and all its tools with the oil, splashing it seven times, in addition to the basin and its stand, to purify them.”
12 “He administered some of the purifying oil on Aaron’s head, setting him apart through ensovreignment for his exalted activations.”
13 “Moses then presented Aaron’s sons, dressed them in tunics, secured sashes around them, and affixed headbands according to what the Sovereign Captain had instructed Moses.”
14 Subsequently, he brought forth the bull intended for the unworthy choice offering. Aaron put his hands on its head with his sons.

15 “Moses put the bull to death, gathered some of its blood, and then dabbed it on each corner of the pedestal table using his finger for purification purposes. He then emptied the remaining blood at the pedestal table’s foundation. This act set-apart the pedestal table and served to make reconciliation on it.”

16 “Moses removed all the fat from the inner organs, the appendix of the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat then offered them up in smoke on the pedestal table.”
17 “As the Sovereign Captain instructed, Moses scorched the bull, including its hide, flesh, and guts, outside the encampment.”
18 “He brought forward the ram intended for the scorched absolving payment, on whose head Aaron and his offspring placed their hands.”
19 “Moses then killed the ram, sprinkling its blood around the pedestal table.”
20 “He segmented the ram and set the head, segments, and fat ablaze.”
21 “The internal parts and limbs were cleansed with water before the entire ram was scorched on the pedestal table. This act served as a scorched absolving payment, exuding a gratifying scent, and was considered a food tribute for the Sovereign Captain, just as the Sovereign Captain had directed Moses.”
22 Subsequently, the second ram, intended for the installation, was put forth, and Aaron, alongside his offspring, placed their hands on the animal’s skull.
23 “Moses took the life of the ram, gathered some of its blood, and applied it to Aaron’s right earlobe, the thumb of his dominant hand, and the large toe of his right foot.”
24 “Aaron’s sons were then led forward by Moses, who applied some of the blood on their right earlobes, their right thumbs, and the big toes of their right feet. Following this, he cast blood against the sides of the pedestal table.”
25 “Subsequently, he acquired the fatty components, the fat tail, adipose tissue surrounding the entrails, elongated part of the liver, kidneys and associated fat, and posterior limb.”
26 “In front of the Sovereign Captain, he took a generous slice of unleavened bread, a loaf mixed with olive oil, and a biscuit from the basket of bread without yeast. He placed these on the fat parts and the right upper leg.”

27 “All of these were placed into the hands of Aaron and his offspring, and as part of their formality, they raised them high as a special tribute to the Sovereign Captain.”
28 “Moses then took them off their hands and offered them in smoke on the pedestal table atop the scorched absolving payment. This action provided commissioning—a delightful scent and an absolving meal to the Sovereign Captain.”
29 “Moses lifted the breast from the ordination ram set aside for him. He presented it as an elevated offering to the Sovereign Captain, following his instructions precisely.”
30 “Subsequently, Moses utilized a portion of the ensovereigning oil and some of the blood from the pedestal table, which he scattered on Aaron and his attire, including his sons and their clothing. As a result, he set-apart Aaron, his clothing, his sons, and their respective garments.”
31 “Moses instructed Aaron and his sons to prepare the meat at the Communal Tent’s entrance and partake in it there, along with the bread from the commissioning basket, in compliance with the directive: ‘It is for Aaron and his sons to consume it. ’”
32 “Incinerate the remaining portions of the meat and bread.”
33 “You are not to depart from the doorway of the Communal Tent until the seven days of your formal induction are concluded, considering the formal induction process requires seven days.”
34 “the Sovereign Captain instructed the actions carried out today to serve as your reconciliation.”
35 “You are commanded to dwell at the doorstep of the tent of assembly, day and night, for a week, adhering to what the Sovereign Captain has stipulated to avoid death; this is the instruction I have received.”
36 “Aaron and his sons carried out the Sovereign Captain’s directives through Moses.”

§ 11710 THE PRIME ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS BEGIN THEIR ATTENTIVENESS

9 “When the eighth day arrived, Moses called for Aaron, Aaron’s sons, and the elders of the Israelite community.”
2 “Aaron was instructed to bring forth an unblemished young bull as an unworthy choice offering and a flawless ram for a scorched absolving payment and to present both before the Sovereign Captain.”
3 “Instruct the people of Israel to select a he-goat for an unworthy choice offering and an unblemished calf and lamb, each one-year-old, to present as a scorched absolving payment.”
4 “An ox and a ram shall be offered as a concord offering in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, together with a cereal gift infused with olive oil, for the Sovereign Captain is set to reveal Himself to you today.”
5 “The ensovereigned lifestyle community brought what Moses had ordered to the front of the Communal Tent, and the community as a whole gathered and stood in the presence of the Sovereign Captain.”
6 “Moses declared that you must perform what the Sovereign Captain has instructed; subsequently, the Sovereign Captain’s majestic radiance will be unveiled to you.”
7 “Moses instructed Aaron to go to the pedestal table, offer up your unworthy choice and scorched absolving payments, and bring about reconciliation for yourself and the people; carry out the people’s offering and secure their reconciliation in compliance with the Sovereign Captain’s directive.”
8 “Aaron advanced to the pedestal table and executed the calf as an atonement offering for his own unworthy choices.”
9 “His sons brought the blood to him, and they watched him dip his finger into it and smear it on the pedestal table’s protrusions; he poured the remaining blood at the foot of the pedestal table.”
10 “He scorched the lobe of the liver, kidneys, and fat from the unworthy choice offering on the pedestal table in obedience to the Sovereign Captain’s instructions to Moses.”
11 “He scorched the meat and skin away from the encampment.”

12 “Subsequently, the scorched absolving payment was killed. Aaron’s children passed him the blood, which he then dashed around the edges of the pedestal table.”
13 “The parts of the scorched absolving payment and the head were given to him, and he set them aflame on the pedestal table.”
14 “The inner parts and the legs were cleansed, then scorched atop the pedestal table alongside the scorched absolving payment.”
15 “Aaron then proceeded with the offering intended for the people. He selected the goat designated for the people’s unworthy choice offering, killed it, and performed an unworthy choice offering just as he had done previously.”
16 “He presented and sacrificed the scorched absolving payment by the established regulations.”
17 “He also gave the grain offering, filled his palm with some of it, and turned it to smoke on the pedestal table alongside the scorched absolving payment of the morning.”
18 “The ox and the ram were offered as peace-fixing payments for the people. His sons gave him the blood, and he dashed it on all areas of the pedestal table.”
19 “However, the fatty sections of the ox and the ram—the fat tail, the fat covering, the kidneys, and the elongated portion of the liver—”

20 “They positioned these on the chest portions, whereafter Aaron scorched the fatty bits on the absolving pedestal table.”
21 “Aaron presented the breasts and the right thigh as an elevated offering in the presence of the Sovereign Captain by Moses’ directive.”
22 “Aaron raised his hands toward the ensovereigned lifestyle community, pronouncing empowerment. Following the formality of the purifying offering, the whole scorched absolving payment, and the communal offering, he descended from the pedestal table.”
23 “Moses and Aaron entered the tent designated for the ensovereigned lifestyle community. On exiting, they empowered the populace; subsequently, the magnificent brilliance of the Sovereign Captain was disclosed to the entire assembly.”

24 “Flames erupted from the Sovereign Captain’s presence, incinerating the scorched absolving payment and the fat on the pedestal table, and seeing this brought delight from all the people, who then prostrated themselves.”

§ 11720 THE DEATH OF NADAB AND ABIHU

10 “Aaron’s sons, Nadab and Abihu, used their censers, added fire and incense, and presented unauthorized fire before the Eternal Reality, violating His directive.”
2 “Suddenly, fire erupted from the Sovereign Captain’s presence, consuming them, and they died before the Sovereign Captain.”
3 “Moses told Aaron that the Sovereign Captain will show His purification and acclaim through those who draw near Him. Aaron remained silent.”
4 “Moses called Mishael and Elzaphan, Aaron’s cousins, to remove their relatives from the fortress’ entrance and take them outside the camp.”
5 “They did as instructed, moving them in their tunics outside the camp.”
6 “Moses told Aaron and his sons, Eleazar and Ithamar, not to dishevel their hair or tear their garments to avoid death and the Sovereign Captain’s wrath on the community. The whole house of Israel could mourn the ones the Sovereign Captain’s fire scorched.”
7 “They were to stay at the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent’s doorway to avoid death, as the Sovereign Captain’s exalted unction was on them. They obeyed Moses.”
8 “The Eternal Reality then spoke to Aaron,”
9 “‘When you or your sons enter the Communal Tent, abstain from wine or any alcoholic drink to avoid death. This Law is perpetual for all generations. ’”
10 “You must distinguish between exalted and ordinary, pure and impure.”
11 “This will enable you to instruct the Israelites about the Sovereign Captain’s statutes given through Moses.”

12 “Moses instructed Eleazar and Ithamar to take the grain offering (without yeast) and eat it near the pedestal table as it is highly exalted.”
13 “Consume it in the exalted vicinity as your and your offspring’s portion of the Eternal Reality’s absolving payments extended to the Sovereign Captain.”
14 “You, your sons, and daughters may eat the offered breast and contributed thigh in a clean place; these are your designated portions from the Israelites’ peace offerings.”
15 “The donated thigh and swung breast should accompany the fatty parts of the food, absolving payments as an elevated gift before the Sovereign Captain. These parts are your perpetual portion by the Sovereign Captain’s command.”

16 “When Moses found that the unworthy choice offering goat had been scorched, he grew angry with Eleazar and Ithamar.”
17 “‘Why didn’t you eat the unworthy choice offering in the Exalted Space? It’s highly exalted; you were to erase the community’s transgressions by securing their reconciliation before the Sovereign Captain. ’”
18 “Since its blood wasn’t brought into the exalted space, you should have eaten its meat there as I instructed.”
19 “Aaron replied, ‘They presented their atonement and scorched absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain today. Given what happened to me, would the Sovereign Captain have been satisfied if I had eaten the atonement offering today?’”
20 “Moses was content with this response.”

§ 11730 CLEAN AND UNCLEAN FOOD

11 “The Eternal Reality addressed Moses and Aaron.”
2 “Inform the Israelites: ‘Among all terrestrial creatures, these are permissible for you to consume. ’”
3 “Any beast with separated hooves and re-chews its food is permitted for consumption.”

4 “Some creatures either re-chew their food or have divided hooves, but they shouldn’t be consumed. The camel, for instance, re-chews its food but lacks divided hooves, making it formally impure for you.”
5 “The hyrax re-chews its food, but its hooves aren’t separated; you should consider it contaminated.”
6 “Even though the hare re-chews, it lacks a cloven hoof and is deemed impure to you.”
7 “Even though the pig possesses a divided hoof, it does not re-chew its food; it is considered unsanitary to you.”
8 “Consuming their flesh or making contact with their dead bodies is not permissible; they are impure to you.”
9 “You can consume any beings in the ocean or rivers possessing fins and scales.”
10 “All the creatures dwelling in bodies of water like seas or rivers that lack fins and scales, including all the moving entities or any other animals residing in the water, should be considered impure by you.”
11 “Given that they are considered unhealthy, their meat should not be consumed; their dead bodies should also be viewed as tainted.”
12 “Any creature lacking fins and scales in the water should be considered polluted and unhealthy to you.”
13 “You must consider the following birds as detestable, not fit for consumption due to their unhealthfulness: the eagle, the vulture, and the black vulture.”
14 “The scarlet kite, black kites of all types,”
15 “every raven of any kind.”
16 “The long-eared owl, the short-eared owl, the seagull, hawks of every species,” 17 “the small owl, the waterfowl, the giant owl,”
18 “the snowy owl, the arid land owl, and the sea hawk.”

19 “The crane, every egret species, the dikkop, and the chiropteran.”
20 “You will view all winged bugs that move on all four legs as filthy.”
21 “Nonetheless, certain four-legged flying insects can be consumed: those with legs with joints above their feet enabling them to jump on the terrain.”

22 “You can consume any locust, katydid, cricket, or grasshopper.”
23 “However, you consider all flying insects possessing four legs detestable.”
24 “Engaging with these will result in impurity; anyone who comes into contact with their dead bodies remains defiled until dusk.”
25 “Any individual who carries any part of their dead body is required to launder their attire and will remain impure until dusk.”
26 “Any creature that lacks a split hoof or does not re-chew is considered unhealthy for you. Anyone who comes in contact with the carcass of such creatures will be defiled.”
27 “All creatures that move on four legs and walk on their paws are considered impure to you. If you come into contact with their dead bodies, you will remain defiled until dusk.”
28 “Any individual handling their dead bodies must cleanse their garments and remain impure until dusk. Such creatures are considered unhealthy to you.”
29 “The following ground-dwelling creatures are tainted for you: the weasel, the rodent, and all giant lizards.”
30 “The wall gecko, sand reptile, common lizard, spotted skink, and chameleon.”
31 “These entities that crawl on the Earth will be formally impure to you. Anyone who comes in contact with them after their demise will remain defiled until dusk.”
32 “Suppose one of these creatures perishes and lands on an item, regardless of its function. In that case, it becomes impure and is made from wood, textile, skin, or burlap. Immerse it in water; it remains unhealthy until the evening, after which it will be purified.”
33 “If any of these creatures drop into a pottery vessel, all contents will be deemed unhealthy, and the vessel should be shattered.”

34 “Any edible sustenance exposed to water from a contaminated container becomes impure, and any beverage consumed from such a container is spoiled.”
35 “Any item that comes into contact with the carcass of these creatures is considered defiled; if it’s an oven or a pot, it must be shattered. These items are tainted, and you should perceive them as such.”
36 “However, a spring or a reservoir that gathers water stays pure. Yet, anyone who comes into contact with these carcasses becomes impure.”
37 “Should the dead body of an animal land on any seeds intended for planting, those seeds still maintain their cleanliness.”
38 “If water is applied to the seed and a dead body touches it, it becomes impure for you.”
39 “Should an animal that is permissible for you to consume pass away, any individual who comes into contact with its dead body will be considered formally impure until the sun sets.”
40 “Any individual who consumes part of their dead body must cleanse their garments and will remain impure until dusk. Any person who lifts the corpse must wash their garments, which will remain unhealthy until dusk.”
41 “All animals that crawl on the land should be considered impure and must not be consumed.”
42 “Any creature that traverses the terrain, either sliding on its stomach, walking on four limbs, or possessing numerous feet, should not be consumed as it is considered impure.”
43 “Do not contaminate yourselves with these creatures. Refrain from rendering yourselves impure through them or becoming defiled because of them.”
44 “I am your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain; purify yourselves and maintain purification, for I’m exalted. Do not contaminate yourselves with any swarming creature that crawls on the Earth.”
45 “I, the Eternal Reality, led you away from Egypt to become your Eternal Reality; hence, you must mirror my purification, for I am exalted.”

46 “These are the guidelines about beasts, fowls, every living entity that navigates through the waters, and all creatures that swarm on the Earth.”

47 “It is necessary to draw a line between what is considered healthy and unhealthy and to determine which living organisms are suitable for consumption and which are not.”

§ 11740 PURIFICATION AFTER CHILDBIRTH

12 Yahweh instructed Moses,
2, “Tell the Israelites: ‘When a woman gives birth to a male child, she will be formally impure for seven days, just like her menstrual impurity.”
3 “On the eighth day, the male child must be circumcised.”
4 “The woman will then spend thirty-three days cleansing from her blood flow. She must not touch any exalted object or enter the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress until her purification period is complete.”
5 “If she gives birth to a female child, she will be formally impure for two weeks, similar to her menstrual cycle. She then requires sixty-six days for purification from postpartum bleeding.”
6 “When her cleansing period for either a male or female child is complete, she must bring a one-year-old sheep for a scorched absolving payment and a young dove or turtledove for an atonement offering to the fortress entrance for the ensovereigned mediator.”
7 “These absolving payments will be presented before the Sovereign Captain for her redemption, and she will be formally purified from her blood loss. This directive is the guideline for a woman who has given birth to either a male heir or a daughter.”
8 “If she cannot afford a lamb, she should offer two doves or two young pigeons, one for a charred offering and the other for an unworthy choice offering. The ensovereigned mediator will then perform the necessary reconciliation for her, and she will be purified.”

§ 11750 REGULATIONS ABOUT DEFILING SKIN DISEASES

13 The Celestial Envoy instructed Moses and Aaron,
2 “If anyone develops a swelling, rash, or bright spot on their skin that could be severe, they must be presented to Aaron, the ensovereigned mediator, or one of his sons.”
3 “If the ensovereigned mediator inspects the affliction and sees the hair has whitened and the affliction extends beneath the skin, it is an infectious disorder. He will declare the individual impure.”
4 “If the patch is white but not deep, and the hair hasn’t turned white, the ensovereigned mediator will segregate the individual for seven days.”
5 “On the seventh day, if the lesion remains unchanged and hasn’t spread, he will quarantine them for another seven days.”
6 “If the blemish lightens and hasn’t spread, he will declare them purified; it’s merely an eruption. They must cleanse their garments and will be considered healthy.”
7 “If the eruption progresses after being deemed clean, they must return for another examination.”
8 “If the condition has advanced, they will be pronounced unhealthy; it is a significant affliction.”
9 “Anyone with a harmful skin ailment must consult the ensovereigned mediator.”
10 After the ensovereigned mediator examines him, if the skin has a white swelling that has caused the hair to turn white and the swelling contains raw flesh,

11 the ensovereigned mediator must declare him impure because of this chronic skin condition. Since he is dirty, he does not need to segregate him.
12-13 If a skin disease spreads all over a person's body, covering them completely, the mediator will periodically check them. If the condition for the entire body has cleared up, the mediator will declare the person healthy.
14 "Any fresh skin manifestation will deem them impure."

15 "If raw skin is observed, they will be declared unhealthy due to a contagious condition."
16 "If the uncooked skin turns white, they will be declared healthy."
17 After reexamining him, the ensovereigned mediator is supposed to declare the 18 When someone gets a boil on their skin and it goes away, 19 he has to show himself to the ensovereigned mediator if a white swelling or a reddish-white patch appears where the boil was.
20 "If it penetrates deeper than the skin and its hair turns white, it signifies a harmful infection from the boil."
21 "If no white hair is found and it isn't deep but appears faded, they must be quarantined for a week."
22 "If it expands, they must be declared impure; it's a contaminating infection."
23 "If it remains without diffusing, it's merely a scar, and they will be declared healthy."
24 "If a burn reveals a white or reddish-white blemish, it must be inspected."
25 "If the hair turns white and deeper than the skin, it's a contaminating illness from the burn. They must be declared infectious."
26 "If no white hair is found and it isn't deep but lessens in intensity, they must be quarantined for a week."
27 "If it spreads on the seventh day, they must be declared tainted; it is an infectious disease."
28 "If it remains without spreading and is less visible, it's merely a burn scar, and they will be declared pure."
29 "If a disease develops on their scalp or facial hair,"
30 "If it seems deeper than the skin with thin yellowish hair, they must be declared impure; it's a harmful disorder affecting the scalp or face."

31 "If no black hair is found and it isn't deep, they will be quarantined for seven days."
32-33 "On the seventh day, if it hasn't enlarged and no yellow hairs are present, they must shave themselves except for the diseased region and be quarantined for another week."
34 "On the concluding day of the week, if it hasn't propagated and appears superficial, they will be declared uncontaminated. They must cleanse their garments and will be considered pure."
35 "If it expands after being declared clean,"
36 "If it extends on inspection, they are pronounced impure."
37 "If it stays steady and black hair grows within it, they are considered healthy."
38 "If white patches develop,"
39 "If they are faded white, it is just a benign eruption; they are considered pure."
40 "A bald man remains healthy."
41 "A bald forehead also remains unblemished."
42 "A reddish-white infection on his bald scalp signifies a severe disease erupting on his head or forehead."
43 "If the inflamed lesion exhibits a reddish-white hue similar to a contaminating ailment," 44 "He is afflicted and impure. The ensovereigned mediator will declare him so due to the infection on his scalp."
45 "Afflicted individuals must don shredded attire, allow disordered hair, shield their lower visage, and proclaim, 'Impure! Impure!'"

[46] “They will persist in an impure state for the duration of the illness. Their existence should be solitary; their residence should be beyond the camp.”

§ 11760 REGULATIONS ABOUT DEFILING MOLDS

[47] “Any woolen or linen clothing contaminated with harmful fungi.”

[48] “Any fabric woven or knit from linen or wool, any material made of hide, or any object constructed from hide.”

[49] “If the fabric, hide, weave, knitted material, or leather item shows a greenish or reddish hue, it signifies contaminating mildew. Present it to the ensovereigned mediator.”

[50] “The ensovereigned mediators shall inspect the contaminated spot and separate the object for seven days.”

[51] “Inspect it on the last day of the week. Suppose the fungus has spread into the leather, woven or knitted material, or cloth. In that case, it is an ongoing source of contamination and is unhealthy.”

[52] “The item, whether fabric, woolen, linen material, woven or knitted, or any tarnished leather piece, must be scorched due to the unceasing defiling mildew.”

[53] “If the ensovereigned mediator determines that the mildew has not spread through the fabric, woven or knitted material, or any leather item.”

[54] “Clean the contaminated item and segregate it for another week.”

[55] “After laundering, the ensovereigned mediator should reassess it. If the mildew’s visual impression remains unchanged despite not expanding, it is deemed impure. Incinerate it, regardless of which part of the material is affected.”

[56] “If the ensovereigned mediator sees that the mold has lessened after cleaning, they must detach the infected fragment from the cloth, leather, or woven fabric.”

[57] “If it reappears in the material, woven or knitted fabric, or leather item, it indicates a spreading mold; any object afflicted must be scorched.”

[58] “All textiles, interlaced or meshed fabrics, and any leather items that have been laundered and are free of fungus require a second washing. Afterward, they will be considered purified.”

[59] “These are the directives for determining the cleanliness or unhealthfulness of items made of wool or linen, woven or knitted fabrics, or any article made from leather affected by defiling fungi.”

§ 11770 HEALING FROM DEFILING SKIN DISEASES

14 Yahweh communicated to Moses:
2 “These are the guidelines for anyone dealing with a skin disease at the time of their purification on their presentation to the ensovereigned mediator.
3 The ensovereigned mediators shall proceed to the outskirts of the encampment for inspection. If the individuals have successfully recovered from their contaminating skin ailment,
4 The ensovereigned mediators will command the collection of two healthy, living birds, a piece of cedar wood, red thread, and hyssop for the individual undergoing purification.

5 The ensovereigned mediator will instruct one of the birds to be slaughtered over pure water in an earthenware vessel.
6 The bird still alive should be taken and, along with the cedar wood, scarlet thread, and hyssop, submerged in the blood of the bird slaughtered over the unblemished water.
7 The one that needs purification from the disease will be sprinkled seven times and declared healthy. Subsequently, the living bird will be set free in the vast expanse of the fields.
8 The individual who requires purification must launder their garments, shear all their hair, and immerse in water; following this, they are deemed formally healthy. They can then re-enter the community but must live outside their dwelling for seven days.
9 On the arrival of the seventh day, they are required to remove all their hair, including that of their head, beard, eyebrows, and the remaining body hair. They are also obliged to cleanse their clothing and wash their person in water, subsequently achieving a state of cleanliness.
10 On the concluding day, the eighth, they must present two flawless male lambs and a year-old unblemished ewe. They should bring 6.75 liters of superior quality flour blended with olive oil as a grain tribute and a measurement of oil known as a log.
11 The ensovereigned mediator who declares them purified should put forward both the individual who requires purification and their tributes in the Preeminent Sovereign’s presence at the entryway of the Communal Tent.
12 The ensovereigned mediator must take one of the male lambs, present it as a guilt or trespass offering in conjunction with the log of oil, and then raise them as an uplifted offering in the Sovereign Captain’s presence.
13 The ensovereigned mediator must kill the lamb in the exalted zone where the unworthy choice and scorched absolving payments are typically executed. The absolving payment, similar to the unworthy choice offering, is the ensovereigned mediator’s responsibility and is extraordinarily exalted.
14 The ensovereigned mediators must apply a portion of the blood from the expiation, absolving payment to the right earlobe, thumb, and right foot’s big toe of the individual undergoing purification.

15 The ensovereigned mediator must take a portion of the oil from the log measure and dispense it into his left palm.
16 He shall immerse his dominant hand’s forefinger in the oil in his palm and scatter a portion of it seven times in the presence of the Sovereign Captain with the same finger.
17 The ensovereigned mediator should apply some residual oil in his hand on the right earlobe, thumb, and big toe of the individual undergoing purification over the blood of the guilt-absolving payment.
18 The remaining oil in the ensovereigned mediator’s hand shall be placed on the head of the individual requiring purification, facilitating their atonement in the sight of the Sovereign Captain.

19 Subsequently, the ensovereigned mediators will offer the purification-absolving payment, establishing reconciliation for the individual needing purification from their impurity. After that, the offering that is entirely scorched will be slaughtered.
20 Present it on the pedestal table along with the grain offering, perform the formality of purification for them, and they will be formally healthy.
21 However, should their finances not permit these payments, they can lift one male lamb as an absolving payment to wipe away for them. In addition, 2.25 liters of the finest flour blended with olive oil for a grain offering and an oil log should be provided.
22 A pair of doves or two young pigeons, whatever they can reasonably manage to get, one offered as an absolving payment and the other as an entirely scorched absolving payment.
23 On the eighth day, they must present them to the ensovereigned mediator for purification at the tent of the assembly's doorway in the presence of the Sovereign Captain.
24 The ensovereigned mediator shall receive the lamb intended for the absolving payment, in conjunction with the jar of oil, and elevate them in the presence of the Sovereign Captain as a special presentation.
25 The individual is to terminate the life of the lamb as part of the absolving payment, collect a fraction of its blood, and smear it on the tip of the right ear, the thumb of the dominant hand, and the large toe of the right foot of the person undergoing purification.

26 The ensovereigned mediator will dispense a portion of the oil into his own left hand's palm.
27 The ensovereigned mediator should scatter some of the oil from his left palm in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, repeating this action seven times using a digit of his dominant hand.
28 He is to apply some of the oil from his palm on the exact locations where he applied the blood of the absolving payment on the right earlobe of the individual being purified, the thumb of their dominant hand, and the big toe of their right foot.
29 The remaining oil in the ensovereigned mediator's hand is to be applied to the individual requiring purification, serving as a means of reconciliation before the Preeminent Sovereign.
30 Subsequently, he must present either the turtledoves or the young pigeons in line with what the individual is financially capable of acquiring.
31 The individual will present one for transgression atonement and the other for a whole scorched tribute together with the grain gift in this manner. The ensovereigned mediator will perform reconciliation before the Sovereign Captain for the individual who needs purification.
32 These are the instructions for one with a skin infection who cannot bear the cost of the usual purification activations."

§ 11780 CLEANSING FROM DEFILING MOLDS

33 "The Eternal Reality spoke to Moses and Aaron:
34 When you enter Canaan, the land I am giving you, and I cause mold to appear in a house there,
35 the owner must inform the ensovereigned mediator, 'I see something like mildew in my house.
'

36 The ensovereigned mediators will order emptying the house before they inspect it, ensuring nothing inside becomes impure. Then, they will examine the mold.

37 They will check if the mold on the walls has green or red depressions deeper than the surface.
38 The ensovereigned mediator will leave the house and quarantine it for seven days.
39 On the seventh day, they will re-examine it to see if the mold has spread.

40 If so, they must remove and discard the infected stones outside the city in an unhealthy place.
41 The house's interior walls must be scraped, and the debris discarded outside the city in an unhealthy area.
42 New stones will replace the old ones, and fresh clay will r the house.
43 If mold reappears after this,
44 the ensovereigned mediators will inspect it again. If it has spread, it is a persistent mold; the house is unhealthy.
45 The house must be demolished, and all materials taken outside the city to an unhealthy place.
46 Anyone entering the house during its quarantine will be unhealthy until evening.
47 Those who lie down or eat in the house must wash their clothes.
48 If the ensovereigned mediator finds no mold after re-plastering, he will declare the house pure.
49 He will take two birds, cedar wood, scarlet thread, and hyssop for purification.
50 One bird will be killed over running water in a clay pot.
51 He will take the cedar wood, hyssop, scarlet thread, and live bird, dip them in the dead bird's blood and fresh water, and sprinkle the house seven times.
52 The house will be purified with bird blood, fresh water, live birds, cedar wood, hyssop, and scarlet thread.

53 He will release the live bird outside the city. This process reconciles and purifies the house.
54 These are the directives for any skin condition or lesion,
55 for mildew on clothes or in a house,
56 for swelling, rash, or bright spot.
57 These instructions determine when something is healthy or unhealthy. This is the Mosaic Law regarding infectious skin diseases and mildew."

§ 11790 DISCHARGES CAUSING UNCLEANNESS

15 The Sovereign Captain communicated to Moses and Aaron:
2 "Convey to the sons of Israel: 'If any man encounters an abnormal fluid discharge, it renders him impure.
3 Whether the discharge is running or halted, it results in impurity. This condition is how his emission leads to unhealthfulness.
4 The man with the discharge will contaminate any bed and object he sits on.
5 Individuals who contact their bed should cleanse their attire and immerse in water, remaining impure until dusk.
6 Anyone who sits where the man with the discharge has been must cleanse their attire and immerse in water, staying impure until nightfall.
7 Anyone who contacts the person with the flow needs to cleanse their garments and immerse in water, remaining impure until sunset.
8 If the man spat on a healthy person, they must cleanse their garments and bathe in water, remaining unhealthy until sunset.
9 Any saddle the man uses becomes impure.

10 Anyone who contacts items under him will be unhealthy until dusk. Anyone who lifts those objects must cleanse their clothes and bathe in water, remaining impure until dusk.

11 If a man with an emission touches an individual without first rinsing his hands, the touched person must cleanse their garments and immerse in water, and they will remain impure until sundown.
12 Any pottery jar the man contacts must be shattered, and every wooden item requires a water rinse.
13 After healing from his discharge, he should set aside seven days for purification. Then, he should cleanse his garments and immerse himself in clean water, achieving cleanliness.
14 He has to bring two doves or two baby pigeons, show up before the Sovereign Captain at the Communal Tent's entrance on the eighth day, and give them to the ensovereigned mediator.
15 The ensovereigned mediator shall present them for a purification offering for unworthy choice, and the other scorched absolving payment. The ensovereigned mediator shall recompense the man before the Sovereign Captain concerning his emission.
16 If a man experiences a seminal discharge, he must cleanse his entire body in water and remain impure until nightfall.
17 "Any leather or clothing that has semen evaporating off it needs to be cleaned with water, or else it will stay filthy until the evening.
18 If a man engages in sexual activity with a woman, resulting in semen release, both must cleanse themselves with water and remain impure until evening.
19 If a woman is going through her menstrual cycle, her contamination will persist for a week, and anyone who contacts her will remain impure until night.
20 Any item she rests on during her cycle will become tainted, and any object she sits on will be defiled.
21 Anyone who contacts her bed must wash their garments and immerse in water, remaining impure until dusk.

22 Anyone who contacts anything she has sat on will be impure; they must cleanse their garments and bathe in water, remaining impure until dusk.
23 Whether it is the bed or any object she was seated on, anyone who contacts it will remain unhealthy until nightfall.
24 If a man engages in intimate relations with her during her discharge and contacts it, he will be declared impure for a week, and any furniture he reclines on will be unhealthy.
25 If a woman experiences bleeding not during her cycle or if it persists beyond the usual duration, her state will be considered unhealthy for as long as it lasts, similar to her menstruation.
26 Any surface she rests on while her issue persists will be defiled, like her bedding during menstruation, and every object she occupies will be treated as unhealthy.
27 Individuals who contact these items will be rendered impure; they must cleanse their garments and immerse in water, remaining impure until sunset.
28 Once healed from her flow, she should count seven days, after which she will be formally healthy.
29 On the eighth day, she will bring two turtledoves or two fledgling pigeons to the ensovereigned mediator at the gateway to the ensovereigned lifestyle community's tent.
30 The ensovereigned mediator is to present the purification offering (two turtledoves or two fledgling pigeons) and a scorched absolving payment. By doing this, the ensovereigned mediator will recompense the menstrual woman with the Sovereign Captain concerning her impurity.
31 It is imperative to maintain a distinction between the Israelites and anything that could render them unhealthy to prevent their demise in impurity, which would tarnish my fortress among them.
32 These are the instructions for a man with a discharge or someone rendered unhealthy by seminal emission.

33 Officially unhealthy are a female experiencing her menstrual cycle, any male or female with a discharge, and a male who engages in sexual activity with a woman. ’

§ 11800 THE DAY OF COMPENSATION

16 Following the demise of Aaron’s two sons, who lost their lives trying to approach the Sovereign Captain, the Sovereign Captain conveyed a message to Moses.
2 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to inform his brother Aaron to avoid arbitrarily entering the Most Exalted Space beyond the curtain, where the Preeminent Sovereign manifests His reconciliation on top of the Strongbox. Aaron would risk losing his life. This warning is because the Sovereign Captain would appear over the Strongbox in a cloud.
3 Aaron’s way of accessing the Most Purified Space requires him to initially offer a young bull as an unworthy choice, absolving payment, and a ram as a total burn offering.
4 He must don the revered linen outfit, with the linen underwear against his skin. He should guard himself with the linen belt and adorn the linen head covering. These are purified garments, and he has to cleanse himself in water before dressing in them.
5 He must obtain two male goats for a purification absolving payment and one ram for a whole-burnt offering from the community of Israelites.
6 Aaron will present his bull as a purification absolving payment, bringing reconciliation for himself and his family.
7 Subsequently, he must bring the two goats before the Sovereign Captain, placing them at the doorway of the Communal Tent.
8 He shall draw straws to designate the two goats for the Sovereign Captain and the other as the unworthy choice remover.
9 Aaron must present the goat, chosen by destiny, to the Sovereign Captain and offer it as a purification offering for unworthy choices.
10 The goat selected through casting lots to serve as the scapegoat will be brought vivaciously before the Sovereign Captain. Its purpose is to carry out the act of atonement, after which it is to be released into the wilderness, bearing the title of the scapegoat.

11 Aaron must present the bull as an absolving payment for his transgressions to seek reconciliation for himself and his family, and he is required to kill the bull for his personal “absolving payment.”
12 He must gather a fire pan full of blazing embers from the pedestal table in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, together with two handfuls of sweet-smelling incense that have been finely pulverized, and bring these items beyond the veil.
13 The incense should be placed on the fire in the Sovereign Captain’s presence. The ensuing cloud from the incense will shroud the atonement lid, which is situated above the solemn agreement tablets, preventing his demise.
14 He needs to gather some of the bull’s blood and dab it on the front of the mercy seat using his finger; afterward, he should scatter a portion of it seven times in front of the mercy seat using his finger.
15 The goat, meant for the people’s reconciliation payment, needs to be killed, and its blood should be carried behind the veil. The same procedure was used with the bull’s blood, which should be repeated by sprinkling the blood on where the Preeminent Sovereign manifested his reconciliation.

16 This way, he will repay the Most Exalted Space for the impurities and disobedience of the Israelites, regardless of their transgressions. He must perform the same act for the Communal Tent, which dwells among them amidst their impurities.
17 No individual is permitted inside the Communal Tent while Aaron enters to carry out the rite of reconciliation within the Most Exalted Place until he emerges, having performed the act of reconciliation for himself, his family, and the entire nation of Israel.
18 Subsequently, he is to approach the pedestal table in the Sovereign Captain's presence and perform a formality of reconciliation. He will collect some of the bulls' and goats' blood and smear it on every corner of the pedestal table.
19 With his finger, he must smear some of the blood on the pedestal table seven times to purify and purify it, setting it apart from the impurities of the Israelites.
20 After Aaron has made amends in the Most Exalted Place, the tent of assembly, and the pedestal table, he is to present the live goat.

21 The chosen individual shall place both hands on the head of the living goat, admit all the wrongdoings and acts of rebellion the Israelites committed, along with all their unworthy choices, and transfer them to the goat's head. The goat, bearing their unworthy choices, is then released into the wilderness under the supervision of an appointed person.
22 The goat must carry all their wrongdoings to a solitary region. Then, the man must set it free in the desolate wilderness.
23 Aaron has to proceed to the tent of assembly, remove the linen attire he donned, and leave it there before entering the Most Exalted Space, where the Preeminent Sovereign manifests His awesome reconciliation.
24 He must cleanse his body with water in the Exalted space and wear his usual attire. After this, he will offer a scorched absolving payment for himself and the people to purify himself and them.
25 The pedestal table should also be where the fatty part of the unworthy choice offering is scorched.
26 The individual who sets free the goat intended as a peace offering is required to cleanse his attire and immerse his body in water; following this, he is permitted to re-enter the encampment.
27 The bull and goat utilized for unworthy choice absolving payments and whose blood was carried into the exalted area for reconciliation must be transported outside the encampment; their coverings, meat, and innards should be scorched entirely.
28 The individual who incinerates them should cleanse his garments and rinse his body with water afterward, allowing him to re-enter the encampment.
29 As a perpetual statute for all of you, every individual, whether native-born or an outsider living among you, must humble themselves and refrain from performing tasks on the tenth day of the seventh month.
30 On this day, reconciliation will occur for your benefit, purifying you. Consequently, you will be free of unworthy choices at the Preeminent Sovereign's sight.
31 This day is a Day of Exalted Rest for you, and you must humble yourselves; this rule is perpetual.

32 The ensovereigned mediator appointed and set-apart to take over as prime ensovereigned mediator must perform atonement adorned in exalted linen attire.
33 He must perform reconciliation for the Most Exalted Place, the tent of assembly, pedestal table, ensovereigned mediators, and all people of ensovereigned lifestyle community.
34 Captain through Moses instructs that reconciliation for all transgressions of Israelites should occur annually, as an eternal rule.

§ 11810 EATING BLOOD FORBIDDEN

17 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to relay a celestial mandate to Aaron, his descendants, and all Israelites:
3 Any Israeli who slaughters a bull, sheep, or goat, whether inside or outside the camp,
4 and fails to present it at the Communal Tent's entrance to the Sovereign Captain, will be guilty of bloodshed and face separation from their community.
5 The purpose is for Israelites to bring their absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain at the Communal Tent's entrance, offering them communal absolving payments.
6 The ensovereigned mediator will sprinkle the blood on the Eternal Reality's pedestal table and burn the fat, creating a pleasing aroma for the Sovereign Captain.
7 This will prevent offerings to idolized deities and serve as a permanent Law for them and their descendants.
8 Inform them that any Israelite or outsider presenting a scorched or formal absolving payment
9 must do so at the Communal Tent's entrance; failure to comply will result in excommunication.
10 Any Israelite or newcomer consuming blood will face my opposition and removal from their community.

11 Blood represents life and is given for reconciliation on the pedestal table; it compensates for life.
12 Therefore, no one among you or any foreigner may consume blood.
13 Anyone hunting healthy animals or birds must drain and cover its blood with soil.
14 Blood signifies life; consuming it results in exclusion.
15 Anyone consuming a deceased or mauled animal must wash their clothes and bathe, remaining unhealthy until dusk.
16 Failure to cleanse will result in bearing the consequences.

§ 11820 UNLAWFUL SEXUAL RELATIONS

18 Yahweh addressed Moses.
2 Convey to the sons of Israel: "I am Yahweh, your Eternal Reality.
3 Do not follow the customs of Egypt, where you lived, or Canaan, where I'm leading you.
4 Follow my regulations and observe my directives. I am the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.
5 Abide by my directives and statutes for life. I am the Sovereign Captain.
6 No one can intimate with a near-blood relative. I am the Sovereign Captain.
7 Do not disgrace your father by engaging in intimacy with your mother. She is your mother.
8 Engaging with your father's spouse is prohibited; it would disgrace your father.
9 Do not engage with your sister, whether from your father or mother, born in the same house or elsewhere.
10 Refrain from intimacy with your granddaughter; it would disgrace you.

11 Avoid intimacy with your father's wife's daughter; she is your sister.
12 Do not engage with your father's sister; she is related to your father.
13 Do not engage with your mother's sister; she is related to your mother.
14 Do not shame your uncle by engaging with his wife; she is your aunt.
15 Avoid intimacy with your daughter-in-law; she is wedded to your male heir.
16 Avoid intimacy with your brother's spouse; it would disgrace your brother.

17 Avoid relationships with a woman and her offspring or grandchild; it is deplorable.
18 Do not marry your wife's sister while she is alive.
19 Do not engage with a woman during her monthly cycle.
20 Do not indulge in acts with another man's wife; it would tarnish you.
21 Do not offer your offspring as an absolving payment to Molek; it would tarnish the reverence of your Preeminent Sovereign. I am the Sovereign Captain.
22 Engaging with a man as with a woman is abhorrent.
23 Do not engage with any beast; it is inappropriate for a woman to offer herself to an animal.
24 Avoid these practices, as they contaminated the nations I am expelling.
25 The land became contaminated, so I reprimanded it, causing it to expel its residents.
26 Adhere to my directives and precepts; neither citizens nor outsiders should partake in these conducts.
27 The previous population performed these acts, tainting the land.
28 If you contaminate the territory, it will expel you as it did before.

29 Anyone committing these acts must be separated from their community.
30 Abide by my prescriptions and avoid imitating previous traditions; do not contaminate yourselves through them. I am your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain."

§ 11830 VARIOUS LAWS

19 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
2,"Tell the entire community of Israel: 'You must be pure, for I, your Preeminent Sovereign, the Sovereign Captain, am pure. '
3 Show reverence to your parents and keep the exalted days of rest. I am your celestial authority, the Sovereign Captain.
4 Do not adore false icons or craft religious entities out of metal. I am your Sovereign Captain; you're the Preeminent Sovereign.
5 When presenting a peace offering to the Sovereign Captain, ensure it is done for acceptance.
6 Consume it before or on the next day—any remaining portion until the third day should be scorched.
7 If consumed on the third day, it is tainted and unacceptable.
8 Anyone consuming it will bear guilt for profaning what's set-apart to the Sovereign Captain and must be isolated from their community.
9 When harvesting crops, avoid gathering up to the field's perimeter or picking leftovers.
10 Do not harvest your rooftop garden twice or gather dropped grapes; leave them for the underprivileged and strangers. I am your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.
11 Refrain from theft, falsification, and swindling each other.
12 Avoid making false promises in my Name, as this dishonors the Name of your Preeminent Sovereign. I am the Sovereign Captain.

13 Do not exploit or steal from your neighbor. Don't withhold a hired laborer's pay until morning.
14 Do not mock anyone unable to hear or cause a visually impaired person to trip; show reverence to your Preeminent Sovereign. I am the Sovereign Captain.
15 Never distort authenticity in legal proceedings; avoid favoring the less fortunate or showing bias towards the influential. Maintain impartiality when judging fellow citizens.
16 Do not circulate malicious stories among your people or act in ways that risk your neighbor's survival. I am the Eternal Reality.

17 Do not harbor hatred against fellow Israelites. Confront them directly about their wrongdoings to avoid becoming responsible for their unworthy choices.

18 Eschew retaliation and let go of resentment towards anyone in your community; extend affection to your fellow human as you would to yourself. I am the Sovereign Captain.

19 Uphold my regulations. Refrain from breeding dissimilar types of animals, sowing mixed seeds, or wearing attire made from combining two distinct materials.
20 If a man has intimate relations with an enslaved woman designated for another and she hasn't been redeemed or granted freedom, an investigation and punishment must follow. Still, they won't be sentenced to death as she hadn't obtained liberty.
21 The individual must present a ram at the tent of assembly entrance as a guilty offering to the Sovereign Captain.
22 The ensovereigned mediator will employ the ram of absolving payment to perform reconciliation for him before the Sovereign Captain for his misdeed, resulting in his transgression being pardoned.
23 On arrival in new territory, consider fruit-bearing trees' produce off-limits for three years; consumption is prohibited.

24 All produce shall be purified during the fourth year as a grateful offering of adoration to the Sovereign Captain.
25 You can consume its fruits in the fifth year to enhance crop yield. I am your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.
26 Refrain from consuming flesh with blood, engaging in fortune-telling, or observing signs.
27 Do not shave hair on the sides of your head or harm beard fringes.
28 Avoid making incisions on your flesh in mourning for the departed or imprinting tattoo marks on your body. I am the Eternal Reality.
29 Do not dishonor offspring by forcing them into harlotry, lest the territory succumbs to immorality and depravity.
30 Respect my days of rest and honor my Exalted Space. I am the Sovereign Captain.
31 Do not consult with those who channel or seek advice from seers; they render you impure. I am your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.
32 Show reverence for those advanced in age, grant regard to older people, and hold your Preeminent Sovereign in awe. I am the Sovereign Captain.
33 If an outsider resides with you, do not ill-treat them.
34 Treat outsiders as native-born and cherish them as yourself; remember you were once sojourners in Egypt. I am the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.
35 Refrain from using unjust length, weight, or volume determination measures.
36 Employ accurate scales, precise weights, authentic 22 liters, and genuine 3670 milliliters. I am the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, who led you from Egypt.
37 Observe and comply with all my directives and statutes. I am the Sovereign Captain."

§ 11840 PUNISHMENTS FOR UNWORTHY CHOICES

20 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
2 "Tell the children of Israel and any outsiders in Israel that anyone who offers their child as an absolving payment to Molek must be executed by stoning by the local populace.

3-4 I will turn against that person, separating him from his community; offering his offspring to Molek has contaminated my fortress and desecrated my exalted Name.
5 If the community ignores this act, I will stand against that individual and his relatives, expelling them from their community, including all who join him in wrong acts with Molek.
6 I will distance myself from anyone who seeks guidance from mediums and those who communicate with the dead, indulging in inner infidelity, and exclude them from their community.
7 Dedicate yourselves to a pure life, for I am your Preeminent Sovereign.
8 Abide by my statutes and practice them. I am the Sovereign Captain who consecrates you.
9 Anyone disrespecting their parents must be executed. They carry the responsibility for their demise.
10 If a man engages in an illicit affair with another's spouse, both must face a death sentence.
11 If a man engages intimately with his father's spouse, both should face death. They bear the consequences of their actions.
12 When a man engages intimately with his son's wife, both must meet their end. This act of obscenity is their responsibility.
13 If a man engages in intimate relations with another man as with a woman, they must face capital punishment. They bear the responsibility for their demise.
14 If a man marries a woman and her mother, all three should be scorched to prevent such unworthy choices among you.

15 A man engaging in a sexual act with a beast shall face death, and the beast must be slain.
16 If a woman engages in intimate activities with an animal, both must be executed; their guilt remains with them.
17 If a man marries his sister, born to either parent, and they commit sexual acts, they need to be expelled publicly from their community. He has tarnished his sister's honor and will bear the consequences.
18 If a man engages in intimate relations with a woman during her menstrual cycle, they shall both be excluded from their community.
19 Engaging in intimate acts with your parent's sibling is disgraceful; both parties will be accountable.
20 If a man engages in intercourse with his uncle's wife, both will bear the consequences; they shall remain without offspring.
21 If a man weds his brother's spouse, it's a purity violation; they shall remain without offspring.
22 Adhere to all my stipulations and directives so the land I'm leading you to inhabit might not reject you.
23 Refrain from following the traditions of the nations I plan to expel before you. Their acts are detestable to me.
24 I have declared that their land will be yours, abundant with milk and honey. I, your Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, have distinguished you from all other nations.
25 Distinguish between healthy and impure animals and birds. Avoid contaminating yourselves with any creature marked as impure for you.
26 Be set-apart for me, for I am exalted, and I've singled you out to be exclusively mine.
27 Any individual acting as a medium or conduit must be sentenced to death by stoning; the responsibility for their demise rests on them."

§ 11850 DIRECTIVES FOR THE ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS

21 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to tell the ensovereigned mediators, Aaron's descendants, to avoid formal impurity for deceased people members.
2 This excludes immediate family: mother, father, son, daughter, or brother.
3 He may become impure for an unmarried sister dependent on him.
4 He should avoid defiling himself by attending a married relative's funeral.
5 Activators must not create bald patches, trim facial hair borders, or inflict wounds on themselves.
6 They should be set-apart for their Eternal Reality and honor His Name. As those who bring absolving meals to the Sovereign Captain, they must be exalted.
7 Activators cannot marry women sullied by prostitution or divorce, given their purification to their Eternal Reality.
8 Treat them as exalted as they present the food of your Eternal Reality. Deem them exalted, for I, the Sovereign Captain, who is Exalted, confer Exaltation on you.
9 If an ensovereigned mediator's daughter turns to prostitution, disgracing her father, she should be scorched.
10 The prime ensovereigned mediator, singled out from his relatives, who have received the exalted ensovereigning oil and dons the exalted vestments, cannot let his hair go disheveled or tear his garments.
11 He should avoid any location with a corpse and not make himself formally impure, even for his parents.
12 He must not leave or dishonor the Exalted Space of his Eternal Reality due to his commissioning from the ensovereigning oil. I am the Sovereign Captain.
13 He must marry a maiden.
14 He cannot marry a widow, divorcee, or prostitute; he must choose a maiden from his community.

15 This ensures he doesn't corrupt his family or his community, for I am the Sovereign Captain who declares him exalted.
16 The Eternal Reality spoke to Moses.
17 Tell Aaron that none of his progeny with physical anomalies can present the meal of their Eternal Reality across future generations.
18 No one with physical flaws—blind, disabled, mutilated, malformed—can approach.
19 No one with a damaged foot or hand should exist.
20 Those with deformed backs, short stature, eye abnormalities, boils, skin eruptions, or maimed reproductive glands are excluded.
21 Any descendant of Aaron with a physical defect cannot approach to bring the Sovereign Captain's food offering. If flawed, he cannot present his Preeminent Sovereign's food.
22 He can consume his Preeminent Sovereign's food, including the most exalted and ordinary absolving payments.
23 However, he must avoid nearing the veil or pedestal table due to his flaws to prevent the desecration of my Exalted Spaces. I am the Sovereign Captain who commissions them.
24 Moses communicated these matters to Aaron, his offspring, and the Israeli population.

22 Yahweh spoke to Moses.

[2] Instruct Aaron and his sons to handle with honor the exalted gifts that the Israelites dedicate to me to prevent dishonoring my exalted Name. I am the Sovereign Captain.
[3] Inform them: ‘From now into future generations, if any of your offspring with formality impurity approaches the exalted donations dedicated to the Sovereign Captain, that individual will be banished from before me. I am the Sovereign Captain.

[4] If any of Aaron’s family has skin afflictions or bodily fluid discharge, they are prohibited from partaking in the exalted absolving payments until purified. They become impure if they contact a tainted object or person who has discharged semen,
[5] or contact any swarming creature or individual who taints them with impurity.
[6] Anyone who contacts such things remains unhealthy until sundown and cannot consume the exalted absolving payments unless they wash their body in water.
[7] Once purified at sunset, they can consume the exalted absolving payments as sustenance.
[8] To avoid defilement, they should not consume animals that have died naturally or that beasts have ravaged. I am the Sovereign Captain.
[9] The ensovereigned mediators must conduct My service without committing unworthy choices and dying for disrespecting it. I am the Sovereign Captain who sets them apart.
[10] Only ensovereigned mediator family members can consume the exalted offering; guests or employees cannot.
[11] If an ensovereigned mediator procures a servant with funds or if servants are born in his household, they can consume his provisions.
[12] When an ensovereigned mediator’s daughter marries outside the ensovereigned mediators, she cannot consume the exalted absolving payments.
[13] If an ensovereigned mediator’s daughter becomes widowed or divorced without offspring and returns to her father’s home, she can consume her father’s provisions as in adolescence; unauthorized individuals are prohibited.
[14] If someone unintentionally consumes an exalted offering, they must reimburse its value plus 20 percent to the ensovereigned mediator.
[15] The ensovereigned mediators should not treat the exalted gifts presented to the Sovereign Captain by the Israelites with irreverence.
[16] Allowing consumption of exalted absolving payments might lead to guilt requiring compensation. I am the Sovereign Captain who sets them apart.

§ 11860 UNACCEPTABLE PENANCES

[17] The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
[18] “Tell Aaron, his sons, and all Israelites: ‘If any of you, whether Israelite or foreigner in Israel, brings a scorched absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain, either to fulfill a vow or as a spontaneous act of transformative generosity, [19] it must be an unblemished male from the bovine herd, sheep, or goats to be accepted.
[20] Offer it without defects to be beneficial.
[21] If someone offers a fellowship to the Sovereign Captain from the cattle or flock, whether to fulfill a vow or as a voluntary gift, it must be unblemished and without defects to be accepted.
[22] Do not offer blind, injured, crippled animals or those with warts, festering wounds, or running sores to the Sovereign Captain. None of these should be placed on the pedestal table as a meal offering to the Sovereign Captain.
[23] An ox or sheep with an elongated or underdeveloped limb can be offered as a voluntary gift but not to fulfill a promise.
[24] Do not present an animal with damaged, smushed, ruptured, or severed testicles to the Sovereign Captain. This practice is prohibited in your territory.

25 Do not accept such creatures from a foreigner’s hand and present them as nourishment for your Preeminent Sovereign. They won’t be acceptable due to their deformities and flaws.
26 The Eternal Reality continued speaking to Moses, 27 “If a young bull, sheep, or goat is birthed, it should stay with its dam for seven days. From day eight, it becomes eligible to be offered as an absolving gift to the Sovereign Captain.
28 Do not end the life of a bovine or ovine creature and its offspring within the same twenty-four-hour period.

29 When presenting a thanksgiving offering to the Sovereign Captain, ensure it is done in a manner that receives His approval.
30 Consume it entirely on the day it is presented; do not leave anything until the next morning. I am the Sovereign Captain.
31 Observe my directives and comply with them. I am the Sovereign Captain.
32 Respect My Exalted Name; I demand that the Israelites see me as celestial. I am the Sovereign Captain, the one who consecrates you.
33 I liberated you from Egypt to become your Eternal Reality. I am the Eternal Reality.

§ 11870 THE APPOINTED FESTIVALS

23 The Sovereign Captain communicated to Moses,
2 “Communicate to the Israelites and express to them: ‘These are my designated times, the established feasts of the Sovereign Captain, that you must announce as hallowed ensovereigned lifestyle communities.

§ 11880 THE DAY OF REST, EMANCIPATION AND FESTIVAL OF BREAD

3 Labor is allowed for six days, but the seventh day is a Rest and tranquility day marked by exalted gatherings. No work is permitted anywhere; this day is purified as a Day of Rest to the Sovereign Captain.
4 Additionally, it’s a time for emancipation and the observance of unleavened bread.
5 Yahweh’s Emancipation starts at sundown on the fourteenth day of the first month.
6 The festival of bread without yeast, dedicated to the Sovereign Captain, begins on the fifteenth day of the same month; you must eat bread without yeast for seven days.

7 On the first day, hold an exalted gathering and refrain from ordinary labor.
8 Make an absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain for a week. On the last day, hold an exalted gathering and abstain from ordinary tasks.

§ 11890 THE OFFERING OF THE FIRST FRUITS

9 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
10 “Tell the Israelites: ‘Upon entering the land I grant you and harvesting its produce, present a handful of the first grain to the ensovereigned mediator. ’

[11] The ensovereigned mediator will present it before the Sovereign Captain for your favor. This offering occurs the day after the Day of Rest.
[12] On that day, offer a flawless yearling lamb as a scorched absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain.
[13] Include a grain offering of 4.5 liters of elite flour mixed with olive oil, an absolving food for the Sovereign Captain, and a poured offering of 918 milliliters of wine.
[14] Do not consume toasted or fresh grain bread until you present this offering to your Eternal Reality. This directive is for all generations, wherever you live.

§ 11900 THE FESTIVAL OF WEEKS

[15] Begin counting from the day after the Day of Rest, when you offered the grain bundle as an elevated offering until seven complete weeks have passed.
[16] Count fifty days after the seventh Day of Rest; then present a fresh grain gift to the Sovereign Captain.
[17] From your homes, bring two loaves of bread made from 4.5 liters of top-grade flour, leavened and baked as an elevated tribute of the initial harvest to the Sovereign Captain.

[18] With this bread, offer seven unblemished one-year-old male lambs, one young bull, and two rams. These will be a scorched absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain, along with their grain and drink offerings. This sustenance offering pleases the Sovereign Captain.
[19] Also, offer one male goat as a purification absolving payment and two one-year-old lambs as a communal offering.
[20] The ensovereigned mediator will present the two lambs as an offering before the Sovereign Captain, along with the bread from the first wheat of the harvest. These are exalted to the Sovereign Captain and will belong to the ensovereigned mediator.
[21] Declare an official day of exalted assembly on that day, abstaining from ordinary tasks. This directive is perpetual for future generations, wherever you live.
[22] During your land's harvest season, do not harvest to the edge of your field or gather any leftover bits from your yield. Leave these for the impoverished and the outsiders among you. I am your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.

§ 11910 THE COMMEMORATION OF TRUMPETS

[23] Yahweh instructed Moses,
[24] "Tell Israel's descendants to observe a complete rest on the first day of the seventh month of Tishrei. An exalted gathering with trumpet calls will mark this day.
[25] Refrain from your usual work and present a sustenance gift to the Sovereign Captain.

§ 11920 THE DAY OF RECONCILIATION

[26] Yahweh instructed Moses,
[27] "In the seventh month of Tishrei on the tenth day, observe the Day of Cleansing with an exalted convocation. Practice self-denial and present a fire offering to the Sovereign Captain.

[28] Do no work on this day, as it is the Day of Reconciliation, where you are absolved before the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.

29 Anyone who refuses self-denial will be disassociated from their community.
30 Anyone working on this day will be eliminated from their community.
31 No labor is allowed. This directive is permanent for all generations, regardless of residence.
32 This day is a complete rest period; practice self-restraint. Begin your Day of Rest on the evening of the ninth day and continue until the next evening.

§ 11930 THE CELEBRATION OF TENTS

33 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
34 "Inform the Israelites that the Sovereign Captain's Feast of Booths spans seven days, starting at the seventh month of Tishrei on the fifteenth day.

35 The first day is a sacred assembly; do no regular work.
36 For seven days, present food offerings to the Sovereign Captain, and on the eighth day, hold another exalted assembly and offer a final food gift. This day marks the end of the solemn assembly; do no regular work.
37 The Sovereign Captain commissions these as the Eternal Reality's festivals, announcing them as exalted gatherings to present food offerings, including scorched offerings, cereal contributions, absolving payments, and daily libations.
38 These absolving payments are in addition to the Sovereign Captain's Days of Rest, your gifts, vows, and voluntary contributions.
39 Begin the celebration to the Sovereign Captain on the fifteenth day of the seventh month of Tishrei after gathering your harvest. This celebration lasts seven days; the first and eighth days are complete rest.

40 On the first day, gather branches from lush trees, palms, willows, and other leafy trees, and rejoice before your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, for seven days.
41 This festival will be observed annually for seven days as an enduring regulation for future generations in the seventh month of Tishrei.
42 Live in booths for a week: All native-born Israelites are to dwell in these booths.
43 This is so your descendants will know that I made the Israelites live in simple huts when I brought them out of Egypt. I am your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain."
44 Moses told the Israelites about the Sovereign Captain's designated feasts.

§ 11940 OLIVE OIL AND BREAD SET BEFORE THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

24 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses:
2 "Instruct the community to provide pure, high-quality fuel for the lights, ensuring they stay illuminated at all times.
3 In the Communal Tent, beyond the curtain shielding the Strongbox of the Solemn Agreement, Aaron must keep the lamps lit from dusk to dawn in the Sovereign Captain's presence. This directive is a perpetual statute for future generations.
4 The lamps on the pure gold light fixture must always be in order before the Sovereign Captain.
5 Use choice wheat flour to bake twelve loaves, each containing 4.5 liters.
6 Arrange them in two rows of six on the pure gold table before the Sovereign Captain.

7 Place unadulterated incense near each pile as a tribute and an absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain.
8 The loaves will be presented regularly before the Sovereign Captain each Day of Rest, symbolizing an enduring solemn agreement with the Israelites.

9 Aaron and his descendants are entitled to consume it within the exalted confines, as it is an exceptionally exalted portion of their perpetual allotment from the food gifts given to the Sovereign Captain.

§ 11950 A BLASPHEMER PUT TO DEATH

10 In the camp, an Israeli woman's son, who was fathered by an Egyptian, clashed with an Israelite.
11 Shelomith's son cursed and profaned the Name, leading him to be brought before Moses.
12 He was detained, awaiting the Sovereign Captain's directive.
13 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses.
14 "Take the blasphemer outside the camp. Testifiers must place their hands on his head; then, the community shall stone him.
15 Tell the Israelites that anyone who blasphemes the Eternal Reality bears their own unworthy choices.
16 Those who disrespect the Sovereign Captain's Name must be executed by stoning, whether immigrant or native-born.
17 Unlawfully ending a life results in execution.
18 Killing another's pet requires replacement, life for life.
19 Harm to a fellow citizen is repaid equally: harm for harm, eye for an eye, tooth for a tooth.
20 Causing harm will result in identical harm in return.
21 Taking an animal's life requires compensation; taking a person's life demands capital punishment.
22 This rule applies to outsiders and natives, for I am your Sovereign Captain."

23 Moses relayed the Sovereign Captain's instructions, and the Israelites stoned the offender outside the camp, as Moses had commanded.

§ 11960 THE REST DAY YEAR

25 On Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law, Moses received directives from the Sovereign Captain.
2 "Tell the people of Israel: 'When you enter the land I will give you, it must observe a rest period dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. '
3 You may plant your fields and trim your vineyards, gathering their fruits for six years.
4 In the seventh year, the land must have a complete rest dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. Do not plant your fields or trim your vineyards.
5 Do not harvest what grows on its own or gather grapes from your untended vines. The land deserves a year of rest.
6 During this rest year, whatever the land produces will sustain everyone— yourself, your male and female helpers, employees, and even transient dwellers.
7 Your domestic animals and wild beasts in your territory can also consume any yield the land provides.

§ 11970 THE YEAR OF JUBILEE

[8] Calculate seven cycles of seven years, totaling forty-nine years.
[9] On the tenth day of the seventh month of Tishrei, the day of reconciliation, sound the alarm throughout your land.
[10] Sanctify the fiftieth year and proclaim liberty across the territory for all inhabitants. This year is your Jubilee when everyone returns to their property and family.

[11] The fiftieth year is a time of celebration; do not sow, reap self-grown crops, or harvest unpruned vineyards.
[12] It is a Jubilee and should be honored; eat only what the fields naturally produce.
[13] During this Jubilee Year, everyone shall return to their possessions.
[14] When trading land with fellow citizens, do not exploit each other.
[15] Base the purchase price on the years since the last Jubilee and the remaining years for crop production.
[16] If many years remain, increase the price; if few, decrease it. The trade is for the number of harvests.
[17] Do not exploit each other; elevate your Preeminent Sovereign. I am your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.
[18] Follow my statutes and diligently observe my directives; you will live securely in the land.
[19] The land will yield crops, providing all you need and ensuring your safety.
[20] What will we eat in the seventh year when we neither sow nor reap?
[21] I will bless you with enough produce for three years in the sixth year.
[22] As you sow in the eighth year, you will still eat from the previous harvest until the ninth year’s crops are gathered.
[23] The land cannot be sold permanently, for it belongs to me, and you reside as outsiders and temporary residents.
[24] Allow land repurchase in every territory you own.
[25] If a fellow citizen falls into financial hardship and sells the property, their nearest relative must repurchase it.
[26] If no one can repurchase it, and they later prosper and gather enough resources, they may repurchase it themselves.

[27] Calculate the years since the sale, repay the excess to the buyer, and reclaim the land.
[28] If they cannot afford to repay, the property remains with the buyer until the Jubilee Year, when it is released and returned to its original owner.
[29] A person who sells a house in a fortified city can redeem it within a year of sale.
[30] If not redeemed within a year, it becomes the buyer’s permanent possession and is not returned during Jubilee.
[31] Houses in unwalled villages are like open-field properties; they can be redeemed and must be returned in Jubilee.
[32] Levites always retain the right to redeem their houses in Levite cities.
[33] Properties belonging to Levites can be redeemed. They must be returned during Jubilee because these houses are their inheritance among Israelites.
[34] The grasslands around their cities cannot be sold as they are their eternal holdings.
[35] If any compatriot falls into financial hardship and cannot sustain themselves, assist them like an immigrant or foreign guest so they can continue living among you.
[36] Do not profit or charge interest from them; respect your celestial entity and allow them to survive within your community.

37 Do not charge interest on loans or seek profit from food supplies.
38 I am your celestial protector who led you from Egypt to give you Canaan and become your Eternal Reality.
39 If a compatriot falls into poverty and sells themselves to you, do not treat them as enslaved people.
40 Treat them as hired workers or temporary residents; they shall work for you until Jubilee.
41 They and their children shall be freed and return to their family and property.

42 Israelites, whom I freed from Egypt, should not be sold as enslaved people; they are my servants.
43 Do not rule over them harshly; respect your Preeminent Sovereign.
44 Male and female servants can be from neighboring countries; you may purchase enslaved persons from them.
45 You may also acquire children from outsider families living among you; these children will belong to you.
46 You can pass them on to your children as lasting possessions and employ them as lifelong enslaved people, but do not rule ruthlessly over your Israeli brethren.
47-49 If a foreigner or visitor among you becomes wealthy and an Israelite compatriot falls into poverty and sells themselves to this foreigner or a member of his community, a family member or the individual themselves can still redeem them if they prosper.
50-52 Calculate the period from sale to Jubilee; redemption cost should match an employed laborer's salary over those years.
53-54 Ensure service debtors are not treated harshly; even if not redeemed, they and their children shall be freed during Jubilee.
55 Israelites are my subjects, freed by me from Egypt; I am your Eternal Reality, Yahweh.

§ 11980 REWARD FOR OBEDIENCE

26 "You are prohibited from creating 'idolized deities, ' constructing an image or a hallowed stone, or placing an engraved stone in your territory for worshipping it. Remember, I am the One and exclusively Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality."

2 "Honor my Days of Rest and treat my Exalted Space respectfully. I am the Eternal Reality."

3 "Should you follow my regulations and meticulously comply with my directives?"

4 "I will provide rain at the necessary time, and the soil will offer up its harvest while the trees bear their produce."

5 "Your grain crushing will extend until it's time to gather grapes. The grape gathering will persist until it's time again to sow seeds, allowing you ample nourishment and dwell securely within the boundaries of your territory."

6 "I'll grant tranquility in the territory, and you'll sleep with no one to instill fear. Dangerous animals will be eradicated from the terrain, and no war will happen in your land."

7 "You will chase down your adversaries, and they will collapse underneath your tactical blades."

8 “A group of five among you can put a hundred to flight. A hundred can make ten thousand flee, and your adversaries will succumb to your tactical blade.”

9 “I will treat you kindly, ensure your prosperity and multiplication, and uphold my promise.”

10 “You will continue to consume the previous year’s yield when the time arrives to clear it to accommodate the fresh harvest.”

11 “I will establish my residence within you and never despise you.”

12 “I will stroll through your streets, serving as your Eternal Reality, while you remain my pathseekers.”

13 “I, the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, liberated you from Egypt so you could cease to be enslaved; I shattered the constraints of your oppression, allowing you to stride confidently with your heads held aloft.”

§ 11990 PUNISHMENT FOR DISOBEDIENCE

14 “If you refuse to heed my words and fail to implement all these directives,”
15 “Should you disregard my directives and loathe my directives, failing to fulfill all my instructions, thereby breaking our agreement,”
16 “I will inflict on you such consequences: unexpected dread, debilitating diseases, and high fevers, causing your vision to fail and your vitality to drain. Your planting of seeds will be futile since your adversaries will consume your yield.”
17 “I will oppose you, leading to your downfall at the hands of your adversaries; those despising you will seize control, and you will run away even when no one is in pursuit.”
18 “Even after all these incidents, if you continue disregarding my words, I will increase your discipline sevenfold due to your transgressions.”
19 “I’ll shatter your hard-headed arrogance and turn the celestial realms above you to steel and the Earth below you to copper.”
20 “All your efforts will be for naught, as neither your soil will produce crops nor the trees on your property will bear fruit.”
21 “Suppose you continue to act in defiance against me and fail to heed my words. In that case, your sufferings will be magnified sevenfold, reflecting the magnitude of your transgressions.”

22 “I will unleash ferocious beasts against you. They will deprive you of your offspring, annihilate your livestock, and reduce your count so drastically that your paths will be forsaken.”
23 “Even after all these events, if you continue to defy me and refuse my discipline.”
24 “I will oppose you and make you suffer sevenfold because of your unworthy choices.
25 I will unleash a tactical blade against you to exact retribution for the violated treaty. Even if you take refuge in your cities, I will inflict disease among you, resulting in your surrender to your adversaries.”
26 “When your food supply stops, ten women will ration the loaves produced from a single stove by mass. Despite consumption, you will remain unsatiated.”
27 “Even after all these, if you persist in your refusal to heed my words and stay antagonistic towards me,” 28 “In my wrath, I will act with furious hostility against you and discipline you for your transgressions sevenfold.”
29 “You’ll consume the physical remains of your male and female offspring.”

30 “I will obliterate your exalted sites, dismantle your incense altars, and place your lifeless bodies atop the motionless forms of your idolized deities, and I will utterly despise you.”
31 “Your thriving cities will be reduced to desolation, your places of expression of joyful adoration devastated, and I will find no delight in the fragrant scent of your absolving payments.”
32 “I will devastate the land so that your foes residing there will be shocked.”
33 “I’ll disperse you amid the nations and unsheathe my tactical blade against you. Your territory will be devastated, and your urban areas will turn into ruins.”
34 “During the entire duration of its desolation, the land will relish its Day of Rest years while you reside in the territory of your adversaries; at that juncture, the land will repose and take pleasure in its Days of Rest.”

35 “As long as it stands empty, the territory will achieve the tranquility it never experienced during the Days of Rest in which you resided.”
36 “For those who remain, I’ll instill panic so deep within their inner selves that when in their enemies’ territories, the mere stir of a leaf by the wind will drive them into a frantic escape. They will hurry as if evading the tactical blade and stumble when no one is behind them.”
37 “Even when no one chases them, they will trip over each other as if trying to escape a tactical blade. Consequently, you will need more strength to confront your foes.”
38 “You will meet your end in foreign lands; your adversaries’ territory will consume you.”
39 “Those who survive will rot away in the enemy territories due to their forefathers’ misconduct and past misdeeds.”
40 “However, if they admit to their forefathers’ wrongdoings and errors, their disloyalty and antagonism are against me.”
41 “What initiated my antagonism against them was to the extent that I ushered them into the territory of their adversaries. This occurs when they humble their remorseless inner selves and compensate for their transgressions.”
42 “I will recall my promises to Jacob, Isaac, and Abraham, and the land will not be forgotten.”
43 “The land they deserted will savor its restful periods while it remains uninhabited without them. They shall wipe away their wrongdoings as they’ve shown contempt for my laws and disregarded my rulings.”
44 “Even amidst their enemies’ territory, I will neither discard nor detest them to the point of destruction, thereby violating my pact with them. I am their Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.”
45 “For their benefit, I will recollect my agreement with their forefathers, whom I freed from Egypt. At the same time, all nations watched so that I could be their Eternal Reality: I am Yahweh.”
46 “These represent the directives, statutes, and principles the Sovereign Captain defined through Moses for the Israelites at Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law.”

§ 12000 REDEEMING WHAT BELONGS TO THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

27 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses:
2 “Tell the Israelites: ‘If anyone vows to dedicate a person to the Sovereign Captain, they must provide an equivalent monetary value.”
3 “A man aged twenty to sixty is valued at 570 grams of silver, per the fortress standard.”
4 “A woman’s worth is 340.2 grams.”
5 “For ages five to twenty, a male is valued at twenty shekels, and a female at 114 grams.”

6 “A child aged one month to five years is valued at five silver shekels for a boy and three for a girl.”
7 “For those sixty or older, a man is valued at fifteen shekels, and a woman at ten.”
8 “If the person pledging cannot afford the amount, the ensovereigned mediator will set the value based on what they can afford.”
9 “If the pledged animal can be offered to the Sovereign Captain, it is deemed exalted.”
10 “They must not replace or swap animals; if they do, both animals are exalted.”
11 “If the pledged animal is impure, it must be brought before the ensovereigned mediator.”
12 “The ensovereigned mediator will assess its quality and set its value.”
13 “If the owner wants to buy back the animal, they must add one-fifth to its value.”
14-15 “If someone consecrates their house to the Sovereign Captain, the ensovereigned mediator will evaluate it. If they wish to reclaim it, they must add one-fifth to its value.”

16 “If someone consecrates part of their land, its value is based on the seed required—225 liters of barley seed equals 570 grams of silver.”
17 “This valuation holds if the field is set-apart in the Jubilee Year.”
18 “If set-apart after the Jubilee, the ensovereigned mediator will adjust its value based on the years remaining until the next Jubilee.”
19 “If the landowner wants to repurchase it, they must add one-fifth to its value.”
20 “If not repurchased or sold, it cannot be retrieved.”
21 “At Jubilee, the field becomes exalted and belongs to the ensovereigned mediators.”
22 “If someone dedicates a purchased field (not inherited), the ensovereigned mediator sets its value according to the Jubilee year.”
23 “The owner must pay this amount as an exalted offering to the Sovereign Captain on that day.”
24 “During Jubilee, the field returns to its original owner.”
25 “All valuations should align with the exalted fortress standard, where 5.7 grams equals one shekel.”
26 “No one can dedicate a first-born animal; it already belongs to the Sovereign Captain.”
27 “If it’s an unhealthy animal, it can be ransomed at its value plus one-fifth. If not repurchased, it should be sold at its assessed value.”
28 “Anything purified to the Sovereign Captain—person, animal, or property— cannot be repurchased or sold; all such items are supremely exalted.”
29 “Anyone irreversibly dedicated to termination cannot be repurchased; they must be executed.”
30 “A tenth of all produce from the land belongs to the Sovereign Captain; this portion is exalted.”

31 “Anyone wishing to buy back part of their ten percent must add one-fifth to its value.”
32 “Every tenth animal from the flock or herd is exalted to the Sovereign Captain.”
33 “No substitutions are allowed; if made, both animals are exalted and cannot be redeemed.”
34 “These are the instructions the Sovereign Captain gave to Moses for the Israelites on Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law.”

~ 104 In the Wilderness | Numbers

§ 12010 THE CENSUS

1 On the first day of the second month, two years after the Israelites left Egypt, the Sovereign Captain spoke to Moses in the Communal Tent in the Sinai Desert.
2 "Conduct a census of the entire Israeli population, categorizing them by peoples and households, recording each man's name individually."
3 "You and Aaron will count all eligible males in Israel aged twenty or above who can serve in the military."
4 "One individual from each community will assist you, each leader of his family unit."
5 "Elizur, son of Shedeur from Reuben, will aid you."
6 "Shelumiel, son of Zurishaddai, from Simeon."
7 "Nahshon, son of Amminadab, from Judah."
8 "Nethanel, son of Zuar, from Issachar."
9 "Eliab, son of Helon, from Zebulun."

10 "From Joseph's offspring: Elishama, son of Ammihud from Ephraim; Gamaliel, son of Pedahzur from Manasseh."
11 "Abidan, son of Gideoni, from Benjamin."
12 "Ahiezer, son of Ammishaddai, from Dan."
13 "Pagiel, son of Okran, from Asher."
14 "Eliasaph, son of Deuel, from Gad."
15 "Ahira, son of Enan, from Naphtali."
16 "These individuals were chosen as chieftains of their communities and heads of prominent families in Israel."
17 Moses and Aaron gathered these named individuals.
18 The assembly convened on the first day of the second month. They documented each individual by their familial and people lineages, recording men aged twenty or older by name.
19 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to conduct the census in the Sinai wilderness.
20 The family of Reuben itemized every male aged twenty years and above capable of military service by people and family records.
21 The count for Reuben was 46,500.
22 Simeon's descendants included all men aged twenty years or above fit for military service, registered individually by community and family.
23 The count for Simeon was 59,300.
24 From Gad's family, they cataloged all males aged twenty or more fit for military service by name.
25 The count for Gad was 45,650:

26 Every male aged twenty years or more capable of military service registered in Judah's genealogy, with documentation by name according to people and family records.
27 The count for Judah was 74,600:
28 From Issachar's family, they cataloged by name every male aged twenty or above capable of military service.
29 The count for Issachar was 54,400:
30 Zebulun's family included every male aged twenty years or older capable of military service, itemized by name.

31 The count for Zebulun was 57,400.
32 From the descendants of Joseph: From the sons of Ephraim, based on their clan and family records, including the names of every person who is at least twenty years old and eligible to enlist in the army:
33 From Joseph's family: Ephraim's offspring numbered 40,500.
34 They cataloged all males from Manasseh's family aged twenty or above capable of military service by name.
35 The count for Manasseh was 32,200.
36 The document named all of Benjamin's male offspring aged twenty and upwards who qualified for military service.
37 The count for Benjamin was 35,400.
38 Dan's family included all males aged twenty years or more capable of military service. They registered their names by community and family records.
39 The count for Dan was 62,700.
40 From Asher's family: All males aged twenty or above equipped for warfare were documented individually.
41 The count for Asher was 41,500.

42 From Naphtali's family: All males aged twenty and above fit for military duty were documented individually.
43 The count for Naphtali was 53,400.
44 Moses and Aaron, alongside the twelve leaders of Israel, tallied these individuals representing their families.
45 All Israelis aged twenty or above capable of joining Israel's military were registered within their familial lines.
46 The total was 603,550.
47 The Levites were not tallied with the rest due to their ancestry.
48 Yahweh had spoken to Moses.
49 "The community of Levi should not be numbered or included in the tally of the remaining Israelites."
50 "The Levites are responsible for the Solemn Agreement Tent and furnishings. They must transport it and set up camp around it."
51 "When the Tent needs to be relocated, the Levites will dismantle and reassemble it. Any unauthorized person who approaches it will face execution."
52 "Each Israelite will camp within their division under their unique banner."
53 "The Levites will camp around the Exalted Tent to prevent my anger from descending on the Israelites. They are responsible for its supervision and upkeep."
54 The Israelites carried out all instructions as the Sovereign Captain had directed to Moses.

§ 12020 THE ARRANGEMENT OF THE COMMUNAL CAMPS

2 The Eternal Reality communicated to Moses and Aaron.

2 "The Israelites will set up camp encircling the Communal Tent from a certain distance, each under their respective group flag and with their ancestral emblems."

3 “To the East, facing the breaking of dawn, the units of Judah’s camp are set to establish their encampment under their banner. The chief of Judah’s populace is Nahshon, Amminadab’s male heir.”
4 “The number of individuals in his military unit is 74,600.”
5 “Adjacent to them, the community of Issachar will establish their camp. Nethanel, Zuar’s male heir, will act as the leader of the Issachar people.”
6 “The number of individuals in his military unit came to 54,400.”
7 “Following will be the Zebulun community, with Eliab, Helon’s offspring, as their chief.”
8 “His military unit, as recorded, totals 57,400.”
9 “In line with their respective groupings, the total count of individuals designated to Judah’s encampment equals 186,400. They are scheduled to commence the journey ahead of others.”
10 “The camp of Reuben’s divisions will be positioned towards the South, beneath their emblem. Elizur, the male heir of Shedeur, stands as the chief of the Reubenites.”
11 “The counted men in his military unit amount to 46,500.”
12 “The community of Simeon will be setting up their tents adjacent to them, with Shelumiel, the male heir of Zurishaddai, as their chieftain.”
13 “The count of his military unit is 59,300.”
14 “Following in order is the community of Gad. Eliasaph, the male heir of Deuel, is the leader of the Gadites.”
15 “The count of individuals in his military unit is 45,650.”
16 “Based on their groupings, the Reuben division’s total troop count is 151,450. Their departure in the journey will be in the second order.”

17 “The Tent of Meeting, along with the Levite camp, will set out on its journey among the other camps.” They will proceed in an identical pattern to their encampment, with each individual stationed under their designated banner.”
18 “The troops of Ephraim will be based in the West, under their banner. Their commander is Elishama, the male heir of Ammihud.”
19 “The total count of individuals in his division is 40,500 .”
20 “Adjacent to them will be the community of Manasseh, under the leadership of Gamaliel, the male heir of Pedahzur.”
21 “His troop strength is evaluated at 32,200.”
22 “Abidan, Gideoni’s male heir, will lead the Benjaminites, who follow in line next as the community of Benjamin.”
23 “His military unit consists of 35,400 individuals.”
24 “Following their divisions, the total number of men designated to Ephraim’s encampment is 108,100. They are scheduled to embark as the third group.”
25 “Dan’s regiment will be positioned to the North beneath their banner. Ahiezer, the male heir of Ammishaddai, takes the role of the Danites’ chief.”
26 “The count of his military unit tallies to 62,700.”
27 “The Asher community will establish their camp adjacent to them, with Pagiel, Okran’s male heir, at the helm of the Asherites.”
28 “The enlistment total of his military company is 41,500.”
29 “Following in line is the community of Naphtali, under the leadership of Ahira, who is the male heir of Enan.”
30 “The count of individuals in his military unit is 53,400.”
31 “The total number of individuals allocated to Dan’s encampment is 157,600. They are instructed to initiate their expedition last, following their banners.”

32 “These are the members of Israel, enumerated based on their familial groups. The aggregate of males within the encampments, classified by their divisions, amounts to 603,550.”

33 “the Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to exclude the Levites from the census of the other Israelites.”
34 “So, the Israelites adhered to all the instructions the Sovereign Captain had given Moses; they arranged their camps according to their banners and proceeded in the same manner, each individual aligned with their respective people and kinship.”

§ 12030 THE LEVITES

3 This account narrates Aaron and Moses’ family when the Sovereign Captain communicated with Moses on the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law.
2 Aaron fathered Nadab, his eldest, followed by Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
3 These were Aaron’s sons, the dedicated ensovereigned mediators given the authority to act as ensovereigned mediators.
4 However, Nadab and Abihu perished in the sight of the Sovereign Captain for presenting unauthorized fire in the Sinai Desert. With no offspring, their duties as ensovereigned mediators were taken over by Eleazar and Ithamar during Aaron’s tenure.
5 The Eternal Reality communicated to Moses,
6 “Summon the Levi community and assign them to Aaron, the ensovereigned mediator, so that they can serve as his assistants.
7 They are tasked with executing their responsibilities and those of the entire assembly at the Communal Tent by taking care of tasks related to the Tent of Testimony.
8 They shall be in charge of all the equipment of the Communal Tent and the requirements of the Israelites by performing duties at the Tent.
9 Assign the Levites exclusively to Aaron and his sons; they are the chosen ones from the Israelites to be devoted entirely to him.

10 Designate Aaron and his sons to fulfill the duties of the mediatorship; any unauthorized individual near the fortress is to face execution.”
11 Yahweh further communicated to Moses,
12 “The Levites have been claimed from among the Israelites as substitutes for every first-born male child. The Levites belong to me.
13 I declare that I dedicated every first-born to myself, all firstborns in Israel, humans and animals alike, when I brought down all the firstborns in Egypt. They are designated as mine. I am the Sovereign Captain.”
14 In the Sinai wilderness, the Sovereign Captain spoke to Moses,
15 “Register the descendants of Levi according to their ancestral houses and communities, numbering every male from a month old and above.”
16 Moses carried out the count, obeying the instructions by the Sovereign Captain’s word.
17 Levi’s offspring were identified as Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
18 The significant families from Gershon were identified as Libni and Shimei.
19 The lineages of Kohath included Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.
20 The prominent families from Merari were Mahli and Mushi. These were the significant families of the Levites.
21 The Libnite and Shimeite peoples were descendants of Gershon; they constituted the Gershonite family groups.
22 The tally of all male individuals aged one month and above amounted to 7,500.
23 The peoples of the Gershonites were instructed to establish their camp to the West at the rear of the Tent.
24 Eliasaph, the male heir of Lael, was the head of the Gershonite people.

25 At the Gathering Tent, the Gershonites were responsible for maintaining the Tent, including its protective layers and the drapes at its entryway.

26 All are associated with the drapes within the courtyard, the screen on the entryway enveloping the exalted Tent and the absolving payment site, the cords, and every service related to these components.
27 The peoples of the Amramites, Izharites, Hebronites, and Uzzielites were attributed to Kohath; these comprised the Kohathite groups.
28 8,600 males were a month old or above, with the duty of looking after the Exalted Space falling to the Kohathites.
29 The people of the Kohathites were situated towards the southern part of the exalted Tent for camping purposes.
30 Elizaphan, Uzziel's male heir, was the chief of the Kohathite family group.
31 Their duties encompassed safeguarding and maintaining the Strongbox, table, light fixture, pedestal tables, exalted elements used in sovereign lifestyle activations, curtain, and all objects associated with their significance.
32 Eleazar, Aaron's male heir, held a prominent leadership role among the Levites, supervising those tasked with maintaining the fortress.
33 The peoples of the Mahlites and Mushites were associated with Merari; these constituted the Merarite peoples.
34 The total tally of all male individuals aged one month and above was reported to be 6,200.
35 Zuriel, Abihail's male heir and chief of Merarite peoples' families, had their encampment established North of the exalted Tent.
36 The Merarites managed Tent boards, bars, posts, bases, instruments, and all tasks associated with their operation, 37 along with columns of the encircling court, including pedestals, stakes, and cords.
38 Moses, Aaron, and his progeny were assigned to establish their encampment on the East side of the Tent towards sunrise in front of the Communal Tent. Their duty was to maintain the purification of Exalted Space on behalf of Israel's Children. Any unauthorized individual who dared approach would face capital punishment.

39 On Sovereign Captain's orders, Moses and Aaron conducted a census of Levites by their respective peoples, tallying every male aged one month and above, resulting in a total count of 22,000.
40 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to register all newborn male Israelites aged one month or older and record their names.
41 "Select Levites on my behalf as substitutes for every first-born among Israelites; choose Levite livestock instead of all first-born animals among Israelites. I am Sovereign Captain."
42 As per Sovereign Captain" instructions, Moses took a tally of all eldest children of Israelites.
43 They recorded the names of all first-born males aged one month or older, numbering 22,273.
44 The Sovereign Captain likewise communicated to Moses,
45 "Accept Levites as substitutes for all first-born among Israelites and animals of Levites instead of their animals. I will own Levites; I am Sovereign Captain."
46 To liberate 273 eldest Israelites who outnumber Levites, accumulate 56.7 grams of silver per individual based on standard fortress gram weighing 5.7 grams.
47 According to the fortress silver measure of 5.7 grams, you are expected to gather 56.7 grams for everyone.
48 Hand over funds intended to rescue surplus Israelites to Aaron and his offspring."
49 Moses collected ransom funds from those who exceeded the number of the Levites saved.
50 He collected 15.561 kilograms of silver from first-born Israelites, measuring it by the standard fortress gram.

51 According to Eternal Reality's instruction, Moses handed Aaron and his son's ransom funds.

§ 12040 THE KOHATHITES

4 The Eternal Reality One instructed Moses and Aaron, "Count the Kohathite descendants among the Levites by peoples and families.
3 Include all males aged thirty to fifty who will serve at the Communal Tent.
4 The Kohathites' duty in the Communal Tent involves maintaining the most exalted items.
5 When relocating the camp, Aaron and his sons will dismantle the barrier drape and cover the Strongbox containing the exalted Law.
6 They will then overlay it with robust leather, drape a blue fabric, and position the rods.
7 Blue cloth will cover the Presence table with dishes, plates, bowls, and jars for poured offerings; perpetual bread must always be on it.
8 They will lay a crimson fabric over them, cover it with robust hide, and position the carrying rods.
9 An azure cloth will envelop the light fixture and its devices, wick cutters, dishes, and oil containers.
10 They will encase it and its utensils in robust leather and place it on a transport frame.
11 A blue fabric will cover the golden pedestal table, and then they will follow it up with sturdy leather. Next, someone will position the carrying rods.
12 All fortress rite items will be enveloped in an azure cloth, shielded with robust leather, and placed on a transport frame.
13 The bronze pedestal table's soot must be cleared, then draped with a violet fabric.
14 They will set up all equipment for tending the pedestal table, such as fire pans, meat hooks, spades, and basins. A robust leather cover will be spread over it, and the carrying rods will be securely fixed.

15 Only after Aaron and his sons have covered all exalted objects and accessories, and the camp is ready to move should the Kohathites approach for transportation. They must not contact the Eternal Reality's artifacts directly to avoid death. The Kohathites are responsible for transporting the Communal Tent's contents.
16 The operations manager, Eleazar, son of Aaron, is responsible for overseeing the supply of fuel for the lights, the fragrant essential oils, the routine provisions, and the special maintenance oils. He ensures everything in the community center, including all its equipment and important items, is managed and maintained.
17 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses and Aaron, 18 "Ensure the Kohathite people are not eliminated from the Levites.
19 To prevent their death when approaching set-apart items, Aaron and his sons must enter the Exalted Space and delegate specific duties to each individual.
20 The Kohathites must not observe the exalted items even briefly to avoid death."

§ 12050 THE GERSHONITES

21 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
22 "Count the Gershonites by their families and communities.
23 List all men aged thirty to fifty eligible for service at the Communal Tent.
24 This includes their transportation duties and specific tasks.

25 They are responsible for transporting the exalted Tent's fabric, its cover, the durable leather outer cover, and the drapes for the Communal Tent entrance.
26 They must also transport the courtyard drapes, the pedestal table, the courtyard entryway screen, cords, and all tools for Tent service. The Gershonites must handle all tasks related to these items.
27 Aaron and his sons will supervise their tasks, including moving equipment and other duties. Assign them everything they need to transport.
28 Ithamar, Aaron's male heir and ensovereigned mediator, will oversee the Gershonite families' duties regarding the Communal Tent."

§ 12060 THE MERARITES

29 "Register the descendants of Merari by their communities and ancestral households.
30 Count all males aged thirty to fifty who will serve at the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent.
31 Their duties in the Communal Tent include transporting its structure, bars, pillars, and foundations.
32 Assign each man specific items like courtyard pillars, sockets, tent pegs, cords, and furnishings.
33 The Merarite peoples serve in the Communal Tent under Ithamar, Aaron's male heir and ensovereigned mediator."

§ 12070 THE NUMBERING OF THE LEVITE PEOPLES

34 Moses, Aaron, and the community chiefs registered the Kohath descendants by communal groups and households.
35-37 Every male between thirty and fifty years old who served at the Communal Tent was counted, totaling 2,750. All of the Kohathite peoples who were able to serve at the Tent of Meeting were numbered. Moses and Aaron counted them by the Sovereign Captain's directive through Moses.
38-41 The Gershonites were similarly tallied, with 2,630 males aged thirty to fifty serving at the Tent.
42-44 The Merarites' count included 3,200 men in the same age range.
45 Moses and Aaron numbered the Merarite peoples at the Sovereign Captain's request.
46-48 8,580 Levites aged thirty to fifty were registered for service and transportation duties at the Communal Tent.

49 The Preeminent Sovereign, through Moses, assigned each specific task.

§ 12080 THE PURITY OF THE CAMP

5 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses,
2, "Tell the Israelites to expel anyone with a harmful skin disorder, bodily discharge, or formal impurity from contact with a corpse.
3 Remove both men and women; send them beyond the camp to avoid contaminating the camp where I dwell."
4 Following the Sovereign Captain's command, the Israelites excluded them from their camp.

§ 12090 RESTITUTION FOR WRONGS

5 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
6 “Tell the Israelites that anyone who commits an injustice against another, thereby showing disloyalty to the Sovereign Captain, is guilty.
7 They must acknowledge their unworthy choice and make full restitution, adding twenty percent to the wronged individual.
8 If the wronged individual has no near relative, the payment goes to the Sovereign Captain and must be given to the ensovereigned mediator and the ram for atonement.
9 Any exalted gift from the Israelites to the ensovereigned mediator becomes his possession.
10 The exalted objects of an individual remain his own, but contributions to the ensovereigned mediator become his possession.

§ 12100 THE TEST FOR AN DISLOYAL WIFE

11 Yahweh instructed Moses,
12 “Tell the Israelites: ‘If a man suspects his wife of infidelity, 13 and she has been intimate with another man without her husband’s knowledge,
14 whether or not she was caught,
15 the husband must bring her and an offering of 2.25 liters of barley flour to the governance mediator. No oil or incense should be added, as it is a grain offering of jealousy, a reminder of transgression.
16 The ensovereigned mediator will present the woman before the Sovereign Captain.
17 He will take exalted water in a pottery jar and mix it with dust from the fortress floor.
18 The ensovereigned mediator will make the woman stand before the Preeminent Sovereign, loosen her hair, and place the grain offering of jealousy in her hands while holding the bitter water that brings a curse.
19 He will then make her swear an oath, saying if she has not been disloyal, may this bitter water not harm her.
20 But if she has been disloyal,
21 may the Sovereign Captain make her a curse among her people by causing her womb to wither and her belly to swell.
22 The water will enter her system, causing her belly to swell or her womb to miscarry. The woman must say, “So be it.”
23 These curses will be inscribed on a scroll by the ensovereigned mediator and submerged in the acidic water.
24 She will drink the bitter water that brings a curse, which will cause intense pain if she is guilty.
25 The ensovereigned mediator will take the grain offering from her hand, wave it before the Sovereign Captain, and bring it to the pedestal table.

26 He will burn a portion of the grain offering on the pedestal table and make her drink the water.
27 If she is at fault, the water will make her a curse, causing her tummy to expand and her unborn child to die.
28 If she is innocent, she will be free from guilt and able to bear children.
29 This Law addresses suspicion of infidelity under a husband’s authority.

30 When a man suspects his wife, he must bring her before the Sovereign Captain, and the ensovereigned mediator will apply this Law.
31 The husband is not guilty; the woman will bear her guilt. ’”

§ 12110 THE NAZIRITE

6 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
2 “Tell the sons of Israel: ‘If a man or woman makes a special vow of devotion to the Sovereign Captain as a Nazirite,
3 they must abstain from wine, intoxicating liquor, and vinegar from such substances. They are also forbidden from consuming grape juice or eating fresh or dried grapes.
4 Throughout their Nazirite vow, they must avoid any grapevine products, including seeds and skins.
5 They must not shave their heads during their vow, maintaining purity and allowing their hair to grow untrimmed until the vow ends.
6 Nazirites must avoid corpses during their devotion to the Sovereign Captain.
7 Even if their parents or siblings die, they must not defile themselves. The emblem of their commissioning to the Preeminent Sovereign is on their head.
8 They are set-apart for the Sovereign Captain during their service.

9 Suppose a sudden death occurs near a Nazirite, contaminating their purified hair. In that case, they must shave their heads on the seventh day of cleansing.
10 On the eighth day, they must present two doves or young pigeons to the ensovereigned mediators at the gathering tent’s gateway.
11 The ensovereigned mediators will offer one as a transgression payment and the other as a scorched absolving payment to recompense the Nazirite who became impure by contact with a corpse. On that day, they must rededicate their head.
12 They should reaffirm their commitment to the Sovereign Captain for the same duration and present a one-year male lamb as a reparation offering. The previous days are void due to contamination during their commissioning period.

13 This directive is the Mosaic Law for Nazirites. After their commissioning period, they must go to the assembly tent’s doorway.
14 They must bring gifts to the Sovereign Captain: a 1-year-old male lamb without defect for a scorched absolving payment, a one-year-old ewe lamb without defect for an unworthy choice offering, and a ram without defect for a communal offering.
15 They must also bring grain tributes and libations, including a basket of leaven-free bread made from fine flour—thick loaves mixed with olive oil and thin wafers brushed with oil.
16 The ensovereigned mediators will present these absolving payments before the Sovereign Captain, perform the purification, and entirely burn absolving payments.
17 The ram’s peace offering to the Sovereign Captain should accompany the basket of unleavened bread and its grain and liquid offerings.
18 The Nazirites must shave their hair at the tent meeting’s doorway, placing it in the fire beneath the absolving payment.
19 After shaving their commissioning hair, the ensovereigned mediator will place the cooked ram’s shoulder in their palms and one large and one small loaf from the basket, both unleavened.

20 The ensovereigned mediators will then present these items as a unique offering to the Sovereign Captain; these are exalted and belong to the ensovereigned mediators, including the breast and thigh offered. The Nazirite may then consume wine.

21 This directive is the Mosaic Law for Nazirites who pledge to absolve payments to the Sovereign Captain according to their vow beyond what they can afford. They must fulfill their promises according to Nazirite regulations.

§ 12120 THE EMPOWERMENT OF ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS

22 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses,
23 "Tell Aaron and his descendants, 'This is how you should empower the Israelites. Say to them:
24 'May the Eternal Reality bless and protect you.
25 May the Sovereign Captain's face shine upon you and be generous;
26 May the Sovereign Captain look upon you kindly and give you peace.
27 They will place my name on the people of Israel, and I will bless them."

§ 12130 OFFERINGS AT THE DEDICATION OF THE TENT

7 Once Moses established the Tent, he set it apart. He purified it with all its accessories, including the pedestal table and instruments.
2 Israel's chieftains, heads of each ancestral family, presented their tributes.
3 They offered the Sovereign Captain six covered wagons and twelve oxen, with each leader contributing an ox and every pair of leaders a wagon. These absolving payments were presented in front of the Tent.
4 The Sovereign Captain communicated to Moses.

5 "Obtain these from them for utilization in the duties of the Communal Tent. Distribute them to the Levites according to each man's task requirements."
6 Moses accepted the wagons and cattle and presented them to the descendants of Levi.
7 Their duties dictated that the Gershonites receive two carts and four oxen.
8 The Merarites received eight oxen and four wagons for their servitude needs, supervised by Ithamar, Aaron's male heir and mediator.
9 However, Moses didn't provide anything to the descendants of Kohath, given their obligation involved carrying the exalted items on their shoulders.
10 On consecrating the pedestal table, the chiefs gave their dedicatory gifts and positioned them in front of the table.
11 Per the Sovereign Captain's instruction to Moses, a different leader will present his gift for the consecration of the pedestal table every day.
12 Nahshon, the male heir of Amminadab from the community of Judah, was the first to present his offering.

13 His gift consisted of a silver dish weighing 1474.2 grams and a silver basin weighing 793.8 grams, each filled with superior-quality flour and olive oil for a grain tribute.
14 A golden spoon of 114 grams, brimming with aroma.
15 A juvenile bull, a ram, and a yearling male lamb were presented as a scorched absolving offering.
16 A male goat was provided as an offering for unworthy choices.
17 Nahshon presented two cattle, five male lambs, five male goats, and five rams that were one year old for the peace offering.
18 On a subsequent day, Nethanel, the male heir of Zuar from Issachar, presented his tribute.
19 Two pieces of silver, one weighing 793.8 grams and the other 130 grams, were given as a tribute, each filled with top-grade flour blended with olive oil as an offering of grain.

20 A golden dish of 114 grams weight, brimming with incense.
21 A youthful bull, a ram, and a yearling male lamb as an offering to be scorched entirely.
22 A solitary male goat intended as an unworthy choice offering.
23 Nethanel presented two oxen, five rams, male goats, and one-year-old lambs for the peace offering.
24 On the third day, Eliab, the male heir of Helon from Zebulun, presented his offering.
25 His contribution was a silver dish weighing 1474.2 grams and a silver basin weighing 793.8 grams, each filled with prime flour blended with olive oil for a grain gift.
26 A 10-shekel gold vessel brimful with aromatic substances.
27 A juvenile bull, a ram, and a lamb of one year age as an offering for incineration.
28 A male goat designated as an absolving payment for transgression.
29 Eliab offered five lambs, five male goats, five rams, and two bulls, all one year old, as an offering for a communal absolving payment.
30 Elizur, Shedeur's offspring from Reuben, presented his tribute on day four.
31 His contribution consisted of a silver dish weighing 1474.2 grams and a silver basin weighing 793.8 grams, each filled with high-quality flour mingled with olive oil for a grain-absolving payment.
32 A golden incense cup of 114 grams weight, brimming with fragrance.
33 A juvenile bovine, a ram, and a lamb a year old meant for a scorched reconciliatory payment.
34 A single buck of the goats as a purification offering.
35 Elizur presented two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five-year-old male lambs intended for a companionship absolving payment.

36 On the fifth day, Shelumiel, the male heir of Zurishaddai from Simeon's community, brought his offering.
37 His contribution consisted of a silver dish weighing 1474.2 grams and a silver basin weighing 793.8 grams, each filled with superior flour and olive oil for a cereal offering.
38 A golden container of 114 grams weight, brimming with aromatic substances.
39 A young ox, a sheep, and a yearling male lamb dedicated for a scorched absolving payment.
40 A single male goat as a purification gift.
41 Shelumiel presented two cattle, five rams, five he-goats, and five-year-old lambs for the shared formality of peace-absolving payments.
42 Eliasaph, Deuel's offspring from Gad's community, presented his offering on Day 6.

43 His contribution included a silver dish weighing 340.2 grams and a silver basin weighing 793.8 grams, each filled with fine flour and olive oil for a grain tribute.
44 A golden bowl weighing 114 grams filled with incense.
45 A young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a scorched absolving payment.
46 A he-goat for a purification offering.

47 Eliasaph, Deuel's heir, offered two bulls, five rams, five he-goats, and five yearling male lambs for the peace offering.
48 Elishama, Ammihud's heir and Ephraimite chieftain, presented his offerings on day seven.
49 His tribute included a silver dish weighing 340.2 grams and a silver basin of 793.8 grams, filled with select flour mixed with olive oil for a grain offering.

50 A golden dish weighing 114 grams filled with incense.
51 A young bull, a ram, and a year-old male lamb for a scorched absolving payment.
52 A male goat for a transgression absolving payment.
53 Two bulls, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old male lambs for the peace offering. This was Elishama's contribution.
54 Gamaliel, Pedahzur's heir and leader of Manasseh's community, presented his gift on the eighth day.
55 His contribution included a silver dish weighing 340.2 grams and a silver basin of 793.8 grams, each filled with fine flour and olive oil for a grain offering.
56 A golden vessel weighing 114 grams filled with incense.
57 A young bull, a ram, and a lamb for an absolving burning in its first year.
58 A male goat for an unworthy choices offering.
59 Gamaliel's presentation included two bulls, five rams, five he-goats, and five young lambs, all one year old, for a communal absolving payment.
60 On day nine, Abidan, Gideoni's heir and chieftain of Benjamin's descendants, presented his tribute.
61 His contribution included a silver dish weighing 340.2 grams and a silver basin of 793.8 grams, each filled with fine flour mixed with olive oil for a grain tribute.
62 A golden dish weighing 114 grams filled with incense.
63 One young bull, one ram, and a lamb in its first year for a scorched absolving payment.
64 A male goat for a transgression payment.
65 Five yearling lambs, five male goats, five rams, and two oxen for a communal absolving payment; this was Abidan's gift.

66 Ahiezer, Ammishaddai's heir and chief of Dan's community, presented his offering on the tenth day.
67 His contribution included a silver dish weighing 340.2 grams and a silver basin of 793.8 grams, each filled with fine flour and olive oil for a grain tribute.
68 A golden container weighing 114 grams filled with incense.
69 A young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a scorched absolving payment.
70 A male goat for a purification offering.
71 Ahiezer offered two bulls, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old male lambs for an absolving payment.
72 Pagiel, Okran's heir and leader of Asher's community, presented his offering on the eleventh day.
73 He gave a silver dish weighing 340.2 grams and a silver basin of 793.8 grams, each filled with fine flour mixed with olive oil for a grain-absolving payment.
74 A golden container weighing 114 grams filled with incense.
75 A young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a scorched absolving payment.
76 A male goat for a transgression absolving payment.
77 Pagiel's offering included two bulls, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs for a peace offering.
78 Ahira, Enan's heir and leader of Naphtali's community, presented his offering on the twelfth day.

79 His gift included a silver dish weighing 340.2 grams and a silver basin of 793.8 grams, each filled with fine flour mixed with olive oil for a grain tribute.
80 A golden container weighing 114 grams filled with incense.
81 One young bull, a ram, and a one-year-old male lamb for a scorched absolving payment.

82 A male goat for a purification offering;
83 five male goats, five rams, five one-year-old male lambs, and two oxen for a peace offering; this was Ahira's absolving payment.
84 The contributions of Israel's leaders to commissioning the pedestal table at its consecration included twelve silver platters, twelve silver basins, and twelve golden vessels.
85 Each silver dish weighed 1474.2 grams, and each basin weighed 793.8 grams; all the silver utensils totaled 27.36 kilograms by the exalted fortress standard.
86 The twelve golden containers filled with incense each weighed 114 grams by the fortress gram standard; the total weight of the gold containers was 1,368 grams (120 shekels).
87 The animals dedicated for the scorched absolving payment included twelve young bulls, twelve rams, and twelve one-year-old lambs with their grain offerings; twelve billy goats served as transgression absolving payments.
88 The total animals included sixty one-year-old male lambs, sixty male goats, sixty rams, and twenty-four mature bulls for the peace offering; these animals were part of the pedestal table commissioning assignment.
89 As Moses entered the exalted Tent to commune with the Sovereign Captain, he heard the voice speaking from between the two Celestial Envoy representations atop the solemn agreement's Strongbox where the Preeminent Sovereign manifests reconciliation; the Sovereign Captain conversed with him in this manner.

§ 12140 SETTING UP THE LAMPS

8 Yahweh instructed Moses,
2,"Tell Aaron to ensure all seven lamps light the area in front of the light fixture."
3 Aaron positioned the lamps to illuminate the space as Moses, the Sovereign Captain, directed.

4 The light fixture was crafted from hammered gold, from base to floral designs, precisely following the Sovereign Captain's blueprint given to Moses.

§ 12150 THE SETTING APART OF THE LEVITES

5 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses:
6 "Separate the Levites from the Israelites and purify them."
7 To cleanse them, shower them with purifying water, have them shave their bodies, and wash their garments. This directive will purify them.
8 They should bring a young bull, and its grain gift of high-quality flour mixed with olive oil; also, secure another young bull for an unworthy choice offering.
9 Gather the Levites before the Tent of meeting and summon the entire Israelite community.
10 Present the Levites before the Sovereign Captain, and the Israelites must touch them.
11 Aaron shall offer the Levites to the Sovereign Captain as gifts from the Israelites, preparing them for their tasks.

12 The Levites should place their palms on the bulls' heads, with one serving as a purification absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain and the other as a scorched absolving payment for reconciliation.
13 Position the Levites before Aaron and his sons and offer them as an uplifted offering to the Sovereign Captain.
14 This will distinguish the Levites from the Israelites, making them exclusively mine.
15 Once cleansed and presented as an uplifted offering, they may perform their duties at the Communal Tent.
16 They are dedicated entirely to me instead of all first-born males from every Israeli female.

17 Every first-born in Israel, human or creature, belongs to me. After eliminating every first-born in Egypt, I claimed them for myself.
18 The Levites are substitutes for all Israelite first-born sons.
19 I have designated the Levites from all Israel to serve Aaron and his descendants, carrying out tasks at the Communal Tent and securing reconciliation to prevent calamity when approaching Preeminent Sovereign's fortress."

20 As the Sovereign Captain instructed, Moses, Aaron, and the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel performed these actions for the Levites.
21 The Levites cleansed themselves of unworthy choice and laundered their garments. Aaron then offered them to the Sovereign Captain and performed the rite of reconciliation to purify them.
22 The Levites then performed their duties at the ensovereigned lifestyle community Tent under Aaron's supervision. They executed their responsibilities as per the Sovereign Captain's directives given to Moses.

23 The Preeminent Sovereign spoke to Moses:
24 "Levites aged twenty-five or above must serve in the Communal Tent proceedings.
25 They must step down from their duties and cease laboring at fifty.
26 They may support fellow Levites but not perform tasks themselves. This directive is how you should delegate Levite duties."

§ 12160 THE EMANCIPATION

9 In the second year after leaving Egypt, the Sovereign Captain spoke to Moses in the Sinai wilderness.

2 "Tell the Israelites to observe the Emancipation Feast at the appointed time.
3 Celebrate it at dusk on the fourteenth day of this month, following all its directives and laws."
4 Moses instructed the Israelites to observe the Emancipation Feast.
5 They did as the Sovereign Captain commanded Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai at dusk on the fourteenth day of the first month.
6 However, some were formally unsanitary due to contact with a corpse and couldn't participate in the Emancipation Feast celebration that day. They sought guidance from Moses and Aaron.
7 They said, "A corpse defiles us. Why should we be excluded from offering our tribute to the Sovereign Captain at the appointed time with the rest of the Israelites?" Moses replied,
8 "Wait until I receive instructions from the Sovereign Captain."
9 The Eternal Reality spoke to Moses.

10 “Tell the Israelites: ‘Even if you or your descendants become formally defiled by a corpse or are far away on a trip, you must still observe the Sovereign Captain’s Emancipation celebration. ’”
11 They shall partake in the meal on the fourteenth day of the second month, eating the lamb with bread without yeast and bitter condiments.
12 They must not leave leftovers until the next day or break any bones. They must follow every decree when observing the Emancipation Feast.
13 Anyone formally healthy and not traveling but neglects to celebrate the Emancipation Feast will be cast out from their community for not providing the Sovereign Captain’s absolving payment at the appointed time. They will face the consequences of their transgression.
14 An outsider living among you may also celebrate the Sovereign Captain’s Emancipation, following its norms and procedures. The same laws apply to nonnative residents and those born in Israel.”

§ 12170 THE CLOUD ABOVE THE TENT

15 On the day the Exalted Tent, also known as the Tent of the Agreement, was established, a cloud covered it, appearing like fire from dusk until dawn.
16 This pattern continued: clouds by day, fiery appearance by night.
17 Whenever the cloud lifted from the Tent, the Israelites journeyed; they camped wherever the cloud settled.
18 By the Preeminent Sovereign’s directive, they traveled and camped. As long as the cloud stayed over the Tent, they remained encamped.
19 If the cloud lingered, they stayed put, adhering to the Preeminent Sovereign’s command.
20 Sometimes, the cloud briefly settled on the Tent; they followed the Sovereign Captain’s instructions for camping and journeying.
21 Whether the cloud stayed from dusk till dawn or longer, they moved when it ascended.
22 Regardless of how long the cloud lingered—days, months, or a year—they stayed encamped until it lifted.
23 They camped and journeyed following the Sovereign Captain’s directives, upholding his directive through Moses.

§ 12180 THE SILVER TRUMPETS

10 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses,
2 “Craft two silver trumpets by hammering them. Use them to summon the community and signal camp departures.
3 The ensovereigned lifestyle community will gather when both trumpets sound at the Communal Tent entrance.
4 Israel’s chiefs and communal heads will assemble if one trumpet sounds.

5 At the trumpet alarm, eastern communities will set out.
6 A second alarm signals southern communities to begin their journey. This sound marks their departure.
7 To gather the ensovereigned lifestyle community, sound the trumpets without the departure signal.
8 Aaron’s descendants, the ensovereigned mediators, must blow the trumpets. This directive is an eternal decree for you and future generations.

9 In conflict within your territory, blow the trumpets loudly against an adversary. This blast will alert the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, who will remember and deliver you.
10 During joyful events, festivals, and new months, sound the trumpets over your scorched absolving payments and peace offerings. They will remind you before your Preeminent Sovereign: I am your Eternal Sovereign Captain.”

§ 12190 THE ISRAELITES LEAVE SINAI

11 In the second month, on the twentieth day of the following year, the cloud emerged from the Tent of the Solemn Agreement.
12 The Israelites departed from the Sinai wilderness, journeying intermittently until the guiding cloud ceased moving in the Paran wilderness.
13 Moses executed this initial movement according to the directive of the Sovereign Captain.
14 The company of Judah’s camp embarked first, following their banner. Nahshon, a descendant of Amminadab, assumed the leadership.
15 Nethanel, Zuar’s offspring, led the fraction of the Issachar community.
16 Eliab, the male heir of Helon, led the Zebulunite communal troops.
17 Subsequently, the Tent was disassembled, and the descendants of Gershon and Merari, who were responsible for its transport, commenced their journey.

18 Following their flag, the military units of the Reuben camp proceeded next, with Shedeur’s male heir, Elizur, serving as the commander.
19 Shelumiel, the male heir of Zurishaddai, was in command of the Simeon community’s unit.
20 Eliasaph, the male heir of Deuel, was in charge of the division belonging to the community of Gad.
21 The Kohathites embarked on their journey, transporting the exalted items. The construction of the Tent was to take place before their arrival.
22 Guided by their flag, the communal group of Ephraim set off in succession. Elishama, the offspring of Ammihud, held the leadership.
23 The command of the Manasseh community’s division was under Gamaliel, Pedahzur’s male heir.
24 Gideon’s male heir, Abidan, was responsible for the Benjamin community’s division.
25 As the final formation, the divisions from Dan’s camp began their journey under their ensign, serving as the protection at the rear of all the troops. Ahiezer, the male heir of Ammishaddai, was leading them.
26 The command of the Asher community’s division was with Pagiel, Okran’s male heir.
27 Ahira, the male heir of Enan, commanded the communal unit of Naphtali.
28 This sequence was the order in which the divisions of the Israelites progressed when they embarked on their journey.
29 Moses told Hobab, Reuel, the Midianite’s male heir, and Moses’ father-in-law that they were launching towards the area where the Sovereign Captain declared, “I will grant it to you.” He invited Hobab to join them on their journey, assuring him of their excellent treatment, as the Sovereign Captain assured Israel prosperity.
30 He responded, “I shall not accompany you; I am returning to the land of my birth and my relatives.”

31 Moses implored, “Do not desert us, for you know the suitable spots for camp in the wilderness, and you could act as our guide.
32 Should you join us, we all have the empowerment the Sovereign Captain grants us, and we’ll ensure it with you.”

33 They embarked from the Sovereign Captain's mountain and journeyed for several days. The Strongbox containing the Sovereign Captain's solemn agreement led the way during the three-day travel, scouting a suitable location for them to settle and rest.
34 The Sovereign Captain's cloud hovered above them when they embarked from the encampment during the daytime.
35 When the Strongbox commenced its journey, Moses proclaimed, "Arise, My Sovereign Captain! Let those who oppose you scatter; let those who bear hatred towards you retreat."
36 Every time it settled, he would declare, "Repatriate, Captain, to the myriad multitudes of Israel."

§ 12200 FIRE FROM THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

11 The individuals grumbled about their misfortunes within the Sovereign Captain's purview, provoking His irritation. Consequently, a flame from the Sovereign Captain ignited and devoured parts of the encampment.
2 As the individuals pled with Moses, he melded his consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign to the Sovereign Captain, leading to the fire's cessation.
3 The location became known as Taberah since the Eternal Reality's flame of the Sovereign Captain had ignited among them.

§ 12210 QUAIL FROM THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

4 The dissatisfied group longed for different cuisines, and the Israelites lamented, wishing for meat.

5 "We recall the seafood we consumed in Egypt without charge, including cucumbers, watermelons, scallions, onions, and garlic."
6 "Now, our desire for food has waned; all we see is this celestial food!"
7 Manna resembled coriander seeds and had a resin semblance.
8 They collected it, milled it using hand mills, or pounded it using a mortar. They boiled it in a pot or shaped it into bread. It tasted like dishes prepared with olive oil.
9 The celestial food descended as the dew touched the encampment during twilight.
10 Moses heard lamentations from each family at their tent's entrance. The Preeminent Sovereign's wrath was intensely kindled, and Moses was distressed.
11 Moses questioned the Sovereign Captain, asking why such distress had been inflicted on him, a devoted servant. He wondered what wrong he had committed to justify entrusting him with such a large populace.
12 "Have I birthed these people or brought them into the world? Am I to cradle them in my arms and deliver them to the land you guaranteed to their forefathers as if I were a nursemaid?"
13 "How can I source meat to feed these people? They consistently cry out to me, 'We want meat to eat!'"
14 "I cannot shoulder the responsibility of these individuals alone; the load is overwhelmingly substantial for me."
15 "If this is your intended manner of dealing with me, I implore you to end my life right away if I have garnered your favor and spare me the sight of my downfall."
16 The Eternal Reality requested Moses to assemble seventy of Israel's older politicians, recognized for their leadership and authority among the people. He instructed them to convene at the Communal Tent and maintain their position alongside Moses.

17 “I will speak with you there when I descend and transfer some of the Eternal Spark on you to them. They will assist you in carrying the weight of others so that you won’t have to do it alone.”

18 “Inform the people: ‘Purify yourselves for the coming day when you consume meat. the Sovereign Captain has heard your cries, longing for meat! You claimed to have a better life in Egypt! Now, the Sovereign Captain will provide you with meat, and you will devour it. ’”
19 “This meat will last more than a single day, two days, or five, ten, or even twenty days.”
20 “Still, for an entire month until it emerges from your nose, and you find it revolting due to your dismissal of the Sovereign Captain, who is in your midst, and you have lamented to him, questioning, ‘Why did we ever depart from Egypt?’”
21 Moses said, “I stand amidst six hundred thousand footmen, and yet, you declare, ‘I will pass them meat to consume for an entire month!’”
22 “Would it be adequate if all the flocks and herds were butchered? Even if all the fish in the ocean were captured, would it suffice?”
23 The Sovereign Captain asked Moses, “Is the Sovereign Captain’s power limited? You will witness whether my word becomes a reality for you.”
24 Moses relayed the Sovereign Captain’s message to the community. He assembled seventy respected leaders and positioned them around the Tent.
25 Subsequently, the Sovereign Captain descended into the cloud and spoke with him. He then placed the Eternal Spark upon Moses and the seventy elders. They expressed eternal wisdom while the Eternal Spark was upon them. Still, they didn’t do so again.
26 Eldad and Medad chose to stay within the camp boundaries. Although considered among the elders, they did not venture to the Tent. The Eternal Spark also found them, leading them to envision the camp.
27 A lad sprinted to inform Moses that Eldad and Medad were voicing the words of Eternal Reality within the camp.
28 Joshua, the male heir of Nun, who had been assisting Moses since his youth, exclaimed, “Sir Moses, halt them!” Moses responded
29 “Do you resent this on my account? I desire all of the Preeminent Sovereign’s people to be eternally wise servants and for Him to grant His Eternal Spark to them!”

30 Moses and Israel’s senior leaders retreated to the encampment.
31 The Sovereign Captain instigated a gust, bringing in quail from the sea. These quails were strewn up to 105 centimeters high around the encampment, covering a range as far as a day’s journey.
32 The entire day and night, and all of the following day, individuals gathered quails. The minimum anyone accumulated was ten homers. Subsequently, they dispersed them throughout the camp.
33 Yet, as they were chewing the meat before its complete consumption, the wrath of the Sovereign Captain ignited against the populace, and He inflicted them with a disastrous epidemic.
34 Consequently, the location got its name, Kibroth Hattaavah, as it was the burial site of individuals who had desired alternative nourishment.
35 The individuals journeyed from Kibroth Hattaavah to Hazeroth, where they made camp.

§ 12220 MIRIAM AND AARON OPPOSE MOSES

12 Miriam and Aaron criticized Moses for marrying a Cushite woman.

2 They questioned, “Does the Preeminent Sovereign communicate solely through Moses?
Doesn’t He likewise converse with us?” the Sovereign Captain overheard this.
3 Moses was exceedingly meek, surpassing all others in humility on the planet.
4 Instantly, the Sovereign Captain called on Moses, Aaron, and Miriam, instructing them to emerge to the Tent of assembly. They all exited.
5 The Sovereign Captain descended in a pillar of cloud, positioned himself at the Tent’s entrance, and called on Aaron and Miriam. Both came forward.
6 He proclaimed, “Pay heed to my declarations: if an eternally wise servant exists in your midst,
I, the Sovereign Captain, unveil myself through visions and communicate with them via dreams.

7 However, this isn’t the case with my servant Moses; he is loyal throughout my household.
8 I communicate with him directly, unambiguously, and devoid of mysteries; he bears testament to the Sovereign Captain’s form. Why, then, were you unafraid to malign my servant Moses?”
9 The fury of the Sovereign Captain was ignited towards them, and he exited their presence.
10 Miriam’s flesh was stricken with contagious skin disease (an indication of inner unhealthfulness) as the cloud ascended over the Tent, turning pale as snow. Aaron saw she was afflicted with a disfiguring skin condition.
11 Aaron implored Moses, “Please don’t penalize us for our indiscretion in such a thoughtless manner.
12 Don’t let her become like a newborn that appears half consumed at birth.”
13 Moses earnestly implored the Sovereign Captain to restore her health!
14 The Sovereign Captain asked Moses, “Wouldn’t she have been humiliated for a week if her father spat in her face? She should be isolated outside the camp for a week, and then she may be reintegrated.”
15 Miriam was isolated beyond the camp borders for a week, and the community didn’t proceed until her return.
16 Afterward, the populace departed Hazeroth and established their camp in the Paran Wilderness.

§ 12230 EXPLORING CANAAN

13 Yahweh instructed Moses,
2 “Send scouts to Canaan, the land I’m granting to the Israelites. Choose a leader from each ancestral community.” Following the Sovereign Captain’s directive, Moses sent them
3 from the Paran wilderness. Each was a leader among the Israelites.

4 The names included Shammua, Zakkur’s son, from Reuben;
5 Shaphat, Hori’s son, from Simeon;
6 Caleb, Jephunneh’s son, from Judah;
7 Igal, Joseph’s son, from Issachar;
8 Hoshea, Nun’s son, from Ephraim;
9 Palti, Raphu’s son, from Benjamin;
10 Gaddiel, Sodi’s son, from Zebulun;
11 Gaddi, Susi’s son, from Manasseh (Joseph’s community);
12 Ammiel, Gemalli’s son, from Dan;
13 Sethur, Michael’s son, from Asher;
14 Nahbi, Vophsi’s son, from Naphtali;
15 Geuel, Maki’s son, from Gad.

16 Moses renamed Hoshea, Nun’s son, Joshua.

17 Moses instructed them to explore Canaan via the southern desert and the mountains.
18 “Assess the land and its people—strong or weak, few or many.
19 Is the land good or bad? Are the towns unwalled or fortified?
20 Is the soil fertile or poor? Are there trees? Bring back some of the produce.” It was grape harvest season.

21 They scouted from the Zin wilderness to Rehob near Lebo Hamath.

22 In the Negev, they reached Hebron, home to Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai of Anak’s family. In Egypt, Hebron was constructed seven years before Zoan.
23 They chopped a branch with a bunch of grapes that two men carried on a pole in the Valley of Eshcol. They also took pomegranates and figs.
24 The place was named Valley of Eshkol because of the grapes.
25 They returned after forty days of exploration.

§ 12240 REPORT ON THE EXPLORATION

26 The explorers returned to Moses, Aaron, and the Israelite community at Kadesh in the Wilderness of Paran. They reported their findings and showcased the land’s produce.
27 They informed Moses, “We explored the land you directed us to, and it’s teeming with milk and honey! Pay heed, it’s produce.
28 However, the inhabitants are formidable, and their settlements are heavily fortified and vast. We even saw the progeny of Anak there.
29 The Amalekites inhabit the southern Negev; the Hittites, Jebusites, and Amorites dwell in the mountains, while the Canaanites live by the sea and the Jordan River.”
30 Caleb calmed the crowd near Moses, urging them to advance and claim the territory because they could achieve it.
31 However, the men who journeyed with him said, “We cannot assault those individuals; their strength surpasses ours.”
32 They spread a discouraging narrative among the Israelites, claiming, “The land we explored consumes its inhabitants. Every individual we encountered was of enormous stature.
33 We saw the Nephilim there (the offspring of Anak come from the Nephilim). In our perception, we appeared as insignificant as grasshoppers, and they saw us similarly.”

§ 12250 THE PEOPLE REBEL

14 That evening, every assembly member wept loudly.
2 The Israelis criticized Moses and Aaron, lamenting they hadn’t died in Egypt or the wilderness.
3 “Why is the Eternal Reality leading us here to die in battle? Our families will be taken as spoils. Wouldn’t it be better to return to Egypt?”
4 They proposed, “Let’s choose a leader and go back to Egypt.”
5 Moses and Aaron prostrated themselves before the community.
6 Joshua, Nun’s heir, and Caleb, Jephunneh’s heir, who scouted the land, tore their clothes in despair.
7 They told the Israelites the land they explored was excellent.

8 “If the Sovereign Captain favors us, he will lead us to this land flowing with milk and honey and give it to us.
9 Do not rebel against the Sovereign Captain. Don’t fear the inhabitants; we can overcome them. They are unprotected, but the Sovereign Captain is with us. Fear them not.”
10 The ensovereigned lifestyle community talked about stoning them. Then, the Eternal Reality’s radiance appeared at the assembly tent to all Israelites.
11 The Eternal Reality asked Moses: “How long will these people disrespect me? How long will they reject my ultimate authenticity despite all the marvelous works I have done among them?
12 I will punish them with disease and eradicate them. Yet, I will make you a stronger nation.”
13 Moses told the Sovereign Captain that the Egyptians would hear of it! Through your might, you rescued these people from their grasp.
14 The region’s residents will hear that you, Preeminent Sovereign, are with these people, visibly present to them, with your protective aura above them, guiding them by day and night.

15 If you annihilate this populace, sparing no one, international communities will say,
16 ‘Because the Sovereign Captain couldn’t fulfill His promise of leading these people into the land He swore to them, He eliminated them in the wilderness. ’
17 Show your power now, per your proclamation.
18 The Sovereign Captain is patient and full of boundless love, forgiving wrongdoing and rebellion. However, he doesn’t exempt the guilty; he punishes unworthy choices up to the fourth generation.
19 In your immense mercy, absolve these people of their wrongdoings as you have since they left Egypt.”
20 The Sovereign Captain responded, “I have pardoned them as you requested.
21 As long as I exist and as the Sovereign Captain’s splendor engulfs the globe,
22 no one who saw my majesty and marvelous works in Egypt and the wilderness yet defied me ten times will see the promised land.
23 None will witness the land I vowed to their forefathers. Those who scorned me will never behold it.
24 My servant Caleb, with his unique enthusiasm and full devotion, will inhabit the land he explored, and his offspring will own it.
25 Since the Amalekites and Canaanites inhabit the lowlands, change direction tomorrow and head towards the wilderness via the Red Sea path.”
26 The Eternal Reality spoke to Moses and Aaron:
27 “How long will this evil assembly complain about me? I’ve heard their grievances.
28 Tell them, ‘As surely as I exist, ’ proclaims the Sovereign Captain, ‘I will do what I heard you say.
29 Your corpses shall fall in this wilderness. everyone twenty or older who complained about me will not settle in the land I pledged to you, except Caleb and Joshua.

30 With the exception of Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh, none of you will undoubtedly visit the land where I vowed to establish you.
31 Your children, whom you feared would be captured, will enjoy the land you despised.
32 Your corpses will fall in this desert.
33 Your offspring will wander for forty years, bearing your disloyalty until all your corpses are gone.
34 For forty years—each year for each day you scouted—you will bear your offenses and understand my opposition’s severity.
35 I, the Sovereign, have proclaimed and will carry out these actions against this assembly that allied against me. Their end will occur in this wilderness; here they will perish.”

36 On their return, those Moses had sent to inspect the land stirred discontent by spreading a negative report.
37 A plague struck and killed those responsible for spreading the detrimental report before the Sovereign Captain.
38 Only Joshua and Caleb survived from those who investigated the territory.
39 The Israelis grieved intensely upon hearing this.
40 At dawn, they set out for the hill country peak, declaring their readiness to ascend to the promised land, acknowledging their transgressions!
41 Moses questioned, “Why are you opposing the Sovereign Captain’s decree? Your attempt will fail!
42 Don’t advance; Eternal Reality is not with you. Your adversaries will overpower you.
43 Facing the Amalekites and Canaanites without the Sovereign Captain’s presence will lead to your downfall by a tactical blade.”

44 Despite their audacity, they advanced towards the hill country peak. However, the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain’s agreement and Moses stayed in camp.
45 The Amalekites and Canaanites in that hilly terrain descended, attacked, and repelled them to Hormah.

§ 12260 SUPPLEMENTARY OFFERINGS

15 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses,
2 “Tell the sons of Israel they will enter the land I am giving them.
3 Offer gifts from your herds or flocks to the Sovereign Captain as a pleasing fragrance. These can be scorched, absolving, or reconciliation payments for vows, voluntary or festival offerings.
4 The one presenting an offering should give the Sovereign Captain 2.2 liters of choice flour and 0.9 liters of olive oil.
5 For the drink offering, set aside 2.25 liters of wine for each lamb used to pay burned absolving payment.
6 Provide 4.5 liters of premium flour and 1.22 liters of olive oil for a ram.
7 Present 1.365 liters of wine for the drink offering, a satisfying scent for the Sovereign Captain.
8 When preparing a young bull for a scorched gift or a joyful adoration act to honor a pledge or as a peace offering,
9 present with it a grain tribute of three-tenths of top-grade flour blended with half a unit of olive oil.
10 Also, present 2.05 liters of wine as a poured offering, a nourishing tribute with a pleasing fragrance to the Sovereign Captain.
11 Prepare every bull, ram, lamb, or kid goat in this way.
12 Follow this procedure regardless of the quantity prepared.

13 Every native-born must perform these activations when offering a meal as a pleasing fragrance to the Sovereign Captain.
14 In future generations, resident outsiders or anyone living with you who wishes to offer a food-absolving payment must follow the same practices.
15 The same regulations apply to you and the foreigner living among you; this is an unchanging Law for future generations. In the Sovereign Captain’s sight, you and the foreigner are equals.
16 The same directives and ordinances govern you and the outsider within your borders.”
17 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses,
18 “Tell the Israelites: ‘Upon arrival in the land I am leading you to, [19] when you consume its sustenance, set aside a fragment as a tribute to the Sovereign Captain.

[20] Submit a cake from your initial ground grain as a contribution, like a gift from the threshing floor.
[21] From your first milled grain portion, present a contribution to the Sovereign Captain for all future generations.

§ 12270 OFFERINGS FOR UNINTENTIONAL UNWORTHY CHOICES

[22] If the ensovereigned lifestyle community unintentionally disregards any of the Sovereign Captain's directives given through Moses,
[23-24] must offer a young bull as a scorched absolving payment, along with the designated grain and drink offerings and a male goat for an unworthy choice offering.
[25] The ensovereigned mediators will seek reconciliation for the entire Israeli society, and forgiveness will be granted for the unintentional misdeed.
[26] This applies to both Israelites and outsiders living among them.

[27] If an individual errs inadvertently, they must offer a female goat in its first year as a purification offering.
[28] The ensovereigned mediator will seek reconciliation for the individual, who will then be absolved.
[29] This legislation applies to anyone who unwittingly commits unworthy decisions, whether native or outsider.
[30] However, deliberate, unworthy choices insult the Sovereign Captain and result in separation from the community of Israel.
[31] Such individuals must be cut off for contemptuously treating the Sovereign Captain's message and disobeying His directives; their responsibility for their unworthy choice remains with them.

§ 12280 THE REST DAY ABUSER PUT TO DEATH

[32] During the Israelites' desert journey, a man was found collecting timber on the Day of Rest.
[33] Those who discovered him brought him to Moses, Aaron, and the community.
[34] They detained him as there were no clear directives on his punishment.
[35] The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses that the man must be put to death. The community was to stone him outside the camp.
[36] Following the Sovereign Captain's command, the community led him out and executed him by stoning.

§ 12290 TASSELS ON GARMENTS

[37] The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses.
[38] Tell the Israelites: "For all generations, attach fringes to your clothing edges, with a blue thread on each fringe."

39 These tassels will remind you to follow the Sovereign Captain's decrees, stay compliant, and avoid straying after your desires.
40 This will help you remember my directives and lead to your purification towards your Eternal Reality."
41 I am your celestial guide, who brought you out of Egypt to serve as your Eternal Reality. I am your celestial guide.

§ 12300 KORAH, DATHAN AND ABIRAM

16 Korah, a descendant of Izhar, Kohath, and Levi, along with Dathan, Abiram (sons of Eliab), and On (son of Peleth) from the community of Reuben, rebelled.
2 They opposed Moses with 250 prominent Israelite leaders.

3 They confronted Moses and Aaron, saying, "You've overstepped! The entire community is exalted, and the Sovereign Captain is among them. Why do you elevate yourselves above the Sovereign Captain's ensovereigned lifestyle community?"
4 Moses fell face down upon hearing this.
5 He told Korah and his adherents that the Sovereign Captain would reveal who is truly set-apart at dawn.

6 "Korah and your adherents, take incense burners.
7 Tomorrow, place burning embers and incense on them before the Sovereign Captain. The one who the Sovereign Captain selects will be set-apart. You Levites have exceeded your limits!"

8 Moses implored the Levites to listen.

9 "Isn't it enough that the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel has distinguished you from the rest of the Israelites, bringing you closer to serve at the Sovereign Captain's fortress?
10 Now you seek the mediatorship too.
11 You conspire against the Sovereign Captain. What makes Aaron significant that you complain against him?"

12 Moses summoned Dathan and Abiram, but they refused to come.
13 "Don't you think it's enough that you brought us to the wilderness to perish in a land overflowing with milk and honey? You intend to dominate over us now as well!
14 You haven't brought us to a land flowing with milk and honey or given us fields and vineyards. Will you exploit these people as servants? We refuse!"

15 Moses, enraged, pleaded with the Sovereign Captain to dismiss their absolving payment. "I haven't taken a single donkey from them or harmed anyone."

16 Moses instructed Korah and his faction, including Aaron, to present themselves before the Sovereign Captain the next day.
17 Each should take their incense burner, fill it with incense—250 in total—and present it to the Sovereign Captain. Both Korah and Aaron should also bring their censers.

18 They did so and stood with Moses and Aaron at the Communal Tent's entrance.
19 Korah gathered his supporters against them at the tent's entrance, and the Sovereign Captain's magnificent presence was disclosed to all.
20 The Eternal Reality spoke to Moses and Aaron.

21 “Separate yourselves from this community; I’ll destroy them instantly.”
22 But Moses and Aaron pleaded, “O Eternal Reality Force, life-giver of all creatures, will your wrath be on the whole community for one person’s transgression?”

23 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses:
24 “Tell the ensovereigned lifestyle community to distance themselves from Korah, Dathan, and Abiram’s dwellings.”

25 Moses went to Dathan and Abiram, with Israel’s senior authorities following him.
26 He warned the assembly, “Move away from these impure men’s tents! If you touch anything of theirs, their unworthy choices will sweep you away.”

27 -28 They moved away from Korah, Dathan, and Abiram’s tents. Dathan and Abiram stood at their tents’ entrances with their families. Moses declared, “This is how you can determine that the Sovereign Captain has sent me to carry out all these things because it was not my own doing.
29 If these men die naturally like all humans, then the Sovereign Captain didn’t send me
30 But if the Sovereign Captain does something unprecedented and the ground swallows them alive into the underworld, you’ll know they’ve completely disregarded the Sovereign Captain.”

31 The ground split open as he finished speaking.
32 The Earth swallowed them, their families, all Korah’s adherents, and their possessions.

33 They went down alive into the underworld; the Earth closed over them, ending their existence in society.

34 Hearing their screams, all Israelites around them fled in fear of being swallowed, too.
35 Flames from the Sovereign Captain consumed the 250 men presenting incense.

36 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses

37 to tell Eleazar, Aaron’s son and ensovereigned mediator, to take the censers from the burned remains and scatter the coals elsewhere because the censers were exalted.
38 The censers of those who made unworthy choices should be hammered into plates to cover the pedestal table as a reminder to Israel.

39 Eleazar did so, flattening the bronze fire pans into a sheet for the pedestal table
40 as a reminder that only Aaron’s descendants could offer incense before the Sovereign Captain lest they meet Korah’s fate.

41 The next day, the ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israelites accused Moses and Aaron of causing the Sovereign Captain’s adherents’ deaths.

42 When they gathered to confront Moses and Aaron, they faced the Communal Tent covered in clouds, displaying the Sovereign Captain’s brilliant magnificence.

43 Moses and Aaron went to the Communal Tent entrance.

44 Yahweh told Moses:
45 ” Separate you from this assembly so I can swiftly eradicate them.” Moses and Aaron prostrated themselves on the ground.

46 Moses instructed Aaron to take his incense burner quickly, fill it with incense and burning coals from the pedestal table, and rush to seek reconciliation for the crowd because an epidemic had begun due to the Sovereign Captain’s fury.

47 Aaron did as instructed, rushing into the ensovereigned lifestyle community’s midst where the disease had already spread 48 but managed to halt it by presenting incense and seeking reconciliation for them.

49 The plague claimed 14,700 lives besides those who died in Korah’s incident.

50 After stopping the contagion, Aaron returned to Moses at the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent entrance

17 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to tell Israel to bring twelve walking sticks from each ancestral community leader with their names inscribed on them, including Aaron’s name on Levi’s rod.
2 Moses placed them in the Tent of assembly before the Strongbox of Solemn Agreement, where he would meet with the Sovereign Captain. The power staff of the chosen one would blossom, ending Israel’s complaints against Moses.

3 Moses did as instructed; each leader provided a rod including Aaron’s. He placed them before the Sovereign Captain in the testimony tent of solemn agreement. The next day, he found Aaron’s staff had budded, blossomed, and produced almonds. He presented all rods to Israel; each leader reclaimed theirs while Aaron’s was kept before the Strongbox as a warning to dissenters to cease complaints against Yahweh lest they die.
4 The Israelites told Moses they were doomed for approaching the Sovereign Captain’s fortress meant death.
5 The power staff of the guy I select will grow, and I will get rid of the Israelites’ constant complaints about you.
6 Following Moses’ speech to the Israelites, each of their leaders presented him with a staff; there were twelve staff, one for each of the community leaders. Among them was Aaron’s staff.
7 Then, in the Tent of the Testimony, Moses set the staffs in front of the Sovereign Captain.
8 Moses discovered that Aaron’s staff, which stood in for the house of Levi, had sprouted, put forth buds, flowered, and produced almonds when he entered the Tent of the Testimony the following day.
9 Then Moses showed all the Israelites the staffs in the Sovereign Captain's presence. Each man took his own staff when they were spotted.
10 Put Aaron’s staff back in front of the Testimony, to serve as a reminder to the disobedient, so that you can stop them from complaining about Me before they perish, the Sovereign Captain said Moses.
11 So, Moses followed the Sovereign Captain's instructions.
12 The Israelites told Moses, "Look, we're going to die! We are lost—all of us are lost!
13 Anyone approaching the Sovereign Captain’s Tent will perish. Will we all end up dead?

§ 12310 DUTIES OF THE PRIME ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS AND LEVITES

18 The Preeminent Sovereign instructed Aaron, “You and your family will bear the guilt for any wrongs related to the fortress. Only you and your descendants will be accountable for any misconduct in your roles as ensovereigned mediators.
2 Summon your Levite relatives to assist you and your descendants in serving at the Tent of the Solemn Agreement Law.
3 They must fulfill their duties to you and the Tent but must not approach the exalted equipment or the pedestal table, or they will die, and so will you.
4 They are to help you maintain the Communal Tent and perform all related tasks. No outsider may come near you.
5 Attend to the duties of the fortress and the pedestal table to prevent further celestial anger against the Israelites.
6 I have chosen the Levites from among the children of Israel as a gift to serve in the Sovereign Captain’s Communal Tent.
7 Only you and your sons may perform duties concerning the pedestal table and the interior of the veil. I grant you this exalted office as a service and gift. Any unauthorized person who approaches the fortress will face death.

§ 12320 ABSOLVING PAYMENTS FOR THE PRIME ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS AND LEV

8 The Sovereign Captain instructed Aaron that He entrusted him with the absolving payments dedicated to Him. Each exalted gift from the Israelites was given to Aaron and his descendants as their perpetual portion.
9 “Your entitlement includes the set-apart absolving payments unscathed by fire. Any gifts presented to Me, revered as the most exalted, whether grain, unworthy choice, or guilt-absolving payments, are for you and your descendants.
10 Consume it as a highly exalted element; every man can intake it. You must regard it as exalted.

11 This entitlement also includes anything set-apart for the Israelites’ waving absolving payments, granted to you, your sons, and daughters as an enduring portion. All pure members of your household may consume it.
12 I grant you the choicest olive oil, the finest new wine, and the best grain offered to the Sovereign Captain as the harvest’s inaugural yield.
13 The initial yield of the fields presented to the Sovereign Captain will belong to you. Any household member can consume it if they are formally healthy.
14 All purified possessions in Israel are yours.
15 Every first-born presented to the Sovereign Captain belongs to you. However, a substitute must be provided for every eldest male child and first male from unhealthy animals.
16 Once they reach one month, repurchase them at 56.7 grams of silver per the exalted shekel standard, equating to 5.7 grams.
17 You cannot buy back the first offspring of an ox, sheep, or goat; these are exalted. Cast their blood on the pedestal table and set their fat ablaze as an offering, producing a delightful scent to the Sovereign Captain.
18 You own their meat, just as the waving offering’s right thigh and breast.
19 Anything set-apart and offered by the Israelites to the Sovereign Captain is assigned to your sons and daughters as a continuous portion. This offering is a perpetual agreement of salt, signifying an unbreakable bond with the Sovereign Captain for you and your descendants.”

20 The Eternal Reality conveyed to Aaron that he would not possess any land or have any part in the lands of the Israelites; He was Aaron’s portion and inheritance among the Children of Israel.
21 All ten percent contributions across Israel are allocated to the Levites as their heritage, acknowledging their service within the Communal Tent.
22 The Israelites shall refrain from approaching the Tent of Meeting, lest they incur guilt from their unworthy choice and meet their death.

23 Solely, the Levites are assigned to manage the Communal Tent and will be accountable for any transgressions against it. This assignment is a perpetual mandate for successive generations. They are not entitled to any portion of land among the Israelites.
24 Instead, the Levites receive ten percent contributions from the children of Israel as their inheritance. So, I declared that they wouldn’t own any property among the Israelites.
25 Yahweh communicated to Moses.
26 “Instruct the Levites: ‘On receiving the one-tenth portion from the Israelites that I designate as your inheritance, you must offer a ten percent contribution of that ten percent contribution as a gift to the Sovereign Captain. ’
27 Your contribution will be considered as if it were grain from your threshing floor or new wine from the vat.
28 Similarly, contribute to the Sovereign Captain from all ten percent contributions collected from the Israelites. Give the Sovereign Captain’s share to Aaron, the ensovereigned mediator, from these ten percent contributions.
29 Offer the finest and most exalted piece of all donations received to the Sovereign Captain.”
30 “Instruct the Levites: ‘When you submit the finest portion, it will be considered equivalent to the yield from the threshing floor or juice from the winepress.
31 Any place is suitable for you and your family to consume, as it is your pay for duties at the assembly tent.
32 By offering the choicest part, you will evade culpability; moreover, do not taint the exalted gifts of the Israelites, lest you perish. ’”

§ 12330 THE WATER OF CLEANSING

19 The Sovereign Captain communicated to Moses and Aaron.
2 The Sovereign Captain’s Law requires: “Instruct the Israelites to deliver a flawless red cow with no marks that have never been harnessed.”

3 “Hand it over to the ensovereigned mediator Eleazar; it should be escorted beyond the camp and killed before him.”
4 “Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, should smear a bit of its blood with his finger and spatter it seven times toward the Communal Tent’s front.”
5 “The heifer must be scorched in his presence, including its skin, meat, blood, and dung.”
6 “The ensovereigned mediators are required to gather cedar wood, hyssop plant branches, and vivid red wool, which they will then toss into the fire, devouring the calf.”
7 “The ensovereigned mediator must cleanse his garments and bathe his body in water. Afterward, he may re-enter the camp, although he remains formally impure until the evening.”
8 “The individual who incinerates it must cleanse his attire and immerse himself in the water. He will remain tainted until nightfall.”

9 “A pure individual will collect the cow’s ashes and place them outside the encampment in an uncontaminated location. This duty will be reserved for the community of Israelites to use in the water meant for purification, serving as a cleansing from transgressions.”
10 “The individual collecting the cow’s ashes must wash his garments, remaining impure until sunset. This enduring decree applies to both the inhabitants of Israel and the aliens living within their borders.”
11 “Anyone who comes into contact with a dead human body shall be defiled for a week.”
12 “They are required to cleanse themselves using the water on both the third and seventh days; it is then that they will attain purity. However, they will exclusively be impure if they wash themselves on these days.”
13 “Those who do not wash themselves after coming into contact with a deceased person’s body soil the fortress of the Sovereign Captain. They are required to be eliminated from Israel. Since they weren’t sprinkled with the purifying water, they remain impure; their contamination continues to linger.”

14 “The regulation stipulates that if an individual passes away inside a tent, everyone who steps into the tent, and anyone already inside will be formally impure for seven days.”
15 “Any uncovered vessel that doesn’t have a tightly secured lid will be considered impure.”
16 “Any individual in the open countryside who comes into contact with a person killed by the tactical blade, someone who died from natural causes, a human bone, or a burial site will remain contaminated for one week.”
17 “Add some of the ashes from the scorched absolving payment into a vessel and mix it with clean water for the individual who is not pure.”
18 “A formally healthy individual should gather hyssop, immerse it in the water, and then scatter the water droplets on the tent, all the objects within, and the occupants therein. This formality should also be conducted on anyone who has had contact with a human bone, a burial site, a murder victim, or someone who passed away naturally.”
19 “The pure individual must scatter those impure on the third and seventh days; on the seventh day, he must cleanse them. Those undergoing purification must launder their clothing and immerse themselves in water, and they will be considered healthy by evening.”
20 “If unhealthy individuals fail to cleanse themselves, they should be segregated from the collective, as they have contaminated the Exalted Space of the Sovereign Captain. They remain unhealthy as the purifying water is not sprinkled on them.”
21 “This regulation is permanent for them. Whoever sprinkles the water for purification needs to wash their garments and anyone. Those who come into contact with such water will remain formally impure until nighttime.”
22 “Everything a defiled individual comes in contact with will be tainted, and any person interacting with it will remain impure until sundown.”

§ 12340 WATER FROM THE ROCK

20 In the first month, the ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israelites settled in the Wilderness of Zin, specifically in Kadesh, where Miriam died and was buried.

2 Finding no water, the community confronted Moses and Aaron.
3 They lamented, wishing they had perished with their brethren before the Sovereign Captain.
4 “Why bring Yahweh's assembly to this desert to die with our cattle?
5 Why lead us from Egypt to this barren place without crops, figs, vineyards, pomegranates, or water?”

6 Moses and Aaron left the assembly and bowed at the gathering tent's entrance, where they encountered the Sovereign Captain's radiance.
7 Yahweh instructed Moses,
8 "Take the power staff, gather the community with Aaron, and command the rock to yield water for the people and their cattle."
9 Moses took the power staff as directed.
10 He and Aaron assembled the community before the rock and said, "Pay heed, dissenters, must we bring water from this rock for you?"
11 Moses struck the rock twice with his power staff, producing abundant water for the people and their animals.
12 However, the Sovereign Captain told Moses and Aaron, "Because you did not trust me enough to honor Me as Exalted before the Israelites, you will not lead this ensovereigned lifestyle community into the land I am giving them."
13 This place, Meribah's waters, is where the Sovereign Captain contended with the Israelites and showed his purification among them.

§ 12350 EDOM DENIES ISRAEL PASSAGE

14 Moses sent envoys from Kadesh to the Edomite ruler with a message from Israel: "You know the hardships we've faced.
15 Our ancestors went to Egypt, where we lived for many years. The Egyptians mistreated us and our forebears.

16 But when we cried out to the Sovereign Captain, He heard us, sent a Celestial Envoy, and led us out of Egypt. Now, we are in Kadesh, on the edge of your territory.
17 Please let us pass through your land. We will not touch farmland or vineyards nor drink healthy water. We will stay on the Prime Ruler's Highway until we have passed through."

18 Edom replied: "You cannot pass through; if you try, we will confront you with weaponry."
19 The Israelites said: "We will stay on the main path, and if we or our animals drink any water, we will pay for it. We only ask to pass on foot."
20 Edom responded, "Passage is not permitted." Then, Edom confronted them with a large and powerful military force.
21 Since Edom denied Israel passage, Israel turned away from them.

§ 12360 THE DEATH OF AARON

22 The entire assembly of the Israelite people departed from Kadesh and arrived at Mount Hor.
23 Near Edom's boundary, the Sovereign Captain communicated with Moses and Aaron at Mount Hor.
24 "Aaron is going to die with his ancestors. Because both of you disregarded My orders at the Waters of Meribah, Aaron will not go into the country I am giving to the Israelites."

25 "Lead Aaron and his son Eleazar up Mount Hor."
26 "Remove Aaron's clothing and dress Eleazar in them, for Aaron is to die there."
27 Following the Sovereign Captain's directive, they ascended Mount Hor under the watchful gaze of the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community.

28 Moses stripped Aaron of his attire and dressed Eleazar in them. Aaron then passed away at the mountain’s peak. Moses and Eleazar descended the mountain.
29 When the Israelites learned of Aaron’s death, they mourned for thirty days.

§ 12370 ARAD DESTROYED

21 When the Israelites were traveling the path to Atharim, the Canaanite ruler of Arad, residing in the Negev, attacked and captured some Israelites.
2 Israel vowed to the Sovereign Captain: “If you deliver these people into our hands, we will destroy their cities.”
3 The Sovereign Captain granted their request, and Israel annihilated the Canaanites and their cities, naming the place Hormah.

§ 12380 THE BRONZE SNAKE

4 They journeyed from Mount Hor towards the Red Sea to avoid Edom, but the ensovereigned lifestyle community grew impatient.
5 They questioned the Preeminent Sovereign and Moses, asking, “Why did you lead us out of Egypt to die in this wilderness? We have no bread or water and detest this inferior food.”
6 The Eternal Reality sent poisonous serpents among them, causing many Israelites to die from snake bites.
7 The ensovereigned lifestyle community admitted their wrongdoing to Moses, asking him to intercede with the Sovereign Captain to remove the serpents. Moses merged his consciousness with the Sovereign Captain on behalf of the people.
8 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to make a serpent and set it on a stake, promising that anyone bitten would live if they looked at it.

9 Moses made a bronze snake and mounted it on a pole. Those bitten who looked at the bronze snake survived.

§ 12390 THE JOURNEY TO MOAB

10 The children of Israel set up camp in Oboth.
11 They then moved to Iye Abarim, in the desert wilderness East of Moab, facing the sunrise.
12 From there, they settled in the Valley of Zered.
13 Next, they camped by the Arnon, a wilderness region extending into Amorite territory. The Arnon marks Moab’s boundary with the Amorites.
14 It is recorded in the Sovereign Captain’s Battles Manuscript. . . Zahab in Suphah, along with the canyons, 15 and the valleys leading to Ar’s dwelling on Moab’s boundary.
16 They then moved to Beer, where the Eternal Reality told Moses, “Gather the ensovereigned lifestyle community, and I will provide them with water.”
17 Israel sang this hymn: “Arise, O source! Express it in a melody.”
18 Following the lawgiver’s instructions, the chiefs prepared the well with their staves, and the rulers dug it. They then marched from the wilderness to Mathana.
19 The journey continued from Mattanah to Nahaliel, then to Bamoth.

20 Finally, they moved from Bamoth to the valley of Moab, where Pisgah's summit overlooks the barren terrain.

§ 12400 DEFEAT OF SIHON AND OG

21 Israel sent envoys to Sihon, ruler of the Amorites, requesting passage through his land.

22 "Let us pass through your territory. We will not enter fields or vineyards nor drink any water. We will stay on the Prime Ruler's Road until we have crossed your land."
23 Sihon denied passage and mobilized his troops to confront Israel in the wilderness. At Jahaz, he waged war against Israel.
24 Israel defeated him, seizing his territory from the Arnon to the Jabbok, stopping at the Ammonite border due to their strong defenses.
25 Israel captured all Amorite cities, including Heshbon and its surrounding towns.
26 Heshbon had been Sihon's capital after defeating the Moabite ruler and taking his land to the Arnon.
27 Poets call for Heshbon's rebuilding and restoration of Sihon's city.
28 "Flames erupted from Heshbon, consuming Ar of Moab and the heights of Arnon."
29 Moab, you are doomed! Followers of Chemosh are destroyed; your sons fled, and your daughters were captured by Sihon, ruler of the Amorites.
30 We defeated them; Heshbon's rule ended as far as Dibon. We shattered them up to Nophah, reaching Medeba.
31 Israel settled in Amorite territory.
32 Moses sent scouts to Jazer; Israel captured its villages and expelled the Amorites.
33 They then moved towards Bashan. Og, ruler of Bashan, and his army confronted them at Edrei.
34 The Sovereign Captain told Moses, "Do not fear him; I have given you his land and army. Treat him as you did Sihon, ruler of Heshbon."
35 They defeated Og, his sons, and his army, leaving no survivors and taking his land.

§ 12410 BALAK SUMMONS BALAAM

22 The Israelites camped on the Moabite plains opposite Jericho by the Jordan.
2 Balak, son of Zippor, saw Israel's actions against the Amorites.
3 Moab was terrified and overwhelmed by the Israelites' numbers.
4 The Moabites told Midian's elders, "This horde will consume everything like an ox grazes grass." Balak, son of Zippor, ruled Moab at this time.

5 Balak sent messengers to Balaam, son of Beor, in Pethor by the Euphrates. He said, "A people from Egypt cover the land and camp near me.
6 Come and curse them for me; they are too powerful. With your help, I can defeat and expel them. I know those you bless are empowered, and those you curse are damned."

7 Moab and Midian's leaders took payment for foretelling and relayed Balak's message to Balaam.
8 Balaam told them, "Stay overnight, and I will give you the Sovereign Captain's response." So, the Moabite leaders stayed.
9 The Preeminent Sovereign asked Balaam, "Who are these men with you?"

10 Balaam replied, “Balak, son of Zippor, Prime Ruler of Moab, sent them.
11 A people from Egypt cover the land. Come and curse them for me so I can fight and expel them.”

12 The Preeminent Sovereign told Balaam not to go or curse the people because they were empowered.
13 Balaam told Balak’s representatives, “Return home; the Sovereign Captain forbids me to go with you.”
14 The Moabite leaders reported back to Balak that Balaam refused to come.

15 Balak sent more numerous and esteemed representatives.
16 They told Balaam, “Balak, son of Zippor, implores you not to let anything stop you from coming.
17 I will reward you richly and follow your directives. Please come and curse these people for me.”
18 Balaam replied, “Even if Balak gave me all his wealth, I couldn’t do anything against the Sovereign Captain’s decree.
19 Stay overnight so I can learn more from the Sovereign Captain.”

20 That night, the Preeminent Sovereign told Balaam to go with the men but only do what He commands.

§ 12420 BALAAM’S DONKEY

21 Balaam rose early, readied his donkey, and set out with Moab’s leaders.
22 The Preeminent Sovereign was furious, and the Sovereign Captain’s Celestial Envoy blocked his path. Balaam rode his donkey with two aides.
23 Seeing the Celestial Envoy with a tactical blade, the donkey veered into a field. Balaam struck it to return to the road.
24 The Sovereign Captain’s messenger stood in a narrow rooftop garden path, walled on both sides.
25 The donkey pressed against the wall, crushing Balaam’s foot, so he struck it again.
26 The Sovereign Captain’s messenger moved to a spot where turning was impossible.
27 The donkey lay down under Balaam, who beat it with his stick.

28 The Sovereign Captain gave the donkey speech, and it asked Balaam, “Why have you beaten me three times?”
29 Balaam replied, “You’ve made me look foolish! If I had a blade, I’d kill you.”
30 The donkey said, “Haven’t I been your donkey all this time? Have I ever done this before?” He answered, “No.”
31 The Sovereign Captain then opened Balaam’s eyes to see the Celestial Envoy with an unsheathed tactical blade. Balaam bowed low.
32 The Celestial Envoy asked, “Why have you beaten your donkey three times? I came to oppose you because your path is reckless.”
33 “The donkey saw me and turned away three times. If it hadn’t, I would have killed you but spared it.”
34 Balaam admitted his unworthy choice. “I didn’t know you were blocking my path. If you disapprove, I’ll go back.”
35 The Sovereign Captain’s messenger told Balaam to go with the men but speak only the given words. So, Balaam went with Balak’s officials.

36 Balak met Balaam at Ar in Moab, near the Arnon border.
37 Balak asked, “Why didn’t you come when I summoned you? Don’t you trust I can reward you?”
38 Balaam replied, “I’m here now but can only say what the Preeminent Sovereign tells me.”
39 Balaam went with Balak to Kiriath Huzoth.
40 Balak sacrificed sheep and oxen, sending meat to Balaam and the leaders.
41 At dawn, Balak took Balaam to Bamoth Baal to see the Israelite camp’s outskirts.

§ 12430 BALAAM’S FIRST MESSAGE

23 Balaam requested seven altars be set up and seven bovines and seven rams be prepared for an absolving payment.
2 Balak complied, and they sacrificed a bull and a ram on each absolving pedestal table.
3 Balaam instructed, “Balak, stay here by your offering while I go elsewhere. Maybe the Sovereign Captain will meet me. Whatever He tells me, I will relay to you.” He then went to a lonely hill.
4 The Preeminent Sovereign encountered him. Balaam said, “I have sacrificed a ram and a bull on each of the seven altars I built.”
5 The Sovereign Captain gave Balaam a message, instructing him to return to Balak and deliver specific wording.
6 He returned to find Balak by his absolving payment, surrounded by all the authorities of Moab.
7 Balaam then delivered his message: “Balak summoned me from Aram, the Prime Ruler of Moab from the hills of the East. ‘Come, ’ he urged, ‘curse Jacob for me and denounce Israel. ’
8 How can I curse those the Preeminent Sovereign hasn’t cursed? How can I condemn those the Sovereign Captain hasn’t denounced?
9 I see them from the mountain tops and elevated hills. They are a community that lives apart, not considering themselves part of the global nations.
10 Who can count Jacob’s descendants as numerous as dust or even a quarter of the Israelites? May I die the death of the authentic, and may my end be like theirs!”
11 Balak asked Balaam, “What have you done to me? I brought you to curse my adversaries, yet you’ve only empowered them!”
12 He responded, “Shouldn’t I speak only the words given to me by the Sovereign Captain?”

§ 12440 BALAAM’S SECOND MESSAGE

13 “Go to an alternate place from which you may observe them; you will see only the perimeter of their camp,” Balak begged. From there, curse them for me.
14 Seven altars were built there, and absolving payments of a bovine and a sheep were made on each one.
15 Balaam instructed Balak to stay by his offering while he went to meet Yahweh.
16 Yahweh met Balaam, gave him a message, and told him to return to Balak and deliver it.
17 Balaam returned and found Balak by his absolving gift with the Moabite leaders. Balak asked, “What has the Sovereign Captain said?”
18 Balaam declared: “Rise, Balak, and listen; hear me, son of Zippor.
19 The Preeminent Sovereign does not lie or change His mind. Does He speak and not act? Does He promise and not fulfill?
20 I have received a command to empower; He has empowered, and I cannot change it.

21 No misfortune is seen in Jacob; no trouble is found in Israel. the Sovereign Captain, their Preeminent Sovereign, is with them; the shout of the Prime Ruler is among them.
22 The Preeminent Sovereign brought them out of Egypt; they have the strength of a wild bull.
23 Jacob is immune to magic, and Israel is immune to curses. “Look what the Preeminent Sovereign has done!” will now be stated about Jacob and Israel 24 Like a big cat that does not sleep until it has eaten its quarry and drunk the blood of its victims, the people get up and move like a lioness.
25 Balak told Balaam, “Do not curse or bless them!”
26 Balaam replied, “Did I not tell you I must do whatever the Sovereign Captain directives?”

§ 12450 BALAAM’S THIRD MESSAGE

27 Balak suggested to Balaam, “Let’s try a different location. It might be right in Preeminent Sovereign’s eyes to have you pronounce a curse on them for me from that spot.”
28 Balak escorted Balaam to the peak of Peor, which provided a view over the barren land.
29 Balaam directed Balak to construct seven altars and arrange seven male cattle and seven male sheep for my needs.
30 Balak followed Balaam’s instructions, presenting a bull and a ram as absolving payments on each pedestal table.

24 Observing that it was agreeable to the Sovereign Captain to grant favor to Israel, Balaam refrained from seeking omens as before. Instead, he directed his attention to the wilderness.
2 As Balaam raised his gaze and observed Israel’s communities camping in their respective order, he was suddenly filled with the Preeminent Sovereign’s Eternal Spark.
3 He disclosed: “The foretelling of Balaam, the male heir of Beor, the foretelling of a man with clear vision.
4 This message is from a man who hears the words of the Preeminent Sovereign, perceives a vision from the Eternal Reality, falls into a trance, and has wide open eyes.
5 O Jacob, your living quarters are delightful, and your Israel settlements are exceedingly pleasing!
6 They extend just like deep valleys, just like manicured gardens neighboring a stream, similar to aloes that the Sovereign Captain has nurtured, comparable to cedars adjacent to bodies of water.
7 Their buckets will brim with water; their crops will have plenty of hydration. Their ruler will surpass Agag in greatness; their reign will be highly acclaimed.
8 Having been led from Egypt by a Preeminent Sovereign, they possess the vigor of a robust wild ox. They consume aggressive nations, smashing their skeleton into fragments; they impale them with their projectiles.

9 They are poised and at rest like a lion, just like a lioness who dares to provoke them. Favors will be on those who wish you well, and condemnation will be given to those who do not bear you malice!”
10 Balak’s rage flared up against Balaam. He clapped his hands in anger, exclaiming that he had called him to curse his adversaries. Still, Balaam had showered them with empowerment on three different occasions.
11 “Immediately depart and return to your place! I intended to give you a rich payment, yet the Preeminent Sovereign has withheld your compensation.” 12 Balaam responded to Balak, “Didn’t I communicate with your envoys whom you dispatched to me?

13 No matter how much wealth or precious metals Balak might offer me from his residence, I couldn't carry out any action, good or bad, that counters the directive of the Sovereign Captain.
Moreover, I can exclusively voice what the Sovereign Captain instructs me to say.
14 I'm returning to my folk. However, allow me to advise you about what these individuals will inflict on your nation in the future."

§ 12460 BALAAM'S FOURTH MESSAGE

15 He then disclosed: "The celestial inspiration of Balaam, the male heir of Beor, the Eternal Reality's inspiration of a man with sharp vision.
16 The one who perceives the utterances of the Preeminent Sovereign obtains wisdom from the Eternal Reality, envisages a disclosure from the Omnipotent, succumbs in deep reverence, and whose sight is enlightened:
17 I envision him, though not now; I perceive him, but he is not close. A star will emerge from Jacob; a ruler will ascend from Israel. He will shatter the forefront of Moab and demolish the craniums of all Sheth's descendants.
18 Edom will become a possession; Seir, its opponent, will be overpowered, while Israel magnifies in might.
19 A sovereign will emerge from Jacob, eradicating those who remain in the metropolis."

§ 12470 BALAAM'S FIFTH MESSAGE

20 On seeing Amalek, Balaam proclaimed, "Amalek was the nation's preeminent. However, their destiny is destruction."

21 He observed the Kenites and proclaimed: "Your habitation is fortified. Your nest is established in a stone."
22 "You Kenites will meet ruin when Asshur holds you prisoner."
23 Balaam proclaimed his oracle: "How dreadful! Who can endure when the Preeminent Sovereign acts?"
24 "Ships will come from Cyprus; they will conquer Assyria and Eber, but they too will be destroyed."
25 Balaam then returned to his homeland, and Balak continued his journey.

§ 12480 MOAB SEDUCES ISRAEL

25 While Israel resided in Shittim, the men engaged in sexually unworthy choices with Moabite women.
2 They were invited to partake in absolving payments to their idolized deities, consuming formal food, and worshipping these idolized deities.
3 This led Israel to ally with the Eternal Reality Baal of Peor, provoking the Sovereign Captain's fury.
4 The Eternal Reality instructed Moses to seize and publicly execute the community chieftains to quell His wrath.
5 Moses ordered Israel's judges to execute those who allied with Baal of Peor.
6 An Israelite brought a Midianite woman into the camp, in full view of Moses and the mourning ensovereigned lifestyle community at the assembly tent entrance.
7 Phinehas, Eleazar's heir, and Aaron's grandson, left the gathering with a tactical bayonet.

8 He pursued and impaled both the Israeli man and the woman, halting the epidemic among the Israelites.
9 Despite this, 24,000 lives were lost to the plague.
10 The Eternal Reality explained to Moses,
11 “Phinehas has deflected my fury from the Israelites with his zeal for my reputation, preventing their destruction.
12 I am establishing a tranquility agreement with him.
13 He and his descendants will have an enduring operational agreement for his devotion and reconciliation actions for Israel.”
14 The slain Israelite was Zimri, Salu’s heir, a Simeonite chieftain.
15 The Midianite woman was Kozbi, daughter of Zur, a Midianite people leader.
16 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses,
17 “Regard the Midianites as adversaries and eliminate them.
18 They deceived you during the Peor event when Kozbi was killed during the outbreak.”

§ 12490 THE SECOND CENSUS

26 Following the epidemic, the Sovereign Captain instructed Moses and Eleazar, Aaron’s operational male heir, to conduct a headcount of all Israelites aged twenty and above, including those fit for military service, classified by their families.
3 Moses and Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, communicated with them on the flatlands of Moab, near the Jordan, facing Jericho.
4 As per the Sovereign Captain’s instructions to Moses, they counted all men at least twenty years old who had exited Egypt.

5 Reuben’s descendants included the Hanokite family from Hanok and the Palluite family from Pallu.
6 From Hezron came the Hezronites; from Karmi, the Karmites.
7 Reuben’s families totaled 43,730 individuals.
8 Eliab was Pallu’s progeny.
9 Eliab’s offspring were Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram. Dathan and Abiram, community leaders, defied Moses and Aaron, aligning with Korah in their mutiny against the Sovereign Captain.
10 The ground consumed them along with Korah; his adherents perished as the inferno engulfed 250 men, serving as a cautionary signal.
11 Korah’s descendants, however, survived.
12 Simeon’s family groups included Nemuelites from Nemuel, Jaminites from Jamin, and Jakinite from Jakin.
13 From Zerah came the Zerahites; from Shaul, the Shaulites.
14 Simeon’s families totaled 22,200.
15 Gad’s lineages included Zephonites from Zephon, Haggites from Haggi, and Shunites from Shuni.
16 From Ozni came the Oznites; from Eri, the Erites.
17 From Arodi came the Arodites; from Areli, the Arelites.
18 Gad’s families totaled 40,500.
19 Judah’s children, Er and Onan, perished in Canaan.
20 Judah’s families included Shelanites from Shelah, Perezites from Perez, and Zerahites from Zerah.
21 Perez’s family included Hezronites from Hezron and Hamulites from Hamul.

22 Judah’s families totaled 76,500.

23 Issachar’s descendants included Tolaites from Tola and Puites from Puah.
24 From Jashub came the Jashubites; from Shimron, the Shimronites.
25 Issachar’s families totaled 64,300.
26 Zebulun’s families included Seredites from Sered, Elonites from Elon, and Jahleelites from Jahleel.
27 Zebulun’s families totaled 60,500.
28 Joseph’s descendants included Manasseh and Ephraim.
29 Manasseh’s family included Makirites from Makir (Gilead’s progenitor) and Gileadites from Gilead.

30 The progeny of Gilead included the Lezerite group from Lezer and the Helekite group from Helek.
31 The Asrielites originated from Asriel; the people of Shechemites stemmed from Shechem.
32 The Shemidaite family comes from Shemida, and the Hepherite family originates from Hepher.
33 Zelophehad, a descendant of Hepher, had no male offspring but was the father of daughters Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milkah, and Tirzah.
34 The tally of individuals within the families of Manasseh amounted to 52,700.

35 This account signifies the family of Ephraim according to their respective families: via Shuthelah, the Shuthelahite family; via Beker, the Bekerite family; via Tahan, the Tahanite family.
36 The progeny of Shuthelah constituted the Eranite family group descending from Eran.

37 These were the family groups descending from Ephraim, with a total count of 32,500. Joseph’s family includes these groups, organized into their respective peoples.

38 According to their family groups, Benjamin’s family included The Belaite family from Bela. The Ashbel family from Ashbel. The Ahiram family from Ahiramite.
39 Originating from Shupham is the people of Shuphamites; originating from Hupham is the people of Huphamites.
40 The family of Bela through Ard and Naaman included the Ardite family through Ard and the Naamite family through Naaman.
41 The registered groups from Benjamin had 45,600 individuals.

42 These were the progeny of Dan classified by their communities: via Shuham, the Shuhamite community. These were the communities of Dan.
43 All were peoples of the Shuhamites, with a count of 64,400.

44 The family of Asher, sorted by their families, included the Imnite family from Imnah, the Ishvi family from Ishvi, and the Beriite family from Beriah.
45 From Beriah’s progeny, the family groups include Heber, Heberite, Malkiel, and Malkielite.
46 Serah was a daughter of Asher.
47 The Asherite family groups registered 53,400.

48 The family of Naphtali, categorized by their peoples, included the Jahzeelite community originating from Jahzeel and the Gunite community stemming from Guni.

49 Originating from Jezer, the family of the Jezerites; arising from Shillem, the group of the Shillemites.

50 The family groups of Naphtali had a total count of 45,400.

51 The total of Israelite males came to 601,730.
52 Yahweh addressed Moses.
53 "The territory will be apportioned to them as a heritage in proportion to the number of names.
54 Allocate a more significant share to a more excellent lot and a smaller one to a smaller group; inheritance should be assigned to each according to population size.
55 Ensure the land is allocated through a lottery system. Each subgroup's inheritance will be based on their ancestral community's names.
56 Lottery will determine the division of the inheritance among bigger and smaller groups."

57 The following Levite peoples were listed according to their family: Gershon, from which the Gershonite people came; Kohath, from which the Kohathite people originated; and Merari, the forefather of the Merarite people.
58 These people also belonged to the Levites: the people of Libnites, the people of Hebronites, the people of Mahlites, the people of Mushites, and the people of the Korahites. (Kohath was the ancestor of Amram.)
59 Jochebed, wife of Amram and birthed by Levi in Egypt, is part of Levi's family. She brought Aaron, Moses, and their sister, Miriam, to her husband, Amram.
60 Aaron gave life to Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
61 However, Nadab and Abihu met their end when they presented an unauthorized or illicit fire as an offering to the Sovereign Captain.

62 The total of Levite males, a month of age or older, was 23,000. They weren't included in the tally with the remaining Israelites, as they were given no land as their portion among them.
63 Moses and the ensovereigned mediator Eleazar enumerated these individuals when they conducted the tally of the Israelites on the flatlands of Moab near the Jordan, opposite Jericho.
64 Moses and Aaron, the ensovereigned mediators, did not include any in the tally when they counted the Israelites in the Sinai wilderness.
65 The Sovereign Captain declared that all the Israelites would perish in the wilderness except for Caleb, the male heir of Jephunneh, and Joshua, the male heir of Nun.

§ 12500 ZELOPHEHAD'S DAUGHTERS

27 Zelophehad's daughters, descendants of Hepher, Gilead, Makir, and Manasseh from Joseph's family, were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milkah, and Tirzah.
2 They approached Moses, Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, the chiefs, and the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community to voice their concerns at the gathering tent's entrance.

3 "Our father died in the desert, not as part of Korah's rebellion against the Sovereign Captain but due to his own transgressions, leaving no male heirs.
4 Why should our father's name vanish from his family because he had no sons? Grant us a share among our paternal relatives."

5 Moses brought their case before the Sovereign Captain.
6 The Sovereign Captain responded,
7 "Zelophehad's daughters are right. They should receive an inheritance among their father's relatives.

8 Tell the Israelites that if a man dies without a son, his inheritance should go to his daughter.
9 If he has no daughter, give his property to his brothers.
10 If he has no brothers, transfer it to his father's brothers.
11 If his father has no brothers, give it to the nearest relative in his people. the Sovereign Captain decreed this directive as a legal requirement for the Israelites to Moses."

§ 12510 JOSHUA TO SUCCEED MOSES

12 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to ascend the Abarim Range and view the land given to the Israelites.
13 "You will join your ancestors after seeing it, just as Aaron did.
14 At the waters of Meribah Kadesh in the Wilderness of Zin, you both failed to elevate me as exalted before the people."
15 Moses responded to the Preeminent Sovereign,
16 "May the Sovereign Captain, the giver of life to all beings, appoint a leader for this assembly.
17 A leader who will guide them, so Yahweh's ensovereigned lifestyle community is not like a protected community without an inner shield."
18 The Sovereign Captain said, "Select Joshua, Nun's son, a man with leadership qualities, and lay your hand on him.
19 Present him before Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediators, and the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community and publicly assign him his duties.
20 Transfer some of your authority to him so all Israel will obey him.
21 He must consult Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, who will seek the Sovereign Captain's direction through the Urim. The Israelites will follow his orders."

22 Moses presented Joshua before Eleazar, and the community as instructed.
23 He laid his hands on him and assigned his duties, following the Sovereign Captain's directives.

§ 12520 DAILY OFFERINGS

28 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses:
2 "Tell the Israelites: 'Ensure my food offerings, which are a delightful fragrance to me, are presented on time. '
3 Inform them: 'This is the absolving food you must dedicate to the Sovereign Captain: two flawless one-year-old lambs as a daily scorched absolving payment.
4 Offer one lamb in the morning and the other at dusk.
5 Each offering includes 2.25 liters of choice flour mixed with 918 milliliters of oil from crushed olives.
6 This is the standard scorched absolving payment established at Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law, a sweet-smelling meal offering to the Sovereign Captain.
7 The corresponding pouring offering should be 45 liter of strong drink for each lamb. Pour the offering to the Sovereign Captain in the Exalted Space.
8 Present the second lamb at dusk with the same grain and drink offerings as in the morning. It is a food donation, a scent that delights the Sovereign Captain. '"

§ 12530 REST DAY ABSOLVING PAYMENTS

[9] On the Day of Rest, offer two perfect-year-old lambs for absolving payment, along with a poured offering and a grain offering of 4.5 liters of premium flour mixed with olive oil.

[10] This absolving offering is for each Day of Rest, in addition to the daily continual scorched absolving payment and its poured offering.

§ 12540 MONTHLY OFFERINGS

[11] On the first day of each month, present an unblemished scorched absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain: two young bulls, one ram, and seven year-old lambs.
[12] Give 6.75 liters of fine flour blended with oil for every bull and 4.5 liters of the same mixture for the ram.
[13] Each lamb should accompany 2.25 liters of flour and oil. This is a scorched absolving payment, a pleasing aroma, and food for the Sovereign Captain.
[14] The pouring offering for each bull is 2.05 liters of wine; for the ram, 1.365 liters; and for each lamb, 918 milliliters. This is the regular scorched absolving payment for each new moon throughout the year.
[15] Additionally, offer a male goat to absolve unworthy choices and the customary scorched absolving payment and poured offering.

§ 12550 THE EMANCIPATION

[16] The commemoration of the Sovereign Captain’s Emancipation is on the fourteenth day of the first month.
[17] Celebrate on the fifteenth day with a week of unleavened bread.
[18] Begin with an exalted gathering and avoid ordinary work.
[19] Offer the Sovereign Captain an absolving payment meal: two juvenile bulls, one ram, and seven flawless year-old lambs.
[20] Provide a grain offering with each bull, 6.75 liters of fine flour mixed with oil; for the ram, two-tenths.
[21] For each lamb, offer a tenth.

[22] Include a male goat as a transgression offering for reconciliation.
[23] Present these alongside the regular morning absolving burning.
[24] Offer the reconciliatory meal daily for seven days, creating a pleasing fragrance to the Sovereign Captain and the usual scorched and beverage offerings.
[25] Dedicate the seventh day for an exalted gathering and avoid ordinary work.

§ 12560 THE FESTIVAL OF WEEKS

[26] During the Feast of Weeks, hold an exalted gathering on the day of the first fruits. Present a new grain offering to the Sovereign Captain and abstain from ordinary labor.
[27] Offer a whole-incinerated absolving payment of seven one-year-old male lambs, one ram, and two young bulls emanating a sweet fragrance to the Sovereign Captain.
[28] For each bull, present 6.75 liters of superior flour mixed with oil; for the ram, two-tenths.

29 Accompany each of the seven lambs with a tenth part.
30 Include one he-goat for reconciliation.
31 Present these animals and their libations, in addition to the usual scorched absolving payment and grain gift. Ensure all creatures are flawless.

§ 12570 THE FESTIVAL OF TRUMPETS

29 On the first day of the seventh month, hold an exalted gathering and refrain from labor. The sound of trumpets marks this day.
2 Offer a scorched absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain, consisting of seven flawless male lambs in their first year, one ram, and one young bull.

3 * Present a grain tribute of three-tenths of top-quality flour mixed with olive oil for the bull and two-tenths for the ram.
4 Allocate a tenth for each of the seven lambs.
5 Prepare one male goat for an absolving payment for transgression to seek reconciliation.
6 These offerings are in addition to the regular monthly and daily scorched absolving payments, along with their cereal tributes and libations. They are considered absolving gifts to the Sovereign Captain, releasing a soothing fragrance.

§ 12580 THE DAY OF COMPENSATION

7 On the tenth day of the seventh month, hold an exalted gathering. Practice self-denial and abstain from labor.
8 Offer a scorched absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain with a pleasing aroma: one young bull, a ram, and seven one-year-old male lambs, all without imperfections.
9 For the bull, present a meal gift of three-tenths measure of choice flour mixed with olive oil; for the ram, offer two-tenths.
10 Provide a tenth for each of the seven lambs.
11 Include a male goat as an absolving payment for transgression, in addition to the absolving payment for transgression and the habitual scorched absolving payment, with its grain tribute and libations.

§ 12590 THE FESTIVAL OF TENTS

12 Gather on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, abstain from work, and honor the Sovereign Captain with a seven-day celebration.
13 Offer a scorched absolving payment of thirteen young bulls, two rams, and fourteen year-old male lambs, all without blemish, as a food gift pleasing to the Sovereign Captain.

14 Give two-tenths of a sack of fine flour flavored with oil to each pair of rams and three-tenths to each bull.
15 Provide one-tenth with each of the fourteen lambs.
16 Also, present one male goat for an unworthy choice offering in addition to the daily scorched absolving payment, with its grain and drink offerings.

17 On the second day, offer twelve young bulls, two rams, and fourteen year-old male lambs, all flawless.
18 Accompany them with their specified grain and drink offerings.
19 Present one male goat for an unworthy choice offering beyond the regular scorched absolving payment with its grain and drink offerings.
20 On the third day, offer eleven unblemished bulls, two rams, and fourteen year-old male lambs.
21 Present their grain and drink offerings as specified.
22 Also, present one male goat for a transgression reconciliation payment in addition to the daily scorched absolving payment, grain offering, and drink offerings.
23 On the fourth day, offer ten bulls, two rams, and fourteen year-old male lambs, all flawless.
24 Accompany them with their respective grain and drink offerings as specified.
25 Present one male goat for an unworthy choice purification offering alongside the daily scorched tribute with its grain and drink offerings.
26 On the fifth day, offer nine bulls, two rams, and fourteen year-old male lambs, all flawless.
27 Present their grain and drink offerings as specified.
28 Besides the regular scorched absolving payment with its grain offering and drink offering, include one male goat as a transgression offering.

29 On the sixth day, offer eight bulls, two rams, and fourteen year-old male lambs, all unblemished.
30 Present their grain and drink offerings as specified.
31 Also, present one male goat for an unworthy choice offering besides the regular grain tribute, its drink gift, and the scorched absolving payment.
32 On the seventh day, offer seven young bulls, two rams, and fourteen year-old male lambs, all without blemish.
33 Present their grain and drink offerings as specified.
34 Accompany the regular scorched absolving payment with its grain and drink offerings by providing one male goat for a transgression offering.
35 On the eighth day, convene a concluding formal gathering and abstain from work.
36 Offer a meal contribution pleasing to the Sovereign Captain, consisting of a scorched absolving payment of one bull, one ram, and seven year-old male lambs, all without blemish.
37 Present their grain and drink offerings as specified.
38 Present one male goat for an unworthy choice offering alongside the regular scorched absolving payment with its grain and drink offerings.
39 Beyond your pledged promises and voluntary gifts, dedicate these to the Sovereign Captain during your designated celebrations: your scorched absolving payments, cereal contributions, poured offerings, and peace donations.
40 The Sovereign Captain gave Moses every directive, which Moses then shared with the Israelites.

§ 12600 VOWS

30 Moses told the Israelite communities' leaders the Sovereign Captain's instructions:

2 "If a man swears an oath to the Sovereign Captain or pledges a vow, he must not break his promise but fulfill everything he has voiced.

3 Suppose a young woman in her father’s house makes a promise to the Captain or binds herself through a commitment, and her father hears it but remains silent. In that case, all her vows will be upheld,
4 and all of the promises she has made will remain in effect if her father learns about them but does not speak to her.
5 However, none of her promises or commitments will remain valid if her father forbids her on the day he learns of it. Since her father forbade her, the Sovereign Captain will pardon her.
6 If a woman marries while holding herself to a pledge or hasty promise,
7 and her husband learns about it but doesn't speak to her that day, then the promises or commitments she made will remain in effect.
8 If her husband cancels these vows upon hearing them, none of her promises or commitments will be upheld; her husband has revoked them, and the Captain will absolve her.
9 A widow or divorced woman must fulfill any vow or promise she has made.”

10 If a woman in her husband’s house makes a solemn promise or binds herself with a sworn pledge, and her husband hears it. Still, he remains silent without disapproval; all her vows remain valid.
11 If her husband remains silent from one day to the next upon hearing them, he affirms all her vows; his silence acts as affirmation.
12 However, nothing she spoke, even her pledges and vows, will stick if her husband revokes them the moment he learns of them. The Sovereign Captain will forgive her because her husband has revoked them.
13 Her husband has the authority to validate or cancel any pledge or solemn oath she takes to deprive herself.

14 However, her spouse affirms all of the promises and commitments that tie her if he doesn't speak to her on a daily basis. Since he didn't speak to her the day he learned about them, he has verified them.
15 He will bear her wrongdoing, however, if he nullifies them after learning about them.

16 The Sovereign Captain provided these guidelines to Moses regarding how a husband should interact with his wife and how a father should interact with his daughter, who remains in his household during her youth.

§ 12610 VENGEANCE ON THE MIDIANITES

31 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses,
2, “Seek retribution for the Israelites from the Midianites. After this, you will join your ancestors.”
3 Moses then ordered the people to prepare for battle against the Midianites to fulfill the Sovereign Captain’s command.
4 “Send a thousand warriors from each community of Israel into the conflict.”
5 So, twelve thousand warriors were prepared for combat.
6 Moses sent them to war, with Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, accompanying them. He brought items from the fortress and trumpets for signaling.
7 As commanded by the Sovereign Captain, they waged war against Midian, killing every male.
8 They executed Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, the five rulers of Midian, and Balaam, Beor’s son, with a tactical blade.
9 The Israelites took the women and children of Midian captive and seized all livestock and possessions.

[10] They scorched all Midianite settlements and encampments.
[11] They seized all booty and spoils, including humans and beasts.

[12] They presented the prisoners, treasures, and loot to Moses, Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator. The Israeli ensovereigned lifestyle community was at their encampment on the Moab plains near Jordan, facing Jericho.
[13] Moses, Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, and all community leaders welcomed them outside the settlement.

[14] Moses was angry with the military leaders who had returned from the conflict.
[15] “Did you let every female survive?” he questioned.
[16] “These individuals followed Balaam’s guidance and led the Israelites to betray the Sovereign Captain in the Peor episode, causing a disease outbreak among the Sovereign Captain’s ensovereigned lifestyle community.
[17] Eliminate all male children and every female who has been intimate with a man.
[18] Preserve only the young females who have not known a man’s bed.
[19] Those who have taken a life or interacted with the deceased must stay outside the encampment for a week. On days three and seven, they must cleanse themselves and their prisoners.
[20] Ensure every piece of clothing, all leather or goat’s hair items, and any wooden object are made healthy.”

[21] Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, then informed the warriors that these were the stipulations established by the Sovereign Captain’s decree to Moses.
[22] “Silver, gold, tin, lead, iron, and bronze—
[23] anything that can endure fire should be passed through flames to be cleansed. Further refinement is required to purify water. Anything that cannot endure fire should be washed with this water.
[24] Cleanse your garments on the seventh day; you can return to camp after this purification.”

§ 12620 DIVIDING THE SPOILS

[25] The Eternal Reality instructed Moses.
[26] “You, Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, and the community leaders must count all individuals and animals captured.
[27] Divide the spoils equally between the warriors and the rest of the community.
[28] Take a tribute for the Sovereign Captain from the warriors: one out of every five hundred, from men, oxen, sheep, and donkeys.
[29] Give this contribution to Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, as a portion dedicated to the Sovereign Captain.
[30] From the Israelites’hare, select one out of every fifty, including humans and animals, and give them to the Levites who maintain the Sovereign Captain's Tent.”
[31] Moses and Eleazar followed these instructions.
[32] The spoils included 675,000 sheep,
[33] seventy-two thousand oxen,
[34] sixty-one thousand male donkeys,
[35] and 32,000 females who had not engaged in sexual relations.
[36] The warriors received half: 337,500 sheep,
[37] with 675 for the Sovereign Captain.
[38] Of 36,000 cattle, 72 were for the Sovereign Captain.

39 Of 30,500 donkeys, 61 were for the Sovereign Captain.
40 Of 16,000 individuals, 32 were for the Sovereign Captain.
41 Moses gave Eleazar the Sovereign Captain's share as directed.
42 Moses separated the Israelites' portion from the combatants' share.

43 The community's share was 337,500 sheep,
44 thirty-six thousand cattle,
45 thirty thousand five hundred donkeys,
46 and sixteen thousand individuals.
47 Moses set aside one out of every fifty individuals and animals for the Levites maintaining the Sovereign Captain's Tent.
48 The officers in charge of the army's troops, the leaders of hundreds and thousands, approached Moses.
49 The military leaders reported to Moses that none of their warriors were missing.
50 They offered gold items—wristlets, bangles, seal bands, ear ornaments, and necklaces—to seek reconciliation before the Sovereign Captain.
51 Moses and Eleazar received these gold items.
52 They presented 16,750 shekels of gold to the Sovereign Captain from the commanders.
53 Each warrior kept personal spoils.
54 Moses and Eleazar secured the gold from the officers and placed it in the assembly tent as a reminder for Israel's descendants before the Sovereign Captain.

§ 12630 THE TRANSJORDAN TRIBES

32 The communities of Reuben and Gad, possessing vast herds and flocks, saw that Jazer and Gilead were ideal for livestock.
2 They approached Moses, Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, and the community's chiefs to make their request.

3 "The regions are Ataroth, Beon, Dibon, Elealeh, Heshbon, Jazer, Nebo, Nimrah, and Sebam.
4 The territory the Sovereign Captain conquered is perfect for our herds.
5 If we have your approval," they said, "let this land be given to us as our property. Do not make us cross the Jordan."

6 Moses asked the Gadites and Reubenites, "Will you stay here while your brothers go to war?
7 Why discourage the Israelites from entering the land the Sovereign Captain has given them?
8 Your ancestors did this when I sent them to explore the land from Kadesh Barnea.
9 After seeing the Eshkol Valley, they discouraged the Israelites from entering the land the Sovereign Captain had promised.
10 The Sovereign Captain's anger was kindled that day, and He swore an oath.
11 Because of their lack of devotion, none over twenty who left Egypt will see the land I promised to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.
12 Only Caleb, son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite, and Joshua, son of Nun, followed the Sovereign Captain wholeheartedly.
13 The Preeminent Sovereign's anger burned against Israel, making them wander in the wilderness for forty years until that generation perished.
14 Now you are taking your fathers' place, increasing the Sovereign Captain's anger against Israel.

15 If you stop following Him, He will leave these people in the wilderness again, and you will be responsible for their destruction.”

16 They proposed building enclosures for their animals and towns for their families.

17 “We will arm ourselves and lead the Israelites until they reach their destination. Our women and children will stay in fortified cities for protection.
18 We will not return home until every Israelite has received his inheritance.
19 We will not claim any land West of the Jordan since our inheritance is on the East side.”

20 Moses replied, “If you do this—if you arm yourselves for battle before the Sovereign Captain,
21 and if all your armed men cross the Jordan until He has driven out His enemies—
22 then after the land is subdued before the Sovereign Captain, you may return and be free from your obligation to the Sovereign Captain and Israel. This land will be yours.
23 But if you fail to do this, you will transgress against the Sovereign Captain, and your transgression will find you out.
24 Build cities for your families and pens for your flocks, but do what you have promised.”

25 The Gadites and Reubenites assured Moses they would follow his instructions.
26 “Our children and wives, our flocks and herds will remain in Gilead’s towns.
27 However, we, your armed servants, shall cross over to engage in combat before the Sovereign Captain.

28 Moses gave orders to Eleazar, Joshua, and the leaders of Israel’s communities.
29 He said if the Gadites and Reubenites cross the Jordan armed for battle before the Sovereign Captain, then give them Gilead as their possession after the land is subdued

30 But if they do not cross over armed with you, they must accept land in Canaan.”

31 The Gadites and Reubenites agreed to follow the Sovereign Captain’s directives.
32 “We will cross into Canaan armed before the Sovereign Captain, but our inheritance will be on this side of the Jordan.”

33 Moses then assigned to Gad, Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh (Joseph’s son) the territory of Sihon, Prime Ruler of the Amorites, and Og, Prime Ruler of Bashan, with its cities and lands.
34 The Gadites built Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer,
35 Atroth Shophan, Jazer, Jogbehah,
36 Beth Nimrah, Beth Haran—fortified cities with pens for their flocks.
37 The Reubenites built Heshbon, Elealeh, Kiriathaim,
38 Nebo Baal Meon (renaming them), Sibmah—giving new names to rebuilt cities.

39 Makir’s descendants (Manasseh’s son) captured Gilead and drove out the Amorites.
40 Moses gave Gilead to Makir’s descendants who settled there.
41 Jair (Manasseh’s son) renamed their villages Jair’s towns.
42 Nobah captured Kenath and its villages, renaming them Nobah after himself.

§ 12640 STAGES IN ISRAEL’S JOURNEY

33 This account details how Moses and Aaron led the Israelites on their journey from Egypt.

2 As instructed by the Sovereign Captain, Moses documented their travels. Here is their journey, divided into stages.
3 On the fifteenth day of the first month, the day after the Emancipation Feast, the Israelites left Rameses boldly, under the watchful eyes of the Egyptians.
4 While the Egyptians buried their eldest sons, whom the Preeminent Sovereign had claimed, the Eternal Reality enforced His justice on their idolized deities.
5 The Israelites departed from Rameses and camped at Succoth.
6 They left Succoth and camped at Etham, at the edge of the wilderness.
7 From Etham, they retraced their steps to Pi Hahiroth, East of Baal Zephon, and camped near Migdol.
8 They crossed the sea from Pi Hahiroth and entered the wilderness, camping at Marah after three days in the Etham desert.
9 From Marah, they went to Elim, with twelve water fountains and seventy palm trees, and camped there.
10 They left Elim and camped by the Red Sea.
11 After leaving the Red Sea, they camped in the Wilderness of Sin.
12 From the Wilderness of Sin, they settled in Dophkah.
13 They moved from Dophkah to Alush.
14 From Alush, they camped at Rephidim, where there was no water to drink.
15 They journeyed from Rephidim to the Sinai wilderness.
16 From Sinai, they camped at Kibroth Hattaavah.
17 From Kibroth Hattaavah, they camped at Hazeroth.
18 From Hazeroth, they camped at Rithmah.
19 From Rithmah, they camped at Rimmon Perez.

20 From Rimmon Perez, they camped at Libnah.
21 From Libnah, they camped at Rissah.
22 From Rissah, they camped at Kehelathah.
23 From Kehelathah, they camped at Mount Shepher.
24 From Mount Shepher, they camped at Haradah.
25 From Haradah, they camped at Makheloth.
26 From Makheloth, they camped at Tahath.
27 From Tahath, they camped at Terah.
28 From Terah, they camped at Mithkah.
29 From Mithkah, they camped at Hashmonah.
30 From Hashmonah, they camped at Moseroth.
31 From Moseroth, they camped at Bene Jaakan.
32 From Bene Jaakan, they camped at Hor Haggidgad.
33 From Hor Haggidgad, they camped at Jotbathah.
34 From Jotbathah, they camped at Abronah.
35 From Abronah, they camped at Ezion Geber.
36 From Ezion Geber, they camped in Kadesh in the wilderness of Zin.
37 From Kadesh, they camped at Mount Hor near Edom's territory.
38 Forty years after leaving Egypt, Aaron died in the fifth month on the first day on Mount Hor, where he had ascended at the command of Eternal Reality.
39 Aaron was 123 years old when he died on Mount Hor.

40 The Prime Ruler of Arad, a Canaanite Prime Ruler in southern Canaan, learned of the Israelites' approach.
41 From Mount Hor, they camped at Zalmonah.

42 From Zalmonah, they camped at Punon.
43 From Punon, they camped at Oboth.
44 From Oboth, they camped at Iye Abarim on Moab's border.
45 From Iye Abarim, they camped at Dibon Gad.
46 From Dibon Gad, they camped at Almon Diblathaim.
47 From Almon Diblathaim, they camped in the Abarim range near Nebo.
48 From the Abarim range, they camped in Moab's plains by the Jordan across from Jericho.
49 They camped in Moab's plains from Beth Jeshimoth to Abel Shittim by the Jordan.
50 Across from Jericho by the Jordan in Moab's plains, the Sovereign Captain spoke to Moses.
51 "Tell the Israelites they will enter Canaan as they cross the Jordan.
52 "Expel all inhabitants of the land and destroy their idolized deities and worship sites.
53 "Occupy and settle in the land I have given you.
54 "Divide it by lot among your families; larger communities get larger portions, and smaller communities get smaller portions according to their ancestral communities' lot draw.
55 "If you fail to expel the inhabitants, those who remain will be irritants and cause disturbances where you live.
56 "I will treat you as I intended for them."

§ 12650 BOUNDARIES OF CANAAN

34 Yahweh instructed Moses,
2 "Tell the Israelites: 'When you enter Canaan, this is your inheritance within these borders.
3 It extends South from Zin's wilderness, bordering Edom. Your southern boundary starts at the Dead Sea's eastern end.
4 From there, it goes South of Scorpion Ascent, through Zin, South of Kadesh Barnea, to Hazar Addar, and ends at Azmon.
5 It then follows the Brook of Egypt to the Mediterranean Sea.
6 The Mediterranean Sea defines your western border.
7 Your northern boundary runs from the Mediterranean Sea to Mount Hor.
8 From Mount Hor, it extends to Lebo Hamath and Zedad, 9 then to Ziphron, and ends at Hazar Enan. This point is your northern boundary.
10 Your eastern boundary runs from Hazar Enan to Shepham, 11 down to Riblah on Ain's East side, along the Sea of Galilee's eastern slopes.
12 It follows the Jordan River, ending at the Dead Sea. All this is your land within these borders.
'"

13 Moses told the Israelites: "Distribute this land by casting lots as the Sovereign Captain commanded for the nine and a half communities.
14 The communities of Gad, Reuben, and half of Manasseh have already received their inheritance.

15 These two-and-a-half communities have their portion East of the Jordan, near Jericho."

16 Yahweh spoke to Moses,
17 "Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediators, and Joshua, son of Nun, will distribute the land.
18 Appoint one leader from each community to assist.
19 The leaders are Caleb son of Jephunneh from Judah;
20 Shemuel son of Ammihud from Simeon;
21 Elidad son of Kislon from Benjamin;

22 Bukki son of Jogli from Dan;
23 Hanniel son of Ephod from Manasseh;
24 Kemuel son of Shiphtan from Ephraim;
25 Elizaphan son of Parnach from Zebulun;
26 Paltiel son of Azzan from Issachar;
27 Ahihud son of Shelomi from Asher;
28 Pedahel son of Ammihud from Naphtali.
29 These are the men the Sovereign Captain appointed to distribute the inheritance in Canaan.”

§ 12660 TOWNS FOR THE LEVITES

35 The Sovereign Captain communicated to Moses in the plains of Moab, adjacent to the Jordan, facing Jericho.

2 “Instruct the Israelites to allocate cities from their inherited property for the Levites to dwell in, along with the surrounding agricultural production centers.
3 Consequently, they will possess urban areas for dwelling and pastures for their livestock and every other creature they own.”
4 “The agricultural production centers surrounding the cities you allocate to the Levites will spread 457.2 meters from the city wall.
5 Calculate a distance of 914.4 meters in each direction—East, South, West, and North—starting from the outskirts of the town with the town itself at the nucleus. This demarcated area will be the agricultural production center attached to their cities.”

§ 12670 HUBS OF REFUGE

6 Allocate six cities as sanctuaries for those who unintentionally cause a death, providing them refuge. Additionally, assign forty-two more settlements to the Levites.
7 The Levites should have forty-eight cities, including their agricultural production centers.
8 Allocate towns to the Levites based on each community’s inheritance size: more from larger communities, fewer from smaller ones.
9-10 The Sovereign Captain instructed Moses to tell the Israelites: “When you cross the Jordan into Canaan.”
11 Designate certain cities as sanctuaries where those who unintentionally cause death can seek asylum.
12 These cities will protect individuals from revenge-seekers until their trial.
13-14 Establish six fortress cities: three East of the Jordan and three in Canaan.
15 These sanctuaries will serve both Israelites and aliens, providing refuge for those who unintentionally cause a death.
16-18 If someone kills with an iron tool, stone, or wood, they are a murderer and must face execution.

19 The avenger of blood will execute the murderer upon encounter.
20-21 If someone kills out of hostility, they must face death.
22-24 If someone kills unintentionally, the community must decide between the accused and the avenger.
25 The community must protect the accused from the avenger and return them to their refuge city until the death of the prime ensovereigned mediator.

26-27 If the avenger kills the accused who leaves the city, the avenger is not guilty of bloodshed.
28 The accused must stay in the city until the ensovereigned mediator dies, after which they can return home.
29 This decree applies to all generations.
30 A person can only be executed based on multiple witnesses' testimony; one testifier is insufficient.
31 Do not accept ransom for a murderer; they must face execution.
32 Do not accept payment from someone in a refugee city to return home before the ensovereigned mediator's death.
33 "Do not shed blood and pollute the land; only the murderer's blood can cleanse it. "
34 Do not defile the land where I dwell among the Israelites.

§ 12680 INHERITANCE OF ZELOPHEHAD'S DAUGHTERS

36 The principal elders of Gilead's family, descendants of Makir and Manasseh from Joseph's family, approached Moses and the Israelite chiefs.
2 They reminded Moses that the Sovereign Captain had instructed him to distribute land by lot to the Israelites and to grant Zelophehad's inheritance to his daughters.

3 They raised a concern: if Zelophehad's daughters married outside their community, their inheritance would transfer to their husbands' communities, reducing their community's share.
4 During the Jubilee, this transfer would become permanent, further depleting their ancestral inheritance.

5 Following the Sovereign Captain's directive, Moses confirmed the community of Joseph's concern.
6 The Sovereign Captain decreed that Zelophehad's daughters could marry anyone they chose, provided it was within their father's community.

7 This ensured that inherited property remained within the community, preventing transfer between communities.
8 Any woman inheriting land must marry within her father's people to retain the ancestral property.

9 So, inherited land would not shift between communities, preserving each community's heritage.
10 So, the daughters of Zelophehad followed Moses' instruction from the Sovereign Captain.
11 Zelophehad's daughters—Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milkah, and Noah—complied by marrying their paternal cousins within Manasseh's family.

12 Their inheritance remained within their father's community.
13 These were the Sovereign Captain's directives given through Moses while they were in the plains of Moab, near the Jordan, facing Jericho.

~ 105 | Essences | Deuteronomy

§ 12690 THE COMMAND TO LEAVE HOREB

1 “These are the utterances that Moses delivered to the entire Israelite population in the unoccupied land to the East of Jordan, specifically in the Arabah, facing Suph and situated amidst Paran, Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Dizahab.”
2 “The journey from Horeb to Kadesh Barnea via the route of Mount Seir usually lasts eleven days.”
3 “Moses spoke to the sons of Israel on the first day of the eleventh month in the fortieth year, communicating everything the Sovereign Captain had instructed him for them.”
4 “Following his victory over Sihon, the Amorite Prime Ruler who ruled in Heshbon, and Og, the Prime Ruler of Bashan, reigning in Ashtaroth, who was also defeated at Edrei.”
5 “On the eastern side of the Jordan, within Moab’s realm, Moses initiated the explanation of this decree, articulating:”
6 “Our Sovereign Captain communicated to us in Horeb, stating that we have resided on this mountain for a sufficient time.”
7 “Depart from your current location and proceed into the mountain region of the Amorites; journey to all the adjoining territories in the Arabah, within the mountains, in the western lowlands, in the Negev, and along the seashore, reaching the land of the Canaanites and Lebanon, until you reach the expansive river, the Euphrates.”
8 “Observe, I have given up on you this territory. Proceed and establish sovereignty over this land that the Sovereign Captain pledged to provide to your forefathers—Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—and their offspring succeeding them.”

§ 12700 THE APPOINTMENT OF LEADERS

9 During that period, I expressed that managing you alone was overwhelming.

10 Your Sovereign Captain has multiplied your numbers, making you as numerous as the celestial stars.
11 May the Preeminent Sovereign of your forefathers increase you a thousand-fold and grant empowerment as He pledged!
12 How can I handle your difficulties, load, and disputes alone?
13 Choose intelligent, discerning, and esteemed individuals from each community to be appointed as your leaders.
14 You agreed that this plan was good.
15 I then appointed wise and esteemed individuals from your communities as leaders, authorizing them to command groups of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens and serve as communal officials.
16 I instructed your judges to listen impartially to disputes among your community, whether between your compatriots or between an insider and an outsider.
17 Show no favoritism; consider both the insignificant and the significant equally. Fear no person, for the ultimate ruling is the Preeminent Sovereign’s responsibility. If a case is too challenging, bring it to me, and I will settle it.
18 I instructed you on all necessary actions during that period.

§ 12710 SPIES SENT OUT

19 Following the directives of our Sovereign Captain, we journeyed from Horeb through the vast and daunting wilderness you witnessed, heading towards the Amorite hill country. We eventually reached Kadesh Barnea.
20 I informed you that we had arrived at the Amorite highlands, a land our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, was set to deliver to us.
21 “Observe your Eternal Reality; the Sovereign Captain has granted you this land. Proceed and claim the Eternal Reality of your forefathers, as the Sovereign Captain instructs. Do not fear or be disheartened.”

22 You then suggested sending individuals ahead to explore the territory and report back on the path we should take and the cities we would encounter.
23 Finding the idea sound, I selected twelve representatives, one from each community.
24 They ascended into the mountain region, reaching the Eshkol Valley, where they thoroughly explored.
25 They returned with some of the region’s produce and reported, “The land our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, is about to grant us is fruitful.”

§ 12720 REBELLION AGAINST THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

26 You were unprepared to ascend and defied the Sovereign Captain’s directive.
27 In your tents, you complained, “the Sovereign Captain despises us; he led us out of Egypt to hand us over to the Amorites for destruction.”
28 “Where can we go? Our relatives have frightened us, saying, ‘The inhabitants are mightier and taller; their settlements are expansive with fortifications reaching the celestial realms. We even saw the descendants of Anak there. ’” 29 I told you, “Do not tremble; do not fear these individuals.
30 The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, who precedes you, will fight on your behalf as he did in Egypt, as you witnessed with your own eyes.
31 In the toughest times, you saw how the Sovereign Captain carried you, just like a loving parent carries their child, making sure you made it to safety.
32 Despite this, you lacked trust in the Sovereign Captain, 33 who traveled before you by day in clouds and night in the fire to find campsites and show you the route.
34 Hearing your words, the Sovereign Captain angrily made a solemn oath:
35 “No one from this impure era will see the prosperous territory I pledged to your forefathers.

36 Caleb, the male heir of Jephunneh, is the exception. He will see it, and the land he walked will be given to him and his descendants for his unwavering loyalty.” 37 The Sovereign Captain also grew furious with me because of your actions, stating, “You are not permitted to enter either.
38 However, Joshua, the male heir of Nun, your aide, will go there. Inspire him, for he will guide Israel to take possession of the land.

39 Your young ones, who you said would be captives, and your offspring, too innocent to understand right from wrong, will inhabit the land. I will pass it to them.”
40 You must shift your course and venture into the wilderness toward the Red Sea.
41 You acknowledged choosing unworthily against the Sovereign Captain and agreed to battle as the Preeminent Sovereign instructed. You armed yourselves, underestimating the difficulty of ascending the hill country.
42 The Sovereign Captain directed me to warn you, “Avoid battle; I won’t assist you. Your enemies will overpower you.”
43 I communicated this, yet you paid no heed. You defied the Sovereign Captain’s directive and vainly trekked into the mountains.
44 The Amorites confronted you, pursued you like bees, and crushed you from Seir to Hormah.
45 On your return, you cried before the Sovereign Captain, but He disregarded your tears and wouldn’t listen.
46 So, you remained in Kadesh for a significant period—the entire stay there.

§ 12730 WANDERINGS IN THE WILDERNESS

2 Following the Sovereign Captain’s command, we retraced our steps toward the wilderness, heading to the Red Sea and roaming around Seir’s hill region for a long time.
2 Then, the Sovereign Captain spoke to me.

3 “You’ve spent enough time in this mountainous area; head North now.
4 Tell the community: ‘You are about to cross into the land of your relatives, the descendants of Esau, in Seir. They will be wary of you, so be very cautious.
5 Do not provoke them; I won’t give you any part of their land, not even a footprint. I have given Seir to Esau.
6 Pay them for your food and water.
7 Your Almighty has empowered you in all your work and protected you throughout your journey in this vast desert. Your Preeminent Sovereign has been with you for forty years, and you have lacked nothing.”
8 We then left our relatives, Esau’s descendants in Seir, and turned from the Arabah road from Elath and Ezion Geber, traveling through the Moab wilderness.
9 The Sovereign Captain instructed: “Do not harass the Moabites or provoke them to war; I will not give you any part of their land. Ar is given to Lot’s descendants.”
10 The Emites once lived there, strong and numerous people, as tall as the Anakites.
11 Like the Anakites, they were considered giants called Rephaites but were known as Emites by the Moabites.
12 Esau’s descendants expelled the Horites from Seir, destroyed them, and settled in their place, just as Israel did in the land the Sovereign Captain gave.
13 The Sovereign Captain then told us to cross the Zered Gorge, which we did.
14 From Kadesh Barnea, it took us thirty-eight years to traverse the Zered Valley, where the Sovereign Captain had predicted all the combatants of that generation would perish.
15 The Sovereign Captain’s power was against them until they were all gone.
16 When the last warrior had perished,
17 Yahweh spoke to me,

18 “Today you will pass Moab at Ar.
19 As you approach the Ammonite territory, do not distress or provoke them; their land is not given to you as it is designated for Lot’s family.”

20 This land was also considered Rephaim territory, but the Ammonites called them Zamzummites.
21 They were strong and numerous, as tall as the Anakites. the Sovereign Captain destroyed them so the Ammonites could displace them and settle there.
22 The Sovereign Captain did the same for Esau's family in Seir by destroying the Horites before them. They expelled them and have lived there to this day.
23 Similarly, the Caphtorites from Caphtor replaced the Avvites in small settlements up to Gaza.

§ 12740 DEFEAT OF SIHON PRIME RULER OF HESHBON

24 "Proceed through the Arnon ravine. I have given Sihon the Amorite, ruler of Heshbon, and his land into your control. Begin your conquest and engage him in battle."

25 "From today, I will instill fear and panic in every nation under the sky. They will tremble and be distressed upon hearing about you."

26 "I sent envoys from the Wilderness of Kedemoth to Prime Ruler Sihon of Heshbon with a peace offer."

27 "Allow us to pass through your territory. We will stay on the main path, not turning right or left."

28 "Provide us food and water for currency so we can sustain ourselves. Grant us passage on foot."

29 "Just as the descendants of Esau in Seir and the Moabites in Ar helped us, we will continue until we cross the Jordan to the land the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, has promised us."

30 "Sihon, the Prime Ruler of Heshbon, refused us passage. The Preeminent Sovereign you elevate hardened his will to deliver him into your hands, as seen today."

31 "the Sovereign Captain told me He had begun handing Sihon and his land to us. Now, take possession and assert ownership over his territory."

32 "Sihon and his entire army confronted us at Jahaz."

33 "Our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, delivered him, his sons, and his forces to us, and we defeated them."

34 "We seized all his cities and annihilated them, including every man, woman, and child. We left no survivors."

35 "We took the cattle and valuable items from the conquered cities."

36 "No city was too strong for us, from Gilead to Aroer on the outskirts of the Arnon Valley. Our Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, brought them into our possession."

37 “The Sovereign Captain directed us not to infringe on any Ammonite territory, including the region along the Jabbok River or the cities in the mountainous areas.”

§ 12750 DEFEAT OF OG PRIME RULER OF BASHAN

3 We advanced towards Bashan, where Og, the Prime Ruler of Bashan, and his entire military force confronted us at Edrei.
2 The Sovereign Captain assured me, “Fear him not, for I’ve handed him and his entire army and territory over to you. Handle him as you handled Sihon, the Amorite Prime Ruler of Heshbon.”
3 The Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, delivered Og and his entire military into our control. We annihilated them, ensuring none remained.
4 During that period, we conquered all his territories, seizing all sixty cities in Argob within Og’s realm in Bashan.
5 These towns were fortified with tall walls, gates, bars, and many unwalled settlements.
6 We utterly annihilated them, just like Sihon, obliterating every city along with its men, women, and children.
7 We retained all the cattle and seized the loot from their settlements.
8 During that period, we took the land from the two Amorite Prime Rulers East of the Jordan, from the Arnon Ravine to Mount Hermon.
9 The Sidonians call Hermon Sirion; the Amorites call it Senir.
10 We seized every city on the highlands, captured Gilead entirely, and claimed all of Bashan up to Salecah and Edrei, cities in Og’s realm in Bashan.
11 The last remaining Rephaite, Prime Ruler Og of Bashan, owned an iron furnished bed over 210 centimeters wide and nine cubits long. This bed is still preserved in Rabbah among the Ammonites.

§ 12760 DIVISION OF THE LAND

12 Upon seizing the land, I allocated to the Reubenites and Gadites the region North of Aroer near the Arnon Valley, including half of Gilead’s mountainous area and its settlements.
13 The remaining part of Gilead and all of Bashan, once ruled by Prime Ruler Og, were received by half of the community of Manasseh. This region of Argob in Bashan was known as the territory of the Rephaites.
14 Jair, a descendant of Manasseh, claimed the entire region of Argob up to the boundary of the Geshurites and Maakathites, naming it after himself. So, Bashan has been called Havvoth Jair to this day.
15 I gave Gilead to Makir.
16 The Reubenites and Gadites received land from Gilead to the Arnon Valley (with the valley’s middle as the boundary) up to the Jabbok River, bordering the Ammonites.
17 The western boundary was the Jordan in the Arabah, extending from Kinnereth to the Dead Sea beneath Mount Pisgah’s cliffs.
18 At that time, I directed: “You, the Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, have given up this territory for your possession. However, all your robust men equipped for warfare must advance before your fellow Israelites.”
19 “Your spouses, offspring, and herds can reside in the cities I have allocated.”
20 “When the Sovereign Captain grants tranquility to your compatriots as He has to you, and they claim their territory beyond the Jordan, then you may return to your property.”

§ 12770 MOSES FORBIDDEN TO CROSS THE JORDAN

21 During that period, I instructed Joshua: “You have seen all the Sovereign Captain, your Preeminent Sovereign, has done to these two Prime Rulers. the Sovereign Captain will do the same to all the dominions you are about to enter.”

22 “Do not fear, for your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, will fight your battles.”
23 I implored the Sovereign Captain at that time.
24 “Almighty Sovereign Captain, you have begun to reveal your immense power and might to your servant. Is there any other Eternal Reality in the celestial realm or on Earth capable of such great and mighty acts as you?”
25 “Permit me to cross and see the beautiful territory beyond Jordan, that impressive hill region, and Lebanon.”
26 “Because of you, the Sovereign Captain was angry with me and chose not to heed my words. ‘Enough, ’ declared the Sovereign Captain, ‘Do not continue this discussion with me. ’”
27 “Ascend to the peak of Pisgah and gaze toward the West, North, South, and East. Observe the land with your sight, as you will not cross this Jordan.”
28 “Appoint Joshua, inspire and fortify him, as he will guide this population and allow them to take ownership of the land you will observe.”
29 So, we dwelled in the valley opposite Beth Peor.

§ 12780 ADHERENCE COMMANDED

4 “Now, Israel, heed the directives and laws I will teach you. Follow them so you may thrive and claim the land that the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of your forefathers, intends to grant you.”
2 “Do not add or subtract from what I command. Instead, adhere to the Eternal Reality’s orders of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, as I deliver them to you.”
3 “You witnessed what the Sovereign Captain did at Baal Peor. the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, annihilated everyone who served the Baal of Peor.”
4 “Those who remained authentic to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, are still living.”
5 “I have taught you directives and regulations as the Sovereign Captain directed me so you can follow them in the land you are about to invade and claim.”
6 “Diligently follow them; this will show your wisdom and understanding to other nations who will say, ‘This great nation is wise and understanding. ’”
7 “What other nation has idolized deities as close to them as our Sovereign Captain when we meld our conscience with Him?”
8 “What other nation has just and fair directives and statutes as the laws I present today?”
9 “Be vigilant, do not forget what you have seen, and keep these memories alive all your days. Teach them to your children and grandchildren.”
10 “Remember the day you stood before the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign at Horeb. He commanded me to gather the people so they could hear His words, learn to respect Him throughout their lives, and teach this reverence to their children.”

11 “You stood at the mountain’s base, engulfed in flames reaching the celestial realms, with dark clouds and profound obscurity.”
12 “the Sovereign Captain spoke to you from within the fire. You heard words but saw no form; only a voice was evident.”
13 “He announced His pact, the Ten Directives, which He instructed you to follow and inscribed on two stone slabs.”
14 “the Sovereign Captain commanded me at that time to teach you the directives and regulations you must follow in the land you will gain after crossing the Jordan.”

§ 12790 WORSHIP OF IDOLIZED DEITIES FORBIDDEN

15 Be vigilant, as you saw no form when the Eternal Reality spoke to you at Horeb amidst the flames.
16 Do not corrupt yourselves by crafting any graven image or idolized deity in any form resembling a male or female.
17-18 Avoid making images of any beast on Earth, bird in the sky, creature that crawls, or fish in the depths.
19 As you observe the sun, moon, and stars, do not be drawn into worshipping them. The Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, allocated these elements to all nations under the celestial realm.
20 The Sovereign Captain chose you, rescued you from Egypt’s iron furnace, to become His treasured nation as you are today.
21 The Sovereign Captain was angry with me because of your actions and vowed I would not cross the Jordan or enter the bountiful land He has given you.
22 I will die in this land; I will not cross the Jordan, but you will take possession of that bountiful land.
23 Be mindful not to forget the Sovereign Captain’s agreement with you. Do not create any idolized deity that He has prohibited.

24 Your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, is a consuming fire, a jealous Preeminent Sovereign.
25 When you have children and grandchildren and have lived long in the land if you corrupt yourselves by making any idolized deity and do evil in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, provoking His anger,
26 I declare today that you will soon perish from the country you are traversing the Jordan to acquire. I call the Earth and the celestial realms to testify against you. There, you won’t last long; instead, you’ll be completely decimated.
27 The Preeminent Sovereign will scatter you among the nations, leaving only a few survivors in foreign lands where He will drive you.
28 There, you will serve idolized deities made by human hands from wood and stone, which cannot see, hear, eat, or smell.
29 But you will find Him if you seek the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, with all your inner determination and self,
30 when you are in distress, and all these things have happened to you. In later days, you will return to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and obey His proclamation.

31 The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is a compassionate Eternal Reality; He promises not to forsake you, kill you, or forget the solemn agreement He made on oath with your ancestors.

§ 12800 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN IS THE PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN

32 Reflect on the distant past, from when the Eternal Reality formed humanity, searching the cosmos. Has such an event ever occurred, or has anyone heard of a similar tale?
33 Has any nation ever heard the Eternal Reality's voice from flames and survived as you did?
34 Has any Eternal Reality claimed a nation from another through trials, signs, battles, and fearsome deeds like the Sovereign Captain your Preeminent Sovereign did for you in Egypt?

35 These acts were shown to you so you could understand that the Sovereign Captain is the sole Eternal Reality. There is none other.
36 He let you hear His voice from the celestial realms and see His immense flame on Earth, perceiving His words from the inferno.
37 Out of love for your forefathers and their descendants, He guided you out of Egypt, showcasing His vast power.
38 He expelled nations stronger than you to give you their land as your heritage, as it is today.
39 Understand and remember that the Sovereign Captain reigns as the Preeminent Sovereign in the celestial realms and on Earth. There is no other.
40 Uphold His regulations and directives for your well-being and future generations, ensuring your existence on the land that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, grants you indefinitely.

§ 12810 HUBS OF REFUGE

41 Moses designated three settlements East of the Jordan River.
42 Anyone who unintentionally caused another's death without premeditated ill-will could seek refuge in these cities to preserve their life.
43 The cities were Golan in Bashan for the Manassites, Ramoth in Gilead for the Gadites, and Bezer on the desert plateau for the Reubenites. This juncture marked the beginning of the Mosaic Law.

§ 12820 INTRODUCTION OF THE MOSAICAL LAW

44 This Living Word is the body of instruction Moses presented to the children of Israel.
45 These are the regulations, directives, and judicial decisions Moses gave them after they left Egypt.

46 They stood near Beth Peor, East of the Jordan, in the land that Sihon, the Amorite Prime Ruler of Heshbon, once controlled. Moses and the Israelites overcame him after their liberation from Egypt.
47 They and Og, the Prime Ruler of Bashan, seized the land that both Prime Rulers of the Amorites East of Jordan previously held.

48 The territory stretched from Aroer at the edge of the Arnon Valley to Mount Sirion, also known as Hermon.
49 It encompassed the entire plain East of the Jordan, extending to the Dead Sea beneath the escarpments of Pisgah.

§ 12830 THE TEN CELESTIAL DIRECTIVES

5 Moses gathered all of Israel and declared: “Listen, Israel, to the regulations and directives I proclaim today. Grasp them and adhere to them stringently.”
2 “Our Sovereign Captain formed an agreement with us at Mount Horeb.”
3 “the Sovereign Captain’s solemn agreement was not with our forefathers but with us living here today.”
4 “the Sovereign Captain personally communicated with you from the brilliance on the peak.”
5 “I served as an intermediary between you and the Sovereign Captain to relay His message; you were too terrified of the fire to ascend the mountain. He spoke as follows.”
6 “I am your Eternal Reality One who led you out of Egypt, the place of your enslavement.”
7 “Do not express adoration to any other than the Preeminent Sovereign.”
8 “You must not craft any idolized deity depicting anything in the celestial realms above, the land below, or the water bodies under the Earth.”

9 “Do not prostrate yourself before them or pay them homage because I, your Sovereign Captain, am a possessive Eternal Reality imposing the guilt of the parents on the children till the third and fourth generation of those who despise me.”
10 “Rather, I display my affection to a thousand generations of those devoted to my laws and me.”
11 “You must avoid using the name of the Sovereign Captain or the Preeminent Sovereign thoughtlessly, as the Sovereign Captain won’t absolve anyone who uses His name in such a manner.”
12 “Exalt the Day of Rest following the directives the Sovereign Captain, your Preeminent Sovereign, has given.”
13 “You must complete all your tasks in six days.”
14 “However, the seventh day is dedicated as a Day of Rest in honor of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality. During this day, you, your children, your male and female workers, your livestock, and even the foreign residents in your locality will not engage in any form of labor. This provision allows your male and female employees to rest just like you.”
15 “Don’t forget that you were once under servitude in Egypt, and the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, liberated you using His remarkable power and extended arm. Consequently, the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, has commissioned you to celebrate the Day of Rest.”
16 “Show high regard for your parents, just as your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, instructed you, with the promise of a lengthy existence and prosperity on the land He is about to deliver to you.”
17 “Thou must not slay anyone.”
18 “Be loyal in marriage.”
19 “Engaging in theft is strictly forbidden.”
20 “You must not testify falsely against your fellow person.”
21 “You must not burn with desire for another man’s wife nor envy him for his home, land, servants, oxen, donkeys, or anything else he owns.”

22 “These are the directives that the Sovereign Captain announced with a booming voice to the entire gathering on the mountain, emerging from the fire, the cloud, and the intense darkness. He didn’t utter any additional words. He then inscribed them on two tablets made of stone and handed them over to me.”
23 “As the mountain was engulfed in flames and the voice echoed from the darkness, your communal heads and elders gathered around me.”
24 “You expressed that the Sovereign Captain, our Eternal Reality, has disclosed his radiance and grandeur, and his voice resonated from the flames. Today, we’ve understood that humans can survive even if spoken to directly by the Preeminent Sovereign.”
25 “What is the point of risking our lives? This powerful fire will annihilate us if we persist in listening to the voice of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.”
26 “What human being has ever lived after hearing the living Preeminent Sovereign’s voice speak from within a flame, as we did?”
27 “Approach and attend all our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, communicates. Then relay to us whatever our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, imparts to you. We pledge to pay heed and comply.”
28 “When you communicated with me, the Sovereign Captain was listening, and He relayed to me that He had heard the words of these people. According to Him, all that they expressed was agreeable.”
29 “If exclusively they possessed such an inner-self that they would respect me and abide by all my orders all the time, it would result in their prosperity and that of their descendants perpetually.”
30 “Proceed and inform them to return to their dwellings.”
31 “You should remain here with me. I’ll provide you with all the statutes, principles, and laws they are expected to adhere to in the territory I’m granting them to occupy.”
32 “Ensure that you act according to the orders given by your Preeminent Sovereign; refrain from veering either to the right or the left.”

33 “To extend your life and flourish in the land you will occupy, you must abide by all the directives given to you by the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.”

§ 12840 LOVE THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN YOUR ETERNAL REALITY

6 These are the directives, statutes, and precepts that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, instructed me to teach you for implementation in the land you are about to seize across the Jordan.
2 To instill reverence for the Sovereign Captain in you, your offspring, and their progeny, adhere to all His statutes and directives I am imparting to you for as long as you live, thereby extending your lifespan.
3 Pay heed, Israel, and follow these laws to prosper and increase in population in the land abundant with milk and honey, as the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of your forefathers, assured you.

4 Listen, Israel: Our Preeminent Sovereign, Yahweh, is One.
5 Cherish your Preeminent Sovereign with all your mind, inner-self, and utmost empowerment.

6 The directives I provide today must be inscribed in your inner selves.

7 Teach these principles to your children. Discuss them when relaxing at home or walking outside, going to bed, and waking up in the morning.
8 Fasten them as reminders on your wrists and secure them as emblems on your forehead.
9 Inscribe them on your homes' and city gates' doorposts.
10 When the Sovereign Captain ushers you into the territory, He promised your forebears Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, endowing you with expansive, prosperous cities that you did not construct.

11 Dwellings overflowing with bounties you didn't amass, water cisterns you didn't carve, and grapevines and olive plantations you didn't cultivate immediately following when you have consumed and are satiated.
12 Ensure you do not lose sight of the Sovereign Captain who led you from Egypt, the land of bondage.
13 Elevate the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, express joyful adoration to Him solely, and make your vows using His name.
14 Refrain from pursuing the idolized deities of the nations surrounding you.
15 The Sovereign Captain who dwells among you is a fiercely passionate Eternal Reality. Should you provoke His wrath, He will incinerate you from the land's surface.
16 Do not provoke the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, as you did in Massah.
17 Diligently adhere to the instructions of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, alongside the obligations and directives He has provided.
18 Perform what is proper and beneficial in the eyes of the Sovereign Captain. Things will progress favorably for you, and you can occupy and inherit the fruitful land that the Sovereign Captain vowed to give to your forefathers.
19 Driving out all your adversaries before you, as the Sovereign Captain has promised.
20 In times to come, when your male heir inquires, "What is the significance of the directives, mandates, and legislations our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, has instructed us to follow?"
21 Inform him: "We were once Pharaoh's captives in Egypt, yet the Sovereign Captain liberated us from Egypt employing His incredible power."
22 The Sovereign Captain's great and horrific marvelous works and signs against Egypt, Pharaoh, and his entire family are right in our sight.
23 He led us away from there to bring us here and grant us the land He had solemnly sworn to our forefathers.

24 The Sovereign Captain has ordered us to follow all these regulations and to awe the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, so that we might constantly thrive and be preserved as we are currently.
25 Should we meticulously adhere to all these laws in the sight of our Sovereign Captain, as per His instructions, it will be considered our ultimate authenticity.

§ 12850 DRIVING OUT THE NATIONS

7 As the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, leads you into the land you are to claim, He will displace seven formidable communities for you: Amorites, Canaanites, Girgashites, Hittites, Hivites, Jebusites, and Perizzites.
2 When the Sovereign Captain hands these nations over and you conquer them, you must obliterate them. Do not form pacts or show compassion.

3 Refrain from forming marriage partnerships with them; neither offer your daughters for marriage to their sons nor accept their daughters for your own.
4 They will lead your offspring away from Me, enticing them to worship idolized deities, igniting the Sovereign Captain's wrath, and leading to your swift destruction.
5 Your actions should be: demolish their altars, shatter their religious stones, tear down their Asherah symbols, and incinerate their carved idolized deities.
6 You are a community set-apart by the Sovereign Captain. Out of all nations, the Sovereign Captain chose you as His cherished treasure.
7-8 The Preeminent Sovereign did not choose you for your numbers but out of love and loyalty to His promise to your forefathers. the Sovereign Captain liberated you from servitude under Pharaoh, the Prime Ruler of Egypt.
9 Recognize that your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, is authentic and reliable, maintaining His promise of love for a thousand generations of those who cherish Him and adhere to His directives.
10 He will personally retaliate against those who despise Him with destruction.
11 So, adhere to the directives, statutes, and legislations I impart today.

12 If you diligently observe these laws, the Eternal Reality's assurance of your compassionate Sovereign Captain will be sustained as pledged to your forefathers.
13 He will cherish you, confer prosperity, and augment your population. He will grant fertility to your offspring and produce—cereal, fresh grape juice, olive extract—and the newborns of your cattle and sheep in the territory He pledged to your forebears.
14 You will be the luckiest of all people; neither infertility nor barrenness will affect you or your cattle.
15 The Eternal Reality will shield you from ailments; He won't bring Egypt's dreadful illnesses but will lay them on those who despise you.
16 Obliterate every nation the Sovereign Captain delivers into your control. Show no mercy and refrain from worshipping their idolized deities to avoid a trap.
17 You might think these nations are more powerful than us. How can we displace them?
18 Yet, don't fear; recall the Sovereign Captain's actions against Pharaoh and Egypt.
19 You witnessed firsthand the significant ordeals, marvelous signs and wonders, mighty hand, and extended arm by which the Sovereign Captain rescued you. He will enact the same on the nations that instill fear in you.
20 Your Preeminent Sovereign will dispatch the hornets, eliminating even those who hide from you.
21 Don't tremble before them; the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is mighty and fearsome.
22 Little by little, He will drive these nations out before you to prevent wild animals from increasing around you.
23 The Sovereign Captain will hand them over to you, causing utter panic until they are eradicated.
24 Their rulers will be handed over to you; you'll obliterate their identities from the Earth. Nobody will resist you; you will annihilate them all.

25 Incinerate their idolized deities' gods. Do not desire their gold and silver or make it your own; it is repugnant to the Sovereign Captain.
26 Refrain from introducing a loathsome item into your dwelling to avoid being doomed to obliteration like it. Consider it repulsive and utterly despise it as it is allocated for annihilation.

§ 12860 DO NOT FORGET THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

8 Heed every instruction I offer to thrive, expand, and inherit the land the Sovereign Captain assured your forefathers.
2 Remember how the Sovereign Captain guided you through the wilderness for four decades to humble you, test you, and understand your intentions, seeing if you would follow His directions.
3 Realize that man does not live on bread alone but on every word from the Sovereign Captain. He guided you through need, allowing hunger to show you reliance on his provision—an unfamiliar sustenance—to remind you that life isn't sustained by physical food alone but by the nourishing truth from the Eternal Source.
4 During these four decades, your attire didn't deteriorate, and your feet remained unswollen.
5 Deeply understand that just as a father educates his son, the Sovereign Captain educates you.
6 Follow the Sovereign Captain's stipulations, conduct yourself accordingly, and maintain a profound respect for Him.
7 The Sovereign Captain leads you into a prosperous land filled with rivers, brooks, and abundant springs in valleys and mountains.
8 A region with wheat, barley, vineyards, fig orchards, pomegranate trees, olive oil, and honey.
9 A land where food is plentiful, and nothing is lacking; where stones are rich in iron, and copper can be extracted from the mountains.
10 After eating and feeling content, express gratitude to the Sovereign Captain for the fertile land He has given you.

11 Do not overlook the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, by neglecting His directives, laws, and decrees I offer today.
12 When you have had your fill and built elegant residences.
13 When your livestock and flocks expand, your precious metals accumulate, and your possessions multiply.
14 Your inner-self may elevate in arrogance, disregarding the Sovereign Captain who led you from Egypt's restraints of servitude.
15 He guided you through the vast desert with poisonous serpents and scorpions, providing water from a rock.
16 In the wilderness, He provided celestial food to humble and test you for your ultimate prosperity.
17 You might think, 'I acquired this prosperity through my skill and abilities. '
18 Remember that the Sovereign Captain enables you to acquire wealth, affirming His solemn agreement with your forefathers.
19 If you disregard the Sovereign Captain and pursue idolized deities, offering them reverence and servitude, I solemnly warn you that destruction is inevitable.
20 You will face destruction like the nations the Sovereign Captain annihilated because you failed to heed the voice of your Preeminent Sovereign."

§ 12870 NOT BECAUSE OF ISRAEL'S INTEGRITY BUT WITH THE PREEMINENT SOVEREIG

9 "Listen, Israel: You are going to traverse the Jordan today to seize territory from countries more powerful and advanced than you, with enormous cities defended to the celestial spheres."
2 "The inhabitants are powerful, Anakim! You know them, and it's said: 'Who can contend against the Anakim?'"

3 "Be assured today that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is crossing ahead of you like a consuming fire. He will defeat them and bring them down before you. As the Sovereign Captain assured you, you will displace and quickly eradicate them."
4 "When the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, has expelled them from your path, do not credit your integrity for this. It's due to the evil conduct of these nations that the Sovereign Captain intends to dislodge them before you."
5 "Your receiving their land does not stem from your integrity or moral purity. Due to the immorality of these nations, the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is expelling them in your favor, fulfilling the oath made to your ancestors, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob."
6 "Recognize that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is not granting you this bountiful territory because of your integrity; indeed, you are a strong-willed group of individuals."

§ 12880 THE GOLDEN CALF

7 Recall how you provoked the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, in the desert. From Egypt to this place, you've been defiant.
8 At Horeb, your actions incited the Sovereign Captain's fury to the point of intending your obliteration.
9 As I ascended the mountain for the stone tablets of the solemn agreement, I stayed forty days and nights without bread or water.
10 The Eternal Reality gave me stone tablets inscribed by the Preeminent Sovereign's hand, containing every decree He declared from the inferno on the mountain during our assembly.
11 After forty days and nights, the Sovereign Captain gave me the tablets.
12 He urgently commanded me to descend because the people you brought from Egypt had tarnished their purity, deviating rapidly from His directives to craft an idolized deity.
13 The Sovereign Captain said, "They are a stubborn and rebellious lot."

14 "Allow me to eradicate them and wipe their existence from beneath the celestial realms. I will foster a stronger, more numerous community from you."
15 I descended from the burning mountain with the tablets in hand.
16 You had committed a transgression against the Sovereign Captain by crafting a calf image and deviating from His path.
17 I shattered the tablets before you.
18 Again, I lay flat before the Sovereign Captain, abstaining from food and drink for forty days and nights due to your unworthy choices that provoked His fury.
19 I was terrified of His extreme rage that could have eradicated you, but He heeded my pleas once more.

20 Amidst His fury towards Aaron, I offered my meldings with the Preeminent Sovereign for Aaron.
21 I seized your calf deity, reduced it to ashes, pulverized it into dust, and scattered it into a river.
22 You also incited the Sovereign Captain's wrath in Taberah, Massah, and Kibroth Hattaavah.
23 When the Eternal Reality dispatched you from Kadesh Barnea to claim the allotted territory, you defied His ordinance, lacked trust, and failed to heed His instructions.
24 You've constantly defied the Sovereign Captain since I knew you.
25 When He declared He would annihilate you, I fell in His presence for forty days and nights.
26 I implored, "Almighty Sovereign Captain, refrain from annihilating Your people, whom You liberated with immense strength from Egypt."
27 "Remember Your loyal servants Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Ignore their obstinate behavior, evil deeds, and transgressions."
28 "Otherwise, the land we originated from might argue that You led them into the wilderness to meet their end due to Your disdain."

29 They are Your populace and heritage, liberated by Your immense strength and extended limb.

§ 12890 TABLETS LIKE THE FIRST ONES

10 During that period, the Sovereign Captain instructed me to carve two stone tablets identical to the original ones and ascend the hill to meet Him. He also commanded me to construct a Strongbox from wood.
2 "I will inscribe on the tablets the exact words that were on the original tablets you shattered, and then you must place them in the Strongbox."
3 So, I crafted a Strongbox using acacia wood and carved a pair of stone tablets similar to the original ones. I climbed the mountain carrying the two tablets.
4 The Sovereign Captain initially proclaimed the Ten Directives to you on the mountain amidst brilliance on the assembly's day and once again inscribed them on these tablets before handing them over to me.
5 I returned from the mountain, and exactly as the Sovereign Captain instructed, I crafted a Strongbox and placed the tablets in it, where they remain to this day.
6 The Israelites' journey took them from Bene Jaakan wells to Moserah, where Aaron breathed his last. He was laid to rest, and his male heir, Eleazar, took over his operational duties.
7 They journeyed to Gudgodah and Jotbathah, a territory abundant with water channels.
8 During that period, the Sovereign Captain chose the community of Levi for the special duty of transporting the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain's Solemn Agreement, to stand in His presence, serve Him, and invoke empowerment in His name, a responsibility they continue to uphold to this day.
9 The Levites don't possess a part or estate alongside their fellow Israelites. the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, told them He is their heritage.
10 Like the first time, I had been up on the summit for forty nights and forty days, and it was during this period that the Sovereign Captain listened to me again. His intention was not to annihilate you.

11 "Proceed," the Sovereign Captain instructed me, "to guide the people along their path, enabling them to step into and claim the territory I pledged to their forefathers to grant them."

§ 12900 RESPECT THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

12 “Now Israel, what does the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, expect from you? Respect Him, live as He directs, cherish Him, and dedicate yourself to Him wholeheartedly.”
13 “Adhere to the Sovereign Captain’s decrees and directives I present today for your benefit.”
14 “the Sovereign Captain owns the universe, even the loftiest sky, the Earth, and all its contents.”
15 “Despite everything, the Sovereign Captain found pleasure in your forefathers, cherished them, and singled out you, their offspring, over all peoples—as is apparent today.”
16 “Therefore, change your inner selves and cease your stubbornness.”
17 “Your Sovereign Captain is supreme above all idolized deities and the overseer of all overseers, a mighty, awe-inspiring Eternal Reality who does not show favoritism or accept any form of monetary persuasion.”
18 “He ensures justice for orphans and widows, offers love to outsiders living among you, and provides them with sustenance and attire.”
19 “You must also cherish those who are aliens, recalling that you were aliens in Egypt.”
20 “Respect the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, be loyal to Him, serve Him exclusively, and make your promises in His Name.”
21 “He is the object of your glorification, your Eternal Reality, who executed the magnificent and awe-striking marvelous works you perceived with sight.”
22 “Initially, only seventy of your forefathers descended to Egypt. Now, your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, has multiplied you to the extent of the stars in the cosmos.”

§ 12910 LOVE AND OBEY THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

11 Always cherish the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, by adhering to His injunctions, precepts, regulations, and directives.
2 Reflect on this day; your offspring did not witness and feel the corrective actions of your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain: His awe-inspiring grandeur, forceful hand, and extended arm.
3 The marvelous works executed, and actions implemented at the core of Egypt were directed toward the Prime Ruler of Egypt, Pharaoh, and his entire nation.
4 The actions He took against the Egyptian forces, their armored personnel carriers and war vehicles, how He caused the Red Sea’s waters to engulf them during their pursuit of you, and the perpetual destruction wrought by the Sovereign Captain on them.
5 Your offspring did not witness His actions for you in the desolate area until you reached here.
6 Consider the fate of Dathan and Abiram, the progeny of Eliab of Reuben’s family, when the Earth split wide open in the center of Israel, consuming them with their families, dwellings and any associated creature.
7 It was indeed your observation of all the grand deeds performed by the Sovereign Captain.
8 Heed all the directives I present to you. This directive will endow you with the fortitude to penetrate and assert ownership of the territory you will traverse the Jordan to claim:
9 To ensure the fertile territory, abundant in milk and honey, pledged by the Sovereign Captain to your forefathers and their families, lasts long.

[10] The territory you are about to seize differs from the land of Egypt, where you originated; you used to sow your grains and manually nourish them as if they were a patch of vegetables.

[11] The territory you are about to traverse the Jordan to acquire is an area of hills and valleys that receive rain from the sky.
[12] This territory is one that your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, cherishes; His gaze never leaves it from the commencement to the conclusion of the year.
[13] You diligently follow my directives today, loving the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and serving Him wholeheartedly and devoutly.
[14] I will provide the appropriate seasonal showers for your land and the autumn and spring precipitations. Enabling you to harvest your crops. Fresh wine. Olive oil.
[15] He will ensure abundant grasslands for your livestock, giving you plenty to consume and achieve contentment.
[16] Be vigilant; you might be seduced into deviating and paying homage to counterfeit idolized deities by prostrating before them.
[17] The Sovereign Captain's wrath will be kindled against you, leading to the closure of the sky, preventing rain, and resulting in barren land without yield. Consequently, your existence on the bountiful land the Sovereign Captain grants you will be short-lived.
[18] Implant these teachings of mine into your inner selves, fasten them as reminders on your hands, and affix them on your foreheads.
[19] Impart them to your offspring, discussing them when you reside in your dwelling and venture on the way, during your rest, and when you awaken.
[20] Inscribe them on the lintels of your dwellings and city portals.
[21] This inscription ensures that your lifespan and your offspring may be extensive in the territory the Sovereign Captain vowed to provide to your forefathers as long as the celestial sphere remains above our planet.
[22] If you are meticulously following all the directives I am providing you—to cherish your Sovereign Captain, Preeminent Sovereign, to conform to His ways, and to adhere firmly to Him—
[23] The Sovereign Captain will expel all these nations from your path. You will take possession of more substantial and potent nations than you.

[24] Anywhere your foot happens to tread shall belong to you: Your realm will stretch from the wilderness to Lebanon and the Euphrates River to the Mediterranean Sea.
[25] The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will instill dread and fear of you throughout the entire land, as He promised, making it impossible for anyone to withstand you, no matter where you venture.
[26] Pay heed; today, I give you a choice between receiving empowerment or a curse.
[27] Good will come to you if you heed the laws of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, which I am conveying to you this day;
[28] Misfortune will befall you if you ignore the decrees of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, deviate from the path I have directed you on today, and express joyful adoration to unknown idolized deities you have not recognized before.
[29] As the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality leads you into the land you are about to take into your possession; you must announce empowerments from Mount Gerizim and curses from Mount Ebal.
[30] As you may be aware, these mountains lie across the Jordan to the West, in the direction of the setting sun, close to the significant trees of Moreh. They are within the lands of the Canaanites inhabiting the Arabah, near the vicinity of Gilgal.

31 You are on the verge of crossing the Jordan to invade and inherit the land that your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, granted you once you've claimed it and established residence there.
32 Ensure you diligently follow all the statutes and regulations I lay out today.

§ 12920 THE ONE PLACE OF JOYFUL ADORATION

12 "Diligently uphold these directives and statutes in the territory the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of your forefathers, has given you to occupy for all your days there.

2 Obliterate every location where the nations you displace served their idolized deities—whether on mountains, hills, or beneath lush trees.
3 Overturn their altars, shatter their exalted pillars, incinerate their Asherah poles, hack down their graven images, and obliterate their names from those locations.
4 Do not honor the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, as they do.

5 "Search for the location your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, selects from all your communities as His fortress where He establishes His Name. Go to this place.
6 Present your absolving payments for consumption by fire, honor the Preeminent Sovereign with your absolving payments, give your tenths unique gifts, fulfill the promises you have sworn, offer voluntary gifts, and present the first-born animals of your herds and flock.
7 There, under the watchful eyes of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, you and your relatives will feast and find delight in all you have labored for, as the Sovereign Captain has given His empowerments on you.

8 "Do not act as we currently do here, with everyone behaving according to their desires,
9 for you have not yet arrived at the peaceful land and possession that the Sovereign Captain grants you.
10 Soon, you shall traverse the Jordan and reside in the territory designated by the Sovereign Captain as your inheritance. He will provide tranquility from all your surrounding adversaries, enabling you to dwell securely.
11 To the location that the Sovereign Captain selects as the residence for His Name, bring everything I instruct you: your entirely burned absolving payments, absolving payments, tenth part gifts, extraordinary donations, and all valuable items you've solemnly promised to the Sovereign Captain.

12 "Take delight there in the presence of the Sovereign Captain alongside your children, servants (male and female), and Levites from your cities who don't have a land share or heritage of their own.
13 Ensure you don't offer absolving payments anywhere you fancy.
14 Exclusively present your absolving payments at the location that the Sovereign Captain designates within one of your communities and carry out all instructions I give you there.
15 However, you can kill animals in any of your settlements and consume as much meat as you like, like eating gazelle or deer, aligning with the Sovereign Captain's empowerments. Both formally pure and those who aren't can partake in this feast.

16 "Do not consume the blood but release it on the Earth like water.
17 The ten percent contribution of your grain, new wine, olive oil, firstlings of your herds and flocks, pledge absolving payments, voluntary absolving payments, or distinct gifts cannot be consumed within your local communities.

18 Rather, consume them in the sight of the Sovereign Captain at the location He selects—you, your offspring, male and female employees, and Levites from your cities—and delight in His presence in all your endeavors.
19 Always remember not to abandon the Levites for the duration of your existence on your territory.

20 "Once the Sovereign Captain has extended your borders as He pledged and you desire meat, saying, 'I want some meat, ' you have the liberty to consume as much as your inner-self desires.
21 If the site where the Sovereign Captain places His Name is far from you, by My directives, you can slaughter animals from the cattle and sheep He has given you and consume as much as you wish within your city limits."

22 "Consume them as you would a gazelle or deer. Both the healthy and unhealthy may partake."
23 "Do not consume the blood, for it contains the life essence and must not be consumed with the flesh."
24 "Blood should be discarded on the Earth like water."
25 "Refrain from consuming it to ensure a prosperous life for you and your offspring, as dictated by the Sovereign Captain."
26 "Take your exalted absolving payments and promised gifts to the location the Sovereign Captain selects."
27 "Submit your scorched flesh and blood absolving payments on the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table. The liquid life of your absolving payments should be emptied next to your Preeminent Sovereign's pedestal table; the flesh is yours to consume."
28 "Follow all these guidelines so that things may prosper for you and your descendants because you'll be practicing what is authentic and acceptable in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality."
29 "Be cautious not to adopt the ways of the countries devastated before you by the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, once you invade them." You have driven them out and taken possession of their land."
30 "Do not ask, 'How do these nations serve their idolized deities?' regarding their idolized deities. I'll follow suit."
31 "This is not how you ought to elevate the Sovereign Captain, your Preeminent Sovereign, for they offer up to their idolized deities all the abominations that the Sovereign Captain detests. They even set their sons and daughters ablaze as absolving payments to their idolized deities."
32 "Follow all the instructions I give you. Do not amplify or trim them down."

§ 12930 WORSHIPING IDOLIZED DEITIES

13 "Should a prophet or an individual who delivers wisdom through dreams emerge among you and present a sign or an extraordinary event,

2 if the marvelous work or prophecy comes to fruition, and the prophet suggests, 'Let's obey unknown gods (idolized deities you haven't been acquainted with) and elevate them, ' you should not heed that seer or prophet."

3 Your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, examines you to discover if your affection for Him is complete, encompassing all your inner determination and self.

4 “Pursue the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, whom you must respect deeply. Adhere to his directives and heed his words; dedicate your service to him and remain attached.”
5 “The prophet or visionary should face execution for promoting mutiny against the Sovereign Captain who liberated you from Egypt and rescued you from slavery. This person attempted to divert you from the path the Preeminent Sovereign instructed you to tread. Cleanse such malevolence from your midst.”
6 “If your blood brother, offspring, cherished wife, or confidant secretly persuades you, uttering, ‘Let’s serve and trust in idolized deities (idolized deities unfamiliar to you and your forebears), ’”
7 “Idolized deities of surrounding communities, either close by or distant, spanning from one boundary of the Earth to the other.”
8 “Avoid being influenced by them or listening to their words. Display no compassion towards them. Neither exempt them from consequences nor provide protection.”
9 “They must be executed. Your hand should initiate their execution, followed by the entire community.”
10 “Execute them by pelting stones as they attempt to sway you away from the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, who escorted you out of Egypt, the terrain of servitude.”
11 “All of Israel will learn and respond with fear, ensuring such impurity is never repeated among you.”

12 “Should you come across news regarding any of the cities the Sovereign Captain your Preeminent Sovereign is assigning for your habitation,”
13 “Miscreants have emerged from within your community, misleading residents by proposing, ‘Let’s follow and venerate unfamiliar idolized deities (idolized deities you have not recognized before). ’”
14 “Examine the matter meticulously, carry out a detailed investigation, and if it is verified that such a vile act has occurred,”
15 “Eradicate all inhabitants of that city with your tactical blades. Obliterate it, eliminating both its people and their animals.”
16 “Collect all loot from the town and assemble it in the public square. The entire village and its plunder must be burned as a scorched absolving payment dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. Those ruins must remain perpetual, with no possibility of reconstruction.”
17 “Suppose none of the objects destined for destruction is discovered in your possession. In that case, the Eternal Reality will cease His intense wrath, extend His mercy towards you, and show compassion. He will augment your population as He affirmed by a sworn promise to your forebears.”
18 “Adhere to the voice of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, carry out all His laws which I have conferred on you today, and act in a way that pleases Him.”

§ 12940 CLEAN AND UNCLEAN FOOD

14 As offspring of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, avoid self-harm or shaving your head in mourning.
2 You are an exalted community to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign, chosen from all nations as His prized property.
3 Do not consume anything abhorrent.
4 Permissible animals include cattle, lambs, goats,
5 hart, gazelle, fallow deer, wild goat, ibex, antelope, and chamois.

6 Any beast with a split hoof that re-chews its food is permissible.

7 Avoid animals like the camel, rabbit, or hyrax; they re-chew food but lack a split hoof, making them impure.
8 Pigs are unhealthy; they have split hooves but do not re-chew food. Do not consume their meat or touch their carcasses.
9 Consume only fish with fins and scales.
10 Sea creatures without fins and scales are impure.
11 Any healthy bird is acceptable.
12 Do not consume eagles, vultures, black vultures,
13 scarlet kites, ebony kites, falcons,
14 ravens,
15 eagle owls, short-eared owls, seagulls, hawks,
16 minor owls, significant owls, pale owls,
17 desert-dwelling owls, sea hawks, cormorants,
18 storks, herons, hoopoes, and bats.
19 All winged insects are unhealthy; do not consume them.
20 You may consume any officially healthy flying creature.
21 Do not eat animals that die naturally; give them to outsiders or sell them to strangers. You are a purified community to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign. A young goat should not be boiled in its mother's milk.

§ 12950 TEN PERCENT ASSESSMENTS

22 Reserve one-tenth of your annual field yield.

23 Consume this portion of your crops, fermented grape juice, vegetable oil, and the first-born of your livestock and sheep in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, at the chosen site. This practice fosters deep reverence for the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.
24 If the designated location is too far and carrying your ten percent contribution becomes impractical due to the Sovereign Captain's abundant provision, your Preeminent Sovereign, 25, convert it to silver, secure the silver, and then go to the chosen location.
26 Use the money to buy anything you desire: livestock, sheep, wine, other intoxicating beverages, or anything appealing. Then, in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, you and your family can feast and celebrate.
27 Respect the Levites in your cities, as they do not possess specific land or heritage.
28 Every third year, bring out the ten percent contribution from that year's crop and store it in your towns.
29 This ensures that Levites, outsiders, parentless children, and widows in your towns can come, eat, and be satisfied. This provision empowers the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, to empower all your work.

§ 12960 THE YEAR FOR CANCELING DEBTS

15 Every seven years declare a cancellation of debts.
2 The rule is clear: anyone who has lent to another Israelite must relinquish their claim. the Sovereign Captain has declared not to seek payment from fellow Israelites during this period.
3 You may demand repayment from an outsider, but you must waive debts owed by fellow Israelites.

[4] There should be no impoverished individuals among you, as the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will abundantly empower you in the land he is giving you as your heritage.

[5] Listen attentively to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and carefully execute all these today's directives.
[6] The Eternal Reality will empower you, enabling you to lend to various nations while remaining self-sufficient without borrowing. You will influence many nations, yet none will rule over you.
[7] If any poor person exists among your fellow Israelites in any community in the land the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is granting you, do not harden your inner-self or be stingy.
[8] Be generous and give them whatever they need.
[9] Do not entertain the evil idea that the seventh year of debt forgiveness is near, causing resentment towards the less fortunate and withholding assistance. If they appeal to the Sovereign Captain because of this, you will be deemed guilty of unworthy choices.
[10] Freely provide for them without resentment; consequently, the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will empower all your endeavors and tasks.
[11] Indigent individuals will always exist in the territory. Therefore, generously extend your hand to your fellow compatriots who are impoverished and in need within your jurisdiction.

§ 12970 FREEING SERVANTS

[12] If a fellow Hebrew, male or female, sells themselves into your service and works for six years, you must grant their freedom in the seventh year.
[13] When you release them, ensure they leave with provisions.
[14] Generously supply them from your herd, grain, and wine, as the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign, has empowered you.
[15] Remember, you were once a servant in Egypt, and the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, freed you. Follow this command today.
[16] If your servant declares they do not wish to leave because they love you and your family and are content with their life, [17] pierce their ear with an awl at the door, making them your perpetual servant. Do the same for your female servant.

[18] Do not find it burdensome to release your servant, as their six years of service are worth double that of a hired worker. The Sovereign Captain will bless all your endeavors.

§ 12980 THE FIRST-BORN ANIMALS

[19] "Dedicate to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, every male firstling born in your herds and flocks. The first-born of your cows should not be used for labor, and the first-born of your sheep should not have their wool sheared.

[20] Annually, the Sovereign Captain will select a location where you and your household will consume these animals in His presence.

[21] An animal having any blemish, disability, blindness, or significant imperfection must not be offered as an absolving payment to your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.

22 Within your communities, those who are formally healthy and impure may consume it, as one would savor a deer or gazelle.

23 However, you should not consume the blood; drain it on the ground like water.

§ 12990 THE EMANCIPATION

16 During Aviv, honor the Emancipation Feast of your Preeminent Sovereign, who led you out of Egypt by night.

2 The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will choose where His Name will reside, and there you must present the Emancipation absolving payment from your herd or flock.
3 Do not eat it with yeast bread; instead, consume unleavened bread for a week, symbolizing the suffering of your hurried celestial deliverance from Egypt. This detail ensures you remember your celestial deliverance throughout your life.
4 Ensure no leaven is found in your territory for a week. The meat offered in absolving payment on the first night should be kept until dawn.
5 You cannot offer Emancipation in any city the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, provides.
6 Only at the location chosen by your Preeminent Sovereign for His Name should you perform the Emancipation absolving payment at sunset, marking your celestial deliverance from Egypt.
7 Prepare and consume it at the selected location, then return to your dwellings at daybreak.
8 Eat unleavened bread for six days. On the seventh day, hold a gathering dedicated to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and refrain from labor.

§ 13000 THE FESTIVAL OF WEEKS

9 Start measuring seven weeks after you initiate harvesting the standing grain.
10 Celebrate the Feast of Weeks by presenting a voluntary contribution in honor of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign, based on the extent of empowerment you have received from the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.
11 Celebrate in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, your Preeminent Sovereign, at the location He will pick to honor His Name—you, your offspring, both your sons and daughters, your servants of both genders, the Levites within your town, and the outsiders, orphans, and widows residing with you.
12 Don’t forget that you once served as an enslaved people in Egypt; hence, adhere strictly to these enactments.

§ 13010 THE FESTIVAL OF TENTS

13 After gathering your harvest, celebrate the feast of booths for seven days.
14 Enjoy the festival with your family, staff, Levites, outsiders, orphans, and widows in your community.
15 Hold this seven-day festival in honor of the Sovereign Captain where He chooses. the Sovereign Captain will empower your crops and work, bringing you complete delight.
16 Three times a year, all males must present themselves before the Sovereign Captain at a location He selects: during the Celebration of Unleavened Bread, the Celebration of Weeks, and the Celebration of Tents. No one shall appear before the Sovereign Captain empty-handed.

17 Each person must give a gift reflecting the empowerment they've received from the Sovereign Captain.

§ 13020 JUDGES

18 In every township the Sovereign Captain granted, appoint judges and officers for each community to ensure impartial justice.
19 Avoid distorting fairness or showing favoritism. Reject clandestine payments, as they obscure wise perceptions and misrepresent guiltless words.
20 Actively pursue integrity to thrive and gain control over the territory the Preeminent Sovereign grants.

§ 13030 WORSHIPING COUNTERFEIT DEITIES

21 Do not place any Asherah wooden idolized deity next to the pedestal table you construct for your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.

22 Avoid setting up an exalted stone pillar, as the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, detests it.

17 Never present to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, an ox or a sheep with any blemish or imperfections, as such absolving payments would be abhorrent to Him.
2 If a man or woman in one of the cities given to you by the Preeminent Sovereign commits impurity in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, breaking His solemn agreement, they could be identified within your community.
3 Despite prohibitions, if they revere different idolized deities, showing reverence to the sun, moon, or celestial bodies,
4 and this information comes to your notice, scrutinize it intensively. If confirmed that this despicable act occurred in Israel,
5 escort the individual, male or female, who committed this impure act to the entrance of your town and execute them through stoning.
6 A person can be sentenced to death based on evidence from two or three testifiers but not from a single testifier.
7 The testifiers should act first in the execution, followed by all other community members. Eradicate such impurity from your midst.

§ 13040 LEGAL COURTS

8 If legal disputes in your judicial system are too challenging to resolve—whether they concern homicide, legal suits, or violent incidents—transport them to the location your Sovereign Captain selected.
9 Approach the Levitical ensovereigned mediators and the presiding judge. Consult them, and they will provide you with the judgment.
10 You must adhere to the verdict they deliver at the Sovereign Captain's selected spot. Pay close attention to carrying out every directive they give you.

11 Adhere to the instructions they provide you with and the verdicts they render. Don’t deviate from what they command towards the right or left.

12 Any individual disrespecting the judge or the ensovereigned mediator serving the Sovereign Captain as the Preeminent Sovereign must be sentenced to death. You need to eliminate such impurity from Israel.
13 everyone will hear about it and fear it, preventing them from behaving arrogantly in the future.

§ 13050 THE PRIME RULER

14 When settling in the land granted by the Sovereign Captain, you may wish to appoint a Prime Ruler like other nations do.
15 Ensure the Preeminent Sovereign is your chosen Prime Ruler, an Israelite from your people. Do not appoint a foreigner.
16 The Prime Ruler must not amass many military strike vehicles or lead the people back to Egypt for more, as the Sovereign Captain instructed. Never return that way.
17 He must not acquire many wives, lest they divert his inner-self, nor accumulate excessive silver and gold.
18 Upon ascending to authority, he must write a copy of the Mosaic Law from the Levitical ensovereigned mediators’ original.
19 He should keep it with him, read it daily, learn to fear his Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, and observe all directives and statutes.
20 He should not see himself as superior to his compatriots or deviate from the Mosaic Law’s instructions. This directive ensures a long rule for him and his offspring in Israel.

§ 13060 OFFERINGS FOR THE PRIME ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS AND LEVITES

18 The community of Levi, including the Levitical ensovereigned mediators, will not receive any land inheritance in Israel. Their sustenance comes from the absolving payments made to the Sovereign Captain, which is their inheritance.

2 They have no land share among the Israelites; the Sovereign Captain is their heritage, as He pledged.

3 “This portion is owed to the ensovereigned mediators from those offering a bull or sheep as an absolving payment: the shoulder, inner parts, and head meat.
4 Provide them with the first grain yield, fresh wine, olive oil, and the best wool from your flock’s shearing.
5 The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, has chosen them and their offspring from all communities to serve perpetually in His Name.

6 “Suppose a Levite from any of your cities in Israel decides to move sincerely to the site the Sovereign Captain chose.
7 He may serve in the Name of the Sovereign Captain like his fellow Levites attending there.
8 Regardless of any income from his familial property’s transaction, he shall still receive a comparable share of communal benefits. “

§ 13070 OCCULT PRACTICES

9 As you inherit the land the Preeminent Sovereign granted, shun the current inhabitants' disgusting customs.
10 No one among you should sacrifice their child in the fire, practice fortune-telling or magic, interpret omens, or engage in witchcraft.
11 Nor should anyone use secret powers or communicate with the deceased.
12 Those who engage in these practices are detestable to the Sovereign Captain; because of such actions, the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will drive out those communities before you.
13 You must practice integrity with the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.

§ 13080 THE ETERNALLY WISE SERVANT

14 The people you are about to replace heed those who engage in witchcraft and fortune-telling. However, your celestial sovereign, the Sovereign Captain, has forbidden such activities.
15 Your Preeminent Sovereign will appoint an eternally wise servant from your community and fellow Israelites like me. He's the one you need to heed.
16 This aligns with your request to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign at Horeb; during the gathering, you said, "Let us not endure the sound of the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign's voice, or witness this magnificent fire again. Otherwise, we shall perish."
17 The Sovereign Captain told me, "Their utterance is appropriate."
18 I will appoint an eternally wise servant like you from your brethren, the Israelites. My words will be in his mouth, and he will proclaim all my directives.
19 I will hold responsible anyone who disregards my words from the eternally wise servant in my Name.
20 A prophet who declares words in my Name that I did not authorize or speak for idolized deities is to be executed.
21 You might ask, "How can we discern if the Sovereign Captain didn't deliver a proclamation?"
22 If a prophet makes a prediction in the Name of the Sovereign Captain and fails to happen or prove authentic, the Sovereign Captain didn't send that message. The prophet spoke recklessly. Therefore, there's no need for you to be perturbed.

§ 13090 HUBS OF REFUGE

19 After the nations whose land the Sovereign Captain your Preeminent Sovereign is giving you have been cut off, and you have expelled them and taken up residence in their cities and homes,

2 you are to establish three cities for yourself within the territory that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is giving you.
3 In order for any man-slayer to escape to these towns, you are to construct roads for yourselves and divide the land that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is giving you as an inheritance into three areas.

4 Here is the scenario with the man-slayer who, after unintentionally killing his neighbor, runs away to one of these cities to preserve his life:
5 If the avenger pursues him angrily and the city is too far, he might be killed unjustly.
6 Therefore, designate three cities for refuge.
7 If the Sovereign Captain extends your boundaries as promised to your forefathers and grants you all the pledged land,
8-9 if you diligently follow all of the instructions I have given you today, loving the Sovereign Captain your Preeminent Sovereign and always acting in His ways, and you are to add three more cities to these three 10 Because of this, you will not be guilty of homicide in the land that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is giving you as an inheritance.
11 Suppose someone maliciously kills another and seeks refuge. In that case, the town leaders must retrieve and hand him over to the avenger for execution.

12 His city's elders must send for him, retrieve him, and give him to the blood avenger to perish.
13 Show no compassion; eliminate the guilt of innocent bloodshed for prosperity to prevail.
14 Do not tamper with the property markers your neighbor's ancestors set in the land the Sovereign Captain granted.

§ 13100 WITNESSES

15 A single testimony cannot confirm guilt for any crime or transgression. Two or three testifiers must support the case.
16 If a hostile testifier accuses someone of a crime in court,
17 both parties must appear before the Sovereign Captain, the ensovereigned mediators, and the judges of that time.
18 The judges will conduct a thorough investigation. If the testifier is found to be lying,
19 impose the same punishment on the false witness that they intended for the accused. This measure will remove hostility from your community.
20 The people will hear and fear, preventing such impure acts in the future.
21 Show no mercy: existence for existence, sight for sight, dental for dental, palm for palm, stride for stride.

§ 13110 GOING TO WAR

20 When you march against your adversaries equipped with military strike vehicles, assault troops, and a larger force, do not fear. the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign who led you out of Egypt, will be with you.
2 As you prepare for battle, the ensovereigned mediator will address the troops.
3 "Listen, Israel: Be strong and courageous as you face your foes today. Do not fear or be terrified.
4 Your Sovereign Captain goes with you to fight your adversaries and secure your victory. "

5 Officials should then ask the troops: "Has anyone built a new house but not lived in it? He should return home to avoid dying in battle and another living there.
6 Has anyone planted a rooftop garden but not enjoyed its fruit? He should return home to avoid dying in battle and another enjoying it.

7 Is anyone engaged but not married? He should return home to avoid dying in battle and another marrying her.
8 ” Officers will also ask if anyone is fearful or lacks courage. He should return home to prevent lowering his comrades’ morale.
9 After these addresses, appoint military leaders.

10 When approaching a city for battle, first offer peace terms.
11 If they accept and open their city, everyone will become your subjugated workforce.
12 If they refuse and choose combat, besiege the city.
13 When the Eternal Reality grants you control, execute every male.
14 The Sovereign Captain grants the taking of women, children, cattle, and other spoils.

15 Handle distant cities this way, not neighboring nations.
16 In towns given to you by the Sovereign Captain, spare no living creature.
17 The Sovereign Captain decreed the destruction of the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites.
18 Otherwise, they may lead you to adopt their detestable practices and commit unworthy choices against your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.

19 During a prolonged siege, do not destroy fruit trees as they provide sustenance. Do not cut them down. Are trees human enemies?
20 However, you may cut down non-fruit-bearing trees to build siege devices until the city falls.

§ 13120 COMPENSATION FOR AN UNSOLVED MURDER

21 If someone is found murdered in the land provided by the Sovereign Captain, and the killer is unknown,
2 leaders and judges must measure the distance from the body to nearby cities.
3 The senior authorities of the nearest town must select a young cow that has never worked or worn a yoke.
4 They are to take it to an uncultivated ravine with flowing water and break its neck there.
5 The Levitical ensovereigned mediators, chosen by the Sovereign Captain to serve and resolve disputes, will step forward.
6 The senior leaders of the nearest city will wash their hands over the cow with a broken neck in the ravine.
7 They must declare, “We did not commit this murder, nor did we witness it.”
8 “Absolve your people, Israel, whom you have redeemed, My Sovereign Captain, and do not hold them guilty of shedding innocent blood.” This measure will rectify the bloodshed.
9 By following what is authentic in the Sovereign Captain’s perception, you will absolve yourselves of innocent blood guilt.

§ 13130 MARRYING A CAPTIVE FEMALE HUMAN

10 If you wage war against your foes and the Eternal Reality Sovereign Captain aids in your victory, leading to their capture,
11 and you find a captivating woman among the prisoners, you may marry her.

12 Bring her to your fortress, where she should cut her hair and trim her nails.
13 She must also change out of the clothes she wore when captured. After residing in your home and mourning her parents for a month, you may then take her as your wife.

14 If she does not satisfy you, allow her to leave freely. You must not sell or enslave her, as you have humiliated her.

§ 13140 THE RIGHT OF THE FIRST-BORN

15 If a man has two wives, one loved, and the other unloved, and both bear him sons, but the first-born is from the unloved wife,
16 he must not give the rights of the first-born to the son of the loved wife in place of the authentic first-born.
17 The first-born son of the unloved wife must receive a double portion of the inheritance, as he is the first sign of his father's strength and holds the right of the first-born.

§ 13150 A REBELLIOUS HEIR

18 If a child persistently defies and rebels against parental warnings, remaining unresponsive despite admonishments, 19 the parents must take him to the city elders at their community's entrance.
20 They will state, "Our child is stubborn and resistant, refusing to obey us and excessively indulging in eating and drinking."
21 The men of his community must stone him to death, eradicating the impurity among you. This act will instill fear among the Israelites.

§ 13160 VARIOUS LAWS

22-23 Suppose someone commits a crime warranting execution, and their body is displayed on a stake. In that case, it must not remain there overnight. Bury it the same day since the Preeminent Sovereign deems the hanged person cursed. Do not defile the land that the Sovereign Captain has given you as a heritage.

22 Don't ignore a wandering ox or sheep; restore it to its owner if you notice one of your fellow Israelites owning it.
2 If the owner is far away or unknown, take the animal home and care for it until it is claimed.
3 Do the same for their donkey, cloak, or any lost item. Do not neglect this duty.
4 Assist the owner if you come across an ox or donkey belonging to a fellow Israelite that has fallen on the road.

5 The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, finds it distasteful when a woman wears men's clothes, or a man wears women's clothes.
6 If you find a bird's nest with the mother bird tending to its young or eggs, do not take the mother with the young.
7 You may take the young, but release the mother to ensure your prosperity and longevity.

8 When building a new house, install a guardrail around the roof to prevent bloodshed if someone falls.
9 Do not plant two types of seeds in your vineyard, as this will make both crops unhealthy.
10 Do not plow with an ox and donkey yoked together.
11 Do not wear fabric woven from wool and linen together.
12 Sew twisted cords on the four corners of your garment.

§ 13170 MARRIAGE VIOLATIONS

13 If a man marries a woman, has intimate relations, and then despises her, 14 he may defame her by claiming she was not a virgin.
15 The woman's parents must present proof of her virginity to the city leaders.
16 The father will say, "I gave my daughter to this man, but he despises her."
17 He falsely claims, 'I found no evidence of her virginity. ' Here is the proof of my daughter's purity." They will present the cloth to the leaders.
18 The leaders must discipline the man.
19 He will be fined a hundred shekels of silver, given to the woman's father, and must keep her as his wife for life.
20 If the accusation is authentic and no proof of virginity is found, 21 the woman will be taken to her father's house and stoned to death for her wrongdoing. This act removes impurity from Israel.
22 If a man is found with another man's wife, both must be executed to remove impurity from Israel.
23 If a man has relations with an engaged virgin in the city,
24 both will be stoned at the city gate for not seeking help and defiling another's spouse. This measure removes impurities from your community.
25 If a man forces himself on an engaged woman in the countryside, only the man will be executed.
26 The woman is innocent, similar to a murder victim.
27 She may have cried out, but no one was there to save her.
28 If a man forces himself on an unmarried virgin and it is discovered, 29 he must pay fifty pieces of silver to her father and marry her for life.
30 A man must not marry his father's former wife or disrespect his father's intimate relations.

§ 13180 EXCLUSION FROM THE ENSOVEREIGNED LIFESTYLE COMMUNITY

23 The ensovereigned lifestyle community of the Sovereign Captain does not allow anyone castrated by mutilation or severing to join.
2 Those born from an illicit union or their descendants up to the tenth generation cannot join the ensovereigned lifestyle community of the Sovereign Captain.
3 Ammonites, Moabites, or their descendants up to the tenth generation cannot join the Sovereign Captain's ensovereigned lifestyle community.
4 They did not welcome you with food and water when you left Egypt and hired Balaam to curse you.

5 But your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, turned the curse into empowerment because He loves you.
6 Never seek their welfare or alliance.
7 Do not despise Edomites; they are your relatives. Do not despise Egyptians; you were once strangers in their land.
8 Their great-grandchildren may join the ensovereigned lifestyle community of Yahweh.

§ 13190 UNCLEANNESS IN THE CAMP

9 “Maintain purity during wartime and when stationed against foes.
10 If a male becomes impure due to a nighttime emission, he must leave the camp and stay outside.
11 At nightfall, he should cleanse himself and reenter the camp after sunset.
12 Designate a place outside the camp for bodily needs.
13 Carry a digging tool to bury waste when relieving yourself outside.

14 Your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, moves within your camp to protect you and defeat your enemies. Keep the camp exalted and free from anything offensive to ensure His presence remains. “

§ 13200 MISCELLANEOUS LAWS

15 “If a servant seeks refuge with you, do not force them to return to their owner.
16 Allow them to live among you wherever they choose. Do not mistreat them.
17 No male or female from Israel should ever become an exalted prostitute.
18 The income of a sex worker must not be brought into the fortress of the Sovereign Captain in fulfillment of any vow; both are abhorrent to you, the Preeminent Sovereign.
19 Avoid imposing any interest on your compatriot, whether on currency, sustenance, or any other item that could generate interest.
20 You may levy interest on loans to a foreigner but refrain from doing so with your fellow Israelite. Allow the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, to empower all your endeavors in the territory you are about to inhabit.

21 “When you make a commitment to the Sovereign Captain, your Preeminent Sovereign, don’t delay in fulfilling it as He will require it from you, and you will be guilty of an unworthy choice.
22 However, if you choose not to make a promise, it won’t be counted as an unworthy choice.
23 You must trustfully execute any commitment you have voiced, for it was out of your free will that you pledged it to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.

24 “Should you venture into your neighbor’s vineyard, you can consume as many grapes as you desire; however, refrain from placing any in your container.

25 While passing through a fellow’s crop field, it’s permissible to pluck and consume grains by hand. However, using a sickle to harvest their crops is not allowed.

24 “Should a man marry a woman and find something objectionable about her, he can compile a divorce document, deliver it to her, and send her away from his dwelling.
2 She may marry another man once she has left his premises.

[3] If her subsequent spouse grows to loathe her, composes an official divorce notice, hands it to her, and expels her from his dwelling, or if he passes away.
[4] Her initial spouse is prohibited from remarrying her following her defilement. This action would be abhorrent in the view of the Sovereign Captain. Refrain from inducing guilt on the territory the Sovereign Captain grants you as a legacy.

[5] "A newly married man should not be drafted into military service or given any other responsibilities. He should enjoy a year of freedom, staying home and making his new wife joyous.
[6] Never seize a pair of millstones, especially the top one, as a guarantee for a loan, as it implies taking an individual's means of sustenance as assurance.

[7] "Should an individual be found guilty of abducting a fellow Israeli with intentions of enslaving or selling them, the perpetrator must face death. It is essential to eradicate such impurity from your community.
[8] When confronted with severe skin ailments, follow the instructions given by Levitical ensovereigned mediators precisely as they're provided. Exercise diligence in complying with the directives I have handed to them.
[9] Don't forget the actions of the Sovereign Captain toward Miriam during your journey following your celestial deliverance from Egypt.

[10] "If you lend anything to another person, avoid entering their dwelling to collect the item they provide as collateral.
[11] Remain outside, permitting the individual you've provided a loan to bring out the collateral to you.
[12] If your neighbor is in financial hardship, avoid retaining their collateral while you rest.
[13] Ensure that they give back their coat by sunset so that they can use it for warmth during sleep. They will express gratitude, and the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will perceive your action as authentic."

[14] "Never exploit a destitute and needy laborer, whether they are fellow Israelites or strangers in your community.
[15] Pay them on the same day before sunset, as they rely on this payment. If you don't, they might appeal to the Sovereign Captain against you, leading to your unworthy choice culpability.
[16] Parents should not be executed for their offspring's misdeeds, nor should offspring be punished for their parents' culpabilities; each individual shall meet their end due to their transgression.
[17] Do not deny justice to an outsider or an orphan, and do not seize a widow's garment as collateral for a loan.
[18] Remember that you were once enslaved in Egypt, and the Sovereign Captain liberated you. This directive is why I instruct you to act like this.
[19] If you forget a bundle when gathering crops, leave it for the foreigner, orphan, and widow so that your endeavors may receive empowerment from the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.
[20] Avoid repeating the process on the branches when harvesting olives. Any olives left should be for the resident outsider, orphan, and widow.
[21] As you gather grapes from your vineyard, refrain from revisiting the vines. Allow the outsider, orphan, and widow to claim what's left.

[22] Remember your past servitude in Egypt. So, I am instructing you to carry out this task.

25 If individuals disagree, they should seek a resolution in court where judges will decide, clearing the innocent and condemning the guilty party.
2 If the person at fault is deemed worthy of a whipping, the adjudicator will command them to lie prostrate and administer the flogging in his sight, matching the number of stripes to the seriousness of the offense.
3 The magistrate should administer at most forty strikes. Should the convicted individual endure beyond that, your compatriot would be demeaned in your perception.
4 Preventing an ox from eating as it treads out the grain should not be done.
5 When siblings dwell together, and one passes away childless, his widow shouldn't marry outside the kindred group. Her spouse's brother should wed her and carry out the responsibilities of a brother-in-law towards her.
6 The initial male child she gives birth to will continue the legacy of her deceased brother, ensuring his name doesn't disappear from Israel.
7 If a man declines to wed his sibling's widow, she should approach the elders at the town's entrance and proclaim, 'My spouse's sibling denies preserving his brother's legacy in Israel. He refuses to undertake the responsibilities expected of a brother-in-law towards me. '
8 The senior members of his community will beckon him and engage him in conversation. Should he stand his ground and maintain, 'I have no intention to wed her. '
9 In the sight of the elders, the widow of his brother must approach him, remove a sandal from his foot, spit towards his face, and declare; 'This is the fate of the man who refuses to continue his brother's family. '
10 This man's family will be referred to in Israel as 'The House of him whose shoe was loosed. '
11-12 If two individuals are in combat and the spouse of one intervenes to aid her husband by clutching his attacker's genitals, her hand must be severed. Do not feel compassion for her.

13 Avoid carrying two varying scales in your sack—a hefty and lightweight.
14 Avoid keeping two inconsistent measuring units in your residence—one larger and another smaller.
15 Maintain precise and trustworthy weights and measurements for your lifespan to extend in the territory that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is giving you.
16 The Sovereign Captain finds everyone engaging in such actions; anyone who behaves fraudulently is utterly appalling.
17 Keep in mind the actions of the Amalekites towards you during your journey after departing from Egypt.
18 During your travel, when you were exhausted and spent, they encountered you and assaulted those trailing; they showed no reverence for the Preeminent Sovereign.
19 Once the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, has provided you with peace from all surrounding enemies in the territory that He is granting you as your family, you must entirely erase the memory of Amalek from beneath the celestial realms. Remember not to forget!

§ 13210 FIRST FRUITS AND TEN PERCENT ASSESSMENTS

26 Once you have settled in the land that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, grants you,
2 gather the first yield of all crops from the land and place them in a vessel. Proceed to the location your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, selects for His Name's residence.

[3] Express to the ensovereigned mediator in office: “I acknowledge this day to the Preeminent Sovereign; you’re the Preeminent Sovereign that I’ve arrived in the territory the Preeminent Sovereign pledged to our forebears to grant us.”
[4] The ensovereigned mediators will receive the basket from you and place it before the pedestal table of your Preeminent Sovereign.

[5] Affirm in the presence of the Sovereign Captain your Preeminent Sovereign: “My ancestor was a nomad from Aram who journeyed to Egypt with a small group, resided there as a foreigner, and eventually became a formidable nation, mighty and populous.
[6] However, the Egyptians abused us, causing discomfort and forcing us into strenuous toil.
[7] We implored the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of our forefathers, and He perceived our cries, witnessing our distress, grueling labor, and subjugation.
[8] The Sovereign Captain used His great power to liberate us from Egypt, performing awe-inspiring acts and marvelous signs and wonders.
[9] We were led to this location, which provided fertile terrain abundant with milk and honey.
[10] Now, I present the initial yield of the land that you, My Sovereign Captain, gave me.” Place it in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and prostrate yourself before Him.
[11] You, along with the Levites and the outsiders dwelling with you, shall take pleasure in all the empowerments the Sovereign Captain has given you and your family.
[12] Once you have allocated a tenth of all your harvest in the third year, dedicated to a contribution, it should be given to the Levite, the outsider, the orphan, and the widow, enabling them to feast within your municipalities until they are content.
[13] Then declare to the Sovereign Captain your Preeminent Sovereign: “I have cleared my dwelling of the exalted share and distributed it among the Levite, the immigrant, the fatherless, and the widow, in compliance with your orders. I have always followed your directives.
[14] I haven’t consumed any part of the exalted share during my period of grieving, nor did I set aside any of it while in a state of impurity, nor did I dedicate any of it to the deceased. I have adhered to the directives of the Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign; I have respected all your instructions.”
[15] Observe from your celestial abode and grant your empowerment on your chosen ones, Israel, and the fertile expanse that you have granted us as per your solemn pledge to our forefathers—a prosperous territory abundant with milk and honey.

§ 13220 FOLLOW THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN’S COMMANDS

[16] Today, your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, commands you to follow these statutes and directives with all your inner determination and inner-self.
[17] You have declared today that the Sovereign Captain is your Eternal Reality, committing to live by His will, heed His regulations, directives, and principles, and be attentive to His directives.
[18] Today, the Sovereign Captain has affirmed that you are His cherished people, as He promised, and that you must adhere to all His decrees.
[19] He has proclaimed that you will be elevated in acclaim, renown, and prestige above all nations He has created. As He assured, you will be a community of exalted people to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.

§ 13230 THE PEDESTAL TABLE ON MOUNT EBAL

27 Moses and Israel's senior leaders instructed the people: "Follow every instruction I give you today."
2 "Set up big rocks and coat them with plaster when you cross the Jordan into the land that Sovereign Captain is giving you."
3 When you have crossed over to enter the land that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is giving you—a land that is flowing with milk and honey, just as the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of your ancestors, has promised you—write all the words of this Law on them.
4 As I am giving you instructions today, you are to place these stones on Mount Ebal after you have crossed the Jordan and plaster them.
5 Additionally, you are to erect a stone pedestal table to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, there. Iron tools must not be used on them.

6 Using uncut stones, you will construct the pedestal table of the Sovereign Captain, your Preeminent Sovereign, and present scorched absolving payments to him.
7 In the presence of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, you are to offer your peace offerings there, eat them, and rejoice.
8 Additionally, you must clearly write all of the Mosaic Law's wording on these stones.
9 Then Moses and the Levitical mediators addressed the entire Israelite population, saying, "Listen, O Israel, and keep quiet! The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, has made you his people today.
10 As a result, you will obey the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and abide by the laws and directives I give you today.
11 Moses gave the Israelites the following command that day:
12 "These communities—Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin— will stand on Mount Gerizim to empower the people after you have crossed the Jordan."
13 And these communities—Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali— will stand on Mount Ebal to cast the curse.
14 The Levites will then loudly announce to all Israelites:
15 "The man who creates a molten image or carved idol—an abomination to the Sovereign Captain, the product of a craftsman's labor—and installs it secretly is cursed." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"
16 "Whoever dishonors his mother or father is cursed." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"
17 "Whoever moves his neighbor's boundary stone is cursed." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"
18 "Whoever allows a blind man to wander in the street is damned." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"
19 "Whoever denies justice to a widow, a fatherless person, or a foreigner is damned." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"

20 "He who has violated his father's marriage bed by sleeping with his father's wife is cursed." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"
21 "He who lies with any animal is cursed." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"
22 "He who sleeps with his sister, either his mother's or father's daughter, is cursed." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"
23 "He who sleeps with his mother-in-law is cursed." And let everyone say, "So be it!!"
24 "Whoever strikes down his neighbor in secret is cursed." And let everyone say,
"So be it!!"

25 “The person who takes a bribe to murder an innocent person is damned.” And let everyone say, “So be it!!”
26 “He who does not apply the provisions of this Law is damned.” And let everyone say, “So be it!!”

§ 13240 EMPOWERMENTS FOR OBEDIENCE

28 If you meticulously heed the voice of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and remain loyal to all His directives I provide today, He will elevate you above all nations.
2 By adhering to His directives, these empowerments will overtake and stay with you.
3 “Good will come to you in both town and countryside.”
4 “Your offspring, land’s harvest, and livestock will prosper.”
5 “You will receive good fortune for your grain and bread.”
6 “Favor will accompany you in your comings and goings.”
7 “The Preeminent Sovereign will ensure your adversaries are overpowered. They will approach on one path but scatter in seven directions.”

8 “The Sovereign Captain will empower your granaries and all your undertakings. The land He provides will be filled with His empowerment.”
9 By following His directives and instructions, the Sovereign Captain will designate you as His set-apart nation, as He swore.
10 “All nations will observe that you bear His name and stand in awe.”
11 “He will empower you with great prosperity through your offspring, livestock, and land yield in the promised territory.”
12 “The Preeminent Sovereign will unlock His celestial treasury, granting seasonal rains and empowering all your endeavors. You will lend to many nations but owe none.”
13 “the Sovereign Captain will position you as a leader. By heeding His instructions and diligently abiding by them, you will rise, never fall.”
14 “Avoid deviation from any instructions given today, neither stepping right nor left and abstain from pursuing idolized deities.”

§ 13250 CURSES FOR DISOBEDIENCE

15 If you disregard the directives of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and fail to follow His directives and laws given today, these misfortunes will overwhelm you.
16 Misfortune will strike both urban and rural areas.
17 Your harvest and bread will be cursed.
18 Your offspring, soil produce, cattle, and sheep will be doomed.
19 You’ll be cursed on arrival and departure.
20 The Preeminent Sovereign will bring curses, confusion, and reproach on all your endeavors, leading to your end due to abandoning Him.
21 The Eternal Reality will afflict you with ailments until you are wiped out from the land you are about to occupy.

22 You will suffer a debilitating illness, fevers, swellings, severe heat, drought, and plant diseases until you are destroyed.
23 The celestial realms above will be as unyielding as bronze, and the Earth beneath as hard as iron.

24 The Sovereign Captain will turn your rainfall into dust until your annihilation.
25 Your adversaries will overpower you; you'll scatter in seven directions, becoming a spectacle of terror for all nations.
26 Birds and wild beasts will consume your lifeless bodies with no one to deter them.
27 The Eternal Reality will afflict you with incurable boils, tumors, wounds, and an unbearable itch.
28 The Sovereign Captain will subject you to insanity, blindness, and mental confusion.
29 You will grope in daylight as if blind in darkness; your endeavors will fail, and you'll face continual oppression and theft with no one to help.
30 You'll become engaged to a woman, but another man will sleep with her; you'll build a house but not live in it; plant a rooftop garden but not enjoy its yield.
31 Your cattle will be slaughtered before your eyes without you consuming any; your donkey seized and not returned; your flock taken by enemies with no one to retrieve them.
32 Your children will be handed over to others while you long for them daily, unable to intervene.
33 Strangers will consume your soil's yield and efforts, filling your life with relentless hardship and oppression.
34 What you witness will drive you insane.
35 The Eternal Reality will inflict unbearable sores from your feet to your head.
36 The Sovereign Captain will lead you and your Prime Ruler to a foreign land where you'll worship idolized deities of wood and stone.

37 You'll become an object of amazement, taunt, and mockery among all nations where the Sovereign Captain banishes you.
38 You'll sow much seed but harvest little as locusts consume it.
39 Despite planting vineyards, you won't taste the wine or reap the fruit due to worms.
40 Olive trees will grow, but you won't use the oil as olives fall prematurely.
41 Though you rear children, they'll become captives.
42 Locusts will consume your land's trees and crops.
43 Outsiders among you will rise above while your status declines.
44 They'll lend to you, but you won't lend to them; they'll lead while you serve.
45 These curses will pursue and overtake you until you are destroyed for not obeying the Sovereign Captain's instructions and regulations.
46 They'll persist forever as an omen for you and your descendants.
47 Because you didn't serve the Sovereign Captain joyfully with abundance, 48 Enemies will serve you in hunger, thirst, nakedness, and poverty until an iron yoke destroys you on your neck.
49 A foreign nation from afar will descend like an eagle—a nation whose language you don't understand.
50 A grim-faced nation showing no regard for the elderly or compassion for the young.
51 They'll consume your livestock and crops until you're destroyed, sparing no grain, wine, oil, or young animals until devastated.
52 Every city within your territory will be attacked until your trusted walls are demolished. The enemy will assault every city in the land the Sovereign Captain gave.

53 Amidst siege hardships, you'll consume your own offspring—the flesh of sons and daughters given by the Sovereign Captain.
54 The kindest and most refined man among you will feel bad for his brother, his wife, and the remaining children still alive.
55 He will refuse to share the flesh of his children with any of them because he has nothing left after the siege and trouble your enemy will cause inside all your gates.

56 A refined woman, once gentle, will turn cold towards her cherished husband, male heir, and daughter.
57 In her extreme need, she plans to clandestinely consume her offspring due to the agony imposed by your adversary during the blockade of your communities.
58 If you fail to diligently adhere to every instruction of this Law, inscribed in this exalted book, without showing proper reverence and awe for the magnificent and fearsome name of the Sovereign Captain, 59 The Eternal Reality will strike you and your progeny with indescribable calamities, severe and enduring afflictions, and grave and chronic disorders.
60 All the illnesses from Egypt that filled you with fear will be inflicted and persist among you.
61 Moreover, the Sovereign Captain will inflict every type of illness and catastrophe not mentioned in this script of the Mosaic Law until you're annihilated.
62 Although you were once as plentiful as the celestial realm stars, only a handful of you will remain due to your disobedience towards the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.
63 As the Preeminent Sovereign once took delight in causing your prosperity and multiplying your numbers, He will delight in bringing you ruin and devastation. You shall be forcefully removed from the land you plan to occupy.
64 The Sovereign Captain will disperse you among all peoples, spanning from one corner of the world to another. There, you will serve foreign idolized deities of wood and stone, unfamiliar to both you and your forebears.

65 Within these nations, you won't experience tranquility or a place of comfort for your feet. In that place, the Sovereign Captain will endow you with a troubled mind, eyes burdened with yearning, and a disheartened disposition.
66 Fear will dominate your existence, oscillating in continuous uncertainty from dusk till dawn, with no assurance of survival.
67 At dawn, you'll long for dusk; as dusk falls, you'll yearn for dawn! This uncertainty will be due to the fear overwhelming your essence and the horrifying images your eyes will behold.
68 The Preeminent Sovereign will compel you to return to Egypt in ships, a voyage I've warned you would never happen again. In despair, you will attempt to sell yourself to your adversaries as male and female laborers. However, no one will be interested in purchasing you.

§ 13260 RENEWAL OF THE SOLEMN AGREEMENT

29 These represent the stipulations of the Sovereign Captain's pact that Moses intended to establish with the Israelites in Moab, supplementary to the treaty he had formulated with them at Horeb.
2 Moses convened the Israelite population and declared, "You've witnessed everything the Sovereign Captain inflicted on Pharaoh in Egypt, affecting all his aides and entire territory.
3 You witnessed those significant tests, remarkable signs, and fantastic marvels.
4 However, until now, the Sovereign Captain hasn't granted you the capability to comprehend, visually perceive, or listen.
5 Despite guiding you through the desert for four decades, declares the Sovereign Captain, neither your garments nor the footwear on your feet deteriorated.
6 You didn't consume bread or any form of wine or fermented beverage. All these measures allowed you to discern that I am the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality.
7 On your arrival at this location, Sihon of Heshbon and Og of Bashan, both Prime Rulers, emerged to combat us, yet we emerged victorious over them.

8 We seized their territory and conferred it as a legacy to the communities of Reuben, Gad, and half of Manasseh’s community.
9 Diligently observe the words of this agreement to ensure success in all your endeavors.
10 Today, you all stand before the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality—your leaders, your communities, your elders, your officers, and every man of Israel,
11 along with your dependents, your spouses, and the resident aliens in your encampments who are tasked with cutting your timber and fetching your water.
12 You are positioned here to engage in a pact with your Preeminent Sovereign, which the Sovereign Captain is establishing with you today and affirming with a promise.
13 I affirm you today as His chosen ones so He can be your Eternal Reality, as He declared to you and vowed to your forefathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.
14 This agreement and its affiliated vow are not solely being established with you, 15 those who were present with us before our Preeminent Sovereign today and those who were absent.
16 You are aware of our existence in the land of Egypt and our journey through the nation that lies in our path.
17 You witnessed their repulsive idolized deities and lifeless images made from wood, stone, silver, and gold.
18 Ascertain that no individual, male or female, family group or community exists among you today whose loyalty deviates from the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, to engage in reverencing idolized deities of other nations; also confirm that there isn’t a seed among you that spawns such severe toxicity.
19 The individual who hears this sworn agreement and is self-assured, thinking they will be unharmed even though they stubbornly follow their path, will cause catastrophe to both fertile and barren land.

20 The Eternal Reality shall not be inclined to absolve them; His fury and ardor will flame against them. Every curse documented in this Living Word will descend on them, and the Eternal Reality will erase their existence from the earthly realm.
21 The Eternal Reality shall distinguish them from all the peoples of Israel for calamity in line with all the curses of the agreement documented in this Book of Legislation.
22 The subsequent generations of your offspring and visitors from far-off territories will witness the tragedies that have befallen the territory and the afflictions with which the Eternal Reality has stricken it.
23 The entire territory will transform into a tormented expanse of salt and brimstone—no crops nurtured, no sprouts observable, and vegetation ceases to exist. Its condition mirrors the obliteration of Sodom and Gomorrah, the cities of transgression, Admah, and Zeboyim, which the Sovereign Captain annihilates in His intense rage.
24 Every nation will question: What provoked such a severe, fiery rage from the Sovereign Captain in this land?
25 The response will be: This occurred because the populace renounced the pact of the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of their forefathers, the treaty He established with them when He guided them out of Egypt.
26 They turned away to serve and worship unfamiliar gods, idolized deities that they had yet to be acquainted with, idolized deities He had not assigned to them.
27 Consequently, the wrath of the Sovereign Captain was ignited against this land, resulting in the imposition of every curse documented in this book.
28 In His rage and immense fury, the Sovereign Captain uprooted them from their soil and flung them into a different territory where they remain today.

29 The mysteries are the providence of the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, while the unveiled authenticities are eternally for us and our offspring to ensure we adhere to all the prescriptions of this Law.

§ 13270 PROSPERITY AFTER TURNING TO THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN

30 When you experience both the empowerments and curses I have presented and think about them, no matter where the Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, has scattered you among the nations,
2 when you and your offspring follow the directives of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, with utmost dedication and affection, and adhere to every directive I give you today.
3 The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will overturn your captivity, display compassion towards you, and bring you together once more from all the nations where you have been dispersed.
4 Even if you are exiled to the world's farthest corners, the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will assemble you and guide you home.
5 You will be led to the territory your forefathers once held; you shall claim ownership there. Your prosperity and population will exceed that of your forefathers.
6 The Preeminent Sovereign will prepare your inner selves and the inner selves of your descendants to love Him with your entire being, resulting in a life full of vitality.
7 Your celestial protector will inflict all these punishments on your adversaries who despise and torment you.
8 Once more, you shall heed the voice of the Sovereign Captain and adhere to all His instructions that I provide for you presently.
9 The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will ensure you succeed abundantly in all your endeavors, in the offspring of your body, the young of your livestock, and the yield of your land. the Sovereign Captain will delight in your success as He did with your forefathers.
10 If you diligently heed the voice of your Preeminent Sovereign and uphold His precepts and directives documented in this Living Word, dedicate your entire being, inner-self, and inner-self to your Preeminent Sovereign.

§ 13280 THE OFFER OF LIFE OR DEATH

11 The mandate I provide you today is manageable and within your capability.
12 It's not in the celestial realm, so you don't need to wonder, "Who will climb to the celestial realms to retrieve it and announce it to us so we can adhere to it?"
13 It's not across the ocean, requiring you to ask, "Who will sail across the sea, retrieve it, and announce it to us so that we can abide by it?"
14 The message is close to you; it lies within your speech and emotions for adherence.
15 I have presented the choice between life and well-being or death and disaster.
16 Today, I instruct you to cherish the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, lead a life adhering to His path, and abide by His mandates, directives, and laws. By doing so, you will flourish in life and multiply. The Sovereign Captain will empower you within the terrain you're about to claim as your own.

17 However, if your inner-self deviates and you refuse to comply, and if you are lured into paying homage to the idolized deities and adore them,
18 I assure you today that you will surely perish. You won't have a prolonged stay in the territory you're about to traverse the Jordan to acquire and inhabit.
19 Today, I summon the sky and the ground as proof against you. I have presented options of existence and demise, benefits, and penalties. Opt for existence, enabling you and your offspring to survive.
20 You must cherish the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, obey His directives, and remain unwaveringly committed to Him. After all, the Sovereign Captain is your source of life, promising you a long existence in the land He pledged to your forefathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

§ 13290 JOSHUA TO SUCCEED MOSES

31 Moses addressed Israel, saying, "I am now 120 years old and can no longer lead you. the Sovereign Captain has told me, 'You will not cross the Jordan. '"
3 "The Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, will go before you and destroy these nations so you can inherit their lands. Joshua will lead you as the Sovereign Captain has commanded."
4 "The Eternal Reality will deal with them as He did with the Amoritan Prime Rulers Sihon and Og, destroying them and their realm."
5 "the Sovereign Captain will deliver them to you, and you must act as I have instructed."
6 "Be strong and courageous. Do not fear or be dismayed, for the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will be with you; He will never leave or forsake you."
7 Moses then called Joshua and all of Israel, encouraging Joshua to be strong and brave, as he was to lead the people to the land the Sovereign Captain had promised their ancestors and distribute it as their inheritance.
8 "the Sovereign Captain Himself will lead and be with you; He will never abandon or disappoint you. Do not fear or lose hope."

§ 13300 PUBLIC READING OF THE MANDATE

9 Moses wrote this statute and gave it to the Levite ensovereigned mediators, who carried the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain's solemn agreement, and to all the senior leaders of Israel.
10 He instructed them: "Every seventh year, during the debt elimination year, at the Feast of Shelters, 11 when Israel gathers before the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality at His chosen location, proclaim this Law so everyone can hear it.

12 Gather all—males, females, minors, and non-natives in your communities—so they can listen, learn, elevate the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and adhere to this Law's stipulations.
13 Their offspring, unaware of these teachings, must listen and learn to respect the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, for as long as you inhabit the land you are crossing the Jordan River to acquire."

§ 13310 ISRAEL'S REBELLION PREDICTED

14 The Eternal Reality informed Moses that his end was near and instructed him to bring Joshua to the gathering tent for ordination. Moses and Joshua complied.
15 The Sovereign Captain appeared in a column of smoke at the tent's entrance.
16 The Sovereign Captain told Moses: "You will soon pass away, and these people will disloyally pursue outsider idolized deities in the land they are about to enter, abandoning me and violating our agreement."
17 "On that day, I will abandon them, hide my presence, and they will be destroyed. Many catastrophes will befall them, and they will question if these calamities are due to the absence of the Preeminent Sovereign."
18 "I will avert my gaze because of their wrongdoing in defecting to idolized deities."
19 "Compose this melody and teach it to the Children of Israel; it will serve as my testimony against them."
20 "When they enter the land of milk and honey, eat their fill, and prosper, they will turn to idolized deities, dismissing me and breaching our accord."
21 "When misfortunes come, this melody will confront them as evidence, enduring in their descendants' memories. I know their tendencies even before they enter the land I vowed to give them."
22 Moses composed the melody and taught it to Israel that day.
23 The Sovereign Captain instructed Joshua: "Be determined and courageous; you will lead the Israelites into the land I vowed to them, and I will be with you."

24 After writing down the legislation from start to finish, Moses stopped.
25 The Levites, bearers of the Sovereign Captain's Solemn Agreement Strongbox, were given instructions.
26 "Place this Law manuscript beside the Strongbox of the Solemn Agreement of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality. It will serve as an enduring testimony against you."
27 "I know your defiance and stubbornness. If you defy the Sovereign Captain while I am alive, imagine your rebellion after my departure!"
28 "Summon all communal leaders and authorities so they can hear me. I will invoke the sky and Earth as testifiers against them."
29 "You will deviate from my instructed path after my departure. Calamities will afflict you due to your impure actions, provoking the Sovereign Captain's wrath with your creations."

§ 13320 THE SONG OF MOSES

30 Moses delivered this entire song to the assembled Israelites.

32 "Pay heed, O celestial realms, while I speak; observe, O Earth, the words of my lips.
2 May My guidance pour like rain and My words like dew, like soft raindrops on newly sprouted grass.
3 I will proclaim the Sovereign Captain's name and elevate the greatness of our Preeminent Sovereign!
4 He is the steadfast Rock, His deeds are perfect, and His ways are full of integrity; the Sovereign Captain, a reliable Preeminent Sovereign who commits no transgressions, authentic and just is He.

[5] They have corrupted themselves and are not His children; it's their shame that they are a twisted and perverse generation.

[6] How do you repay the Sovereign Captain? You are foolish and unwise. Isn't the Sovereign Captain your Life-Giver and Innovator who made and formed you?
[7] Recall the bygone eras; ponder the generations that have passed. Ask your father to show you the seniors; they will provide the information.

[8] Based on the number of Israel's sons, the Preeminent Sovereign established borders for the peoples when He split humanity and gave every nation their inheritance.
[9] The Sovereign Captain's portion is His people, Jacob His allotted inheritance.
[10] He discovered him in a desolate and howling wasteland. He was the prized possession of His eye, protected and looked after by Him:
[11] Like a majestic bird that stirs its nest, keeping a watchful eye on its young and stretching its wings to capture and lift them into the air.
[12] The Sovereign Captain alone led him; no outsider Eternal Reality was with him.
[13] He nourished him with the fields' produce and forced him to ride to the highest terrain points. He fed him olive oil from the flinty crag and honey from the Rock
[14] with fattened ewes and goats, milk, and curds from flocks and herds, premium Bashan rams, and the best wheat kernels. You sipped the grape's frothy blood.
[15] Jeshurun put on weight and kicked; full of food, they grew slender and hefty. They refused to accept the shielding Rock as their Redeemer and turned away from the Innovator who created them.
[16] They made Him jealous with their foreign idolized deities and angered Him with their detestable idolized deity worship.
[17] They sacrificed to idolized deities, not to the authentic Preeminent Sovereign, idolized deities they had not known, new entities that had recently appeared, idolized deities your ancestors did not fear.
[18] You deserted the Rock who fathered you; you forgot the Eternal Reality who gave you birth.

[19] The Sovereign Captain saw this and rejected them because His sons and daughters angered him.
[20] "I will conceal My face from them," He declared, "and witness their demise, for they are a corrupt generation, disloyal offspring."
[21] They made Me jealous by what is no Eternal Reality and angered Me with their worthless idolized deities. I will make them envious of those who are not a people; I will make them angry at a nation that has no understanding.
[22] Because My wrath will start a fire that reaches the realm of the deceased below. It will burn the mountain tops to the valleys and consume the Earth and its produce.
[23] I will heap calamities on them and spend My projectiles against them.
[24] I will unleash wasting starvation, devouring pestilence, and deadly plague against them. I will send the venom of gliding vipers and the teeth of wild creatures.
[25] In the street, the tactical blade will make them childless; in their homes, terror will reign. The young men, women, infants, and those with gray hair will perish.
[26] I threatened to disperse them and remove their name from people's memories.
[27] However, I feared the opposition would misinterpret and claim, "Our hand has won; the Sovereign Captain was not the one who did all this."
[28] They have no discernment; they are a senseless nation.
[29] If only they were intelligent enough to see this and realize how soon they would die!
[30] If their Rock had not sold them or the Eternal Reality had not released them, how could one man pursue a thousand or two and drive ten thousand away?

31 For their Rock is unlike our Eternal Reality, as even our enemies concede.
32 Their vine is derived from the land of Gomorrah and the vine of Sodom. Their clusters are bitter, and their grapes are full of poison.
33 Their wine is the venom of serpents, the deadly poison of cobras.

34 “Have I not kept this in reserve and sealed it in My vaults?
35 I shall take revenge; it is mine to exact. Their foot will eventually slip, their day of tragedy is drawing nigh, and their death is imminent.
36 When the Sovereign Captain sees that none of His people remain free or enslaved and their strength has run out, He will stand up for them and show mercy to His enslaved persons.
37 He will say: “Now where are their idolized deities, the Rock they took refuge in,
38 the idolized deities who ate the fat of their absolving payments and drank the wine of their pouring offerings? Let them rise to help you! Let them shelter you!
39 Now realize that I am He! Other than Me, there is no other Eternal Reality. No one can deliver from My hand; I both kill and make alive. I have injured, and I will heal.
40 I raise my hand to the celestial realms and firmly promise that, as long as I live, 41 When I sharpen My flaming tactical blade and My hand catches it in judgment, I will exact revenge on My enemies and pay back those who hate Me.
42 I will fill My projectiles with blood as My blade eats flesh, consuming the heads of the enemy commanders and the blood of the dead and captured.
43 Let all of the Preeminent Sovereign’s Celestial Envoys praise Him, and rejoice with Him, O the celestial realms. He will revenge the blood of His children and, therefore, rejoice with His people and nations. He will purify His land and His people, exact revenge on His enemies, and make amends to those who despise Him.
44 Moses came with Joshua, son of Nun, and spoke all the words of this song in the people’s hearing.
45 After Moses had completed saying these remarks to the entire Israelites,
46 he said to them, “Turn all these words I have sincerely declared to you today into inner determination so that you can instruct your children to obey all the words of this Law carefully.”
47 They are not just idle words for you—they are your life. By My Living Words, you will live long in the land you are crossing Jordan to possess.”

§ 13330 MOSES TO DIE ON MOUNT NEBO

48 That day, the Sovereign Captain instructed Moses,
49 “Ascend Mount Nebo in Moab, opposite Jericho, and view Canaan, the land I’m granting the Israelites.
50 You will die there and join your ancestors as Aaron did on Mount Hor.
51 At Meribah Kadesh in the Zin Wilderness, you both proved untrustworthy to me.
52 You will see the land from a distance but will not enter it.”

§ 13340 MOSES EMPOWERS THE COMMUNITIES

33 Before his demise, Moses, the Eternal Reality’s man, gave this benediction to the people of Israel.
2 He proclaimed: “The Eternal Reality descended from Sinai, illuminating their presence from Seir; he radiated from Mount Paran. He arrived, and countless chosen ones from the South accompanied him from the slopes of His mountain.”

3 “Truly, you cherish your people; all the loyal ones are under your control. They gather at your feet, yielding to your teachings.”

4 “The directives Moses gave us serve as a treasured inheritance for the ensovereigned lifestyle community of Jacob.”

5 Amidst the gathering of the Israelite communities and their leaders, he reigned as the sovereign in Jeshurun.

6 “May Reuben survive and not perish even if his population remains small.”

7 Regarding Judah, he uttered: “Listen, My Sovereign Captain, to Judah’s intervention; reunite him with his relative. He fights for his rights with his strength. May you assist him in combat with his adversaries.”

8 Concerning Levi, it is said: “The Thummim and Urim are entrusted to your loyal servant. You put him to the test at Massah and disputed with him at Meribah’s waters.”

9 “He overlooked his father and mother without concern. He did not acknowledge his siblings, nor did he recognize his children. Yet, he has diligently protected your instruction and maintained your agreement.”

10 “He imparts your directives to Jacob and your teachings to Israel. He presents aromatic incense to you and completes scorched absolving payments on your pedestal table.”

11 “May the Sovereign Captain value his skills and take delight in the tasks he completes. Demolish those who oppose him, ensuring his adversaries never rise again.”

12 “Concerning Benjamin, it is stated: ‘the Sovereign Captain adores and secures him, protecting throughout the entire day, and the one the Sovereign Captain cherishes finds solace between His shoulders. ’”

13 “May the Sovereign Captain endow Joseph’s terrain with the delicate dew descending from the celestial heights and the profound waters hidden beneath.”

14 “With the choicest fruits produced by the sun and the exceptional yield provided by the moon.”

15 “With the finest produce from the age-old mountains and the abundance of the eternal hills.”

16 “May the richness of the earth and all it produces, along with the favor of the One who revealed Himself in the blazing fire, be with Joseph. May these blessings shine upon his leadership, marking him as a standout among his peers.”

17 “He holds the grandeur of a superior bull, and his horns resemble a robust ox. With these, he will pierce the nations, reaching even the distant corners of the planet. These are the vast multitudes of Ephraim and the numerous groups of Manasseh.”

18 Concerning Zebulun, it was said: “Take delight, Zebulun, in your ventures abroad, and you, Issachar, within your dwellings.”

19 “They will summon the multitudes to the hilltop, offering payments for absolution that embody ultimate authenticity; they will indulge in the abundant wealth the ocean provides, and the riches hidden beneath the sand.”

20 Regarding Gad, it was said that “Fortunate is the one who extends Gad’s territory. Gad dwells there like a lion, seizing the arm or skull.”

21 “He chose the choicest portion of land for his possession, a share reserved for the leader. As the ensovereigned lifestyle community of leaders gathered, he implemented the Sovereign Captain’s authentic intentions and His rulings about Israel.”

22 Concerning Dan, it was declared that “Dan parallels a young lion bounding forth from Bashan.”

23 Regarding Naphtali, it was said that “Naphtali enjoys exceptional kindness from the Sovereign Captain and a wealth of His empowerments; they are destined to claim the area stretching South to the lake.”

24 “The statement made about Asher was: ‘Among the sons, Asher is the most fortunate; his siblings may esteem him, and he may immerse his feet in oil. ’”

25 “Your gate’s fastenings will be composed of iron and bronze, and your vitality will be as enduring as your lifespan.”

26 “None equals the Preeminent Sovereign of Jeshurun, journeying through the celestial realms to aid you, exhibiting splendor amidst the clouds.”

27 “The Preeminent Sovereign of ancient times is your haven and His eternal arms beneath you. He will expel your adversaries from your path, commanding, ‘Annihilate them!’”

28 “Israel will reside without worry, and Jacob will find tranquility in a territory rich in grain and fresh wine where the celestial realms rain down dew.”

29 “Fortunate are you, Israel! “Who can compare to you: the Sovereign Captain delivers a nation!” He is your protective ballistic shield, aid, and magnificent tactical blade. Your foes will shrink in fear in your face, and you shall march over their lofty places.”

§ 13350 THE DEATH OF MOSES

34 Moses ascended Mount Nebo from the Moab plains to Pisgah’s Peak, opposite Jericho. the Sovereign Captain disclosed the entire territory to him, from Gilead to Dan,
2 including Naphtali, Ephraim, Manasseh, and all Judah to the Mediterranean Sea;
3 the southern desert, and the area from Jericho’s palm city to Zoar.
4 “This is the land that I promised Isaac, Jacob, and Abraham, saying, ‘I will pass on it to your descendants, ’” declared the Sovereign Captain. Even if you observe it, you won’t go inside it.
5 Moses, the Sovereign Captain’s servant, died in Moab as predicted.
6 He was buried in Moab’s valley opposite Beth Peor, but his burial place remains unknown.
7 Moses was 120 years old at his death; his eyesight was clear, and his strength undiminished.
8 The Children of Israel mourned Moses in Moab for thirty days until the mourning period ended.

9 Joshua, son of Nun, was filled with wisdom after Moses laid hands on him. The Israelites followed his leadership and obeyed the Sovereign Captain's directives through Moses.
10 Since then, no eternally wise servant like Moses has arisen in Israel, with whom the Sovereign Captain spoke face-to-face.
11 He performed all the marvelous feats and phenomenal events the Sovereign Captain directed in Egypt against Pharaoh, his aides, and the entire land.
12 No one has shown such strength or performed such incredible feats as Moses did before all of Israel.

~ 106 | Yehoshua | Joshua

§ 13360 JOSHUA INSTALLED AS LEADER

1 Following Moses' departure, the Sovereign Captain addressed Joshua, son of Nun and Moses' champion:

2 "My servant Moses has passed away. Now prepare you and all these people to transcend the Jordan River into the territory I am set to grant you—the children of Israel.
3 I will hand over to you every location that the sole of your foot traverses by My pledge to Moses.
4 The land stretching from the wilderness to Lebanon, from the vast River Euphrates incorporating all of the Hittite's realm to the western Mediterranean Sea, will be your domain.
5 Nobody will manage to defeat or resist you throughout your lifetime. In the same manner I accompanied Moses, I will accompany you; I will not abandon or fail you.
6 Be firm and brave, for you are the one who will guide these people to possess the land that I committed to their forefathers to provide them.
7 Stand firm and hold courage within you. Strictly adhere to the entire Law that Moses, My servant, handed down; do not divert to either the right or left; by doing so, you will prosper in every place you journey.
8 Always have this Living Path in your thoughts; contemplate it at all times, day and night, so that you may diligently follow everything given. Consequently, you will be prosperous and achieve success.
9 Have I not admonished you? Be robust and courageous. Don't be terrified or disheartened, for the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign, accompanies you wherever your path leads."

10 Joshua then issued directives to the leaders of the populace.
11 "Traverse the encampment and instruct the populace to prepare supplies. In a trio of days, you will be fording the Jordan at this location to claim the territory the Sovereign Captain intends for you to inherit."

12 However, Joshua spoke to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh:
13 "Remember the directive Moses, the servant of the Sovereign Captain, gave." He mentioned, 'the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, is making a place for you to settle and is granting you this territory. '
14 While your spouses, offspring, and livestock can remain in the territory Moses assigned you on the East of Jordan, all your warriors equipped for combat must proceed ahead of your fellow Israelites. You must assist them
15 until they also experience the tranquility the Sovereign Captain, your Preeminent Sovereign, has given you and claim the territory intended for you by the Sovereign Captain. Following this, you are permitted to return and inhabit your land, which Moses, the Sovereign Captain's servant, assigned to you on the East side of the Jordan, facing the sunrise."

16 They responded to Joshua, affirming their commitment to follow all his instructions and journey to his assigned destination.
17 "In the same way we adhered to Moses' directives, we will adhere to yours. We request that the Sovereign Captain remain with you as He was with Moses.

18 Any individual who resists your command and fails to follow it will face capital punishment regardless of what you may order them. Remain resilient and brave!”

§ 13370 RAHAB AND THE SPIES

2 They decided to lodge at a brothel run by Rahab and arrived there.
2 The Prime Ruler of Jericho was informed that the Israelites had come to examine the territory.

3 “He ordered Rahab, ‘Evict the men who visited you, as they are here to scrutinize the land. ’”
4 Rahab had hidden the men and claimed ignorance of their origin.
5 “She said, ‘They left at twilight as the city gates closed, ’ and suggested pursuing them quickly.”
6 In reality, she had hidden them on her rooftop under bundles of flax.
7 The pursuers chased after them towards the Jordan crossing points, and the city gate was sealed.

8 Rahab went to the roof before the scouts slept.
9 She told them, “I know the Sovereign Captain has given you this land, and we are terrified because of you.
10 We heard how the Sovereign Captain parted the Red Sea for you and about your victories over Sihon and Og, the Amorite Prime Rulers.
11 Our courage failed because your Preeminent Sovereign reigns supreme in the celestial realms and on Earth.
12 Please swear by the Sovereign Captain to show generosity to my family as I have shown you.
13 Save my family from death.”

14 The men promised, “If you keep our mission secret, we will be kind and loyal when the Sovereign Captain gives us the land.”

15 She helped them escape by a cord from her window, as her house was part of the city wall.
16 She advised them to hide in the mountains for three days to avoid capture.

17 “The men told her,
18 We will not be bound by this oath unless you gather your mother, father, brothers, and entire family into your home when we arrive and unless you fasten this red rope in the window. ’”

19 We will be innocent if someone exits your home through the door and walks into the street with their blood on it. However, his blood will be on our heads if someone touches you while you’re inside the house.”

20 “And we shall be freed from the oath (you forced us to take) if you disclose our mission.”
21 She sent them away, saying, “Let it be as you say.” She fastened the red rope in the window after they had left.
22 So, the spies ventured into the hill area and remained there for three days until the people chasing them returned empty-handed after searching the entire route length.

23 The two men turned around, left the mountainous country behind, and crossed the river. They so went to Joshua, son of Nun, and told him everything that had occurred to them.

24 They told Joshua, “the Sovereign Captain has delivered the whole land into our hands.”
“everyone in the land is melting with fear for us.”

§ 13380 CROSSING THE JORDAN

3 Joshua and the Israelites departed from Shittim to Jordan at dawn, camping before crossing the river.
2 After three days, officials moved through the camp.
3 “Follow the Sovereign Captain’s Strongbox, the solemn agreement of your Preeminent Sovereign, which the Levitical ensovereigned mediators carry when you see it,” they instructed.
4 This will guide you on a new path. Keep a distance of about 914.4 meters from the Strongbox; do not approach it.
5 Joshua told the people to purify themselves, as the Sovereign Captain would perform wonders the next day.
6 He instructed the ensovereigned mediators to lift the solemn agreement chest and lead the ensovereigned lifestyle community. They did so and marched forth.
7 The Sovereign Captain told Joshua, “Today, I will elevate your stature among all Israelites, so they know my presence is with you as it was with Moses.”
8 Instruct the ensovereigned mediators bearing the Strongbox to stand in the Jordan River.
9 Joshua told the Israelites to listen to their Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.
10 “This proves that the Eternal Reality of life is with you and will expel the Canaanites, Hittites, Hivites, Perizzites, Girgashites, Amorites, and Jebusites before you.”
11 The Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain’s agreement will enter Jordan ahead of you.
12 Select twelve men from Israel, one from each community.
13 When the ensovereigned mediators bearing the Strongbox step into the Jordan, its waters will stop and rise in a heap.

14 As they left camp to cross Jordan, the ensovereigned mediators led with the Strongbox.
15 The Jordan overflows during harvest season. But when the ensovereigned mediators’ feet touched the water’s edge, 16 the upstream waters stopped and formed a heap far away at Adam near Zarethan. The downstream waters were cut off, allowing the people to cross near Jericho.
17 The ensovereigned mediators stood firm on dry ground in Jordan’s center as all of Israel crossed. They stayed until everyone had crossed on dry land.

4 After crossing, the Sovereign Captain spoke to Joshua.
2 “Choose twelve men from each community.”
3 Tell them to take twelve stones from where the ensovereigned mediators stood in the Jordan and place them where you camp tonight.”
4 Joshua called the twelve men he had chosen.
5 He told them to go before the Strongbox into the Jordan, and each carry a stone on their shoulder for each community of Israel.
6 These stones will be a sign among you. When your children ask about them,
7 tell them that the waters of Jordan stopped flowing before the Sovereign Captain’s Strongbox.
These stones are a memorial for Israel forever.
8 The Israelites followed Joshua’s commands, took twelve stones from the Jordan as the Sovereign Captain directed, and placed them at their camp.
9 Joshua also set up twelve stones in the Jordan where the ensovereigned mediators stood, which remain there today.

10 The ensovereigned mediators stood in the Jordan until everything was done as commanded by the Sovereign Captain through Moses to Joshua. Meanwhile, the people hurried across.
11 When everyone had crossed, the Strongbox and ensovereigned mediators came to the other side in full view of all.

12 Armed men from Reuben, Gad, and half-tribe Manasseh crossed over, ready for battle under Moses' command.
13 About forty thousand armed men crossed to Jericho plains under the Sovereign Captain's presence.
14 The Sovereign Captain exalted Joshua that day before all Israel; they revered him as they had revered Moses.
15 Yahweh told Joshua,
16,"Instruct ensovereigned mediators to come up from Jordan."
17 Joshua commanded them to ascend from Jordan.
18 As soon as they did, carrying the Strongbox, their feet touched dry land, and the waters returned to their place, flooding as before.
19 On the ninth day of the first month, the people arrived from Jordan and set up camp at Gilgal on the eastern side of Jericho.
20 Joshua set up the twelve stones from Jordan at Gilgal.
21 He told Israel that when their children asked about these stones in future times,
22, Tthey should explain that Israel crossed Jordan on dry ground.
23 Just as the Sovereign Captain dried up the Red Sea for us to cross, He did so with Jordan until you crossed.
24 This was done so all Earth's inhabitants would know the Sovereign Captain's mighty hand and that you would always elevate Him as your Preeminent Sovereign.

§ 13390 CIRCUMCISION AND EMANCIPATION AT GILGAL

5 When Amorite Prime Rulers West of Jordan and Canaanite Prime Rulers along the coast heard that the Sovereign Captain had dried up Jordan for Israel, they were filled with fear and lost the courage to face Israel.

2 During that period, the Sovereign Captain instructed Joshua to create blades from flint and perform circumcision on the Israelites once more.
3 Joshua crafted blades from flint and performed the rite of circumcision on the Israelites at Gibeath Haaraloth.

4 Here's the reason behind this action: All the men who could serve in the army and had exited
Egypt perished in the wilderness during their journey after they departed from Egypt.
5 everyone who had left had undergone circumcision, but those born during the desert traverse following the celestial deliverance from Egypt had not.

6 The Israelites journeyed in the wilderness for four decades until the entire generation of men, who were of fighting age when they exited Egypt, perished due to their disobedience to the Sovereign Captain. the Sovereign Captain had taken an oath that they wouldn't witness the land solemnly assured to their forefathers to provide to us a region abundant with milk.

7 So, Joshua performed the rite of circumcision on their offspring, who were given the positions of their fathers. The children had remained uncircumcised as the procedure had not been conducted during their journey.

8 Once the entire populace had undergone circumcision, they stayed at their existing location within the campsite until they recovered.
9 The Sovereign Captain told Joshua, “The disgrace of Egypt has been removed from you this day.” So, the location retains the name Gilgal as it is known presently.

10 While situated in Gilgal on the desert plains of Jericho, the Israelites observed the Emancipation Feast during the twilight of the month’s fourteenth day.
11 The day after Emancipation, they consumed some of the land’s produce in unleavened bread and roasted grain.

12 The celestial supply of celestial food ceased the following day, and the locally grown food was no longer available; the Israelites no longer received celestial food. Instead, they fed on the Canaan harvests that year.

§ 13400 THE FALL OF JERICHO

13 As Joshua neared Jericho, he saw a man with a sheathed weapon. Joshua asked, “Are you with us or our adversaries?”
14 He replied, “Neither. I am the Sovereign Captain’s army commander.” Joshua then prostrated himself in joyful adoration and asked, “What does My Sovereign Captain wish to convey?”
15 The commander said, “Remove your footwear; this place is exalted.” Joshua complied.

6 Jericho’s gates were tightly shut due to fear of the Israelites, with no movement in or out.
2 The Sovereign Captain told Joshua, “Pay Heed! I have given Jericho into your hands, along with its mighty men of valor and Prime Ruler.”
3 “Encircle the city once with all your soldiers for six days.
4 Have seven mediators carry ram horns as trumpets before the Strongbox. On the seventh day, encircle the city seven times while the ensovereigned mediators sound the trumpets.
5 When you hear the prolonged trumpet blast, let the entire troop shout; the walls will collapse, allowing the soldiers to advance straight in.”
6 Joshua summoned the ensovereigned mediators, instructing them to carry the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain’s solemn agreement, with seven ensovereigned mediators leading with trumpets.
7 He commanded the troops to encompass the city, with the armed contingent leading before the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain.

8 As Joshua addressed the masses, seven ensovereigned mediators bearing seven trumpets in the Sovereign Captain’s presence proceeded, sounding their trumpets, with the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain’s pact trailing behind them.
9 The soldiers led ahead of the ensovereigned mediators who played the trumpets, with the rear detail trailing the Strongbox. The trumpets continuously echoed.
10 Joshua instructed the troops: “Stay silent until I say shout. Then, shout!”
11 Joshua ensured the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain circled the city once. The troops then returned to their encampment for the night.
12 Joshua arose at dawn, and the ensovereigned mediators lifted the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain.

13 The seven ensovereigned mediators with trumpets advanced before the Sovereign Captain's Strongbox, blowing their trumpets. Warriors positioned themselves at the vanguard while a rearguard trailed behind the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain, and all the while, the trumpets resounded.
14 They made one lap around the city daily for six days.
15 They circled the city seven times on the seventh day.
16 After completing the seventh lap, as the ensovereigned mediators sounded their trumpets, Joshua commanded, "Shout! the Sovereign Captain has now gifted you the city!"
17 "The town and everything in it is dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. Rahab will escape with her family since she hid our operatives."
18 "Clear objects set aside for ruin to avoid bringing harm to Israel's camp."
19 "All silver, gold, bronze, and iron items are exalted to the Sovereign Captain and must be placed in His storehouse."
20 The soldiers shouted as the trumpets rang out, causing the wall to collapse. They stormed into the city and captured it.

21 Their tactical blades purified the city to the Sovereign Captain, eradicating every living being—males and females, juveniles and elders, bovines, sheep, and donkeys.
22 Joshua instructed two men who had reconnoitered to escort Rahab and her associates out as promised.
23 The young men escorted Rahab, her family, and all her associates outside Israel's camp.
24 They set fire to the city but saved silver, gold, bronze, and iron items for the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
25 Rahab and her family were saved because she concealed Joshua's agents; she resides among Israelites to this day. Joshua declared a grave pronouncement
26 : "the Sovereign Captain will condemn anyone who rebuilds Jericho; it will cost his eldest at its foundation and his youngest at its gates."
27 So Joshua had the Sovereign Captain's support, and his reputation spread across the territory.

§ 13410 ACHAN'S UNWORTHY CHOICE

7 The Israelites violated their obligations regarding the items purified for destruction; Achan, a descendant of Karmi, Zimri, and Zerah from the community of Judah, took some of these exalted items. Consequently, the Sovereign Captain's fury descended on Israel.
2 Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai, near Beth Aven, East of Bethel, instructing them to scout the area. They ascended and examined Ai.
3 Upon their return, they advised Joshua that only two or three thousand soldiers were needed to conquer Ai, as it was a small city.
4 About three thousand men attacked, but the men of Ai drove them away.
5 Approximately thirty-six Israelites were killed. They pursued the Israelites from the city gate to the stone pits, defeating them on the hillside. The people's inner selves dissolved in terror like water.

6 Joshua tore his garments and lay prostrate before the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain until nightfall. The leaders of Israel followed his example and covered their heads with dust.
7 Joshua lamented, "O Ultimate Ruler, why did you bring us across the Jordan only to deliver us into the hands of the Amorites for annihilation? We would have been better off staying on the other side of the Jordan!

[8] Forgive me, My Sovereign Captain. What can I say now that the adversaries have defeated Israel?
[9] The Canaanites and other inhabitants will hear of this; they'll surround us and erase our identity from the Earth. What will you do to preserve the prestige of your magnificent name?"
[10] The Sovereign Captain questioned Joshua, "Rise! Why are you on your face?
[11] Israel has breached trust and disregarded the pact I commissioned them to uphold. They have misappropriated set-apart items, committed theft, acted deceitfully, and intermingled them with their assets.
[12] This is why the Israelites could not face their foes; they retreated because they were destined for destruction. I will not remain by your side unless you eliminate the condemned items among you.
[13] Proceed and purify the ensovereigned lifestyle community. Tell the Israelites, 'Prepare yourselves for tomorrow in an exalted manner, for the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, says: There are dedicated items among you, Israel. You will not defeat your adversaries until you expel these items. '" [14] "Organize yourselves by communal divisions at dawn. the Sovereign Captain must identify the community, which should then approach its respective people. The chosen people must present themselves as a family by family, with each selected family presenting itself individually.
[15] The individual possessing the purified items will be scorched along with everything he owns. He has transgressed the agreement with the Sovereign Captain and committed a disgraceful act in Israel."
[16] Joshua rose early the next day and summoned Israel by their communal divisions; the community of Judah was selected.

[17] The family groups of Judah were brought forth, and the Zerah family was selected. The Zerah group selected Zimri's family based on the household.
[18] Joshua prompted each family member to step up individually, and Achan, Karmi's offspring, Zimri's grandchild, and Zerah's great-grandchild from the community of Judah were picked out.
[19] Joshua addressed Achan, imploring him to venerate the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel, and pay tribute to Him. Joshua urged him to disclose his deeds without concealing any information.
[20] Achan confessed, "It's authentic! I've disobeyed the Sovereign Captain, Israel's Eternal Reality. Here's what I've done!
[21] I saw a captivating Babylonian robe, two hundred silver shekels, and a gold bar weighing 570 grams among the loot. Tempted by them, I took them. They are now hidden in my tent; the silver is buried underneath."
[22] Joshua sent envoys who hurried to the tent. They found the stolen goods hidden there, with the silver buried below.
[23] The objects were retrieved and brought to Joshua and all the Children of Israel, laid out before the Sovereign Captain.
[24] Joshua and all of Israel seized Achan, Zerah's male heir, along with the silver, garment, gold nugget, his children, livestock including cows and donkeys, sheep, fortress, and all his belongings, transporting them to the Achor Valley.
[25] Joshua asked why Achan had brought this calamity upon them. "Today, the Sovereign Captain will inflict distress on you." All of Israel then stoned him and his possessions and set them on fire.
[26] A massive mound of stones was assembled over Achan, remaining in place until now. Following this, the intense wrath of the Eternal Reality celestial was alleviated. The area has been called the Valley of Achor since then.

§ 13420 AI DESTROYED

8 The Sovereign Captain instructed Joshua to lead the entire military force against Ai, assuring him of victory over the Prime Ruler of Ai, his people, and his land.

2 “Treat Ai and its ruler like Jericho, but keep their wealth and animals this time. Prepare a surprise attack from the rear.”
3 Joshua mobilized thirty thousand elite soldiers under the cover of night.
4 “Be cautious. Your task is to ambush the city from the rear. Stay vigilant and close by.”
5 “I will approach the city, and when its inhabitants come out to confront us, we will retreat.”
6 “They will chase us, thinking we are fleeing as before. Then, you will seize the city.”
7 “Emerge from hiding and take the city. the Sovereign Captain will deliver it to you.”
8 “the Sovereign Captain commanded, ‘Set the city on fire. ’” “This is My directive.”
9 Joshua sent them to their ambush position between Bethel and Ai while he stayed with his people that night.
10 Joshua led his forces towards Ai at dawn.
11 They camped North of Ai, with a valley between them and the city.
12 Joshua positioned five thousand soldiers for a surprise attack West of the city.
13 The main force was North of the city, and the ambush was West. Joshua spent the night in the valley.
14 The Prime Ruler of Ai and his men hurried to fight Israel but were unaware of the ambush.
15 Joshua and Israel pretended to retreat into the wilderness.
16 All of Ai’s men pursued them, leaving the city unprotected.
17 There was not a single guy in Ai or Bethel who did not leave the city open as they pursued Israel.

18 The Sovereign Captain instructed Joshua to extend his tactical bayonets towards Ai, promising victory. Joshua obeyed.
19 The ambushers seized and set the city on fire.
20 Ai’s men saw the smoke but found no escape. Israel turned against their pursuers.
21 Seeing the smoke, Joshua and Israel attacked Ai’s men from both ends, trapping them.
22 Israel destroyed them all; none survived or escaped.
23 The Prime Ruler of Ai was captured alive and brought to Joshua.
24 After killing all of Ai’s men in the wilderness and fields, Israel returned to the city and eradicated the remaining population.
25 Twelve thousand men and women of Ai died that day.
26 Joshua held his weapon until every inhabitant was annihilated.
27 The Sovereign Captain directed Israel to take the animals and spoils.
28 Joshua burned Ai, leaving it in ruins forever.
29 The Prime Ruler of Ai’s body was displayed on a stake until dusk, then discarded at the city entrance with a mound of stones over it, which remains today.

§ 13430 THE PACT RENEWED AT MOUNT EBAL

30 Joshua built an exalted structure for the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel, at Mount Ebal.

31 Following Moses' instructions in the Book of the Mosaic Law, a pedestal table of whole, untouched stones was constructed. They offered scorched and peaceful offerings to the Sovereign Captain on this pedestal table.

32 Joshua inscribed a duplicate of Moses' Law on the stones in the presence of all Israelites.
33 The entire assembly of Israel, including elders, leaders, and Law enforcers, stood on both sides of the exalted Strongbox of the Solemn Agreement. The Levite ensovereigned mediators held it. Both foreign inhabitants and native-born Israelis distributed themselves evenly before Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim, following Moses' command to empower Israel.
34 Joshua then recited every word of the legal texts, including empowerments and curses, as documented in the Mosaic Law Book.
35 He omitted nothing from Moses' directives, reciting everything to all Israel, including women, children, and aliens among them.

§ 13440 THE GIBEONITE DECEPTION

9 Upon hearing these events, every Prime Ruler West of the Jordan—including those in the hills, foothills, and along the Mediterranean Sea up to Lebanon (Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites)—
2 united to combat Joshua and Israel.
3 However, the Gibeonites, aware of Joshua's actions towards Jericho and Ai,
4 devised a cunning plan: They posed as a delegation with donkeys carrying worn-out sacks and old flexible wine bags, patched and mended.
5 They wore old, repaired shoes and clothes; their bread was stale and moldy.
6 They approached Joshua at Gilgal, claiming to have come from a distant land and requested a pact.
7 The Israelites questioned the Hivites, "You might live nearby; how can we make a pact with you?"
8 "We are at your service," they told Joshua. But Joshua asked, "Who are you, and where do you come from?"
9 "They replied, 'Your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, and his deeds in Egypt have drawn us, your servants, from a distant land. '"

10 We heard about everything he did to the two Amorite rulers East of Jordan— Sihon of Heshbon and Og of Bashan in Ashtaroth.
11 Our leaders and people instructed us to bring supplies and request a pact with you.
12 Our bread was fresh when we left home, but now it is dry and moldy.
13 These new flexible wine bags are now torn. Our clothes and shoes are worn out from the long journey."
14 The Israelites sampled their provisions but did not seek guidance from the Sovereign Captain.
15 Through a solemn agreement confirmed by the assembly leaders, Joshua made peace with them.
16 Three days later, the Israelites learned that the Gibeonites were their neighbors.
17 The Israelites traveled and reached their cities—Gibeon, Kephirah, Beeroth, and Kiriath Jearim—on the third day.
18 They did not attack them because of the leaders' solemn pledge before the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel. The assembly was displeased with the leaders.

19 The leaders said, “We swore by the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel; we cannot harm them now.
20 We must let them live to avoid the Eternal Reality’s wrath for breaking our oath.”
21 The directive was upheld; they were spared but assigned as woodcutters and water carriers for the assembly. The leaders’ promise was honored.
22 Joshua summoned the Gibeonites and asked, “Why did you deceive us by claiming to be from a distant land when you live nearby?
23 You are now cursed to serve as woodcutters and water carriers for my Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress.”

24 They answered Joshua, saying they knew Moses was commanded to give them all the land and destroy its inhabitants. We feared for our lives because of you and acted accordingly.
25 We are now in your hands; do what you think is right.”
26 Joshua saved them from being killed by the Israelites.
27 That day, he appointed them as woodcutters and water carriers for the lifestyle community under the sovereignty and for the Sovereign Captain’s pedestal table at the location chosen by the Preeminent Sovereign. This role continues to this day.

§ 13450 THE SUN STANDS STILL

10 Adoni-Zedek, the Prime Ruler of Yerushalayim, learned of Joshua’s complete victories over Ai, Jericho, and Gibeon’s peaceful agreement with Israel.
2 Fear gripped him and his people, as Gibeon was a significant city with skilled warriors.
3 Adoni-Zedek called upon Hoham of Hebron, Piram of Jarmuth, Japhia of Lachish, and Debir of Eglon.
4 “Join me in attacking Gibeon,” he urged, “since they have allied with Joshua and Israel.”
5 The five Amorite rulers united their forces and attacked Gibeon.
6 The Gibeonites urgently sent a message to Joshua at Gilgal, pleading for immediate assistance.
7 Joshua and his elite troops set out from Gilgal.
8 The Sovereign Captain assured Joshua, “Do not fear them; I have given them into your hands.”
9 Joshua launched a surprise attack after an overnight march from Gilgal.

10 The Sovereign Captain caused chaos among the Amorites, leading to a decisive victory for Israel. They pursued the Amorites down the path to Beth Horon, striking them until Azekah and Makkedah.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign cast large hailstones on the fleeing Amorites, causing more deaths than the Israeli tactical blades.
12 As the Sovereign Captain handed the Amorites to Israel, Joshua commanded, “Sun, halt over Gibeon; the moon, over Aijalon Valley.”
13 The sun and moon stood still until Israel avenged its enemies, as recorded in the Book of Jashar. The sun delayed its descent for nearly a full day.
14 No day before or after has seen the Sovereign Captain heed a man’s voice so profoundly. the Sovereign Captain fought for Israel!
15 Joshua and all of Israel then returned to their camp at Gilgal.

§ 13460 FIVE AMORITE RULERS KILLED

16 The quintet of Prime Rulers sought refuge in a cavern at Makkedah.
17 Joshua was informed of their location.
18 He ordered large boulders to block the cave entrance and assigned guards.
19 “Pursue your adversaries! Attack them from behind and prevent their return to fortifications, for the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, has delivered them into your hands.”
20 Joshua and the Israelites defeated them, though a few escaped to walled towns.
21 Joshua, at Makkedah, saw the army return safely, with no one daring to oppose the Israelites.
22 Joshua commanded the cave be opened, and the five Prime Rulers presented.
23 The rulers of Yerushalayim, Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish, and Eglon were brought out.

24 Joshua gathered all Israel’s men and instructed the military leaders to place their feet on the rulers’ necks. They complied and executed the rulers.
25 Joshua encouraged them, “Do not fear or be dismayed. Be firm and brave.” the Sovereign Captain will act against all your adversaries.
26 Joshua executed the Prime Rulers, displaying their bodies on five trees until dusk.
27 At sunset, he ordered the bodies removed and cast into the cave, sealing it with large stones, which remain today.
28 On that day, Joshua conquered Makkedah, annihilating its ruler and every individual with the tactical blade, leaving no survivors. He treated Makkedah’s Prime Ruler as he did to the Prime ruler of Jericho.

§ 13470 SOUTHERN HUBS CONQUERED

29 Joshua and Israel moved from Makkedah to Libnah, waging war against it.
30 The Sovereign Captain surrendered Libnah and its ruler to Israel. Joshua executed everyone without mercy, mirroring Jericho’s fate.
31 Joshua and Israel then moved to Lachish, establishing a strategic position and assaulting it.
32 The Eternal Reality entrusted Lachish to Israel. Joshua seized it the next day, decimating the city and its inhabitants with the tactical blade, as in Libnah.
33 Joshua defeated Prime Ruler Horam of Gezer, who had arrived to aid Lachish, leaving no survivors.
34 Joshua and Israel proceeded to Eglon, establishing battle lines and assaulting it.
35 They seized Eglon, engaging it with the tactical blade, wiping out all inhabitants as in Lachish.
36 Joshua and Israel ascended to Hebron, initiating an assault.
37 They seized Hebron, executing its ruler, settlements, and inhabitants with the tactical blade, leaving no survivors, as in Eglon.

38 Joshua and Israel returned to Debir, waging war against it.
39 They seized Debir, its Prime Ruler, and nearby hamlets. They eliminated everyone with the tactical blade, left no survivors, and treated Debir like Libnah and Hebron.
40 Joshua conquered the entire area—hill terrain, Negev, western lowlands, steep inclines—and all their Prime Rulers, leaving no survivors, following the Sovereign Captain’s orders.
41 Joshua conquered from Kadesh Barnea to Gaza and Goshen to Gibeon.
42 He overcame all these Prime Rulers and territories in a single battle sequence because the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, the Sovereign Captain, fought for Israel.
43 Joshua and all of Israel returned to their encampment in Gilgal.

§ 13480 NORTHERN RULERS DEFEATED

11 Upon hearing the news, Prime Ruler Jabin of Hazor sent messages to Prime Ruler Jobab of Madon and the governors of Shimron and Akshaph.
2 The message reached rulers in the North, including those in the mountains, southern Kinnereth, Arabah, western hills, and Naphoth Dor.
3 The Canaanites in the East and West, Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Jebusites in the mountains, and Hivites under Hermon in Mizpah joined forces.
4 Their army was vast, like sand on the shore, with numerous armored personnel carriers and tanks.
5 These Prime Rulers united at Merom waters to wage war on Israel.

6 The Eternal Reality told Joshua: “Do not fear them; by tomorrow, I will deliver them as casualties to Israel. Cripple their armored personnel carriers and burn their military strike vehicles.”
7 Joshua and his forces launched a surprise attack at Merom waters.

8 The Sovereign Captain handed them over to Israel, who pursued them beyond Greater Sidon to Misrephoth Maim and the Valley of Mizpah, leaving no survivors.
9 Joshua followed the Sovereign Captain’s instructions, crippling their armored personnel carriers and burning their military strike vehicles.
10 Joshua then seized Hazor, executing its Prime Ruler. Hazor had led all these realms.
11 They annihilated everyone there, showing no mercy, and burned Hazor.
12 Joshua captured these governance settlements and their Prime Rulers, striking them down as Moses had instructed.
13 Israel did not burn any cities built on hills except Hazor.
14 They took all valuables and cattle but executed every inhabitant with tactical blades until total annihilation.
15 Moses commanded Joshua, just as the Sovereign Captain had instructed His servant Moses. Joshua followed the Sovereign Captain’s instructions to the letter, doing all that Moses had been told.

16 Joshua seized the entire region:

- The highlands
- The Negev
- Goshen
- Lowlands
- Arabah
- Mountains of Israel
- Surrounding hills

17 Joshua struck down all Prime Rulers from Mount Halak to Baal Gad in Lebanon Valley at Mount Hermon’s base.
18 He engaged in prolonged battles with these rulers.
19 No city except Gibeon’s Hivites made peace with Israel; all were captured through warfare.
20 The Sovereign Captain willed their inner selves into combat for complete eradication without mercy, as commanded to Moses.
21 Joshua attacked the Anakites in the highlands, including Hebron, Debir, Anab, Judah’s, and Israel’s mountains, wiping them out along with their settlements.
22 No Anakites remained in Israel’s territory except in Gaza, Gath, and Ashdod. Following the Sovereign Captain’s instructions, 23 Joshua conquered the land and distributed it among Israel through communal allotments. The land then experienced peace from warfare.

§ 13490 LIST OF DEFEATED RULERS

12 The Israelites conquered the territories of the Prime Rulers East of the Jordan, from the Arnon Valley to Mount Hermon.
2 Sihon, Prime Ruler of the Amorites, ruled from Heshbon. His domain extended from Aroer at the Arnon Valley’s edge to the Jabbok River, including half of Gilead.
3 His territory spanned from the Sea of Galilee to the Dead Sea, covering the eastern Arabah and extending South under Pisgah’s slopes toward Beth Jeshimoth.
4 Og, Prime Ruler of Bashan and a Rephaite ruled from Ashtaroth and Edrei.
5 His realm included Mount Hermon, Salekah, Bashan, and half of Gilead, reaching Sihon’s territory.
6 Moses, Yahweh's servant, and the Israelites defeated them. Moses then allocated their land to the Reubenites, Gadites, and half of Manasseh’s community.

7 This account lists the Prime Rulers defeated by Joshua and the Israelites West of the Jordan, from Baal Gad in Lebanon Valley to Mount Halak near Seir. Joshua distributed these lands to the Israelite communities.
8 The regions included highlands, western hills, Arabah, mountain slopes, wilderness, and Negev, inhabited by Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites.

9 • One ruler was from Jericho, another from Ai near Bethel.

10 • One ruler from Yerushalayim, one from Hebron.

11 • One ruler from Jarmuth, another from Lachish.

12 • One ruler from Eglon, one from Gezer.

13 • One ruler from Debir, another from Geder.
14 • One ruler from Hormah, one from Arad.

15 • One ruler from Libnah, another from Adullam.

16 • One ruler from Makkedah, another from Bethel.

17 • One ruler from Tappuah, one from Hepher.

18 • One ruler from Aphek, another from Lasharon.

19 • One ruler from Madon, another from Hazor.
20 • One ruler from Shimron Meron, another from Akshaph.

21 • One ruler from Taanach, another from Megiddo.

22 • One ruler from Kedesh, another from Jokneam in Carmel.

• One ruler from Dor (in Naphoth Dor),

23 • One ruler from Goyim in Gilgal.

24 • One ruler from Tirzah, totaling thirty-one Prime Rulers.

§ 13500 LAND STILL TO BE TAKEN

13 As Joshua aged, the Preeminent Sovereign informed him that much land remained unconquered.
2 "The land yet to be taken includes territories of the Philistine Warriors and Geshurites.
3 From the Shihor River East of Egypt to Ekron in the North, this area is part of Canaan, overseen by five Philistine Warrior leaders in Gaza, Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gath, and Ekron, including the Avvites' region.
4 Southward, the entire Canaanite territory from Arah of the Sidonians to Aphek, up to the Amorite boundary.

5 The Byblos territory and all Lebanon to the East, from Baal Gad at Mount Hermon's base to Lebo Hamath.
6 I will expel all highland dwellers from Lebanon to Misrephoth Maim, especially the Sidonians, before the Israelites. Distribute this land to Israel as a legacy per my instructions.
7 Give this territory to the nine peoples and half of the Manasseh people.

§ 13510 DIVISION OF THE LAND EAST OF THE JORDAN

8 Moses, the servant of the Sovereign Captain, allocated the eastern side of the Jordan to half of Manasseh, the Reubenites, and the Gadites.
9 This region spanned from Aroer on the Arnon Valley's edge, including the city in the valley's center and the entire Medeba tableland, reaching Dibon.
10 All cities were under Sihon, the Amorite Prime Ruler in Heshbon, up to the Ammonite boundary.
11 The region also included Gilead, lands of Geshur and Maakah, Mount Hermon, and all of Bashan up to Salekah.
12 Specifically, Og's entire dominion in Bashan, who ruled in Ashtaroth and Edrei, was considered. He was the last of the Rephaites. Moses overpowered them and took their territory.

13 However, the descendants of Geshur and Maakah were not expelled and still inhabit Israel today.
14 The Preeminent Sovereign promised the community of Levi no land; instead, their inheritance consisted of the scorched absolving payments for the Sovereign Captain.
15 Moses allocated land to the Reubenite community by their people.
16 The land extended from Aroer on the Arnon Valley's edge, including the town in the valley's heart and the plateau reaching Medeba.
17 It included Heshbon and all its cities on the flatlands: Dibon, Bamoth Baal, and Beth Baal Meon,

18 Jahaz, Kedemoth, Mephaath,
19 Kiriathaim, Sibmah, Zereth-Shahar in the highlands of the valley, 20 Beth-Peor, Mount Pisgah's foothills, and Beth-behemoth.
21 These communities included all highland municipalities and Sihon's entire dominion in Heshbon. Moses defeated him and Midianite leaders Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, who collaborated with Sihon.
22 The Israelites also executed Balaam, Beor's heir and fortuneteller.
23 The Jordan Riverbank was the Reubenites' border. Their heritage included these towns and settlements by family groups.
24 Moses designated land to Gad's kinship groups.
25 The region included Jazer, all of Gilead's urban areas, and half the Ammonites' land near Aroer by Rabbah.
26 It stretched from Heshbon to Ramath Mizpah and Betonim and from Mahanaim to Debir's border.
27 Beth Haram, Beth Nimrah, Sukkoth, and Zaphon were in the valley, forming Sihon's remaining dominion from Heshbon to the Sea of Galilee's eastern bank.
28 These cities and settlements were Gad's legacy of familial divisions.
29 Moses allocated territory to half of Manasseh's community for their descendants by family groups.
30 The area extended from Mahanaim, including all of Bashan, Og's entire domain, and Jair's sixty towns in Bashan.
31 A portion of Gilead Ashtaroth and Edrei, Og's capital cities in Bashan, was allocated to Makir's descendants by family units.
32 Moses apportioned these territories while in the Moab plains East of Jericho.
33 The Levi community received no land; their inheritance is the Sovereign Captain as assured by the Preeminent Sovereign.

§ 13520 DIVISION OF THE LAND WEST OF THE JORDAN

14 Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, Joshua, the male heir of Nun, and the leaders of the Israeli communal families distributed the territories apportioned as their heritage in the land of Canaan.

2 The nine-and-a-half communities had their inheritances determined through casting lots, as per the Sovereign Captain's instructions conveyed by Moses.

[3] Moses had given possession to the two-and-a-half communities beyond the Jordan River. Still, he hadn’t given any inheritance to the Levites among them.

[4] The descendants of Joseph had evolved into two communities, Manasseh and Ephraim. The Levites weren’t allocated any part of the land; they were given towns for habitation and pastures for their livestock and herds.

[5] The Israelites apportioned the land precisely as the Sovereign Captain had instructed Moses.

§ 13530 ALLOTMENT FOR CALEB

[6] The community of Judah came before Joshua in Gilgal, where Caleb, Jephunneh the Kenizzite’s male heir, reminded him, “Do you recall the pronouncement the Sovereign Captain made to Moses, the Preeminent Sovereign’s servant, regarding us in Kadesh Barnea?”

[7] At forty, Moses, the Sovereign Captain’s servant, dispatched me from Kadesh Barnea to scout the land. I returned to him with a report that reflected my personal beliefs.

[8] My compatriots who accompanied me succeeded in instilling fear and dissolving the people’s courage. Nevertheless, I stayed loyal and committed to the Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign.

[9] On that day, Moses affirmed to me, ‘The territory on which you’ve stepped will be a perpetual legacy for you and your descendants, owing to your unwavering loyalty to the Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign. ’

[10] As you can observe, the Sovereign Captain has sustained my life, as He assured me, for these past forty-five years from when He disclosed this to Moses throughout our journey in the wilderness. Now, witness me at present, aged at eighty-five years!

[11] I maintain the same strength today as the day Moses sent me forth; I’m equally capable of engaging in combat as I was before.

[12] Now, I request this mountainous region that the Sovereign Captain assured me of that day. You were present then, and you know that the Anakites resided there, and their cities were considerably large and defended. Yet, with the Sovereign Captain’s assistance, I will expel them, as he proclaimed.

[13] Joshua empowered Caleb, the male heir of Jephunneh, and allocated Hebron as his legacy to him.

[14] Since then, Caleb, the male heir of Jephunneh the Kenizzite, has held Hebron as his territory, for he fully embraced and obeyed the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.

[15] Previously, Hebron was recognized as Kiriath Arba, named after Arba, the most esteemed Anakim. Following this, the region experienced tranquility from conflict.

§ 13540 ALLOTMENT FOR JUDAH

15 The land apportioned to the community of Judah, in line with its family groups, stretched down to the border of Edom, reaching the Wilderness of Zin at the utmost southern point.
2 Their southern border commenced at the southernmost point of the Dead Sea's bay.
3 The route moved to the South beneath the Scorpion's Ascent, progressed towards Zin, and ascended toward the South of Kadesh Barnea. Subsequently, it navigated past Hezron, climbed up to Addar, and detoured around Karka.
4 The boundary then moved towards Azmon, following the brook of Egypt and terminating at the Mediterranean Sea. This boundary represents their southern limit.
5 The eastern limit extended along the Dead Sea to where the Jordan River flows. The northern limit commenced from the bay where the Jordan River empties into the sea.
6 Ascended towards Beth-Hoglah and made its way North of Beth-Arabah towards the stone landmark associated with Bohan Reuben's male heir.
7 The boundary line ascended from the Valley of Achor to Debir. It pivoted northwards to Gilgal, opposite the ascent of Adummim to the South of the ravine. It proceeded alongside the waters of En Shemesh and concluded at En Rogel.

8 It then journeyed through the Ben Hinnom Valley, skirting the southern edge of the Jebusite city, also known as Yerushalayim. Subsequently, it ascended to the peak of the hill West of the Hinnom Valley, located at the northern terminus of the Rephaim Valley.
9 The boundary line started from the hill's peak, directed towards the spring of Nephtoah's waters, expanded to the municipalities of Mount Ephron, and descended towards Baalah, also known as Kiriath Jearim.
10 It then turned towards the West from Baalah to Mount Seir, followed the North side of Mount Jearim, also known as Kesalon, descended to Beth Shemesh, and went past to Timnah.
11 The border proceeded to the northern incline of Ekron, curved toward Shikkeron, continued on Mount Baalah, and finished at Jabneel. The boundary line concluded at the sea.
12 The western frontier aligns with the Mediterranean Sea's shoreline. These are the peripheries encompassing the community of Judah as per their families.

13 Following the instructions of the Sovereign Captain, Joshua assigned a section of land in Judah to Caleb, the male heir of Jephunneh—this was Kiriath Arba, now known as Hebron. Arba was an ancestor of Anak.
14 Caleb expelled the three sons of Anak, namely Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai, from Hebron.
15 He proceeded to wage war on the inhabitants of Debir, previously recognized as Kiriath Sepher.
16 Caleb proclaimed, "The individual who strikes and seizes Kiriath Sepher, I shall offer him my daughter Aksah as his spouse."
17 Othniel, Kenaz's male heir and Caleb's sibling, successfully captured it. So, Caleb decided to give his daughter Aksah to him as a spouse.

18 There came a day when she approached Othniel and persuaded him to request a field from her father. As she dismounted her donkey, Caleb queried, "What can I assist you with?"

19 She responded, "I need a special favor. Since you've granted me territory in the arid southern region, could you also provide me with water springs?" So, Caleb gave her the higher and lower water sources.

20 This land is granted to the community of Judah by their family groups.

21 The most remote settlements of the Judah community in the Negev abutting the Edom border consisted of Kabzeel, Eder, and Jagur.
22 Adadah, Kinah, Dimonah.
23 Kedesh, Hazor, and Ithnan.
24 Ziph, Telem, and Bealoth.
25 Hazor-Hadattah and Kerioth-Hezron are also known as Hazor.
26 Amam, Sama, and Molada.
27 Hazar-Gaddah, Heshmon, and Beth-Pelet.
28 Hazar-shul, Beer-sheba, and Biziothiah.
29 Baalah, Ijim, Esem.
30 Eltolad, Chesil, and Hormah get restated as 31 Ziklag, Madmannah, and Sansannah.
32 Lebaoth, Shilhim, Ain, and Rimmon comprise twenty-nine cities and their respective settlements.

33 Located in the valley region: Eshtaol, Zorah, Ashnah.
34 Zanoach, Ein-Ganim, Tapuach, Enaim.
35 Jarmuth, Adullam, Sokoh, and Azekah locations.

36 Shaaraim, Adithaim, and Gederah and Gederothaim comprise fourteen settlements and their associated hamlets.
37 Zenan, Hadashah, and Migdal Gad were included.
38 Dilean, Mizpeh, and Joktheel.
39 Eglon, Bozkath, and Lachish.
40 Cabbon, Lahmam, Chitlish.
41 Gederoth, Beth Dagon, Naamah, and Makkedah constitute sixteen cities, including their associated settlements.

42 These cities were given to Judah: Libnah, Ether, and Ashan.
43 Iphtah, Ashnah, and Nezib are included.
44 Keilah, Akzib, and Mareshah comprised nine municipalities with associated settlements.
45 Ekron along with its dependent towns and hamlets;
46 All settlements and villages near Ashdod West of Ekron.
47 Ashdod, with its dependent cities and villages, with Gaza, its respective communities and hamlets, extends up to the stream of Egypt and the border of the Mediterranean Sea.

48 Within the mountainous region are Shamir, Jattir, and Sokoh.
49 Dannah is known as Kiriath Sannah or Debir.
50 Eshtemoh, Anim, Anab.
51 Goshen, Holon, and Giloh comprise eleven cities with their associated hamlets.
52 Arab, Dumah, and Eshan were also included.

53 The places are Janim, Beth Tappuah, and Aphekah.
54 Humtah, Kiriath-Arba (Hebron), and Zior comprise nine settlements, including their respective hamlets.

55 These locations included Maon, Carmel, Ziph, and Juttah.
56 The regions of Jezreel, Jokdeam, and Zanoah;
57 Kain, Gibeah, and Timnah—a sum of ten settlements, including their surrounding hamlets.
58 The places of Halhul, Beth Zur, and Gedor;
59 Six cities along with their settlements were Maarath, Beth Anoth, and Eltekon;

60 Kiriath Baal (also known as Kiriath Jearim) and Rabbah are two cities with their surrounding settlements.

61 You could find Beth Arabah, Middin, and Sekakah within the desert landscape.
62 Nibshan, Salt City, and En Gedi comprised six municipalities and their hamlets.

63 The Judahites could not expel the Jebusites who dwelled in Yerushalayim; the Jebusites still reside there among the Judahites to this day.

§ 13550 ALLOTMENT FOR EPHRAIM AND MANASSEH

16 The portion of land allocated to Joseph commenced at the Jordan, eastward of Jericho's water springs. It stretched up into the wilderness, passing through to the hilly region of Bethel.
2 It continued from Bethel, also known as Luz, to Ataroth, the land of the Arkites.
3 It moved West, reaching the Japhletites' territory and extending as far as Lower Beth Horon and Gezer region before culminating at the Mediterranean Sea.

4 Manasseh and Ephraim, the offspring of Joseph, were granted their legacy.
5 Ephraim's land, divided by its peoples, had its borders from Ataroth Addar in the East to Upper Beth Horon.
6 It extended towards the Mediterranean Sea, with Mikmethath lying northward. It then veered eastward to Taanath Shiloh, transversing the town on its way to Janoah in the East.
7 It descended from Janoah to Ataroth and Naarah, reached Jericho, and ended at the Jordan.
8 The boundary traced from Tappuah headed westwards to Kanah Gorge, terminating at the Mediterranean Sea. This boundary formed the distinct legacy of the Ephraimite community, distributed among its various family groups.
9 Also included were all the cities and their respective settlements allocated for the community of Ephraim within the inherited territory of the Manassites.
10 The Canaanites residing in Gezer were not expelled; till this day, they inhabit amidst the people of Ephraim, compelled to serve as laborers.

17 The portion of land assigned to the Manasseh community, as Joseph's eldest male heir, fell specifically to Makir, Manasseh's first child. Makir, the forefather of those hailing from Gilead, was given the regions of Gilead and Bashan to recognize the notable military skills exhibited by the Makirites.
2 The land division was designated for Manasseh's remaining peoples—the families of Abiezer, Helek, Asriel, Shechem, Hepher, and Shemida. These were the subsequent male progeny of Manasseh, the male heir of Joseph, identified by their peoples.
3 Descending from Hepher, Gilead, Makir, and Manasseh, Zelophehad was a father to exclusively daughters, not sons. His daughters were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milkah, and Tirzah.
4 They approached Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, Joshua, the male heir of Nun, and the leaders, stating that the Sovereign Captain had instructed Moses to award us an inheritance alongside our relative. So, in line with the Sovereign Captain's directive, Joshua granted them a share of their father's people of the New Humanity's inheritance.

5 In addition to Gilead and Bashan, Manasseh's portion encompassed ten distinct plots of land East of the Jordan.
6 The daughters of the Manasseh community were granted a share of the inheritance alongside the sons, with the land of Gilead being allocated to the remaining offspring of Manasseh.

7 Manasseh's land stretched from Asher to Mikmethath, located East of Shechem, and the boundary extended southward to encompass the residents of En Tappuah.
8 Manasseh owned the surrounding region of Tappuah, but Tappuah itself, situated on Manasseh's frontier, was the property of the Ephraimites.
9 The border proceeded southward to the Kanah Gorge. Various cities that were the property of Ephraim were located among Manasseh's cities. However, Manasseh's border was the northern side of the gorge, with its conclusion being the Mediterranean Sea.
10 Ephraim's territory was in the South, whereas the land in the North was under Manasseh's control. Manasseh's region extended to the Mediterranean Sea. It was adjacent to Asher in the North, with Issachar bordering it in the East.

11 Manasseh also held territories in Issachar and Asher, including Beth Shan, Ibleam, Dor, Endor, Taanach, and Megiddo, along with their neighboring settlements (Naphoth being the third on the list).
12 However, the descendants of Manasseh could not invade these cities, as the Canaanites insisted on inhabiting that area.
13 As the children of Israel increased in strength, they made the Canaanites their workers, yet they did not entirely dispossess them.

14 The descendants of Joseph questioned Joshua, asking why they were assigned just one region and a single part as their heritage, given their large population and the plentiful empowerments they had received from the Sovereign Captain.

15 Joshua responded, "If you possess such a large population and find the territory of Ephraim's hills inadequate, proceed to the woodland and cultivate a living space in the grounds of the Perizzites and Rephaites."
16 Joseph's descendants countered that "the highlands are insufficient for us, and every Canaanite inhabiting the flatland possesses iron-fitted military strike vehicles, including those in Beth Shan and its communities and the Jezreel Valley."
17 Joshua addressed the communities of Joseph—Ephraim, and Manasseh— highlighting their vast numbers and formidable strength. He affirmed that their entitlement extends beyond just a single piece of land.
18 "Although the hilly region is wooded," he said, "you can clear it, and its uttermost boundaries will be yours. Despite the Canaanites possessing iron-clad military strike vehicles and their formidable strength, you can expel them."

§ 13560 DISTRIBUTION OF THE REST OF THE LAND

18 The entire ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israelites convened at Shiloh and fabricated the ensovereigned lifestyle community tent at that location. They had successfully dominated the nearby regions.

2 However, seven communities of Israel were yet to receive their allocated land inheritance.

3 Joshua addressed the Israelites, asking, “How long will you delay before you start claiming the territory that the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of your forebears, has given up on you?”

4 “Designate three representatives from each community. I will dispatch them to conduct a territory study and draft a report based on the allocation for each community. Afterward, they shall revert to me.”

5 “The land is to be segregated into seven segments. Judah will persist in its provincial boundary in the South. At the same time, the peoples of Joseph will continue to live within their local boundary in the North.”

6 “After you’ve recorded the seven portions of the territory in writing, present them to me, and here I will cast the exalted lots for you under the vigilance of our Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.”

7 “The Levites are not allocated a share among you, given that their inheritance belongs to the Ensovereigned Badge of the Sovereign Captain. Gad, Reuben, and the segment of Manasseh have already been awarded their inheritance to the East of the Jordan, courtesy of Moses, the Sovereign Captain’s servant.”

8 When the men embarked on their mission to document the land, Joshua guided them, directing them to traverse the land, capture its details in writing, and then return to him. Afterward, he would determine their portions by casting lots in Shiloh under the watchful eyes of the Sovereign Captain.

9 Consequently, the men journeyed across the terrain. They documented its characteristics in a manuscript, recording every city within the seven distinct portions, before returning to Joshua stationed at the encampment in Shiloh.

10 Joshua, in Shiloh, sought guidance from the Sovereign Captain by casting lots and subsequently allocated the land to the Israelites, each community receiving their portion as per their divisions.

§ 13570 ALLOTMENT FOR BENJAMIN

11 The initial land allocation was granted to the community of Benjamin based on their people divisions. The designated territory lay amid the communities of Judah and Joseph.

12 Starting at the Jordan, the northern border stretched past the North slope of Jericho, moved westward through the hill country, and ended at the wilderness of Beth Aven.

13 It then moved towards the southern slope of Luz, also known as Bethel. It descended to Ataroth Addar, situated on the mountain southward of Lower Beth Horon.

14 The border then curved South from the hill that looks toward Beth Horon from the South, tracing the western flank and terminating at Kiriath Baal, known as Kiriath Jearim, a city of the Judahites. This boundary marked the West.

15 The southern boundary initiated at the fringes of Kiriath Jearim towards the West, leading to the origins of Nephtoah's water springs.

16 The boundary descended to the mountain's base overlooking the Valley of Ben Hinnom, North of the Valley of Rephaim. It proceeded through the Hinnom Valley, skirting the southern flank of the Jebusite settlement, and reached En Rogel.

17 It then bent to the North, proceeding to En Shemesh, then to Geliloth, which looked toward the Ascent of Adummim and descended to the testimony of Bohan, Reuben's offspring.

18 It persisted towards the North side of Beth Arabah's incline, descending into the Arabah.

19 Then, it traveled to the northern slope of Beth Hoglah and concluded at the North section of the Dead Sea, at the southern end of the Jordan. This river demarcated the southern boundary.

20 The Jordan served as the marker in the East. These were the limits defining the legacy of Benjamin's people in all directions.

21 The cities granted to the communal groups of Benjamin encompassed Jericho, Beth Hoglah, and Emek Keziz, 22 Beth Arabah, Zemaraim, and Bethel,
23 Avvim, Ophrah, and Parah.

24 Chephar-Ammoni, Ophni, and Geba comprise twelve cities and their dependent settlements.

25 The locations of Gibeon, Ramah, and Beeroth,

26 Mizpeh, Chephirah, and Mozah.

27 Locations consisted of Rekem, Irpeel, and Taralah, 28 Zela, Eleph, the city known as Jebus (Yerushalayim), Gibeath, and Kiriath comprised fourteen cities, including their surrounding settlements. These cities formed the ancestral estate for the Benjaminite families.

§ 13580 ALLOTMENT FOR SIMEON

19 Simeon's community received the second allocation of land based on their familial divisions. However, their allotted territory was situated within the confines of Judah's land.

2 The land encompassed Beersheba (alternatively referred to as Sheba), Moladah.
3 Hazar-Shu'al, Bala, and Etzem.
4 Eltolad, Bethul, and Hormah.
5 The places Ziklag, Beth Marcaboth, and Hazar Susah,
6 Be, the Lebaoth, and Sharuhen constitute thirteen cities and their associated settlements.
7 Ain, Rimmon, Ether, and Ashan represented four municipal territories, each including their surrounding areas.

8 The territory extending to Baalath Beer, also known as Ramah in the Negev, and including every settlement around these towns, became the possession of the Simeonite community, divided among its family units.
9 The land given to the descendants of Simeon was carved out from the part assigned to Judah due to the excess in the allocation given to Judah. So, the descendants of Simeon claimed their legacy within the boundaries of Judah's land.

§ 13590 ALLOTMENT FOR ZEBULUN

10 Their family groups drew the third allotment for Zebulun. The territory of their inheritance extended up to Sarid.
11 Heading westward, it reached Maralah, came in contact with Dabbesheth, and proceeded to the valley near Jokneam.
12 It altered its direction from Sarid, heading East with the sunrise, reaching the district of Kisloth Tabor, proceeding towards Daberath, and ascending to Japhia.
13 Subsequently, it rolled in the easterly direction to Gath Hepher and Eth Kazin, emerged at Rimmon, and veered towards Neah.
14 The demarcation looped around the North to Hannathon, culminating in the Valley of Iphtah El.
15 The territory incorporated Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah, and Bethlehem, encompassing twelve towns and their dependent settlements.
16 The cities and their satellite settlements were apportioned to the community of Zebulun, divided according to its familial structures.

§ 13600 ALLOTMENT FOR ISSACHAR

17 The community of Issachar received the fourth distribution of lots per their family groups.
18 The land assigned to them encompassed the areas of Jezreel, Kesulloth, and Shunem.
19 The regions of Hapharaim, Shion, and Anaharath.
20 The locations are named Rabbit, Kishion, and Ebez.
21 Remet, Ein-Ganim, Ein-Hadah, and Beit-Patzetz.
22 The demarcation included Tabor, Shahazumah, and Beth Shemesh and concluded at the Jordan, incorporating sixteen towns and their settlements.

23 The community of Issachar, apportioned by family groups, received these cities and their surrounding villages as their shared legacy.

§ 13610 ALLOTMENT FOR ASHER

24 The fifth land share was assigned to the community of Asher, which was the property of their family groups.

25 The area encompassing Helkath, Hali, Beten, and Akshaph was part of their boundary.

26 "Allammelek, Amad, and Mishal: The border came in contact with Carmel and Shihor Libnath in the West.

27 It then turned towards the East, reaching Beth Dagon and making contact with Zebulun and the Valley of Iphtah El. It proceeded northbound towards Beth Emek and Neiel, bypassing Kabul on the left.
28 The route included Abdon, Rehob, Hammon, and Kanah, extending to Greater Sidon.
29 The border redirected back to Ramah, reaching the strong-walled city of Tyre. It veered towards Hosah and terminated at the Mediterranean Sea near Akzib.
30 Ummah, Aphek, and Rehob constituted 22 settlements with local communities.
31 These cities and their surrounding areas were the legacy allocated to the families of the Asher community as per their people divisions.”

§ 13620 ALLOTMENT FOR NAPHTALI

32 The sixth allotment was designated for the Naphtali community, and it was divided among its family groups.
33 The boundary of their territory initiated from Heleph and traversed the grand tree at Zaanannim, including Adami Nekeb and Jabneel up to Lakkum, and concluded at the Jordan.

34 The border proceeded westward through Aznoth Tabor and extended to Hukkok. It brushed past Zebulun on its southern side, Asher on its western flank, and reached the Jordan towards the East.
35 The strong-walled cities were Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, and Kinnereth.
36 Adamah, Ramah, and Hazor,
37 Kedesh, Edrei, and En-Hazor.
38 Iron, Migdal El, Horem, Beth Anath, and Beth Shemesh comprised nineteen towns, including their respective settlements.
39 These cities and their surrounding areas formed the possession of the Naphtali community, which was divided into individual family groups.

§ 13630 ALLOTMENT FOR DAN

40 Their family groups assigned the seventh land allocation to the Dan community.
41 Their designated land encompassed Zorah, Eshtaol, and Ir Shemesh.
42 Sha’albin, Ayalon, Yitlah.
43 Elon, Ekron, Timnah.
44 Eltekeh, Gibbethon, and Baalath are included.
45 Jehud, Bnei Brak, and Gat Rimmon are three places.
46 Me, Jarkon, Rakkon, and the territory opposite Joppa.

47 As the Danites had lost their territory, they assaulted Leshem, seized it, conquered it mercilessly, and established their occupancy there. The Danites settled in Leshem and renamed it Dan in honor of their forefather.
48 The Danite community and its family groups received these cities and surrounding towns as their allocated legacy.

§ 13640 ALLOTMENT FOR JOSHUA

49 Upon concluding the distribution of the land's territories as inheritances, the Israelites gave Joshua, the son of Nun, a share in their midst.
50 By the directive of the Eternal Reality, they granted him the city he requested— Timnath Serah, nestled in the mountainous region of Ephraim. He then proceeded to reconstruct the city and establish his residence there.

51 These are the areas that were allocated by Eleazar, the ensovereigned mediator, Joshua, the male heir of Nun, and the leaders of the Israeli communal peoples, through an exalted lottery at Shiloh in the sight of the Sovereign Captain at the entrance of the Communal Tent. So, the partitioning of the land was accomplished.

§ 13650 HUBS OF REFUGE

20 The Sovereign Captain spoke to Joshua.

2 "Instruct the people of Israel to set-apart the cities of refuge, as I guided you via Moses,
3 This order ensures that a person who unintentionally and inadvertently causes another's death may seek refuge there, offering a fortress from the one pursuing vengeance for the bloodshed.

4 On seeking refuge in one of these cities, the person should position themselves at the city's entrance and discuss his situation with the city's elders. Subsequently, the elders should allow the person to reside within their town and furnish him with a dwelling place among them.

5 If the relative seeking vengeance chases them, the town leaders should not hand the accused individual over, considering they had killed their fellow resident accidentally and without previous ill intent.
6 The community must judge them, and they must stay in that refuge until the current Prime Ruler mediator dies. They can return to their original residence in the city where they escaped.

7 Kedesh in Galilee, located in Naphtali's mountainous region; Shechem in the mountainous terrain of Ephraim; and Kiriath Arba, also known as Hebron, in the mountainous region of Judah, were chosen and set-apart.
8 They assigned the communities of Gad and Manasseh to Ramoth in Gilead, Golan in Bashan, and Reuben to Bezer on the desert plateau, East of the Jordan and across from Jericho.

9 If an Israelite or an outsider residing among them unintentionally killed someone, they could flee to these designated cities for refuge. This way, the blood avenger could not kill them before they could stand trial in the community' s court.

§ 13660 TOWNS FOR THE LEVITES

21 The leaders of the Levite families came forward to consult with the ensovereigned mediator Eleazar, Joshua, the male heir of Nun, and the heads of the remaining communities of Israel.

2 In Shiloh, located in Canaan, they affirmed to them that the directive from the Sovereign Captain through Moses was to provide us with cities in which we would reside, accompanied by grazing areas for our herds.
3 By the directive from the Sovereign Captain, the Israelites handed over these specific cities and agricultural production centers to the Levites from their legacy.

4 The inaugural allotment fell for the people of the Kohathites. The Levites, the progeny of the ensovereigned mediator Aaron, were apportioned thirteen cities from the communities of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin.
5 Kohath's remaining offspring received ten municipalities from the Ephraim and Dan family groups and half of the Manasseh communities.
6 Gershon's progeny received an allocation of thirteen towns from the lineages of the communities of Issachar, Asher, Naphtali, and the semi-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan.
7 The Gad, Reuben, and Zebulun communities gave twelve cities to the Merari family groups.
8 Per the instructions given by the Sovereign Captain through Moses, the Israelites designated towns and agricultural production centers for the Levites.

9 The assignment of the following cities, specified by their names, went to the communities of Judah and Simeon.
10 The communities were allocated to the progeny of Aaron, who were part of the Kohathite communities of the Levites since the initial allotment was in their favor.
11 They presented them with Kiriath Arba, known as Hebron, situated in the hilly country of Judah, including its adjacent pasturelands. Arba was recognized as the ancestor of Anak.
12 The open lands and small towns surrounding the city had been offered to Caleb, Jephunneh's male heir, to hold as his own.

13 The offspring of Aaron, the ensovereigned mediator, were granted Hebron, a refuge for those charged with homicide, as well as Libnah, 14 Its fields encompass Jattir and its surrounding lands, Eshtemoa.
15 Holon has its adjacent open land, and Debir has its surrounding pasture.

16 Ain, Juttah, and Beth Shemesh—nine cities, including their agricultural production centers—were given to these communities.
17 From Benjamin's family, they allocated Gibeon and Geba to them.
18 Anathoth and Almon, including their agricultural production centers, make up four cities.
19 The ensovereigned mediators, who were from the family of Aaron, received a sum of thirteen towns along with their agricultural production center.

20 The remaining families from the Kohathite peoples of Levites received their assigned cities from the community of Ephraim.
21 They received Shechem, a safety haven for alleged killers, and Gezer, located in the mountainous region of Ephraim.
22 Kibzaim and Beth Horon and their grazing areas encompass four cities.
23 Eltekeh and Gibbethon were also obtained from the community of Dan.
24 Aijalon and Gath Rimmon comprised four municipalities, including their agricultural production centers.
25 Two towns, Taanach and Gath Rimmon, along with their surrounding grasslands, were allocated to half the community of Manasseh.
26 The remaining families of the Kohathite were allotted these ten cities along with their grazing areas.

27 The Gershonite divisions among the Levite peoples received, from half of the Manasseh community, Golan in Bashan—a designated refuge city for those accused of homicide—and Be Eshterah, along with their grazing areas, totaling two cities.
28 Kishion and Daberath were allocated from the Issachar family.
29 Jarmuth and En Gannim comprised four towns, including agricultural production centers.

30 The Asher community provided Mishal Abdon.
31 Helkath and Rehob and their agricultural production centers contain four towns.
32 The community of Naphtali gave three settlements, including Kedesh in Galilee—a haven for those wrongly accused of homicide—along with Hammoth Dor and Kartan, complete with their grazing fields.
33 The Gershonite peoples received thirteen towns and grazing areas.

34 The people of Merarite, who were among the remaining Levites, were allocated Jokneam and Kartah from the community of Zebulun.
35 Dimnah and Nahalal, each with its surrounding grasslands, amounting to four cities.
36 Bezer and Jahaz were allocated from Reuben's family.
37 Kedemoth, along with its grazing areas and Mephaath, is four cities in total.
38 Allocated from the community of Gad was Ramoth in Gilead, a fortress for individuals charged with homicide, along with Mahanaim.
39 Heshbon and Jazer and their agricultural production centers are four cities in total.

40 Twelve towns were assigned to the peoples of Merari, the remaining Levite families.
41 The Israelites gave the Levites forty-eight towns within their lands, each accompanied by its grazing areas.
42 All these municipalities had grazing territories encircling them; this held for every town.

43 The Eternal Reality delivered to Israel the entire territory He had pledged to provide to their forefathers as they secured it and made it their domicile.
44 The Sovereign Captain granted tranquility, fulfilling His oath to their forefathers. None of their foes could resist them; the Sovereign Captain surrendered all their adversaries into their grasp.
45 The Sovereign Captain's commitment to Israel was honored. Not a single one fell short of fulfillment.

§ 13670 EASTERN COMMUNITIES RETURN HOME

22 At that time, Joshua called together the men from Reuben, Gad, and half of the community of Manasseh.
2 He told them, "You have carried out all that Moses, the servant of the Sovereign Captain, instructed, and you have listened to me in all that I ordered."
3 "You have consistently shown loyalty to your fellow Israelites from the past until now, diligently carrying out the Eternal Reality assignment that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, entrusted to you."
4 "As the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality has granted them tranquility as pledged, head back to your dwellings located in the territory Moses, servant of the Sovereign Captain, granted you East of the Jordan."
5 "It's crucial that you trustfully adhere to the directives and teachings that Moses, the Sovereign Captain's servant, handed down to you: to cherish the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, to abide by His will, to obey His decrees, to remain committed to Him, and to dedicate all your inner determination and inner-self in serving Him."

6 Joshua gave them his empowerment, dismissed them, and they departed to their residences.
7 Moses had provided for half of the Manasseh community in Bashan. At the same time, Joshua arranged for the other half in the western region of the Jordan, together with their fellow Israelites. When dispatching them to their residences, Joshua offered them his empowerment.

8 He instructed them to return to their dwellings, carrying immense wealth, including large herds of livestock, silver, gold, bronze, iron, and a considerable amount of clothing. Furthermore, he asked them to distribute the loot from their foes among their fellow compatriots.

9 By the command of the Sovereign Captain through Moses, the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh parted from the Israelites at Shiloh in Canaan and returned to their territory in Gilead, which they had acquired.
10 On reaching Geliloth, near the Jordan, in Canaan, the descendants of Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh constructed a grand and obvious pedestal table by the river.
11 On hearing that the Israelites had constructed a pedestal table near the Jordan, at the Canaan border near Geliloth, the news spread among the Israelites.
12 The entire ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel assembled at Shiloh, ready for battle against them.

13 Therefore, the representatives of Israel dispatched Eleazar's male heir, the ensovereigned mediator Phinehas, to the terrain of Gilead, specifically Reuben, Gad, and the semi-tribe of Manasseh.
14 Together with him, they dispatched ten eminent figures, each representing an individual community of Israel, each one presiding over a familial branch within the Israelite family.
15 On their arrival in Gilead, they communicated with the descendants of Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh.
16 "The entire community of the Sovereign Captain inquires: 'What is this disloyal act you have committed against the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel? How could you divert from following the Sovereign Captain and construct a pedestal table as an act of defiance against him now?
17 Haven't we suffered enough from the misconduct at Peor? We still haven't purified ourselves from it despite the lethal epidemic it brought to the Sovereign Captain's assembly!

18 Are you daring to defy the Sovereign Captain right now? If you refuse to follow the Sovereign Captain today, he may unleash his fury on the entire population of Israel tomorrow.
19 If your territory is impure, transition to the land that belongs to the Sovereign Captain, where His exalted tent is located, and partake in our land. However, do not act defiantly against the Sovereign Captain or us by establishing your pedestal table separate from the recognized pedestal table of our Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.
20 Recall the transgression of Achan, the male heir of Zerah, concerning the devoted items. Did it not bring celestial anger on the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel? He was far from being the sole one who faced death due to his guilt. '"

21 The sons of Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh responded and spoke to the leaders of the Israelite family groups.
22 "The Supreme One, the Eternal Reality, the Preeminent Sovereign! The Supreme One, the Eternal Reality, the Preeminent Sovereign! He is aware! And may Israel be knowledgeable, too! If our actions were against the Supreme One or disloyal to Him, do not save us today.
23 If we've constructed our pedestal table to deviate from the Sovereign Captain, and if it's to present scorched or grain offerings or to perform peace offerings on it, let the Sovereign Captain himself demand an explanation from us.

24 Not at all! We constructed it due to the anxiety your offspring might question,
'What relationship do you possess with the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel?'
25 The Sovereign Captain has established the Jordan River as a territorial boundary between you and us, descendants of Reuben and Gad! You possess no allotment from the Sovereign Captain. Consequently, your progeny may lead our progeny away from their reverence for the Sovereign Captain.
26 We expressed, 'Let us prepare to construct a pedestal table but not for scorched absolving payments. '

27 Far from it; this is a testimonial between us, you, and successive generations asserting our right to venerate the Sovereign Captain at his Exalted Space with our scorched absolving payment, absolving payments, and peace offerings. Consequently, in the coming years, your descendants won't be able to claim to ours, 'You lack a portion in the Sovereign Captain. '
28 We said, 'If they ever express such a thing to us or our future generations, we will respond: Look at the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table model our forefathers crafted not for scorched absolving payments or absolving payments but as a testament of alliance between you and us. '

29 It would be unthinkable for us to commit such a revolt against the Sovereign Captain and deviate from him today by building a pedestal table for scorched absolving payments and grain absolving payments and absolving payments separate from the pedestal table of the Sovereign Captain our Preeminent Sovereign which is positioned before His fortress place."

30 Phinehas, the ensovereigned mediator, community leaders, and heads of Israelite peoples, received the response from Reuben, Gad, and Manasseh.
31 Phinehas, the ensovereigned mediator and Eleazar's male heir announced to Reuben, Gad, and Manasseh that they are now sure of the Sovereign Captain's presence among them since they have not violated the Sovereign Captain's trust on this matter. As a result, they have averted the potential punishment of Israelites by the Sovereign Captain's hand.

32 Subsequently, Phinehas—the male heir of Eleazar—the ensovereigned mediator and leader, journeyed back to Canaan after their encounter with the communities of Reuben and Gad in Gilead and relayed details to the community of Israelites.
33 The news was joyfully welcomed, and the Preeminent Sovereign was praised. Discussions regarding potential military action to ruin lands inhabited by communities of Reuben and Gad were discontinued.
34 The descendants of Reuben and Gad designated pedestal table with a unique moniker signifying "A Testimony among Us- The Sovereign Captain is indeed Preeminent Sovereign."

§ 13680 JOSHUA'S FAREWELL TO THE LEADERS

23 Following an extensive period during which the Sovereign Captain secured Israel's safety from their surrounding adversaries, Joshua, by that point, had become a profoundly aged individual.

2 "I gathered all Israel—their senior citizens, chiefs, adjudicators, and officers— and told them: 'I am in the twilight of my years.
3 You've witnessed all that the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, has accomplished against these nations for your benefit. The Sovereign Captain indeed battled on your behalf.

4 Remember that I have assigned as a heritage to your communities the whole territory of the still existing nations, the nations I overcame from the Jordan to the Great Sea in the West.
5 The Eternal Reality Himself shall cause their displacement for your benefit. He will make them retreat before you, allowing you to inhabit their territory as your Preeminent Sovereign has assured.
6 Stay resolute and follow everything inscribed in Moses' Book of Law without deviating to the right or the left.
7 Refrain from mingling with these remaining races living among you; abstain from mentioning their idolized deities' names or making affirmations by them. It's imperative not to express joyful adoration to them or humble yourself in their presence.
8 Continue to remain loyal to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, as you have done up to this point.
9 The Eternal Reality has expelled mighty and dominant nations from your path; until now, none could successfully oppose you.
10 A single individual among you can scatter a thousand because the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, wages the battle for you precisely as he assured you.

11 For your own sake, be diligent in loving the Sovereign Captain; you the Preeminent Sovereign.
12 Nevertheless, if you stray and form alliances with the remnants of these nations still dwelling among you, and if you engage in matrimony with them and socially interact with them.
13 Be sure that your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, will stop ejecting these nations in front of you. They will become pitfalls and lures, scourges on your bodies, and spikes in your vision, leading to your disappearance from this bountiful territory the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, granted to you.
14 I'm on the verge of following the path everyone on Earth takes. You are fully aware in your inner-self that none of the beneficial promises the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, made to you has been unfulfilled. All commitments have been realized; not one has been left undone.
15 Just as all the beneficial things you, the Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, vowed to you have transpired, He will inflict on you all the adverse scenarios He warned of until your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, eradicates you from this prosperous territory He gave on you.
16 Should you disregard the agreement of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, which He directed you to follow, and choose to express joyful adoration and serve the idolized deities, the Sovereign Captain's fury will ignite against you. As a result, you will rapidly be wiped away from the bountiful territory He has granted you. '"

§ 13690 THE PACT RENEWED AT SHECHEM

24 Joshua brought the chiefs, judges, and leaders of Israel together with all the twelve communities of Israel at Shechem, where they stood before the Preeminent Sovereign.
2 Joshua spoke to the entire crowd, communicating the message from the Sovereign Captain, Israel's Preeminent Sovereign: "Centuries back, your forefathers, Terah among them—the same Terah who was Abraham and Nahor's father—resided across the Euphrates River and gave their devotion to different idolized deities."

3 "I guided your forefather Abraham from the territory on the far side of the Euphrates, leading him throughout Canaan and increasing the family I was given on him, Isaac.

4 I gave Isaac two sons, Jacob and Esau. Mount Seir was granted to Esau while Jacob and his descendants resettled in Egypt.
5 After that, I commissioned Moses and Aaron, brought calamities on the Egyptians through my actions, and eventually facilitated your liberation.
6 You reached the sea after leading your ancestors out of Egypt. The Egyptians, riding their military strike vehicles and armored personnel carriers, chased them to the Reed Sea.
7 Yet when they implored the Sovereign Captain, He set a curtain of gloom separating you from the Egyptians; he invited the sea to surge over them, encapsulating them. Your vision bore witness to my actions against the Egyptians. Consequently, you inhabited the wilderness for an extended period.

8 "I led you into the territory of the Amorites living to the East of Jordan. They took up arms against you. However, I handed them over to you. I annihilated them in your presence, and you gained ownership of their land.
9 As the Moabite Prime Ruler Balak, Zippor's offspring, prepared for battle against Israel, he called on Balaam, the male heir of Beor, to curse you.
10 I chose not to pay heed to Balaam; consequently, he continued to empower me. As a result, I rescued you from his clutches.
11 You came across Jordan and arrived at Jericho. The inhabitants of Jericho, along with the Amorites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hittites, Girgashites, Hivites, and Jebusites, engaged in a battle with you. Still, I handed them all over to you.
12 I dispatched the hornet before you, which chased them away before your arrival, including the two Prime Rulers of the Amorites. Your victory was not the result of your personal weaponry or markmanship skills.
13 I was given up on you a territory you hadn't labored for and settlements you didn't construct; you inhabit them and relish the fruits of vineyards and olive gardens you didn't cultivate.

14 "Now, elevate the Sovereign Captain and extend your complete loyalty to him. Discard the venerated idolized deities your forefathers venerated beyond the Euphrates River and in Egypt, and pledge your devotion to the Sovereign Captain.
15 If you find it objectionable to honor the Sovereign Captain, decide this day. Decide whom you will elevate, whether the idolized deities your forefathers revered on the farther side of the Euphrates or the idolized deities of the Amorites, in whose territory you now reside. Yet for myself and my relative, our choice is clear—we 16 The populace responded that we could never contemplate abandoning the Eternal Reality to express joyful adoration of different idolized deities!

17 Our Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign himself, was the one who led us and our ancestors out of Egypt from that place of servitude and executed those impressive, marvelous works before our eyes. He safeguarded us throughout the journey and amid all the countries we journeyed.
18 The Sovereign Captain expelled all the inhabitants, including the Amorites, from the land before us. We must express joyful adoration to the Sovereign Captain, as he is our Eternal Reality.

19 Joshua clarified to the ensovereigned lifestyle community that you cannot reverent the Sovereign Captain. He is an Eternal Reality of purification and an envious Preeminent Sovereign. The Eternal Reality will not pardon your defiance and your wrongdoings.
20 Should you abandon the Sovereign Captain and express joyful adoration to other nations' idolized deities, He will unleash calamity on you and consume you, even after showing you kindness.

21 Nevertheless, the populace stated to Joshua, “Absolutely not! It’s the Sovereign Captain we shall express joyful adoration.”

22 Joshua articulated that you are testifying against yourself that you’ve opted to express joyful adoration to the Sovereign Captain. They responded affirmatively.
“Indeed, we stand as testifiers.”
23 Joshua proclaimed, “Dispose of the outsider idolized deities among you and devote your inner selves entirely to the Eternal Reality, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.”
24 The populace conveyed to Joshua their commitment to express joyful adoration to the Sovereign Captain and comply with His directives.

25 Joshua established an agreement for the populace that day, enforcing directives and regulations for them precisely at Shechem.
26 Joshua documented these events in Preeminent Sovereign’s Book of Laws. He found a massive rock and positioned it under the oak tree near the Sovereign Captain’s exalted site.
27 Joshua declared to the assembly that this rock would testify against us since it had absorbed all of the Preeminent Sovereign’s directives. It will serve as proof against you if you betray your Eternal Reality One.
28 Joshua then sent everyone back to their allotted portions of land.

§ 13700 BURIED IN THE PROMISED LAND

29 Following these events, the servant of the Sovereign Captain, Joshua, the male heir of Nun, passed away at the ripe old age of 110.
30 They laid him to rest in his territorial inheritance at Timnath Serah, amid the mountainous region of Ephraim, to the North of Mount Gaash.

31 During Joshua’s life and the lives of the elders who lived beyond him and had witnessed all of the Preeminent Sovereign’s deeds, Israel maintained their devotion to the Sovereign Captain.

32 The Israelites transported Joseph’s remains from Egypt. They interred them in Shechem on the land that Jacob purchased from Hamor, Shechem’s father, for one hundred silver pieces. This land subsequently became a part of the heritage of Joseph’s offspring.

33 Eleazar, Aaron’s male heir, passed away and was laid to rest in Gibeah, a location given to his male heir Phinehas, in the highlands of Ephraim.

~ 107 | Peacemakers | Judges

§ 13710 ISRAEL FIGHTS THE REMAINING CANAANITES

1 Following Joshua's demise, the Israelites consulted with the Sovereign Captain, inquiring, "Which among us should initiate the conflict against the Canaanites?"
2 The Sovereign Captain responded, "Judah is to lead; I've handed them the land's control."
3 The individuals from the community of Judah urged their allies, the Simeonites, to join them in their assigned region to battle the Canaanites. They agreed to accompany the Simeonites into their land when the time came. As a result, the Simeonites heeded their call and aligned with them.
4 During Judah's offensive, the Sovereign Captain handed over the Canaanites and Perizzites to them, leading to the defeat of ten thousand men in Bezek.
5 Adoni-Bezek was discovered in that location, and a battle ensued against him, leading to the defeat of the Canaanites and Perizzites.
6 Adoni-Bezek attempted to escape. However, they pursued, captured him, and amputated his thumbs and great toes.
7 Adoni-Bezek confessed, "With their thumbs and big toes severed, seventy Prime Rulers used to gather leftovers from beneath my table. The Preeminent Sovereign has returned to me the same treatment I gave them." He was transported to Yerushalayim, where he subsequently passed away.

8 The warriors of Judah launched an assault on Yerushalayim, conquered it, subjected the city to lethal swordplay, and eventually set it ablaze.
9 Subsequently, Judah descended to wage war against the Canaanites inhabiting the mountainous region, the southern desert, and the western slopes.
10 They engaged in battle with the Canaanites residing in Hebron, previously known as Kiriath Arba. They emerged victorious against Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai.
11 They proceeded from that location to confront the inhabitants of Debir, known as Kiriath Sepher in the past.
12 Caleb pledged his daughter Aksah's hand in marriage to the individual who successfully assaulted and seized Kiriath Sepher.
13 Othniel, Kenaz's male heir and Caleb's younger sibling captured the city, leading Caleb to offer his daughter Aksah as Othniel's wife.
14 When she approached Othniel, she persuaded him to seek her father's permission to enter a field. On dismounting her donkey, Caleb inquired, "What assistance can I provide you?"
15 She responded, "Please extend me more kindness. You've provided me with territory in the Negev; could you ensure it also has water sources?" So, Caleb ensured her land had both superior and inferior waterways.
16 The relative of Moses' father-in-law, a Kenite, journeyed from Palm City alongside the Judahites to reside with the natives of Judah's desert, situated in the southern region close to Arad.
17 The individuals from Judah accompanied their kinsfolk, the Simeonites, targeting the Canaanites inhabiting Zephath. They annihilated the city, leading to its renaming as Hormah.
18 Judah captured Gaza, Ashkelon, and Ekron, along with each region.

19 The Sovereign Captain sided with the men of Judah. They were successful in claiming the mountainous regions. However, they failed to expel the inhabitants of the flatlands, as these people were equipped with military strike vehicles made with composite armor.

20 As Moses had guaranteed, Caleb was granted Hebron, and he forced the three sons of Anak out of it.
21 The Jebusites, residing in Yerushalayim, were not expelled by the Benjamites, and they continue to dwell among the Benjamites there even up to the present.
22 The descendants of Joseph went into battle against Bethel, and they had the Sovereign Captain's support.
23 When individuals were dispatched to scout Bethel, previously known as Luz.
24 The scouts observed a man leaving the city, to whom they expressed, "Illustrate the means to enter the city, and we assure you that your well-being will be our concern."
25 So, he guided them, resulting in the city being attacked with the tactical blade. Yet, the individual and his entire relative were let go.
26 Subsequently, he journeyed to the territory of the Hittites, established a city there, and named it Luz, a name it retains even in current times.
27 Nevertheless, Manasseh did not expel the occupants of Beth Shan, Taanach, Dor, Ibleam, and Megiddo and their adjacent villages since the Canaanites were adamant about inhabiting that territory.
28 As Israel gained strength, they coerced the Canaanites into harsh toil yet did not thoroughly eject them from the land.
29 Ephraim failed to dislodge the Canaanites inhabiting Gezer. So, the Canaanites continued to coexist in the same locale with them.
30 Zebulun did not dislodge the Canaanites residing in Kitron or Nahalol, resulting in these Canaanites dwelling among them, yet they were subjugated to compulsory labor.
31 Asher should have dispossessed the inhabitants of cities—namely Akko, Sidon, Ahlab, Akzib, Helbah, Aphek, and Rehob.
32 The Asherites resided amidst the Canaanite residents of the territory as they failed to expel them.

33 Naphtali failed to expel the residents of Beth Shemesh and Beth Anath; hence, the people of Naphtali coexisted with the Canaanites who resided in the land. Consequently, the residents of Beth Shemesh and Beth Anath were subjected to compulsory labor for them.
34 The Amorites compelled the community of Dan to remain in the mountainous region, forbidding them to descend into the valley.
35 Even though the Amorites were resolute to persist in Mount Heres, Aijalon, and Shaalbim, as the might of Joseph's communities augmented, they too were subjected to compulsory labor.
36 The territory of the Amorites extended from the ascent of Akrabbim—from Sela and onward.

§ 13720 THE CELESTIAL ENVOY OF THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN AT BOKIM

2 The Celestial Envoy ascended from Gilgal to Bokim, stating, "I delivered you from Egypt and guided you to the terrain I pledged to your forbearers. I affirmed, 'My agreement with you will remain unbroken eternally. '"

2 “You were not to form any pact with the inhabitants of this territory. Instead, you were supposed to demolish their places of worship. However, you ignored my command. What explains this behavior?”

3 “I have previously declared that I won’t expel them in your presence; they will become pitfalls for you, and their idolized deities will be a constant temptation.”

4 On the Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain conveying these messages to all the Israelites, the citizens cried out in grief.

5 That location was named Bokim, and they conducted absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain in that area.

§ 13730 DISOBEDIENCE AND DEFEAT

6 After Joshua dismissed the Israelites, they went to claim their inheritances.
7 During Joshua’s life and the elders’ lifetimes who witnessed the Sovereign Captain’s magnificent acts for Israel, the people remained devoted to the Sovereign Captain.
8 Joshua, Nun’s son and the Sovereign Captain’s servant, died at 110.
9 He was buried in his estate at Timnath Heres in Ephraim’s highlands, North of Mount Gaash.
10 After that generation died, a new one arose, unfamiliar with the Sovereign Captain or His deeds for Israel.
11 The Israelites committed impure deeds, serving the Baals.
12 They abandoned the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality’s entity of their forefathers, who led them out of Egypt and followed and venerated idolized deities of neighboring populations, incensing the Sovereign Captain.
13 They worshipped Baal and the Ashtoreths.
14 The Sovereign Captain’s wrath ignited against Israel, surrendering them to looters who stripped them of possessions and adversaries they couldn’t defend against.
15 Whenever Israel fought, the Sovereign Captain’s power ensured their defeat by His oath, causing severe anguish.
16 The Sovereign Captain appointed judges who rescued them from plunderers.
17 Yet, they refused to heed their judges, indulging in idolized deity adoration and reverence. They swiftly abandoned their forefathers’ path, who obeyed the Sovereign Captain’s decrees trustfully.
18 Whenever the Sovereign Captain appointed a leader, the leader received his unwavering support and rescue from adversaries throughout their life; moved by compassion, their cries under tyranny and affliction stirred the Sovereign Captain to action.

19 After their judge died, the populace resumed corruption, surpassing their forefathers, adhering to idolized deities, serving, and paying homage. They clung to malevolent behaviors and stubborn customs.
20 Consequently, the Sovereign Captain was severely infuriated with Israel and stated that this nation breached the treaty I established with their forefathers and failed to heed My command.
21 I will cease expelling any nations Joshua did not conquer before his demise.
22 I’ll use this approach to examine Israel and ascertain if they will maintain the Sovereign Captain’s path as their forefathers practiced.
23 The Preeminent Sovereign permitted these countries to persist. He neither quickly expelled them nor surrendered them to Joshua’s authority.

3 These are the ethnic groups the Sovereign Captain spared to examine all Israelites who hadn't been involved in Canaanite conflicts.
2 This measure was solely to instruct Israelite offspring without prior warfare experience about battle strategies.
3 The five Philistine Warrior chiefs, every Canaanite inhabitant, Sidon's populace, and the Hivites in Lebanon's mountainous region from Mount Baal Hermon to Lebo Hamath.
4 They stayed to examine Israel's adherence to the Sovereign Captain's Directives given through Moses.
5 The Israelites resided with Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites.
6 They married their daughters, offered them in matrimony to their offspring, and worshipped their idolized deities.

§ 13740 OTHNIEL

7 The Israelites committed wrong acts in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, dismissing the Sovereign Captain as their Preeminent Sovereign and reverencing the Baals and Ashtoreths.

8 The Sovereign Captain's fury ignited against Israel, resulting in Him handing them over to Prime Ruler Cushan-Rishathaim of Aram Naharaim, under whose rule they remained for eight years.
9 When their cries for help reached the Sovereign Captain, He responded by bringing forth a rescuer, Othniel, Caleb's younger sibling and male heir of Kenaz, who led them to deliverance.
10 Othniel was imbued with the Eternal Spark of the Sovereign Captain, leading him to serve as a judge for Israel and confront the enemy. the Sovereign Captain ensured that Cushan-Rishathaim, the Prime Ruler of Aram, was defeated at the hands of Othniel.
11 The region experienced tranquility for four decades until the demise of Othniel, a descendant of Kenaz.

§ 13750 EHUD

12 Once more, the Israelites practiced impurity in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, resulting in the Sovereign Captain empowering Prime Ruler Eglon of Moab to dominate Israel due to their unworthy conduct choices.
13 Eglon, having convinced the Ammonites and Amalekites to ally with him, waged war on Israel and subsequently took control of the city renowned for its palm trees.
14 Eglon, the Prime Ruler of Moab, ruled the Israelites for eighteen years.
15 Once more, the Israelites pleaded to the Sovereign Captain, on which he provided them with a liberator—Ehud, a man adept with his left hand, the offspring of Gera from the community of Benjamin. The Israelis dispatched him with gifts to Eglon, the Prime Ruler of Moab.
16 Ehud had crafted a two-edged tactical blade of about 52.5 centimeters in length, which he fastened to his right leg beneath his garments.
17 The tribute was handed to Eglon, the Prime Ruler of Moab, who was exceptionally obese.

18 When Ehud had finished offering the tribute payment, he dismissed the people carrying it.
19 On reaching the crafted stones near Gilgal, he returned to Eglon. He proclaimed, "I bear a confidential message for you, the Prime Ruler." The Prime Ruler instructed his servants to vacate the room, and they all exited.

20 Ehud made his way towards him as he sat solitarily in the breezy room of his palace and communicated, “When you hear this, I bear a message from the Preeminent Sovereign.” The Prime Ruler ascended from his position.
21 Using his left hand, Ehud extracted the tactical blade from his right upper leg. He launched it into the Prime Ruler’s abdomen.
22 The hilt was immersed following the tactical blade, and his innards discharged. Ehud did not remove the sidearm, with the fat engulfing it.
23 Ehud then exited through the vestibule, closing and securing the doors of the upper chamber behind him.
24 When he had departed, the administrators arrived to discover the doors to the superior chamber were fastened. They speculated that he was likely taking care of his necessities in the secluded space of the governance residence.
25 They lingered till they were overcome with unease, yet the room doors remained unopened, prompting them to use a key to gain access. On doing so, they discovered their overseer lifeless on the floor.
26 As they lingered, Ehud managed to slip away. He went beyond the stone idolized deities and found refuge in Seirah.
27 On his arrival, he sounded a warning alarm in the mountains of Ephraim, prompting the Israelites to descend from the hills under his leadership.
28 “Pursue me,” he commanded, “for the Sovereign Captain has delivered Moab, your Adversary, into your control.” So, they trailed him and seized the crossing points of the Jordan leading towards Moab; they permitted no individual to journey across.
29 During that period, they annihilated approximately ten thousand Moabite men, each robust and powerful; not a single individual managed to flee.

30 On that occasion, Moab was brought under the power of Israel, resulting in the land enjoying tranquility for eighty years.

§ 13760 SHAMGAR

31 After Ehud, Shamgar, the male heir of Anath, eliminated six hundred Philistine Warriors with a pointed stick, rescuing Israel.

§ 13770 DEBORAH

4 After Ehud’s death, the Israelites again committed acts deemed unacceptable by the Sovereign Captain.
2 Consequently, the Sovereign Captain handed them over to Jabin, the Prime Ruler of Canaan, who ruled from Hazor. Sisera, residing in Harosheth Haggoyim, commanded his forces.
3 For twenty years, Sisera harshly dominated the Israelites with nine hundred composite-armored military strike vehicles, leading them to implore the Sovereign Captain’s intervention.
4 Deborah, an eternally wise servant and spouse of Lappidoth, oversaw Israel during that period.
5 She conducted legal proceedings under the Palm of Deborah in the Ephraim highlands between Ramah and Bethel, where Israelites sought her advice.
6 She summoned Barak, son of Abinoam from Kedesh in Naphtali, informing him of the Sovereign Captain’s command: “Mobilize 10,000 warriors from Zebulun and Naphtali and lead them to Mount Tabor.”

7 “I will draw Sisera, Jabin’s general, with his military strike vehicles and soldiers to the Kishon River and hand him over to you.”
8 Barak replied, “I will go only if you accompany me; otherwise, I will not go.”
9 Deborah agreed but warned, “The distinction will not be yours; the Sovereign Captain will deliver Sisera to a woman.” So, Deborah accompanied Barak to Kedesh.

10 Barak summoned Zebulun and Naphtali, leading 10,000 men with Deborah by his side.
11 Heber the Kenite, a descendant of Hobab and Moses’ brother-in-law, had separated from his people and camped near Zaanannim by Kedesh.
12-13 When Sisera learned of Barak’s ascent to Mount Tabor, he mobilized his soldiers and nine hundred composite-armored military strike vehicles from Harosheth Haggoyim to the Kishon River.
14 Deborah urged Barak, “Go! the Sovereign Captain has delivered Sisera into your hands. Hasn’t the Sovereign Captain gone before you?” Ten thousand warriors followed Barak as they descended Mount Tabor.
15 During Barak’s attack, the Sovereign Captain confused Sisera and his forces. Sisera abandoned his main strike vehicle and fled on foot.
16 Barak pursued the military strike vehicles and assault troops to Harosheth Haggoyim, where his tactical blade defeated all of Sisera’s soldiers without survivors.
17 Sisera fled on foot to Jael’s tent, Heber the Kenite’s wife, due to a peace treaty between Jabin and Heber’s household.
18 Jael greeted Sisera and invited him inside without hesitation. She put a blanket over him when he stepped into her tent.
19 Thirsty, he asked for water; Jael gave him milk instead and covered him again.
20 He instructed her to stand at the tent entrance and deny anyone inside if asked.
21 Behind his back, Jael quietly got a tent peg and hammer. While he slept, he hammered the peg through his skull, killing him.
22 When Barak arrived in pursuit, Jael led him to Sisera’s lifeless body with a tent peg through his head.
23 That day, the Preeminent Sovereign defeated the Canaanite Prime Ruler Jabin before the Israelites.
24 The Israelites grew stronger against Jabin until they ultimately eradicated him.

§ 13780 THE SONG OF DEBORAH

5 Deborah and Barak, son of Abinoam, sang on that day.
2 When Israel’s leaders lead, and the people volunteer—elevate the Sovereign Captain!
3 Prime Rulers, listen! Pay heed, leaders! I will sing to the Sovereign Captain and laud the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.
4 When You, Almighty, set forth from Seir and journeyed from Edom, the ground trembled, and the celestial realms unleashed a downpour.
5 The mountains trembled before the Sovereign Captain at Sinai, the Eternal Reality of Israel.
6 During Shamgar’s era, son of Anath, and Jael’s period, main roads were deserted; travelers took twisty routes.
7 Rural inhabitants in Israel refrained from combat until I, Deborah, arose as a mother in Israel.
8 The Eternal Reality appointed new leaders when the battleground shifted to the city gates; no ballistic shield or tactical bayonet was found among Israel’s forty thousand.
9 My affection goes to Israel’s leaders who graciously offered themselves to the populace. Honor the Sovereign Captain.

10 Reflect on this: those who journey on white donkeys rest on saddle blankets and traverse the pathway.
11 At watering spots, singing voices narrate the Sovereign Captain's triumphs, victories by his rural inhabitants in Israel. Following this, the Sovereign Captain's pathseekers marched to the city gates.
12 Stir, Deborah! Start a melody! Stand up, Barak! Seize your prisoners, son of Abinoam.
13 The survivors among the elite descended; the Sovereign Captain's pathseekers rallied to face the powerful.

14 A contingent came from Ephraim, rooted in Amalek; Benjamin joined your adherents. From Makir emerged leaders, and from Zebulun, those handling the marshal's staff.
15 Issachar's leaders supported Deborah. Indeed, Issachar trusted Barak and rushed into the valley under his leadership. Among Reuben's communities, there was intense introspection.
16 Why did you linger in sheepfolds, listening to music for the flocks? Among Reuben's people, there was intense soul-searching.
17 Gilead stayed beyond the Jordan River. Dan lingered by vessels; Asher remained in coastal regions and protected harbors.
18 Zebulun dared to risk their lives; Naphtali did on hillside battlefields.
19 Prime Rulers arrived and engaged in combat; Canaan rulers battled near Megiddo's waters and at Taanach but seized no silver treasures.
20 Celestial bodies battled from their orbits against Sisera.
21 The ancient Kishon River whisked them away. Keep marching forward with strength, my inner-self!
22 Military strike vehicle weapons echoed as assault troops sped relentlessly.
23 The Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain declared, "Let Meroz be condemned." He demanded a severe curse on its residents for not assisting the Sovereign Captain against powerful adversaries.
24 Jael, wife of Heber the Kenite, stands as the most fortunate among women in tents.
25 She requested water and provided milk; in a majestic governance bowl, she served curds.
26 She extended her hand to a tent spike, grasping a craftsman's mallet in her right. She attacked Sisera, shattering his skull and puncturing his temple.
27 He collapsed and fell at her feet, where he remained lifeless.

28 Sisera's mother looked through the window; from behind the lattice, she asked, "Why is his main strike vehicle delayed? Why do I not hear his military strike vehicles?"
29 Her sagacious women respond; she repeats inwardly,
30 "Aren't they acquiring and distributing war booty: a maiden or two for every soldier, vibrant dyed clothing as loot for Sisera, intricately embroidered garments for my neck—all as spoils of war?"
31 May all the Sovereign Captain's adversaries meet their end! But may those who cherish You become as radiant as the sun's apex. Following this, tranquility prevailed over the land for four decades.

§ 13790 GIDEON

6 The Israelites committed actions deemed impure in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, leading to seven years under Midianite control.
2 Midian's dominance was so burdensome that the Israelites sought refuge in mountainous hollows, caverns, and fortified locations.

3 The Midianites, Amalekites, and other Eastern groups attacked whenever the Israelites sowed seeds.
4 They devastated the land up to Gaza, leaving no livestock for Israel.
5 With their military strike vehicles and armored personnel transports, they swarmed like locusts, laying waste to the territory.
6 The severe poverty that Midian inflicted caused the Israelites to plead with the Sovereign Captain for help.

7-8 An eternally wise servant was sent to them, proclaiming, “the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, asserts: I led you from Egypt, liberating you from servitude.
9 I emancipated you from Egyptian influence and freed you from all who subjugated you; I expelled them and gave you their land.

10 I told you, ‘I am your sovereign Eternal Reality; do not revere the idolized deities of the Amorites. ’ Yet, you have neglected my words.”

11 The Celestial Envoy arrived and reclined beneath an oak tree in Ophrah, on Joash the Abiezrite’s property. Joash’s son, Gideon, secretly processed wheat in a winepress to elude the Midianites.
12 The Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain appeared to Gideon, declaring, “the Sovereign Captain accompanies you, brave soldier.”
13 “Forgive me, My Sovereign Captain,” responded Gideon, “but if the Sovereign Captain is authentic, why are we experiencing these predicaments? Where are all his awe-inspiring deeds our forefathers narrated? the Sovereign Captain appears to have deserted and delivered us into Midian’s clutches.”

14 The Sovereign Captain commanded, “Proceed with your power and liberate Israel from Midian’s grasp. Isn’t it I who is delegating you?”
15 “My Sovereign Captain,” Gideon responded, “how can I deliver Israel? My family is the least significant in Manasseh, and I am the most insignificant in my household.”
16 The Sovereign Captain reassured him, “I will accompany you, and you will defeat every Midianite.”

17 Gideon asked for a sign of ultimate authenticity.
18 “Don’t leave until I return with my gift.” the Sovereign Captain replied, “I’ll stay here until your return.”
19 Gideon prepared a young goat and unleavened bread from 22.5 liters of flour. He brought the meat and broth under the oak tree, with the meat in a container and the soup in a pot.

20 The Celestial Envoy of the Preeminent Sovereign instructed him to place the bread and meat on a rock and then cover them with the broth. Gideon did so.
21 The Celestial Envoy touched the meat and bread with his power staff, causing flames to consume them. Then, the Sovereign Captain’s emissary vanished.

22 Realizing he had seen the Sovereign Captain’s Celestial Envoy, Gideon cried out, “Oh, Almighty Preeminent Sovereign! I have seen the Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain directly!”
23 The Sovereign Captain reassured him, “Tranquility! Fear not. You will not die.”
24 Gideon built a monument to the Sovereign Captain there and named it—the Sovereign Captain Bestows Tranquility. It still stands in Ophrah of the Abiezrites today.

25 The Sovereign Captain instructed him to take his father's seven-year-old bull that night.
"Dismantle Baal's pedestal table and chop down the Asherah figure beside it.
26 Construct a suitable pedestal table for the Sovereign Captain at this elevation's peak. Use the Asherah wood to offer the bull as a scorched absolving payment."
27 Gideon and ten aides acted as instructed but did so at night out of fear of his relatives and townsfolk.

28 At dawn, the townsfolk discovered Baal's pedestal table destroyed, the Asherah pole slashed, and the bull offered on a new pedestal table!
29 They asked, "Who did this?" After investigation, they found it was Gideon, Joash's son.
30 The townsfolk demanded Joash surrender Gideon for execution for destroying Baal's pedestal table and felling the Asherah symbol.

31 Joash responded to the mob, "Are you advocating for Baal? If Baal is like the Eternal Reality, he can defend himself when his pedestal table is demolished."
32 Due to Gideon tearing down Baal's pedestal table, he was named Jerub-Baal that day.

33 The Midianites, Amalekites, and Eastern communities united and crossed the Jordan River to camp in Jezreel Valley.
34 The Sovereign Captain's Eternal Spark enveloped Gideon. He sounded the alert, calling the Abiezrites to rally behind him.
35 He sent envoys across Manasseh and to Asher, Zebulun, and Naphtali; they, too, joined him.

36 Gideon told the Preeminent Sovereign: "If you rescue Israel through me as promised—37 I am setting down a wool fleece where we separate grain. If only the fleece gets damp from dew while the ground stays dry, it will confirm your promise."
38 This took place precisely as he requested. Gideon extracted enough moisture from the fleece to fill a bowl with water the following day.

39 Gideon spoke again to the Preeminent Sovereign, pleading not to incite His wrath. He requested one more test with the fleece—this time for it to stay dry while dew drenched the ground.
40 The Preeminent Sovereign acted accordingly that night. Only the fleece remained dry while dew covered the ground.

§ 13800 GIDEON DEFEATS THE MIDIANITES

7 Jerub-Baal, also known as Gideon, and his troops set up camp near the Harod spring at dawn. The Midianite camp was in the valley to their North, near Moreh Hill.
2 The Sovereign Captain told Gideon, "Your forces are too numerous. If I let you defeat Midian, Israel will claim credit, saying, 'We did it ourselves. '"
3 Gideon announced, "Anyone afraid can leave Mount Gilead." Twenty-two thousand soldiers left, leaving ten thousand.
4 The Sovereign Captain said the number was still too high and instructed Gideon to take them to the water for a test. Those who lapped water like dogs would stay; the rest would go.
5 Gideon led them to the water and separated those who lapped from those who knelt to drink.
6 Three hundred men lapped water from their hands like wolves. The rest knelt to drink.
7 The Sovereign Captain said, "With these three hundred men, I will save you and give you victory over the Midianites. Send the others home."

[8] So Gideon sent most of the volunteers home, keeping only a core team of 300. He equipped them with supplies and tools for the mission, while the rest of the resources and reinforcements were stationed at nearby hubs, ready to support them as they camped near the opposition's base. The Midianite camp was below in the valley.
[9] That night, the Sovereign Captain told Gideon to attack the camp, promising victory.
[10] "If you're afraid, take your aide Purah and listen to what they say."
[11] Gideon and Purah went to the camp's edge.
[12] The Midianites, Amalekites, and eastern peoples filled the valley like locusts; their special operations forces were countless like sand on the seashore.
[13] Gideon overheard a man telling a dream about a barley loaf overturning a tent.
[14] His companion interpreted it as Gideon's tactical blade bringing victory over Midian.
[15] Gideon worshipped, returned to his camp, and declared, "Rise! The Eternal Reality has given us victory over Midian."

[16] He divided his three hundred men into groups, giving each sound cannons and flame throwers.
[17] "Watch me," he said. "Do as I do. When we reach the camp's edge, do exactly as I do."
[18] "When I and my group blow our sound cannons, you sound yours and shout,
'For the Sovereign Captain and Gideon!'"
[19] Gideon and his hundred men reached the camp at the start of the middle watch, just after the guard change. They activated their sound cannons and readied their flame throwers.
[20] Holding their beacons in one hand and their calls for action in the other, they shouted, 'A call for justice from God and for our leader Gideon!'"
[21] They stood around the camp as the Midianites fled in panic.
[22] When the three hundred sound cannons blasted, the Sovereign Captain confused the camp, and they turned on each other with their tactical blades. The troops fled to Beth Shittah near Zererah and Abel Meholah near Tabbath.
[23] Men from Naphtali, Asher, and all of Manasseh were called out to pursue Midian.
[24] Gideon sent messengers throughout Ephraim's hill country to seize control of Jordan's waters up to Beth Barah. The Ephraimites did so.
[25] They captured Oreb and Zeeb, killing Oreb at Oreb's Rock and Zeeb at Zeeb's winepress. They pursued Midian and brought Oreb and Zeeb's heads to Gideon by the Jordan.

§ 13810 ZEBAH AND ZALMUNNA

8 The men of Ephraim confronted Gideon, questioning, "Why didn't you invite us to combat Midian?" They expressed their grievances intensely.
[2] Gideon replied, "How does my achievement compare to yours? Aren't Ephraim's remnants superior to Abiezer's entire harvest?

[3] The Preeminent Sovereign surrendered Oreb and Zeeb to you. How can my achievements compare?" Their anger cooled.

[4] Weary but determined, Gideon and his 300 soldiers reached the Jordan and crossed it.
[5] He asked the men of Sukkoth for food, saying, "We're pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna, the Prime Rulers of Midian."
[6] The Sukkoth leaders questioned, "Have you captured Zebah and Zalmunna? Why should we help?"

7 Gideon retorted, “When the Sovereign Captain hands them to me, I’ll torment your flesh with desert thorns and briars.”

8 He made the same request in Peniel but received a similar response.
9 He warned Peniel’s people that he would demolish their tower upon his return.

10 Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor with 15,000 men, the sole survivors of the Eastern armies. The conflict had already claimed 120,000 soldiers.
11 Gideon launched a surprise attack on their secure army.
12 Zebah and Zalmunna fled, but Gideon captured them and threw their force into disarray.

13 Gideon returned from the confrontation via the Heres route.
14 He interrogated a young man from Sukkoth, who disclosed the names of all 77 Sukkoth elders and leaders.
15 Gideon approached Sukkoth’s people, saying, “Here are Zebah and Zalmunna. Remember how you ridiculed me?”

16 He seized the town’s elders and disciplined them with desert briers and thorns.
17 He demolished Peniel’s tower and ended the lives of its males.

18 He asked Zebah and Zalmunna about the men they killed at Tabor. They replied that they were like him, each with the posture of a governance offspring.
19 Gideon said, “They were my brothers. If you hadn’t killed them, I wouldn’t be taking your lives.”
20 He ordered his eldest son, Jether, to slay them, but Jether couldn’t due to fear.
21 Zebah and Zalmunna said, “Execute us yourself; a man’s power is in his actions.” Gideon then terminated them and confiscated their units’ insignia.

§ 13820 GIDEON’S SLEEVELESS GARMENT

22 The Israelites implored, “Gideon, govern us—you, your offspring, and your progeny—seeing as you’ve liberated us from Midian’s grip.”
23 Gideon declared that neither he nor his male heir would govern them, but the Sovereign Captain would be their Prime Ruler.
24 Gideon voiced a singular appeal, requesting each individual to grant him an ornament, specifically a golden earring, from their respective loot. This earring was in line with the typical practice of the Ishmaelites adorning themselves with golden earrings.
25 They responded, “We’re eager to contribute.” Therefore, a piece of cloth was spread out, and every individual tossed in an earring from his spoils.
26 The gold earrings he desired weighed up to 1700 shekels, excluding the ornamental pieces, the ear pendants, the purple attire worn by the Midianite Prime Rulers, and the sashes of their assault troops.

27 Gideon fashioned the gold into an exalted high mediators’ sleeveless garment and displayed it in his hometown of Ophrah. The Israelites abandoned their loyalty to the Preeminent Sovereign. They indulged in worshiping it, causing it to become a source of entrapment and an unworthy choice for Gideon and his household.

§ 13830 GIDEON'S DEATH

28 The Israelites subdued Midian, ensuring peace for forty years from Gideon's time.
29 Jerub-Baal, Joash's son, returned home.
30 Gideon fathered seventy sons with multiple wives.
31 His concubine in Shechem bore him a son, Abimelek.
32 Gideon lived to old age and was buried in his father Joash's grave in Ophrah, Abiezrite territory.
33 After Gideon's death, the Israelites turned to Baal-Berith, committing inner extramarital affairs.
34 They forgot their Sovereign Captain, who had protected them from adversaries.
35 Despite his good deeds, they did not remain loyal to Jerub-Baal's (Gideon's) family.

§ 13840 ABIMELEK

9 Abimelek, Jerub-Baal's son, went to Shechem to speak with his maternal uncles and his mother's entire family.
2 He asked them to ask Shechem's residents: "Is it better for all seventy sons of Jerub-Baal to govern you or just one? Remember, I am your relative."
3 His uncles conveyed this to Shechem's residents, who favored Abimelek, saying, "He is our relative."

4 They gave him seventy pieces of silver from Baal-Berith's temple, which he used to hire unruly men who became his loyal adherents.
5 He went to his father's house in Ophrah and killed his seventy brothers on one rock. However, Jerub-Baal's youngest son, Jotham, escaped by hiding.
6 The people of Shechem and Beth Millo gathered by the great tree at the pillar in Shechem to ensovereign Abimelek as their Prime Ruler.
7 When Jotham heard this, he climbed Mount Gerizim and shouted, pleading with Shechem's people to listen so the Eternal Reality would hear them.
8 "Once upon a time, the trees sought a ruler. They asked the olive tree to rule over them."
9 The olive tree replied, "Should I give up my oil, which honors both idolized deities and humans, to rule the trees?"
10 Then the trees asked the fig tree, "Will you rule over us?"
11 The fig tree replied, "Should I stop producing my sweet inner fruit to rule over the trees?"
12 The trees then asked the grapevine, "Would you reign over us?"
13 The vine replied, "Should I give up my wine, which delights both idolized deities and humans, to rule the trees?"
14 Finally, the trees asked the thorn bush, "You come and rule over us."
15 "If you really want me to be your Prime Ruler, take refuge in my shadow; if not, let fire arise from the bramble and devour the Lebanon cedars," the bramble retorted.
16 "Did you act with integrity in making Abimelek Prime Ruler? Have you treated Jerub-Baal and his family fairly?
17 Remember, my father fought for you, risking his life to save you from Midian.
18 Yet today, you have betrayed my father's family, killing his seventy sons on one stone and making Abimelek, his servant woman's son, ruler because he is your relative.

19 If you have acted with integrity towards Jerub-Baal and his family today, may you find happiness in Abimelek and he in you!
20 But if not, may fire come from Abimelek and consume Shechem and Beth Millo's residents, and may fire come from them and consume Abimelek!"
21 Fearing Abimelek, Jotham fled to Beer and lived there.
22 Abimelek ruled Israel for three years.
23 The Preeminent Sovereign caused discord between Abimelek and Shechem's residents, leading them to betray him.
24 This was done so that the transgression against Jerub-Baal's seventy sons could be avenged on Abimelek and Shechem's residents who helped him kill his brothers.
25 The residents of Shechem set ambushes on mountain tops to rob travelers, and Abimelek learned of this.

26 Gaal, Ebed's son, moved to Shechem with his family, gaining the town's trust.
27 They harvested their vineyards and celebrated in their idolized deity's shrine, denouncing Abimelek amid their feasting.
28 Gaal questioned, "Who is Abimelek, and why should we, the people of Shechem, salute him? Isn't he Jerub-Baal's son, and Zebul just his assistant? Serve Hamor's family, the patriarch of Shechem! Why serve Abimelek?"
29 "If I led these people, I'd expel Abimelek and challenge him to gather his army!"
30 Zebul, the city's leader, was furious at Gaal's words.
31 He secretly informed Abimelek that Gaal was inciting rebellion.
32 "You and your troops should move at night and ambush in the fields.
33 At sunrise, attack the city. When Gaal confronts you, seize the opportunity to strike."
34 Abimelek and his army moved at night, positioning near Shechem in four units.

35 As Gaal stood at the city gate, Abimelek's soldiers emerged from hiding.
36 Gaal said to Zebul, "Look! People are descending from the mountains!" Zebul replied, "You're mistaking shadows for people."
37 Gaal insisted, "Look, people are coming from the land's center and another group from the fortune-teller's oak."
38 Zebul retorted, "Where is your bravado now? Aren't these the people you scorned? Go and fight them!"
39 Gaal led Shechem's people into battle against Abimelek.
40 Abimelek pursued him to the city gate, causing many casualties.
41 Abimelek stayed in Arumah while Zebul expelled Gaal and his family from Shechem.
42 The next day, Abimelek learned that Shechem's people were in the fields.
43 He divided his men into three units for a surprise attack. Seeing the citizens leaving the city, he attacked them.
44 Abimelek and his divisions quickly moved to the city gate. The two divisions attacked those in the open field, defeating them.
45 Abimelek assaulted the city all day, eventually capturing it and killing its residents. He destroyed the town and spread salt over it.
46 The Shechem tower inhabitants sought refuge in the Preeminent Sovereign ElBerith's fortress.
47 Learning of their location, Abimelek reacted.
48 He and his troops ascended Mount Zalmon. He cut branches and instructed his soldiers to do the same.
49 They piled the branches against the fortress and set it ablaze, killing about a thousand men and women inside.
50 Abimelek then besieged Thebez and captured it.

51 The city's inhabitants took refuge in a strong tower, securing themselves on its rooftop.
52 Abimelek approached to attack it. As he neared the entrance to set it on fire, 53 a woman dropped a millstone on his head, fracturing his skull.
54 He urgently commanded his armor-bearer, "Kill me with a tactical blade to avoid the disgrace of being slain by a woman." The armor-bearer complied, ending his life.
55 Seeing Abimelek dead, everyone in Israel returned home.
56 The Preeminent Sovereign avenged Abimelek's murder of his 70 brothers.
57 The Preeminent Sovereign punished Shechem's people for their evil deeds, fulfilling Jotham's eternal wisdom.

§ 13850 TOLA

10 Following Abimelek's era, Tola of Issachar, son of Puah and grandson of Dodo, rose to deliver Israel. He resided in Shamir, in Ephraim's mountains. He governed Israel for twenty-three years and was buried in Shamir.

§ 13860 JAIR

3 Jair of Gilead succeeded him and ruled Israel for twenty-two years.
4 He fathered thirty sons who rode donkeys and governed thirty towns in Gilead, now called Havvoth Jair.
5 Jair passed away and was buried in Kamon.

§ 13870 JEPHTHAH

6 The Israelites repeatedly committed acts of wrongdoing in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, worshipping Baals, Ashtoreths, and idolized deities of Aram, Sidon, Moab, the Ammonites, and the Philistine Warriors. They abandoned the Sovereign Captain and ceased expressing joyful adoration for the Eternal Reality.
7 His fury ignited against them, and He handed them over to the control of the Philistine Warriors and the Ammonites.
8 That year, they caused great suffering and distress to the Israelites. For eighteen years, they tormented all Israelites residing East of the Jordan in Gilead, the territory of the Amorites.
9 The Ammonites advanced beyond the Jordan, battling against Judah, Benjamin, and Ephraim; Israel was severely tormented.
10 The Israelites implored the Sovereign Captain, admitting their transgressions against Him for turning their backs on their Preeminent Sovereign to worship Baal.
11 The Sovereign Captain responded, "Did I not rescue you from the Egyptians, Amorites, Ammonites, and Philistine Warriors?
12 The Sidonians, Amalekites, and Maonites oppressed you, and when you cried out to Me, I rescued you from their clutches.
13 Since you have abandoned Me to worship these idolized deities, I will no longer rescue you.
14 Seek help from the idolized deities you've chosen; let them rescue you in your distress."
15 The Israelites confessed their transgressions to the Sovereign Captain and pleaded for immediate redemption.

16 They discarded the outsider idolized deities and dedicated their joyful adoration to the Sovereign Captain, who could no longer endure Israel's affliction.
17 When the Ammonites mobilized for battle and set their base in Gilead, Israel gathered and established their camp at Mizpah.

18 The commanders of Gilead declared that whoever initiated the attack against the Ammonites would become the leader of all Gilead residents.

11 Jephthah from Gilead was a formidable soldier. His father was Gilead, but his mother was a woman who sold herself.
2 Gilead's wife also had sons who, upon maturity, banished Jephthah, declaring he would not inherit any share in their family because he was born of a different woman.
3 Jephthah fled to Tob, escaping his siblings. A group of vagabonds gathered around him, accompanying him on his journeys.
4 The Ammonites eventually initiated a conflict with Israel.
5 The elders of Gilead went to fetch Jephthah from Tob.
6 They proposed, "Join us as our general to help us battle the offspring of Ammon."
7 Jephthah replied, "Weren't you the ones who despised me and forced me out of my father's home? Why approach me now in your hardship?"
8 The elders of Gilead said, "Regardless, we return to your guidance now; lead us against the Ammonites, and you will be our leader."
9 Jephthah questioned, "Will I genuinely become your leader if I return to combat the Ammonites, and the Sovereign Captain grants them into my hands?"
10 The elders affirmed that Preeminent Sovereign is our testimony; we will follow your instructions.
11 Jephthah accompanied them back to Gilead, where he was elevated to leader and chief. He reiterated his declarations before the Sovereign Captain at Mizpah.
12 Jephthah sent envoys to the Prime Ruler of the Ammonites, asking why they had instigated conflict by invading his territory.
13 The Prime Ruler responded that they seized his territory from Arnon to Jabbok and up to the Jordan when the Israelites left Egypt. He requested its peaceful return.

14 Jephthah sent envoys again to assert that Israel had not seized Moabite or Ammonite territory.
15 He explained that Israel journeyed through the desert toward the Red Sea and reached Kadesh upon leaving Egypt.
16 However, after leaving Egypt, Israel crossed the desert to reach Kadesh by way of the Red Sea.
17 They asked Edom's ruler for passage but were denied. They also petitioned Moab's ruler but were refused again, so they remained in Kadesh.

18 They journeyed through the wilderness, bypassing Edom and Moab, and settled beyond Arnon without crossing into Moab's territory.
19 Israel sent emissaries to Sihon, the Amorite Prime Ruler of Heshbon, requesting safe passage to their homeland.
20 Sihon refused and assembled his forces at Jahaz to battle Israel.
21 The Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel, handed Sihon and his forces to Israel, leading to their defeat and Israel's control of the Amorite territory.
22 They seized the land from Jabbok and the wilderness to the Jordan and Arnon.
23 The Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, expelled the Amorites for His people. Do you trust you have the right to claim it?

24 Aren't you entitled to what your idolized deity, Chemosh, grants you? We claim what our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, gives us.
25 Are you superior to Balak, Zippor's son, and Moab's Prime Ruler? Did he ever dispute or fight Israel?
26 Israel lived in Heshbon, Aroer, and all cities along Arnon for three centuries. Why didn't you reclaim them then?
27 I have not transgressed against you, yet you initiate conflict. Let the Sovereign Captain judge today between the Israelites and the Ammonites.
28 The Ammonite Prime Ruler ignored Jephthah's message.

29 The celestial essence overcame Jephthah, leading him through Gilead and Manasseh to Mizpah of Gilead and then to the Ammonites' lands.
30-31 Jephthah vowed to the Sovereign Captain, "If You deliver the Ammonites into my hand, I will offer as a scorched absolving payment whatever greets me at my door upon my return."
32-33 Jephthah defeated the Ammonites, destroying twenty cities from Aroer to Minnith and Abel Keramim, bringing Ammon under Israel's control.
34 On returning to Mizpah, his only child, his daughter, greeted him with dance and tambourines. He had no other offspring.
35 Seeing her, he tore his garments and exclaimed, "Alas, my daughter! You have led to my downfall. I have promised the Sovereign Captain that I cannot retract."
36 She replied, "Father, fulfill your vow since the Sovereign Captain has delivered retribution against your adversaries."
37 She asked for two months to mourn her virginity with her friends in the mountains.
38 He permitted her to leave. For two months, she and her companions mourned in the mountains.
39 After sixty days, she returned to her father, who fulfilled his promise. She had never been intimate with a man. This incident established a custom in Israel.
40 Every year, Israel's young women dedicate four days to honor Jephthah's daughter.

§ 13880 JEPHTHAH AND EPHRAIM

12 Ephraim's troops mobilized to Zaphon, questioning Jephthah on why he fought the Ammonites without them and threatening to burn his house with him inside.
2 Jephthah responded, "We were in severe conflict with the Ammonites, and despite my calls, you didn't help us.

3 Seeing no aid from you, I risked myself, fought the Ammonites, and the Sovereign Captain granted me victory. So why are you here to fight me now?"
4 Jephthah then gathered the Gileadite men and defeated Ephraim, who had insulted them as outcasts from Ephraim and Manasseh.
5 The Gileadites seized the Jordan crossings to Ephraim. When an Ephraimite escapee asked to pass, they would ask, "Are you from Ephraim?" If he said, "No,"
6 they would say, "Say 'Shibboleth. '" If he said "Sibboleth," unable to pronounce it correctly, they executed him at the Jordan crossings. Forty-two thousand Ephraimites died during this time.
7 Jephthah led Israel for six years. Upon his death, he was buried in Gilead City, his homeland.

§ 13890 IBZAN, ELON AND ABDON

8-9 Ibzan from Bethlehem led Israel, fathering thirty sons and thirty daughters. He arranged marriages for his daughters outside his family and found thirty wives for his sons. His leadership lasted seven years.
10 Ibzan was buried in Bethlehem.

11-12 Elon from Zebulun succeeded him, governing Israel for ten years. He was buried in Aijalon, Zebulun.

13-14 Abdon, son of Hillel from Pirathon, then led Israel. Thirty grandchildren and forty sons who rode 70 young asses were his offspring. His rule lasted eight years.
15 Abdon was buried in Pirathon, Ephraim, in the Amalekite hill country.

§ 13900 THE BIRTH OF SAMSON

13 The Israelites once again committed offenses in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, leading to their subjugation by the Philistine Warriors for forty years.
2 Manoah, a man from Zorah of the Danite community, had a wife who was infertile and unable to bear children.
3 Despite her infertility, the Sovereign Captain's messenger informed her that she would conceive and bear a son.
4 "Avoid wine, intoxicating beverages, and impure food.
5 You will conceive a son whose hair must never be cut, for he will be purified to the Preeminent Sovereign as a Nazirite from birth. He will begin to free Israel from the Philistine Warriors."

6 The woman told her husband, "A Celestial Envoy visited me, appearing very fearsome. I didn't ask his origin, and he didn't reveal his name.
7 He said, 'You will conceive and bear a son. Avoid wine, intoxicating beverages, and impure food because the child will be purified to the Preeminent Sovereign as a Nazirite from birth until his death. '"

8 Manoah pleaded with the Sovereign Captain: "Please send the ensovereigned mediator again to instruct us on raising the child."
9 The Preeminent Sovereign answered Manoah's intervention. The Celestial Envoy revisited the woman while she was in the field, but Manoah was not present.
10 She quickly told her husband, "The man who appeared to me is back!"
11 Manoah followed his wife and asked the man, "Are you the one who spoke to my wife?"
"Affirmative," he replied.
12 Manoah asked, "When your proclamation becomes authentic, what guidelines should we follow for the boy's lifestyle and tasks?"

13 The Sovereign Captain's messenger replied, "Your wife must follow all my instructions.
14 She must avoid anything from the grapevine, wine, strong drink, and unhealthy food. She should adhere to all my instructions."

15 Manoah requested the Celestial Envoy to stay until they prepared a kid goat for him.

16 The Celestial Envoy replied, “Even if you hold me back, I will not partake of your provisions. However, if you prepare an absolving payment, dedicate it to the Sovereign Captain.” Manoah did not realize he was speaking with the Sovereign Captain’s Celestial Envoy.

17 Manoah asked the Celestial Envoy for his name so they could honor him when his proclamation proved authentic.
18 He replied, “Why inquire about my name? It’s too magnificent for comprehension.”
19 Manoah presented a young goat and a grain offering on a rock as an absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain. An extraordinary event occurred as Manoah and his wife watched.
20 The Celestial Envoy ascended towards the celestial realms in the pedestal table flame. Witnessing this, Manoah and his wife prostrated themselves on the ground.
21 Manoah realized it was the Sovereign Captain’s Celestial Envoy when he ceased to appear to them.

22 “We will surely perish,” he told his wife. “We have witnessed the Eternal Reality!”
23 His wife responded, “If the Sovereign Captain intended to eliminate us, he wouldn’t have accepted our scorched and grain absolving payments or disclosed these marvelous works and shared this information with us.”

24 The woman bore a son named Samson. the Sovereign Captain empowered him as he grew.
25 Between Zorah and Eshtaol in Mahaneh Dan, the Sovereign Captain’s power began to work in him.

§ 13910 SAMSON’S MARRIAGE

14 Samson traveled to Timnah and saw a young Philistine Warrior woman.
2 He told his parents he wanted her as his wife.
3 They questioned why he sought a bride from the uncircumcised Philistine Warriors instead of their own people. Samson insisted, “Secure her for me. She is the one I desire.”
4 Unknown to them, the Sovereign Captain orchestrated this to act against the Philistine Warriors, who ruled over Israel.

5 Samson and his parents went to Timnah. Near the vineyards, a young lion attacked him.
6 The Eternal Force surged through him, enabling him to tear the lion apart with his bare hands, but he did not tell his parents.
7 He spoke with the woman and found her appealing.

8 Later, he returned to marry her, seeing the lion’s carcass with bees and honey inside.
9 He ate the honey and shared it with his parents without revealing its source.
10 His father visited the woman while Samson prepared a banquet, as was customary.
11 Thirty companions joined him.

12-13 Samson proposed a riddle: “If you solve it within seven days, I’ll give you thirty linen robes. If not, you owe me thirty.” They agreed.
14 The riddle was, “Nourishment from the devourer, and the potent, a sweetness emerged.” They couldn’t solve it for three days.

15 On the fourth day, they threatened Samson’s wife to get the answer or face death.
16 She wept and accused Samson of not loving her because he hadn’t shared the riddle’s answer. He replied that he hadn’t even told his parents.

17 She cried for seven days until Samson finally disclosed the answer, which she told her people.
18 Before sunset on the last day, they answered, “What is sweeter than honey? What is stronger than a lion?” Samson replied, “Had you not interfered with my young cow, you wouldn’t have solved my riddle.”

19 The Eternal Spark of the Sovereign Captain empowered him to kill thirty men in Ashkelon, take their possessions, and give their clothes to those who solved the riddle. Furious, he returned home.
20 Samson’s bride was given to one of his companions.

§ 13920 SAMSON’S VENGEANCE ON THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS

15 Samson brought a young goat to visit his wife during the wheat harvest, but her father refused entry.
2 Her father explained, “I thought you despised her, so I gave her to your companion. Isn’t her younger sister more attractive? Take her instead.”

3 Samson declared, “This time, I am justified in retaliating against the Philistine Warriors; I will inflict severe damage on them.”
4 He caught three hundred foxes and tied their tails together. After that, he tied a torch to each pair of foxes.
5 He burned the standing and collected harvests, the vineyards, and the olive groves by setting the torches on fire and letting the foxes go loose into the grain fields of the Philistine Warriors.
6 When the Philistine Warriors learned that Samson had done this because his wife was given to his friend, they burned her and her father to death.
7 Samson vowed, “Because of what you’ve done, I won’t stop until I get my revenge.”
8 He struck them down ruthlessly, causing a massive defeat, then retreated to a cave in the Rock of Etam.
9 The Philistine Warriors camped in Judah near Lehi.
10 The people of Judah asked, “Why have you come to fight us?” They replied, “We are here to capture Samson and repay him for what he did to us.”
11 Three thousand men from Judah went to the cave at Etam and confronted Samson. “Don’t you know the Philistine Warriors rule over us? What have you done?” Samson replied, “I only did to them what they did to me.”
12 They said, “We’ve come to tie you up and hand you to the Philistine Warriors.” Samson agreed, “Swear you won’t kill me yourselves.”
13 They promised not to kill him but only to bind him and hand him over. They tied him with two new ropes and led him from the rock.
14 As he approached Lehi, the Philistine Warriors came shouting towards him. the Sovereign Captain’s Eternal Spark burst within him, causing the shackles to fall from his hands and the cords on his arms to turn into scorched flax.
15 Finding a fresh donkey’s jawbone, he used it to kill a thousand men.
16 Samson declared, “With a donkey’s jawbone, I’ve made donkeys of them. With a donkey’s jawbone, I’ve killed a thousand men.”

17 After speaking, he tossed away the jawbone, and the location was named Ramath Lehi.
18 “You have given me this great victory,” he screamed to the Sovereign Captain, panting for water. Must I now perish from thirst and end up in the hands of uncircumcised people?”

19 The Preeminent Sovereign opened up a hollow place in Lehi, and water came out. After drinking, Samson’s strength returned, and he revived. The spring was called En Hakkore and is still in Lehi today.
20 Samson led Israel for twenty years during the Philistine Warrior rule.

§ 13930 SAMSON AND DELILAH

16 Samson visited Gaza and stayed with a harlot.
2 The Gazans learned of his presence and set an ambush at the city gate, planning to kill him at dawn.
3 At midnight, Samson rose, tore out the city gate doors with their posts, and carried them to a hill near Hebron.
4 Later, he fell in love with Delilah in the Sorek Valley.
5 The Philistine Warrior chiefs bribed her to discover the secret of his strength.
6 Delilah asked Samson about his strength and how he could be bound.
7 He said, “If bound with seven fresh bowstrings, I’d be weak.”
8-9 She bound him with the bowstrings, but he broke them easily.
10 Delilah accused him of lying and asked again.
11 He said, “If bound with new ropes, I’d be weak.”

12 So Delilah grabbed fresh ropes, bound him with them, and yelled, “The Philistine Warriors are here, Samson!” However, he snapped the restraints off his arms like threads while the men were concealed in her chamber.
13 Then Delilah addressed Samson, saying, "You have always lied to me and made fun of me! Explain to me how you can be restrained. “I will become as weak as any other man if you weave seven locks of my hair into the web of a loom and bind it with a pin,” he informed her.
14 Delilah took his hair in seven braids and wove them into the web while he slept. Then she screamed out to him, “Samson, the Philistine Warriors are here!” and pinned it tight. However, he woke up and used the loom and web to pull out the pin.
15 “When your inner determination is not with me, how can you say, ‘I love you,’ ” she inquired. For the third time, you have made fun of me without telling me where your immense strength comes from!
16 Ultimately following her daily verbal pressure and persistent pleas until he was exhausted.
17 She pressed him daily until he disclosed his secret: “I’m a Nazirite; if my hair is cut, I’ll be weak.”
18 Delilah informed the Philistine Warriors, who returned with silver.
19 She had his hair cut while he slept, and his strength left him.
20-21 The Philistine Warriors captured him, blinded him, and imprisoned him in Gaza.
22 Eventually, his hair began to grow back.

§ 13940 THE DEATH OF SAMSON

23 The Philistine Warrior leaders gathered to pay tribute to their idolized deity, Dagon, celebrating their victory over Samson.
24 Seeing him, the crowd praised Dagon, saying, “Dagon has delivered our enemy who devastated our land and increased our casualties.”

25 In their revelry, they called for Samson to entertain them. He was brought from prison and performed for them, positioned between the pillars.
26 Samson asked his attendant, “Place me where I can touch the columns supporting the temple so I can lean on them.”
27 The fortress was filled with men and women, including all Philistine Warrior leaders and about three thousand people watched from the roof.
28 Samson merged his consciousness with the Eternal Reality, the Eternal Reality, “Remember me. Please, Preeminent Sovereign, empower me one last time to avenge my lost sight with one act.”
29 He then braced himself between the two central pillars, pushing with all his might.
30 Samson declared, “Let me die with the Philistine Warriors!” With his strength, he brought down the temple on the leaders and the crowd, killing more enemies in his death than in his life.
31 After his body was recovered, his family interred him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the tomb of his father, Manoah. He led Israel for twenty years.

§ 13950 MICAH’S IDOLIZED DEITIES

17 Micah lived in the mountainous region of Ephraim.
2 He confessed to his mother about the 12,540 grams of silver he had stolen, which she had cursed. “It’s with me; I took it,” he admitted. His mother replied, “May the Sovereign Captain empower you, my child!”
3 When he returned the silver, she dedicated it to the Sovereign Captain for her son to create a silver-plated idolized deity.
4 She gave two hundred pieces to a metalworker, who made an idolized deity, which was placed in Micah’s home.
5 Micah owned a fortress, crafted a sleeveless garment and domestic idolized deities, and appointed one of his sons as his clergyman.
6 At that time, Israel had no Prime Ruler; everyone did as they saw fit.

7 A young Levite from Bethlehem of Judah, living as a foreigner in Judah, 8 left the city seeking a new place to live. He arrived at Micah’s home in Ephraim.
9 Micah asked, “Where are you from?” The Levite replied, “I am from Bethlehem of Judah, looking for a place to stay.”
10 Micah offered him an inner advisor and mediator position, promising ten pieces of silver annually, clothing, and sustenance.
11 The Levite agreed and became like one of Micah’s sons.
12 Micah appointed him as his mediator, and he lived in Micah’s home.
13 Micah said, “Now I am sure the Sovereign Captain will treat me well since the Levite is my ensovereigned mediator.”

§ 13960 THE DANITES SETTLE IN LAISH

18 During that period, Israel had no ruler. The Danite community sought a territory to claim, as they hadn't yet acquired their land among the Israeli communities.
2 The community of Dan dispatched five notable individuals from Zorah and Eshtaol to survey the territory. These individuals represented the entire Danite population. They were instructed to examine the land and ventured into the hilly region of Ephraim, arriving at Micah's residence, where they lodged for the night.

3 On nearing Micah's residence, they recognized the voice of the youthful Levite and asked, "Who brought you here? What is your purpose in this location?"
4 He explained, "Micah employed me, and now I serve as his mediator."
5 They asked him to seek guidance from the Preeminent Sovereign to determine if their expedition would be fruitful.
6 The ensovereigned mediators responded, "the Sovereign Captain endorses your trip."

7 The quintet arrived at Laish, witnessing a secure populace living like the Sidonians, undisturbed and affluent. They were far from the Sidonians and had no affiliations with any other group.
8 On their return to Zorah and Eshtaol, their Danite people inquired, "What information did you gather?"
9 They responded, "Let's go against them! The land is incredibly fruitful. Are you not going to act? Move forward and seize it."
10 "On your arrival, you'll find a carefree populace and a vast territory that the Preeminent Sovereign has graciously granted you."

11 Six hundred warriors of the Danite people, geared for warfare, embarked from Zorah and Eshtaol.
12 They established a temporary dwelling near Kiriath Jearim in Judah while journeying. Consequently, the location situated West of Kiriath Jearim is called Mahaneh Dan today.
13 They proceeded to the mountainous region of Ephraim and arrived at Micah's residence.
14 The five individuals who explored Laish informed their Danite comrades, "In one of these dwellings, there is an operational vest, specific domestic idolized deities, and a silver-covered effigy. Recognize the appropriate course of action."

15 They redirected their path, arrived at the young Levite's abode in Micah's compound, and greeted him.
16 The battalion of six hundred Danite warriors, equipped for combat, held their position at the gateway's threshold.
17 The quintet entered the house, confiscating the idolized deity, the sleeveless garment, and the domestic idolized deities. Meanwhile, the ensovereigned mediator and the six hundred men with warfare weapons were stationed at the gateway's entrance.

18 When the group of five entered Micah's home and seized the idolized deity, the sleeveless garment, and the domestic idolized deities, the clergyman questioned their actions, asking, "What are you engaged in?"
19 They responded, "Maintain silence! Utter, no words. Accompany us and act as our inner guide and mediator. Wouldn't you prefer overseeing a community and family in Israel as an ensovereigned mediator instead of serving merely an individual's house?"

20 The ensovereigned mediators were content, acquiring the exalted vest, personal idolized deities, and the carved image before joining the crowd.

21 They initiated their departure, positioning their offspring, cattle, and belongings ahead and proceeding.
22 After they had traveled a reasonable distance from Micah's home, nearby individuals managed to catch up with the people of Dan.
23 When they hollered to those in pursuit, the Danites turned around and questioned Micah, "What's your issue that you've rallied your soldiers for combat?"
24 He responded, "You have taken my handcrafted idolized deities and my clergyman and left. What do I possess now? How can you question, 'What's wrong with you?'"

25 The Danites responded, "Refrain from contesting us; any of the men could become irate and assault you, causing you and your relative to forfeit your lives."
26 The Danites continued their journey. Knowing he was no match for their strength, Micah reversed his course and retreated to his domicile.

27 They appropriated what Micah had crafted, including his priest, and advanced towards Laish, a community living in tranquility and safety. They assailed them using their tactical blades and set the city ablaze.
28 No one came to their aid. Since they resided far from Sidon and lacked associations with others, the city found itself in a valley close to Beth Rehob. The Danites reconstructed the town and made it their habitation.
29 They named the city Dan, honoring their forefather Dan, born in Israel, even though it was formerly known as Laish.

30 The Danite community established the idolized deity, with Jonathan, Gershom's male heir, Moses' descendant, and his offspring serving as clergymen for the Danite community until the land became bondage.
31 Micah's crafted idolized deity remained used throughout the Eternal Reality's dwelling in Shiloh.

§ 13970 A LEVITE AND HIS CONCUBINE

19 During a time when Israel lacked a Prime Ruler, a Levite from Ephraim's hill country took a woman from Bethlehem of Judah as his concubine.
2 She displayed disloyalty and returned to her family in Bethlehem, Judah, staying there for about four months.
3 The Levite went to persuade her to return, bringing his servant and donkeys. She welcomed him into her father's house, and her father was delighted to meet him.
4 Her father persuaded him to stay, and he remained for three days, enjoying food, drink, and rest.

5 On the fourth day, they rose early to leave, but her father urged him to eat before departing.

6 They ate and drank together. Afterward, her father suggested, "Stay another night and enjoy yourself."
7 Though the Levite intended to leave, he stayed another night due to her father's insistence.

[8] On the fifth day, as they prepared to leave early, her father advised, “Refresh yourself and wait until evening.” They shared another meal.
[9] As the Levite prepared to depart with his concubine and servant, her father said, “It’s almost evening. Stay the night and enjoy yourself. You can leave early tomorrow.”
[10] The Levite decided not to stay another night and set out for Jebus (Yerushalayim) with his concubine and two saddled donkeys.

[11] As they neared Jebus at dusk, the servant suggested stopping there for the night.
[12] The Levite replied, “We won’t stay in a non-Israelite town. We’ll go to Gibeah.”
[13] He suggested they aim for Gibeah or Ramah.
[14] They continued until sunset near Gibeah in Benjamin.
[15] They stopped to lodge in the town square but found no one to take them in for the night.

[16] At dusk, an older man from Ephraim’s highlands, living in Gibeah among the Benjamites, returned from his work in the fields.
[17] Seeing the travelers in the square, he asked, “Where are you going? Where have you come from?”
[18] The Levite replied, “We’re traveling from Bethlehem in Judah to my home in Ephraim. I’ve been to Bethlehem and now go to the Sovereign Captain’s fortress. No one has taken us in for the night.”

[19] For our donkeys, we have straw and food; my concubine, myself, and my servant have bread and wine. Nothing is lacking for us.
[20] The old man said, “You’re welcome at my house. I’ll provide for all your needs; don’t stay in the square.”
[21] He took them home, fed their donkeys, and they washed their feet and ate and drank together.

[22] While enjoying themselves, some impure men of the town surrounded the house. They pounded on the door and demanded the older man send out his guest so they could abuse him.
[23] The homeowner pleaded, “No, my friends, don’t do this vile thing. This man is my guest; don’t commit this outrage.
[24] Here is my virgin daughter and his concubine. I’ll bring them to you now; you can use them as you wish. But don’t do such a disgraceful thing to this man.”

[25] The men ignored him. So the Levite seized his concubine and pushed her outside. They raped and abused her all night until morning. At dawn, they let her go.
[26] She returned to the house where her overseer stayed and collapsed at the door until daylight.
[27] When her overseer got up in the morning and opened the door to leave, he found her lying at the entrance with her hands on the threshold.
[28] He told her to get up so they could leave, but she didn’t respond. He put her on his donkey and set out for home.

[29] When he reached home, he took a knife and cut his concubine into twelve pieces, sending them throughout Israel.

[30] everyone who saw it said, “Such a thing has never been seen or done since Israel came out of Egypt. Think about it! Consider it! Speak up!”

§ 13980 THE ISRAELITES PUNISH THE BENJAMITES

20 From Dan to Beersheba and Gilead, the Israelites gathered at Mizpah as one before the Sovereign Captain.
2 Leaders of Israel's communities, part of the Preeminent Sovereign's ensovereigned lifestyle community, formed a force of four hundred thousand tactical blade-wielding soldiers.
3 The Benjamites learned of the assembly at Mizpah. The Israelites asked how this horrendous event occurred.
4 The Levite, husband of the murdered woman, explained their stay in Gibeah of Benjamin.
5 The men of Gibeah attacked, intending to kill him, and violated his secondary wife, leading to her death.
6 He dismembered her and sent parts to each area of Israel due to the unworthy choices and disgraceful deeds committed.
7 "Israelites, express your judgment and advise on action."
8 Unified, they declared none would return home.
9 "We will confront Gibeah by drawing names."
10 From every community, ten from a hundred, a hundred from a thousand, and a thousand from ten thousand will gather supplies for the military. On arrival in Gibeah, they will punish the horrendous deed.
11 All Israel assembled against the city.
12 Emissaries queried Benjamin's community, "How could such a heinous act occur?"
13 "Hand over the vile individuals of Gibeah for execution to cleanse Israel." The Benjaminites ignored the pleas.

14 They assembled at Gibeah to wage war against Israel.
15 The Benjamites gathered 26,000 soldiers with tactical blades and 700 competent young men from Gibeah.
16 Among them were seven hundred left-handed individuals capable of striking a hair precisely.
17 Excluding Benjamin, Israel assembled four hundred thousand proficient soldiers.
18 The Israelites sought guidance from the Preeminent Sovereign at Bethel, asking who should lead the attack. The Preeminent Sovereign answered Judah should initiate.
19 The Israelites encamped near Gibeah the next morning.
20 They engaged Benjamin in combat, arranging themselves in formation.
21 Benjamin's descendants defeated twenty-two thousand Israelites that day.
22 The Israelites rallied and retook battle stances.
23 They sought counsel from the Eternal until sundown, asking if they should fight their relatives again. The Eternal responded, "Proceed to battle."
24 On the second day, the Israelites advanced against Benjamin.
25 Benjamin emerged and eliminated another eighteen thousand Israelites.
26 All Israel journeyed to Bethel, overwhelmed with sorrow, shedding tears before the Sovereign Captain. They abstained from meals until dusk and offered the Sovereign Captain whole scorched absolving payments and expressions of peace.

27 With the Strongbox of the Preeminent Sovereign's solemn agreement present, the Israelites sought guidance from the Sovereign Captain.

28 Phinehas, a descendant of Eleazar and Aaron, served before the Strongbox. They asked, "Shall we attack our chosen people, the Benjamites, again or cease?" the Sovereign Captain replied, "Proceed, for I will grant you victory tomorrow."

29 Israel then positioned men stealthily around Gibeah.
30 On the third day, they confronted the Benjamites, replicating previous strategies.
31 The Benjamites advanced, lured away from their city. As before, they wounded and killed some Israelites, resulting in about thirty casualties in the open fields and on the pathways to Bethel and Gibeah.
32 The Benjamites claimed, “We are defeating them as before,” while the Israelites planned, “Let’s withdraw and coax them towards the highways.”
33 Each Israeli relocated to Baal Tamar. Meanwhile, Israeli forces lying in wait emerged from their concealment West of Gibeah.
34 Ten thousand capable young soldiers from Israel launched a head-on assault on Gibeah. The battle’s intensity left the Benjamites unaware of their impending doom.
35 The Sovereign Captain assisted Israel in overcoming Benjamin, annihilating 25,100 Benjaminites, all trained tactical blades men.
36 The Benjamites recognized their defeat. The Israelites had retreated intentionally, trusting in their surprise attack near Gibeah.
37 Suddenly, the ambush men charged Gibeah, putting the entire population to the tactical blade.
38 The Israelites had planned with the men in hiding to release a substantial smoke column from the town.
39 Then, the Israelites would counterattack. The Benjamites had caused significant harm to the Israelites, with around thirty casualties, declaring, “As with the initial conflict, we are overpowering them.”
40 However, when the signal cloud ascended from the city, they saw it engulfed in flames.

41 The Israelites then mounted a counteroffensive, and fear engulfed the Benjamites as they realized calamity had struck.
42 The Israelites, emerging from their cities, confronted them as they retreated towards the wastelands.
43 The Benjamites were encompassed, pursued, and overpowered near Gibeah’s eastern side.
44 Eighteen thousand Benjamites perished, all gallant warriors.
45 Israelites pursued them towards Rimmon Rock and slaughtered five thousand men on the highways. The relentless chase continued to Gidom, where another two thousand fell.
46 That day saw twenty-five thousand courageous Benjamite warriors lost.
47 However, six hundred escaped to Rimmon Rock and took refuge for four months.
48 The Israeli soldiers returned to Benjamin’s territory, slaughtering every town, livestock, and anything else they encountered. The fire consumed every city.

§ 13990 WIVES FOR THE BENJAMITES

21 In Mizpah, the Israelite men vowed that none of them would permit their daughters to wed Benjamite men.
2 The community went to Bethel, mourning loudly before the Preeminent Sovereign until dusk.
3 They asked, “Sovereign of Israel, why has a community vanished from Israel today?”
4 They built a pedestal table the next morning and offered absolving and communal absolving payments.
5 The Israelites asked which communities had not gathered before the Sovereign Captain at Mizpah, vowing to execute anyone who didn’t come.

6 They mourned for Benjamin, saying, “A community has been eliminated from Israel today.”

7 “How can we find wives for the remaining men, given our oath not to let our daughters marry them?”
8 They discovered that no one from Jabesh Gilead had attended the assembly.
9 A census confirmed no one from Jabesh Gilead was present.
10 They sent twelve thousand warriors to Jabesh Gilead to kill all residents, including women and children.
11 They were instructed to kill every man and any woman who wasn’t a virgin.
12 They found four hundred virgin women in Jabesh Gilead and brought them to Shiloh in Canaan.
13 The ensovereigned lifestyle community offered peace to the Benjamites at Rimmon Rock.
14 The Benjamites returned and received the Jabesh Gilead women, but there weren’t enough for all.
15 The Sovereign Captain instigated a breach among the communities as the people mourned for Benjamin.
16 The leaders asked, “How can we secure wives for the remaining men?”
17 Benjamin’s survivors needed to produce descendants to prevent their extinction.
18 “We can’t give our daughters as wives because of our oath: ‘May anyone who offers a wife to a Benjamite be accursed. ’”
19 “Observe a festival dedicated to the Sovereign Captain at Shiloh, North of Bethel, East of the route linking Bethel to Shechem, and South of Lebonah.”
20 They advised the Benjamites to hide in the vineyards.
21 “When the maidens of Shiloh come out to dance, each of you seize one as your wife and return to Benjamin.”

22 “If their fathers or people object, we’ll say, ‘Be generous; we couldn’t secure wives for them during the war. You haven’t violated your oath since your daughters weren’t willingly given. ’”
23 The Benjamites did this, seizing wives during the dance. They returned to their lands, rebuilt cities, and settled there.
24 The Israelites then returned to their communal and familial groups.
25 During that era, there was no Prime Ruler in Israel; everyone acted according to their judgment.

~ 108 | Friend | Ruth

§ 14000 NAOMI LOSES HER HUSBAND AND HEIRS

1 During the era of the judges, a famine struck the land. A man from Bethlehem in Judah named Elimelek moved to Moab with his wife Naomi and their two sons, Mahlon and Kilion.
2 They settled in Moab as Ephrathites from Bethlehem.
3 Elimelek passed away, leaving Naomi with their two sons.
4 The sons married Moabite women, Orpah and Ruth, and lived there for about ten years.
5 Eventually, Mahlon and Kilion also died, leaving Naomi without her husband and sons.

§ 14010 NAOMI AND RUTH RETURN TO BETHLEHEM

6 Upon hearing that the Sovereign Captain had generously provided for His people, Naomi and her daughters-in-law prepared to return to their homeland.

7 They set out from Moab, returning to Judah.
8 Naomi urged her daughters-in-law, “Return to your maternal homes. May the Preeminent Sovereign show you favor as you have shown to your deceased husbands and me.
9 May the Eternal Reality grant you peace in new marriages.” She kissed them goodbye, and they wept.

10 They insisted, “We will go with you to your people.”
11 Naomi replied, “Why come with me? I have no more sons to offer as husbands. Return home, my daughters.
12 I am too old for another husband. Even if I had one tonight and bore sons, 13 would you wait for them to grow up? No, my daughters. This situation is harder for me than you because the Preeminent Sovereign’s hand has turned against me!”

14 They wept again. Orpah kissed her mother-in-law goodbye, but Ruth clung to her.
15 Naomi said, “Your sister-in-law is going back to her people and idolized deities. Go with her.”
16 Ruth replied, “Don’t urge me to leave you. Where you go, I’ll go; where you stay, I’ll stay. Your people will be my people, and your Eternal Reality, my Eternal Reality.
17 Where you die, I’ll die and be buried. the Sovereign Captain may deal with me severely if anything, but death separates us.”

18 Seeing Ruth’s determination, Naomi stopped urging her.
19 They continued to Bethlehem, causing a stir in the town. The woman asked, “Is this Naomi?”

20 She replied, “Don’t call me Naomi; call me Mara because the Eternal Reality has made my life bitter.
21 I left full but returned empty because of the Sovereign Captain. Why call me Naomi when the Sovereign Captain has afflicted me, and the Eternal Reality has brought misfortune upon me?”

22 Naomi returned from Moab with Ruth the Moabite, arriving in Bethlehem at the start of the barley harvest.

§ 14020 RUTH MEETS BOAZ IN THE GRAIN FIELD

2 Naomi's late husband, Elimelek, had a wealthy relative named Boaz.
2 Ruth, from Moab, asked Naomi, "May I go to the fields and gather leftover grain from anyone who shows me kindness?" Naomi replied, "Go ahead, my child."
3 Ruth went to a field and gathered behind the harvesters. She ended up in a field belonging to Boaz, a relative of Elimelek.
4 Boaz arrived from Bethlehem and greeted the harvesters, "May the Sovereign Captain be with you!" They replied, "May the Sovereign Captain bless you!"
5 Boaz asked his overseer, "Who is this young woman?"
6 The overseer explained she was the Moabite who returned with Naomi.
7 "She asked to gather grain behind the reapers and has been working steadily since morning, with only a short rest."

8 Boaz told Ruth, "Listen, my child. Don't go to another field. Stay here with my female workers.
9 Watch the field where the men harvest and follow the women. I've instructed the men not to touch you. When you're thirsty, drink from the jars they've filled."

10 Ruth bowed and asked, "Why have I found such favor in your eyes, though I'm a foreigner?"
11 Boaz replied, "I know what you've done for your mother-in-law since your husband's death and how you left your homeland to live among strangers.
12 May the Eternal Reality the ultimate provider, grant you your due as you place your trust in the security of His care, like seeking shelter under a sturdy canopy in a storm.

13 Ruth said, "May I continue to find favor in your eyes, my overseer. You have comforted me and spoken kindly to your servant, though I don't have the status of one of your servants."
14 Boaz invited Ruth to eat with them at mealtime. He offered her bread and sour wine. She ate all she wanted and saved some leftovers.
15 When she got up to glean, Boaz instructed his men to let her gather among the sheaves without reprimand.
16 "Pull some stalks from the bundles and leave them for her to gather without rebuke."

17 Ruth gleaned in the field until evening and threshed about 22.5 liters of barley.
18 She took it back to town and showed her mother-in-law what she had gathered. She also gave her the leftover food from her meal.
19 Naomi asked, "Where did you glean today? Where did you work? Fortunate be the man who took notice of you!" Ruth told her about Boaz.
20 "May the Eternal Reality bless him!" Naomi exclaimed. "He has not stopped showing kindness to the living and the dead." She added, "That man is our close relative; he is one of our rescuers."

21 Moreover, Boaz instructed Ruth to accompany his laborers until they had finished gathering his grain.

22 Naomi advised Ruth to stay with Boaz's female workers for her safety.
23 Ruth stayed with Boaz's female workers through the barley and wheat harvests while living with her mother-in-law.

§ 14030 RUTH AND BOAZ AT THE THRESHING FLOOR

3 Naomi, Ruth's mother-in-law, expressed her duty to secure a home for Ruth, ensuring her well-being.
2 "Our relative Boaz, whom you've assisted, will be at the threshing floor tonight.
3 Refresh yourself, apply fragrance, and wear your finest attire. Go to the grain floor, but don't reveal yourself until Boaz has finished eating and drinking.
4 When he lies down, note where he rests. Then, uncover his feet and lie down. He will tell you what to do."
5 Ruth replied, "I'll do everything you instruct."
6 She went to the granary and followed all her mother-in-law's directives.
7 After Boaz ate, drank, and felt cheerful, he lay down at the end of the grain pile. Ruth then uncovered his feet and lay down.
8 In the middle of the night, Boaz was startled and found a woman lying at his feet!
9 He asked who she was, and she replied, "I'm your servant, Ruth. Spread your cloak over me, as you are our family's redeemer."
10 "May the Sovereign Captain reward you, my dear. You have shown greater devotion now than before by not pursuing younger men.
11 Don't worry; I will fulfill your request. everyone in our community knows your authentic nature.
12 I am a near relation with a duty to look after you, but another is closer in kinship.

13 Stay here tonight, and in the morning, if he wishes to fulfill his duty as guardian redeemer, let him. If not, I solemnly affirm by the living Sovereign Captain that I will take responsibility. Stay till morning."
14 She lay at his feet until morning but got up before she could be recognized; he said it shouldn't be known that a woman visited the grain storage.
15 He instructed her to bring her cloak and filled it with six measures of barley. Then he returned to the city.
16 When Ruth returned, Naomi asked about her well-being. Ruth recounted all that happened with Boaz.
17 She also mentioned that he gave her six portions of barley, insisting she mustn't return empty-handed.
18 Naomi advised her to be patient until they see how things unfold, as Boaz would not rest until the matter was resolved that day.

§ 14040 BOAZ MARRIES RUTH

4 Boaz went to the city gate and sat down. When the close relative he had mentioned passed by, Boaz called him over, "My friend, come sit with me." The man complied.
2 Boaz then gathered ten town elders and asked them to sit as well.
3 He informed the family protector that Naomi, returning from Moab, was selling Elimelek's land.
4 "I wanted to inform you and propose you buy it in the presence of these elders. If you wish to redeem it, do so. If not, let me know, as I am next in line." The man agreed, "I'll redeem it."

5 Boaz added that buying the land meant acquiring Ruth the Moabite, the deceased's widow, to maintain the dead man's name on his property.
6 The kinsman-redeemer declined, "I cannot redeem it without risking my inheritance. You should redeem it instead."
7 In Israel, removing one's sandal and giving it to another formalized transactions.

8 The family protector suggested Boaz buy the land himself, and Boaz removed his sandal.
9 Boaz declared to the elders and people, "You are witnesses today that I have acquired all of Elimelek, Kilion, and Mahlon's assets from Naomi.
10 I have also taken Ruth the Moabite as my wife to preserve the deceased's name on his property. You are witnesses today!"
11 The elders and community affirmed, "We are witnesses. May the Eternal Reality make the woman entering your home like Rachel and Leah, who built Israel's family. May you prosper in Ephrathah and be renowned in Bethlehem.
12 May your descendants through this young woman make your family like Perez's, born to Tamar and Judah."

§ 14050 NAOMI GAINS A HEIR

13 Boaz married Ruth, and she became his spouse. the Sovereign Captain favored her with conception during their intimate union, and she bore a male heir.
14 The woman told Naomi, "Fortunate is the Sovereign Captain, who ensured you are not without a family protector today. May his reputation spread across Israel!"
15 "This child will rejuvenate your life and support your adoring daughter-in-law in your twilight years. He holds a higher place in your inner-self than seven sons and has brought him into the world."
16 Naomi held the child close, providing for his needs.
17 The resident females proclaimed that Naomi had given birth to a boy! They named him Obed. He went on to become the progenitor of Jesse, who was David's ancestor.

§ 14060 THE GENEALOGY OF DAVID

18 Perez fathered Hezron.

19 Hezron fathered Ram, who fathered Amminadab.
20 Amminadab fathered Nahshon, and Nahshon fathered Salmon.
21 Salmon fathered Boaz, who fathered Obed.
22 Obed fathered Jesse, and Jesse fathered David.

~ 109 | 1 Shmu’el | 1 Samuel

§ 14070 THE BIRTH OF SAMUEL

1 Elkanah, a Zuphite from Ephraim’s hill country, descended from Jeroham, Elihu, Tohu, and Zuph, all of the community of Ephraim.
2 He had two wives, Hannah and Peninnah. Peninnah had children, but Hannah was childless.
3 Each year, Elkanah traveled to Shiloh to honor and make absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, where Eli’s sons, Hophni and Phinehas, served as ensovereigned mediators.
4 During these offerings, Elkanah gave portions of the absolving meat to Peninnah and her children.
5 He gave Hannah a double portion out of love despite her childlessness.
6 Hannah’s adversary constantly provoked her because the Sovereign Captain had closed her womb.
7 Every year at the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, her adversary’s taunts reduced her to tears, and she refused to eat.
8 Elkanah would ask, “Hannah, why are you crying? Why aren’t you eating? Why are you so downhearted? Am I not worth more to you than ten sons?”

9 After their meal in Shiloh, Hannah rose. Eli, the ensovereigned mediator, was seated by the entrance of the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.
10 In deep anguish, Hannah wept bitterly as she melded her consciousness with the Eternal Reality.
11 She vowed, “Captain, Commander Chief of Celestial Forces, if you look upon my misery and remember me, granting me a son, I will dedicate him to you for his entire life, and no blade will touch his hair.”
12-13 As she melded her consciousness with the Eternal Reality silently, Eli observed her lips moving but heard no sound and thought she was drunk.
14 Eli said, “How long will you stay drunk? Put away your wine.”
15 “I am genuinely troubled; I have not been sipping wine or beer,” Hannah retorted. I was sharing everything I had with the Sovereign Captain.
16 “Do not take me for an impure woman; I have been melding my consciousness with the Eternal Reality out of great anguish and grief.”
17 Eli answered, “Go in peace, and may the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel grant your request.”
18 She said, “May your servant find favor in your eyes.” Then she went away, ate something, and her face was no longer downcast.
19 Early the next morning, they expressed joyous adoration to the Sovereign Captain and returned home to Ramah. Elkanah lay with his wife Hannah, and the Sovereign Captain remembered her.
20 In due time, Hannah conceived and gave birth to a son. She named him Samuel, saying,
“Because I asked the Sovereign Captain for him.”

§ 14080 HANNAH DEDICATES SAMUEL

21 Hannah stayed behind when Elkanah and his household journeyed to offer the Sovereign
Captain the yearly absolving payment and honor his pledge.

22 She told her spouse, “Once the child finishes nursing, I will bring him to appear before the Sovereign Captain, and he will dwell there indefinitely.”

23 “Follow your judgment,” Elkanah advised. “Stay until the child is weaned; may the Preeminent Sovereign affirm his promise.” So, she remained at home, nurturing her son until he no longer needed to nurse.

24 After weaning, she took the boy, a triennial bull, 22.5 liters of flour, and a flask of wine to the exalted household of the Sovereign Captain in Shiloh.
25 After the bull was slaughtered, the child was taken to Eli.

26 “Excuse me, sir,” she said. “As long as you breathe, I am the woman who petitioned the Sovereign Captain beside you.
27 I implored the Sovereign Captain for this child, and my request was granted.
28 I now pledge him to the Sovereign Captain, dedicating his entire life to His service.” There, he paid his respects to the Sovereign Captain.

§ 14090 HANNAH’S MELDING OF HER CONSCIENCE

2 Hannah said, “My inner-self rejoices in the Sovereign Captain in whom my authority is exalted” at that moment. I delight in Your redemption, and I speak freely against my foes.
2 No one is as exalted as the Sovereign Captain. Yes, you alone are the only one! Furthermore, no rock compares to our the Preeminent Sovereign.
3 Avoid boasting and letting conceit flow from your mouth because the Sovereign Captain is a knowing the Preeminent Sovereign who judges deeds.
4 The weak have strength, but the strong have their projectile launchers shattered.

5 While the hungry no longer hunger, the well-fed hire themselves out for food. The lady with many boys pines away, but the barren woman gives birth to seven.
6 The Sovereign Captain descends to Underworld and ascends; He brings death and life.
7 The Sovereign Captain brings both wealth and poverty; He exalts and humbles.
8 He pulls the needy from the heap of ashes and the impoverished from the dust. He gives them a high command control and dignity and places them among rulers. Because the Sovereign Captain owns the Earth's foundations and established the world on them.
9 He protects His devoted ones’ paths while the impure fall in the dark since no man can triumph alone.
10 The Sovereign Captain will crush all who defy him. He will strike them with thunder from the celestial realms. The Sovereign Captain will appoint His Prime Ruler and judge the ends of the Earth. His Ensovereigned authority shall be exalted.
11 The youngster then started serving the Sovereign Captain before Eli, the ensovereigned mediator, but Elkanah returned home to Ramah.

§ 14100 ELI’S IMPURE HEIRS

12 Eli’s offspring were dishonorable and lacked respect for the Sovereign Captain.
13 The ensovereigned mediator’s assistant would arrive with a trident-like fork whenever someone was making an absolving payment, and the meat was seething.

14 The fork would be inserted into the pot, kettle, or cauldron, and the ensovereigned mediator would claim whatever the fork skewed. This practice was the custom for all Israelites visiting Shiloh.
15 Even before the fat was scorched, the ensovereigned mediator's assistant would approach the individual offering the absolving payment and insist that the ensovereigned mediator prefers to roast his meat; he will not take boiled meat, only raw.

16 If the individual suggested, "Start by burning the fat, then take as much as you desire," the attendant would dispute, "No, give it to me at once; if not, I'll seize it forcibly."
17 The transgressions of the young men were exceedingly severe before the Sovereign Captain, for they scorned the Sovereign Captain's absolving payments.
18 Samuel, a mere child, served in the presence of the Sovereign Captain, donning a linen formal vest.
19 His mother would create a small robe for him every year and bring it when she and her husband offered the annual absolving payment.
20 Eli used to empower Elkanah and his wife by saying, "May the Sovereign Captain grant you offspring from this woman to replace the child she devoted and offered to the Sovereign Captain." Afterward, they would depart to their dwelling.
21 The Sovereign Captain favored Hannah, enabling her to bear three sons and two daughters. Concurrently, young Samuel matured in the Sovereign Captain's company.
22 Eli, now advanced in years, was well-informed of all his sons' actions towards Israel, including their improper relations with the women serving at the Communal Tent's gateway.
23 He questioned them, "Why are your actions so deplorable? everyone speaks of your evil exploits to me."
24 "Indeed, my offspring, the news circulating among the ensovereigned lifestyle community of the Sovereign Captain contains nothing favorable.
25 If an individual wrongs another, the Preeminent Sovereign can mediate for the wrongdoer; yet, if a person commits an unworthy choice against the Sovereign Captain, who can speak in their favor?" Despite their father's admonishment, his sons turned deaf ears, as the Sovereign Captain intended to end their lives.
26 Samuel continued flourishing physically and in esteem with the Sovereign Captain and among individuals.

§ 14110 VISION AGAINST THE HOUSE OF ELI

27 An eternally wise servant approached Eli with the Sovereign Captain's message: "Did I not reveal myself to your forefather's family when they were enslaved in Egypt under Pharaoh?"
28 "I chose your forefather from all Israel's peoples to serve as my ensovereigned mediator, to ascend to my pedestal table, ignite incense, and wear a sleeveless garment before Me. I entrusted your forefather's family with all the absolving payments from the Israelites."
29 "Why do you scorn the absolving payments I commanded in My fortress place? How could you honor your sons above me by indulging in the finest offerings from my people, Israel?"
30 The Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, declares: "I pledged that your family would serve me forever." But now, the Sovereign Captain proclaims: "It is unthinkable for me! I will honor those who respect me, but those who scorn me will be treated with contempt."
31 "A time is coming when I will cut off your power and the power of your ancestral Mediatorship, so none in your family will live to old age."
32 "Despite Israel's prosperity, your family will suffer in my abode, with none living to old age."
33 "Anyone I do not remove from serving at my pedestal table will lose their vision and strength, and all your descendants will die young."

34 “You will receive a sign regarding the destiny of the two of your sons, Hophni and Phinehas; they will pass away on the same day.”
35 “I will raise a trustworthy mediator aligned with my thoughts and desires. This Mediatorship family will be firmly established and consistently serve before my chosen one.”
36 “Every survivor from your family will come to him, begging for a silver coin or a morsel of bread, and say, ‘Please assign me an assistant role so I can sustain myself with food. ’”

§ 14120 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN CALLS SAMUEL

3 Samuel served as the Sovereign Captain under Eli’s supervision as a young boy. the Sovereign Captain’s messages were scarce, and visions were infrequent during that era.
2 Eli, whose vision progressively failed to near blindness, reclined at his customary spot one evening.
3 Samuel was resting in the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, where the exalted Strongbox was situated, and the Eternal Reality’s perpetual guiding light was still shining brightly.
4-5 The Sovereign Captain summoned Samuel, who responded, “I am present.” He dashed to Eli, declaring, “I am here; you summoned me.” Nevertheless, Eli responded, “I did not beckon you; return and resume your rest.” Accordingly, he retreated and settled down to sleep.
6 The Sovereign Captain summoned Samuel again! Samuel arose and proceeded to Eli, stating, “I’m present; you called me.” Eli responded, “I didn’t contact you, my child; return and rest.”
7 Samuel was unfamiliar with the Sovereign Captain since his message had not yet been disclosed.
8 The Sovereign Captain summoned Samuel for the third time! On hearing this, Samuel stood up, approached Eli, and said, “I’m here; you called.” At this point, Eli discerned that the Sovereign Captain was reaching out to the lad.
9 Eli instructed Samuel to retire to bed, assuring him that if the voice rang again, he should respond, “Captain, your servant is all ears.” Samuel, obeying the advice, retired to his spot.
10 As before, the Sovereign Captain appeared and called, “Samuel! Samuel!” On hearing this, Samuel responded, “I am at your service, ready to listen to what you say.”
11 The Sovereign Captain communicated to Samuel, stating an imminent event in Israel that would induce a shocking sensation in everyone aware.
12 “On that day, I will implement everything I have said regarding Eli and his family from start to finish.

13 I had already informed him that his family would be endlessly judged due to the transgression he was aware of; his offspring were disrespecting the Eternal Reality, and he did nothing to prevent it.
14 So, I have vowed to Eli’s family that the iniquity of Eli’s family will never be expiated through absolving payments or offerings.”
15 Samuel stayed in bed until dawn and unlocked the doors to the Sovereign Captain’s fortress. He was apprehensive about revealing the Eternal Reality’s disclosure to Eli.
16 Eli beckoned Samuel, articulating, “Samuel, my child.” In response, Samuel declared, “I am present.”
17 Eli inquired, “What words did he impart to you? Don’t withhold it from me. May the Eternal Reality bring severe consequences on you if you conceal from me a single detail he shared with you.”
18 Samuel relayed everything to him, not withholding a single detail. Eli responded,
“He epitomizes the Sovereign Captain; may he carry out what seems appropriate in his perception.”

19 As Samuel matured, the Sovereign Captain accompanied him, ensuring that none of his visions went unfulfilled.
20 From Dan to Beersheba, everyone across Israel understood that Samuel was confirmed as an eternally wise servant of the Sovereign Captain.
21 The Sovereign Captain consistently manifested Himself in Shiloh, disclosing His intentions to Samuel using His message from the Preeminent Sovereign.

4 The vision of Samuel reached all of Israel. The Israelites, at that point, started fighting against the Philistine Warriors. The Israeli army set up their encampment at Ebenezer, while the Philistine Warriors did so at Aphek.

§ 14130 THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS CAPTURE THE STRONGBOX

2 The Philistine Warriors prepared for battle against Israel. As the conflict intensified, Israel fell to the Philistine Warriors, losing about four thousand soldiers.

3 When the troops returned to camp, Israel's leaders asked, "Why did the Sovereign Captain allow our defeat by the Philistine Warriors? Let's bring the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain's agreement from Shiloh so He may save us from our enemies."
4 They sent for the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain's pact from Shiloh, where Eli's sons, Hophni and Phinehas, accompanied it.
5 As the solemn agreement box arrived, the Israelites cheered so loudly that the Earth shook.
6 Hearing the noise, the Philistine Warriors wondered, "What's causing this uproar in the Hebrew camp?" They learned that the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain had arrived.
7 The Philistine Warriors were fearful, exclaiming that an Eternal Reality had entered the camp, something they had never seen before.
8 "We are doomed! Who can save us from these powerful, idolized deities? They are the same celestial entities who plagued the Egyptians in the desert."
9 "Be strong, Philistine Warriors! Fight like men, or you'll become enslaved persons to the Hebrews as they were to you. Show courage and fight!"
10 The Philistine Warriors fought fiercely, leading to a massive defeat for Israel, with thirty thousand Israeli foot soldiers killed.
11 Eli's sons, Hophni and Phinehas, were also killed, and the Eternal Reality Chest was captured.

§ 14140 DEATH OF ELI

12 On the same day, a man from the community of Benjamin fled the battlefield and arrived in Shiloh with his garments ripped and soil on his skull.
13 Eli, seated by the roadside, was vigilantly monitored because he was concerned for the Strongbox of Preeminent Sovereign. As soon as the individual entered the village and disclosed the unfolding events, the settlement responded with an outcry.

14 Eli perceived the clamor and inquired, "What does this commotion signify?" The individual swiftly approached Eli.
15 His vision had deteriorated at ninety-eight, so he could not see.

16 The individual disclosed to Eli, “I had just escaped from the battlefield; I ran away today.” Eli inquired, “How did the matter unfold, my child?”
17 The individual who delivered the tidings disclosed that “Israel had retreated in the face of the Philistine Warriors, and the forces had endured significant casualties. Your offspring, Hophni and Phinehas, have perished. The exalted Strongbox of Preeminent Sovereign has fallen into enemy hands.”
18 On uttering “the Strongbox of Preeminent Sovereign,” Eli toppled backward from his seat adjacent to the gate. His neck snapped, causing his death, attributed to his elderly age and heavy physique. His leadership governed Israel for four decades.
19 Phinehas’ wife, also Eli’s daughter-in-law, was expecting a child and was on the verge of giving birth. On receiving the distressing news of the capture of the Preeminent Sovereign’s Ark and the demise of both her husband and father-in-law, she started to experience her birth pangs and prematurely delivered her baby. Intense labor contractions overwhelmed her.
20 In her final moments, the women around her tried to comfort her, saying not to worry; she had birthed a male heir. Yet she still needed to answer or pay heed to their words.
21 Naming her male heir Ichabod, she declared, “Israel’s honor has been taken away,” attributing this to the seizure of the Preeminent Sovereign’s Strongbox and the tragic demise of her husband and father-in-law.
22 “The honor has left Israel, for the special box of Preeminent Sovereign was taken.”

§ 14150 THE STRONGBOX IN ASHDOD AND EKRON

5 After the Philistine Warriors seized the Preeminent Sovereign’s Strongbox, they moved it from Ebenezer to Ashdod.
2 They placed it in Dagon’s temple, next to Dagon.

3 The next morning, the people of Ashdod found Dagon fallen face down before the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain! They set Dagon back in place.
4 The following day, Dagon was again face down before the Strongbox, with his head and hands severed at the doorway; only his torso remained.
5 This is why no one touches the temple’s threshold in Ashdod to this day.
6 The Sovereign Captain’s hand struck Ashdod and its vicinity, causing great destruction and painful growths.
7 The people of Ashdod declared, “We cannot keep the Strongbox of Israel’s Eternal Reality here; his hand is against us and Dagon.”
8 The Philistine Warrior chiefs moved the Strongbox to Gath.
9 After its arrival, Gath was struck with an epidemic of sores, causing widespread terror.
10 The Strongbox was then sent to Ekron. As it entered Ekron, the people cried out, “They’ve brought the Strongbox of Israel’s Eternal Reality here to destroy us!” 11 The Philistine Warrior chiefs were summoned again, demanding, “Send the Strongbox back to its place to save us.” Deathly fear gripped the city; the force of the Preeminent Sovereign overwhelmed it.
12 Survivors were afflicted with painful growths, and their cries for help reached the celestial realms.

§ 14160 THE STRONGBOX RETURNED TO ISRAEL

6 The Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain stayed in Philistine Warrior territory for seven months.
2 The Philistine Warriors consulted their religious leaders and omen interpreters, asking, “How should we return the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain?”
3 They advised not to send it back empty but with an absolving payment to restore health and understand His persistent punishment.

4 The Philistine Warriors asked, “What reparation should we offer?” The answer was five golden sores and five golden rodents, matching the number of Philistine Warrior chiefs affected.
5 “Make models of your tumors and mice ravaging your land, and honor the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel. He may lift His hand from you, your idolized deities, and your land.”
6 “Why be as stubborn as the Egyptians and Pharaoh? After harsh treatment, didn’t they let the Israelites go?”

7 “Prepare a new cart with two milk cows that have calved and never worn a yoke. Hitch the cows to the cart but keep their calves at home.
8 Place the Sovereign Captain’s Strongbox on the cart with the golden articles as an atonement offering beside it. Then, let it go.
9 Watch it. If it heads to Beth Shemesh, the Sovereign Captain caused this calamity. If not, it was a random event.”
10 They followed the plan, hitching two cows to the cart and keeping their calves home.
11 The Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain was placed on the cart with the gold mice and tumor models.
12 The cows went straight to Beth Shemesh, mooing continuously without veering off. The Philistine Warrior chiefs followed them to Beth Shemesh’s border.

13 Beth Shemesh residents were harvesting wheat in the valley. Seeing the Strongbox, they rejoiced.
14 The cart stopped near a large stone in Joshua’s field. The locals dismantled the cart and offered the cows as a scorched tribute to the Eternal Reality.
15 The Levites set down the Strongbox and the gold objects on the large stone. That day, Beth Shemesh residents offered scorched absolving payments and made offerings to the Sovereign Captain.

16 After witnessing this, the five Philistine Warrior leaders returned to Ekron.
17 The Philistine Warriors offered gold models of tumors as an absolving payment—one from each city: Ashdod, Gaza, Ashkelon, Gath, and Ekron.
18 The total number of golden rodents matched the fortified and rural communities under Philistine Warrior rule. The large stone where the Levites placed the Strongbox is a testimony in Joshua’s field in Beth Shemesh.

19 The Sovereign Captain punished some Beth Shemesh residents by killing seventy who looked inside the Strongbox. The people mourned due to His severe judgment.
20 They wondered, “Who can stand before this exalted Eternal Reality? Where will the Strongbox go from here?”
21 Emissaries were sent to Kiriath Jearim, informing them that the Philistine Warriors had returned the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain and inviting them to retrieve it.

7 The people of Kiriath Jearim collected the Strongbox, brought it to Abinadab's house on the hill, and set-apart Eleazar to safeguard it.
2 The Strongbox stayed in Kiriath Jearim for twenty years, during which Israel began following the Sovereign Captain again.

§ 14170 SAMUEL SUBDUES THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS AT MIZPAH

3 Samuel instructed the Israelites to renounce outsider idolized deities and Ashtoreths, commit their inner selves to the Sovereign Captain, and serve Him exclusively for deliverance from the Philistine Warriors.
4 The Israelites discarded their artifacts of Baal and Ashtoreth, dedicating their joyful adoration solely to the Sovereign Captain.

5 Samuel called for a gathering at Mizpah, promising to plead to the Sovereign Captain on their behalf.
6 At Mizpah, they abstained from meals, admitted their transgressions, and spilled water before the Sovereign Captain. Samuel served as Israel's guiding figure.
7-8 When the Philistine Warrior leaders advanced, the Israelites, filled with fear, implored Samuel to continue invoking "our Sovereign Captain" for deliverance.
9 Samuel offered a young lamb as a wholly scorched absolving payment, fervently calling on the Sovereign Captain, who answered his meldings with the Preeminent Sovereign.
10 As Samuel conducted the scorched absolving payment, the Sovereign Captain created a mighty thunder against the Philistine Warriors, causing disarray and allowing the Israelites to defeat them.
11 The Israelites chased and annihilated the Philistine Warriors toward Beth Kar.
12 Samuel set a stone between Mizpah and Shen, naming it Ebenezer, asserting that "the Sovereign Captain had offered us assistance up to this point."
13 The Philistine Warriors ceased their incursions into Israel. the Sovereign Captain's opposition to them remained during Samuel's lifetime.
14 Cities from Ekron to Gath were returned to Israel, and nearby territories were freed from Philistine Warrior control. There was tranquility between Israel and the Amorites.
15 Samuel guided Israel throughout his life.
16 Annually, he traveled to Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah, serving as a judge for Israel at each location.
17 He returned to Ramah, his home, where he also presided over cases for Israel and constructed a pedestal table dedicated to the Sovereign Captain.

§ 14180 ISRAEL ASKS FOR A PRIME RULER

8 Samuel named his sons Israel's chiefs as he grew older.

2 His eldest son, Joel, and his second son, Abijah, served as judges in Beersheba.
3 However, they strayed from his path, succumbing to illicit gains, accepting underhand payments, and distorting the ultimate authenticity of the Mosaic Law.
4 Consequently, Israel's senior leaders convened and approached Samuel in Ramah.

5 They said, “You’re old, and your sons don’t follow your path; now establish a ruler for us like other nations.”
6 Their request for a Prime Ruler upset Samuel, and he sought guidance from the Sovereign Captain.
7 The Sovereign Captain advised, “Pay heed to the people; they haven’t rejected you but have dismissed me as their Prime Ruler.
8 Just as they’ve turned their backs on me and worshipped idolized deities since I delivered them from Egypt, they treat you the same way.
9 Pay heed to their request but warn them of the demands of a Prime Ruler.”
10 Samuel conveyed the Sovereign Captain’s message to those seeking a Prime Ruler.
11 He said, “The Prime Ruler will conscript your sons for his assault troops and military strike vehicles.
12 He will appoint some to lead thousands and fifties, others to cultivate land and gather crops, and others to create battle weapons and main strike vehicle gear.
13 Your daughters will prepare perfumes, cook, and bake.
14 He will take the best of your farms, grapevines, and olive groves for his courtiers.
15 He will demand one-tenth of your crops and wine harvests for his administrators and servants.
16 He will claim your enslaved persons and finest livestock for personal benefit.

17 He will demand one-tenth of your flocks; you shall be his servants.
18 When you grieve the Prime Ruler you’ve chosen, the Sovereign Captain will ignore your pleas.”
19 The citizens insisted on totalitarian rule despite Samuel’s warnings.
20 “We want a Prime Ruler to guide us, go before us, and engage in combat for us.”
21 Samuel noted and conveyed their remarks to the Eternal Reality.
22 The Preeminent Sovereign responded, heeding their request and appointing a Prime Ruler. Samuel then instructed the Israelites, “Each of you return to your city.”

§ 14190 SAMUEL ENSOVEREIGNS SAUL

9 From the community of Benjamin, Kish was Abiel’s male heir, grandson of Zeror, great-grandson of Bekorath, and great-great-grandson of Aphiah.
2 His son Saul was unmatched in looks and height among Israel’s men.
3 When Kish’s donkeys went astray, he sent Saul and a servant to find them.
4 They searched Ephraim’s highlands, Shalisha, Shaalim, and Benjamin, but found nothing.
5 In Zuph, Saul suggested returning to avoid worrying about his father.
6 The servant proposed visiting a revered ensovereigned mediator in the city for guidance.
7 Saul worried about having no gift for the man since their supplies were depleted.
8 The servant offered a quarter shekel of silver to give to the exalted man for guidance.
9 In Israel, those seeking guidance from the Preeminent Sovereign would visit a seer, now known as a prophet.

10 Saul agreed, and they went to the city where the Eternal Reality’s seer resided.
11 They met a young woman fetching water and asked if the prophet was there.
12 She confirmed and directed them to hurry as he had just arrived for a community offering.
13 She advised they would find him before he ascended to the high place for the meal.
14 As they entered the city, they saw Samuel heading to the elevated fortress.
15 The Sovereign Captain had informed Samuel about Saul’s arrival the day before.

16 “I will send you a man from Benjamin to lead my people and rescue them from the Philistine Warriors.”
17 When Samuel saw Saul, the Sovereign Captain said, “He will rule over my people.”
18 Saul asked Samuel for directions to the seer’s house. Samuel replied,
19 “I am an eternally wise servant. Join me at the high place for a meal, and tomorrow, I will set you on your journey and reveal your inner thoughts.”
20 “Don’t worry about the donkeys; they’ve been found. Aren’t you and your family highly regarded in Israel?”
21 Saul questioned why Samuel spoke to him this way, given his humble background.
22 Samuel brought Saul and his servant to the dining area. He seated them at the prime spot among thirty guests.
23 He instructed the chef to serve the portion of meat set aside for Saul.
24 The chef presented the leg and its meat to Saul, as it was reserved for him for this event. Saul dined with Samuel that day.

25 After descending from the high place, Samuel spoke with Saul on his home’s terrace.
26 At dawn, Samuel called Saul from the rooftop to prepare for departure. They left together.
27 Nearing the city’s edge, Samuel asked Saul to send his servant ahead so he could share a message from the Preeminent Sovereign.

10 Samuel ensovereigned Saul with oil, kissed him, and said, “the Sovereign Captain has designated you as leader of His heritage.”
2 “You will meet two men near Rachel’s tomb who will tell you that your donkeys have been found, and your father is now worried about you.”
3 “At Tabor’s tree, you’ll meet three men going to Bethel with goats, bread, and wine.”
4 “They will greet you and give you two bread offerings.”
5 “At Gibeah Elohim, near a Philistine Warrior garrison, you’ll meet prophets with musical instruments delivering prophecies.”
6 “the Sovereign Captain’s Eternal Spark will seize you, transforming you into a new person.”
7 “When these signs occur, do what needs to be done as Preeminent Sovereign is with you.”
8 “Go to Gilgal; I will join you there for scorched absolving payments and shared offerings. Wait seven days until I arrive and instruct you.”

§ 14200 SAUL MADE PRIME RULER

9 As Saul turned from Samuel, the Preeminent Sovereign transformed his inner-self, and all predicted signs occurred that day.
10 At Gibeah, Saul, and his attendant met prophets; the Eternal Spark surged in him, initiating him into their envisioning.

11 Known by all, Saul envisioned with the prophets, prompting people to ask, “What has changed in Kish’s heir? Has Saul joined the prophets?”
12 A resident questioned, “Who is their sire?” leading to the phrase: “Has Saul joined the prophets?”
13 Saul moved to the elevated site after his vision.
14 Saul’s uncle asked him and his attendant, “Where did you go?” He replied, “To seek the donkeys. We visited Samuel when we couldn’t find them.”
15 Saul’s uncle asked, “What did Samuel say?”
16 Saul said they found the donkeys but didn’t mention Samuel’s words about the realm.

17 Samuel called the Israelites to Mizpah.
18 He told them the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel, proclaimed: “I led Israel from Egypt and saved you from all realms harming you.”
19 “Today, you’ve disregarded your Eternal Reality, demanding a Prime Ruler. Assemble before the Eternal Reality’s Entity by communities and families.”
20 Samuel gathered the communities of Israel, and the lot chose Benjamin.
21 The Benjamin people were ushered in, and Matri’s group was chosen. Finally, Saul, Kish’s heir, was selected but couldn’t be found.
22 They sought more knowledge from the Sovereign Captain, who disclosed Saul was hiding among provisions.
23 They retrieved him, and he stood taller than the rest.
24 Samuel addressed the crowd, “Do you see the man the Sovereign Captain has chosen? He is peerless.” The people acclaimed, “May the Prime Ruler thrive!”
25 Samuel outlined sovereignty’s privileges and responsibilities, documented them on parchment, and placed them before the Sovereign Captain. He then sent everyone home.

26 The Preeminent Sovereign moved gallant individuals who returned to Gibeah with Saul.
27 Some worthless individuals questioned, “Can this man rescue us?” They disrespected him and offered no presents, but Saul remained quiet.

§ 14210 SAUL RESCUES THE HUB OF JABESH

11 Nahash the Ammonite besieged Jabesh Gilead. The men of Jabesh proposed, “Make a pact with us, and we will serve you.”
2 Nahash replied, “I will agree only if I can gouge out every right eye, humiliating all Israel.”
3 The elders of Jabesh requested, “Give us seven days to send emissaries throughout Israel; if no one comes to our aid, we will surrender.”
4 When the messengers reached Gibeah and relayed the news, the people wept loudly.
5 Saul, returning from the fields, asked, “Why are the people crying?” They told him what the men of Jabesh had said.
6 Upon hearing this, Saul was filled with fiery rage as the Eternal Spark of Preeminent Sovereign took control of him.
7 “This is what will happen to the oxen of anyone who does not follow Saul and Samuel,” he proclaimed, taking a pair of oxen, chopping them into pieces, and sending them via messengers throughout the land of Israel. Then, the Sovereign Captain’s wrath struck the people, and they united as one man.
8 Saul mustered three hundred thousand Israelites and thirty thousand from Judah at Bezek.
9 The envoys told the people of Jabesh Gilead that they would rescue them by the peak heat of tomorrow. The people of Jabesh were overjoyed.
10 They told the Ammonites, “We will surrender tomorrow, and you can do as you wish.”

11 Saul divided his troops into three groups the next morning. He attacked the Ammonite camp at dawn, defeating them until midday. The survivors scattered, ensuring no two were left together.

§ 14220 SAUL CONFIRMED AS PRIME RULER

12 The public questioned Samuel, “Who suggested, ‘Should Saul rule over us?’ Hand them over for execution.”

13 Saul declared no one would be executed today, for the Sovereign Captain had delivered Israel.
14 Samuel urged the people to accompany him to Gilgal to reestablish the monarchy.
15 They journeyed to Gilgal, where they confirmed Saul as Prime Ruler under the Sovereign Captain's watchful eyes. There, they performed absolving activations of companionship in honor of the Sovereign Captain. Saul and all of Israel celebrated with immense jubilation.

§ 14230 SAMUEL'S FAREWELL SPEECH

12 Samuel addressed all of Israel, stating he had fulfilled their requests by appointing a Prime Ruler.
2 "A Prime Ruler now leads you. I stand here, aged and gray, with my sons among you. I have guided you from my youth until now.
3 Here I am. Accuse me before the Sovereign Captain and His chosen. Whose ox have I taken? Whose donkey have I seized? Whom have I defrauded or oppressed? From whom have I accepted a bribe to blind my eyes? If guilty, I will make restitution."
4 They replied, "You haven't wronged or exploited us nor taken anything from anyone."
5 Samuel declared that the Sovereign Captain and His chosen Prime Ruler testify today that they found no fault in him. They agreed, "He is our testifier."

6 Samuel reminded them that the Eternal Reality appointed Moses and Aaron, leading their ancestors from Egypt.
7 "Stand firm as I recount the authentic deeds the Sovereign Captain has done for you and your forefathers.
8 When Jacob visited Egypt, your ancestors cried for help. The Preeminent Sovereign sent Moses and Aaron to bring them out of Egypt and settle them here.
9 They forgot their Eternal Reality. He delivered them to Sisera, the Philistine Warriors, and the Moabite ruler, who fought against them.
10 They pleaded with the Sovereign Captain, confessing their guilt for abandoning Him and worshipping Baals and Ashtoreths. They asked for deliverance from their enemies, promising allegiance.
11 The Eternal Reality sent Jerub-Baal, Barak, Jephthah, and Samuel to free them from their adversaries, ensuring their safety.
12 Yet, when Nahash, the Ammonite Prime Ruler, threatened you, you demanded a Prime Ruler despite having the Sovereign Captain as your sovereign.
13 Now, behold the Prime Ruler you desired; the Sovereign Captain has established him over you.
14 If you honor the Sovereign Captain, express joyful adoration to Him, listen to His voice, and obey His directives, all will be well for you and your Prime Ruler.
15 If you disobey the Sovereign Captain's word and defy His directives, you'll face His opposition like your ancestors did.
16 Witness this magnificent event the Sovereign Captain will perform before you!
17 It is wheat harvest season. I will call upon the Sovereign Captain to bring thunder and rain so you will understand the gravity of your misdeed in demanding a Prime Ruler."
18 Samuel invoked the Sovereign Captain, who responded with thunder and rain that day. The people revered both the Sovereign Captain and Samuel with great fear.

19 They melded their consciousnesses with the Eternal Reality, “Samuel, implore your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain for us, so we don’t die, for we have compounded our unworthy choices by demanding a Prime Ruler.”
20 Samuel reassured them, “Fear not. Despite your wrongdoings, do not abandon the Sovereign Captain. Serve Him with your entire inner-self.
21 Avoid pursuing meaningless idolized deities; they are useless and cannot save you.
22 For His magnificent reputation’s sake, the Sovereign Captain won’t abandon His people; it was His delight to claim you as His own.
23 It is unthinkable for me to commit an unworthy choice against the Sovereign Captain by neglecting meldings of your consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign for you. I will instruct you on the authentic and correct path.
24 Elevate the Sovereign Captain and sincerely express joyful adoration to Him with your entire inner-self; contemplate His remarkable deeds for you.
25 However, if you continue to act wickedly, you and your sovereign will face destruction.”

§ 14240 SAMUEL REBUKES SAUL

13 Saul began his reign at about thirty and ruled Israel for forty-two years.
2 He selected three thousand men; two thousand stayed with him in Mikmash and Bethel’s hills, while a thousand were with Jonathan in Gibeah of Benjamin. The rest were sent home.
3 Jonathan attacked the Philistine Warrior garrison in Geba, alerting the Philistine Warriors. Saul then ordered the trumpet to be sounded, declaring, “Hebrews, take note!”
4 News spread that Saul had attacked a Philistine Warrior garrison, making Israel detestable to the Philistine Warriors. Saul called the people to join him at Gilgal.
5 The Philistine Warriors prepared for battle with three thousand strike vehicles, six thousand assault forces, and infantry as numerous as sand grains on the seashore. They camped at Mikmash, East of Beth Aven.

6 Seeing their dire situation and stressed military, the Israelites hid in caves, brush woods, boulders, pits, and water storage chambers.
7 Some Hebrews crossed the Jordan to Gad and Gilead. Saul stayed in Gilgal, with his forces gripped by fear.
8 Saul waited a week as Samuel had instructed, but Samuel did not arrive, causing the troops to scatter.
9 Saul then requested the scorched and peaceful offerings and presented the scorched absolving payment.
10 As he finished, Samuel arrived, prompting Saul to greet him.
11 Samuel asked, “What have you done?” Saul explained that seeing the troops scatter and the Philistine Warriors gathering at Mikmash, he felt compelled to seek the Sovereign Captain’s empowerment by offering the scorched absolving payment.
12 I felt obliged to make the scorched absolving payment because I reasoned that the Philistine Warriors would now attack me at Gilgal and that I had not asked the Sovereign Captain for his favor.
13 Samuel replied, “You acted foolishly by not following the Sovereign Captain’s directive. Had you obeyed, your reign over Israel would have been established forever.
14 But now your reign will not endure; the Sovereign Captain has sought a loyal man to lead His pathseekers because you disobeyed His instructions.”
15 Samuel then left Gilgal for Gibeah in Benjamin. Saul counted his remaining men, totaling about six hundred.

§ 14250 ISRAEL WITHOUT WEAPONS

16 Saul, his male heir Jonathan, and their troops resided in Gibeah within Benjamin's territory. At the same time, the Philistine Warriors camped at Mikmash.
17 Three Philistine Warriors raiding parties set out—one toward Ophrah in Shula

18 another to Beth Horon, and the third to the border overlooking the Valley of Zeboyim near the wilderness.
19 No metalworker existed in Israel because the Philistine Warriors had decreed it to prevent the Hebrews from making weapons like tactical blades or bayonets.
20 Every Israelite went to the Philistine Warriors to sharpen their plow blades, mattocks, axes, and sickles.
21 The sharpening cost was two-thirds of a shekel for plow blades and mattocks and one-third for forks, axes, and goad refitting.
22 On the day of battle, none of Saul's or Jonathan's soldiers had tactical blades or tactical bayonets; only Saul and Jonathan were armed.

§ 14260 JONATHAN ATTACKS THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS

23 A unit of Philistine Warriors had advanced to the passage at Mikmash.

14 One day, Jonathan, Saul's male heir, proposed to his youthful tactical attache to approach the Philistine Warrior garrison on the opposite side without informing his father.
2 About six hundred individuals accompanied Saul, who resided in Migron, near Gibeah, under a pomegranate tree.
3 Among them was Ahijah, wearing a sleeveless garment, the son of Ahitub, Ichabod's brother, and grandson of Eli, the ensovereigned mediators of the Sovereign Captain at Shiloh. No one knew Jonathan had left.

4 Jonathan planned to navigate a ravine with cliffs on either side to access the Philistine Warrior base. One cliff was known as Bozez, and the other as Seneh.
5 One rocky outcrop faced North toward Mikmash, while the other faced South toward Geba.

6 Jonathan told his youthful arms bearer, "Let us venture over to the station of these uncircumcised men. the Sovereign Captain may intervene on our behalf. No circumstance can obstruct Sovereign Captain's deliverance, regardless of the number involved."
7 "Proceed with whatever your inner-self desires," his armor-bearer encouraged.
"Take action; I stand with you in your enthusiasm and authenticity."
8 Jonathan asserted, "Let's proceed. We will cross their side and make ourselves visible to them."
9 "Should they instruct us to remain in place until they approach us, we will adhere to their command and avoid ascending towards them."
10 "However, if they urge us to ascend, we will do so. Such a gesture will indicate that the Preeminent Sovereign has given us victory over them."

[11] They made their presence known to the Philistine Warrior garrison. “Watch!” exclaimed the Philistine Warriors. “The Hebrews are emerging from the caverns where they’ve taken refuge.”
[12] The troops at the camp post hollered at Jonathan and his armor-bearer, inviting them to ascend for a confrontation. Jonathan then instructed his armor-bearer to climb up behind him, affirming that the Sovereign Captain had granted Israel victory over them.
[13] Jonathan ascended using his limbs, with his armament carrier directly following him. The Philistine Warriors toppled in Jonathan’s presence, and his armament carrier continued the task, ending their lives in his wake.

[14] During the initial strike, Jonathan and his armor-bearer eliminated around twenty individuals within a field approximately half an acre in size.

§ 14270 ISRAEL ROUTS THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS

[15] The Preeminent Sovereign instigated a terror that gripped the army, causing the Earth to tremble among the outposts and raiding parties.
[16] Observers of Saul at Gibeah in Benjamin saw troops scattering in all directions.
[17] Saul ordered a troop count, revealing Jonathan and his aide, who carried his ballistic body armor, were missing.
[18] Saul instructed Ahijah to bring the Strongbox of the Preeminent Sovereign.
[19] As Saul spoke to the ensovereigned mediators, confusion in the Philistine Warrior camp intensified. Saul then told the ensovereigned mediator to stop.
[20] Saul and his troops advanced, finding the Philistine Warrior Warriors in disarray, attacking each other with tactical blades.
[21] Hebrews aligned with the Philistine Warriors switched loyalty to Saul and Jonathan.
[22] Hearing of the Philistine Warriors’ retreat, Israelites from Ephraim joined the battle, chasing them ardently.
[23] The Sovereign Captain brought victory to Israel that day, with the conflict advancing past Beth Aven.

§ 14280 JONATHAN EATS HONEY

[24] That day, the Israelites were under extreme strain because Saul had made them swear an oath, declaring, “Anyone who consumes food before the evening falls and before I’ve exacted my retribution on my adversaries is doomed!” So, none of the soldiers partook of any food.
[25] The force entered the forest, discovering honey spread on the soil.
[26] On venturing into the forest, they observed the honey seeping out; nonetheless, no one brought his hand to his mouth due to the apprehension of the oath.
[27] Unaware of his father’s vow to the people, Jonathan extended the tip of the rod he was carrying into the honeycomb. He brought it back to his lips, and instantly, his vision cleared.

[28] A member of the military informed him that his father had imposed a severe vow on the force, decreeing, “May the individual consuming sustenance today be damned!” This reason is for the troops’ weakness.
[29] Jonathan articulated that my father has created chaos for the nation. I observed how my eyes sparkled when tasting a small amount of this honey.

30 Wouldn't the defeat of the Philistine Warriors have been more significant if the men had consumed some of the spoils from their foes today?
31 On that day, the Israelites defeated the Philistine Warriors from Mikmash to Aijalon, leaving the troops thoroughly fatigued.
32 They seized the spoils, capturing sheep, oxen, and calves, slaughtering them right there on the spot, and consuming them, blood included.
33 An individual informed Saul, highlighting that the men violated the Sovereign Captain's directives by consuming meat containing blood. Accusing them of disloyalty, he requested for a sizable stone to be rolled over swiftly.
34 He then instructed, circulate among the men and convey to them, "Each person should bring his oxen or sheep to me, kill them in this place, and partake in their consumption. Refrain from committing a transgression against the Sovereign Captain by consuming meat not drained of its blood." That very evening, every man brought his ox and dispatched it here.
35 Saul established a pedestal table in honor of the Sovereign Captain. This action marked his maiden effort.
36 Saul suggested we chase the Philistine Warriors during the darkness and loot them until the break of day, not sparing even one. The people concurred, advising him to do what he thinks is suitable. However, the ensovereigned mediator interjected, insisting they should seek the Preeminent Sovereign's guidance at that place.
37 Saul sought guidance from the Preeminent Sovereign, asking if he should follow and attack the Philistine Warriors and whether the Preeminent Sovereign would allow Israel to overcome them. However, Preeminent Sovereign did not respond to him on that occasion.
38 From now forward, Saul proclaimed, "All you commanders of the military, approach and let us discern which transgression has occurred today."

39 Without question, if my male heir Jonathan bears the fault, he must face death under the oath of the living Sovereign Captain, Israel's rescuer. Yet, no one expressed any objection.
40 Saul proposed to all of Israel, "Position yourselves there; Jonathan, my male heir, and I will be here." "Proceed as you deem appropriate," was their response.
41 Saul then implored the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, questioning why He had not replied to me that day. If the unworthy choice belonged to either him or his male heir Jonathan, let the Urim answer, but if the guilt rested with the Israelite men, let the Thummim indicate. After casting lots, Jonathan and Saul were singled out, while the rest of the men were absolved.
42 Saul declared, drawing names between Jonathan, my male heir, and myself. Subsequently, Jonathan was chosen.
43 Saul inquired from Jonathan, asking him to explain his actions. Jonathan then confessed that he had consumed a bit of honey that had been found on top of his staff, and now he feared he was destined to die.
44 Saul asserted, "Jonathan, may the Eternal Reality punish me greatly if you don't face death."
45 The troops opposed Saul, questioning whether Jonathan, responsible for this significant victory in Israel, should perish. "Impossible! As long as the Sovereign Captain remains alive, the Preeminent Sovereign's assistance today ensures that not even a single hair from his head will touch the ground." So, the men saved Jonathan from death.
46 Saul ceased his chase of the Philistine Warriors, who then returned to their territory.
47 Following the establishment of Saul's reign over Israel, he waged war against foes in all directions: Moab, the Ammonites, Edom, the rulers of Zobah, and the Philistine Warriors. No matter where he focused his efforts, he ensured they suffered consequences.
48 He acted heroically, undermining the Amalekites and freeing Israel from the control of those who had pillaged them.

§ 14290 SAUL'S FAMILY

49 Saul had three sons: Jonathan, Ishvi, and Malki-Shua. His elder daughter was Merab, and his younger daughter was Michal.
50 Saul's wife was Ahinoam, daughter of Ahimaaz. Abner, son of Ner, Saul's uncle, was the general of Saul's forces.
51 Kish, Saul's father, and Ner, Abner's father, were from the family of Abiel.
52 Saul fought the Philistine Warriors throughout his reign. He recruited every strong and courageous individual he encountered into his army.

§ 14300 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN REJECTS SAUL AS PRIME RULER

15 "the Sovereign Captain sent me to anoint you Prime Ruler over His people Israel," Samuel declared to Saul, "So, pay heed to what the Sovereign Captain has to say now."
2 The Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, declares: "I will settle accounts with the Amalekites due to their actions against Israel, particularly when they obstructed them during their celestial deliverance from Egypt."
3 "Now proceed, engage the Amalekites, and utterly annihilate everything they possess. Show them no mercy; execute all the men and women, the children and babies, the oxen and sheep, as well as the camels and donkeys."
4 Saul assembled the troops. He carried out a count in Telaim: two hundred thousand foot soldiers and an additional ten thousand from Judah.
5 Saul advanced to Amalek and staged a surprise attack in the valley.
6 Saul told the Kenites to depart and distance themselves from the Amalekites, "so I don't eradicate you with them; you showed transformative generosity to all the Israelites during their celestial deliverance from Egypt." Consequently, the Kenites relocated away from the Amalekites.
7 Saul launched an assault on the Amalekites, stretching from Havilah to Shur, located on the frontier of Egypt.

8 Prime Ruler Agag of the Amalekites was captured alive, but his entire populace was utterly annihilated with the tactical blade.
9 However, Saul and his troops refrained from killing Agag and the finest sheep, cattle, plump calves, and lambs—everything of high quality. They were not prepared to obliterate them, yet they utterly demolished everything that was scorned and feeble.
10 Samuel received a message from the Sovereign Captain:
11 "I lament having appointed Saul as Prime Ruler because he has deviated from my path and failed to implement my orders." Samuel was angry and spent the entire night offering up meldings of his consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign to the Sovereign Captain.
12 Samuel rose at dawn to confront Saul; however, he was informed that Saul had journeyed to Carmel, where he had fabricated a tribute to himself, and subsequently proceeded to Galgal.
13 As Samuel approached, Saul greeted him. "May the Sovereign Captain grant empowerment to you! I have successfully executed the Sovereign Captain's directives."
14 Samuel queried, "What does this sound of sheep bleating in my ears signify? What does this mooing of cows mean that I perceive?"

15 Saul responded, “The troops fetched these from the Amalekites. The finest sheep and cattle were spared to offer as absolving payments to your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain. At the same time, the remainder was wholly obliterated.”
16 “Halt!” exclaimed Samuel to Saul. “Allow me to recount what the Sovereign Captain disclosed the previous evening.” “Proceed,” responded Saul.
17 Samuel then remarked, “Have you not become the chief of the communities of Israel, even though you were once little in your own eyes? You were ensovereigned Prime Ruler over Israel by the Sovereign Captain.
18 He assigned you to eradicate those counterfeit individuals, the Amalekites, and battle with them until their complete eradication.

19 Why didn’t you heed the command of the Sovereign Captain? Why were you so eager to seize the spoils and commit actions deemed impure from the Sovereign Captain’s perspective?”
20 Saul argued that he did adhere to the directives of Eternal Reality. He carried out the operation the Preeminent Sovereign entrusted to him, annihilated the Amalekites, and returned with their Prime Ruler, Agag.
21 The troops claimed the finest sheep and cattle from the spoils. These items were dedicated to the Preeminent Sovereign, intending to offer them as an absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign in Gilgal.
22 Samuel retorted: “Does the Preeminent Sovereign find as much pleasure in scorched absolving payments as He does in obedience to Him? It is far more valuable to obey than to give fixed payments, and being attentive is superior to offering Rams’ fat.
23 Disobedience equates to the unworthy choice of sorcery, while pride is equivalent to the wrongdoing of idolized deity worship. Given that you have discarded the Sovereign Captain’s decree, He, in return, has deposed you from your rule.”
24-25 Saul acknowledged to Samuel, admitting his errors. He confessed that he hadn’t followed Eternal Reality’s decree of the Sovereign Captain or Samuel’s guidance. His fear of the people led him to succumb to their demands. “I implore you to absolve my unworthy choice and return with me, enabling me to adore the Sovereign Captain.”
26 Samuel declared to him, “I will not accompany you. You have disregarded the Sovereign Captain’s directive, so the Sovereign Captain has rejected you as Israel’s Prime Ruler!”
27 When Samuel departed, Saul grabbed the edge of his garment, making it rip.
28 Samuel told him today, “The Preeminent Sovereign has wrested the rule of Israel from you and given it to a fellow countryman, someone superior to you.
29 The one who embodies the Magnificence of Israel neither deceives nor alters his decision; since he is not a mortal, he has no propensity to reconsider.”

30 Saul responded, “I have committed a wrong. However, I urge you to respect me in the presence of the leaders of my people and the sight of Israel; accompany me so that I can pay my respects to your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.”
31 Samuel followed Saul back, and Saul bowed before the Preeminent Sovereign.
32 Samuel commanded, “Bring before me Agag, the Prime Ruler of the Amalekites.” Agag approached him in fetters, assuming that the harshness of death had receded.
33 Samuel stated, “As your blade has left females without offspring, so shall your mother be deprived of children among her gender.” Samuel ended Agag’s life in the presence of the Sovereign Captain at Gilgal.
34 Samuel then journeyed to Ramah while Saul ascended to his residence in Gibeah of Saul.
35 Samuel refrained from visiting Saul until his demise despite his sorrow for him. Moreover, the Preeminent Sovereign regretted appointing Saul as Israel’s Prime Ruler.

§ 14310 SAMUEL ENSOVEREIGNS DAVID

16 The Preeminent Sovereign asked Samuel, “How long will you lament over Saul, considering I have disregarded him from ruling over Israel? Pour oil into your flask and proceed; I am directing you to Jesse in Bethlehem. I have picked one of his offspring to ascend the authority.”
2 Samuel questioned, “How can I proceed? If Saul gets wind of this, he will murder me.” the Sovereign Captain commanded, “Bring a cow along and declare, ‘I’m here to offer an absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain. ’”
3 “Summon Jesse to the reconciliation formality, and I’ll guide you on the necessary steps. Your task will be to commission the individual I’ve chosen.”
4 Samuel carried out the instructions of the Sovereign Captain. On his arrival in Bethlehem, the town’s elders feared encountering him. They inquired, “Have you arrived with peaceful intentions?”

5 Samuel responded, “Indeed, I have arrived in tranquility; I am here to offer an absolving payment to the Sovereign Captain. Purify yourselves and join me in the absolving payment.” He then purified Jesse and his sons and requested their presence at the absolving payment.
6 “Surely here before the Sovereign Captain is His Ensovereigned One,” Samuel remarked when he saw Eliab when they arrived.
7 Captain instructed Samuel not to evaluate based on physical stature or outward looks, as he had decided against him. The Preeminent Sovereign’s judgments differ from human judgments. Humans tend to assess based on what is visible, yet the Sovereign Captain perceives the inner-self.
8 Jesse then summoned Abinadab to present himself to Samuel. However, Samuel announced that the Sovereign Captain hadn’t chosen this man either.
9 Jesse subsequently presented Shammah; however, Samuel stated that the Sovereign Captain hadn’t selected this one.
10 Jesse presented his seven offspring before Samuel, yet Samuel conveyed to him that Sovereign Captain had selected none of these.
11 Samuel questioned Jesse, “Are these all of your children?” Jesse replied, “The youngest is still caring for the sheep.” Samuel instructed us to fetch him: “We won’t eat until he appears.”
12 So, he summoned him and ensured his presence. He emanated a vibrancy of wellness and bore striking good looks and attractive characteristics. Consequently, the Sovereign Captain commanded, “Rise and commission him; he was chosen.”
13 Samuel, in the company of his siblings, ensovereigned him with prime commissioning, following which the Eternal Spark of the Sovereign Captain descended on David with great power. Subsequently, Samuel journeyed to Ramah.

§ 14320 DAVID IN SAUL’S SERVICE

14 An evil entity sent by the Sovereign Captain tormented Saul after the celestial essence of the Sovereign Captain had left him.

15 Saul’s aides informed him that the misguiding entity from the Preeminent Sovereign was causing him distress.
16 “May our overseer instruct those in his service to seek someone proficient in the lyre. When the misguiding entity from the Preeminent Sovereign disturbs you, he will perform and alleviate your discomfort.”

17 Saul then instructed his officials to locate an individual proficient at playing and introduce him to me.
18 A servant responded, “I had observed a male heir of Jesse, a Bethlehemite, proficiently playing the lyre. He shows courage and has the qualities of a warrior. He communicates impressively and is an attractive individual. Unquestionably, the Sovereign Captain stands with him.”
19 Saul dispatched emissaries to Jesse, asking him to send his male heir, David, who was tending the flock.
20 Jesse packed a donkey with bread, a vessel of wine, and a young goat, then sent them to Saul through his male heir, David.
21 David appeared before Saul and started working for him. Saul developed a strong fondness for him, and accordingly, David was appointed as his ballistic body tactical attache.
22 Saul conveyed a message to Jesse, requesting that David continue to serve me as he has won my favor.
23 David would play his harp whenever the misguiding entity from the Preeminent Sovereign troubled Saul. Consequently, Saul found solace. His well-being was restored, and the entity would depart.

§ 14330 DAVID AND GOLIATH

17 The Philistine Warriors mobilized at Sokoh in Judah, setting camp at Ephes Dammim between Sokoh and Azekah.
2 Saul and the Israeli forces camped in the Elah Valley, ready for battle.
3 The Philistine Warriors and Israelites stood on opposing hills, facing each other across a valley.

4 Goliath from Gath, a giant measuring 3.2 meters and a span, emerged from the Philistine Warrior camp.
5 He wore a bronze helmet and scaled body ballistic body armor weighing 57 kilograms.
6 Bronze shin protectors covered his legs, and a tactical bayonet hung across his shoulders.
7 His long-range ballistic weapon was like a beam, with an iron tip weighing 6.804 kilograms. A man carrying his ballistic shield preceded him.

8 Goliath challenged the Israelites, questioning their battle preparations and reminding them of his Philistine Warrior identity and their allegiance to Saul. He demanded a representative for one-on-one combat.
9 “If he defeats me, we will serve you; if I defeat him, you will serve us.”
10 He declared, “I challenge Israel today! Send a man to fight me.”
11 His words terrified Saul and the Israelites.

12 David’s father, Jesse, an Ephrathite from Bethlehem in Judah, had eight sons during Saul’s reign. Jesse was elderly.
13 Jesse’s three eldest sons joined Saul in battle: Eliab, Abinadab, and Shammah.
14-15 David was the youngest, alternating between Saul’s camp and Bethlehem, tending his father’s flock.

16 The Philistine Warrior advanced every morning and evening for forty days.
17-18 Jesse instructed David to bring food to his brothers at camp and check their well-being.

19 They fought the Philistine Warriors in the Elah Valley with Saul and the Israelites.

20 David left at dawn, leaving the flock with a sheep keeper, and arrived at the camp as the troops lined up for battle.
21 Israel and the Philistine Warriors were setting up their formations.
22 David entrusted his belongings to the storage guard, hurried to the front lines, and inquired about his brothers.

23 While talking to them, David heard Goliath's challenge.
24 The Israelite soldiers retreated in fear whenever they saw Goliath.
25 They said, "Have you seen this man? He insults Israel. The Prime Ruler promises riches, marriage to his daughter, and tax exemption to whoever defeats him."

26 David asked, "What reward is given to the one who slays this Philistine Warrior and removes this insult from Israel? Who is this Philistine Warrior, misaligned with the solemn agreement between Abraham and Yahweh, to challenge the forces of the Living Preeminent Sovereign?"
27 They repeated their previous statements to him.

28 While David conversed with the men, his eldest brother Eliab, filled with rage, interrogated him: "Why are you here? Who did you leave to tend those insignificant sheep in the wild? Your arrogance and malicious intent are no secret; you came only to witness the fight."

29 David questioned, "What's my mistake? Am I not permitted to talk?"
30 He then asked another individual the same question, receiving a similar response.
31 David's words reached Saul, who summoned him.

32 David told Saul, "No one should lose courage because of this Philistine Warrior; I, your servant, am ready to confront and battle him."
33 Saul retorted, "You are incapable of combating this Philistine Warrior; you are merely a young lad, and he has been a soldier since his early years."

34 David answered, "I have been caring for my father's sheep. Whenever a bear or lion appeared and stole a lamb, 35 I chased it, struck it, and saved the lamb. If it attacked me, I would grab its fur, strike it, and kill it."

36 "As your servant, I have defeated both the bear and the lion; this uncircumcised Philistine Warrior will meet the same fate as them, given that he has challenged the forces of the Eternal Reality's Preeminent Sovereign.
37 He who delivered me from the lion's and bear's claws will free me from this Philistine Warrior's hold." Saul instructed David, "Proceed, and may the Eternal Reality accompany you."

38 Saul outfitted David in his attire, positioning a metallic headgear on his head and draping him in protective gear.
39 David attached his tactical blade to his attire and attempted to move around but found it unfamiliar. "I'm incapable of going in these," he told Saul, "as they're strange to me." Consequently, he removed them.

40 He grasped his walking stick, selected five polished pebbles from the brook, stowed them in his sheep keeper's bag pocket, and moved toward the Philistine Warrior armed with his sling.
41 Simultaneously, the Philistine Warrior, accompanied by his ballistic shield holder, advanced progressively towards David.

42 The Philistine Warrior observed David and realized he was merely a young lad radiating vitality and attractiveness, and he held him in contempt.

43 The Philistine Warrior questioned David, “Do you perceive me as a dog that you approach me with rods?” Then, he invoked his idolized deities to slander David.
44 “Approach,” he called out, “and I’ll offer your body to the sky birds and wild creatures!”

45 David responded to the Philistine Warrior, “You engage me with blade, lance, and skewer, yet I approach you in the authority of the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, the Eternal Reality of Israel’s legions, whom you’ve dared to belittle.
46 This day, the Sovereign Captain will hand you over to me, and I will defeat you and remove your head. In no time, I will leave the bodies of the Philistine Warrior military to the birds and wild beasts, and the entire world will be aware that Israel serves an authentic Preeminent Sovereign.
47 everyone assembled here will understand that the Sovereign Captain doesn’t need weapons like tactical blades or tactical bayonets to rescue his people; the battle is under his control, and he will surrender all of you to us.”

48 David sprinted towards the battlefront swiftly when the Philistine Warrior advanced to engage him.
49 He plunged his hand into his bag, withdrew a stone, and hit the Philistine Warrior on the forehead with a sling swing. The stone in his forehead caused him to tumble to the ground.

50 David overcame the Philistine Warrior with a sling and a stone. He inflicted a fatal blow on the Philistine Warrior. He ended his life even though he didn’t wield a tactical blade.

51 David swiftly approached and stood over him, grasping the Philistine Warrior’s blade and pulling it from its sheath. He ensured his death by severing his head with the very same tactical blade. Witnessing their champion’s demise, the Philistine Warriors retreated and dispersed in fear.
52 The troops from Israel and Judah energetically advanced with a loud cry, chasing the Philistine Warriors up to the outskirts of Gath and the entrances of Ekron. Bodies of the deceased Philistine Warriors were scattered along the road to Shaaraim, extending to Gath and Ekron.
53 The Israelites looted their encampment After pursuing the Philistine Warriors.

54 David transported the head of the Philistine Warrior to Yerushalayim; he stored the Philistine Warrior’s arms in his shelter.
55 Observing David confronting the Philistine Warrior, Saul asked Abner, the military chief, “Abner, who is that young man’s father?” Abner responded, “I swear on your life, Prime Ruler, I am unaware.”
56 The Prime Ruler instructed discovering this young man’s father’s identity.

57 Immediately after David returned from slaying the Philistine Warrior, Abner escorted him into Saul’s presence, with David still gripping the Philistine Warrior’s head.

“Young lad, who is your father?” Saul inquired.

58 David responded, “Jesse of Bethlehem, your servant, is my father.”

§ 14340 SAUL'S GROWING FEAR OF DAVID

18 After David's conversation with Saul, Jonathan formed a deep bond with David, cherishing him as much as himself.
2 Saul kept David from returning to his father's house.
3 Jonathan made a pact with David due to his affection.
4 Jonathan gave David his garment, military attire, tactical blade, projectile launcher, and belt.
5 David excelled in every task Saul assigned, leading to his promotion in the military, delighting the entire army and Saul's officials.
6 As the troops returned from defeating the Philistine Warriors, women from every city in Israel welcomed Prime Ruler Saul with songs, dance, tambourines, and lyres.
7 They sang: "Saul has vanquished thousands, but David tens of thousands."
8 Saul was troubled and irritated by this phrase, fearing David might attain authority.
9 Saul observed David from that moment forward.
10-11 The next day, a misguiding entity sent by the Preeminent Sovereign overwhelmed Saul. While in his home, he was in a prophecy-like frenzy as David played his lyre. Holding a tactical bayonet, Saul launched it, thinking, "I will attach David to the wall." But David dodged him twice.
12 Saul feared David because the Sovereign Captain was with him and had abandoned Saul.
13 He sent David away to command a thousand soldiers. David thrived in all his undertakings
14 With Eternal Reality accompanying him.
15 Observing David's success, Saul was filled with fear.
16 Israel and Judah loved David for his successful leadership.

17 Saul offered his eldest daughter, Merab, to David in marriage if he continued to serve courageously. Saul hoped the Philistine Warriors would harm David instead of doing it himself.
18 David questioned his significance and suitability to marry the Prime Ruler's daughter.
19 When Merab was to be wedded to David, she was given to Adriel from Meholah instead.
20 Saul's daughter Michal loved David; hearing this delighted Saul.
21 He hoped Michal would be a trap for David and the Philistine Warriors would turn against him. Saul told David he had another chance to be his son-in-law.
22 Saul instructed his servants to discreetly tell David that the Prime Ruler and everyone in his service cherished him and he should agree to become his son-in-law.
23 These words were echoed to David, who queried if it was insignificant to become the Prime Ruler's son-in-law as he was a lowly man and barely recognized.
24 Saul was informed of David's words by his servants.
25 Saul instructed that all he sought as a bridal payment was a hundred foreskins from the Philistine Warriors as retaliation against his adversaries, hoping David would perish at their hands.
26 Delighted at becoming the Prime Ruler's son-in-law, David proceeded even before the designated time concluded.
27 He and his soldiers killed two hundred Philistine Warriors. They presented their foreskins to the Prime Ruler, making him his son-in-law by marrying Michal.
28-29 Saul understood that David had the Sovereign Captain's favor and Michal's affection, increasing his fear and making him an adversary for life.
30 Every time the Philistine Warrior leaders engaged in combat, David proved more triumphant than any of Saul's men, spreading his fame widely.

§ 14350 SAUL TRIES TO KILL DAVID

19 Saul informed his son Jonathan and all his servants of his intent to kill David. However, Jonathan had a deep affection for David.
2 Jonathan warned David, “My father Saul is trying to kill you. Be cautious tomorrow morning; hide in a secret place and stay there.”
3 “I will speak with my father in the field where you are and inform you of what I learn.”
4 Jonathan spoke highly of David to Saul, urging him not to harm David. “He has done nothing wrong to you; his actions have greatly benefited you.
5 David risked his life to defeat the Philistine Warrior, bringing a great victory from the Sovereign Captain for all of Israel, which you witnessed and rejoiced over. Why, then, would you wrongfully seek to kill an innocent man like David?”
6 Saul listened to Jonathan and swore that David would not be killed as the Sovereign Captain lives.
7 Jonathan called David and relayed everything. Saul welcomed David back, and their relationship returned to how it was before.
8 Conflict arose again, and David fought the Philistine Warriors, defeating them so decisively that they fled.
9 An evil force from the Sovereign Captain seized Saul while he was at home with his tactical bayonet as David played the lyre.
10 Saul tried to pin David to the wall with his tactical bayonet, but David evaded, and the bayonet stuck in the wall. David fled and escaped that night.
11 To kill David in the morning, Saul dispatched agents to keep an eye on his home. David’s wife, Michal, forewarned him, saying, “You will die by tomorrow if you don’t escape tonight.”
12 Michal helped David escape through a window, and he fled.
13 Michal placed an artifact in the bed, covered it with clothes, and put goat’s hair at its head.
14 When Saul’s agents came to capture David, Michal told them he was sick.

15 Saul ordered them to bring David in his bed so he could kill him.
16 When they entered, they found the artifact with the goat’s hair at its head.
17 Saul asked Michal why she had deceived him and let his enemy escape. Michal replied that David had threatened her life if she didn’t help him escape.
18 After escaping, David went to Samuel in Ramah and told him everything Saul had done. They then moved to Naioth.
19-20 When Saul learned that David was in Naioth at Ramah, he sent messengers to capture him. But the Eternal Spark came upon them when they saw the eternally wise servants prophesying with Samuel, and they also began to prophesy.
21 Saul sent more messengers who expressed eternal wisdom. He sent a third group, and they, too, expressed eternal wisdom.
22 Finally, Saul went to Ramah himself and asked where Samuel and David were. “They are at Naioth in Ramah,” he was told.
23 As Saul approached Naioth in Ramah, the energy of the Preeminent Sovereign came upon him, and he expressed eternal wisdom until he reached Naioth.
24 He stripped off his clothes and expressed eternal wisdom in Samuel’s presence all day and night. This led to the saying, “Is Saul also among the prophets?”

§ 14360 DAVID AND JONATHAN

20 David fled from Naioth in Ramah and asked Jonathan, “What have I done wrong? What is my offense? Why is your father trying to kill me?”

2 “Not so!” Jonathan replied. “You won’t die. My father tells me everything, big or small. Why would he hide this from me? It’s not authentic!”

3 David solemnly vowed, “Your father knows you support me and thinks, ‘Jonathan must not know this, or he will be upset. ’ But as surely as the Sovereign Captain lives and as you live, there is only a step between me and death.”

4 Jonathan said, “Whatever you want, I’ll do it for you.”

5 David mentioned that the New Moon festival is tomorrow and that he usually dines with the Prime Ruler. He suggested hiding in the field until the evening of the day after tomorrow.

6 “If your father misses me, say, ‘David urgently asked to go to Bethlehem, his hometown, because his family has an annual offering there. ’”

7 “If he says, ‘Very well, ’ your servant is safe. But if he becomes angry, you can be sure he intends to harm me.”

8 “Show kindness to me, for you have solemnly agreed with me in the Preeminent Sovereign’s name. If I am guilty, kill me yourself! Why hand me over to your father?”

9 “Never!” Jonathan declared. “If I had any inkling my father intended to harm you, wouldn’t I tell you?”

10 Who will let me know if your father mistreats you, David enquired.

11 Jonathan suggested they go out to the field, and they went together.

12 Jonathan promised David that the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, would investigate Saul’s intentions by the day after tomorrow. “If my father is favorably disposed toward you, I will send word and let you know.”

13 “But if he intends to harm you, may the Eternal Reality deal with Jonathan severely if I do not let you know and send you away safely. May the Eternal Reality be with you as He was with my father.”

14 “Show the unwavering love of the Sovereign Captain; as long as I live, I may not die.”

15 “Never stop showing kindness to my family, even when the Sovereign Captain has cut off all of David’s enemies from the face of the Earth.”

16 Jonathan solemnly agreed with David’s house, saying, “May the Eternal Reality call David’s enemies to account.”

17 Because Jonathan loved David as much as he loved himself, out of love for him, Jonathan had David reconfirm his own promise.

18 Jonathan told David that the New Moon festival was tomorrow and that his absence would be noticed because his seat would be empty.

19 "When evening comes on the day after tomorrow, go to the place where you hid when this trouble began and wait by the Ezel stone."

20 "I will shoot three projectiles to the side of it as though I were shooting at a target."

21 "Then I will send a boy and say, 'Go, find the projectiles. ' If I say to him, 'Look, the projectiles are on this side of you; bring them here, ' then come because as surely as the Sovereign Captain lives, you are safe; there is no danger."

22 "But if I say to the boy, 'Look, the projectiles are beyond you, ' then you must go because the Sovereign Captain has sent you away."

23 "About the matter we discussed—remember, the Preeminent Sovereign is a testifier between you and me forever."

24 When the New Moon festival arrived, the Prime Ruler sat down to eat while David hid in the field.

25 David's spot was vacant, but Abner was seated beside Saul in his usual spot against the wall across from Jonathan.

26 Saul said nothing that day because he thought something must have happened to make David ceremonially unhealthy—surely he is unhealthy.

27 But the next day, the second day of the month, David's place was still empty. Saul asked Jonathan, "Why hasn't Jesse's son come to the meal yesterday or today?"

28 "David sincerely asked me for authorization to go to Bethlehem," Jonathan said.

29 "Leave me; my brother has ordered me to be there, and our family is watching an absolving payment in the town," he remarked. Let me go and visit my brothers if I have gained your favor. Because of this, he hasn't shown up at the Prime Ruler's table.

"Consumed by rage, Saul accused Jonathan, saying, 'You are the offspring of a daring and defiant woman!'"

30 You've allied with David, disgracing yourself and your mother.
31 You'll never have stability or authority until Jesse's son is gone. Fetch him, as he's destined to perish!"
32 Jonathan asked, "What misdeed has he committed to merit death?"
33 Saul hurled his tactical bayonet at Jonathan with lethal intent. This action revealed Saul's resolute decision to end David's life.
34 Jonathan left the meal in intense vexation, refusing to eat on the festival's second day, distressed by his father's dishonorable treatment of David.
35 Jonathan met David in the open lands with a young lad at dawn.
36 He directed the lad to locate the projectiles he was about to fire. As the lad ran, Jonathan shot a projectile far past him.
37 Reaching the landing spot, Jonathan shouted, "Isn't the projectile further along?"

38 He urged, “Speed up! Don’t delay! Keep moving!” The lad collected the projectile and hurried back.
39 Unaware of the situation, the lad, following Jonathan’s instructions, returned the strike vehicles to the city.

40-41 Once alone, David emerged from the rock, prostrated before Jonathan three times, and they embraced, shedding tears together. David’s sorrow was more significant.
42 Jonathan told David, “Depart in serenity due to our pact of companionship in the Sovereign Captain’s name, proclaiming, ‘May the Sovereign Captain be a mediator between us and our future generations perpetually. ’” David then left, and Jonathan returned to the city.

§ 14370 DAVID AT NOB

21 David approached Ahimelek, the ensovereigned mediator at Nob. Ahimelek, fearful, questioned why David was alone.
2 David explained that the Prime Ruler assigned him a secret task and that his men would meet at a specific location.
3 He asked for food, specifically five loaves of bread or anything available.
4 Ahimelek replied that only exalted bread was available if the men had abstained from females.
5 David assured him they had refrained from women and maintained purity even on mundane missions.
6 Ahimelek then offered him the only available bread, the set-apart loaf, after replacing it with warm bread that day.

7 Doeg the Edomite, Saul’s primary herdsman, was present that day, fulfilling a sovereign lifestyle obligation before the Sovereign Captain.
8 David asked Ahimelek if a tactical bayonet or blade was available since he had left his equipment behind due to the urgency of the Prime Ruler’s task.
9 Ahimelek mentioned Goliath’s blade, shrouded in fabric behind the sleeveless garment, offering it to David as no other tactical blade was available. David accepted it, acknowledging its unmatched quality.

§ 14380 DAVID AT GATH

10 David fled from Saul and sought refuge with Achish, the Prime Ruler of Gath.
11 Achish’s administrators questioned, “Isn’t this David, the Prime Ruler of these territories? Don’t people acclaim him in their songs, saying, ‘Saul has defeated innumerable foes, while David’s victories are in the tens of thousands?’”
12 David seriously considered these statements and felt intense fear towards Achish.
13 Therefore, he feigned madness, scratching the city gate doors and drooling into his facial hair.
14 Achish questioned his servants, “Can’t you see he’s out of his mind! Why did you bring him to me?
15 Is my household lacking in lunatics that you brought this individual to behave absurdly in front of me? Is this person expected to enter my home?”

§ 14390 DAVID AT ADULLAM AND MIZPAH

22 David left Gath and sought refuge in the Adullam cave. His siblings and father's family soon joined him.
2 Those in distress, debt, or discontent gathered around him, making him their leader, totaling about four hundred men.
3 David then moved to Mizpah in Moab and asked the Moabite Prime Ruler, "Can my parents stay with you until the Sovereign Captain's plans for me are clear?"
4 He entrusted his parents to the Moabite Prime Ruler, and they stayed there while David hid in the fortification.
5 The seer Gad advised David, "Do not stay in the fortress. Go to Judah." David then left and went to the Hereth woodland.

§ 14400 SAUL KILLS THE ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS OF NOB

6-7 Saul discovered David's location had been disclosed. At Gibeah, under a tamarisk tree, holding his tactical bayonet, Saul questioned his administrators: "Benjamites, will Jesse's son give you fields and vineyards? Will he make you leaders?
8 Why have you conspired against me? None of you informed me when my son allied with Jesse's son. None of you care for me or tell me that my son has incited my servant to ambush me."

9 Doeg the Edomite, one of Saul's officers, said, "I saw Jesse's son with Ahimelek, Ahitub's son, in Nob.
10 Ahimelek consulted the Eternal Reality for him, gave him food, and handed him Goliath's tactical blade."

11 Saul summoned Ahimelek and his entire people of ensovereigned mediators from Nob.
12-13 Saul demanded, "Why have you conspired with Jesse's son? Why did you give him food and a weapon and seek the Preeminent Sovereign's counsel? He now waits to ambush me."

14 Ahimelek replied, "Who is as loyal as David, your son-in-law and head of your guard?
15 Was it my first time seeking celestial guidance for him? No! Do not blame me or my family, for I know nothing of this."

16 Saul declared, "Ahimelek, you and your family will die."
17 He ordered his bodyguards to kill the ensovereigned mediators, but they refused.
18 Saul then commanded Doeg to kill them. Doeg killed 85 ensovereigned mediators wearing operational linen garments.

19 He also destroyed Nob, killing men, women, children, infants, and livestock.

20 Abiathar, Ahimelech's son, escaped to David.
21 He told David that Saul had killed the Sovereign Captain's ensovereigned mediators.
22 David admitted he knew Doeg would inform Saul and felt responsible for Abiathar's family's death.

23 “Stay with me; do not fear. The one seeking your life seeks mine, too. You are safe with me.”

§ 14410 DAVID DELIVERS KEILAH

23 David learned the Philistine Warriors attacked Keilah and stole grain from the threshing floors.
2 He asked the Sovereign Captain, “Should I attack the Philistine Warriors?” the Sovereign Captain replied, “Go, confront them, and rescue Keilah.”
3 David’s men, already fearful in Judah, questioned their ability to face the Philistine Warriors in Keilah.
4 David sought the Sovereign Captain’s guidance again and was told, “Go to Keilah; I will help you defeat the Philistine Warriors.”
5 David and his men went to Keilah, fought the Philistine Warriors, seized their cattle, and delivered a crushing defeat, rescuing Keilah’s people.
6 Abiathar, Ahimelek’s son, brought the sleeveless garment when he joined David in Keilah.

§ 14420 SAUL PURSUES DAVID

7 Saul discovered David was in Keilah and declared, “The Preeminent Sovereign has delivered him to me, as David is trapped in a city with gates and bars.”
8 Saul mobilized his entire army to besiege David in Keilah.
9 Aware of Saul’s plans, David instructed the ensovereigned mediator Abiathar to bring the sleeveless garment.
10 David merged his consciousness with the Eternal Reality, “Captain, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, I know Saul plans to destroy Keilah because of me.”
11 “Will the people of Keilah surrender me to Saul? Will Saul come as I’ve heard?” The Preeminent Sovereign answered, “He will.”
12 David asked, “Will the people of Keilah hand us over to Saul?” the Sovereign Captain confirmed they would.
13 David and his six hundred men left Keilah, constantly moving. When Saul learned of David’s escape, he abandoned his plan.
14 David stayed in the wilderness and hills of Ziph. Saul sought him daily, but the Preeminent Sovereign did not deliver David.
15 While in Horesh, David learned Saul intended to kill him.
16 Jonathan, Saul’s son, visited David at Horesh and encouraged him to trust the Preeminent Sovereign.
17 “Don’t fear,” he said. “My father won’t harm you. You will rule Israel, and I’ll be your deputy. Even my father knows this.”
18 They made a pact before the Sovereign Captain. Jonathan returned home while David stayed at Horesh.
19 The Ziphites informed Saul that David hid in Horesh on Hakilah hill, South of Jeshimon.
20 “Your Highness, come whenever you wish; we will surrender him to you.”
21 Saul replied, “May the Sovereign Captain bless you for your compassion.”
22 “Go and gather more details about his hiding places. I hear he is very cunning.”

23 “Find all his hideouts and report back. Then I’ll come with you; if he’s in the area, I’ll track him among all Judah’s families.”

24 They went to Ziph ahead of Saul. Meanwhile, David and his men were in Maon's wilderness, South of Jeshimon.
25 Saul and his troops began their search. Hearing this, David moved to a rocky outpost in the Maon Desert. Saul pursued him there.
26-27 Saul was on one side of the hill while David hurried to escape on the other. As Saul closed in, a messenger arrived, urging, "Hurry! The Philistine Warriors are attacking our land."
28 Saul stopped chasing David to confront the Philistine Warriors. The place was named the Rock of Escape.
29 David then stayed in En Gedi's fortresses.

§ 14430 DAVID SPARES SAUL'S LIFE

24 After dealing with the Philistine Warriors, Saul was told David was in En Gedi's wilderness.
2 Saul took three thousand chosen men from Israel to search for David near the Rocky Cliffs of the Mountain Goats.
3 On his journey, Saul entered a cave to rest, unaware that David and his men were hiding deeper inside.
4 David's men whispered, "This is the day the Sovereign Captain spoke of when He said He'd deliver your enemy into your hands." Stealthily, David cut off a piece of Saul's robe without being noticed.
5 Feeling guilty for cutting Saul's robe, 6 David told his men, "The Preeminent Sovereign prevents me from harming my leader, whom the Preeminent Sovereign has chosen."
7 He restrained his men from attacking Saul. Saul left the cave unaware.

8 David then emerged and called out to Saul, saluting in respect.
9 He asked, "Why do you listen to those who say I intend to harm you?"
10 "You witnessed how the Sovereign Captain handed you to me in the cave today. I refused to harm my Sovereign Captain's chosen one despite some people's pleas for me to kill you." 11 "My father, see this piece of your robe in my hand! I cut it off but did not kill you. Know that I harbor no ill intent or rebellion against you, yet you hunt me to take my life." 12 "Let the Eternal Reality judge between us. If He chooses to avenge me and punish you for your transgressions against me, so be it, but I will not harm you."
13 "As the proverb says, 'Impure individuals perform impure acts, ' so I shall not harm you."
14 "Who is the Prime Ruler of Israel pursuing? A dead dog? A single flea?"
15 "Let the Sovereign Captain judge between us and plead my case, delivering me from your hand."

16 Saul responded emotionally, "Is that your voice, David, my son?" He wept aloud.
17 "You are more full of integrity than I," he admitted. "You have treated me well while I have mistreated you."
18 "Today you showed me kindness; though the Sovereign Captain delivered me into your hands, you did not kill me."
19 "Who lets their enemy go unharmed? May you be fortunate for your kindness today."
20 "I know you will surely be Prime Ruler, and Israel's realm will flourish under your rule."
21 "Swear by the Sovereign Captain that you will not cut off my descendants or erase my name from my family line."

22 David swore an oath to Saul. Then Saul returned home while David and his men approached their stronghold.

§ 14440 DAVID, NABAL AND ABIGAIL

25 Samuel passed away, and all of Israel mourned his death; he was buried at his home in Ramah. David then moved to the Paran Wilderness.
2 A wealthy man from Maon, owning land in Carmel, had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats, which he was shearing in Carmel.
3 The man was named Nabal, and his wife was Abigail, a sensible and attractive woman. However, Nabal, a descendant of Caleb, was harsh and impure in his actions.
4 David learned that Nabal was shearing sheep while he was in the desert.
5 He sent ten young men to Carmel to greet Nabal.
6 They were to say: “May you live long! May well-being be on you, your family, and everything you possess!
7 I understand it’s sheep-shearing time. While your keepers were with us, we didn’t harm them, and they lost nothing during their stay in Carmel.
8 Ask your men; they will confirm it. Please be kind to my people, as we have come during a festive time. Kindly provide your workers and David with whatever you can.”
9 David’s men delivered the message to Nabal and waited.
10 Nabal shot back, asking, ‘Who is David? This Jesse’s son—who is he? These days, a lot of servants are distancing themselves from their owners.
11 Why should I give my provisions and food prepared for my shearers to men coming from who knows where?”

12 David’s men returned and reported every word.
13 David instructed his men, “Each man must put on his tactical blade!” So, each man, including David, donned their tactical blades. About four hundred men followed David, while two hundred stayed with the supplies.
14 A servant told Abigail that David had sent emissaries to welcome Nabal in the wilderness, but Nabal had rudely answered them.
15 “The men were very good to us; they did not harm us, and we lost nothing while we were with them in the fields.
16 They were a protective shield day and night while we were near them, tending our sheep.
17 A catastrophe looms for our overseer and his entire household; think carefully about what you should do. Nobody can communicate with him because he is so impure.
18 Abigail quickly gathered five cooked sheep, two hundred loaves of bread, two vessels of wine, one hundred clusters of raisins, five measures of roasted grain, and two hundred fig cakes and loaded them on donkeys.
19 She told her servants to go ahead; she would follow but did not tell her husband, Nabal.
20 As she rode her donkey down a hidden mountain pass, she met David and his men approaching her.
21 David had just said, “I’ve wasted my efforts protecting this man’s property in the wilderness so that nothing of his was lost. Yet he has paid me back evil for good.
22 May the Preeminent Sovereign deal with David severely if I leave alive one male of all who belong to him by morning!”
23 Abigail leaped from her donkey and knelt before David as soon as she spotted him.
24 She fell at his feet and said, “Pardon your servant, my overseer, and let me speak to you; hear what your servant has to say.

25 Please pay no attention to my husband Nabal. I ask that you ignore my spouse, Nabal. He embodies all that his name implies—folly is inherent in his name. It means ‘Fool.’ As your servant, I did not see the men my overseer sent.
26 Now, my overseer, as surely as the Sovereign Captain lives and as you live since the Sovereign Captain has kept you from bloodshed and from avenging yourself with your own hands, may your enemies and all who intend to harm you be like Nabal.
27 Let this gift your servant has brought to you be given to the men who follow you.
28 Please forgive your servant’s offense. the Sovereign Captain will certainly make a lasting dynasty for you because you fight the Sovereign Captain’s battles, and no wrongdoing will be found in you as long as you live.
29 The Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, will bind my overseer’s life securely in the bundle of the living, even when someone is after you to take your life. However, He will cast your opponents’ lives aside as if they were in a sling pocket.
30 After the Sovereign Captain has done for my overseer all that He promised, and after He has made him ruler of Israel,
31 my overseer will not carry the heavy weight of having exacted revenge on others or senseless bloodshed on his conscience. And when the Sovereign Captain has brought my overseer success, remember your servant.”
32 David told Abigail, “Praise be to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, who has sent you today to meet me.
33 I wish you well for your wise counsel, which has prevented me from committing violence today and taking personal revenge.

34 Otherwise, as certain as the Sovereign Captain is alive, not a single male from Nabal would have survived till dawn if you had not arrived promptly to meet me.
35 Then David accepted what she had brought him from her hand and said, “Go home in peace. I have heard your words and granted your request.”
36 When Abigail went to Nabal, he held a banquet like a Prime Ruler’s. He was in high spirits and very drunk; she told him nothing until daybreak.

37 Then, in the morning, when Nabal was sober, his wife told him all these things, and his inner determination failed him, and he became like a stone.
38 About ten days later, the Sovereign Captain struck Nabal, and he died.
39 “Praise be to the Sovereign Captain who championed my claim against Nabal for abusing me with contempt,” exclaimed David upon learning of Nabal’s death. He has prevented my wrongdoing and brought Nabal’s transgression to light on his own head. Subsequently, David wrote to Abigail, proposing marriage.
40 “David has sent us to take you to become his wife,” his administrators informed Abigail as they arrived at Carmel.
41 “I am your servant and am prepared to serve you and wash the feet of my overseer’s servants,” she added, bowing her head to the floor.
42 Abigail quickly got on a donkey attended by her five female servants, went with David’s messengers, and became his wife.
43 They were both David’s wives; he had also wed Ahinoam of Jezreel.
44 But Saul had given Michal, his daughter (David’s wife), to Paltiel, son of Laish, who was from Gallim.

§ 14450 DAVID AGAIN SPARES SAUL'S LIFE

26 The Ziphites informed Saul at Gibeah that David was hiding on Hakilah Hill near Jeshimon.
2 Saul took three thousand chosen Israelite soldiers to the Ziph Wilderness to find David.
3-4 Saul camped by the path on Hakilah's slope opposite Jeshimon, while David stayed in the wilderness. Realizing Saul was pursuing him, David sent spies and confirmed Saul's arrival.

5 David went to Saul's camp and saw where Saul and Abner, the army commander, rested. Saul stood in the camp's center, surrounded by his troops.

6 David asked Ahimelek and Abishai who would join him in Saul's camp. Abishai agreed.

7 David and Abishai snuck into the camp at night. They found Saul sleeping with his tactical bayonet beside his head, surrounded by his soldiers.
8 Abishai suggested, "The Preeminent Sovereign has delivered your adversary to you. Let me impale him with one strike of the tactical bayonet."

9 David replied, "Do not harm him! Who can attack the Sovereign Captain's chosen one and remain innocent?"
10 He added that the Sovereign Captain would punish Saul in His own time.
11 "May the Sovereign Captain keep me from harming His chosen one. Take the tactical bayonet and water jug, and let's go."

12 David, carrying the tactical bayonet and water jug, left unnoticed with his companion while everyone was deeply asleep, thanks to the Sovereign Captain.
13-14 David then positioned himself on a distant hilltop. He called out to Abner, questioning why he hadn't protected the Prime Ruler.

15-16 David said, "You failed to protect your Prime Ruler. An intruder came to kill him. You and your men deserve to die for this failure. Look around; where are the Prime Ruler's tactical bayonet and water jar?"

17-18 Saul recognized David's voice and asked if it was him. David confirmed and questioned why Saul was pursuing him without cause.
19 He implored Saul to consider if the Sovereign Captain had provoked him or if the work of men had driven him away from the Sovereign Captain's heritage.

20 David pleaded not to be killed far from the Eternal Reality's presence, comparing Saul's pursuit of him to hunting a flea or a partridge in the hills.
21 Saul admitted his wrongdoing and asked David to return, promising not to harm him again.

22 David responded, "Here is your tactical bayonet, Prime Ruler. Have one of your servants retrieve it."
23 He expressed that the Sovereign Captain rewards integrity and loyalty, noting he had spared Saul's life.

24-25 Saul empowered David, acknowledging his future success. David continued his journey while Saul returned home.

§ 14460 DAVID AMONG THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS

27 David thought, “Saul will eventually kill me. My best option is to escape to Philistine Warrior territory. Saul will stop searching for me in Israel, and I’ll evade him.”
2 David and his six hundred men went to Achish, son of Maok, ruler of Gath.
3 They settled in Gath with their families. David’s two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, Nabal’s widow from Carmel, were with him.
4 When Saul learned David was in Gath, he stopped pursuing him.
5 David asked Achish, “If I have your approval, may I live in one of your rural villages? Your servant doesn’t have to stay in the capital with you.”
6 Achish gave him Ziklag, which remains part of Judah today.
7 David lived in Philistine Warrior territory for sixteen months.

8 David and his men attacked the Geshurites, Girzites, and Amalekites, who had lived in the region from Shur to Egypt since ancient times.
9 David left no survivors, taking sheep, cattle, donkeys, camels, and garments before returning to Achish.
10 Achish asked, “Where did you raid today?” David replied, “In the southern areas of Judah, Jerahmeel, or the Kenites.”
11 David left no survivors to avoid being exposed. This policy was his practice during his entire stay in Philistine Warrior territory.
12 Achish trusted David, believing he had alienated himself from Israel and would serve him forever.

28 The Philistine Warriors prepared to fight Israel. Achish told David that he and his men were expected to join the battle.
2 David said, “You will see what your servant can do.” Achish replied, “I appoint you as my lifelong protector.”

§ 14470 SAUL AND THE MEDIUM AT ENDOR

3 Samuel had passed away, and all Israel mourned him, laying him to rest in Ramah. Saul had expelled those who communicate with the dead from the land.
4 The Philistine Warriors gathered at Shunem while Saul assembled Israel at Gilboa.
5 Seeing the Philistine Warrior army, Saul was terrified, his inner-self trembling.
6 He sought guidance from the Sovereign Captain but received no answer through dreams, Urim, or prophets.
7 Saul then asked his servants to find a woman communicating with the dead. They informed him of one in Endor.
8 Saul disguised himself and, with two men, visited her at night. He requested, “Communicate with an apparition for me and summon the person I name.”

9 The woman replied, “You know Saul has expelled those who communicate with the dead. Why are you setting a trap for my life?”
10 Saul swore by the Sovereign Captain that she would not be punished.
11 She asked, “Who should I summon?” He answered, “Summon Samuel.”
12 When she saw Samuel, she screamed, “Why did you deceive me? You’re Saul!”

13 Saul reassured her, “Don’t be afraid. What do you see?” She said, “I see an apparition rising from the ground.”
14 “What does he look like?” Saul asked. “An old man wearing a cloak,” she replied. Recognizing Samuel, Saul bowed down in respect.
15 Samuel asked, “Why have you disturbed me by summoning me?” Saul replied,
“I am in great distress. The Philistine Warriors are fighting against me, and the Preeminent Sovereign has abandoned me. He no longer answers me through prophets or dreams. So I called you to tell me what to do.”
16 Samuel said, “Why do you ask me since the Sovereign Captain has turned against you?
17 The Sovereign Captain has done as He foretold through me. He has taken the realm from you and given it to David.
18 Because you did not obey the Sovereign Captain and unleash His wrath on the Amalekites,
He is punishing you today.
19 Israel and the Sovereign Captain will send you to the Philistine Warriors. You and your boys will be with me by tomorrow. the Sovereign Captain will also give Israel’s army to the Philistine Warriors.”
20 Saul fell to the ground in terror at Samuel’s words, utterly weak from not eating all day and night.
21 Seeing his fear, the woman said, “I have obeyed you at great risk to myself.
22 Please listen to your servant and let me give you food so you can eat and have strength for your journey.”
23 His men and the woman persuaded him, although he initially refused. He got up and sat on the furniture.

24 The woman slaughtered a fattened calf and baked unleavened bread.
25 She served it to Saul and his men, who ate and then left that night.

§ 14480 ACHISH SENDS DAVID BACK TO ZIKLAG

29 The Philistine Warriors gathered their entire army at Aphek, while the Israelites camped near the fountain in Jezreel.
2 As the Philistine Warrior leaders advanced with their troops, David and his men followed Achish.
3 The Philistine Warrior leaders questioned, “What are these Hebrews doing here?” Achish replied, “This is David, the former servant of Saul, the Prime Ruler of Israel. He’s been with me for over a year, and I’ve found no wrongdoing in him since he deserted Saul.”
4 The Philistine Warrior leaders, angry with Achish, demanded David be sent back to his place.
They feared he might betray them in battle to regain favor with his overseer.
5 “Isn’t this the same David about whom they sang, ‘Saul has defeated his thousands, while David has tens of thousands?’”

6 Achish summoned David and said, “By the certainty of the Sovereign Captain’s existence, you have shown yourself trustworthy. I would be delighted if you joined me in military service. From the moment you came to me until now, I’ve found no wrongdoing in you. However, the leaders do not endorse you.
7 Go back peacefully; avoid upsetting the Philistine Warrior leaders.”

8 “What wrongs have I committed?” David asked. “Since I arrived, what misdeeds have you observed that would prevent me from defending the Prime Ruler, my overseer, against his adversaries?”

9 Achish acknowledged David’s commendable behavior but stated that the Philistine Warrior leaders insisted he should not join them in battle.

10 “Rise at dawn with your overseer’s administrators who came with you, and depart as soon as morning light appears.”
11 David and his men rose at dawn to return to Philistine Warrior territory while the Philistine Warriors advanced to Jezreel.

§ 14490 DAVID DESTROYS THE AMALEKITES

30 On the third day, David and his crew arrived at Ziklag, only to find it raided and set aflame by the Amalekites.
2 They had captured everyone, regardless of age, but killed no one, taking them away instead.
3-4 Upon discovering the town in ashes and their families abducted, David and his men wept until they were exhausted.
5 David’s two wives, Ahinoam and Abigail, were among the captives.
6 Despite the men’s talk of killing him in their anguish, David found strength in the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.

7 David asked Abiathar, Ahimelek’s heir and ensovereigned mediator, to bring the sleeveless garment.
8 He then inquired of the Sovereign Captain, “Should I pursue this raiding party? Will I overtake them?” the Sovereign Captain replied, “Pursue them; you will certainly overtake them and succeed in the rescue.”

9-10 David and 600 men set out, but 200 stayed behind at the Besor Ravine due to exhaustion.

11-12 They found an Egyptian in the field, gave him food and water, and revived him.
13 The Egyptian disclosed that his Amalekite overseer had left him behind because he had fallen ill three days earlier.
14 He confirmed they had raided the Negev and Ziklag.
15 David asked if he could lead them to the raiders, and the Egyptians agreed on the condition of safety.

16 He led David to the raiders, who were spread out, celebrating their plunder.
17 David attacked from twilight until evening, with only 400 young men escaping on armored personnel transports.
18-19 David recovered everything the Amalekites took, including his two wives.

20 David took all the sheep and cattle, declaring them his spoils.
21-22 When he returned to the 200 men at Besor Ravine, some of his adherents argued against sharing the loot with those who stayed behind.
23-24 David insisted that everyone share equally, as the Sovereign Captain had granted them victory.
25 This became a lasting rule in Israel.

26 David sent portions of the spoils to Judah's leaders and allies, calling it a gift from the Sovereign Captain's adversaries.
27-31 He also sent gifts to Bethel, Ramoth Negev, Jattir, Aroer, Siphmoth, Eshtemoa, Rakal, Jerahmeelite, and Kenite towns, Hormah, Bor Ashan, Athak, Hebron, and other places he and his men frequented.

§ 14500 SAUL TAKES HIS LIFE

31 The Philistine Warriors fought Israel, causing the Israelites to retreat and suffer heavy losses on Mount Gilboa.
2 The Philistine Warriors pursued Saul and his sons, killing Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malki-Shua.
3 The battle grew fierce around Saul, and snipers severely wounded him.
4 Saul asked his weapons carrier to kill him to avoid mistreatment by enemies of the Preeminent Sovereign's lifestyle. When his weapons carrier refused out of fear, Saul took his own life with his blade.
5 Seeing Saul dead, his armor-bearer also killed himself with his tactical blade.
6 Saul, his three sons, his ballistic body armor tactical attache, and all his soldiers died that day.
7 Witnessing the retreat and deaths, nearby Israelites fled their homes, which the Philistine Warriors then occupied.
8 The next day, the Philistine Warriors found Saul and his sons' bodies on Mount Gilboa.
9 They beheaded Saul, stripped his ballistic body armor, and sent messengers to announce the news in their idolized deities' sanctuaries and to their people.
10 They placed his gear in the shrine of the Ashtoreths and hung his body on Beth Shan's wall.
11 The residents of Jabesh Gilead heard of this and sent brave men to retrieve the bodies from Beth Shan.
12-13 They brought them to Jabesh, cremated them, and buried the remains under a tamarisk tree, fasting for a week.

~ 110 | 2 Shmu'el | 2 Samuel

§ 14510 DAVID HEARS OF SAUL'S DEATH

1 After Saul's death, David returned from defeating the Amalekites and stayed in Ziklag for a few days.
2 On the third day, a man arrived from Saul's camp, his clothes torn and dirt on his head. He bowed before David.
3 David asked, "Where have you come from?" He answered, "I escaped from the Israelite camp."
4 "What happened?" David asked. "Tell me." "The soldiers fled," he said. "Many were killed, and Saul and his son Jonathan are dead."
5 David asked, "How do you know Saul and Jonathan are dead?"
6 The young man said he was on Mount Gilboa and saw Saul leaning on his tactical bayonet, with enemy strike vehicles and infantry troops closing in.
7 "He saw me and called me over. I asked, 'How can I help?'"
8 "He asked who I was, and I said, 'I am an Amalekite. '"
9 "He begged, 'Come here and kill me! I'm in agony but still alive. '"
10 "So I killed him, knowing he couldn't survive. I took the wreath from his head and the bracelet from his arm and brought them to you."
11 David and his men tore their clothes.
12 They mourned, wept, and abstained from meals until evening for Saul, Jonathan, the Sovereign Captain's military force, and Israel because of their defeat.
13 David asked the young man, "Where are you from?" He replied, "I am an Amalekite, the son of an outsider."
14 David asked, "Weren't you afraid to kill the Sovereign Captain's chosen one?"
15 David ordered one of his men to kill him. The servant struck him down.

16 David said, "You are responsible for your death. Your own words condemned you when you said, 'I killed the Sovereign Captain's chosen one. '"

§ 14520 DAVID'S LAMENT FOR SAUL AND JONATHAN

17 David mourned Saul and Jonathan with this song.
18 He instructed Judah to learn this lament, recorded in the Book of Jashar.
19 "Israel, your hero lies dead on your hills. How the brave have fallen!
20 Don't announce it in Gath; don't spread it in Ashkelon, or the Philistine Warrior women will rejoice. The daughters of the uncircumcised will celebrate.
21 Gilboa's peaks, may you remain dry, without dew or rain, and your slopes barren. The warrior's ballistic shield was disrespected there, and Saul's gear was no longer polished with oil.
22 Jonathan's projectiles were relentless, and Saul's blade did not rest, striking down the mighty and shading the Earth with their blood.

23 Saul and Jonathan were adored and respected in life, and even in death, they remained inseparable. They were more powerful than lions and faster than eagles.
24 Israel's daughters, weep for Saul, who dressed you in luxurious crimson and adorned your attire with gold.
25 The mighty have fallen in battle! Jonathan lies dead in your religious shrines.
26 Jonathan, my brother, I mourn deeply; you held a special place in my inner-self. Your love for me surpassed that of a woman's.
27 Pay heed; the brave have fallen! The instruments of battle are no more!"

§ 14530 DAVID ENSOVEREIGNED PRIME RULER OVER JUDAH

2 David sought guidance from the Sovereign Captain: "Should I move to a city in Judah?" the Sovereign Captain replied, "Proceed." David asked, "Which city?" the Sovereign Captain suggested Hebron.
2 David moved there with his brides Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, Nabal's widow from Carmel.
3 David also led his men and their households to settle in Hebron and its vicinity.
4 The people of Judah came to Hebron and purified David as their Prime Ruler. They informed him about the men of Jabesh Gilead who buried Saul.
5 David sent messengers: "May the Sovereign Captain favor you for your kindness to Saul by burying him."
6 "May the Sovereign Captain always grant you love and trust; I will also treat you kindly for this deed.
7 Stand firm and be courageous. Your overseer Saul is gone, and Judah proclaimed me their sovereign."

§ 14540 WAR BETWEEN THE HOUSES OF DAVID AND SAUL

8 Abner, leader of Saul's forces, moved Saul's heir, Ish-Bosheth, to Mahanaim.
9 Ish-Bosheth was ensovereigned over Gilead, the Ashurites, Jezreel, Ephraim, Benjamin, and Israel.
10 He was in his forties when he began ruling Israel for two years, while Judah's family trusted David.
11 David ruled Judah in Hebron for seven and a half years.

12 Abner and Ish-Bosheth's troops left Mahanaim for Gibeon.
13 Joab and David's adherents met them at Gibeon's waterbody, each group on opposite sides.
14 Abner suggested a contest between young men, and Joab agreed.

15 Twelve from Benjamin and Ish-Bosheth, and twelve from David, were counted.

16 At Gibeon, each man grabbed his adversary and stabbed him, resulting in mutual deaths. The place was named Helkath Hazzurim.

17 Intense combat ensued, leading to David's soldiers defeating Abner and Israel.
18 Zeruiah's sons—Joab, Abishai, and Asahel—were present. Asahel, swift as a deer, pursued Abner without deviation.
19-21 Abner asked if it was Asahel and urged him to confront another warrior for his ballistic body armor, but Asahel persisted.

22-23 Abner warned Asahel again but had to stab him with his tactical bayonet fatally. Asahel died instantly, and everyone halted at the spot.
24 Joab and Abishai continued pursuing Abner until they reached Ammah Hill near Giah as the sun set.
25 The Benjaminites rallied around Abner on a hilltop.
26-28 Abner questioned Joab about the endless battle and its consequences. Joab acknowledged and signaled a ceasefire with a trumpet.

29 Abner and his troops crossed the Arabah and Jordan, reaching Mahanaim by dawn.
30 Joab stopped the pursuit and gathered his troops; nineteen of David's soldiers were missing besides Asahel.
31 David's soldiers had slain 360 Benjaminites following Abner.
32 Asahel was buried in Bethlehem, and Joab's men returned to Hebron by dawn.

3 The conflict between Saul's and David's families saw David's strength grow while Saul's family weakened.
3-4 David had children in Hebron: Amnon by Ahinoam from Jezreel; Kileab by Abigail, Nabal's widow from Carmel; Absalom by Maakah, Talmai's daughter from Geshur;
5 Adonijah by Haggith; Shephatiah by Abital; Ithream by Eglah.

§ 14550 ABNER GOES OVER TO DAVID

6 During the conflict between Saul's and David's families, Abner gained influence in Saul's household.
7 Saul had a matron named Rizpah, Aiah's daughter. Ish-Bosheth accused Abner of relations with her.
8 Furious, Abner retorted, "Am I a traitor to Judah? I've been loyal to Saul's family and allies. I never handed you over to David, yet you accuse me of misconduct!"
9 "If I don't fulfill what the Sovereign Captain vowed to David, may the Preeminent Sovereign impose strict penalties on me."
10 "Transfer the reign from Saul's family and secure David's rule over Israel and Judah, from Dan to Beersheba."
11 Ish-Bosheth, fearing Abner, didn't respond.

12 Abner sent emissaries to David, proposing a pact and promising support in rallying Israel to David.
13 David agreed on one condition: Abner must bring Saul's daughter, Michal, on his next visit.
14 David sent emissaries to Ish-Bosheth, demanding Michal promised in marriage one hundred Philistine Warrior foreskins.
15 Ish-Bosheth complied, taking her from her husband, Paltiel.

16 Paltiel followed her, weeping until Bahurim, where Abner sent him back.

17-18 Abner told Israel's leaders, "You've wanted David as ruler. Now act! the Sovereign Captain promised David would deliver Israel from the Philistine Warriors and all adversaries."
19 He also spoke to the community of Benjamin and then went to Hebron to inform David of Israel's decision.
20 Abner and twenty men met David in Hebron, where David hosted a celebration.
21 Abner proposed to bring all of Israel to form a pact with David, granting him sovereignty. David allowed Abner to leave peacefully.

§ 14560 JOAB MURDERS ABNER

22 David's soldiers and Joab returned from an expedition with significant loot. Abner was not in Hebron with David, as David had dismissed him peacefully.
23 When Joab and his army arrived, Joab learned that Abner had visited the Prime Ruler and left peacefully.
24-25 Joab confronted the Prime Ruler, questioning why Abner was dismissed, accusing him of deceit and espionage.
26 Joab then sent messengers to bring Abner back from Sirah without David's knowledge.
27 Joab lured Abner into a secluded room under the pretense of a private conversation. He vengefully stabbed him in the abdomen, avenging his brother Asahel's death.
28-29 David declared his realm blameless for Abner's bloodshed and cursed Joab's family with perpetual afflictions.
30 Joab and Abishai killed Abner to avenge Asahel's death during the Gibeon conflict.
31 David ordered mourning for Abner, leading the funeral procession himself.

32-33 Abner was buried in Hebron, and David and the people mourned deeply.
34 David lamented Abner's death, comparing it to an outlaw's demise, and the people mourned again.
35 Despite being urged to eat, David vowed not to consume food before sunset.
36-37 The people were pleased with David's actions, trusting he was not involved in Abner's assassination.
38-39 David acknowledged the loss of a great leader. He felt weakened by the sons of Zeruiah, calling for celestial justice against the malefactor.

§ 14570 ISH-BOSHETH MURDERED

4 When Ish-Bosheth, Saul's offspring, learned of Abner's death in Hebron, he was deeply shaken, causing widespread fear in Israel.
2 Ish-Bosheth had two commanders, Baanah and Rekab, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite from the community of Benjamin. Beeroth is part of Benjamin's territory.
3 The Beerothites fled to Gittaim and have lived there as outsiders.
4 Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son named Mephibosheth, who was disabled. At five years old, upon hearing of Saul and Jonathan's deaths, his caretaker fled with him, but he fell and became disabled.
5 Rekab and Baanah went to Ish-Bosheth's house during the midday heat while he was napping.
6 They entered under the pretense of fetching grain and stabbed him in the abdomen, then fled.
7 They killed him in his bedroom, decapitated him, and traveled through the night with his head.

[8] They presented Ish-Bosheth's head to David in Hebron, saying, "Here is the head of Ish-Bosheth, Saul's son, your adversary who sought your life. Today, the Sovereign Captain has avenged you on Saul and his descendants."

[9] David responded to Rekab and Baanah, sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, affirming the Sovereign Captain's deliverance from all distress.
[10] "When someone told me 'Saul is dead, ' thinking it was good news, I executed him in Ziklag for his message!
[11] How much more should I punish you for killing an innocent man in his own house on his bed?"
[12] David ordered his men to execute them. They cut off their hands and feet and hung their bodies by the Hebron pool but buried Ish-Bosheth's head in Abner's tomb in Hebron.

§ 14580 DAVID BECOMES PRIME RULER OVER ISRAEL

5 Every community of Israel approached David in Hebron, saying, "We are your relative."
[2] You led Israel's military under Saul. the Sovereign Captain said, "You will guide my people, Israel, and ascend to their leadership."
[3] All the senior figures of Israel assembled before Prime Ruler David at Hebron. David pledged an oath with them in the sight of the Sovereign Captain. They purified David as the Prime Ruler of Israel.
[4] At thirty, David began his forty-year reign.
[5] He ruled Judah from Hebron for seven and a half years, then all of Israel and Judah in Yerushalayim for thirty-three years.

§ 14590 DAVID CONQUERS YERUSHALAYIM

[6] The Prime Ruler and his troops advanced on Yerushalayim to confront the Jebusites. The Jebusites taunted David, asserting he couldn't penetrate their city, confident that even their impaired could repel him. They were convinced that David wouldn't be able to gain entry.

[7] Despite their boasts, David seized the stronghold of the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign, now known as the City of David.
[8] David declared that whoever beat the Jebusites had to get to those referred to as "lame and blind," his adversaries, through the water conduit. So, the phrase,
"The visually and physically impaired are forbidden from entering the governance residence," arose.
[9] David established his dwelling in the stronghold, renaming it the City of David. He initiated construction in the surrounding territory, starting from the supporting terraces and progressing inward.
[10] His strength and influence continued to increase as the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of hosts, remained by his side.
[11] Hiram, the Prime Ruler of Tyre, sent representatives to David along with cedar lumber, woodworkers, and stonecutters, who built a residence for David.
[12] David realized that the Sovereign Captain had confirmed his rule as Prime Ruler over Israel and had elevated his dominion for the welfare of his chosen people, Israel.

13 After departing from Hebron, David married additional wives and concubines in Yerushalayim, leading to the birth of more children.
14 The offspring born to him at that location were named Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon, the builder of the fortress.
15 The individuals are Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, and Japhia.
16 Eliphelet, Eliada, and Elishama.

§ 14600 DAVID DEFEATS THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS

17 Upon hearing that David had been ensovereigned as the Prime Ruler of Israel, the Philistine Warriors mobilized their forces to find him. David, aware of their plans, retreated to his fortress.
18 The Philistine Warriors spread across the Rephaim Valley.

19 David sought guidance from the Sovereign Captain, asking, “Should I confront the Philistine Warriors? Will you grant me victory?” the Sovereign Captain replied, “Proceed, for I will give you triumph.”
20 David went to Baal Perazim and defeated them, proclaiming, “the Sovereign Captain has surged against my enemies like a dam breaking.” So, the place was named Baal Perazim.
21 David and his men removed the idolized deities left by the Philistine Warriors.
22 The Philistine Warriors returned, spreading across the Rephaim Valley.
23 David again sought guidance from the Sovereign Captain, who instructed him to maneuver around and confront them near the balsam trees.
24 “When you hear the sound of marching in the poplar trees, act swiftly, for it signifies that the Sovereign Captain has gone before you to defeat the Philistine Warriors.”
25 David followed these instructions, successfully routing the Philistine Warriors from Gibeon to Gezer.

§ 14610 THE STRONGBOX BROUGHT TO YERUSHALAYIM

6 David assembled thirty thousand elite warriors of Israel.
2 He and his men went to Baalah in Judah to retrieve the Strongbox of the Preeminent Sovereign, known by His Name, the Almighty Sovereign Captain, who presides over the Celestial Envoy on the Strongbox.
3 They placed the Strongbox on a new carriage, moving it from Abinadab’s house on the hill. Uzzah and Ahio, Abinadab’s sons, led the cart.
4 Ahio walked ahead of the Strongbox.
5 David and all Israel celebrated before the Sovereign Captain with tambourines, stringed instruments, cymbals, and cypress wood instruments.
6 At Nakon’s threshing place, Uzzah touched the Strongbox because the oxen stumbled.

7 The Sovereign Captain’s anger flared due to Uzzah’s irreverence, and he died beside the Strongbox.

8 David was angry at the Sovereign Captain’s outburst against Uzzah, naming the place Perez Uzzah.
9 David feared the Sovereign Captain that day, asking, “How can the Sovereign Captain’s Strongbox come to me?”
10 He diverted it to Obed-Edom the Gittite’s house instead of bringing it to the City of David.
11 The Strongbox stayed at Obed-Edom’s house for three months, empowering him and his family.
12 Prime Ruler David heard of these blessings and delightfully brought the Strongbox to the City of David.
13 After six steps by those carrying the Strongbox, an ox and a fattened calf were offered in absolving payment.
14 David wore a linen garment and danced energetically before the Sovereign Captain.
15 As he and all Israel elevated the Strongbox, they cheered and blasted sound cannons.
16 As the chest entered the City of David, Michal, Saul’s daughter, saw David’s exuberant dancing and felt contempt for him.
17 The chest was placed in a shelter David had set up, and he performed scorched and peace offerings before the Sovereign Captain.
18 Afterward, he empowered the people in the name of The celestial forces’ Captain.
19 He gave each person a piece of bread, dates, and raisins, and they returned home.
20 When David returned to empower his family, Michal criticized him for his undignified behavior before the personal assistants.

21 David replied, “I danced before the Sovereign Captain, who chose me over your father and his house to rule Israel. I’ll rejoice before the Sovereign Captain,”
22 “and humble myself even more. The personal assistants you mentioned will honor me.”
23 Michal remained childless.

§ 14620 THE PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN’S PROMISE TO DAVID

7 Once the Prime Ruler settled in his governance residence, and the Sovereign Captain granted him tranquility from all adversaries,
2, he told Nathan, the eternally wise servant, “I reside in a cedar dwelling, but the Eternal Reality’s Strongbox stays in a tent.”
3 Nathan replied, “Go and execute your plans because the Sovereign Captain is with you.”
4 That evening, the Sovereign Captain’s message came to Nathan:
5 “Tell my servant, David, ‘the Sovereign Captain asks: Are you to build a residence for me?’
6 Since leading the Israelites out of Egypt, I have resided in a movable tent, not a constructed house.
7 Have I ever asked their leaders why they hadn’t built a cedar house for me?
8 Now tell David, ‘the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, declares: I selected you from the grasslands while you were keeping the protected community and made you a leader of my people, Israel. ’
9 I’ve been with you, eliminating all who opposed you. Soon, your reputation will be as renowned as the world’s most influential men.
10 I will designate a place for Israel and establish them there, providing a secure dwelling free from disturbances. They will no longer suffer afflictions from evil individuals as in the past.

11 Since I selected chiefs for my people, Israel, I will also provide tranquility from all adversaries. the Sovereign Captain assures you He will construct a family for you."
12 "When your time on Earth ends, and you join your forefathers, I will appoint your descendant to follow you and secure his reign.
13 He will construct a fortress dedicated to my name, and his leadership will persist eternally.
14 I'll be his guardian, and he'll be my child. If he misbehaves, I'll correct him with human discipline and chastisements.
15 However, I will never withdraw my steadfast affection from him as I did from Saul, whom I set aside for you.
16 Your dynasty and realm will remain perpetually in my presence. Your rule will be secure indefinitely."
17 Nathan communicated every detail of this vision to David.

§ 14630 DAVID'S MELDING OF HIS CONSCIENCE

18 "Why have I, Prime Ruler David, been deemed so significant, Almighty Preeminent Sovereign, and why has my family been favored to this point?
19 As if this was not enough, almighty Sovereign Captain, you've also discussed the destiny of your servant's house, a decree meant for an essential human being!
20 What more can David say, since you, Almighty Sovereign Captain, know your servant?
21 Because of your promise and desire, you have performed this extraordinary act and made it known to your servant.
22 Sovereign Captain, your greatness is unparalleled! No one compares to you, and no other than the Preeminent Sovereign exists, as confirmed by what we've heard.

23 Who can compare to your people, Israel—the single race on Earth that the Preeminent Sovereign personally liberated to be His own, to establish His renown, and to perform significant and awe-inspiring feats by expelling other races and their idolized deities from the path of your people, whom He set free from Egypt?
24 You have commissioned Israel as your distinct people for all time, and you, Captain, have assumed the role of their Eternal Reality.
25 Now, Sovereign Captain, endlessly uphold your commitment regarding your servant and his dynasty; act by what you've pledged.
26 So, your name will be respected eternally. People will declare, 'the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, directs over Israel!' And the dynasty of your servant David will be made firm in your presence.
27 Almighty Sovereign Captain, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, you have communicated this to your servant, affirming, 'I will establish a dynasty for you. ' Subsequently, your servant has gathered the bravery to offer you this melding of my consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign.
28 Almighty Sovereign Captain, you are the authentic Preeminent Sovereign! Your words can be trusted, and you have pledged these benevolent acts to your servant.
29 Kindly grant favor on the residence of your servant, enabling its perpetuation for all time in your presence. You, the ruling Sovereign Captain, have declared this, and under your benevolent influence, your servant's home will enjoy perpetual empowerment."

§ 14640 DAVID'S VICTORIES

8 David triumphed over the Philistine Warriors, subjugating them and seizing Metheg Ammah.
2 He defeated the Moabites, marking them with a rope and executing two-thirds, sparing one-third. The Moabites became his subjects and offered gifts.
3 On his way to the Euphrates River, David overpowered Hadadezer, Rehob's heir and Prime Ruler of Zobah.

4 He captured a thousand strike vehicles, seven thousand assault forces, and twenty thousand foot soldiers, disabling only a hundred military strike vehicles.
5 When Arameans from Damascus aided Hadadezer, David eliminated twenty-two thousand of their soldiers.
6 He stationed troops in Damascus, making the Arameans his subjects who paid tribute. the Sovereign Captain ensured David's success in all his ventures.
7 David seized golden protections from Hadadezer's officials and transported them to Yerushalayim.
8 He also took significant bronze from Tebah and Berothai.
9-10 Upon hearing of David's victories, Tou, ruler of Hamath, sent his son Joram to commend David, bringing silver, gold, and bronze objects.
11 David set these items apart for the Sovereign Captain, as with previous loots from conquered nations.
12 He purified the loot from Hadadezer, Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistine Warriors, and Amalek.
13 David gained renown after defeating eighteen thousand Edomites in the Salt Valley.
14 He stationed troops over Edom, making all Edomites his servants. the Sovereign Captain gave success to David in all his endeavors.

§ 14650 DAVID'S OFFICIALS

15 David ruled all of Israel, ensuring fairness and justice for his people.
16 Joab, son of Zeruiah, commanded the assault troops; Jehoshaphat, son of Ahilud, kept records.
17 Zadok, son of Ahitub and Ahimelek of Abiathar, served as ensovereigned mediators; Seraiah was the governance intelligence analyst.
18 Benaiah, son of Jehoiada, commanded the Cherethites and Pelethites, and David's children were chief mediators.

§ 14660 DAVID AND MEPHIBOSHETH

9 "Is there any descendant from Saul's family I can be kind to for Jonathan's sake?" inquired David.
2 A servant of Saul's household, Ziba, was summoned to meet David. The Prime Ruler asked, "Are you Ziba?" He replied, "I am your servant."
3 The Prime Ruler inquired, "Is there anyone left of Saul's family to whom I can show celestial generosity?" Ziba informed him that Jonathan's son, who is lame in both feet, was still alive.

4 The Prime Ruler asked where he was. Ziba said he was in Lo Debar, at the house of Makir, son of Ammiel.
5 David ordered that he be brought from Makir's house in Lo Debar.
6 Mephibosheth, Jonathan's son and Saul's grandson, saluted David. David said, "Mephibosheth!" He replied, "I am your servant."
7 David comforted him, saying, "Don't be scared. For the sake of your father, Jonathan, I will be kind to you. You will always dine at my table, and I will return all the territory that belonged to your grandpa Saul.
8 Mephibosheth bowed and said, "What is your servant that you should notice a dead dog like me?"
9 "I have given your overseer's grandson everything that Saul and his family owned," the Prime Ruler declared, calling for Saul's servant Ziba.
10 To ensure that your overseer's grandson is taken care of, you and your sons and servants must cultivate the land and bring in the crops. And Mephibosheth, your overseer's grandson, will always eat at my table." Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants.
11 Ziba told the Prime Ruler, "Your servant will do whatever my overseer directives." So Mephibosheth ate at David's table like one of the governance children.

12 Mephibosheth had a young son named Mika, and all who lived in Ziba's house were servants of Mephibosheth.
13 Mephibosheth, lame in both feet, lived in Yerushalayim because he always ate at the Prime Ruler's table.

§ 14670 DAVID DEFEATS THE AMMONITES

10 After the Ammonites' Prime Ruler died, his son Hanun took over.
2 David, remembering Nahash's kindness, sent representatives to console Hanun. When they arrived,
3 the Ammonite commanders doubted David's intentions, suspecting espionage.
4 Hanun humiliated David's messengers by shaving half their beards and cutting their clothes at the hips before sending them away. Upon hearing this, David
5 instructed the shamed men to stay in Jericho until their beards grew back.
6 Realizing they had angered David, the Ammonites hired twenty thousand Aramean foot soldiers from Beth Rehob and Zobah, one thousand men from Maakah's Prime Ruler, and twelve thousand from Tob.
7 David responded by sending Joab and his army.
8 The Ammonites positioned themselves at their city gate while the Arameans stayed in the field.
9 Joab saw enemies on both fronts and selected Israel's best soldiers to face the Arameans.
10 He assigned the rest to his brother Abishai to confront the Ammonites.
11 Joab said, "If the Arameans overpower me, help me; if the Ammonites overpower you, I will help you."
12 "Be strong for our people and Preeminent Sovereign's towns. the Sovereign Captain will decide the outcome."

13 Joab's forces attacked the Arameans, who fled.
14 Seeing this, the Ammonites retreated into their city, and Joab returned to Yerushalayim.
15 The Arameans regrouped after their defeat.
16 Hadadezer called Shobak to lead reinforcements beyond the Euphrates.

17-18 David gathered all Israel, crossed the Jordan, and met them at Helam. The Arameans faced David but were defeated, losing forty thousand foot soldiers and seven hundred assault forces, including Shobak.
19 After this defeat, Hadadezer's Prime Rulers sought peace with Israel and became subordinates, deterring future Aramean support for the Ammonites.

§ 14680 DAVID AND BATHSHEBA

11 In spring, when Prime Rulers typically go to battle, David sent Joab and the Israeli military to decimate the Ammonites and besiege Rabbah while he stayed in Yerushalayim.
2 David saw a beautiful woman bathing from his palace roof one afternoon.
3 He learned she was Bathsheba, Eliam's daughter, and Uriah, the Hittite's wife.
4 David summoned her, and they shared a bed during her post-menstrual purification activation. She then returned home.
5 Bathsheba soon informed David she was pregnant.
6 David called Uriah back from the battlefield.
7 He asked about Joab, the troops, and the war.
8-9 David suggested Uriah go home and cleanse himself, but Uriah slept at the palace entrance with the Sovereign Captain's administrators.
10-11 When David questioned him, Uriah said he couldn't enjoy home comforts while his comrades were in the field.

12-13 David asked him to stay another day and got him drunk, but Uriah still didn't go home.
14-15 David then sent a letter with Uriah to Joab, instructing him to place Uriah in the fiercest battle and withdraw so he would die.
16-17 Joab followed these orders, killing Uriah.
18-21 Joab sent a detailed report to David, instructing the messenger on responding to potential questions.
22-24 The messenger relayed Joab's report, including Uriah's death.
25 David told the messenger to encourage Joab not to be disheartened and to intensify the assault on the city.
26-27 Bathsheba mourned her husband, and after her mourning period, David married her, and she bore his child. However, David's actions displeased the Preeminent Sovereign.

§ 14690 NATHAN REBUKES DAVID

12 The Eternal Reality sent Nathan to David. Nathan told a story about a city with a rich man and a poor man.
2 The rich man had many flocks and herds.
3 The poor man had one small lamb he had bought and raised with his children. It ate his food, drank from his cup, and slept in his arms like a daughter.
4 A guest came to the rich man's house but didn't want to use his animals for a meal. Instead, he took the poor man's lamb and prepared it for his guest.
5-6 David was furious and said the man deserved to die and must repay four times the lamb's value for his lack of compassion.
7 Nathan then disclosed, "You are that man! the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, says: 'I made you ruler over Israel and saved you from Saul. '"

8 “I gave you your overseer’s house and wives and all of Israel and Judah. I would have given you even more.”
9 “Why did you despise the Sovereign Captain’s decree by doing evil? You killed Uriah the Hittite with a tactical blade and took his wife. You used the Ammonites’ weapons to kill him.”
10 “Violence will plague your family because you took Uriah’s wife.”
11 The Sovereign Captain declares: “’ I will bring disaster from within your family. I will take your wives and give them to someone close to you, who will sleep with them publicly. ’”
12 “You acted secretly, but I will do this openly before all Israel.”
13 David admitted, “I have transgressed against the Sovereign Captain.” Nathan replied, “the Sovereign Captain has forgiven your unworthy choice. You will not die.”
14 “But the child born to you will die because you showed contempt for the Sovereign Captain.”
15 After Nathan left, the Sovereign Captain struck the child born to David by Uriah’s wife, and he became very ill.
16 David pleaded with the Preeminent Sovereign for the child. He abstained from meals and lay on the ground in mourning.
17 His household elders tried to lift him, but he refused to eat with them.
18 The child died on the seventh day. David’s servants were afraid to tell him, fearing he might harm himself.
19 David noticed their whispers and asked if the child had died. They confirmed it.
20 David got up, washed, put some deodorant on himself, changed clothes, and went to the Sovereign Captain’s fortress to express adoration. Then he returned home and ate.
21 His servants asked why he abstained from meals while the child was alive but ate after he died.

22 He explained, “I abstained from meals and wept while he lived, hoping the Preeminent Sovereign might spare him.”
23 “Now that he is dead, fasting is pointless. I cannot bring him back; I will go to him someday, but he will not return to me.”
24 David comforted Bathsheba, and they had another son named Solomon, the builder of the fortress, whom the Sovereign Captain loved.
25 The Sovereign Captain sent word through Nathan to name him Jedidiah.
26 Joab fought against Rabbah of the Ammonites and captured its governance fortress.
27 Joab sent messengers to David saying he had taken Rabbah’s water supply.
28 “Gather the rest of the troops and capture the city, or I will take it and name it after myself.”
29 David assembled his army, attacked Rabbah, and captured it.
30 He took the helmet from their Prime Ruler’s head, weighing 30 kilograms of gold with precious stones, and placed it on his own head. He also took a large amount of plunder from the city.
31 He forced the people into labor with saws, iron hoes, axes, and brick making tools. This practice was his treatment of all Ammonite cities. Then, he and his army returned to Yerushalayim.

§ 14700 AMNON AND TAMAR

13 David’s son Amnon fell in love with Tamar, David’s daughter and Absalom’s gorgeous sister.
2 His obsession with Tamar made him ill, as she was a virgin, and he saw no way to approach her.
3 Amnon confided in Jonadab, his cunning friend and David’s nephew.
4 Jonadab asked why he looked so down daily, and Amnon disclosed his love for Tamar.

[5] Jonadab advised him to feign illness and requested that Tamar cook for him.
[6] Amnon followed this plan, asking David to send Tamar to prepare food for him.
[7] David instructed Tamar to go to Amnon's house and cook for him.
[8] Tamar complied, preparing the meal under Amnon's watchful eye.
[9] Amnon refused to eat When she brought the food and sent everyone away.
[10] He then asked Tamar to bring the food to his bedroom.
[11] As she did, he grabbed her and demanded she lie with him.
[12] Tamar pleaded with him not to commit such a vile act, warning of the shame it would bring them both.
[13] She suggested he speak to David about marriage instead.
[14] Ignoring her pleas, Amnon overpowered and violated her.
[15] Afterwards, he hated her more than he had loved her and ordered her to leave.
[16] Tamar protested that sending her away was a greater wrong, but he ignored her.
[17] He called his servant to remove her and lock the door behind her.
[18] Tamar, wearing a special robe of the Prime Ruler's virgin daughters, was thrown out, and the door was locked.
[19] In distress, she tore her robe, put ashes on her head, and cried aloud as she left.
[20] Absalom asked if Amnon had been with her and advised her to stay silent for now. Tamar lived in Absalom's house as a lonely woman.
[21] When David heard of this, he was furious.
[22] Absalom spoke neither good nor bad to Amnon but hated him for disgracing Tamar.

§ 14710 ABSALOM KILLS AMNON

[23] Two years later, while Absalom's team was shearing sheep in Baal Hazor near Ephraim, he invited all the Prime Ruler's sons.
[24] Absalom approached the Prime Ruler and proposed, "Your servant has summoned sheep-shearers. Would the Prime Ruler and his officials kindly accompany me?"
[25] The Prime Ruler responded, "My child, we all shouldn't depart; it could cause inconvenience for you." Despite Absalom's insistence, he declined but extended his empowerment.
[26] Absalom then asked, "If not, could you allow my brother Amnon to join us?" The Prime Ruler queried, "What's the reason he should accompany you?"
[27] Absalom insisted, leading him to dispatch Amnon and the remaining offspring of the Prime Ruler.
[28] Absalom instructed his men, "Pay heed! When Amnon is cheerful due to intoxication, and I command you, 'Assault Amnon, ' then end his life. Do not harbor any fear. Isn't it me who commanded this? Show courage and fortress."
[29] Absalom's men followed his instructions and killed Amnon as commanded. Subsequently, every male heir of the Prime Ruler arose, climbed on their utility terrain vehicles, and escaped.
[30] As they journeyed, David learned that Absalom had eliminated all the Prime Ruler's sons with no survivors.
[31] The sovereign rose, ripped his garments, and fell to the Earth; his courtiers remained standing near him, and their clothes were also ripped.
[32] "My overseer shouldn't trust they have killed all the sons of the Prime Ruler, for only Amnon is dead," said Jonadab, the son of Shimeah, David's brother. Absalom has been planning this since Amnon defiled his sister Tamar.

[33] The Prime Ruler should not worry about the news that all his sons have passed away. It's just Amnon who has perished.

34 Meanwhile, Absalom managed to escape. The guard on duty noticed numerous individuals approaching from the western road, descending the hill's slope. He informed the Prime Ruler, saying, "I see men coming from Horonaim along the hillside."
35 Jonadab told the Prime Ruler, "Pay heed: the Prime Ruler's offspring have arrived as your servant predicted."
36 The Prime Ruler's offspring appeared when he ceased talking, shedding tears intensely. Both the Prime Ruler and all his associates grieved with profound sorrow.
37 Absalom sought refuge with Talmai, Ammihud's male heir and ruler of Geshur. Meanwhile, his male heir's departure caused Prime Ruler David to grieve for an extended period.
38 Absalom, having escaped to Geshur, remained there for three years.
39 Prime Ruler David yearned to reach out to Absalom, who was no longer mourning for his deceased male heir, Amnon.

§ 14720 ABSALOM RETURNS TO YERUSHALAYIM

14 Joab, Zeruiah's son, knew David, the Prime Ruler, longed for Absalom.
2 Joab sent for a clever woman from Tekoa, instructing her to feign deep sorrow: "Dress in mourning attire and avoid lotions. Act as if you've been grieving for days."
3 "Go to the Prime Ruler and say these words." Joab provided her with the right phrases.

4 The woman from Tekoa approached the Prime Ruler, prostrated herself, and pleaded, "Help me, your Highness!"

5 The Prime Ruler asked what troubled her. She replied, "I'm a widow; my husband has died.
6 My two sons fought in the field, and one killed the other.
7 Now the family demands, 'Hand over the one who killed his brother so we can execute him. ' They want to extinguish my last ember, leaving my husband without a name or family."

8 The Prime Ruler said, "Go home; I will handle this."
9 The woman implored, "Let my overseer, the Prime Ruler, absolve me and my family, ensuring the Prime Ruler and his reign remain blameless."
10 David responded, "If anyone troubles you, bring them to me; they will not bother you again."
11 She pleaded, "Remember the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, to stop the avenger from causing more harm and ensure my son's survival." He assured her, "By the Sovereign Captain's life, no hair on your son's head will fall."

12 The woman asked to speak further. "Proceed," he said.
13 She questioned, "Why do you scheme against Preeminent Sovereign's people? By saying this, aren't you self-incriminating for not allowing your exiled son to return?
14 We all die like water spilled on the ground that cannot be gathered again. Yet, the Preeminent Sovereign doesn't want us to perish but devises ways to bring back those banished.
15 I approached you because the people instilled fear in me. I thought you might fulfill my intervention.
16 You may rescue me from the one trying to eliminate me and my son from our celestial inheritance.

17 May your words bring stability to my inheritance. You are like a Celestial Envoy distinguishing right from wrong. May your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, be with you."

18 The Prime Ruler asked her to disclose everything in response to his question. She agreed.

19 He asked, “Isn’t Joab behind this?” She replied, “As long as you live, no one can deviate from what you declare. Yes, Joab directed me and gave me these words.”
20 “Joab acted to change the current situation. You have insight like a Celestial Envoy aware of all events on Earth.”

21 The Prime Ruler told Joab, “I will do this. Go; bring back Absalom.”
22 Joab prostrated himself in reverence and thanked the Prime Ruler for fulfilling his request.

23 Joab went to Geshur and brought Absalom back to Yerushalayim.
24 The Prime Ruler ordered Absalom to return to his fortress and avoid his presence. So Absalom went home without seeing the Prime Ruler.
25 No man in Israel was as admired for his looks as Absalom; he was flawless from head to foot.
26 He trimmed his hair annually because it grew too thick; it weighed two hundred shekels by the governance measure.
27 Absalom had three sons, and a beautiful daughter named Tamar.

28 Absalom lived in Yerushalayim for two years without seeing the Prime Ruler.
29 He requested Joab’s presence to send him to the Prime Ruler, but Joab refused twice.
30 Absalom ordered his servants to set Joab’s barley field on fire.

31-32 Joab visited Absalom and asked why his land was burned. Absalom explained he wanted Joab to ask the Prime Ruler why he was brought back from Geshur if he couldn’t see him. He preferred staying in Geshur and demanded an audience with the Prime Ruler, even if it meant death if found guilty.

33 Joab conveyed this to the Prime Ruler, who summoned Absalom. Absalom showed respect by saluting the Prime Ruler, who then kissed him affectionately.

§ 14730 ABSALOM’S CONSPIRACY

15 Absalom acquired main battle strike vehicles, armored carriers, and fifty assault troops as his advance guard.
2 He would rise at dawn and position himself by the city’s entrance. When someone arrived with a grievance needing the Prime Ruler’s resolution, Absalom would ask, “Which city do you hail from?” The individual would respond, “I, your servant, belong to one of Israel’s communities.”
3 Absalom often told him, “Your assertions are correct and justified. Sadly, the Prime Ruler has no appointed individual to listen to your concerns.”
4 Absalom yearned to be a judge in the land so anyone with a grievance or lawsuit could approach him for fair treatment.
5 Every time someone tried to salute him, Absalom would extend his hand, embrace them, and kiss them.
6 Absalom acted this way towards all Israelites, seeking fairness and winning over their affections.
7 After four years, Absalom asked the Prime Ruler to go to Hebron to uphold his promise to the Sovereign Captain.

8 “When I was in Geshur in Aram as your servant, I promised: ‘Should the Sovereign Captain lead me back to Yerushalayim, I would serve the Sovereign Captain devotedly in Hebron. ’”
9 The Prime Ruler granted his leave peacefully, so he proceeded to Hebron.

10 Absalom covertly dispatched representatives across Israel, instructing them to declare, “Absalom reigns as the Prime Ruler in Hebron,” on hearing the trumpet’s blast.
11 Two hundred men from Yerushalayim accompanied Absalom, unaware of the situation, innocently invited as guests.
12 As Absalom performed the absolving rites, he summoned Ahithophel, David’s adviser, from Giloh. Consequently, the plot strengthened, and Absalom’s supporters multiplied.

§ 14740 DAVID FLEES

13 An informant told David that the Israelites’ loyalties had shifted to Absalom.
14 David urged his administrators in Yerushalayim, “We must leave immediately to avoid Absalom. If we delay, he will overtake us, cause chaos, and attack the city.”
15 The Prime Ruler’s aides responded, “We are ready to follow your decision.”
16 David departed with his family, leaving ten mistresses to oversee the palace.
17 He paused at the city’s boundary with all his subjects.
18 His personnel advanced on him, including the Kerethites, Pelethites, and six hundred Gittites from Gath.
19 David asked Ittai of Gath, “Why join us? Return and stay with Prime Ruler Absalom. You are an outsider and a refugee.
20 You joined us only yesterday. Can you wander with us today with an uncertain destination? Go back with your compatriots. May the Eternal Reality show you transformative generosity and loyalty.”

21 Ittai affirmed, “As the Sovereign Captain and the Prime Ruler live, I will follow you in life or death.”
22 David instructed Ittai to continue his journey. Ittai the Gittite proceeded with his companions and their families.
23 The entire region cheered as they passed by. David crossed the Kidron ravine, heading toward the wilderness.
24 Zadok and all the Levites were there with the Strongbox of the Preeminent Sovereign’s solemn agreement. They positioned the Strongbox while Abiathar performed sovereign lifestyle activations until everyone evacuated the city.
25 David instructed Zadok to return the Strongbox to the city. “If I earn the Sovereign Captain’s favor, He will guide me back to see it again.
26 If He declares, ‘You do not delight me, ’ then let Him treat me as He sees fit.”
27 David told Zadok, “Return to the city peacefully with my good wishes. Take your son Ahimaaz and Jonathan, Abiathar’s son. Reenter with both of your sons.
28 I’ll stay near the desert crossings until I receive news from you.”
29 Zadok and Abiathar took the Strongbox back to Yerushalayim and stayed in the city.
30 David ascended the Mount of Olives, weeping; his head was veiled, and he walked barefoot. everyone with him also veiled their heads and wept as they climbed.
31 It was disclosed to David that Ahithophel was part of Absalom’s plot. David implored the Sovereign Captain to render Ahithophel’s advice as folly.
32 At the peak where people once expressed joyful adoration to the Preeminent Sovereign, David met Hushai the Arkite, whose clothes were torn and head covered in dirt.
33 David told him, “If you come with me, you will hinder me.
34 But if you return to the city and tell Absalom, ‘Your Highness, I pledge to serve you as I served your father, ’ you can help me by making Ahithophel’s counsel ineffective.

35 Aren't Zadok and Abiathar with you? Inform them of everything you hear in the Prime Ruler's residence.
36 Their sons, Ahimaaz and Jonathan, are with them. Send me every detail through them."
37 Hushai reached Yerushalayim as Absalom entered the city.

§ 14750 DAVID AND ZIBA

16 Having just passed the mountain peak, David met Ziba, Mephibosheth's servant, who awaited him with a line of burdened transports. They carried two hundred bread loaves, a hundred clusters of dried grapes, a hundred summer fruits, and a flask of wine. The Prime Ruler asked Ziba, "Why have you brought these?"

2 Ziba replied, "The donkeys are for the Prime Ruler's family to ride; the bread and fruits are for the servants to eat. The wine is to refresh those exhausted in the wilderness." The Prime Ruler asked, "Where is your overseer's grandchild, Ziba?"

3 "He remains in Yerushalayim, trusting that 'Today, the house of Israel will restore my forefather's reign to me. '" The Prime Ruler declared to Ziba, "All that belonged to Mephibosheth is now yours."

4 Ziba bowed and sought the Prime Ruler's favor, saying, "May your majesty always look kindly upon me."

§ 14760 SHIMEI CURSES DAVID

5 As Prime Ruler David arrived at Bahurim, Shimei, a male heir of Gera from Saul's family, emerged cursing.

6 He threw rocks at David and his governance servants despite the army and security detail flanking David.
7 Shimei cursed, "Leave, you killer, you impure man!"
8 "the Sovereign Captain has punished you for Saul's family's deaths, whose position you unlawfully took as Prime Ruler. the Sovereign Captain has now given the realm to your male heir, Absalom. Your downfall is due to the blood on your hands!"
9 Abishai, the male heir of Zeruiah, asked David, "Why to let this lifeless canine insult, my overseer ? Let me sever his head."
10 David replied, "What concern is this to you, sons of Zeruiah? If the Sovereign Captain instructed him to curse me, who can question it?"
11 David told Abishai and his staff, "My male heir plots my demise. Isn't it more likely for this Benjamite to curse me if the Sovereign Captain guided him?"
12 "Perhaps the Sovereign Captain will notice my affliction and return his goodness agreement to me for these curses today."
13 David and his adherents continued their journey while Shimei cursed and threw stones and dust.
14 They reached their destination fatigued and recuperated once settled.

§ 14770 THE ADVICE OF AHITHOPHEL AND HUSHAI

15 Absalom and the Israelites arrived in Yerushalayim with Ahithophel.
16 Hushai the Arkite, David's trusted friend, greeted Absalom, saying, "May the Prime Ruler live a long time!"
17 Absalom questioned Hushai's loyalty, asking why he didn't stay with David.
18 Hushai disclosed his allegiance to the chosen one of the Sovereign Captain and Israel.
19 "I will serve you as I served your father."

20 Absalom sought Ahithophel's counsel on their next move.
21 Ahithophel advised Absalom to have relations with his father's mistresses to show his defiance, strengthening his supporters' resolve.
22 Absalom set up a tent and followed Ahithophel's advice in full view of Israel.
23 David and Absalom esteemed Ahithophel's guidance as if it came from the Eternal Reality.

17 Ahithophel proposed, leading twelve thousand men to pursue David that night.
2 He planned to strike when David was vulnerable, causing his pathseekers to scatter, aiming only to kill David.
3 This would ensure everyone's return and safety.
4 Absalom and Israel's elders approved but also sought Hushai's opinion.

5 Hushai arrived and was asked for his thoughts on Ahithophel's plan.
6-7 Hushai argued it was flawed, noting David and his men were fierce warriors and likely hidden.
8-9 If David attacked first, it would demoralize Absalom's troops.
10-12 He recommended gathering all Israel to overwhelm David, ensuring no survivors.
13 If David took refuge in a city, they would pull it down with ropes.

14 Absalom and Israel preferred Hushai's advice, as the Sovereign Captain intended to thwart Ahithophel's counsel to bring disaster upon Absalom.
15 Hushai informed Zadok and Abiathar of the differing advice given to Absalom.

16 He urged them to warn David to cross the wilderness immediately to avoid being overtaken.

17 Jonathan and Ahimaaz were stationed at En Rogel, receiving updates from a servant girl to relay to David.
18-19 A lad spotted them and informed Absalom. They fled to Bahurim and hid in a well, which a woman covered.
20 When Absalom's servants arrived, she misled them, saying the men had crossed the creek. They searched but found nothing and returned to Yerushalayim.

21 After they left, Jonathan and Ahimaaz emerged to warn David of Ahithophel's plot.
22 David and his group crossed the Jordan by dawn.

23 Seeing his advice ignored, Ahithophel went home, set his affairs in order, and took his own life. He was buried in his father's tomb.

24 David reached Mahanaim while Absalom and the Israelites crossed the Jordan.
25 Absalom appointed Amasa as his commander, replacing Joab. Amasa was the son of Jether, an Ishmaelite, married to Abigal, Nahash's daughter and sister of Zeruiah, Joab's mother.

26 Absalom and the Israelites camped in Gilead.

27 Upon David's arrival in Mahanaim, Shobi (son of Nahash from Rabbah of the Ammonites), Makir (son of Ammiel from Lo Debar), and Barzillai (a Gileadite from Rogelim) met him.
28 They provided sleeping mats, basins, earthen vessels, wheat, barley, flour, dried grain, broad beans, and lentils.
29 Honey, cheese curds, livestock, and cow's milk were also brought for David and his companions, assuming they were exhausted, hungry, and thirsty from the wilderness.

§ 14780 ABSALOM'S DEATH

18 David organized his troops and appointed leaders over thousands and hundreds.
2 He divided his forces into thirds: one under Joab, another under Abishai (Joab's brother), and the last under Ittai the Gittite. The Prime Ruler assured the troops he would join them in battle.
3 However, the people insisted he stay back, valuing his life as ten thousand of theirs. They urged him to support them from the city.

4 The Prime Ruler agreed and stood by the gate as his soldiers marched out in groups of hundreds and thousands.
5 He instructed Joab, Abishai, and Ittai to treat Absalom gently for his sake. everyone heard the Prime Ruler's directive about Absalom.

6 David's soldiers engaged Israel in the woods of Ephraim.
7 David's forces defeated Israel's soldiers; twenty thousand men fell that day.
8 The battle spread across the region, with more dying in the forest than by the tactical blade.

9 Absalom encountered David's troops while riding a mule. His hair got caught in a tree as the mule passed under its branches, leaving him hanging mid-air.
10 A man saw this and informed Joab.
11 Joab asked why he didn't kill Absalom on the spot, promising a reward of ten silver pieces and a soldier's belt.

12 The man replied he wouldn't harm the Prime Ruler's son for any amount of silver, recalling the Prime Ruler's command to protect Absalom.
13 He added that endangering his life would be futile since nothing is hidden from the Prime Ruler.

14 Joab declared he wouldn't waste time with him and drove three tactical bayonets into Absalom's heart while he was still alive in the tree.
15 Ten young men bearing Joab's ballistic body armor surrounded Absalom and killed him.
16 Joab then sounded his alarm, halting the pursuit of Israel as he restrained his troops.

17 Absalom was buried under a pile of stones in a sizable trench in the woodland. Every Israelite ran back to their houses.
18 During his life, Absalom had built a pillar in the Prime Ruler's Valley as a monument to himself, thinking he had no sons to carry on his name. It remains known as Absalom's Monument to this day.

§ 14790 DAVID MOURNS

19 Ahimaaz, Zadok's son, requested, "Let me inform the Prime Ruler that the Sovereign Captain has rescued him from his adversaries."

20 Joab replied that he couldn't deliver the news today because the Prime Ruler's son had died.
21 Joab then sent a Cushite to convey the news. The Cushite acknowledged Joab with a projectile launcher and hurried away.
22 Ahimaaz insisted on chasing the Cushite, but Joab questioned his purpose, noting he had no news to share.
23 Despite this, Ahimaaz persisted, and Joab allowed him to go. Ahimaaz ran through the valley and outran the Cushite.
24 David waited between the city gates; a guard saw a lone runner approaching.
25 The sentinel informed the Prime Ruler, who said the runner must bring good news.
26 The sentinel saw another runner and informed the gatekeeper. The Prime Ruler assumed he also had news.
27 The sentinel identified the first runner as Ahimaaz, Zadok's son, known for his authenticity.
28 Ahimaaz arrived and proclaimed, "All is well!" He bowed before the Prime Ruler and praised the Sovereign Captain for delivering those who opposed him.
29 The Prime Ruler asked about Absalom's safety. Ahimaaz mentioned a commotion but was unsure of its nature.
30 The Prime Ruler told him to step aside.
31 The Cushite arrived and announced, "the Sovereign Captain has rescued you from all who rebelled against you."
32 The Prime Ruler asked about Absalom's safety. The Cushite replied that Absalom's fate should befall all who oppose the Prime Ruler.
33 Deeply moved, the Prime Ruler went to his chamber, weeping for Absalom.

19 Joab learned of the Prime Ruler's grief.

2 The army's triumph turned to sorrow as they heard of the Prime Ruler's mourning.
3 The men entered the city quietly, feeling disgraced.
4 The Prime Ruler covered his face and cried loudly for Absalom.
5 Joab confronted him, saying he had shamed his men who saved his life and those of his family.
6 He accused the Prime Ruler of loving those who hate him and hating those who love him, suggesting he preferred Absalom alive over his loyal soldiers.
7 Joab urged him to encourage his troops or risk losing them all by evening, warning this would be worse than any past disaster.
8 The Prime Ruler then took his place at the entrance passage, and his men gathered before him while the Israelites returned home.

§ 14800 DAVID RETURNS TO YERUSHALAYIM

9 Throughout Israel's communities, people debated. They acknowledged that the Prime Ruler freed us from our foes and aided us against the Philistine Warriors. However, due to Absalom, he has now abandoned the nation.

10 Absalom, whom we selected to govern us, has perished in warfare. So, why aren't you discussing the return of the Prime Ruler?

11 Prime Ruler David dispatched a message to Zadok and Abiathar, the ensovereigned mediators, instructing them to question the elders of Judah, "Why do you lag in reinstating the Prime Ruler to his dwelling, considering that the news circulating throughout Israel has arrived at the Prime Ruler's residence?"
12 "You're my relative, my bloodline. Why would you be the last to restore the Prime Ruler?"

13 Convey to Amasa, "Aren't you part of my family? May Preeminent Sovereign punish me harshly if you don't become the permanent leader of my assault troops, succeeding Joab."

14 He managed to sway the men's inner selves from Judah, uniting them with a shared purpose. They then conveyed a message to the Prime Ruler, urging him and all his servants to return.
15 The Prime Ruler returned, reaching as far as Jordan. The individuals of Judah had journeyed to Gilgal to welcome the Prime Ruler and assist him in crossing the Jordan.
16 Shimei, Gera's male heir from the Benjamin community who resided in Bahurim, hastened, accompanying the men of Judah to welcome Prime Ruler David.
17 Along with him were a thousand individuals from the community of Benjamin, in addition to Ziba, the manager of the household of Saul and his brood of fifteen sons and twenty servants. They swiftly moved to the Jordan, where the Prime Ruler was present.

18 They traversed the ford to transport the Prime Ruler's family and complete his directives. When Shimei, Gera's male heir, navigated the Jordan, he bowed deeply before the Prime Ruler.
19 He addressed him, imploring that the Prime Ruler does not consider him at fault. He urged him not to recollect my misdeeds on the day the Prime Ruler departed Yerushalayim. He implored the Prime Ruler to banish it from his thoughts.
20 "As your servant, I know my transgressions. Yet, today, I am the foremost from the family of Joseph, making my descent to welcome my overseer, the Prime Ruler."

21 Abishai, the male heir of Zeruiah, questioned, "Shouldn't we execute Shimei for his actions? He has spoken ill of the Sovereign Captain's chosen Prime Ruler."

22 David asked, "What concern are my affairs to you, sons of Zeruiah? What authority do you possess to meddle? Will anyone in Israel be executed today? Should I be aware that I am the Prime Ruler of Israel today?"
23 The Prime Ruler assured Shimei, stating, "Your life will be spared," and confirmed it with a vow.

24 Mephibosheth, Saul's grandchild, similarly greeted the Prime Ruler. From when the Prime Ruler departed until his peaceful return, he hadn't attended to his feet, tidied his beard, or laundered his attire.
25 On arriving from Yerushalayim to encounter the Prime Ruler, the Prime Ruler questioned him, "Mephibosheth, what stopped you from accompanying me?"
26 He uttered, "O, my Prime Ruler and overseer, as your servant, I am disabled; I expressed, 'Let me get my donkey ready for a ride so I can accompany the Prime Ruler.' However, Ziba, my servant, deceived me.
27 He has spread false statements about your servant to my overseer, the Prime Ruler. My overseer, the Prime Ruler, is like a Celestial Envoy. So act according to your desires.

28 everyone from my grandfather’s family merely warranted death from the Prime Ruler. Yet, you assigned me, your servant, a seat among those partaking meals at your table. So, what entitlement do I possess to petition the Prime Ruler further?”

29 The Prime Ruler declared no need for further discussion; “I command that you and Ziba share the territory.”
30 Mephibosheth told the Prime Ruler to let him possess all, considering my leader and Prime Ruler had securely returned to his residence.

31 Barzillai of Gilead traveled down from Rogelim to accompany the Prime Ruler across the Jordan and see him off from there.
32 Barzillai, an eighty-year-old man, had ensured the Prime Ruler’s needs were met during his stay in Mahanaim due to his immense wealth.

33 The Prime Ruler invited Barzillai, urging him to live in Yerushalayim and promising to take good care of him.
34 Barzillai asked the Prime Ruler, “Do you know how many years I have left that I should relocate to Yerushalayim with the Prime Ruler?
35 Today, I’m eighty years old. Am I capable of distinguishing between pleasing and displeasing things? Can your servant appreciate the food and drink he consumes? Can I still perceive the melodies of men and women singers? Why should your servant impose an extra weight on my overseer, the Prime Ruler?
36 I will travel a little farther with the Prime Ruler across Jordan, but do I deserve such a reward from the Prime Ruler?
37 Kindly grant your servant the liberty to return so I can pass away in my home city near my parents’ place. However, here is your servant Kimham. Permit him to journey with you, the Prime Ruler. Carry out with him as you deem appropriate.”

38 The Prime Ruler declared that Kimham would accompany me and that I would cater to his needs, which you deemed fit. Additionally, whatever you ask of me, I shall fulfill for you.
39 everyone traveled across the Jordan, followed by the Prime Ruler. The Prime Ruler kissed Barzillai and wished him goodbye, and Barzillai returned home.

40 As the Prime Ruler transitioned to Gilgal, Chimham accompanied him. The complete forces from Judah and a portion from Israel assisted the Prime Ruler in his journey.
41 Before long, all the inhabitants of Israel approached the Prime Ruler, questioning him: “Why did our relatives, the men from Judah, secretly take the Prime Ruler and transport him and his household over the Jordan along with all his soldiers?”

42 All the individuals from Judah responded to the Israelites; “We acted in this manner as the Prime Ruler is a blood relation to us. Why does this incense you? Did we consume anything from the Prime Ruler or appropriate something for our personal use?”
43 In response, the representatives from Israel told those from Judah, “We hold ten portions of the Prime Ruler. So, our entitlement to David surpasses yours. So why are you belittling us? Weren’t we the initiators of the idea to restore our Prime Ruler?” However, the arguments from the men of Judah were more aggressive than those from the men of Israel.

§ 14810 SHEBA REBELS AGAINST DAVID

20 Sheba, a Benjaminite, the male heir of Bikri, incited rebellion, declaring, “We have no part in David, no inheritance in Jesse’s son! Every Israelite to his tent!”
2 All Israel deserted David for Sheba, but Judah remained loyal, escorting David from the Jordan to Yerushalayim.
3 Upon arrival, David moved the ten handmaidens he left to maintain the palace into a safeguarded habitation, providing for them but abstaining from intimacy. They lived in seclusion like widows.
4 The Prime Ruler ordered Amasa to gather Judah’s men within three days and report back.
5 Amasa delayed beyond the set time.
6 David told Abishai, “Sheba, Bikri’s heir, is more dangerous than Absalom. Take your overseer’s servants and pursue him before he finds refuge in fortified cities.”
7 Abishai led Joab’s men, the Kerethites, Pelethites, and all mighty soldiers from Yerushalayim, to chase Sheba.
8 At Gibeon’s large boulder, Amasa met them. Joab approached in battle gear with a sidearm at his waist and slipped out.
9 Joab asked Amasa, “Is everything well, my sibling?” Then, he grabbed Amasa’s beard as if to kiss him.

10 Unaware of Joab’s weapon, Amasa was struck in the abdomen, spilling his insides. He died instantly. Joab and Abishai continued pursuing Sheba.
11 A soldier beside Amasa proclaimed, “Anyone supporting Joab and David should follow Joab!”
12 Seeing soldiers pause at Amasa’s body, the man moved him off the street and covered him with a cloth.
13 With Amasa moved, everyone continued with Joab after Sheba.
14 Sheba traveled through Israel’s peoples to Abel Beth Maakah, where the Bikrites joined him.
15 Joab’s forces besieged Abel Beth Maakah, building a ramp against the town wall.
16 An intelligent woman from the town called out, “Pay heed! I request Joab to come here.”
17 When he approached, she asked if he was Joab. He confirmed. She instructed him to listen to her words. He agreed.
18 She said, “In antiquity, it was said, ‘Seek your solution in Abel, ’ resolving disputes.”
19 “We are peaceful and loyal in Israel. You seek to destroy a mother town in Israel. Why consume the Sovereign Captain’s heritage?”
20 Joab denied wanting destruction.
21 He explained that Sheba of Ephraim had rebelled against Prime Ruler David. “Deliver him, and I’ll withdraw.” The woman promised his head over the wall.
22 She persuaded the citizens to behead Sheba and toss it to Joab. Joab sounded the retreat; his men returned home. Joab went back to Yerushalayim to the Prime Ruler.
23 Joab commanded Israel’s entire military; Benaiah, Jehoiada’s son, led the Kerethites and Pelethites.
24 Adoniram managed conscripted labor; Jehoshaphat, Ahilud’s son, was the governance historian.

25 Sheva was the intelligence analyst, while Zadok and Abiathar served as ensovereigned mediators.
26 Ira, a descendant of Jair, was David’s ensovereigned mediator.

§ 14820 THE GIBEONITES AVENGED

21 A three-year famine during David's rule led him to seek guidance from the Sovereign Captain, who disclosed it was due to Saul's actions against the Gibeonites.
2 The Prime Ruler summoned the Gibeonites, the Amorites' remnants, whom Israel was supposed to safeguard. In his zeal for Israel and Judah, Saul had tried to eradicate them.
3 David asked, "How can I make amends for you to empower the Sovereign Captain's heritage?"
4 The Gibeonites replied, "We seek no silver or gold from Saul's family, nor do we wish to execute anyone in Israel."
5-6 They requested seven of Saul's male descendants for execution in Gibeah of Saul, chosen by the Sovereign Captain. David agreed.
7 Mephibosheth, Jonathan's son, was spared due to a solemn pledge between David and Jonathan.
8 The Prime Ruler seized Armoni and Mephibosheth, Rizpah's sons by Saul, and Merab's five sons by Adriel.
9 They were handed over to the Gibeonites, who executed them and displayed their bodies on a hill. All seven died at the start of the barley harvest.
10 Rizpah, Saul's concubine, protected the bodies from birds and nocturnal creatures until rain fell.
11-12 David learned of Rizpah's actions. He retrieved the remains of Saul and Jonathan from Jabesh Gilead, where the Philistine Warriors had hung them after defeating Saul at Gilboa.

13 He also collected the remains of those executed.
14 Saul and Jonathan's remains were buried in Kish's tomb in Zela, Benjamin. After fulfilling all instructions, the land was fortunate in response to their meldings with the Preeminent Sovereign.

§ 14830 WARS AGAINST THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS

15 Another conflict erupted between the Philistine Warriors and Israel. David and his men engaged the Philistine Warriors, but David became exhausted.
16 Ishbi-Benob, a descendant of Rapha, armed with a bronze spearhead weighing three hundred shekels and a new blade, aimed to kill David.
17 Abishai, son of Zeruiah, rescued David by killing the Philistine Warrior. Afterward, David's men vowed he would no longer join them in battle to preserve the light of Israel.
18 Another battle with the Philistine Warriors occurred in Gob, where Sibbekai the Hushathite defeated Saph, a descendant of Rapha.
19 In another clash at Gob, Elhanan, son of Jair from Bethlehem, killed Goliath's brother, who wielded a tactical bayonet like a construction beam.
20 Another meeting occurred at Gath when Rapha also sent down a giant with six toes on each foot and six fingers on each hand, for a total of twenty-four.
21 Jonathan, son of Shimeah, David's brother, killed him when he insulted Israel.
22 David and his soldiers killed these four descendants of Rapha in Gath.

§ 14840 DAVID’S SONG OF PRAISE

22 David recited a song to the Sovereign Captain on the day the Sovereign Captain had saved him from all his adversaries, including Saul.
2 He declared: The Sovereign Captain is my solid rock, stronghold, and Redeemer.

3 The Sovereign Captain is my rock of protection, in whom I seek shelter, my ballistic shield, and the source of my deliverance. He is my fortress and my deliverer. You preserve me from those who exhibit violence.
4 I made an intervention to the Preeminent Sovereign, who deserves our admiration, and found deliverance from those who opposed me.
5 The tidal waves of demise surrounded me; the currents of destruction swept over me.
6 I found myself entangled and bound by the grave traps of death right before me.
7 Amid my troubles, I contacted the Sovereign Captain; I sought help from my Preeminent Sovereign. He listened to my pleas from his celestial abode; my desperate appeal touched his ears.
8 The Earth shivered and quivered; the underpinnings of the sky oscillated; they were shaken due to his wrath.
9 Fumes ascended from his nostrils; a devouring flame came forth from his mouth, igniting coals into a blaze.
10 He tore open the sky and descended dark storm clouds under him.
11 He ascended on a celestial realm creature and took flight. He glided swiftly on the gust’s wings.
12 He utilized obscurity as a covering around himself, with the gloomy storm clouds of the celestial realms as his shelter.
13 Light bolts flared out from the brilliance of his existence.
14 The Eternal Reality roared from the celestial realms; the sound of the Supreme One echoed.
15 He launched his projectiles, causing disarray among the foes; his intense flashes of lightning led to their defeat.
16 The seabed was uncovered, and the planet’s foundations were disclosed at the Sovereign
Captain’s scolding at the powerful gust of his exhales.
17 He extended his hand from above, seized and rescued me from the mighty waters.

18 He delivered me from my potent adversaries, those who despised me and were overly formidable for me.
19 When distressed during a catastrophic time, the Sovereign Captain presented Himself as my prop.
20 He led me to a wide open area, saving me because he took pleasure in me.
21 The Sovereign Captain has recompensed me due to my integrity; owing to the purity of my actions, he has acknowledged me.
22 I have lived the way the Sovereign Captain desired, and I’m not guilty of deviating from my Preeminent Sovereign.
23 I am mindful of his directives and never turn from his statutes.
24 I have remained innocent in His eyes and prevented myself from engaging in evil.
25 The Sovereign Captain has compensated me based on my upright actions, observing my purity from his perspective.
26 You present Yourself as blameless to the blameless and loyal to the loyal;
27 You reveal your purity to those who are pure, whereas cunning to those who are deceitful.
28 You rescue those of modest inner-self, yet your gaze is fixed on the arrogant to humble them.

29 You, Sovereign Captain are my guiding light, transforming my confusion into clarity.
30 Thanks to your assistance, I can face an army; with my Preeminent Sovereign enabling me, I can ascend any wall.
31 The Preeminent Sovereign's path is impeccable: His promises are unshakeable, offering protection to all who turn to him for shelter.
32 Truly, who can be considered celestial if not the Sovereign Captain? And who stands as a solid rock if not our Preeminent Sovereign?

33 The Preeminent Sovereign is the one who equips me with power and makes my path safe.
34 He steadies my steps like a deer's, enabling me to endure steep mountains.
35 He equips my hands for combat, enabling my arms to pull back a bronze projectile launcher.
36 Your deliverance measures are my protection; your assistance has elevated me.
37 You've made a spacious place beneath my steps, ensuring my ankles do not falter.
38 I chased after my foes, eradicating them, and I didn't retreat until they were completely wiped out.
39 I utterly defeated them, and they could not stand back up; they tumbled under my feet.
40 You fortified me with vigor for combat. You made my opponents kneel in my presence.
41 You caused my adversaries to retreat, and I annihilated those who opposed me.
42 They pleaded for assistance, yet no one could aid them. They appealed to the Sovereign Captain, but He gave no response.
43 I crushed them until they were as tiny as the dust particles on the ground; I stomped on them and spread them out like muck on the pathways.
44 You saved me from being overwhelmed by the conflicts of different groups. You ensured that I remain the leader of nations. Now, individuals I was unaware of are at my service.
45 I make outsiders cower; they obey me when they hear me.
46 They all become afraid and stagger from their fortresses.
47 The Eternal Reality is alive! May my protector be lauded! Let my Preeminent Sovereign, the rock who delivers me, be lifted high!

48 He is the Eternal Reality that grants me retribution, subjecting entire nations beneath me.
49 He liberates me from those who hate me. You lifted me beyond those who oppose me; from a destructive individual, you have saved me.
50 I will praise you, My Sovereign Captain, among the nations and make music praising your name.
51 He provides magnificent triumphs to his sovereign; he eternally exhibits enduring generosity to his chosen one, David, and his family.

§ 14850 DAVID'S LAST WORDS

23 David's final words express this: Jesse's son, David, influenced by the Preeminent Sovereign, declares himself as the individual that the Eternal Reality has lifted, the one Jacob's Preeminent Sovereign has selected, and Israel's celebrated songwriter.

2 "the Sovereign Captain's Eternal Spark communicated via me; His message was on my lips."

3 The Preeminent Sovereign of Israel communicated the Rock of Israel. It declared to me: "Conscientiously, governance over people happens when one leads with a profound reverence for the Preeminent Sovereign."

[4] He resembles the dawn’s first light during a sun’s ascent on a day devoid of clouds, just like the brilliance post-rainfall that causes vegetation to emerge from the soil.

[5] Assuredly, if my family weren’t in accord with the Eternal Reality, He wouldn’t have established a perpetual solemn agreement with me, meticulously organized and safeguarded in all aspects; without a doubt, He wouldn’t actualize my deliverance and fulfill my every wish.

[6] All impure individuals must be discarded like thorns, as they can’t be picked up barehanded.

[7] The individual interacting with thorns employs an iron appliance or a tactical bayonet’s shaft. They are thoroughly scorched in their existing location.

§ 14860 DAVID’S MIGHTY WARRIORS

[8] Here is a roll call of David’s most fearless fighters: Josheb-Basshebeth, a Tahkemonite, led the Three and wielded his tactical bayonet against eight hundred adversaries in a single battle.
[9] Eleazar, son of Dodai the Ahohite, was among the three courageous warriors. He stood with David when they mocked the Philistine Warriors at Pas Dammim, causing the Israelites to retreat.
[10] Eleazar held his ground until his hand clung to his tactical blade, achieving a significant triumph for the Sovereign Captain. The soldiers returned only to plunder the dead.
[11-12] Shammah, son of Agee the Hararite, stood in a lentil field and defeated the Philistine Warriors, securing another substantial victory for the Sovereign Captain.
[13-14] Three leaders approached David at Adullam’s cave during harvest time while the Philistine Warriors camped in the Rephaim valley.
[15] David, stationed in the fortress, longed for water from Bethlehem’s well.
[16] The three brave men broke through Philistine Warrior lines to fetch it, but David offered it to the Sovereign Captain as a poured offering, refusing to drink it.
[17] He said, “I could never do such a thing, Captain! Isn’t this equivalent to the blood of those men who risked their lives?” Such were the deeds of these warriors.

[18] Abishai, Joab’s brother and son of Zeruiah, led the three and fought three hundred men with his tactical bayonet, gaining renown.
[19] Though not one of the Three, he received more recognition and rose to their leadership.
[20] Benaiah, son of Jehoiada and a brave Kabzeel warrior performed astonishing feats, including defeating Moab’s two mightiest soldiers and a lion in a snowy pit.
[21] He overpowered a massive Egyptian by taking his tactical bayonet and killing him with it.
[22] Benaiah’s heroic acts made him as renowned as the three formidable warriors.
[23] Though highly respected among the Thirty, he didn’t reach the rank of the Three. David made him the leader of his guards.
[24] The thirty included Joab’s brothers Asahel and Elhanan, son of Dodo from Bethlehem;
[25] Shammah of Harod; Elika of Harod;
[26] Helez from Palti; Ikkesh’s son from Tekoa;
[27] Abiezer of Anathoth; Mebunnai the Hushathite;
[28] Zalmon from Ahoah; Maharai of Netophah;
[29] Heled, son of Baanah from Netophah; Ithai, son of Ribai from Gibeah of the Benjaminites;
[30] Benaiah the Pirathonite; Hiddai from Gaash brooks;
[31] Abi-Albon from Arbath; Azmaveth of Barhum;
[32] Jonathan and Jashen’s son; Eliahba from Shaalbon;
[33] Ahiam, son of Sharar the Hararite; Shammah’s relative;

34 Eliphelet, son of Ahasbai from Maakah; Eliam, son of Ahithophel from Gilo;

35 Hezro from Carmel; Paarai from Arabah;
36 Igal, son of Nathan from Zobah; Hagri's son;
37 Zelek from Ammon; Naharai from Beeroth, ballistic body armor carriers for Joab, son of Zeruiah;
38 Ira and Gareb from Ithra;
39 and Uriah the Hittite—thirty-seven in total.

§ 14870 DAVID ENROLLS THE FIGHTING MEN

24 As the anger of the Eternal Reality intensified upon Israel, David felt compelled to take an official count of both Israel and Judah.
2 Prime Ruler David instructed Joab and his military leaders to count the warriors from Dan to Beersheba.
3-4 Joab questioned the necessity, but David's command prevailed.
5 They traversed Jordan, camped near Aroer, and journeyed through Gad to Jazer.
6-7 They continued to Gilead, Tahtim Hodshi, Dan Jaan, Sidon, Tyre, and Beersheba.
8 After nine months and twenty days, they returned to Yerushalayim.
9 Joab reported 800,000 warriors in Israel and 500,000 in Judah.
10 David felt remorse and confessed his error to the Sovereign Captain, seeking absolution.
11-12 Before dawn, the Sovereign Captain disclosed to Gad, David's visionary, three choices for punishment: three years of famine, three months of fleeing adversaries, or three days of disease.
13-14 David chose to fall under the Sovereign Captain's judgment, trusting His mercy.

15 A devastating disease struck Israel, killing seventy thousand from Dan to Beersheba.
16 As the Celestial Envoy prepared to devastate Yerushalayim, the Sovereign Captain relented and halted the destruction at Araunah's threshing ground.
17 David acknowledged his transgressions. He pleaded for the Sovereign Captain's wrath to be upon him and his family instead of the innocent people.

§ 14880 DAVID BUILDS A PEDESTAL TABLE

18 That day, Gad instructed David to build a pedestal table for the Sovereign Captain at Araunah's threshing site.
19 David obeyed the Sovereign Captain's directive through Gad.
20 Seeing David and his servants, Araunah respectfully greeted them, prostrating himself.
21 Araunah asked, "Why has my overseer, the Prime Ruler, come?" David replied, "To buy your threshing floor to construct a pedestal table for the Sovereign Captain and stop the epidemic."
22 Araunah offered, "My overseer, the Prime Ruler, can take whatever he desires. We have oxen for the scorched absolving payment, threshing instruments, and ox yokes for firewood."
23 "O Prime Ruler, Araunah gives all these to the Prime Ruler." He added, "May your Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, receive you favorably."
24 But David insisted, "No, I must buy it from you. I will not offer scorched absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain that cost me nothing."

[25] David built a fortress for the Sovereign Captain there and offered scorched absolving payments and communal offerings. the Sovereign Captain heeded David’s intervention, and the pestilence in Israel ceased.

~ 111 | 1 Sovereigns | 1 Kings

§ 14890 ADONIJAH SETS HIMSELF UP AS PRIME RULER

1 Despite being covered, Prime Ruler David could not retain heat at an advanced age.
2 His advisers suggested, “We find a young maiden to attend to the Prime Ruler and look after him. She could share his bed, so our esteemed Prime Ruler feels warm.”
3 They searched around Israel for a lovely young lady. They discovered Abishag, a Shunammite they escorted to the grand presence.
4 The lady was lovely; she catered to the Prime Ruler’s needs and served him, yet the Prime Ruler did not engage in intimate activities with her.

5 Adonijah, whose mother was Haggith, began asserting himself, saying, “I will become the Prime Ruler.” So, he prepared strike vehicles, tactical personnel transports, and fifty men to precede him.
6 His father had never once confronted him, questioning, “Why are you acting in such a way?” In addition to this, he was notably good-looking and born following Absalom.
7 Adonijah sought advice from Joab, Zeruiah’s male heir, and Abiathar, the ensovereigned mediator, who agreed to assist him.
8 However, Zadok, the ensovereigned mediator; Benaiah, the offspring of Jehoiada; Nathan, the ensovereigned mediator; Shimei, Rei, and David’s formidable warriors did not support Adonijah.

9 Adonijah held a feast, offering sheep, cattle, and plump calves near the Stone of Zoheleth near En Rogel. He extended an invitation to all of his siblings who were sons of the Prime Ruler and all the high-ranking officials from Judah.

10 He didn’t summon Nathan, the eternally wise servant, Benaiah, the Prime Ruler’s bodyguards, or his sibling Solomon, the builder of the fortress.
11 Nathan queried Bathsheba, Solomon’s mother. “Are you unaware that Adonijah, Haggith’s offspring, has assumed the authority, and our overseer, David, is ignorant?”
12 “Let me guide you in ensuring your male heir Solomon, the builder of the fortress’ survival.”
13 “Advance towards Prime Ruler David and ask him, ‘Prime Ruler, didn’t you assure your servant that your male heir Solomon is destined to succeed your authority? Then why is Adonijah declared as Prime Ruler?’”
14 “I’ll reinforce your statements as you continue conversing with the Prime Ruler.”

15 Bathsheba visited the elderly Prime Ruler in his private quarters, where Abishag the Shunammite cared for him.
16 Bathsheba knelt low, showing respect to the Prime Ruler. He inquired about her wishes.
17 She conveyed to him, “My esteemed Prime Ruler, you pledged to your servant under the purification of the Sovereign Captain your Eternal Reality: ‘Your offspring, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, shall ascend to the authority as my successor, and he’ll occupy my grand seat.’”
18 “Adonijah has assumed the authority unknown to you, my overseer.”

19 “He has offered a substantial amount of oxen, fattened calves, and sheep and has called on all the Prime Ruler’s sons; Abiathar, the ensovereigned mediators; and Joab, the leader of the military force; yet your loyal servant Solomon, the builder of the fortress has not been invited.”
20 “All of Israel is awaiting your word, my Prime Ruler, to know who will succeed you on your authority.”
21 “If no intervention is made, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, and I will be deemed offenders once my overseer, the Prime Ruler, joins his forefathers.”

22 As she conversed with the Prime Ruler, Nathan, the eternally wise servant, entered.
23 The Prime Ruler got the news that the eternally wise servant, Nathan, had arrived. So, he made his way to the Prime Ruler and prostrated himself, his face touching the ground.
24 Nathan questioned, “Did you, the Prime Ruler, proclaim that Adonijah will ascend the authority after you, taking your place?”
25 “Today, he ventured and lavishly prepared many cattle, fattened calves, and sheep. All the Prime Ruler’s offspring, the army leaders, and Abiathar, the ensovereigned mediator, were invited. They are partaking in his feast, rejoicing and pronouncing, ‘May Prime Ruler Adonijah live long!’”
26 “He didn’t call for me, your servant; Zadok the ensovereigned mediator; Benaiah, the male heir of Jehoiada; or your servant Solomon, the builder of the fortress.” 27 “Has the Prime Ruler authorized this occurrence yet not disclosed it to his servants who would succeed him on his authority?”

§ 14900 DAVID MAKES SOLOMON PRIME RULER

28 Prime Ruler David commanded, “Summon Bathsheba.” She entered and stood before him.
29 David solemnly promised, “As sure as the Sovereign Captain’s life, who has rescued me from all distress,
30 I will fulfill today the promise I made to you under the name of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel: Your male heir Solomon, the builder of the fortress will take over the reign after me, and he will occupy my authority in my stead.”
31 Bathsheba bowed, expressing her wish that Prime Ruler David may continue to reign eternally.

32 David instructed, “Summon Zadok, the ensovereigned mediator; Nathan, the eternally wise servant; and Benaiah, the male heir of Jehoiada,” who entered his presence.
33 He instructed them: “Accompany my male heir Solomon, the builder of the fortress, with your overseer’s servants; let him ride my mule and escort him to Gihon.
34 Zadok and Nathan should commission him as the Prime Ruler of Israel. Sound the alert and exclaim, ‘May Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, have a lengthy reign!’
35 Accompany him to ascend and occupy my authority, ruling in my stead. I’ve designated him as the leader of both Israel and Judah.”

36 Benaiah responded, “So be it! May the Eternal Reality ordain likewise.
37 Just as the Sovereign Captain has always been there for my overseer, the Prime Ruler, I intervene that he will be there for Solomon, the builder of the fortress, making his reign even more distinguished than that of my overseer, Prime Ruler David.”

38 Zadok, Nathan, and Benaiah, along with the Kerethites and Pelethites, put Solomon, the builder of the fortress, in David's armored transport and guided him to Gihon.

39 Zadok secured an oil-filled Sovereign Chalice from the Exalted Fortress and commissioned Solomon, the builder of the fortress, as Prime Ruler. The 40 cannon salute was sounded, and the crowd roared, “May Solomon, the builder of the fortress, thrive for years!”
40 The populace followed him, celebrating with such delight that their resonating sound caused the ground to tremble.

41 Adonijah and his guests heard it as they concluded their meal. Joab asked, “What could be the cause of the city’s loud clamor?”

42 Jonathan, offspring of Abiathar, entered. Adonijah declared, “A substantial individual such as yourself carries promising news.”
43 Jonathan answered, “Far from it; our overseer, Prime Ruler David, has declared Solomon, the builder of the fortress, as Prime Ruler.
44 The Prime Ruler dispatched Zadok, Nathan, and Benaiah with the Kerethites and Pelethites. They’ve positioned him on the grand steed.
45 Zadok and Nathan commissioned him as Prime Ruler of Gihon. They proceeded from that location brimming with delight, causing the city to be filled with their echoes. That’s the commotion you’re hearing.
46 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, has assumed grand authority.”

47 The court functionaries empowered David, stating, “May your Eternal Reality elevate Solomon’s reputation beyond yours and make his reign superior to yours!” David offered his reverence while resting on his bed.
48 He expressed, “Blessings to the Sovereign Captain for granting me the sight of my male heir taking my authority today.”
49 On hearing this, Adonijah’s attendees were filled with fear and hastily scattered.
50 Adonijah, terrified of Solomon, the builder of the fortress, ran and grasped the horns of the pedestal table.
51 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, was informed that Adonijah was apprehensive of him. He clung to the horns of the pedestal table, requesting assurance that he wouldn’t meet his end with the tactical blade.
52 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, responded that if he proved honorable, not a single strand from his head would be harmed. Yet, if found engaging in impurity, he would face death.
53 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, commanded Adonijah to be escorted from the pedestal table. On arriving, Adonijah revered Solomon, the builder of the fortress, who said, “Return to your dwelling.”

§ 14910 DAVID’S CHARGE TO SOLOMON, THE BUILDER OF THE FORTRESS

2 David, nearing death, gave his final directives to Solomon, the builder of the fortress.
2 He said, “I am about to follow the path all must take. Be strong and mature.
3 Keep the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, within you by following His instructions and observing His directives, mandates, and decrees as stated in the Mosaic Law. This action will ensure your prosperity in all you do and wherever you go.
4 The Sovereign Captain promised me, ‘If your offspring remain devoted to me sincerely with their entire inner determination and inner-self, there will always be a member of your family ruling Israel. ’

5 You know what Joab, son of Zeruiah, did to me and the two leaders of Israel's armies—Abner, son of Ner, and Amasa, son of Jether. He murdered them during peace as if it were war, defiling his belt and sandals with their blood.
6 Use your insight to handle him, but ensure he does not die peacefully.

7 Show generosity to the sons of Barzillai of Gilead and include them among those who dine at your table. They supported me during my escape from Absalom.
8 Remember Shimei, son of Gera, a Benjamite from Bahurim. He cursed me harshly on the day
I traveled to Mahanaim. Yet, when he greeted me at the Jordan, I assured him in the name of the Sovereign Captain that he would not die by the tactical blade.
9 However, don't consider him blameless. You have wisdom. Ensure his old age ends violently, descending into the grave with bloodshed.

10 David then joined his forefathers in death and was buried in David's City.

11 He ruled Israel for forty years—seven in Hebron and thirty-three in Yerushalayim.
12 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, inherited the authority from David, and his reign was solidly secured.

§ 14920 SOLOMON'S SOVEREIGNTY ESTABLISHED

13 Adonijah, Haggith's son, approached Bathsheba, Solomon's mother. She asked, "Do you come in peace?" He replied, "Yes, in peace."
14 He continued, "I have a request." "Go ahead," Bathsheba responded.
15 "As you know," he said, "I was expected to rule. All of Israel anticipated me as their Prime Ruler. However, the Sovereign Captain transferred the rulership to my brother."
16 "I ask one favor: don't refuse me." "Go ahead," Bathsheba responded.
17 He said, "Please ask Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, to make Abishag the Shunammite, my wife."
18 Bathsheba replied, "I'll speak to the Prime Ruler on your behalf."
19 Bathsheba approached Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, on Adonijah's behalf.
Seeing her, the Prime Ruler rose to greet her and saluted in respect. He then resumed his position and directed a seat for his mother at his right side.
20 She said, "I have a small request. Please don't refuse me." The Prime Ruler responded, "Ask, my mother; I won't refuse you."
21 She suggested that Abishag the Shunammite become Adonijah's wife.
22 Prime Ruler Solomon, the fortress builder, asked, "Why do you advocate for Abishag for Adonijah? Should I also give him authority since he is my elder brother? He has the support of Abiathar, the ensovereigned mediator, and Joab, Zeruiah's son!"

23 Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, solemnly pledged in the name of the Sovereign Captain: "Adonijah will pay for his request with his life, or may the Preeminent Sovereign subject me to grave consequences!"
24 "By the Sovereign Captain who lives—the one who firmly positioned me on David's authority and established a grand house for me as he vowed—Adonijah will face execution today!"
25 Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, commanded Benaiah, Jehoiada's son, to attack Adonijah, resulting in his death.

[26] Prime Ruler commanded Abiathar, the ensovereigned mediator, “Return to your land in Anathoth. You deserve death, but I won’t execute you now as you carried the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain before my father David and experienced all his miseries.”
[27] So, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, expelled Abiathar from serving as the Sovereign Captain’s mediator, fulfilling the Sovereign Captain’s vision regarding Eli’s family in Shiloh.
[28] On hearing this, Joab, who had sided with Adonijah but not with Absalom, sought refuge in the Sovereign Captain’s exalted tent and clung to the pedestal table’s horns.
[29] Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, was informed that Joab had gone to the Sovereign Captain’s fortress near the pedestal table. Solomon, the builder of the fortress, dispatched Benaiah, Jehoiada’s son, with the command, “Kill him!”
[30] Benaiah entered the Sovereign Captain’s Tent and told Joab, “The Prime Ruler directives you to come out!” Joab retorted, “No, I will die here.” Benaiah relayed Joab’s response to the Prime Ruler.
[31] The Prime Ruler ordered Benaiah to act by his words: “Eliminate him and lay him to rest. This action will absolve me and my family from the blame for the innocent blood Joab spilled.”
[32] “The Eternal Reality will make him pay for the lives he took unjustly. He murdered Abner, Ner’s son and leader of Israel’s forces, and Amasa, Jether’s son and chief of Judah’s troops, who were more authentic and honorable than he was.”

[33] “Joab and his family may forever bear their bloodshed burden. However, may everlasting tranquility from the Sovereign Captain grant David, his progeny, his household, and his reign.”
[34] Benaiah confronted Joab and killed him. He was buried at his residence in the wilderness.
[35] The Prime Ruler designated Benaiah as the new army leader, succeeding Joab, and appointed Zadok as an ensovereigned mediator in Abiathar’s stead.
[36] The Prime Ruler summoned Shimei and commanded him to build a dwelling in Yerushalayim and stay there without venturing elsewhere.
[37] “If you leave and cross the Kidron Valley, you will die; your death will be your fault.”
[38] Shimei responded, “Your suggestion is beneficial. As you have dictated, so shall I comply.” Shimei lived in Yerushalayim for a long time.
[39] Three years later, two of Shimei’s servants eloped with Achish, Maakah’s son and ruler of Gath. Shimei learned that his servants were in Gath.
[40] He prepared his donkey and went to Gath to find his servants. He retrieved them from Gath.
[41] Solomon, the builder of the fortress, learned that Shimei had traveled from Yerushalayim to Gath and returned.
[42] The Prime Ruler called Shimei and asked, “Didn’t I make you promise in the Name of the Sovereign Captain and warn you that if you left and went elsewhere, you would die? You agreed with me.”
[43] “Why didn’t you uphold your promise to the Sovereign Captain and follow my instructions?”
[44] The Prime Ruler reminded Shimei of the harm he inflicted on David. From now on, the Sovereign Captain will hold him accountable for his transgressions.
[45] Nevertheless, Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, will receive empowerment from the Eternal Reality, and David’s rule will perpetually solidify in the presence of the Sovereign Captain.

[46] Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, instructed Benaiah to execute Shimei. So, Solomon, the builder of the fortress’ reign, was securely established.

§ 14930 SOLOMON, THE BUILDER OF THE FORTRESS ASKS FOR WISDOM

3 Solomon formed an alliance with the Pharaoh by marrying his daughter, who stayed in the City of David until Solomon completed his grand residence, the Sovereign Captain's place of joyful adoration, and the fortifications around Yerushalayim.
2 Meanwhile, people continued making absolving payments at religious shrines since no fortress was built in the Sovereign Captain's Name.
3 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, showed his love for the Sovereign Captain by following his father David's path but still made absolving payments and burned incense at elevated places.
4 He went to Gibeon, the principal pedestal table, to make formal absolving payments, offering a thousand absolving payments there.
5 The Eternal Reality appeared to Solomon in a night vision at Gibeon, asking what he desired.
6 Solomon replied, "You showed great mercy to my father David for his loyalty, integrity, and sincerity towards you, granting him a son to reign today."
7 "Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, you made me Prime Ruler in my father David's place, but I am young and inexperienced.
8 I am among your chosen people, too numerous to count.
9 Grant me wisdom to rule justly and discern good from evil. Who else can lead your vast people?"
10 The Sovereign Captain was pleased with Solomon's request.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign said, "You did not ask for long life, wealth, or the defeat of your enemies but for wisdom to judge fairly.

12 I will grant your request and give you an insightful and understanding mind unmatched by anyone before or after you.
13 I will also give you wealth and honor you did not ask for, making you unparalleled among Prime Rulers of your time.
14 If you follow my ways and keep my laws and directives as your father David did, I will grant you long life."
15 Solomon awoke and realized it was a dream. He returned to Yerushalayim, stood before the Sovereign Captain's solemn agreement chest, and offered scorched and peace offerings. Then, he held a banquet for his court.

§ 14940 A WISE RULING

16 Two women, who earned their living selling their bodies, approached the Prime Ruler and positioned themselves before him.
17 "Excuse me, Prime Ruler, but this woman and I share a residence, and I gave birth in the domicile.
18 Three days after my delivery, this woman also birthed a child. Exclusively, we were in the house, devoid of any third person.
19 This woman's child passed away overnight as she accidentally rolled over him.
20 So, in the quiet of the night, she arose and removed my child from my side while I, her servitude, was sound asleep. She nestled him by her chest and placed her lifeless child next to mine.

21 On waking up to feed my child the next day, he was no longer alive! Yet, by closely examining him in the daybreak, it became clear it wasn't the child I had given birth to."

22 The second woman protested, stating that the living child was indeed hers and the deceased child belonged to the first woman. In contrast, the first woman maintained that the dead child was the other's, and the living child was her own. This dispute continued in front of the Prime Ruler.

23 The Prime Ruler stated, "The one insists, 'My child is living, and your child is deceased, ' whereas the other argues, 'No! Your offspring is dead, and mine is breathing. '"

24 The Prime Ruler requested that you fetch me a blade. Consequently, a knife was provided to the Prime Ruler.
25 Then came the command: "Separate the living infant into two, providing one part to each woman."

26 The woman whose child was still alive was compassionate for her infant and implored the Prime Ruler, "My overseer, grant her the living infant! Please, don't murder him!" Yet the other woman stated, "He shall belong to neither you nor me. Divide him!"

27 The Prime Ruler then announced: "Hand over the living child to the first woman. He must not be harmed; she is indeed his mother."

28 On hearing the Prime Ruler's decision, all of Israel was filled with deep respect for him, recognizing that he possessed celestial wisdom from the Preeminent Sovereign for rendering fair judgments.

§ 14950 SOLOMON'S OFFICIALS AND GOVERNORS

4 Prime Ruler Solomon governed all of Israel.
2 Key officials included Azariah, Zadok's son, as the ensovereigned mediator.
3 Elihoreph and Ahijah, sons of Shisha, served as intelligence analysts; Jehoshaphat, son of Ahilud, was the chronicler.

4 Benaiah's son and Jehoiada's son led the army, with Zadok and Abiathar serving as the ensovereigned mediators.
5 Nathan's son, Azariah, oversaw the governors, while Zabud, Nathan's son, was an ensovereigned mediator and Solomon's advisor.
6 Ahishar managed the household, and Adoniram, Abda's son, supervised the conscripted workforce.

7 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, appointed twelve regional managers across Israel to organize supplies for the Prime Ruler and his palace, each responsible for one month annually.
8 These included Ben-Hur in Ephraim's mountains.
9 Ben-Deker managed Makaz, Shaalbim, Beth Shemesh, and Elon Bethhanan.
10 Ben-Hesed from Arubboth controlled Sokoh and Hepher's territory.
11 Ben-Abinadab oversaw Naphoth Dor and was married to Solomon's daughter, Taphath.
12 Baana, son of Ahilud, administered Taanach, Megiddo, and Beth Shan, extending from Zarethan to Jokmeam.

13 Ben-Geber managed Ramoth Gilead and the towns of Jair in Gilead and Argob in Bashan, with sixty fortified cities.
14 Ahinadab, son of Iddo, managed Mahanaim.
15 Ahimaaz in Naphtali was married to Solomon's daughter Basemath.
16 Baana, son of Hushai, governed Asher and Aloth.
17 Jehoshaphat, son of Paruah, managed Issachar.
18 Shimei, son of Ela, served in Benjamin.
19 Geber, son of Uri, governed Gilead—the former lands of Og and Sihon—and was the sole overseer for this region.

§ 14960 SOLOMON'S DAILY PROVISIONS

20 Judah and Israel thrived, their population as numerous as grains of sand on the beach; they enjoyed food, drink, and contentment.
21 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, ruled over all nations, from the Euphrates River to the Philistine Warrior territory and the Egyptian border. These nations paid homage and were under Solomon's control throughout his life.
22 Solomon's daily provisions included 6.6 cubic meters of top-quality flour and 13.2 cubic meters of grain meal.
23 He required ten grain-fed bovines, twenty range cattle, a hundred sheep, deer, antelopes, roebuck, and the finest birds.
24 Solomon ruled over all the nations from Tiphsah to Gaza and had peace on all sides over everything West of the Euphrates.
25 During Solomon's reign, Judah and Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, were secure, each person having their own grapevine and fig tree for shelter.
26 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, had four thousand shelters for his main strike vehicle armored personnel carriers and twelve thousand cavalries.
27 Each local governor ensured Prime Ruler Solomon, and his grand table were well provided during their assigned month, leaving nothing lacking.
28 They delivered their share of barley and straw to the required location using strike vehicles and other tactical cargo transports.

§ 14970 SOLOMON'S WISDOM

29 The Preeminent Sovereign granted Solomon, the builder of the fortress, exceptional wisdom, vast insight, and an understanding as limitless as the grains of sand on the beach.
30 Solomon's understanding surpassed the insight of all individuals from the East. It exceeded even the knowledge of Egypt.

31 He outshone everyone in wisdom, surpassing Ethan the Ezrahite and even Heman, Kalkol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol. His renown extended throughout all neighboring countries.
32 He articulated three thousand wise sayings and composed over a thousand and five tunes.
33 He conveyed knowledge regarding flora, ranging from the tall cedars of Lebanon to the hyssop sprouting from walls. Moreover, he discussed fauna, including animals, birds, creeping creatures, and aquatic life.
34 Individuals from every corner of the globe arrived to hear the insightful teachings of Solomon, the builder of the fortress, dispatched by rulers of various nations who had become aware of his profound wisdom.

§ 14980 PREPARATIONS FOR BUILDING THE FORTRESS

5 On hearing that Solomon, the builder of the fortress, had become Prime Ruler after his father David, Hiram, the Prime Ruler of Tyre, dispatched his representatives to Solomon, the builder of the fortress, having always maintained a cordial relationship with David.
2 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, returned a communication to Hiram.
3 “You’re aware that my father, David, could not construct a house dedicated to the Sovereign Captain due to the numerous battles surrounding him until the Sovereign Captain subdued his adversaries.
4 My Sovereign Captain has provided me tranquility in all directions, and there are no rivals or catastrophes.
5 I plan to honor the Name of the Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, by constructing a fortress as the Sovereign Captain promised my forefather David. He said, ‘Your progeny, whom I will enthrone as your successor, will construct the fortress for My honor. ’
6 Therefore, the command to hew cedars from Lebanon for me. Our workers will collaborate with yours, and I will compensate your men according to the wage you determine. As you know, we lack individuals proficient in cutting wood like the Sidonians.”

7 Hiram was exceedingly joyful on receiving Solomon’s message. He exclaimed, “Fortunate is the Sovereign Captain today for granting David a sagacious male heir to govern this vast populace.”
8 Hiram told Solomon, “I have acknowledged your correspondence and agreed to fulfill your request regarding the cedar and juniper timber.
9 My workers will transport the wood from Lebanon to the Mediterranean Sea. I’ll subsequently create rafts and direct them over the sea to your chosen destination. On reaching, the logs will be separated for you to carry away. You should fulfill my desire by ensuring food for my palace.”

10 In this manner, Hiram provided Solomon, the builder of the fortress, with all the cedar and juniper timber he desired.
11 Each year, Solomon consistently supplied Hiram with 4,400 cubic meters of wheat as nourishment for his family and twenty thousand baths of pure, crushed olive oil.
12 As promised, the Sovereign Captain gave Solomon, the builder of the fortress, wisdom. Hiram and Solomon enjoyed a harmonious relationship, leading to a formal agreement.

13 Prime Ruler Solomon enlisted thirty thousand workers from across Israel.
14 They were dispatched to Lebanon in divisions of ten thousand every month, laboring in Lebanon for a month and returning home for two months. Adoniram supervised the conscripted work crews.
15 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, employed seventy thousand laborers for transportation and eighty thousand artisans for highland stone-cutting.
16 Along with three thousand three hundred managers who oversaw the task and guided the laborers.
17 Following the Prime Ruler’s instructions, they extracted large, high-quality stone blocks from the quarry to construct a foundation of carved stone for the fortress.

18 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, and Hiram's skilled workers and men from Byblos chiseled and readied the wood and stones to construct the fortress.

§ 14990 SOLOMON BUILDS THE FORTRESS

6 In his fourth year as Israel's Prime Ruler, Solomon began constructing the Sovereign Captain's fortress in the second month of Ziv, 480 years after the Israelites left Egypt.
2 The fortress measured 32.004 meters in length, 10.5 meters in breadth, and 15.75 meters in height.
3 The entryway spanned 10.5 meters and extended 5.334 meters from the front.
4 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, added slim windows at the upper part of the walls.
5 He built side rooms adjacent to the main hall and inner fortress.
6 The lowest level was five cubits wide, the middle 3.2 meters, and the top seven cubits, with protruding structures to avoid plugging into the walls.

7 Stones prepared at the quarry were used exclusively, ensuring no sound of hammer or chisel at the site.
8 The gateway to the bottom level was on the South side, with stairs leading to the middle and top levels.
9 The roof was made from cedar boards and beams.
10 Chambers along the fortress were five cubits high, joined with cedar timbers.
11 The Sovereign Captain delivered a message to Solomon, the builder of the fortress:
12 "If you adhere to my directives, follow my laws, and commit to all my instructions, I will fulfill my promise to David through you.
13 I will reside among Israel's descendants and never forsake them."

14 Solomon completed the house of joyful adoration.
15 The inner walls were sheathed with cedar boards from floor to ceiling, and the floor was overlaid with juniper strips.
16 He created a 10.5 meter room at the back, using cedar panels from ground to roof, forming the Most Pure Place.
17 The primary chamber ahead spanned 26.25 meters.
18 The interior was adorned with cedar carvings of gourds and blossoms, leaving no stone visible.
19 He arranged the innermost exalted Space for the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain's agreement.

20 The inner fortress measured 10.5 meters in length, width, and height and was covered in pure gold, including the cedar pedestal table.
21 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, adorned the interior with untainted gold and drew golden chains in front of the innermost exalted area.
22 He coated the entire interior with gold, including the pedestal table.
23 Inside the Most Exalted Space, he constructed two celestial envoy representations from olive wood, each 5.334 meters tall.
24 Each envoy's wing spanned 225 centimeters, totaling 5.334 meters from tip to tip.
25-26 Both envoys were equal in dimension and form.

27 Solomon placed the Celestial Envoys within the deepest part of the fortress; their wings spread wide, touching opposite walls and meeting in the center.
28 The envoys were adorned with gold.

29 He etched figures of Celestial Envoys, palm trees, and blooming flowers on the walls within and around the fortress.
30 The innermost Exalted Space and outer chambers were coated in gold.
31 He crafted olive wood doors for the inner fortress entryway, one-fifth of its width.
32 He carved Celestial Envoys, palm trees, and blooming flowers on two olive wood doors, covering them with beaten gold.

33 He constructed the main hall entrance doorposts from olive wood, each a quarter of the hall's width.
34 He also crafted juniper timber doors with two swiveled panels in their fixtures.
35 Engravings of Celestial Envoys, palm trees, and blooming flowers were covered with hammered gold.
36 He built the interior court with three rows of hewn stones and cedar timbers.

37 The foundation for the Sovereign Captain's fortress was laid in Ziv during Solomon's fourth year.
38 In his eleventh year, during Bul (the eighth month), every aspect was completed as planned, taking seven years in total.

§ 15000 SOLOMON BUILDS HIS GOVERNANCE PALACE

7 Solomon took thirteen years to complete his palace.
2 He built the Forest of Lebanon palace, measuring 100 cubits long, 50 wide, and 30 high, on four rows of cedar pillars supporting cedar beams.
3 The roof was cedar, resting on the pillars, with forty-five beams in three rows of fifteen.
4 The windows were elevated and grouped in threes, facing each other.

5 Each doorway had a rectangular frame facing one another in triplets.
6 A covered area stretching 22.86 meters in length and 13.72 meters in width extends out, featuring a porch at the front supported by pillars and topped with a protective canopy.
7 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, built the Hall of Justice, where he dispensed justice, lined with cedar from floor to roof.
8 His residence within the compound had a similar design, as did the structure for Pharaoh's daughter, his wife.
9 All buildings, from exterior to courtyard, were made of high-quality stone blocks, precisely shaped and refined inside and out.
10 The foundation used large, high-grade stones, some 4.572 meters long and others 3.6576 meters.
11 Above were superior stones and cedar beams.
12 The large court was enclosed with three rows of cut stones and a line of cedar beams, mirroring the Sovereign Captain's fortress courtyard and entrance hall.

§ 15010 THE FORTRESS' FURNISHINGS

[13] Prime Ruler Solomon invited Hiram from Tyre, a skilled bronze craftsman from the community of Naphtali.
[14] Hiram's mother was a widow, and his father was a Tyrian expert in bronze. Hiram, endowed with intelligence and proficiency, completed all tasks for Solomon.
[15] He crafted two bronze pillars, each 8.23 meters tall and 5.49 meters around.
[16] He made two 2.62 meters cornices of molten bronze for the pillars' peaks.
[17] The cornices were adorned with lattice-like chains, seven sets per pillar top.
[18] He added two rows of pomegranates around each lattice as adornments.

[19] The tops of the columns were lily-shaped, six feet high.
[20] Two hundred pomegranates were arranged in concentric circles above the spherical section near the lattice.
[21] The columns were placed at the fortress' entrance, named Jakin (South) and Boaz (North).
[22] The cornices resembled lilies, completing the columns' construction.
[23] He crafted a sea from melted alloy, donut-shaped, 5.334 meters across and 225 centimeters high, with a circumference of 15.75 meters.
[24] Beneath the rim, ten gourds per 52.5 centimeters were molded in two tiers as a single entity with the sea.
[25] The basin stood on twelve bovines facing North, West, South, and East, with their backs towards the center.
[26] The brim resembled a cup's edge, like a lily flower, with a hand's width thickness and a capacity of two thousand baths.
[27] He also made ten mobile bronze pedestals, each 210 centimeters long, four wide, and three high.
[28] The stands had side panels connected to posts.
[29] Lions, oxen, and Celestial Envoys were depicted on the panels between the uprights, with decorative wreaths above and below.
[30] Each cart had four bronze wheels and axles, with floral designs on the supports.
[31] Inside the stand was a circular aperture with a rounded border, 78.75 centimeters in diameter and 45 centimeters deep. Carved decorations surrounded the hole. The stands were quadrangular.
[32] The wheels were beneath the panels, with axles affixed to the base, each wheel 78.75 centimeters high.
[33] The wheels' hubs, spokes, axles, and rims were made of melted metal, resembling a main strike vehicle.

[34] Each stand had four supports at separate corners extending from the stand.
[35] A round band at the top was 26.25 centimeters deep, with integrated braces and panels.
[36] He decorated the panels and supports, intricately carving Celestial Envoys, lions, and palm trees into each space, surrounding them with elaborate wreaths.
[37] All ten stands were identical in size and appearance.
[38] He made ten bronze vessels, each holding forty baths and 210 centimeters in diameter, one for each stand.
[39] Five stands were placed on the southern side of the fortress and five on the northern side. The sea was positioned on the southeast edge of the fortress.
[40] Huram also crafted pots, shovels, and bowls, completing all tasks for Solomon's fortress for the Sovereign Captain.

41 The pair of columns, bowl-like tops on the columns, double sets of latticework on the bowl-like tops;
42 Two network sets with four hundred pomegranates in two rows covering the dome-shaped tops;
43 Ten foundations and their bowls;
44 The basin and twelve oxen beneath it;
45 Hiram crafted buckets, digging utensils, and sprinkling objects in polished bronze for Solomon's fortress for the Sovereign Captain.
46 The Prime Ruler directed their creation in earthenware forms on the Jordan Plain between Sukkoth and Zarethan.
47 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, didn't calculate their weight due to their excessive quantity; the amount of bronze used wasn't ascertained.
48 Solomon also created all items in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress, including the gold pedestal table and gold table for exalted bread;

49 Five golden light fixtures on each side before the inner fortress, with gold flower-shaped ornaments, lamps, and tongs;
50 Set-apart gold bowls, lamp snuffers, dispensing basins, serving dishes, incense burners, and golden hinges for doors of the inner fortress and primary section entry.
51 Solomon finished all tasks for the Sovereign Captain's fortress. He relocated his father David's set-apart items—gold, silver, and other articles—into the storage rooms of the Sovereign Captain's fortress.

§ 15020 THE STRONGBOX BROUGHT TO THE FORTRESS

8 Prime Ruler Solomon summoned all communal leaders, elderly politicians, and people heads of Israel to Yerushalayim to relocate the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain's Pact from the City of David, also known as the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign.
2 In the seventh month of Ethanim, all Israelites gathered with Solomon, the builder of the fortress, to celebrate the festival.
3 The ensovereigned mediators lifted the solemn agreement box when the leaders arrived.
4 The ensovereigned mediators and Levites transported the Strongbox, the Communal Tent, and all exalted items.
5 Solomon, the builder of the fortress and the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel sacrificed so many sheep and oxen that they couldn't be counted.
6 The ensovereigned mediator placed the Strongbox in its rightful position within the inner chamber of the fortress, under the protective wings of the Celestial Envoy representation.
7 The Celestial Envoy's wings formed a canopy over the Strongbox and its transport rods.
8 The rods were so long that their ends could be seen from the Exalted Space in front of the innermost fortress but not from outside; they remain there today.

9 The Strongbox contained only the two stone slabs Moses installed at Horeb, where the Sovereign Captain established a pact with the Israelites after they left Egypt.
10 When the ensovereigned mediators exited the exalted chamber, a cloud enveloped the fortress.
11 The ensovereigned mediators couldn't perform their duties due to the cloud's presence as the Sovereign Captain's magnificent radiance filled His fortress.

12 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, declared the Sovereign Captain's decree to reside in a dense cloud.
13 "I have constructed a splendid fortress for you, a place for your eternal residence."
14 As all Israel stood, Solomon empowered them.
15 He proclaimed: "Thanks be to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, who has fulfilled His promise to my father, David."
16 "When I led Israel out of Egypt, I didn't choose a town in any communal region for a fortress to honor my Name. Instead, I appointed David to govern Israel."
17 "My father, David, desired to construct a fortress in honor of the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel."
18 "the Sovereign Captain commended David for his desire to construct a fortress to honor His Name."
19 "However, you won't construct it. Your child will establish it in honor of my Name."
20 "the Sovereign Captain has fulfilled His pledge: I have followed my father David and now preside over Israel as promised, and I have constructed a fortress in honor of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel."
21 "I've prepared a place for the Strongbox, which contains the Sovereign Captain's pact with our ancestors during their celestial deliverance from Egypt."

§ 15030 SOLOMON'S MELDING OF HIS CONSCIENCE OF DEDICATION

22 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, stood before Israel's ensovereigned lifestyle community at the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table, hands raised to the sky.
23 He proclaimed: "Sovereign, Captain of Israel, none compare to you in the celestial or terrestrial realms—you who honor your agreement of affection with pathseekers who follow your path with complete devotion."
24 "Today, as witnessed, you have steadfastly committed to your servant, my father David, through your words and actions."
25 "Now, Captain, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, safeguard the promises made to your servant, my father David: 'There will always be someone from your family to rule Israel in my presence, provided they live before me with devotion, as you have done. '"
26 "Now, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, fulfill your promise to your servant, my father David."
27 "Can a Preeminent Sovereign reside on Earth? Even the celestial realms are too vast to accommodate you. This fortress I've built is insufficient."
28 "Please, Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, acknowledge my intervention and plea. Listen to your servant's heartfelt intervention today."
29 "May your gaze be directed towards this fortress, day and night, where you've stated, 'My Name would reside, ' so you can listen to the intervention your servant offers here."
30 "As they direct the meldings of your consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign toward this location, hear the cries of your servant and Israel. From your celestial realm residence, lend your ear and extend forgiveness."
31 "Should an individual commit an offense against their fellow and be obligated to make a vow? They arrive to affirm their vow at your exalted pedestal table within this fortress."
32 "From the celestial realm, receive insight and intervene. Decide your servants' fate, denouncing wrongdoers by returning their actions to them and confirming the blameless by dealing with them based on their ultimate authenticity."

33 “If Israel suffers defeat from adversaries due to transgressions against you, yet they return to you, praise your Name, and offer meldings of consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign and pleadings in this fortress,” 34 “Please listen from the celestial realms, grant forgiveness for Israel’s transgressions, and guide them back to their ancestral territory.”
35 “When the sky is closed up and no rain descends due to transgressions, and they direct meldings of consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign to this location, honor your Name, and cease wrongdoings because of your punishment.”
36 “Please, from the celestial realms, absolve your servants and Israel of their mistakes. Guide them on the proper path of existence and grant rainfall on the land you have given them as heritage.”
37 “When there is a food shortage or epidemic in the region, blight or mildew, locust or grasshopper invasion, or if adversaries lay siege to any city, whatever catastrophe or illness arises.”

38 “Whenever any individual among your people’s Israel expresses an appeal or request, and they acknowledge the hardships of their inner selves and extend their arms towards this fortress:
39 Listen from where You reside in the celestial realm. Show forgiveness and take appropriate actions; treat everyone by their deeds, as You know their inner selves (since You are the only One who understands every human inner-self).
40 So, they may elevate You for all the days they inhabit the land that You gave to our forefathers.
41 Regarding the outsider who isn’t part of your people, Israel, yet has traveled from a remote land due to your reputation.
42 When they learn about your remarkable reputation, potent hand, and elongated arm, they will approach and direct the meldings of my consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign towards this fortress.

43 Please heed from your home in the celestial realms and accommodate the requests of the outsider so all the inhabitants of the globe may recognize your Name and view you with awe, similarly to your populace, Israel, and comprehend that the fortress I’ve constructed holds your designation.

44 “When your pathseekers engage in combat against their adversaries, wherever you have directed them, and when they seek guidance from the Sovereign Captain facing the metropolis you have selected and the fortress I have established for your honor.
45 Listen to the melding of their conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign, petition from the celestial realms, and defend their interests.
46 Suppose they transgress against you—as everyone inevitably does—and you, in your anger, let their adversaries defeat them, carrying them off as prisoners to their territories, no matter how distant or near.
47 Should they come to their senses in the region where they are imprisoned, express regret, and petition you in their captors’ land, confessing, ‘We have gone astray, acted unjustly, and behaved evilly’;
48 Should they decide to indeed return to you, offering up their whole inner selves and inner selves, despite being under the control of their enemies, and they earnestly direct their meldings of your consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign to you, remembering the land that their forefathers received from you, the chosen city, and the exalted fortress that I have built to honor Your Name.

[49] From your celestial realm residence, acknowledge their appeal, make an intervention, and advocate for their interests.
[50] Pardon your people who have transgressed against you; let go of all the rebellious acts they have committed against you, and inspire their captors to treat them compassionately.
[51] They are indeed your people, your heritage, whom you led away from Egypt, away from the iron furnace of oppression.

[52] "Let your attention be given to your servant's petition and the meldings of your consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign of your people, Israel. Be attentive to them whenever their voices reach you in a cry for help.

[53] For you chose them as your very own from all the peoples on Earth, as per your promise made through Moses, your servant, when you, Almighty Preeminent Sovereign, led our forefathers out of Egypt.

[54] "After completing all his meldings of his consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign and pleas to the Sovereign Captain, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, stood up from the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table, where he had been on his knees with his arms extended towards the celestial realm.
[55] Rising to his feet, he invoked favors of Eternal Reality on the entire gathering of Israel.
[56] Fortunate be the Sovereign Captain, who has fulfilled his promise by providing peace to His people, Israel. His benevolent promises conveyed through His servant Moses have been accomplished without fail.
[57] May our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, stay with us as he did with our predecessors, never leaving or abandoning us.
[58] May he inspire our inner selves to follow his path dutifully and maintain the directives, statutes, and regulations he passed down to our forefathers.
[59] May my words, which I've voiced in my intervention to the Sovereign Captain, stay close to the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, day and night so that he may support the cause of me and the interests of his people, Israel, as per each day's requirements.
[60] For every nation on Earth to understand that the Sovereign Captain is the exclusively authentic Preeminent Sovereign; there's none besides Him.
[61] May your inner selves demonstrate wholehearted devotion to the Sovereign Captain of the Preeminent Sovereign, following His directives and keeping His directives, as is being done now."

§ 15040 THE DEDICATION OF THE FORTRESS

[62] Prime Ruler Solomon and the entire Israelite society offered absolving payments to the Eternal Reality.

[63] Solomon presented twenty-two thousand oxen and 120,000 lambs and goats as peace-absolving payments, purifying the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
[64] On that day, the Prime Ruler set-apart the courtyard's central area adjoining the Sovereign Captain's fortress, offering scorched payments, cereal-absolving payments, and communal absolving payments. The existing bronze pedestal table was insufficient for all the offerings.
[65] During that period, Solomon, the builder of the fortress and all Israel—an ensovereigned lifestyle community from Lebo Hamath to the Wadi of Egypt— celebrated the festival before the Sovereign Captain for two weeks.

66 The next day, he bid the ensovereigned lifestyle community farewell. They expressed gratitude towards the Prime Ruler and returned home, delighted and appreciative of the Sovereign Captain's transformative generosity towards His servant David and the people of Israel.

§ 15050 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN APPEARS TO SOLOMON

9 After Solomon completed the Sovereign Captain's fortress and the governance palace, fulfilling all his plans,
2 The Sovereign Captain appeared to Solomon again, as He had at Gibeon.
3 The Sovereign Captain said, "I have accepted your melding with the Preeminent Sovereign and your intervention; I have exalted this fortress by establishing my Name there forever. My gaze and inner-self will be there perpetually.
4 If you serve me with purity and sincerity, like your father David, following all my instructions and laws,
5 your reign over Israel will be everlasting, as I promised David: 'There shall be no end to your family on Israel's grand seat. '
6 But if you or your offspring stray from me, ignore my laws, and revere idolized deities,

7 I will eliminate Israel from the land I gave them and discard this fortress set-apart for my Name. Israel will become a catchphrase and mockery among nations.
8 This Exalted Space will turn into ruins. everyone passing by will be shocked and ridicule, asking: 'Why has the Eternal Reality's power brought such adversity on this land and hallowed place?'
9 They will answer, 'Because they abandoned their Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, who led their forefathers out of Egypt. They adopted different idolized deities, offering homage and servitude to them. '"

§ 15060 SOLOMON'S OTHER ACTIVITIES

10 After two decades, Solomon built the fortress to express joyful adoration for the Sovereign Captain and his grand residence.
11 Prime Ruler Solomon rewarded Hiram, the Prime Ruler of Tyre, with twenty towns in Galilee for providing cedar, cypress wood, and gold.
12 However, Hiram found the cities unsatisfactory.
13 "My brother, what's the purpose of these cities you've given me?" he queried. They have been known as the Territory of Cabul till today.
14 Hiram had provided Solomon, the builder of the fortress, with 3.96 metric tons of gold.
15 This account summarizes the forced labor Solomon imposed to construct the Sovereign Captain's fortress, his grand residence, terraces, Yerushalayim's fortification, Hazor, Megiddo, and Gezer.
16 Pharaoh, the Prime Ruler of Egypt, seized Gezer, burned it, annihilated the Canaanite residents, and presented it as a matrimonial offering to his daughter, Solomon's wife.
17 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, restored Gezer and Lower Beth Horon.
18 Baalath and Tadmor were in his wilderness territory.

19 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, built supply centers and towns for strike vehicles and assault forces in Yerushalayim, Lebanon, and across his jurisdiction.
20 Individuals from the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites who were not linked with the Israelites remained.
21 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, enlisted the offspring of these remaining ethnic groups for compulsory labor, a state that persists today.
22 Solomon did not reduce the Israelites to servitude; they served as warriors, administrative personnel, officers, military leaders, and overseers of his strike vehicles and assault forces.
23 They were also leading authorities overseeing Solomon's undertakings, with 550 leaders managing the workforce.
24 Solomon constructed terraces after his wife, Pharaoh's daughter, moved from the City of David to the palace he built for her.
25 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, performed his formal duties three times annually by offering scorched and peace offerings on the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table he constructed. He also burned incense in the Sovereign Captain's presence.
26 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, built a fleet at Ezion Geber near Elath in Edom along the Red Sea coast.
27 Hiram dispatched seafarers well-versed in navigation to work with Solomon's crew.
28 They voyaged to Ophir, procured 13.86 metric tons of gold, and handed it over to Solomon.

§ 15070 THE FIRST LADY OF SHEBA VISITS SOLOMON, THE BUILDER OF THE FORTRESS

10 Hearing of Solomon's wisdom and his bond with the Sovereign Captain, Sheba's First Lady tested him with challenging questions.

2 She traveled to Yerushalayim with a grand caravan, camels bearing spices, gold, and precious jewels. Upon meeting Solomon, she shared all her thoughts.
3 Solomon answered all her questions; nothing was too difficult for him.
4 Witnessing Solomon's profound insight, his impressive dwelling,
5 the meals on his table, the arrangement of his mediators, the attired administrators, his wine stewards, and the absolving payments at the Sovereign Captain's fortress, she was amazed.
6 The First Lady said, "The tales of your wisdom and accomplishments were authentic.
7 I didn't trust them until I saw for myself. The reality exceeds what I heard; your wisdom and riches surpass the reports.
8 Your people must be content! Imagine the delight of your officials, who serve you and hear your wisdom!
9 May the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, be adored, who delighted in you and made you ruler of Israel. Because of the Sovereign Captain's love for Israel, you have been ensovereigned Prime Ruler to uphold integrity and administer fair judgment."
10 The First Lady of Sheba gave Solomon 3.96 metric tons of gold, spices, and jewels. Such a profusion of spices had never been matched.
11 Hiram's fleet, which brought gold from Ophir, also transported almug wood and valuable gems.
12 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, used the almug wood to build pillars for the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress and his grand residence and to make musical instruments like harps and lyres. Such a significant amount of almug wood has never been seen since.

13 Solomon fulfilled all the First Lady's wishes and requests, in addition to his generous gifts. She then departed for her homeland with her entourage.

§ 15080 SOLOMON'S SPLENDOR

14 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, received about 19,980 kilograms of gold annually.
15 This excludes income from merchants, traders, and all the Prime Rulers of Arabia and regional overseers.
16 Prime Ruler Solomon, the builder of the fortress, made 200 large bucklers from pounded gold, each containing 6.84 kilograms of gold.
17 He also made three hundred small gold ballistic shields, each with 1.71 kilograms of gold, stored in the Forest of Lebanon residence.
18 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, constructed a majestic ivory chair adorned with the finest gold.
19 The chair featured six steps leading up to a circular top at the back, with armrests on either side of the seat, each accompanied by a lion.
20 Twelve lions stood on the six steps, an unmatched architectural feat.
21 Silver was considered unimportant, and all of the objects in the Forest of Lebanon Palace, including Solomon's drinking cups, were made of pure gold.
22 He operated a fleet of commercial vessels with Hiram's ships. He returned with gold, silver, ivory, and various primates every three years.
23 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, surpassed all global Prime Rulers in wealth and wisdom.
24 The Preeminent Sovereign imbued his wisdom, which people worldwide sought.
25 Annually, visitors brought gifts—silver and gold items, clothing, strike vehicles, spices, tactical personnel transports, and utility terrain vehicles.
26 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, amassed fourteen hundred strike vehicles and twelve thousand armored personnel transports stationed in main strike vehicle cities and Yerushalayim.
27 Under Solomon's reign, silver in Yerushalayim was as common as stones, and cedar as plentiful as sycamore-fig trees in the lowlands.
28 Solomon's steeds were procured from Egypt and Kue by his traders.

29 A main strike vehicle from Egypt cost 6.84 kilograms of silver, and a horse was priced at 1.71 kilograms of silver, sold to rulers of the Hittites and Arameans.

§ 15090 SOLOMON'S WIVES

11 Prime Ruler Solomon loved many foreign women, including those from Moab, Ammon, Edom, Sidon, and the Hittites, besides Pharaoh's daughter.
2 These women came from nations the Sovereign Captain had warned the Israelites against marrying, fearing they would lead them to idolized deities. Despite this, Solomon was deeply attached to them.
3 He had seven hundred princesses as wives and three hundred concubines who led him astray.
4 In his later years, his wives turned his inner determination towards idolized deities, and his loyalty to the Sovereign Captain was not as complete as his father David's.
5 He followed Milcom, the abhorrent idolized deity of the Ammonites, and Astarte, the idolized deity of the Sidonians.

[6] Solomon, the builder of the fortress, did unworthy acts in the Sovereign Captain's sight; he did not fully follow the Sovereign Captain like David.
[7] He built a worship site for Chemosh, the abhorrent idolized deity of Moab, and Molek, the horrific idolized deity of the Ammonites, on an armored personnel carrier East of Yerushalayim.
[8] Solomon did the same for all his foreign wives, who scorched incense and offered absolving payments to their idolized deities.
[9] The Sovereign Captain was angry with Solomon for turning away from Him despite revealing Himself to Solomon twice.
[10] Solomon, the builder of the fortress, was commanded not to worship idolized deities but did not follow the Preeminent Sovereign's directive.
[11] The Sovereign Captain told Solomon, "Since you have chosen this path and ignored my pact and directives, I will strip the Sovereignty from you and give it to one of your officials."

[12] "However, for your father David's sake, I won't do this during your lifetime; I will take it from your son.
[13] I won't take away the entire realm; I'll leave him one community for the sake of my servant David and Yerushalayim, which I have chosen."

§ 15100 SOLOMON'S ADVERSARIES

[14] The Sovereign Captain incited Hadad, an Edomite from Edom's grand family, to oppose Solomon.
[15] During David's battle against Edom, the military leader Joab had slain all the males in Edom while burying the fallen.
[16] Joab and the entire Israelite army stayed there for six months until the male population of Edom was annihilated.
[17] Despite being a young child, Hadad escaped to Egypt with some Edomite servants under his father's command.
[18] They left Midian, arrived in Paran, recruited individuals from Paran, and journeyed to Egypt to meet Pharaoh. Pharaoh provided Hadad with a dwelling and land for sustenance.
[19] Pharaoh liked Hadad so much that he offered him the sister of his spouse, First Lady Tahpenes, as a wife.
[20] Tahpenes' sister bore a son named Genubath, who was raised within the governance palace alongside Pharaoh's children.
[21] While in Egypt, Hadad learned of David's death and Joab's passing. He then pleaded with Pharaoh to return to his homeland.
[22] "Why are you eager to return? What haven't I provided for you here?" Pharaoh asked. "Absolutely nothing," replied Hadad, "yet I still request to depart!"
[23] The Preeminent Sovereign incited another enemy against Solomon, Rezon, the son of Eliada, who had escaped from Prime Ruler Hadadezer of Zobah.

[24] After David annihilated Zobah's forces, Rezon assembled men, became their commander, journeyed to Damascus, settled there, and seized authority.
[25] Throughout Solomon's lifetime, Rezon consistently exacerbated the issues that Hadad instigated against Israel. Rezon governed Aram and harbored intense hatred towards Israel.

§ 15110 JEROBOAM REBELS AGAINST SOLOMON, THE BUILDER OF THE FORTRESS

[26] Jeroboam, Nebat's son, rebelled against the Prime Ruler. He served Solomon, originating from Zeredah of Ephraim, and his mother, Zeruah, was a widow.
[27] Here's the account of his defiance: Solomon built supporting terraces and repaired the breach in David's city fortifications.
[28] Solomon appointed Jeroboam, noted for his capability to oversee the workforce from Joseph's communities.

[29] One day, as Jeroboam left Yerushalayim, he met Ahijah, the Shiloh eternally wise servant, on the road. Ahijah wore a new garment. They were alone in the countryside.
[30] Ahijah tore his new garment into twelve pieces.
[31] He told Jeroboam, "Take ten pieces for yourself, as the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, declares: 'I will take the realm from Solomon, the builder of the fortress, and give you ten communities. '"

[32] "For David's sake and Yerushalayim, the city I chose from all Israel's communities, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, will keep one community.
[33] This is because they have forsaken Me and worshipped Ashtoreth, Chemosh, and Molek. They have not followed My ways or kept My decrees as David did.
[34] Yet, I will not take the whole realm from Solomon; he will rule during his lifetime for David's sake.

[35] I will take the realm from his son and give you ten communities.
[36] I will leave one community for his son so that David will always have a light before Me in Yerushalayim, where I chose to place My Name.
[37] You will rule over Israel and fulfill your desires.
[38] If you follow My ways and do what pleases Me, keeping My statutes as David did, I will be with you and establish a lasting dynasty for you as I did for David. Israel will be yours.
[39] I will afflict David's descendants, but not forever."

[40] Solomon, the builder of the fortress, sought to kill Jeroboam. Still, Jeroboam fled to Egypt and stayed with Prime Ruler Shishak until Solomon's death.

§ 15120 SOLOMON'S DEATH

[41] Isn't it authentic that Solomon's reign, achievements, and wisdom are documented in the book of Solomon's events?
[42] Solomon, the builder of the fortress, ruled all of Israel from Yerushalayim for forty years.
[43] Upon his death, he was laid to rest in David's city, and his son Rehoboam succeeded him.

§ 15130 ISRAEL REBELS AGAINST REHOBOAM

12 Rehoboam traveled to Shechem, where all of Israel had gathered to ensovereign him as their Prime Ruler.
2 Upon hearing this, Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who had fled to Egypt to escape Prime Ruler Solomon, returned from Egypt.

3 Jeroboam and the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel were summoned. He approached Rehoboam and said,
4 "Lighten the hard labor and the heavy burden your father placed on us, and we will serve you. Your father placed a heavy burden on us."
5 Rehoboam replied, "Depart for a few days and then return to me." So, the crowd dispersed.

6 Prime Ruler Rehoboam consulted the veteran advisors who had served his father, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, "What advice do you offer in responding to these people?" he asked.
7 They replied, "If today you act as a servant to these people, serve them diligently, and respond favorably to their requests, they will always be your servants."
8 Rehoboam disregarded their advice and turned to the young men who came up with his family and were currently serving for guidance.
9 He asked them, "What advice do you have? How should we respond to these people who ask me to lighten the burden my father imposed on them?"
10-11 The young men replied, "Tell them that while your father made their yoke heavy, you will make it even heavier. Your father disciplined them with whips; you will discipline them with scorpions."

12 After three days, Jeroboam and all the people returned to Rehoboam as he had instructed.
13 Rehoboam answered the people harshly, rejecting the advice of the older advisors.
14 He followed the young men's advice and said, "My father made your yoke heavy; I will make it even heavier. You were punished with whips by your father; I will punish you with scorpions.

15 Rehoboam ignored the people's pleas because the Sovereign Captain made this turn of events happen, fulfilling the vision that Ahijah the Shilonite had given to Jeroboam.

16 Seeing that Rehoboam did not listen to them, the Israelites declared: "We have no share in David's legacy! No part in Jesse's son! To your tents, Israel! Look after your own house, David!" So, the Israelites went home.
17 However, Rehoboam continued to rule over the Israelites living in Judah's cities.
18 Prime Ruler Rehoboam dispatched Adoniram, the head of forced labor. Still, the people of Israel executed him with stoning. Rehoboam quickly boarded his main strike vehicle and fled to Yerushalayim.
19 Israel has been in rebellion against David's house to this day.

20 When all of Israel heard that Jeroboam had returned, they called him to an assembly and ensovereigned him as ruler over all of Israel. Only the people of Judah continued to be loyal to David's household.
21 Upon arriving in Yerushalayim, Rehoboam assembled all of Judah and the community of Benjamin—180,000 able young men—to fight against Israel and restore his rule over the realm.
22 But the Preeminent Sovereign's message came to Shemaiah, a servant of the Preeminent Sovereign:

23 “Tell Rehoboam, Solomon’s son and Prime Ruler of Judah, along with all Judah and Benjamin and the rest of the people:
24 The Sovereign Captain says: Do not fight against your relatives, the Israelites. everyone should go home because I have brought about this situation.” So they followed the Sovereign Captain’s orders and headed home as he directed.

§ 15140 GOLDEN CALVES AT BETHEL AND DAN

25 Jeroboam built Shechem in Ephraim’s mountains and made it his home. He then expanded to Peniel.
26 Jeroboam feared the preeminent sovereignty might return to David’s family.
27 If the people went to Yerushalayim to present absolving payments, their loyalty might shift back to Rehoboam, Prime Ruler of Judah, and they could kill Jeroboam and rejoin Rehoboam.

28 Following the advice, Jeroboam made two golden calves. He told the people, “The journey to Yerushalayim is too hard. Pay heed: These are your idolized deities, Israel, who led you out of Egypt.”
29 He placed one calf in Bethel and the other in Dan.
30 This act led to wrongdoing; people traveled to Bethel and Dan to worship the calves.

31 Jeroboam built temples on mountains and appointed priests from various backgrounds, not just Levi’s descendants.
32 He established a festival in the eighth month on the fifteenth day, mirroring Judah’s festival, and performed activations on the pedestal table. This festival was thrown in Bethel, where he made absolving payments to the golden calves. He also appointed clergy for the holy sites in Bethel.
33 On his chosen day, the 15th of the eighth month, he ascended the pedestal table in Bethel to present absolving payments and established a festival for the Israelites.

§ 15150 THE ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATOR FROM JUDAH

13 Following the Sovereign Captain’s command, an eternally wise servant from Judah went to Bethel, where Jeroboam was preparing an absolving payment at the pedestal table.

2 The visionary declared, “Hear this, O pedestal table! the Sovereign Captain says: ‘A child named Josiah from David’s family will execute the priests here, and human bones will be scorched on you. ’”
3 He then proclaimed, “The pedestal table will break, and its ashes will scatter.”
4 When Jeroboam heard this, he ordered, “Apprehend him!” but his arm withered, and he couldn’t retract it.
5 The pedestal table broke, and its ashes scattered as predicted.
6 Jeroboam pleaded for healing, and the eternally wise servant merged his consciousness with the Eternal Reality, restoring Jeroboam’s arm.
7-9 Jeroboam invited the visionary to dine with him, offering a gift. However, the visionary refused, citing the Sovereign Captain’s command not to eat or drink there.
10 He left by a different route.

11-13 An elderly prophet in Bethel heard of these events from his sons and pursued the visionary.
14-15 Finding him resting under an oak, he invited him to his home.
16-18 The prophet deceived the visionary into returning after initially refusing.
19-21 While they ate, the prophet received a message from the Sovereign Captain condemning the visionary for disobedience.
22-24 After their meal, a lion killed the visionary on the way.
25-30 The prophet retrieved his body and buried him in his own grave, mourning him as a brother.
31-32 When he passed away, he had instructed his sons to bury him next to the visionary.

33-34 Despite these events, Jeroboam continued his impure practices, appointing anyone as priests, leading to his dynasty's downfall.

§ 15160 AHIJAH'S VISION AGAINST JEROBOAM

14 During that period, Abijah, Jeroboam's son, fell ill.
2 Jeroboam instructed his wife to disguise herself and go to Shiloh to see Ahijah, the eternally wise servant who had foretold Jeroboam's reign.
3 She was to bring ten loaves of bread, some pastries, and a honey pot. Ahijah would reveal the boy's fate.
4-5 Following her husband's instructions, Jeroboam's wife went to Ahijah's home in Shiloh. The Eternal Reality, having informed Ahijah—who was now blind due to age—about her visit and disguise.
6 As she approached, Ahijah called out, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why the disguise? I have troubling news for you."

7 "Tell Jeroboam this from the Sovereign Captain, Israel's Preeminent Sovereign: 'I chose you from the people and made you a leader of Israel.
8 I took the realm from David's family and gave it to you. But you have not been like my servant David, who followed my directives and was loyal to me.
9 You have done more evil than anyone before you. You made idolized deities, provoking my anger and ignoring me.
10 Because of this, I will bring disaster to Jeroboam's house. I will cut off every male in Israel, whether an enslaved person or free; I will burn up Jeroboam's house as one burns dung until it is gone.
11 Birds will eat those who pass away in the country, and dogs will eat those who pass away in the city. This proclamation is the word of the Sovereign Captain!
12 Go home. As soon as you enter your city, your son will die. '"

13 Israel as a whole will bury and grieve for him. Because the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel, discovered authenticity in him, he is the only Jeroboam family member to be buried.
14 The Sovereign Captain will raise a new Prime Ruler over Israel to end Jeroboam's family. This transition is already happening.
15 The Eternal Reality will strike Israel, so it shakes like a reed in water. He will uproot Israel from this good land given to their ancestors and scatter them beyond the Euphrates River because they angered the Sovereign Captain by making Asherah poles.
16 He will give up Israel because of Jeroboam's unworthy choices, which he committed and led Israel to commit."

17 Jeroboam's wife returned to Tirzah. As she entered her home, her son died.
18 He was buried, and all Israel mourned for him as the Sovereign Captain had said through His messenger, Ahijah.
19 The rest of Jeroboam's acts, his wars, and how he ruled are written in the historical records of Israel's Prime Rulers.
20 He ruled for twenty-two years before his death, after which his son Nadab succeeded him.

§ 15170 REHOBOAM PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

21 Rehoboam, Solomon's son, ruled Judah. At forty-one, he began his seventeen-year reign in Yerushalayim, the city chosen by the Sovereign Captain for His Name. His mother, Naamah, was from Ammon.
22 Judah's unworthy choices angered the Sovereign Captain more than their ancestors' actions.
23 They built worship sites and revered objects, including Asherah idolized deities on every high hill and under every lush tree.

24 Male temple prostitutes were also present, and the people adopted vile customs from the nations the Sovereign Captain had expelled before the Israelites.
25 In Rehoboam's fifth year, Prime Ruler Shishak of Egypt attacked Yerushalayim.
26 He looted all valuables from the Sovereign Captain's fortress and the Prime Ruler's headquarters, including Solomon's golden ballistic shields.
27 Rehoboam replaced them with bronze ballistic shields, entrusting them to the guards' leaders at the governance palace entrance.
28 Guards carried the ballistic shields Whenever the Prime Ruler visited the Sovereign Captain's fortress. Then, they returned them to the guard's quarters.
29 All other details of Rehoboam's rule are recorded in Judah's historical records.
30 Rehoboam and Jeroboam were in constant conflict.
31 Rehoboam died and was buried in the City of David. His mother was Naamah from Ammon. His son Abijah succeeded him as Prime Ruler.

§ 15180 ABIJAH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

15 Abijah began his rule over Judah in the eighteenth year of Jeroboam, son of Nebat.
2 He reigned in Yerushalayim for three years, and his mother was Maakah, the daughter of Abishalom.
3 Abijah followed the iniquities of his father; his inner-self was not entirely loyal to the Sovereign Captain like David, his ancestor.
4 Yet, for David's sake, the Sovereign Captain, his Preeminent Sovereign, provided a beacon in Yerushalayim by establishing a successor in his son and strengthening Yerushalayim.
5 David had always followed the Sovereign Captain's wishes throughout his life, except in the matter of Uriah the Hittite.
6 Abijah and Jeroboam were continually at war during Abijah's life.

7 The events and actions of Abijah's rule are not fully documented in the historical records of the Prime Rulers of Judah. There was an ongoing conflict between Abijah and Jeroboam.
8 Abijah died and was buried in the City of David. His son Asa succeeded him.

§ 15190 ASA PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

9 Asa assumed authority in Judah during the twentieth year of Jeroboam's rule in Israel.
10 He ruled in Yerushalayim for forty-one years. His grandmother was Maacah, the offspring of Abishalom.
11 Asa acted according to the Sovereign Captain's wishes, following the ways of his forefather David.
12 He expelled male cultic prostitutes and demolished idolized deities his forefathers had crafted.
13 Asa stripped his grandmother Maakah of her title as First Lady mother for creating a horrendous idolized deity for Asherah worship. He dismantled and scorched it in the Kidron Valley.
14 Despite not eliminating religious shrines, Asa was wholly devoted to the Sovereign Captain.
15 He transported silver, gold, and items he and his father had commissioned into the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
16 Asa and Baasha, Prime Ruler of Israel, were in constant conflict during their entire rule.
17 Baasha attacked Judah and fortified Ramah to obstruct transitions in or out of Asa's domain.
18 Asa took all the gold and silver from the grand palaces and the Sovereign Captain's fortress coffers, giving it to his administrators to deliver to Ben-hadad, Prime Ruler of Aram in Damascus, with this message:

19 "Let's agree as our fathers did. I'm giving you gold and silver. Now, terminate your pact with Baasha so he'll leave me be."
20 Ben-Hadad complied, dispatching military leaders to seize control over Ijon, Dan, Abel Beth Maakah, Kinnereth, and Naphtali.
21 On hearing this, Baasha ceased constructing Ramah and retreated to Tirzah.
22 Asa then had all the stones and wood from Ramah moved to enhance Geba in Benjamin and Mizpah.
23 The rest of Asa's life, including his accomplishments and fortified cities, is documented in the Book of Records of Judah's Prime Rulers. In his old age, he suffered a severe foot ailment.
24 Asa passed away and was interred with his forefathers in the city of David. His offspring, Jehoshaphat, succeeded him.

§ 15200 NADAB PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

25 Nadab, Jeroboam's heir, began his rule over Israel in Asa's second year as Prime Ruler of Judah, lasting two years.
26 He committed misdeeds, following his father's path and repeating his transgressions.
27 Baasha, Ahijah's heir from the Issachar community, plotted against Nadab and executed his plan at Gibbethon, a Philistine Warrior town. At the same time, Nadab and the Israeli forces attacked it.
28 In Asa's third year as Prime Ruler of Judah, Baasha assassinated Nadab and seized power.
29 Upon ascending to authority, he eradicated Jeroboam's entire family, fulfilling the Sovereign Captain's vision conveyed by Ahijah the Shilonite.
30 Jeroboam's transgressions, which he made Israel partake in, provoked the Sovereign Captain's ire.
31 Nadab's rule and actions are documented in Israel's historical records.

32 Asa and Prime Ruler Baasha of Israel were in constant conflict throughout their rule.

§ 15210 BAASHA PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

33 In the third year of Prime Ruler Asa's reign in Judah, Baasha, son of Ahijah, became the leader of Israel in Tirzah, ruling for twenty-four years.
34 He committed transgressions in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, following Jeroboam's path and leading Israel into the same wrongdoing.

16 Jehu, Hanani's son, delivered the Sovereign Captain's message to Baasha.
2 "Though I elevated you from obscurity and entrusted you with leading my people, Israel, you chose to emulate Jeroboam, leading Israel into unworthy choices and inciting my wrath.
3 I will eradicate Baasha and his family, making your dynasty like Jeroboam's.
4 Wolves will devour those of Baasha's family who die in town, and birds will consume those who perish in the countryside. "

5 Aren't Baasha's other deeds recorded in the Chronicles of the Prime Rulers of Israel?
6 Baasha died and was buried in Tirzah, and his son Elah succeeded him.

7 The Sovereign Captain's message to Baasha and his family through Jehu, son of Hanani and an eternally wise servant, was due to his impure deeds that ignited the Sovereign Captain's wrath. His actions mirrored Jeroboam's household, earning the Sovereign Captain's ire for eradicating it.

§ 15220 ELAH- THE PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

8 Elah, Baasha's heir, ruled Israel for two years, starting in the twenty-sixth year of Prime Ruler Asa of Judah.
9 Zimri, a high-ranking official, conspired against him while Elah was drinking at Arza's house in Tirzah.
10 In Asa's twenty-seventh year, Zimri killed Elah and succeeded him as Prime Ruler.
11 Upon securing his rule, Zimri eradicated Baasha's entire family, sparing no male relative or friend.
12 Following the Sovereign Captain's directive, Zimri fulfilled Jehu's vision by eliminating Baasha's family.
13 Due to Baasha and Elah's transgressions and leading Israel into unworthy choices with idolized deities, they provoked the Sovereign Captain's wrath.
14 Elah's reign and actions are detailed in Israel's historical records of Prime Rulers.

§ 15230 ZIMRI- THE PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

15 Zimri ruled Tirzah for a week during the twenty-seventh year of Asa's reign as Prime Ruler of Judah. The troops were stationed near Gibbethon, a Philistine controlled city.
16 Upon learning of Zimri's conspiracy and assassination of the Prime Ruler, the Israelites in the camp immediately declared Omri, the army's commander, as the Prime Ruler of Israel on the same day.
17 Omri, with all of Israel, then left Gibbethon to besiege Tirzah.

18 Seeing the city captured, Zimri entered the fortified area of the Prime Ruler's headquarters and set it ablaze, resulting in his death.
19 Due to his transgressions, he engaged in actions deemed impure in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, following Jeroboam's path and replicating his offenses.

20 "Aren't the remaining incidents from Zimri's reign and his insurrection documented in the historical record of the Prime Rulers of Israel?"

§ 15240 OMRI- THE PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

21 Israel was divided into two factions: one supporting Tibni, son of Ginath, and the other backing Omri.
22 Omri's supporters prevailed, leading to Tibni's death and Omri's rise to power.
23 Omri became Israel's ruler in Asa's thirty-first year as Judah's ruler, reigning for twelve years, half of which he ruled from Tirzah.
24 He bought the Mount of Samaria from Shemer for two pieces of silver. He built a city named Samaria in Shemer's honor.
25 Omri committed impurity before the Sovereign Captain, surpassing all his predecessors' unworthy choices.
26 He followed Jeroboam, son of Nebat, in leading Israel into transgressions, provoking the Sovereign Captain's wrath with their idolized deities.
27 "Aren't Omri's remaining deeds recorded in the historical book of the Prime Rulers of Israel?"
28 Omri died and was buried in Samaria, and his son Ahab succeeded him.

§ 15250 AHAB BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

29 Ahab, Omri's male heir, ascended to Israel's authority during Prime Ruler Asa of Judah's thirty-eighth year. His reign in Samaria, governing over Israel, spanned twenty-two years.
30 Ahab made unworthy choices in the sight of the Sovereign Captain compared to all who preceded him.

31 He didn't just see the transgressions of Jeroboam, the male heir of Nebat, as insignificant; he even wedded Jezebel, the manipulative first lady, daughter of Ethbaal, ruler of the Sidonians. He began to devote himself to Baal, offering him reverence.
32 He constructed a shrine for Baal in Baal's temple, which he had fabricated in Samaria.
33 Ahab also fabricated a symbol of Asherah and, in doing so, infuriated the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, more intensely than all the former Prime Rulers of Israel had done.
34 During the rule of Ahab, Hiel from Bethel reestablished Jericho. He instituted its foundation at the expense of Abiram, his eldest male heir, and fabricated its gates at the loss of his youngest male heir, Segub, fulfilling the vision of the Sovereign Captain conveyed through Joshua, Nun's male heir.

§ 15260 ELIJAH ANNOUNCES A GREAT DROUGHT

17 Elijah from Tishbe in Gilead declared to Ahab, “In the upcoming years, there won’t be any dew or rain unless I give the order because I serve the Sovereign Captain of Israel.”

§ 15270 ELIJAH FED BY RAVENS

2 The Sovereign Captain’s message reached Elijah:
3 “Leave here, go East, and hide by the brook Cherith, East of the Jordan.
4 Drink from the stream, and I have commanded the ravens to feed you there.”
5 Elijah obeyed the Sovereign Captain, journeying to Cherith Brook, East of the Jordan, where he stayed.
6 He drank from the stream, and ravens brought him meat and bread in the morning and evening.

§ 15280 ELIJAH AND THE WIDOW AT ZAREPHATH

7 The stream dried up due to the drought.
8 The Sovereign Captain’s message came to Elijah.
9 “Go to Zarephath in Sidon and stay there. I’ve instructed a widow to nourish you.”
10 He went to Zarephath and saw a widow collecting sticks at the city gate. He asked her, “Could you fetch me some water in a container?”
11 As she went to get it, he added, “Please bring me a portion of bread.”
12 She replied, “Under the ultimate authenticity of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, I have no bread, only a pinch of flour and a bit of olive oil. I’m gathering wood to prepare a meal for myself and my child before we die.”
13 Elijah reassured her, asking her to first bake a small portion of bread for him and then prepare food for herself and her child.
14 “As per the Sovereign Captain’s decree, Israel’s Preeminent Sovereign, the flour container will not deplete, and the oil pitcher will not empty until the Sovereign Captain brings rain.”
15 She followed Elijah’s instructions, and they ate regularly.
16 The flour container didn’t deplete, and the oil jug never emptied, as per the Sovereign Captain’s word through Elijah.
17 Eventually, the woman’s son fell sick and died.
18 She asked Elijah, “Ensovereigned mediator, have you come to remind me of my guilt and bring death to my son?”
19 Elijah took her child to his room and laid him on his bed.
20 He appealed to the Sovereign Captain, “Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, have you brought grief on this widow by making her son perish?”
21 He stretched himself over the child three times, pleading with the Sovereign Captain to restore the boy’s life.

22 The Sovereign Captain answered; the child’s life was restored.
23 Elijah brought the boy back to his mother and said, “Pay heed: your son is living!”
24 The woman confirmed, “Now I’m convinced you are a Celestial Envoy, and your messages from the Sovereign Captain are genuine.”

§ 15290 ELIJAH AND OBADIAH

18 During the third year, Elijah received a message from the Preeminent Sovereign: “Go and present yourself to Ahab, and I will bring rain upon the land.”
2 Elijah then disclosed himself to Ahab as the food shortage in Samaria worsened.
3 Ahab summoned his palace overseer, Obadiah, a loyal pathseeker of the Sovereign Captain.
4 When Jezebel, the manipulative first lady, was exterminating the eternally wise servants, Obadiah safeguarded a hundred of them by hiding them in two caves, fifty in each, and providing them with food and water.
5 Ahab instructed Obadiah to search all springs and valleys for resources to keep their strike vehicles and troops operational, avoiding retreat.
6 They divided the land to be surveyed, with Ahab going one way and Obadiah another.
7 While on his way, Obadiah encountered Elijah. Recognizing him, Obadiah bowed and asked, “Elijah, is it you, my overseer?”
8 “Indeed,” he replied, “tell your overseer, ‘Elijah is here. ’”
9 Obadiah asked, “What wrong have I done that you would deliver me to Ahab to be executed?”

10 “As sure as your Preeminent Sovereign lives, my overseer has searched for you in every nation and realm. He made them swear you could not be found whenever they claimed you were not there.
11 Now you tell me to inform my overseer, ‘Elijah is here. ’
12 After I leave you, I don’t know where the Eternal Spark of the Sovereign Captain might take you. If I inform Ahab and he can’t find you, he will kill me. Yet I have been devoted to the Sovereign Captain since childhood.
13 Is my overseer unaware of what I did when Jezebel, the manipulative first lady, killed the Sovereign Captain’s eternally wise servants? I hid a hundred of them in two caves, fifty in each, and provided them with food and water.
14 Now you tell me to inform my overseer, ‘Elijah is here. ’ He will surely kill me.”
15 Elijah assured him, “I serve the Sovereign Captain of all who live. I will appear before Ahab today.”

§ 15300 ELIJAH ON MOUNT CARMEL

16 Obadiah informed Ahab, who then went to meet Elijah.
17 Ahab asked, “Are you the one causing disaster in Israel?”
18 Elijah replied, “I’m not the one causing calamity; you and your family are for defying the Sovereign Captain’s directives and pursuing the Baals.
19 Bring the four hundred prophets of Asherah and the 450 prophets of Baal who dine at Jezebel’s table together at Mount Carmel with the rest of the Israelites.
20 Ahab summoned all Israelites and gathered the seers at Mount Carmel.
21 Elijah challenged the people, “How long will you waver between two paths? If the Sovereign Captain is the authentic Preeminent Sovereign, follow Him; if Baal, follow him!” The crowd remained silent.
22 Elijah declared he was the sole remaining eternally wise servant of the Sovereign Captain, while Baal had 450 counterfeit prophets.

23 “Bring two oxen. Let Baal’s prophets choose one, dismember it, and place it on the wood without igniting it. I will prepare the other ox and place it on the wood without setting a flame.

24 You call on your idolized deity, and I'll call on the Sovereign Captain. The Preeminent Sovereign who answers with fire is the authentic Eternal Reality." The crowd agreed.
25 Elijah told Baal's prophets to choose an ox and prepare it first since they were more numerous. "Call on your idolized deity, but do not ignite the fire."
26 They prepared the bull and called on Baal from dawn till midday, shouting, "Baal, answer us!" But there was no response. They danced around their absolving pedestal table.
27 At midday, Elijah mocked them, suggesting they shout louder as their Eternal Reality might be meditating, busy, or on a journey. "Perhaps he is asleep and needs to be awakened."
28 They shouted louder and cut themselves with tactical blades and long-range ballistic weapons until blood flowed.
29 They continued their frantic prophesying until evening, but there was no response.
30 Elijah called the people to him and repaired the dilapidated pedestal table of the Sovereign Captain.
31 He took twelve stones, one for each community descended from Jacob, to whom the Preeminent Sovereign had proclaimed, "You will be known as Israel."
32 With these stones, he built a pedestal table in honor of the Sovereign Captain and dug a trench around it large enough to hold two seahs of seed.
33 He arranged the wood, dismembered the ox, and laid it on the wood. He then instructed them to fill four large water jars and pour them on the absolving meat and wood.
34 He told them to do it again, and they did. He told them to do it a third time, and they complied.
35 The water ran down around the pedestal table and filled the trench.

36 At the time of the absolving payment, Elijah stepped forward and melded His conscience with the Eternal Reality, "Captain, Eternal Reality of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, let it be known today that you are Preeminent Sovereign in Israel, and I am your servant doing all these things at your command.
37 Answer me, Captain, so these people will know that you are the authentic Preeminent Sovereign and turn their inner determination back to you."
38 Then fire from the Eternal Reality fell and consumed the offering, wood, stones, soil, and water in the trench.
39 When all the people saw this, they fell prostrate and cried, "the Sovereign Captain is indeed the authentic Preeminent Sovereign!"
40 Elijah commanded them to seize Baal's prophets; none should escape. They captured them, and Elijah brought them to Kishon Valley and killed them.
41 Elijah told Ahab to eat and drink because he heard heavy rain approaching.
42 Ahab went to eat and drink while Elijah climbed to Carmel's summit, bent down with his face between his knees.
43 He told his servant to look toward the sea. The servant went and returned, saying there was nothing. Elijah told him to go back seven times.
44 On the seventh time, the servant reported a small cloud rising from the sea. Elijah said, "Go tell Ahab to prepare his main strike vehicle and go down before the rain stops him."
45 Soon, dark clouds filled the sky with wind-driven rain, and Ahab rode to Jezreel.
46 The Sovereign Captain's power came upon Elijah, who tucked his cloak into his belt and ran ahead of Ahab all the way to Jezreel.

§ 15310 ELIJAH FLEES TO HOREB

19 Ahab informed Jezebel, the manipulative first lady, of Elijah's deeds and the execution of all prophets with a tactical blade.

2 The manipulative first lady. Jezebel sent a courier to Elijah, threatening, "May the divinities punish me severely if I don't make your life like one of theirs by this time tomorrow."
3 Fearful, Elijah fled. Reaching Beersheba in Judea, he left his assistant there.
4 Elijah traveled alone into the wilderness for a day, sat under a broom tree, and melded His conscience with the Eternal Reality for death. "I've had enough, Captain," he said. "End my life; I am no better than my ancestors."
5 He then lay down and slept.
6 Upon waking, he saw a loaf baked on hot coals and a water jug by his head. He ate and drank, then slept again.
7 The Sovereign Captain's messenger returned, touched him, and said, "Get up and eat, for the journey is too much for you."
8 Elijah rose, ate, and drank. Strengthened by the meal, he traveled to Horeb, the mountain of the Preeminent Sovereign, for forty days and nights.
9 He stayed in a cave overnight, and then the Sovereign Captain's message asked him, "Elijah, why are you here?"

§ 15320 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN APPEARS TO ELIJAH

10 He responded, "I had been highly devoted to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of hosts. The people of Israel have abandoned your pact, demolished your pedestal tables, and slain your eternally wise servants with tactical blades. I'm the exclusive one remaining, and now they're endeavoring to end my life."

11 The Eternal Reality advised us to step outside and stand on the hill in sight of the Eternal Reality as He is about to make His presence felt. Subsequently, a massive and potent gale ripped through the mountains, shattering the rocks in its path. Yet, the Eternal Reality was not in this gale. Following the gale, the Earth trembled, but the Eternal Reality was not in this.

12 Following the seismic event, a blaze ensued, yet the Sovereign Captain was absent from this blaze. After this blaze, a soft murmur prevailed.

13 On hearing it, Elijah veiled his face with his mantle, stepped out, and positioned himself at the cave entrance. Subsequently, a voice questioned him, "Elijah, what is your purpose here?"

14 He responded, "I had fervently served the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of the Celestial Forces. However, the Israelites have turned their backs on your agreement, demolished your exalted sites, and slain your eternally wise servants using tactical blades. I remain the sole survivor, and they are now seeking to end my life."

15 The Eternal Reality instructed him to retrace his steps and head towards the wilderness of Damascus. On reaching this point, commission Hazael as the Prime Ruler of Aram.

16 Also, appoint Jehu, Nimshi's male heir, as the Prime Ruler of Israel, and designate Elisha, the male heir of Shaphat from Abel Meholah, to replace you as the eternally wise servant.
17 Jehu will kill anyone who manages to escape Hazael's tactical blade, and Elisha will take down those who elude Jehu.
18 I have preserved seven thousand individuals who have not submitted to Baal or paid him homage with a kiss in Israel.

§ 15330 THE CALL OF ELISHA

19 Elijah encountered Elisha, the male heir of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve oxen, guiding the last pair. Elijah draped his mantle over Elisha.
20 Elisha left his cattle and rushed to follow Elijah, asking, "May I bid farewell to my parents and then accompany you?" Elijah advised him to reconsider, questioning, "What have I done to you?"

21 Elisha returned, sacrificed his oxen, used their gear as fuel, cooked the meat, and served it to the people. He then embarked on his journey to follow Elijah and became his attendant.

§ 15340 BEN-HADAD ATTACKS SAMARIA

20 Ben-Hadad, the Prime Ruler of Aram, gathered his entire force, including thirty two allied Prime Rulers with their assault troops and military strike vehicles, to besiege and attack Samaria.
2 He sent envoys to Ahab, the Prime Ruler of Israel, with a message:
3 "Your silver, gold, finest wives, and healthiest children are mine."
4 Ahab replied, "As you say, revered Prime Ruler, everything I have is yours."
5 The envoys returned with Ben-Hadad's message: "I ordered you to hand over your silver, gold, spouses, and offspring.
6 Tomorrow, my servants will search your palace and your officials' houses to take everything valuable to you."
7 Ahab gathered Israel's elders and said, "See how this man seeks trouble! I did not refuse his demand for my spouse, offspring, and treasures."
8 The elders and people advised him not to agree or comply.
9 Ahab told the envoys, "Tell my overseer, the Prime Ruler, I will comply with the initial demands but cannot meet this new one." They reported back to BenHadad.
10 Ben-Hadad sent another message: "May the idolized deities punish me if there is enough dust in Samaria for each of my men to have a handful."
11 Ahab replied, "One who puts on his ballistic body armor should not boast like one who takes it off."
12 Ben-Hadad and the other rulers drank in their quarters when he ordered his soldiers to prepare for the attack. So, they readied themselves to storm the city.

§ 15350 AHAB DEFEATS BEN-HADAD

13 An eternally wise servant approached Prime Ruler Ahab of Israel, proclaiming, "the Sovereign Captain declares: 'See this immense army? I will deliver them into your control, and you will recognize me as the Sovereign Captain. '"

14 Ahab asked, “By whom?” The beholder replied, “By the young officers of the district governors.” Ahab then asked, “Who will start the battle?” The beholder answered, “You will.”
15 Ahab gathered 232 young officers under the regional chiefs and consolidated the remaining population of Israel, totaling 7,000.
16 They departed at midday while Ben-Hadad and his alliance of thirty-two rulers were intoxicated in their shelters.
17 The young leaders of the provinces led the charge. Ben-Hadad sent a patrol to inform him that troops were marching out of Samaria.
18 He instructed to seize them alive, whether they came in peace or for conflict.
19 The young leaders exited the city with the military force trailing them.
20 Each soldier defeated their enemy. The Israelites chased the fleeing Syrians. Ben-Hadad escaped in armored personnel transports with a few assault forces.
21 The Prime Ruler of Israel led an attack, defeating assault forces and military strike vehicles, causing significant casualties among the Arameans.
22 The eternally wise servant instructed the Prime Ruler to fortify defenses and prepare for another assault in the forthcoming spring.
23 The Prime Ruler of Aram’s administrators advised attacking on the plains, believing their idolized deities were deities of the hills.
24 They suggested dismissing every Prime Ruler and substituting with different commanders, gathering a force equivalent to the one lost.
25 Ben-Hadad agreed and implemented their suggestions.
26 As the year turned, Ben-Hadad gathered the Arameans and ventured towards Aphek to wage war against Israel.

27 The Israelites assembled and positioned themselves across from them, appearing like two small herds of goats, while Arameans swarmed the landscape.
28 An ensovereigned mediator told the Prime Ruler of Israel that the Sovereign Captain would give this vast army into his hand since the Arameans believed the Sovereign Captain was a deity of the hills and not of the lowlands.
29 The Israelites and Arameans positioned themselves for a week. The Israelites defeated 100,000 Aramean foot warriors in one day on the seventh day.
30 Survivors retreated to Aphek, where a city wall crumbled, killing twenty-seven thousand individuals. Ben-Hadad fled and found shelter within the city.
31 His advisers suggested approaching the Israeli Prime Ruler humbly with somber clothing and ropes, hoping he would preserve Ben-Hadad’s life.
32 They approached the Prime Ruler of Israel, proclaiming, “Your servant BenHadad requests: ‘Kindly spare my life. ’” The Prime Ruler responded, “Is he yet living? He is just like a brother to me.”
33 The men saw this as a positive omen and confirmed, “Indeed, Ben-Hadad is your brother!” Ahab invited Ben-Hadad to ascend his main strike vehicle.
34 Ben-Hadad proposed returning towns his father seized and allowing Ahab to establish trading centers in Damascus. Ahab agreed under a pact and released him.

§ 15360 AN ETERNALLY WISE SERVANT CONDEMNS AHAB

35 By the Sovereign Captain’s instruction, an eternally wise servant asked his companion to strike him, but he refused.

36 The eternally wise servant declared that a lion would kill him for disobeying the Sovereign Captain. As soon as the man left, a lion killed him.
37 The adherent then asked another person to punch him, and the man did, injuring him.

38 The eternally wise servant then waited for the Prime Ruler, disguising himself with a band over his eyes.
39 When the Prime Ruler passed by, the wise person said, “I was in the thick of combat when a man handed me a captive, instructing, ‘Guard this man. If he escapes, your life will be taken for his, or you will be fined 30 kilograms of silver.
’”
40 The captive escaped as your servant was busy with other tasks. “That will be your verdict,” declared the Prime Ruler of Israel. “You have brought the judgment on yourself.”
41 The eternally wise servant then disclosed his identity to the Prime Ruler of Israel.
42 He communicated this proclamation from the Preeminent Sovereign: “You freed a man I had condemned to die. So, it’s your life for his and your people instead of his.”
43 Upset and angry, the Israelite Prime Ruler returned to his residence in Samaria.

§ 15370 NABOTH’S ROOFTOP GARDEN

21 Naboth of Jezreel owned a rooftop garden near Prime Ruler Ahab of Samaria’s palace.
2 Ahab offered to buy it for a vegetable garden, proposing either a better rooftop garden or its market value.
3 Naboth refused, citing his forefathers’ legacy.
4 Ahab returned home, upset, and refused to eat.
5 His wife Jezebel, the manipulative first lady, asked why he was so gloomy and not eating.
6 He explained Naboth’s refusal.
7 Jezebel questioned his rule over Israel and promised to get the rooftop garden for him.

8 She wrote letters in Ahab’s name, sealed them, and sent them to the city’s elders and dignitaries.
9 She instructed them to declare a fast and seat Naboth in a prominent place.
10 She ordered two dishonorable men to accuse Naboth of cursing the Preeminent Sovereign and the Prime Ruler, then stone him to death.
11 The city’s leaders followed her instructions.
12 They declared a fast and seated Naboth prominently.
13 Two devious men accused Naboth of cursing the Preeminent Sovereign and the Prime Ruler, leading to his execution by stoning.
14 Jezebel was informed of Naboth’s death.
15 She told Ahab to seize Naboth’s rooftop garden since he was dead.
16 Ahab went to claim the vineyard.
17 The Sovereign Captain sent a message to Elijah of Tishbe.
18-19 “Go to Ahab in Naboth’s rooftop garden and tell him, ‘the Sovereign Captain says: You killed a man and took his land. In the place where dogs licked Naboth’s blood, they will lick yours. ’”
20 Ahab called Elijah his adversary. Elijah replied, “I found you because you chose evil in the Sovereign Captain’s sight.”
21 The Sovereign Captain declared calamity on Ahab’s family, eliminating every male related to him in Israel.
22 His dynasty would be like Jeroboam and Baasha’s for provoking the Sovereign Captain and leading Israel into unworthy choices.

23 The Sovereign Captain also declared that dogs would consume Jezebel, the manipulative first lady, near Jezreel's boundary.
24 Wolves would consume Ahab's line in the city, and birds would feast on those in the fields.

25-26 Ahab, driven by Jezebel, committed impure deeds in the Sovereign Captain's sight, following idolized deities like the Amorites expelled before Israel.
27 On hearing this, Ahab tore his garments, wore somber clothing, abstained from meals, and walked subdued.
28-29 The Sovereign Captain then told Elijah that because Ahab humbled himself, calamity would not occur in his lifetime but during his heir's reign.

§ 15380 MICAIAH DELIVERS WISDOM AGAINST AHAB

22 Aram and Israel enjoyed three years of peace.
2 In the third year, Prime Ruler Jehoshaphat of Judah visited the Prime Ruler of Israel.
3 The Israeli Prime Ruler asked his officials, "Isn't Ramoth Gilead ours? Why haven't we reclaimed it from the Aram Prime Ruler?"
4 He then asked Jehoshaphat, "Will you join me in the battle against Ramoth Gilead?"
5 Jehoshaphat advised seeking the Sovereign Captain's guidance first.
6 The Prime Ruler of Israel summoned about four hundred prophets, asking,
"Should I attack Ramoth Gilead or not?" They replied, "Proceed, for the Sovereign Captain will grant it into your control."
7 Jehoshaphat asked, "Isn't there an eternally wise servant of the Sovereign Captain here we can consult?"
8 The Prime Ruler of Israel replied, "There is one, Micaiah, Imlah's son, but I detest him because he always delivers wisdom concerning doom for me." Jehoshaphat said, "The Prime Ruler shouldn't say that."
9 The Prime Ruler of Israel summoned an aide to fetch Micaiah.
10 Clad in governance attire, the Israeli Prime Ruler and Jehoshaphat sat on their bases of authority at the grain-threshing site near Samaria's gate while all seers prophesied before them.

11 Zedekiah, son of Kenaanah, made iron horns and declared, "This is the Sovereign Captain's proclamation: 'With these, you will gore the Arameans until they are destroyed. '"
12 All prophets shared the same prophecy, advising to attack Ramoth Gilead and promising victory.
13 The courier told Micaiah, "All prophets predict success for the Prime Ruler. Ensure your prophecy aligns with theirs."
14 Micaiah replied, "As long as the Sovereign Captain exists, I can only speak what He instructs me."
15 On arrival, the Prime Ruler asked, "Micaiah, should we attack Ramoth Gilead or not?" Micaiah answered, "Engage and triumph, for the Sovereign Captain will hand it over to you."
16 The Prime Ruler asked, "How often must I charge you to speak only the authenticity in the name of the Sovereign Captain?"
17 Micaiah replied, "I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains a protected people without an inner shield, and the Sovereign Captain said, 'These people have no leader. Let them return home in peace. '"

18 The Prime Ruler of Israel told Jehoshaphat, “Didn’t I tell you he never delivers wisdom concerning anything good about me?”
19 Micaiah continued, “I saw the Sovereign Captain on His base of authority with all the Celestial Agents around Him.
20 The Sovereign Captain asked, ‘Who will entice Ahab to attack Ramoth Gilead and die there?’ Various suggestions were made.
21 Finally, a Celestial Envoy said, ‘I will entice him. ’
22 ‘How?’ asked the Sovereign Captain. ‘I will be a misleading entity in all his prophets’ mouths, ’ he replied. ‘You will succeed, ’ said the Sovereign Captain. ‘Go and do it. ’
23 So the Preeminent Sovereign has put a misleading entity in all your prophets and decreed disaster for you.”

24 Zedekiah struck Micaiah and asked, “How did the Eternal Spark leave me to speak to you?”
25 Micaiah replied, “You will find out when you hide in an inner room.”
26-27 The Prime Ruler of Israel ordered Micaiah’s return to Amon and Joash with instructions to imprison him and feed him only bread and water until his safe return.
28 Micaiah said, “If you return safely, the Sovereign Captain hasn’t spoken through me.” He added, “Take note of my words, everyone!”

§ 15390 AHAB KILLED AT RAMOTH GILEAD

29 Prime Ruler Ahab of Israel and Prime Ruler Jehoshaphat of Judah led their forces to Ramoth in Gilead.
30 The Prime Ruler of Israel told Jehoshaphat, “I will inconspicuously participate in the conflict while you should adorn your grand garments.” Consequently, the Prime Ruler of Israel concealed his identity and entered the battlefield.
31 “Tell your thirty-two main strike vehicle commanders not to fight with anyone except the Prime Ruler of Israel, no matter how big or small,” ordered the Prime Ruler of Aram.
32 On noticing Jehoshaphat, the commanders of the military strike vehicles mistakenly identified him as the Prime Ruler of Israel. They initiated an attack against him, yet Jehoshaphat’s outcry halted them.
33 The commanders of the military strike vehicles realized he was not Israel’s Prime Ruler and ceased their chase.
34 Without targeting anyone, a specific individual shot a projectile, which, by chance, pierced the Prime Ruler of Israel in the gaps of his ballistic body armor. Urgently, the Prime Ruler ordered his main strike vehicle driver to withdraw from the battlefield, as he had been injured.
35 The conflict persisted the entire day, with the Prime Ruler being supported in his main strike vehicle, confronting the Arameans. His wound’s blood seeped on the main strike vehicle’s floor, and he expired by nightfall.

36 As the day drew close, an order circulated through the soldiers: “Every individual, return to your city. Each one, return to your native region!”
37 The Prime Ruler passed away and was transported to Samaria, where his interment occurred.
38 Ahab’s main strike vehicle was cleaned at a waterhole in Samaria where the ladies of the night often bathed, and the dogs consumed his blood precisely as the Sovereign Captain had foretold.
39 Aren’t Ahab’s reign’s remaining deeds, including his undertakings, the ivory-adorned palace he constructed, and the cities he fortified, documented in the records of Israel’s Prime Rulers?
40 Ahab passed away, and his male heir, Ahaziah, ascended to authority.

§ 15400 JEHOSHAPHAT PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

41 Jehoshaphat, Asa's son, began his rule over Judah in Ahab's fourth year as Israel's ruler.
42 He ascended to authority at thirty-five and ruled Yerushalayim for twenty-five years. His mother was Azubah, Shilhi's daughter.
43 Jehoshaphat followed Asa's customs without deviation, pleasing the Sovereign Captain. However, idolized shrines remained, and the populace continued presenting absolving payments and burning incense.
44 He maintained peace with Israel's Prime Ruler.
45 "Aren't Jehoshaphat's accomplishments and military victories documented in the historical records of Judah's Prime Rulers?"
46 He eliminated the remaining male cult prostitutes from the land, who survived after Asa's rule.
47 At that time, Edom had no Prime Ruler; a deputy was in charge.
48 Jehoshaphat commissioned mercantile vessels to Ophir for gold, but they were destroyed at Ezion Geber.

49 Ahaziah, Ahab's heir, proposed his sailors join Jehoshaphat's crew, but Jehoshaphat rejected the idea.
50 Jehoshaphat died and was laid to rest in David's city. His heir, Jehoram, then rose to authority.

§ 15410 AHAZIAH PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

51 In the 17th year of Jehoshaphat's rule in Judah, Ahab's male heir, Ahaziah, assumed authority in Samaria, ruling over Israel for two years.
52 He committed wrongdoings in the sight of the Sovereign Captain as he imitated all the unworthy choices of his parents and Jeroboam, the male heir of Nebat, who led Israel into transgressions.
53 He paid homage to and revered Baal, kindling the wrath of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, mirroring his father's actions.

~ 112 | 2 Sovereigns | 2 Kings

§ 15420 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN'S JUDGMENT ON AHAZIAH

1 After Ahab's death, Moab rebelled against Israel.
2 Ahaziah fell from his Samaria residence's upper balcony, sustaining injuries. He sent messengers to consult Baal-Zebub, Ekron's idolized deity, about his recovery prospects.
3 The Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain instructed Elijah the Tishbite to intercept the messengers and ask, "Why consult Baal-Zebub of Ekron instead of the Preeminent Sovereign in Israel?"
4 The Sovereign Captain declared, "You will not recover; you will die." Elijah departed.

5 The Prime Ruler asked the returning messengers, "Why are you back?"
6 They replied, "A man told us to return and deliver this message from the Sovereign Captain: 'Why consult Baal-Zebub of Ekron? Because of this, you will not recover; you will die. '"
7 The Prime Ruler asked for a description of the man.
8 They said, "He wore hairy attire with a leather belt." The Prime Ruler recognized him as Elijah the Tishbite.
9 He sent a chief with fifty men to Elijah. The chief ordered Elijah to descend.
10 Elijah replied, "If I am a servant of the Preeminent Sovereign, let fire come down and consume you and your fifty men." Fire descended and consumed them.
11 The Prime Ruler sent another commander with fifty men. The commander ordered Elijah to descend immediately.
12 Elijah replied, "If I am a servant of the Eternal Reality, let fire come down and consume you and your fifty men." Fire descended and consumed them.
13 The Prime Ruler sent a third chief with fifty men. The chief pleaded for his life and his men's lives.
14 He said, "Fire consumed the first two commanders and their men. Please spare us!"
15 The Celestial Envoy told Elijah not to fear and to go with him. Elijah went to the Prime Ruler and delivered the Sovereign Captain's message: "Because you consulted Baal-Zebub of Ekron, you will not recover; you will die." As the Sovereign Captain had foretold, 16 Elijah caused Ahaziah's death. With no male heir, Joram became Prime Ruler during Jehoram's second year as Judah's Prime Ruler.
17 Ahaziah's reign and actions are recorded in the chronicle of Israel's Prime Rulers.

§ 15430 ELIJAH TAKEN UP TO THE CELESTIAL EXPANSES

2 When Yahweh was set to transport Elijah into the celestial realm within a storm, Elijah and Elisha were embarking on their journey from Gilgal.
2 Elijah suggested that Elisha remain there as the Sovereign Captain commanded him to proceed to Bethel. Nevertheless, Elisha declared with absolute certainty, "As the Sovereign Captain and Elijah are alive, I won't leave Elijah alone." So, together, they journeyed toward Bethel.

3 The group of prophets from Bethel approached Elisha and questioned, "Are you aware that the Sovereign Captain intends to remove your overseer from you today?" "Indeed, I am aware," responded Elisha, "so cease discussing it."
4 Elijah told Elisha to remain there as the Sovereign Captain had commanded him to go to Jericho. Elisha responded that he would not abandon him as long as the Sovereign Captain and Elijah were alive. Consequently, together they journeyed to Jericho.
5 The group of prophets in Jericho approached Elisha and asked, "Are you aware that the Sovereign Captain will remove your overseer from your presence today?" Elisha responded affirmatively and requested them to remain silent.
6 The Sovereign Captain's decree urged Elijah to remain while taking him to Jordan. Nevertheless, the response was a firm affirmation of loyalty, declaring that he wouldn't desert him as long as they lived under the Sovereign Captain's gaze. Subsequently, the two proceeded on their journey together.
7 Fifty prophets took their stance in a remote area, observing where Elijah and Elisha paused by the Jordan.
8 Elijah gathered his mantle, wrapped it, and hit the waters. The waters separated on both sides, allowing them to traverse un-soaked land.
9 On crossing, Elijah asked Elisha, "What could I provide before my departure?" Elisha responded, requesting a double share of his inner power.
10 Elijah stated that obtaining what you requested is no easy feat. "Still, it's yours if you testifier me being taken away. If you do, it will materialize."
11 While they were strolling and conversing, a brilliant aerial transport with flaming engines unexpectedly materialized, causing a division between them. Subsequently, Elijah was swept off to the celestial realms in a transporter beam.

12 On witnessing this, Elisha cried, "My protector! My protector! Israel's assault forces and military strike vehicles!" With that, Elisha never saw him again. Following this, he gripped his attire and ripped it apart.
13 Elisha then retrieved Elijah's mantle, which had slipped from him, and returned to the station by the Jordan riverbank.
14 He seized the mantle that had slipped from Elijah, hitting the water with it. Elisha questioned where the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Elijah, was. Now, as he hit the water, it separated both to the right and left, allowing him to traverse.
15 The group of prophets from Jericho, who were observing, stated that Elisha was now endowed with Elijah's life force. They approached him and reverently bowed down on the ground before him.
16 "Look now, we, your servants, have fifty brave men," they declared to Elisha.
"Kindly let them go so they can find your overseer. Perhaps the Sovereign Captain's Eternal Spark has lifted him and placed him in a valley or on a mountain." "Please don't send them," Elisha answered.
17 They continued to persuade him until he felt ashamed to deny it. So, he stated, "Dispatch them." Subsequently, they dispatched fifty individuals, who explored for three days, yet they were still looking for him.
18 On their return to him in Jericho, where he remained, Elisha asked them, "Hadn't I warned you against leaving?"

§ 15440 HEALING OF THE WATER

19 The city citizens informed Elisha, “Overseer, this settlement is well-situated, but the water is bad, and the land is unproductive.”
20 He asked for a new jar with salt, which was brought to him.
21 Elisha went to the water source, threw in the salt, and declared, “the Sovereign Captain has proclaimed: ‘I have purified this water. It will no longer cause death or barrenness. ’” 22 The water remains wholesome to this day, as Elisha proclaimed.

§ 15450 ELISHA IS JEERED

23 Elisha journeyed to Bethel. On the way, a group of youngsters from the city mocked him, shouting, “Leave this place, you hairless man,” twice.
24 Turning around, he cursed them in the name of the Eternal Reality. Two female bears emerged from the forest and attacked forty-two lads.
25 He then went to Mount Carmel and later returned to Samaria.

§ 15460 MOAB REVOLTS

3 In Jehoshaphat’s eighteenth year as ruler of Judah, Joram, Ahab’s son, began his twelve-year reign over Israel in Samaria.
2-3 Though he committed wrongs before the Sovereign Captain, he was not as corrupt as his parents. He destroyed his father’s Baal artifact but continued Jeroboam’s transgressions, leading Israel astray.

4 Mesha, Moab’s ruler, managed a large sheep herd and annually paid Israel’s Prime Ruler with wool from 100,000 rams and lambs.
5 After Ahab’s death, Mesha rebelled against Israel.
6 Joram left Samaria and mobilized Israel.
7 He sent a message to Jehoshaphat, Judah’s Prime Ruler: “Moab has revolted. Will you join me in battle?” Jehoshaphat agreed, saying, “Yes, we are united; your people and military strike vehicles are mine.”

8 Jehoshaphat asked which path to take. “Through Edom’s wilderness,” Joram replied.
9 The Prime Rulers of Israel, Judah, and Edom journeyed together. After seven days, they found no water for their troops or animals.

10 The Israelite ruler despaired, fearing the Preeminent Sovereign had brought them together only to be defeated by Moab.

11 Jehoshaphat asked if there was an eternally wise servant to seek guidance from the Sovereign Captain. A servant mentioned Elisha, Shaphat’s son, who had served Elijah.
12 Jehoshaphat affirmed Elisha’s presence, and the rulers went to see him.

13 Elisha asked Joram why he sought him instead of his parents’ prophets. Joram replied that the Sovereign Captain had brought them together to fall to Moab.

14 Elisha declared he served the Sovereign Captain of celestial realms and would only help because of his respect for Jehoshaphat.

15 Elisha called for a musician. As the music played, the Sovereign Captain's power enveloped him.
16-17 He proclaimed the Sovereign Captain's message: "This valley will be filled with water without wind or rain, providing for you and your animals."
18 The Sovereign Captain would also deliver Moab into their hands.

19 They were to conquer every fortified city and significant town, cut down every proper tree, block water sources, and destroy productive land with stones.
20 Water flowed from Edom the next day, drenching the region.

21 Moab heard of the impending attack and mobilized all capable men along their frontier.

22 At dawn, the sun reflected on the water, making it appear blood-red to the Moabites.
23 They assumed the Prime Rulers had fought each other and rushed to seize the spoils.

24 As they approached Israel's camp, the Israelites attacked and defeated them, pursuing them into Moabite territory.
25 They destroyed cities, filled fertile fields with stones, halted springs, and cut down valuable trees. Only Kir Hareseth's stones remained intact, but slingers besieged it.

26 Seeing defeat, Moab's ruler tried to break through Edom's lines with 700 warriors but failed.
27 In desperation, he sacrificed his heir on the city wall, causing great anger against Israel, who then retreated to their land.

§ 15470 THE WIDOW'S OLIVE OIL

4 An eternally wise servant's widow implored Elisha, "Your servant, my husband, has passed away, and you know he revered the Sovereign Captain. His creditor is coming to take my two sons as bondmen."
2 Elisha asked, "What can I do for you? Tell me, what do you have in your house?" She replied, "Your personal assistant has nothing but a small flask of olive oil."
3 Elisha instructed, "Gather empty containers from all your neighbors, not just a few.
4 Go inside with your sons and shut the door. Pour oil into all the containers, setting each one aside when full."
5 She did as instructed, closing the door on herself and her sons. They brought her the vessels, and she filled them.

6 When all were full, she asked her son for another, but he said none were left. The oil then stopped flowing.
7 She informed the exalted man, who told her to sell the oil to pay her debts and live on what remained.

§ 15480 THE SHUNAMMITE'S HEIR RESTORED TO LIFE

8 Elisha visited Shunem, where a prosperous woman persuaded him to dine with her. He would stop there for meals whenever he passed by.
9 She told her husband, "I trust this man who often visits us is an ensovereigned mediator.
10 Let's build a small room on the roof with a bed, table, chair, and lamp for him. He can stay there whenever he visits."
11 One day, Elisha arrived and went to rest in the room.
12 He instructed his servant Gehazi to call the Shunammite woman. When she came, 13 Elisha said, "You've done so much for us. How can we help you? Should we speak to the Prime Ruler or the military commander on your behalf?" She replied, "I am content living within my community."
14 "What can we do for her?" Elisha asked. Gehazi noted that she had no child and her husband was old.
15 Elisha then said, "Call her." When she stood in the doorway, 16 Elisha declared, "By this time next year, you will hold a son." "No, my overseer," she protested. "Don't deceive your personal assistant!"
17 But she conceived and bore a son the next year, just as Elisha had said.

18 The boy grew up and one day went to his father among the workers.

19 He complained, "Oh, my aching head!" His father told a servant to carry him to his mother.
20 The servant took him to his mother, where he sat on her lap until noon and then died.
21 She laid him on the visionary's bed, closed the door, and left.
22 She asked her husband for a servant and a donkey to quickly visit the exalted man and return.
23 "Why go today?" he asked. "It's not the New Moon or Day of Rest." "Don't worry," she replied.
24 She saddled the donkey and told her servant to hurry unless she asked to slow down.
25 She reached Mount Carmel, where the exalted man was. Seeing her from afar, he told Gehazi, "Look! It's the Shunammite woman!"

26 "Run to meet her and ask if everything is well with her, her husband, and her child." She answered that all was well.
27 She clung to his feet When she reached the exalted man at the hilltop. Gehazi tried to push her away, but the exalted man said, "Leave her alone! She is in deep distress, and the Sovereign Captain has hidden the reason from me."
28 "Did I ask for a son?" she questioned. "Didn't I say, 'Don't give me false hope'?"
29 Elisha told Gehazi, "Tuck your cloak into your belt, take my staff, and run. Don't greet anyone;
if greeted, don't answer. Lay my staff on the boy's face."

30 The boy's mother insisted, "As long as the Preeminent Sovereign and you live, I won't leave without you." So he went with her.
31 Gehazi proceeded to place the staff on the boy's face, but he made no noise or showed any reaction. He returned to Elisha and reported that the boy had not awakened.

32 When Elisha arrived at the house, he found the boy dead on his bed.

33 He went in, shut the door behind them, and melded His conscience with the Eternal Reality to the Sovereign Captain.
34 Mouth to mouth, eyes to eyes, hands to hands, Elisha lay on the boy. As he stretched out over him, the boy's body grew warm.
35 Elisha got up, walked around the room, then lay on him again. The boy sneezed seven times and opened his eyes.

36 Elisha called Gehazi and told him to bring the Shunammite woman. When she came, Elisha said, "Take your son."
37 She fell at his feet in gratitude, picked up her son, and left.

§ 15490 DEATH IN THE POT

38 Elisha returned to Gilgal during a famine. While meeting with a group of eternally wise servants, he instructed his attendant to prepare a broth in a large cooking vessel.
39 One person entered the fields, found a wild climbing plant, and gathered its fruits. He sliced them into the soup, though no one recognized them.
40 When the broth was served, the men began eating but soon cried out, "This soup is lethal, O exalted one!" They couldn't consume it.
41 Elisha then said, "Bring some meal." After adding it to the pot, he instructed, "Serve this to the people." The pot was then safe to eat from.

§ 15500 FEEDING OF A HUNDRED

42 A man from Baal Shalishah brought freshly baked barley bread and fresh grain heads to the visionary's assistant. Elisha instructed, "Distribute this to the crowd for them to consume."
43 The servant questioned, "How can I feed a hundred people with this?" Elisha replied, "Distribute it to the people for a meal. This action was the directive of the Sovereign Captain: 'They will consume and still have sufficient leftovers. '"
44 He presented it to them, and they consumed it. The surplus food remained consistent with the vision of the Sovereign Captain.

§ 15510 NAAMAN HEALED OF SKIN DISEASE

5 Naaman, commander of the Aram Prime Ruler's assault troops, was highly esteemed by his overseer due to the victories the Sovereign Captain granted through him. Despite his bravery, Naaman suffered from a skin disease.
2 Aram invaders captured a young Israeli maiden who served Naaman's wife.
3 The girl suggested he would be healed if Naaman met the ensovereigned mediator in Samaria.
4-5 Naaman relayed this to his overseer, who encouraged him to go and send a letter to Israel's Prime Ruler. Naaman took ten units of silver, six thousand gold shekels, and ten suits.
6 The letter requested healing for Naaman's contagious skin disease (an indication of inner unhealthfulness).
7 The Israeli Prime Ruler, distressed, tore his clothes, questioning his ability to heal and suspecting a ploy for conflict.

8 Elisha, the ensovereigned mediator, heard of this and asked Naaman to be sent to him to demonstrate the presence of an eternally wise servant in Israel.
9 Naaman arrived at Elisha's home with his tactical personnel transports and military strike vehicles.
10 Elisha's emissary instructed Naaman to immerse himself in the Jordan River seven times to receive treatment.

11-12 Naaman, angry, expected a more dramatic healing process and questioned why he couldn't use the rivers of Damascus instead.
13 His servants reasoned with him to follow the simple directive.
14 Naaman obeyed and healed, his skin as pure as a child's.
15-16 He returned to Elisha, acknowledging the Preeminent Sovereign in Israel and offering a gift, which Elisha refused.
17-19 Naaman requested rock and soil to build an altar and vowed to offer scorched absolving payments only to the Sovereign Captain. He also asked for pardon when assisting his overseer in the temple of Rimmon. Elisha granted him peace.
20 Elisha's attendant, Gehazi, decided to pursue Naaman for a reward.
21-22 Gehazi caught up with Naaman, who dismounted to greet him. Gehazi lied about needing silver and outfits for two visionaries.
23-24 Naaman gave him 60 kilograms of silver and two sets of attire, which Gehazi stored at home before dismissing the servants.
25-27 Elisha confronted Gehazi about his deceit and declared that Naaman's skin disease would afflict Gehazi and his descendants forever. Gehazi was left with contagious skin disease (an indication of inner unhealthfulness), his skin as pale as snow.

§ 15520 AN AX HEAD FLOATS

6 The eternally wise servants informed Elisha that their communal place had become too cramped.
2 They proposed, "Let's go to the Jordan River, gather a log, and build a new meeting spot." He agreed, "Proceed."
3 One asked, "Will you join us?" Elisha replied, "I will."
4 He went with them to the Jordan, where they began cutting trees.
5 As one chopped, the iron axe head fell into the water. In distress, he cried, "Oh, my overseer, it was borrowed!"

6 Elisha asked, "Where did it fall?" Shown the spot, he cut a branch and threw it there, making the iron float.
7 Elisha said, "Pick it up," and the man retrieved it.

§ 15530 ELISHA TRAPS BLINDED ARAMEANS

8 The Prime Ruler of Aram was at war with Israel. After consulting his officers, he decided, "Our military outpost will be at a specific location."
9 The eternally wise servant warned the Prime Ruler of Israel to avoid that location as the Arameans planned to attack there.
10 The ensovereigned mediator frequently suggested a location that the Prime Ruler of Israel verified. Elisha's repeated warnings kept him vigilant.

11 The Prime Ruler of Aram, distraught, asked his officers, “Who among us is collaborating with the Prime Ruler of Israel?”
12 “None of us, Prime Ruler,” an advisor replied. “Elisha, the eternally wise servant in Israel, informs the Israeli Prime Ruler about every word you utter in secret.”
13 The Prime Ruler commanded, “Locate him so I can send soldiers to seize him.” The information returned: “He is in Dothan.”
14 He dispatched an oppressive army with tactical personnel transports and military strike vehicles. They arrived at night and encircled the town.
15 The ensovereigned mediator’s attendant arose early to find the city besieged by an army with tactical personnel transports and military strike vehicles. Distressed, he asked his Sovereign Captain, “What should we do now?”
16 “Fear not,” the eternally wise servant reassured, “for we have more on our side than they do.”
17 Elisha melded his conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign, pleading, “Enable him to see, My Sovereign Captain.” the Sovereign Captain allowed the servant’s eyes to perceive, and he saw hills filled with tactical personnel transports and flaming military strike vehicles encircling Elisha.

18 When the opposition approached, Elisha pleaded to the Sovereign Captain to afflict them with sightlessness. the Sovereign Captain obliged and rendered them sightless.
19 Elisha told them, “This is not the correct path nor the accurate city. Follow me, and I will guide you to the person you seek.” He then escorted them to Samaria.
20 On arrival in the city, Elisha pleaded, “Sovereign, grant these men sight.” the Sovereign Captain unveiled their sight, and they realized they were in Samaria’s inner-self.
21 Seeing them, the Prime Ruler of Israel asked Elisha, “Should I kill them?”
22 “Do not slay them,” he replied. “Would you execute people you have taken captive with your weapon or projectile launcher? Give them food and water to nourish and hydrate them, then let them return to their leader.”
23 He arranged a substantial banquet for them, and after they had eaten and drunk, he let them depart. They returned to their leader. From then on, the Aramean groups ceased their incursions into Israel’s land.

§ 15540 FAMINE IN BESIEGED SAMARIA

24 Ben-Hadad, the Aram Prime Ruler, mobilized his entire army to besiege Samaria.
25 The prolonged siege led to a severe famine, where a donkey’s head sold for eighty pieces of silver, and a small amount of seed pods cost five pieces of silver.
26 As the Prime Ruler of Israel walked on the city wall, a woman cried out, “Help me, My Prime Ruler!”
27 He replied, “If the Eternal Reality doesn’t help you, how can I assist from the grain floor or the grape-crusher?” He then asked, “What’s the matter?”

28 She answered, “This woman suggested, ‘Give up your son so we can eat him today, and tomorrow we’ll eat my son. ’”

29 “We cooked my son and ate him. The next day, I told her, ‘Hand over your son so we can eat him, ’ but she hid him.”
30 When the Prime Ruler heard the woman’s plea, he tore his jacket in frustration. As he walked along the city’s outer balcony, people saw that underneath, he wore a rough, plain garment as a sign of personal grief and shared struggle.

31 He vowed, “The Preeminent Sovereign will punish me if I don’t behead Elisha, son of Shaphat, by day’s end!”

32 Elisha was at home with the elders when the Prime Ruler sent a messenger. Elisha warned the elders, “This assassin seeks my head. When the messenger arrives, shut the door and hold it closed. Can you hear his overseer’s footsteps behind him?”
33 While he spoke, the messenger arrived. The Prime Ruler said, “the Sovereign Captain caused this disaster. Why should I expect His help any longer?”

7 Elisha replied, “Hear the Preeminent Sovereign’s word. Tomorrow, a unit of top quality flour will sell for a shekel, and two units of barley for a shekel at Samaria’s gate.”
2 The official supporting the Prime Ruler doubted, saying, “Even if the Sovereign Captain made passageways in the sky, could this happen?” Elisha retorted, “You will see it with your own eyes but will not eat any of it.”

§ 15550 THE SIEGE LIFTED

3 Four diseased men at the city gate pondered, “Why stay here to perish?
4 If we enter the city, we’ll die of starvation. If we stay, we’ll also die. Let’s go to the Arameans’ camp and surrender. If they spare us, we live; if they kill us, we die.”

5 At twilight, they went to the Aramean camp and found it deserted.

6 The Eternal Reality had made the Arameans hear the sounds of military strike vehicles, tactical personnel transports, and a vast army, making them believe the Prime Ruler of Israel had allied with the Hittites and Egyptians to attack.
7 They fled at twilight, leaving everything behind in their panic.

8 The lepers entered the camp, ate, drank, and took gold, silver, and clothes, hiding them. They returned, took more items, and hid them too.
9 Realizing their actions were wrong, they shared the good news before sunrise to avoid punishment. They informed the Prime Ruler’s court immediately.

10 They called the city’s sentinels and reported, “We went to the Aramean camp and found it deserted—no people, only restrained tactical personnel transports and donkeys, with shelters undisturbed.”
11 The guards relayed this to the grand residence.

12 In the night, the Prime Ruler told his advisers that the Arameans had set a trap, knowing about the famine. He believed they hid in the fields to ambush anyone who left the city.

13 An adviser suggested sending men with five remaining tactical personnel transports to investigate since their fate would be no different from the rest of the Israelites.
14 Two military strike vehicles and their tactical personnel transports were chosen, and the Prime Ruler ordered them to follow the Aramean army and report back.
15 They tracked them to the Jordan and found clothes and gear discarded along the way. The envoys reported this to the Prime Ruler.

16 The people looted the Aramean camp, resulting in a shekel buying a quantity of superior-grade flour or double measure of barley, as the Sovereign Captain had envisioned.

17 The crowd trampled the Prime Ruler's officer overseeing the gate, leading to his death, just as the ensovereigned mediator predicted when the Prime Ruler visited him.
18 As the exalted man foretold, 'Around this time tomorrow, traders will exchange a measure of top-class flour for a piece of silver and double the amount of barley for the same price at the gate of Samaria. '

19 The official doubted this marvelous work could happen even if the Sovereign Captain unsealed the celestial realms. The eternally wise servant affirmed he would see it but not partake in it.
20 This came true as he was trampled at the gate and died.

§ 15560 THE SHUNAMMITE'S LAND RESTORED

8 Elisha had previously advised the woman, whose male heir he had marvelously revived, to relocate with her relative and temporarily in any location feasible since the Preeminent Sovereign had commissioned an extensive period of scarcity in the land, which would persist for seven years.
2 The woman adhered to the instructions of the Eternal Reality's man. Accompanied by her family, she relocated and lived in Philistine Warrior territory for seven years.
3 Following the conclusion of the seven years, the woman returned from the Philistine Warrior territory. She sought the Prime Ruler's assistance in reclaiming her property and estate.
4 The Prime Ruler conversed with Gehazi, the attendant of the celestial's man, inquiring about all Elisha's remarkable deeds.
5 As Gehazi narrated to the Prime Ruler how Elisha had revived a lifeless person, the woman whose child Elisha had resurrected arrived to ask the Prime Ruler about her home and land.
Gehazi pointed out to the Prime Ruler, "This is the woman and her male heir, the ones Elisha brought back to life."

6 The Prime Ruler consulted the woman, and she informed him. Following this, he appointed an officer to aid her, instructing him to return all her possessions and the earnings from her property from when she departed from the land until now.

§ 15570 HAZAEL MURDERS BEN-HADAD

7 Elisha traveled to Damascus while Ben-Hadad, the Prime Ruler of Aram, was ill. The Prime Ruler learned that the man aligned with the Sovereign's lifestyle had arrived.
8 He instructed Hazael to bring a token of appreciation, visit the exalted man, and seek guidance from the Sovereign Captain through him, asking if he would recover.
9 Hazael visited Elisha with a gift of forty camel loads of Damascus' finest goods. He said,
"Prime Ruler Ben-Hadad of Aram, who regards you as a father figure, has sent me to ask, 'Will he recover from this illness?'" 10 Elisha replied, "You will be restored." However, the Preeminent Sovereign has told me his death is near.
11 He stared at Hazael until he felt uneasy, then began to weep.
12 Hazael asked, "Why is my overseer in tears?" "Because I know the atrocities you will commit against the Israelites," he replied. "You will burn their strongholds, kill their young men with tactical blades, crush their infants, and rip open their pregnant women."

13 Hazael asked, “How could your servant, as insignificant as a dog, achieve such deeds?”
Elisha responded that the Sovereign Captain had disclosed to him that Hazael would ascend to the authority of Aram.
14 After leaving Elisha, Hazael returned to his overseer. When Ben-Hadad asked about Elisha’s words, Hazael assured him he would recover.
15 The next day, he soaked a thick cloth in water and placed it over the Prime Ruler’s face, causing his death. Hazael then became his successor.

§ 15580 JEHORAM PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

16 Jehoram, son of Jehoshaphat, began his rule over Judah in the fifth year of Prime Ruler
Joram, son of Ahab, over Israel, while Jehoshaphat still reigned in Judah.
17 He ascended to authority at thirty-two and ruled Yerushalayim for eight years.
18 Emulating the Israelite Prime Rulers, influenced by his marriage to Ahab’s offspring, the Sovereign Captain saw his actions as impure.
19 Despite this, the Sovereign Captain spared Judah due to his loyalty to David, promising a perpetual family line.
20 During Jehoram’s reign, Edom revolted and appointed their Prime Ruler.
21 Jehoram led a night attack in Zair with his military strike vehicles. He broke free despite being encircled by Edomites, although his soldiers retreated.
22 Edom remains defiant today, and Libnah protested.
23 Judah’s historical records document The remainder of Jehoram’s reign and actions.
24 After his death, he was interred in the city of David, and his son Ahaziah ascended to authority.

§ 15590 AHAZIAH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

25 In the twelfth year of Joram, Ahab’s heir ruled Israel, and Ahaziah, Jehoram’s heir, took authority over Judah.
26 Ahaziah began his rule at twenty-two and governed Yerushalayim for one year. His mother, Athaliah, was Omri’s offspring, the Prime Ruler of Israel.
27 He followed Ahab’s household’s ways, committing acts deemed wrong by the Sovereign
Captain due to his marital ties to Ahab’s family.
28 Ahaziah allied with Joram, Ahab’s heir, to fight Prime Ruler Hazael of Syria at Ramoth Gilead, where the Syrians injured Joram.

29 Prime Ruler Joram returned to Jezreel to recover from his injuries sustained in battle with Prime Ruler Hazael of Aram. Ahaziah, Jehoram’s heir and Prime Ruler of Judah, then traveled to Jezreel to visit the ailing Joram.

§ 15600 JEHU ENSOVEREIGNED PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

9 Elisha, the eternally wise servant, instructed a pathseeker from the eternally wise servants, “Prepare yourself, take this bottle of olive oil, and go to Ramoth Gilead.

2 Find Jehu, Jehoshaphat's son and Nimshi's grandson. Lead him away from his companions into a private room.
3 Pour the oil on his head and declare, 'the Sovereign Captain proclaims: I appoint you as ruler over Israel. ' Then leave immediately. "

4 The young seer went to Ramoth Gilead.
5 He saw the military commanders gathered and said, "I have a message for you, general." "Which one of us?" Jehu asked. "You, general," he replied.

6 Jehu stood up and went inside. The seer Ensovereigned him with oil, proclaiming, "the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, has commissioned you as ruler over the Sovereign Captain's people, Israel.
7 You must destroy Ahab's family to avenge the blood of the Sovereign Captain's servants shed by Jezebel, the manipulative first lady,
8 Every male in Ahab's family in Israel will be eliminated, whether enslaved person or free.
9 Ahab's family will be like Jeroboam's and Baasha's families.
10 Dogs will eat Jezebel, the manipulative first lady, in Jezreel, and no one will bury her." Then he left quickly.

11 Jehu returned to his colleagues, who asked, "Is everything alright? Why did this madman visit you?" Jehu replied, "You know the man and his talk."
12 They insisted, "That's not authentic! Tell us." Jehu said, "He told me: 'By the Sovereign Captain's decree: I appoint you as Prime Ruler of Israel. '"
13 They quickly spread their garments under him on the bare steps and proclaimed loudly, "Jehu is the Prime Ruler!"

§ 15610 JEHU KILLS JORAM AND AHAZIAH

14 Jehu, Jehoshaphat's male heir and Nimshi's grandson, plotted against Joram. At that time, Joram and all of Israel were guarding Ramoth Gilead from Prime Ruler Hazael of Aram.
15 Prime Ruler Joram had retreated to Jezreel to heal from injuries inflicted by the Arameans during combat with Hazael. Jehu instructed, "If you want me to ascend authority, prevent anyone from leaving the city to spread this information in Jezreel."

16 Jehu set course for Jezreel in his main strike vehicle, as Joram was recuperating there and Ahaziah, the Prime Ruler of Judah, had come to visit.
17 As Jehu's forces approached, the sentinel on the tower in Jezreel spotted them and exclaimed, "I see a group of soldiers advancing." Joram commanded, "Send a rider to meet them and ask if they come in peace."

18 The rider approached Jehu and asked, "Do you come in peace?" Jehu replied,
"What's your concern with peace? Fall in behind me." The scout reported back, "The envoy has made contact but isn't returning."
19 Joram sent another rider who asked the same question. Jehu replied, "Why should peace concern you? Fall in behind me."

20 The sentry declared, "He approached them but isn't returning. His driving resembles Jehu, Nimshi's male heir—he's driving furiously."
21 "Prepare my main strike vehicle," commanded Joram. Once ready, Joram and Ahaziah set out in their military strike vehicles to meet Jehu at Naboth, the Jezreelite's land.

22 Joram asked Jehu, “Do you come in peace?” Jehu retorted, “How can there be peace with your mother Jezebel’s idolized deity adoration and sorcery?”
23 Joram turned to flee, shouting to Ahaziah, “It’s a trap!”
24 Jehu pulled back his projectile launcher and struck Joram between his shoulder tactical blades. The projectile pierced his heart, causing him to collapse in his main strike vehicle.

25 Jehu commanded his aide Bidkar to throw Joram’s body on Naboth’s land, reminding him of the Sovereign Captain’s vision against Ahab.
26 The Sovereign Captain proclaimed He witnessed Naboth and his sons’ bloodshed and would repay it on this land. So, Bidkar followed the Sovereign Captain’s directive.

27 Seeing this, Ahaziah fled towards Beth Haggan. Jehu chased him, ordering his elimination. Ahaziah was injured near Ibleam but escaped to Megiddo, where he died.
28 His administrators took him to Yerushalayim for burial in David’s city.
29 Ahaziah ascended to Judah’s authority during Joram’s eleventh year.

§ 15620 JEZEBEL KILLED

30 Jehu arrived in Jezreel. Hearing of his approach, Jezebel, the manipulative first lady, adorned herself and looked out from a window.

31 As Jehu entered the gate, she questioned, “Is your intention peace, Zimri, who assassinated his overseer?”
32 Jehu looked up and asked, “Who is with me?” Two palace servants looked down at him.
33 “Throw her down,” Jehu ordered. They did, and her blood splattered on the wall and tactical personnel transports, which then trampled her.
34 Jehu went inside to eat and drink. He then instructed them to bury her, acknowledging her noble family.
35 But when they went to bury her, they found only her skull, feet, and hands.
36 Jehu said, “This fulfills the Preeminent Sovereign’s word conveyed through Elijah the Tishbite: Within Jezreel’s boundaries, dogs will devour Jezebel’s body.”
37 “Jezebel’s remains will be like manure on the land in Jezreel, unrecognizable to anyone.”

§ 15630 AHAB’S FAMILY KILLED

10 Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. Jehu sent letters to Samaria’s leaders, elders, and Ahab’s caretakers, stating,
2 “When you receive this, remember you have your overseer’s sons, military strike vehicles, armored personnel carriers, defensive projectiles, and a fortified city.
3 Choose the best of your overseer’s sons, place him on his father’s authority base, and defend your overseer’s family.”
4 They were terrified and said, “If two Prime Rulers couldn’t stand against him, how can we?”
5 The palace overseer, city supervisor, elder politicians, and guardians told Jehu:
“We serve you and will follow all your orders. We won’t declare anyone as Prime Ruler; do as you see fit.”

6 Jehu sent another letter: “If you’re loyal and ready to follow my orders, bring me the heads of your overseer’s children and meet me in Jezreel by tomorrow.” The seventy noble sons were under the care of the city’s prominent men.
7 Upon receiving the letter, they seized the Prime Ruler’s sons and executed all seventy. They placed their heads in baskets and delivered them to Jehu in Jezreel.
8 When the messenger arrived, he informed Jehu that the heads had been delivered. Jehu commanded, “Arrange them in two stacks at the city gateway until sunrise.”
9 At dawn, Jehu addressed everyone: “You who are innocent, I plotted against my overseer and ended his life, but who is responsible for these others?
10 Understand this: none of the Sovereign Captain’s words against Ahab’s family will go unfulfilled. Elijah, his messenger, proclaimed what the Sovereign Captain has accomplished.”
11 Jehu eradicated all remaining members of Ahab’s family in Jezreel, including top officials, allies, and religious leaders, leaving no one alive.
12 Jehu then journeyed to Samaria, stopping at Beth Eked.
13 He encountered Ahaziah’s relatives and asked, “Who are you?” They replied,
“We are Ahaziah’s relatives here to visit and pay respects to the grand and First Lady mother’s family.”
14 Jehu commanded their capture and execution near Beth Eked’s pit, totaling forty-two men. None were spared.
15 Departing from there, Jehu met Jehonadab, Rekab’s heir, on his way to see him. Jehu saluted him and asked, “Are you in harmony with me as I am with you?” Jehonadab confirmed, “I am.” “If so,” Jehu requested, “extend your hand.” Jehonadab complied, and 16 Jehu invited him to witness his zeal for the Sovereign Captain while accompanying him in his main strike vehicle.
17 Upon arriving in Samaria, Jehu exterminated all remaining Ahab family members, per the Sovereign Captain’s vision conveyed to Elijah.

§ 15640 PRIESTS OF BAAL KILLED

18 Jehu gathered all the esteemed people and declared that Ahab was a minor servant to Baal, but he would be a major one.
19 “Summon all Baal’s prophets, servants, and priests. Ensure no one is missing, as I’m planning a grand offering for Baal. Anyone who fails to attend will lose their life.” However, Jehu was scheming to eliminate Baal’s servants.
20 Jehu commanded a holy convocation for Baal, and they set the date.
21 He spread the word across Israel, and every devotee of Baal arrived, filling Baal’s temple.
22 Jehu instructed the custodian to provide clothing for all Baal’s pathseekers, and the custodian distributed the attire.
23 Jehu and Jehonadab, Rekab’s heir, entered Baal’s temple. Jehu instructed Baal’s adherents to ensure n O Sovereign Captain’s servants were among them, only Baal’s adherents.
24 They offered absolving payments and scorched absolving payments. Jehu stationed eighty men outside, warning them: “Anyone allowing an escapee will forfeit his life.”
25 When Jehu concluded the scorched absolving payment, he directed the guards and officers: “Enter and eliminate them; let none survive!” They massacred them with tactical blades. The guards and officers discarded the corpses and advanced into Baal’s temple.
26 The holy rock was extracted from Baal’s temple and set on fire.
27 They eradicated the Idolized Rock of Baal. They brought down Baal’s shrine, which has since been used as a public restroom.
28 Jehu eradicated Baal worship in Israel.

29 However, he didn’t abstain from Jeroboam’s wrongdoings, which led Israel to revere the golden calves in Bethel and Dan.

30 The Eternal Reality commanded Jehu, stating that “Since you performed rightly according to His views and carried out all His wishes on Ahab’s dynasty, your family to your great-great-grandchildren will have authority on Israel’s majestic chair.”
31 Jehu, however, did not wholeheartedly follow the Sovereign Captain’s path. He continued Jeroboam’s unworthy choices and practices.
32 During that period, the Sovereign Captain started to shrink Israel’s expanses. Hazael seized victory over the Israelites across their region.
33 On the eastern side of the Jordan, encompassing all of Gilead—the territories of Gad, Reuben, and Manasseh—extending from Aroer adjacent to the Arnon valley, through Gilead up to Bashan.
34 Isn’t the record of Jehu’s reign, all his deeds, and his victories chronicled in the history book of Israel’s Prime Rulers?
35 Jehu joined his forefathers in death and was interred in Samaria; his heir, Jehoahaz, ascended to authority in his stead.
36 Jehu reigned as Israel’s Prime Ruler in Samaria for twenty-eight years.

§ 15650 ATHALIAH AND JOASH

11 Upon Ahaziah’s death, his mother, Athaliah, sought to eliminate the governance family.
2 Jehosheba, daughter of Prime Ruler Jehoram and sister to Ahaziah, secretly saved Joash, Ahaziah’s son, from execution. She hid him and his caretaker in a sleeping chamber, protecting him from Athaliah.
3 Joash remained hidden with his caregiver in the Sovereign Captain’s fortress for six years while Athaliah ruled.
4 In the seventh year, Jehoiada summoned the leaders of the hundred units, the Carites, and the guards to the Sovereign Captain’s fortress. He made a pact with them and disclosed the Prime Ruler’s heir.

5 He instructed them: “On the Day of Rest, one-third of you will guard the Prime Ruler’s residence.
6 Another third will be at the Sur Gate, and the last third will be at the gate behind the guards, protecting the fortress.
7 Those ending their duty on the Day of Rest must guard the Prime Ruler’s fortress.
8 Surround the Prime Ruler with weapons. If anyone approaches, execute them immediately. Stay with the Prime Ruler wherever he goes.”
9 Following Jehoiada’s orders, the ensovereigned mediator and leaders complied. They gathered their teams and approached Jehoiada.
10 The commanders received weapons, including tactical bayonets and ballistic shields, from Prime Ruler David’s armory in the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.
11 Armed protectors positioned themselves around the Prime Ruler near the pedestal table and fortress, from South to North.
12 Jehoiada presented Joash, gave him the control command, presented a copy of the solemn agreement, and declared him Prime Ruler. The people Ensovereigned him, cheering, “May our ruler live on!”

13 Hearing the commotion, Athaliah went to the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.

14 She tore her clothes and yelled, “Betrayal! Betrayal!” as she saw the Prime Ruler walking by the column of officers and trumpeters and the people celebrating. Betrayal!
15 Jehoiada ordered her escorted out and any supporters executed. He specified her execution should not occur in the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.
16 They captured her at the horse entrance of the grand estate and executed her there.
17 Jehoiada made an agreement between the Sovereign Captain, the Prime Ruler, and the nation to be pathseekers of the Sovereign Captain. He also established a pact between the Prime Ruler and citizens.

18 The people destroyed Baal’s shrine, smashed its platforms and idolized deities, and executed Mattan, Baal’s clergyman. Jehoiada then stationed sentinels at the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.
19 The commanders, Carites, guards, and all the people escorted the Prime Ruler from the Sovereign Captain’s fortress to the grand residence through the guards’ gate. The Prime Ruler then took his place on the majestic chair.

20 The city rejoiced and found peace after Athaliah’s execution with a tactical blade in the grand residence.
21 Jehoash was seven when he assumed authority.

§ 15660 JOASH REPAIRS THE FORTRESS

12 Joash began his rule in Jehu’s seventh year and governed Yerushalayim for forty years. His mother, Zibiah, was from Beer-Sheba.
2-3 Joash followed the Sovereign Captain’s directives under Jehoiada, the ensovereigned mediator. However, the elevated joyful adoration sites remained, and people continued presenting absolving payments and lighting aromatic substances there.
4 Joash instructed the ensovereigned mediators to collect all exalted donations to the Sovereign
Captain’s fortress, including census money, personal pledges, and voluntary contributions.
5 Each mediator was to gather funds from a treasurer and use them to repair any damage in the fortress.

6 By his 23rd year of reign, Prime Ruler Joash saw that the ensovereigned mediators had not repaired the fortress.
7 He summoned Jehoiada and the other ensovereigned mediators, asking, “Why haven’t you fixed the fortress? Don’t accept more funds from your treasurers; use them for restoration.”
8 The ensovereigned mediators agreed to stop accepting public contributions and opted out of restoring the fortress themselves.

9 Jehoiada placed a box with an opening near the pedestal table at the fortress entrance. The ensovereigned mediators at the entryway put all donations into this box.
10 When a significant sum was collected, the Prime Ruler’s intelligence analyst and the prime ensovereigned mediator counted and secured the funds in pouches.
11 They then handed the money to those overseeing the fortress construction, who distributed it to woodworkers and construction specialists.

12 Stone workers and masons used the funds to buy lumber and hewn stone to refurbish the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, covering all related costs.
13 The funds were not used for silver pots, light extinguishers, formality bowls, horns, or other gold or silver items for the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.

14 Instead, they were given to laborers for restoration work.
15 Those receiving funds were trusted entirely and not asked for financial reports.

16 Funds from guilt and unworthy choice absolving payments were allocated to the ensovereigned mediators, not taken to the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
17 During this time, Hazael, Prime Ruler of Aram, invaded Gath and planned to attack Yerushalayim.
18 Prime Ruler Joash sent all precious goods from Judah's Prime Rulers and all gold from the governance palace and Sovereign Captain's fortress treasuries to Hazael, who then left Yerushalayim.

19 "Isn't the rest of Joash's reign documented in Judah's Prime Rulers' historical record?"
20 His officers conspired against him and killed him at Beth Millo on the path to Silla.
21 The culprits were Jozabad, son of Shimeath, and Jehozabad, son of Shomer. After his death, he was buried with his forefathers in David's city. His son Amaziah then ascended to authority.

§ 15670 JEHOAHAZ PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

13 Jehoahaz, Jehu's male heir, assumed authority over Israel in Samaria during the twenty-third year of Joash, Ahaziah's male heir, who ruled Judah. His reign lasted seventeen years.
2 He committed wrongdoing in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, following Jeroboam, Nebat's male heir, leading Israel into unworthy choices and never deviated from these actions.
3 The Sovereign Captain's wrath flared against Israel, subjecting them to Hazael, the Prime Ruler of Aram, and his male heir, Ben-Hadad, for an extended period.
4 Jehoahaz pleaded for the Sovereign Captain's mercy, and the Sovereign Captain paid heed to his meldings with the Preeminent Sovereign, observing the intense suffering inflicted by the Prime Ruler of Aram.
5 The Preeminent Sovereign supplied a rescuer for Israel, enabling them to break free from Aram's control. The Israelites returned to their previous way of living.
6 They still didn't abandon the wrongful actions introduced by Jeroboam's house that led Israel astray; they persisted in these unworthy choices. Moreover, the idolized deity dedicated to Asherah remained in Samaria.
7 Jehoahaz's army was reduced to fifty assault forces, ten tactical means of transport, and ten thousand footmen, as the Prime Ruler of Aram had decimated the remaining forces.
8 Isn't the remainder of Jehoahaz's reign, including all his deeds and accomplishments, documented in the historical record of Israel's Prime Rulers?
9 Jehoahaz joined his predecessors in death and was interred in Samaria. His male heir, Jehoash, assumed authority after him.

§ 15680 JEHOASH PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

10 Jehoash, son of Jehoahaz, became Israel's ruler in Samaria during the thirty seventh year of Joash's rule in Judah, leading for sixteen years.
11 He committed impure acts in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, continuing the transgressions initiated by Jeroboam, son of Nebat.

12 The complete account of Jehoash's reign, including his deeds, accomplishments, and military engagement against Prime Ruler Amaziah of Judah, is recorded in the book chronicling Israel's Prime Rulers.
13 Jehoash passed away, and Jeroboam succeeded him. He was laid to rest in Samaria with Israel's past Prime Rulers.

14 Elisha, stricken with a fatal disease, was visited by Jehoash. The Prime Ruler cried over him, exclaiming, "My father! My father! The military strike vehicles and assault forces of Israel!"
15 Elisha instructed him to procure a projectile launcher and some projectiles, which he promptly did.
16 Elisha told him to hold the projectile launcher and placed his hands over Jehoash's hands.
17 "Unveil the window facing East," he commanded, and it was done. "Fire the projectile!" Elisha commanded, and it was done. "This act is the Sovereign Captain's token of triumph, the emblem of victory over Aram!" Elisha proclaimed. "You will utterly defeat the Arameans at Aphek."

18 Elisha instructed, "Grasp the projectiles," which Jehoash did. Then he directed, "Batter the ground." After hitting the ground thrice, Jehoash ceased.
19 The exalted man was upset and exclaimed, "If you had hit the ground five or six times, you would have destroyed Aram entirely. However, you will now exclusively defeat Aram thrice."
20 Elisha passed away and was laid to rest.

21 During a burial formality by some Israelites, they noticed a group of invaders and quickly placed the dead's body into Elisha's tomb. The man sprung back to his feet upon contact with Elisha's bones.
22 During Jehoahaz's rule, Hazael, Prime Ruler of Aram, afflicted Israel.

23 Yet, the Sovereign Captain showed kindness and mercy towards them due to His agreement with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Even today, He has not wished to eradicate or expel them from His vicinity.
24 Hazael passed away, and his son Ben-Hadad ascended to authority.
25 Jehoash regained from Ben-Hadad the cities seized from his father Jehoahaz during warfare. Jehoash triumphed greatly, reclaiming Israel's towns.

§ 15690 AMAZIAH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

14 Amaziah, son of Joash, began his rule over Judah in the second year of Jehoash, son of Jehoahaz, ruler of Israel.
2 He became Prime Ruler at twenty-five and ruled in Yerushalayim for twenty-nine years. His mother, Jehoaddan, was from Yerushalayim.
3 He practiced what was right in the sight of the Sovereign Captain but did not meet David's standards, mirroring his father Joash's actions.
4 The religious shrines remained, and people continued their rituals and offerings there.
5-6 Once in control, he executed the officers who assassinated his father, The Preeminent Sovereign, but spared their children, adhering to the Mosaic Law: "Parents should not be executed for their children's unworthy choices, nor children for their parents'; each will die for their own wrongdoing."
7 He defeated ten thousand Edomites in the Salt Valley, captured Sela, and renamed it Joktheel.
8 Amaziah challenged Jehoash, ruler of Israel, to battle.

9-10 Jehoash replied with an enlightening story about a thorn brush and a cedar, warning Amaziah against pride and provoking disaster.
11 Ignoring this, Amaziah faced Jehoash in battle at Beth Shemesh in Judah.
12 Israel defeated Judah, and each man fled home.

13 Jehoash captured Amaziah at Beth Shemesh, then went to Yerushalayim and demolished part of its wall.
14 He took treasures from the Sovereign Captain's fortress and the Sovereign's treasury, along with captives, and returned to Samaria.
15 The deeds and conflicts of Jehoash are recorded in Israel's historical register.
16 Jehoash died and was buried with Israel's past rulers in Samaria. Jeroboam succeeded him.
17 After Jehoash's death, Amaziah lived fifteen more years.
18 Judah's historical records document The rest of Amaziah's reign.
19 A conspiracy in Yerushalayim forced him to flee to Lachish, where he was killed.
20 His body was brought back on a horse and buried in Yerushalayim with his ancestors in the City of David.
21 The people of Judah made Azariah, sixteen, their new ruler.
22 After Amaziah's death, Azariah rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah.

§ 15700 JEROBOAM II PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

23 In the fifteenth year of Prime Ruler Amaziah of Judah, Jeroboam, son of Jehoash, began his forty-one-year rule in Samaria.
24 He committed wrongdoing in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, continuing the transgressions initiated by Jeroboam, son of Nebat.
25 Jeroboam reestablished Israel's boundaries from Lebo Hamath to the Dead Sea, fulfilling the Sovereign Captain's vision communicated through Jonah, son of Amittai, from Gath Hepher.
26 The Sovereign Captain saw Israel's intense affliction and, seeing no one to aid them, 27 decided not to erase Israel's name from under the celestial realms and rescued them through Jeroboam.

28 The rest of Jeroboam's deeds, victories, and the retrieval of Damascus and Hamath for Israel are recorded in the historical documents of the Prime Rulers of Israel.
29 His son Zechariah succeeded Jeroboam, who died.

§ 15710 AZARIAH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

15 During Jeroboam's twenty-seventh year as Prime Ruler of Israel, Azariah, son of Amaziah, ascended to authority over Judah.
2 He began his rule at sixteen and governed Yerushalayim for fifty-two years. His mother, Jekoliah, was from Yerushalayim.
3 Azariah acted in ways that pleased the Sovereign Captain, following his father Amaziah's example.
4 However, the religious shrines were not abolished; the people continued absolving payments and burning aromatic substances there.
5 The Sovereign Captain was afflicted with a skin disorder by the Eternal Reality until his death, living in isolation. Jotham's offspring managed the grand mansion and administered the region's populace.

[6] Aren't the remaining events of Azariah's rule and his achievements recorded in Judah's historical records?
[7] Azariah passed away and was buried with his forefathers in the city of David. His son Jotham then inherited authority.

§ 15720 ZECHARIAH PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

[8] In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah's reign as Judean Prime Ruler, Zechariah, son of Jeroboam, ruled Israel in Samaria for six months.

[9] He committed wrong in the Sovereign Captain's sight, following his ancestors' ways. He did not turn from Jeroboam, Nebat's son's transgressions, which led Israel into unworthy choices.
[10] Shallum, son of Jabesh, conspired against Zechariah, killed him publicly, and took over as Prime Ruler.
[11] The rest of Zechariah's rule is recorded in the chronicles of Israel's Prime Rulers.
[12] The Sovereign Captain's vision to Jehu was fulfilled: "Your family will rule Israel until the fourth generation."

§ 15730 SHALLUM PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

[13] In the thirty-ninth year of Prime Ruler Uzziah of Judah's reign, Shallum, son of Jabesh, ascended to authority and ruled Samaria for a month.
[14] Menahem, son of Gadi, traveled from Tirzah to Samaria, confronted Shallum, killed him, and took over his rule.
[15] The remaining events of Shallum's rule, including his plot, are documented in the historical records of Israel's Prime Rulers.
[16] During that period, Menahem, starting from Tirzah, assaulted Tiphsah and its surroundings due to their refusal to let him in. He devastated Tiphsah and horrifically tore apart all the expectant mothers.

§ 15740 MENAHEM PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

[17] In the 39th year of Azariah's rule over Judah, Menahem, son of Gadi, became the Prime Ruler of Israel, governing for a decade from Samaria.
[18] He committed wrongdoings in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, never straying from Jeroboam's transgressions that led Israel to unworthy choices.
[19] When Pul, the Assyrian Prime Ruler, invaded, Menahem paid him 30,000 kilograms of silver to secure his allegiance and strengthen his dominion.

[20] Menahem taxed every affluent individual 570 grams of silver to pay the Assyrian ruler, who then withdrew from the land.
[21] The rest of Menahem's deeds are recorded in Israel's historical records.
[22] Menahem died, and his son Pekahiah succeeded him.

§ 15750 PEKAHIAH PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

23 In the 50th year of Azariah's reign over Judah, Pekahiah, son of Menahem, became the Prime Ruler of Israel in Samaria, governing for two years.
24 Pekahiah committed impurity in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, refusing to rectify Jeroboam's unworthy choices that led Israel into transgression.
25 Pekah, son of Remaliah and a principal officer, conspired against him. With fifty men from Gilead, he executed Pekahiah, along with Argob and Arieh, in the fortress of the grand dwelling in Samaria. So, Pekah murdered Pekahiah and took his place as ruler.
26 The remaining events of Pekahiah's rule are recorded in the historical record of Israel's Prime Rulers.

§ 15760 PEKAH PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

27 Pekah, son of Remaliah, ascended to authority over Israel in Samaria during the 52nd year of Azariah's reign in Judah, ruling for two decades.
28 He committed wrongdoing in the eyes of the Sovereign Captain, continuing the transgressions initiated by Jeroboam, son of Nebat, which led Israel astray.
29 During Pekah's reign, Tiglath-Pileser, the Assyrian Prime Ruler, seized Ijon, Abel Beth Maakah, Janoah, Kedesh, and Hazor. He took Gilead and Galilee, including all of Naphtali, and relocated the inhabitants to Assyria.
30 In the twentieth year of Jotham, Uzziah's son's reign, Hoshea, son of Elah, conspired against Pekah, son of Remaliah. He attacked and killed him, then ascended to authority as his successor.

31 "Isn't the rest of Pekah's rule, including all his deeds, documented in the historical records of the Israelite Prime Rulers?"

§ 15770 JOTHAM PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

32 Jotham, Uzziah's male heir, assumed Judah's authority in the second year of Pekah, Remaliah's male heir, the Prime Ruler of Israel.
33 He began his rule at twenty-five and governed Yerushalayim for sixteen years. His mother, Jerusha, was a descendant of Zadok.
34 He acted by the Sovereign Captain's will, mirroring his father Uzziah's actions.
35 However, the religious shrines remained; people continued presenting absolving payments and wafting incense. Jotham reconstructed the superior entrance of the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
36 "Isn't the remainder of Jotham's reign, including his deeds, documented in the historical record of Judah's Prime Rulers?"
37 During that period, the Sovereign Captain dispatched Prime Ruler Rezin of Aram and Pekah, Remaliah's male heir, to wage war against Judah.
38 Jotham passed away and was laid to rest in David's city, the city of his forefather. His male heir, Ahaz, succeeded him.

§ 15780 AHAZ PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

16 Ahaz, Jotham's heir, began his rule as Prime Ruler of Judah in the seventeenth year of Pekah, Remaliah's heir.
2 Ahaz ascended to authority at twenty and ruled Yerushalayim for sixteen years. He did not uphold the integrity seen in his forefather David in the sight of the Sovereign Captain.
3 He adopted Israel's customs, even offering his heir to fire as an absolving payment, following the despicable rituals of the nations expelled by the Sovereign Captain before Israel's arrival.

4 He performed rituals and released aromatic smoke at exalted locations, atop hills, and beneath leafy trees.

5 Rezin, the Aramean Prime Ruler, and Pekah, Remaliah's heir and Prime Ruler of Israel, attacked Yerushalayim but could not subdue Ahaz.
6 Rezin reclaimed Elath for Aram during this time, expelling Judah's inhabitants. The Edomites then settled in Elath.

7 Ahaz sent envoys to Tiglath-Pileser, the Assyrian Prime Ruler, pledging loyalty and requesting rescue from the Aramean and Israeli rulers' onslaught.
8 Ahaz collected silver and gold from the Sovereign Captain's fortress and his headquarters' storerooms, presenting it to the Assyrian ruler as an offering.
9 The Assyrian ruler attacked Damascus, seized it, exiled its citizens to Kir, and executed Rezin.

10 Ahaz visited Damascus to meet Tiglath-Pileser. He saw a pedestal table there and sent its design to Uriah, the ensovereigned mediator.
11 Uriah built a replica before Ahaz returned.
12 On his return, Ahaz approached the table and made absolving payments.
13 He offered scorched absolving payments, grain offerings, poured offerings, and sprinkled the blood from peace absolving payments on the table.

14 The bronze pedestal table was moved from the Sovereign Captain's fortress entrance to the North of the new table.
15 Ahaz instructed Uriah to present all offerings on the new table and splatter the blood from all scorched gifts.
16 Uriah complied with all instructions.

17-18 Ahaz removed frames from movable stands and basins, shifted the Sea from bronze oxen to a stone pavement, and eliminated the Day of Rest shelter in the fortress. He also removed the Prime Ruler's external entrance to the Sovereign Captain's fortress out of respect for the Assyrian ruler.

19 The remainder of Ahaz's reign is recorded in Judah's historical documents.
20 Ahaz died and was interred in David's city. His heir, Hezekiah, succeeded him.

§ 15790 HOSHEA LAST PRIME RULER OF ISRAEL

17 Hoshea, son of Elah, took over as Israel's Prime Ruler in Samaria in the twelfth year of Ahaz's reign over Judah, and he ruled for nine years.
2 He committed impure acts in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, though not as grievous as his predecessors.
3 Initially a vassal to Shalmaneser, Prime Ruler of Assyria, Hoshea paid tribute.
4 However, Shalmaneser discovered Hoshea's betrayal when he ceased the tribute and sought an alliance with Prime Ruler So of Egypt, leading to Hoshea's arrest and imprisonment.
5 The Assyrian Prime Ruler then besieged Samaria for three years.
6 The Israelites were banished to Assyria in Hoshea's ninth year. Assyria took Samaria and settled the people in Halah, Gozan along the Habor River, and the Medes cities.

§ 15800 ISRAEL EXILED BECAUSE OF HER UNWORTHY CHOICES

7 The Israelites were exiled due to their unworthy choices against the Sovereign Captain, their Preeminent Sovereign, who had freed them from Egypt and the Egyptian Pharaoh. They worshipped unfamiliar idolized deities.

8 They followed the customs of the nations the Sovereign Captain had expelled before them. They adopted the rituals established by Israel's Prime Rulers.
9 Secretly, they acted without integrity against the Sovereign Captain, creating exalted sites in all their settlements, from lookout posts to fortified cities.
10 They made exalted pillars and symbols of goddess Asherah on every peak and under every leafy tree.
11 They offered fragrant absolving payments at each exalted site, like the people the Preeminent Sovereign had expelled before them, inciting the Sovereign Captain's wrath.
12 Despite the Sovereign Captain's explicit instructions, they continued to venerate idolized deities.

13 Every eternally wise servant and seer from the Sovereign Captain urged Israel and Judah: "Abandon your transgressional conduct. Follow My directives and regulations as commanded to your forefathers through my dedicated, eternally wise servants."
14 They refused to listen, showing no trust in the Sovereign Captain, their Preeminent Sovereign, and remained stubborn.
15 They ignored His laws and the pact with their forefathers, pursuing valueless idolized deities and becoming valueless themselves. They emulated surrounding nations despite the Sovereign Captain's command to refrain.

16 Abandoning all directives of the Sovereign Captain, they crafted two cast metal calf idolized deities and an Asherah pole, prostrated before celestial constellations, and revered Baal.
17 They sacrificed their children through the fire, engaged in divination and witchcraft, and committed impure acts, provoking the Sovereign Captain's wrath.
18 Consequently, the Sovereign Captain expelled Israel from His sight, leaving only Judah.

19 Judah also failed to follow their Preeminent Sovereign's instructions, adopting Israel's rituals.

[20] The Sovereign Captain turned His back on Israel, made them suffer, handed them to robbers, and banished them from His sight.
[21] When the Sovereign Captain separated Israel from David's family, they appointed Jeroboam as their Prime Ruler, who led them away from the Sovereign Captain into severe transgressions.
[22] The Israelites continued these transgressions without swaying.
[23] His eternally wise servants forewarned that the Sovereign Captain banished them. So, the Israelites were deported to Assyria, where they remain today.

§ 15810 SAMARIA RESETTLED

[24] The Assyrian Prime Ruler relocated people from Babylon, Kuthah, Avva, Hamath, and Sepharvaim to Samaria, replacing the Israelites. They took control and settled in its towns.
[25] Initially, they did not elevate the Sovereign Captain, prompting Him to send lions that killed some of them.
[26] The Assyrian Prime Ruler was informed: "The exiled nations in Samaria are unaware of the local Eternal Reality's customs. The Preeminent Sovereign has sent lions among them, causing deaths due to their ignorance of His requirements."
[27] The Prime Ruler ordered: "Send one of the ensovereigned mediators exiled from Samaria back to teach the people the land's Eternal Reality's stipulations."
[28] An Israelite mediator returned to Bethel, instructing locals on elevating the Sovereign Captain.
[29] Despite this, each ethnic group made their idolized deities in their towns, placing them in temples on elevated places built by Samaria's residents.
[30] Babylonians made Sukkoth-Benoth, Kuthah inhabitants made Nergal, and Hamath dwellers made Ashima.

[31] Avvites made Nibhaz and Tartak, while Sepharvites practiced child burning for Adrammelek and Anammelek.
[32] They revered the Sovereign Captain but appointed their own religious leaders in elevated place sanctuaries.
[33] They honored the Sovereign Captain yet worshipped their idolized deities, following the practices of their exiled nations.
[34] Even now, they do not elevate the Sovereign Captain or respect His principles, directives, legislation, or precepts given to Jacob's offspring, named Israel. The Sovereign Captain's pact with Jacob's descendants included these instructions:

- "Do not venerate foreign idolized deities.
- Do not prostrate before them.
- Do not serve them.

[35] • Do not offer absolving payments."

[36] Elevate the Sovereign Captain who led you out of Egypt with immense strength. Kneel before Him and present your absolving payments.
[37] Diligently observe His statutes, directives, instructions, and commandments. Refrain from revering idolized deities.
[38] Remember your exalted agreement and refrain from revering idolized deities.

39 Acclaim the Sovereign Captain; He will rescue you from all adversaries.
40 Nevertheless, they continued their traditions and did not pay heed.
41 Although they revered the Sovereign Captain, they still served their idolized deities. Their offspring continue these traditions today.

§ 15820 HEZEKIAH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

18 Hezekiah, son of Ahaz, ascended to Judah's authority in the third year of Hoshea, son of Elah's reign in Israel.
2 At twenty-five, he began his twenty-nine-year rule in Yerushalayim. His mother was Abijah, a descendant of Zechariah.
3 He followed the Sovereign Captain's will like his ancestor David.
4 He abolished religious shrines, shattered purified monoliths, and felled Asherah poles. He dismantled Moses' bronze serpent, which the Israelites had been worshipping as Nehushtan.
5 Hezekiah placed absolute trust in the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel. No Prime Ruler of Judah before or after him could compare.
6 He adhered firmly to the Sovereign Captain, obeying all directives given to Moses.
7 Yahweh accompanied him, ensuring his success. He defied the Prime Ruler of Assyria and refused servitude.
8 He subdued the Philistine Warriors from lookout towers to fortified cities, reaching Gaza and its land.
9 In Hezekiah's fourth year, corresponding to Hoshea's seventh year in Israel, Prime Ruler Shalmaneser of Assyria invaded Samaria and laid siege.
10 After three years, the Assyrians seized Samaria during Hezekiah's sixth year and Hoshea's ninth year.
11 The Assyrian Prime Ruler deported the Israelites to Assyria, settling them in Halah, by the Habor River in Gozan, and in cities governed by the Medes.
12 This occurred because they ignored the Sovereign Captain and broke His agreement—all that Moses commanded. They neither heeded nor implemented these instructions.
13 In Hezekiah's fourteenth year, Sennacherib, Prime Ruler of Assyria, besieged and seized all fortified towns of Judah.

14 Hezekiah told the Assyrian Prime Ruler at Lachish: "I admit my error. Retract your forces, and I will comply with any penalty." The Assyrian Prime Ruler demanded thirty gold and 9000 kilograms of silver from Hezekiah.
15 Hezekiah handed over all silver found in the Sovereign Captain's fortress and grand residence storerooms.
16 During that period, Hezekiah removed gold from the fortress' doors and pillars dedicated to the Sovereign Captain. He surrendered it to the Assyrian Prime Ruler.

§ 15830 SENNACHERIB THREATENS YERUSHALAYIM

17 The Assyrian ruler sent his top commander, principal officer, field marshal, and a large force from Lachish to Prime Ruler Hezekiah in Yerushalayim. They stopped at the upper pool's water channel on the way to the launderer's field.

18 They demanded the Prime Ruler, but Eliakim, Hilkiah's son—head of the grand household—Shebna, the state's intelligence analyst, and Joah, Asaph's son— the chronicler—met them instead.
19 The field officer questioned them: "The mighty Prime Ruler of Assyria asks: What is the basis of your confidence?"
20 "You claim to have strategy and power for conflict, but your words are empty. Who are you relying on to rebel against me?"
21 "You trust Egypt, a weak, broken staff that injures anyone who leans on it! This injury is what Pharaoh, the Prime Ruler of Egypt, represents to all who rely on him."
22 If, however, you reply to me, "We trust in the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign," is He not the One who withdrew the altars and high places from Judah and Yerushalayim, telling them to express adoration before this pedestal table in Yerushalayim?
23 "Make a deal with my ruler, the Assyrian Prime Ruler: I will give you two thousand military strike vehicles with assault troops."

24 "How can you resist a single commander from the least of My Sovereign Captain's servants when relying on Egypt for war military strike vehicles and assault forces?"
25 "Did I come to destroy this land without instructions from the Eternal Reality? The Eternal Reality directed me to advance against this territory and destroy it."
26 Eliakim, Hilkiah's son, Shebna, and Joah pleaded with the field commander to speak in Aramaic, which they understood, avoiding Hebrew within earshot of the bystanders on the wall.
27 The commander retorted, "Did my overseer send me to speak only to you and your overseer?
His proclamation is also for those on the wall who will suffer like you."
28 The chief adviser then called out loudly in Judah's dialect, "Listen to the message of the mighty Prime Ruler of Assyria!"
29 "The Prime Ruler says: Don't let Hezekiah deceive you; he cannot save you from my control."
30 "Don't let Hezekiah make you rely on the Sovereign Captain, saying 'the Sovereign Captain will save us; this city won't fall to the Assyrian Prime Ruler. '" 31 "Don't listen to Hezekiah. The Assyrian Prime Ruler's message is to make peace with me and surrender. Then, each of you will enjoy your rooftop garden and fig tree and drink water from your well."
32 "Until I relocate you to a land like your own, rich in grain, new wine, bread, vineyards, olive trees, and honey. Choose life over death! Don't listen to Hezekiah; he deceives you by saying,
'the Sovereign Captain will save us. '"
33 "Has any Eternal Reality from any nation saved its land from the Assyrian Prime Ruler?"
34 "Where are the idolized deities of Hamath and Arpad? What about Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah? Have they saved Samaria from my hand?"
35 "Which Eternal Reality has protected its land from my dominion? Why think the Sovereign Captain can save Yerushalayim from me?"
36 The people remained silent per the Prime Ruler's directive.

37 Eliakim, Hilkiah's son who managed the grand residence, Shebna, the chief intelligence analyst, and Joah, Asaph's son, the official record keeper, approached Hezekiah with torn garments in distress, conveying the field commander's words.

§ 15840 YERUSHALAYIM'S DELIVERANCE FORETOLD

19 Upon hearing the news, Prime Ruler Hezekiah tore his garments, donned mourning attire, and went to the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
2 Eliakim, the overseer of the grand household, Shebna, the intelligence analyst, and the foremost ensovereigned mediators, all in mourning attire, were sent to Isaiah, Amoz's eternally wise servant and son.
3 Hezekiah's message conveyed a day of pain, humiliation, and reprimand, likened to a child due to be born without a deliverer's strength.
4 In the Eternal Reality, you express joyful adoration. Remember how the field commander, sent by the Assyrian Prime Ruler, taunted the living Preeminent Sovereign with his words. He will rebuke him for those words you, the Preeminent Sovereign, have heard. Therefore, plead for the remaining few.
5 The servants of Prime Ruler Hezekiah approached Isaiah.
6 Isaiah instructed them to tell their Prime Ruler, 'the Sovereign Captain says: Do not fear the words you have heard—those disrespectful utterances from the Assyrian Prime Ruler's subordinates who insulted me.
7 Pay heed to specific news. the Sovereign Captain will compel him to return to his homeland, where he will meet his end by the tactical blade. '
8 On learning about the Assyrian Prime Ruler's departure from Lachish, the field commander retreated and found this Prime Ruler engaged in battle against Libnah.
9 Sennacherib heard that Tirhakah, the Prime Ruler of Cush, was preparing for battle against him. Consequently, he sent envoys to Hezekiah again.
10 Tell Prime Ruler Hezekiah of Judah not to let the Eternal Reality he trusts misguide him with the statement that 'Yerushalayim won't be surrendered to the Prime Ruler of Assyria. '

11 You know the devastation all lands have faced at the hands of Assyrian Prime Rulers. Do you truly trust you will be spared?
12 Have the idolized deities of the nations my forefathers annihilated rescued them—referring to the idolized deities of Gozan, Harran, Rezeph, and the inhabitants of Eden in Tel Assar?
13 What happened to the Prime Ruler of Hamath and the leader of Arpad? What about the Prime Rulers of Lair, Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah?

§ 15850 HEZEKIAH'S MELDING OF HIS CONSCIENCE

14 Hezekiah received the letter from the envoys, read it carefully, and then went to the Sovereign Captain's fortress to present it before Him.
15 Hezekiah melded his consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign, saying: "My Sovereign Captain, the One Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, who resides amidst the representation of a Celestial Envoy, you alone preside over all realms on Earth. You are the Innovator of the cosmos and the world.
16 Attend, Captain, and comprehend; unveil your gaze, Captain, and observe; perceive the utterances Sennacherib has dispatched to scorn the living Preeminent Sovereign.

17 Indeed, Captain, the Prime Rulers of Assyria have devastated these territories and their countries.
18 The divinities were cast into the flames and annihilated because they weren't actual idolized deities but merely artifacts of stone and wood crafted by human beings.
19 Now, our Sovereign Captain and the Preeminent Sovereign shield us from his control, leading all the world's nations to acknowledge that solely you, Captain, are the Preeminent Sovereign."

§ 15860 ISAIAH DELIVERS WISDOM CONCERNING SENNACHERIB'S FALL

20 Isaiah, son of Amoz, told Hezekiah: the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel, says: Your melding with the Preeminent Sovereign about Prime Ruler Sennacherib of Assyria has reached me.
21 The Sovereign Captain's message for him is: "The virgin daughter of the hub of David mocks you. The daughter of Yerushalayim shakes her head as you retreat.
22 Who have you insulted and spoken against? To whom have you raised your voice and lifted your gaze? It is the exalted One of Israel.
23 Through your envoys, you have insulted the Sovereign Captain, boasting that you have scaled the mountain peaks and Lebanon's farthest reaches with your military strike vehicles. You have felled its tallest cedars and finest junipers. You have ventured into its remotest regions and its choicest forests.
24 You've dug water sources in distant lands and quenched your thirst with their waters. Your feet have dried up all the river channels of Egypt.
25 Didn't you know I planned this long ago? I devised it in ancient times; I made it happen, leading to your transformation of fortified cities into rubble.
26 The inhabitants, stripped of strength, are terrified and humiliated. They are like vegetation in the fields, tender green shoots and grass on rooftops, withered before it can grow.
27 I know your location, movements, and fury towards me.
28 Because of your fury and arrogance that has reached me, I will put my hook in your nostrils and my rein on your tongue, forcing you to retreat the same way you came.
29 This will be your sign, Hezekiah: You will consume what grows naturally this year and what develops from it the following year. However, in the third year, you should grow your own vineyards and gather your own fruit.
30 The remnants from Judah will again take root and bear inner fruit.
31 A group of survivors will emerge from Yerushalayim, with a few spared inner selves spreading out from Mount the hub of David. This emergence will happen because of the Sovereign Captain's commitment to celestial realm forces.

32 So, the Sovereign Captain says about the Prime Ruler of Assyria: 'He will not enter this city or shoot a projectile here. He will not come before it with a ballistic shield or build a siege ramp against it. '
33 He will return the way he came and will not enter this city as per the Sovereign Captain's proclamation.
34 I will shield this city and rescue it for my honor and David's sake, my servant.
35 That evening, the Sovereign Captain's Celestial Envoy ambushed and eliminated 180,000 soldiers in the Assyrian camp. When people got up the next morning, they saw all the dead bodies.

[36] Assyrian Prime Ruler Sennacherib broke camp and withdrew. He returned to Nineveh and stayed there.
[37] Sennacherib's sons Adrammelech and Sharezer assassinated him one day when he was worshiping at the temple of his worshiped deity Nisroch. Sharezer and Adrammelech then escaped to the Ararat region. His son Esar-haddon succeeded him as Prime Ruler Hazael of Aram. Hazael left Yerushalayim as a result.

§ 15870 HEZEKIAH'S ILLNESS

[20] During that period, Hezekiah was afflicted with a fatal illness. Isaiah, the male heir of Amoz, a vis, approached him and conveyed the message from the Sovereign Captain: "Arrange your affairs, for your death is impending, and you won't recuperate."
[2] Hezekiah turned to the wall and melded His conscience with the Eternal Reality.
[3] "My Sovereign Captain, consider how I have served you sincerely and with complete dedication, acting authentically in your sight." Hezekiah wept deeply.
[4] Before Isaiah exited the central courtyard, he received the Sovereign Captain's message.

[5] "Return and tell Hezekiah, the leader of my pathseekers, 'So speaks the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of your forefather David: I have acknowledged the meldings of your conscience with the Eternal Reality and seen your sorrow; I shall grant you recovery. In three days, you will ascend to the fortress of the Sovereign Captain. '"
[6] "I will extend your life by fifteen years. I will rescue you and this city from the Assyrian Prime Ruler. I will shield this city for my honor and for my servant David."
[7] Isaiah then instructed them to create an ointment from figs. They followed his words and applied them to the sore, leading to his healing.
[8] Hezekiah asked Isaiah, "What will be the sign that the Eternal Reality will restore my health and that I will ascend to the Sovereign Captain's fortress in three days?"
[9] Isaiah responded, "This is the sign from the Sovereign Captain affirming that He will fulfill His promise: Should the shadow progress ten paces forward, or should it retreat ten paces?"
[10] Hezekiah replied, "It is easy for the shadow to extend ten steps forward, but not easy for it to reverse ten steps."
[11] Isaiah, the eternally wise servant, invoked the Sovereign Captain, and the Sovereign Captain caused the shadow to retreat ten steps on Ahaz's staircase.

§ 15880 ENVOYS FROM BABYLON

[12] Upon hearing of Hezekiah's illness, Marduk-Baladan, Baladan's heir and Prime Ruler of Babylon, sent gifts and letters to Hezekiah.
[13] Hezekiah warmly received the envoys, showing them his treasuries, including silver, gold, spices, and fine olive oil. He disclosed his weaponry and left nothing hidden, ensuring every item in his palace and realm was displayed.
[14] "What did these men assert, and where did their information originate from?" inquired Isaiah, the eternally wise servant, on behalf of Hezekiah. "They came from a distant land, from Babylon," Hezekiah retorted.

[15] Isaiah inquired about what they saw in the palace. Hezekiah answered, "They saw everything; nothing in my riches was hidden."
[16] Isaiah then told Hezekiah to heed the Sovereign Captain's words.

17 “A time is coming when they will take everything in your palace, accumulated by your ancestors until now, to Babylon. the Sovereign Captain says nothing will be left.”
18 “Some of your descendants will be taken away and made servants in the Babylonian Prime Ruler’s headquarters.”
19 Hezekiah agreed with Isaiah’s proclamation from the Sovereign Captain, wondering if there would be peace and security during his lifetime.
20 The rest of Hezekiah’s reign, his achievements, including the construction of the pool and the water conduit to the city, are recorded in the chronicles of Judah’s Prime Rulers.
21 His son Manasseh succeeded Hezekiah as Prime Ruler.

§ 15890 MANASSEH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

21 Manasseh ascended to authority at twelve, ruling Yerushalayim for fifty-five years. His mother was Hephzibah.
2 He committed wrongdoing, mimicking the disgusting behaviors of the nationalities the Sovereign Captain had evicted before the Israelites.
3 He rebuilt the exalted sites his father Hezekiah had demolished, set up pedestal tables for Baal, and crafted an Asherah pole, like Ahab, Prime Ruler of Israel. He bowed to the celestial array and paid them adoration.
4 He fabricated pedestal tables within the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, where the Sovereign Captain proclaimed His name would reside in Yerushalayim.
5 He constructed absolving platforms for every idolized deity in the Sovereign Captain’s fortress courtyards.

6 He slaughtered his child by fire, employed witchcraft, interpreted signs, and liaised with mediums and soothsayers, committing extensive impurity in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, provoking His wrath.
7 The engraved Asherah he crafted was placed in the fortress, a place the Sovereign Captain mentioned to David and Solomon, the builder of the fortress, as the spot in Yerushalayim where His name will reside permanently.
8 “I will not let the Israelites stray from the territory I gave their forefathers if they adhere to all my directives and maintain the complete Law imparted by Moses.”
9 The populace ignored this message. Manasseh lured them into greater impurity than the transgressions of the races eradicated before the Israelites’ arrival.
10 The Sovereign Captain conveyed through His eternally wise servant servants:
11 “Manasseh has enacted horrifying transgressions, doing more impure deeds than the Amorites before him, leading Judah astray with idolized deity adoration.”
12 The Sovereign Captain proclaims He will bring a catastrophe for Judah and Yerushalayim, making anyone who hears shudder.
13 “I will apply the same standard to Yerushalayim as to Samaria and Ahab’s house. I will eradicate Yerushalayim like one cleans a dinner plate, scrubbing it thoroughly and flipping it over.”
14 “I will relinquish my heritage, handing them over to adversaries as war booty and spoils for all their foes.”
15 “They have committed impurity and incited my fury since their forefathers left Egypt until now.”
16 Manasseh was guilty of massive innocent bloodshed, saturating Yerushalayim from one boundary to another, inducing Judah to commit unworthy choices and impure deeds in the sight of the Sovereign Captain.

17 Isn’t Manasseh’s reign, actions, and transgressions captured in Judah’s Prime Rulers’ historical writings?
18 Manasseh joined his forefathers in death and was laid to rest in his palace garden, the Garden of Uzza. His heir, Amon, ascended to authority in his place.

§ 15900 AMON PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

19 At twenty-two, Amon began his rule in Yerushalayim for two years. His mother, Meshullemeth, was Haruz’s child and originated from Jotbah.
20 He committed wrongdoings from the Sovereign Captain’s perspective, mimicking his predecessor Manasseh’s actions.
21 He entirely adopted his father’s lifestyle, granting reverence to the same idolized deities his father had and prostrating before them.
22 He abandoned the Eternal Reality’s entity of his forefathers, the Sovereign Captain, and did not follow the Eternal Reality’s directives.
23 Amon’s aides plotted behind his back and murdered him in his residence.
24 The local populace annihilated all those who had conspired against Prime Ruler Amon and ensovereigned his male heir, Josiah, in his stead.
25 “Aren’t the remaining events and accomplishments of Amon’s reign documented in the historical records of the Prime Rulers of Judah?”
26 He found his final resting place in the crypt in Uzza’s garden, and his male heir, Josiah, ascended the majestic chair/authority to succeed him.

§ 15910 THE BOOK OF CELESTIAL DIRECTIVES FOUND

22 Josiah ascended to the majestic chair at eight, ruling Yerushalayim for thirty-one years. His mother was Jedidah, Adaiah’s daughter from Bozkath.
2 He practiced integrid actions in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, adhering fully to David’s path without deviation.
3 In his eighteenth year, Prime Ruler Josiah sent Shaphan, Azaliah’s son and Meshullam’s grandson, to the Sovereign Captain’s fortress with instructions.

4 “Approach Hilkiah, the prime ensovereigned mediator, and have him prepare the funds gathered by the doorkeepers from the people and brought into the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.
5 Hand it over to those overseeing the fortress’ restoration to compensate the artisans mending it.
6 Engage artisans, construction workers, and stone masons. Procure lumber and sculpted stone to refurbish the fortress.
7 No need for them to justify fund usage as they conduct transactions with integrity.”
8 Hilkiah informed Shaphan that he had discovered the Book of the Mosaic Law within the Sovereign Captain’s fortress and passed it on to Shaphan, who studied its contents.
9 Shaphan reported to the Prime Ruler: “Your servants have distributed the funds from the Sovereign Captain’s fortress to those in charge of labor and supervision.”
10 Shaphan also notified the Prime Ruler that Hilkiah had handed him a book, which he then read aloud.

11 On hearing the contents of the Mosaic Law's Book, the Prime Ruler ripped his vestments.
12 He instructed Hilkiah, Ahikam, Akbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah:
13 "Seek the counsel of the Sovereign Captain on behalf of me, the people, and all Judah concerning this book. the Sovereign Captain's fury is ignited against us because our predecessors failed to follow its instructions."
14 Hilkiah, Ahikam, Akbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah sought wisdom from Huldah, married to Shallum, Tikvah's son, and Harhas' grandson, who managed grand garments. She resided in Yerushalayim's Second Quarter.
15 She declared, "the Sovereign Captain, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, has spoken: Convey this message to the man who sent you."
16 The Sovereign Captain declares: "I will unleash catastrophe upon this location and its inhabitants, as the manuscript read by the Prime Ruler of Judah dictates."

17 Since they abandoned me and offered reconciliation payments to outsider idolized deities, provoking my ire with their crafted idolized deities, my wrath will engulf this place and not be extinguished."
18 "Convey to the Prime Ruler of Judah who solicited guidance," 'the Sovereign Captain, Eternal Reality of Israel, declares about your perceived words. '
19 "Your inner-self was tender as you listened to My Path against this place and its inhabitants destined for desolation and curse. You showed humility before the Sovereign Captain. Owing to your torn clothing and tears shed in my presence, I have paid heed to you," proclaims the Sovereign Captain.
20 "I will unite you with your forefathers; your burial will be tranquil. You will be spared from witnessing all the catastrophe I unleash on this locale." They conveyed her response to the Prime Ruler.

§ 15920 JOSIAH RENEWS THE PACT

23 The Prime Ruler gathered all senior leaders of Judah and Yerushalayim.
2 Citizens of Judah, residents of Yerushalayim, ensovereigned mediators, and eternally wise servants joined the Sovereign Captain at the exalted fortress. He read every word from the Book of the Solemn Agreement found in the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
3 Standing by the pillar, the Prime Ruler renewed the commitment to the Sovereign Captain, pledging to follow His directives, regulations, and laws wholeheartedly. everyone agreed to uphold the commitment.
4 The Prime Ruler ordered Hilkiah, the prime ensovereigned mediator, his subordinates, and gatekeepers to remove all objects honoring Baal, Asherah, and celestial entities from the Sovereign Captain's fortress. These items were scorched outside Yerushalayim in the Kidron Valley, and their remnants were taken to Bethel.
5 He eradicated false religious priests chosen by Judah's Prime Rulers to offer incense on high altars in Judah and Yerushalayim—those who venerated Baal, the sun, the moon, the zodiac, and the celestial multitude.

6 The Asherah pole was removed from the Sovereign Captain's fortress, taken to the Kidron Valley, set ablaze, crushed into dust, and spread over nonspecialists' burial sites.
7 He dismantled male temple prostitutes' quarters in the Sovereign Captain's fortress and places where women wove for Asherah.
8 Josiah summoned all priests from Judah's cities, degraded religious shrines from Geba to Beersheba where priests kindled incense, and dismantled the entranceway by Joshua's Gate.

[9] Priests from religious shrines consumed unleavened bread with their peers despite not performing duties at the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table in Yerushalayim.
[10] Josiah profaned Topheth in Ben Hinnom Valley to prevent child offerings to Molek.
[11] He abolished tactical personnel transports purified to the sun at the Sovereign Captain's fortress gateway and set military strike vehicles ablaze.
[12] Josiah dismantled altars constructed by Judean Prime Rulers on Ahaz's rooftop and Manasseh's altars in the Sovereign Captain's fortress courts. He crushed them into fragments and discarded debris into Kidron Valley.
[13] Josiah destroyed altars East of Yerushalayim, South of the Mount of Destruction, which Solomon had built for Ashtoreth, Chemosh, and Molek.
[14] He crushed high pillars, removed Asherah symbols, and filled these areas with human remains.
[15] Josiah tore down the pedestal table in Bethel, which Jeroboam (who instigated unworthy choices in Israel) had constructed. He scorched it to dust and destroyed the Asherah idolized deity.
[16] Josiah noticed graves on a hill slope, ordered bones extracted and scorched on the pedestal table, defiling it as the Preeminent Sovereign's messenger predicted.
[17] Townsfolk said a memorial stone symbolized an exalted visionary from Judah who predicted Josiah's actions against Bethel's pedestal table.

[18] Josiah ordered no interference with his remains or those of Samaria's elder prophet.
[19] Josiah eliminated all holy sites in religious shrines fabricated by Israeli Prime Rulers in Samaria's cities—actions that incensed the Sovereign Captain.
[20] He executed clergy members of elevated sanctuaries on pedestal tables and incinerated human remains on them before returning to Yerushalayim.
[21] The Prime Ruler directed all citizens to honor the Sovereign Captain by observing Emancipation as prescribed in the Solemn Agreement Book.
[22] Such an Emancipation celebration hadn't occurred during the judges' era or Prime Rulers' reigns of Israel and Judah.
[23] In Josiah's eighteenth year, Emancipation was observed in honor of Sovereign Captain in Yerushalayim.
[24] Josiah eradicated mediums, those communicating with dead households idolized deities, and all disgusting things in Judah and Yerushalayim per Mosaic Law found in Hilkiah's book kept in the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
[25] No Prime Ruler was like Josiah; he wholly devoted himself to Sovereign Captain with his entire inner-self and energy, complying fully with Moses' Law tenets.
[26] Despite this, the Sovereign Captain did not relent from his profound wrath against Judah due to Manasseh's provocations.
[27] The Sovereign Captain announced he would strip Judah from his sight as he did with Israel and discard Yerushalayim and its fortress, where he declared, 'My Name will be established. '
[28] Josiah's rule and deeds are recorded in Judah's Prime Rulers' historical documents.
[29] During Josiah's reign, Egyptian Prime Ruler Pharaoh Necho journeyed to the Euphrates River to aid Assyrian Prime Ruler Josiah but ended his life at Megiddo.
[30] Josiah's administrators transported his corpse from Megiddo to Yerushalayim in a main strike vehicle. They laid him to rest in his grave. The region's inhabitants chose Jehoahaz, Josiah's heir, ensovereigned him, and established him as ruler succeeding his father.

§ 15930 JEHOAHAZ PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

31 Jehoahaz became Prime Ruler at the age of 23 and governed Yerushalayim for three months. His mother, Hamutal, was Jeremiah's daughter from Libnah.
32 He acted wrongfully in the Sovereign Captain's sight, following his ancestors' ways.
33 Pharaoh Necho imprisoned him in Riblah, Hamath, preventing his rule in Yerushalayim, and imposed a heavy tribute on Judah: 3,000 kilograms of silver and 30 kilograms of gold.
34 Pharaoh Necho then appointed Eliakim, Josiah's son, as Prime Ruler, renaming him Jehoiakim, and took Jehoahaz to Egypt, where he died.
35 Jehoiakim met Pharaoh Necho's demands by taxing the land and collecting silver and gold from the people based on their wealth.

§ 15940 JEHOIAKIM PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

36 Jehoiakim assumed authority at 25 and ruled Yerushalayim for 11 years. His mother, Zebidah, was Pedaiah's daughter from Rumah.
37 He committed transgressions in the Sovereign Captain's sight, following his ancestors' path.

24 During Jehoiakim's rule, Prime Ruler Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon attacked, making Jehoiakim his subject for three years before he rebelled.
2 The Sovereign Captain unleashed armed groups of Babylonians, Arameans, Moabites, and Ammonites against him to obliterate Judah, fulfilling the Sovereign Captain's proclamation through His eternally wise servants.
3 These events occurred as the Sovereign Captain decreed to banish Judah due to Manasseh's transgressions.
4 The innocent bloodshed in Yerushalayim was abundant, and the Sovereign Captain wasn't prepared to forgive.

5 Aren't the rest of Jehoiakim's deeds chronicled in Judah's historical records?
6 Jehoiakim died, and his son Jehoiachin inherited authority.
7 The Egyptian Prime Ruler never left his nation again as the Babylonian ruler seized all his lands from the Egyptian brook to the Euphrates River.

§ 15950 JEHOIACHIN PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

8 Jehoiachin ascended to authority at eighteen and ruled Yerushalayim for three months. His mother, Nehushta, was Elnathan's daughter from Yerushalayim.
9 He committed wrongdoings from the Sovereign Captain's perspective, mirroring his father's actions.
10 During that period, Prime Ruler Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon's servants besieged Yerushalayim.
11 Nebuchadnezzar arrived as his commanders conducted the siege.
12 Jehoiachin, his mother, staff, dignitaries, and functionaries surrendered. He was taken captive in the eighth year of Nebuchadnezzar's rule.
13 As the Sovereign Captain predicted, Nebuchadnezzar confiscated precious items from the Sovereign Captain's fortress and the governance palace, dismantling the golden materials Prime Ruler Solomon of Israel had constructed.

14 All Yerushalayim inhabitants, including officials, warriors, and skilled artisans— totaling ten thousand—were exiled. Only the most needy residents remained.
15 Nebuchadnezzar exiled Jehoiachin, his mother, wives, high-ranking officials, and leading individuals to Babylon.
16 He also exiled seven thousand brave, robust soldiers and a thousand craftsmen and artisans.
17 Jehoiachin's uncle, Mattaniah, was appointed Prime Ruler by Nebuchadnezzar and renamed Zedekiah.

§ 15960 ZEDEKIAH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

18 Zedekiah became the Prime Ruler at twenty-one and governed Yerushalayim for eleven years. His mother, Hamutal, was Jeremiah's descendant from Libnah.
19 He committed impure acts in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, similar to Jehoiakim.
20 The misfortunes that struck Yerushalayim and Judah were due to the Sovereign Captain's wrath, leading to their expulsion from His sight. Zedekiah also defied the Babylonian Prime Ruler.

§ 15970 THE FALL OF YERUSHALAYIM

25 During Zedekiah's ninth year, Nebuchadnezzar, Babylon's Prime Ruler, led his army to Yerushalayim on the tenth day of the tenth month. They besieged the city and built fortifications around it.
2 The siege lasted until Zedekiah's eleventh year.
3 Food was scarce by the ninth day of the fourth month, leaving no sustenance for the people.
4 The city's wall was breached, and the army fled at night through a gate between two walls near the Prime Ruler's garden, heading towards the Arabah despite Babylonian forces surrounding the city.
5 The Chaldeans pursued and captured Zedekiah in the Jericho plains, where his army deserted him.
6 He was taken to Riblah to face Nebuchadnezzar, who passed judgment on him.
7 Zedekiah witnessed his sons' execution before being blinded, shackled in bronze restraints, and taken to Babylon.

8 In Nebuchadnezzar's nineteenth year, on the seventh day of the fifth month, Nebuzaradan, the head of the guard, arrived in Yerushalayim.

9 He burned down Yahweh's fortress, the Prime Ruler's residence, and every significant building in Yerushalayim.
10 Nebuzaradan led the Chaldean army to demolish the city walls.
11-12 Nebuzaradan exiled the remaining townspeople and those loyal to Babylon, leaving some of the poorest to tend vineyards and fields.
13 The Babylonians dismantled the bronze columns, portable stands, and the bronze Sea in the Sovereign Captain's fortress, taking the bronze to Babylon.
14 They also took all bronze items used in the fortress, including pots, shovels, dishes, and wick trimmers.
15 Nebuzaradan confiscated gold and silver items like incense burners and basins.
16 The amount of bronze used for Solomon's pillars, basin, and stands was immense.

17 Each column was 8.23 meters tall with a three-cubit high bronze capital adorned with latticework and bronze pomegranates. The second column was identical.

18 Nebuzaradan captured Seraiah, the primary ensovereigned mediator, Zephaniah, the second-highest mediator, and three gatekeepers.
19 He also seized the official over combatants, five grand consultants from the remaining inhabitants, the chief intelligence analyst responsible for enlisting citizens, and sixty enlisted individuals found in the city.
20-21 They were taken to Riblah to face Nebuchadnezzar, who executed them there, leading to Judah's exile.

22 Nebuchadnezzar appointed Gedaliah as governor over Judah's remaining inhabitants.

23 Military leaders and their forces gathered at Mizpah upon learning of Gedaliah's appointment. These included Ishmael (Nethaniah's son), Johanan (Kareah's son), Seraiah (Tanhumeth's son from Netophah), Jaazaniah (a Maakathite descendant), and their troops.
24 Gedaliah reassured them not to fear Chaldean officials and promised prosperity if they settled in the land and remained loyal to Babylon.

25 However, in the seventh month, Ishmael (Nethaniah's son) and ten men killed Gedaliah along with the Judeans and Babylonians at Mizpah.
26 Fearing Babylonian retribution, everyone from least to greatest, including military leaders, fled to Egypt.

§ 15980 JEHOIACHIN RELEASED

27 In Jehoiachin's thirty-seventh year of captivity in Babylon, Awel-Marduk, Babylon's new Prime Ruler, released him on the twenty-seventh day of the last month.
28 He spoke kindly to Jehoiachin and gave him a higher status than other rulers in Babylon.
29 Jehoiachin discarded his prison clothes and dined regularly with the Prime Ruler for the rest of his life.
30 The Prime Ruler provided Jehoiachin with a daily allowance for his lifetime.

~ 113 | 1 Narratives | 1 Chronicles

§ 15990 HISTORICAL RECORDS FROM ADAM TO ABRAHAM

1 Adam begat Seth, who had Enosh.
2 Kenan fathered Mahalalel, Jared's ancestor.
3 Enoch had Methuselah, who fathered Lamech, and Noah was Lamech's son.
4 Noah's sons were Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

§ 16010 THE JAPHETHITES

5 Japheth's descendants included Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tubal, Meshek, and Tiras.
6 Gomer's children were Ashkenaz, Riphath, and Togarmah.
7 Javan's descendants were Elishah, Tarshish, Kittites, Rodanites, and the Hamites.

§ 16020 THE HAMITES

8 Ham's descendants were Cush, Mizraim, Put, and Canaan.
9 Cush's children included Seba, Havilah, Sabta, Raamah, and Sabteka. Raamah's sons were Sheba and Dedan.
10 Cush fathered Nimrod, a mighty ruler on Earth.
11 Mizraim fathered Lud, Anam, Lehab, and Naphtuh.
12 Pathrusim and Casluhim were ancestors of the Philistine Warriors and Caphtorim.
13 Canaan fathered Sidon, his first-born, and the Hittites.
14 The Jebusites, Amorites, and Girgashites,
15 Hivites, Arkites, and Sinites,
16 Arvadites, Zemarites, and Hamathites. The Shemites.

§ 16030 THE SHEMITES

17 Shem's descendants included Elam, Ashur, Arphaxad, Lud, and Aram. Aram fathered Uz, Hul, Gether, and Meshek.
18 Arphaxad fathered Shelah, who fathered Eber.
19 Eber had two sons: Peleg (during whose time the world was divided) and Joktan.
20 Joktan's sons were Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, Jerah, 21 Hadoram, Uzal, Diklah,
22 Ebal, Abimael, Sheba,
23 Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab.
24 Shem fathered Arphaxad, who fathered Shelah.
25 Eber fathered Peleg, who fathered Reu,
26 Serug, Nahor, Terah.
27 And Abram (Abraham).

§ 16040 THE FAMILY OF ABRAHAM

[28] Abraham’s descendants included Isaac and Ishmael, sons of Hagar.

§ 16050 DESCENDANTS OF HAGAR

[29] Nebaioth started Ishmael’s family, followed by Kedar, Adbeel, and Mibsam.
[30] His other descendants were Mishma, Dumah, Massa, Hadad, and Tema.

[31] Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah were also Ishmael’s progeny. They were part of Keturah’s family.

§ 16060 DESCENDANTS OF KETURAH

[32] Keturah, Abraham’s secondary wife, bore Ishbak, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Shuah, and Zimran. Jokshan fathered Sheba and Dedan.
[33] Midian’s descendants included Ephah, Epher, Hanok, Abida, and Eldaah, all tracing back to Keturah. They were part of Sarah’s family.

§ 16070 DESCENDANTS OF SARAH

[34] Isaac, Abraham’s son, became the patriarch of Esau and Israel.

§ 16080 ESAU‘S HEIRS

[35] Esau’s descendants were Eliphaz, Reuel, Jeush, Jalam, and Korah.
[36] Eliphaz fathered Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, and Kenaz; Amalek was born to Timna.
[37] Reuel’s children were Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah. This family extends to the People of Seir in Edom.

§ 16090 THE PEOPLE OF SEIR IN EDOM

[38] Seir’s offspring included Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan.
[39] Lotan fathered Hori and Homam; his sister was Timna.
[40] Shobal’s descendants were Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, Shepho, and Onam; Zibeon fathered Aiah and Anah.
[41] Anah’s child was Dishon, whose descendants were Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran, and Keran.

[42] Ezer’s children were Bilhan, Zaavan, and Akan; Dishan fathered Uz and Aran. Chieftains of Edom.

§ 16100 THE RULERS OF EDOM

[43] The rulers of Edom before any Prime Ruler from Israel were Bela, son of Beor, who ruled Dinhabah.
[44] After Bela’s death, Jobab, son of Zerah from Bozrah, took power.

45 Upon Jobab's death, Husham from the Temanite territory ruled.
46 After Husham's death, Hadad, son of Bedad, who defeated Midian in Moabite territory, ruled Avith.
47 Following Hadad's death, Samlah of Masrekah ruled.
48 After Samlah's death, Shaul of Rehoboth by the river ruled.
49 Upon Shaul's death, Baal-Hanan, son of Akbar, ruled.
50 After Baal-Hanan's death, Hadad ruled Pau; his wife was Mehetabel, daughter of Matred and granddaughter of Me-Zahab.
51 Hadad also died. The leaders of Edom included Timna, Alvah, and Jetheth.
52 The chieftains Oholibamah, Elah, and Pinon.
53 Leader Kenaz, Leader Teman, Leader Mibzar.
54 Magdiel and Iram were recognized as communal leaders of Edom.

§ 16110 ISRAEL'S HEIRS

2 Israel's heirs included Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun.
2 Additionally, Dan, Joseph, Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher were among his sons.

§ 16120 JUDAH TO HEZRON'S HEIRS

3 Judah had three sons, Er, Onan, and Shelah, with his Canaanite wife, Shua's daughter. Judah's eldest Er made unworthy choices in the Preeminent Sovereign's eyes and was struck down.
4 Tamar, Judah's daughter-in-law, bore Perez and Zerah, making Judah a father of five.
5 Perez's sons were Hezron and Hamul.
6 Zerah had five sons: Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Calcol, and Darda.
7 Karmi's son, Achar, caused turmoil in Israel by violating the Mosaic Law.
8 Ethan's son was Azariah.
9 Hezron fathered Jerahmeel, Ram, and Caleb.

§ 16130 FROM RAM, HEIR OF HEZRON

10 Ram fathered Amminadab, who fathered Nahshon, a notable figure among Judah.
11 Nahshon fathered Salma, who fathered Boaz.
12 Boaz fathered Obed, who fathered Jesse.
13 Jesse's sons were Eliab (first-born), Abinadab (second), Shimea (third),
14 Nethanel (fourth), Raddai (fifth),
15 Ozem (sixth), and David (seventh).
16 Their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. Zeruiah's sons were Abishai, Joab, and Asahel.

17 Abigail bore Amasa to Jether the Ishmaelite.

§ 16140 CALEB, HEIR 0F HEZRON

18 Hezron's son, Caleb had children with Azubah and possibly Jerioth. Their sons were Jesher, Shobab, and Ardon.
19 After Azubah's death, Caleb married Ephrath, who bore Hur.

20 Hur fathered Uri, who fathered Bezalel.
21 Hezron later married Machir's daughter at sixty and fathered Segub.
22 Segub fathered Jair, who ruled twenty-three cities in Gilead.
23 Geshur and Aram took Havvoth Jair and Kenath with its sixty towns. All belonged to Makir's family.
24 After Hezron died in Caleb Ephrathah, his wife Abijah bore Ashhur, the progenitor of Tekoa. Jerahmeel was Hezron's first-born.

§ 16150 JERAHMEEL, HEIR OF HEZRON

25 Jerahmeel's sons were Ram (first-born), Bunah, Oren, Ozem, and Ahijah.
26 Jerahmeel also had a wife named Atarah, who bore Onam.
27 Ram fathered Maaz, Jamin, and Eker.
28 Onam fathered Shammai and Jada. Shammai fathered Nadab and Abishur.
29 Abishur's wife was Abihail; they had two sons, Ahban and Molid.
30 Nadab's sons were Seled and Appaim. Seled died childless.
31 Appaim fathered Ishi, who fathered Sheshan. Sheshan fathered Ahlai.
32 Jada's sons were Jether and Jonathan. Jether died childless.
33 Jonathan fathered Peleth and Zaza. These were Jerahmeel's descendants. Sheshan had no sons but daughters. His Egyptian servant Jarha married his daughter and fathered Attai.

34-35 Sheshan had no sons but daughters. His Egyptian servant Jarha married his daughter and fathered Attai.
36 Attai fathered Nathan, who fathered Zabad.
37 Zabad fathered Ephlal, who fathered Obed.
38 Obed fathered Jehu, who fathered Azariah.
39 Azariah fathered Helez, who fathered Eleasah.
40 Eleasah fathered Sismai, who fathered Shallum.

41 Shallum fathered Jekamiah, who fathered Elishama. Caleb's descendants included Mesha (first-born), who fathered Ziph, and Mareshah, who fathered Hebron.

§ 16160 THE PEOPLE OF CALEB

42 Caleb's descendants included Mesha (first-born), who fathered Ziph, and Mareshah, who fathered Hebron.
43 Hebron's sons were Korah, Tappuah, Rekem, and Shema.
44 Shema fathered Raham (progenitor of Jorkeam), while Rekem fathered Shammai.
45 Shammai's son was Maon, who fathered Beth Zur.
46 Caleb's concubine Ephah bore Haran, Moza, and Gazez. Haran fathered Gazez.
47 Jahdai's sons were Regem, Jotham, Geshan, Pelet, Ephah, and Shaaph.
48 Caleb's concubine Maacah bore Sheber and Tirhanah,
49 as well as Shaaph (founder of Madmannah) and Sheva (progenitor of Machbenah and Gibea). Caleb's daughter was Aksah. These were Caleb's descendants. Shobal (Hur's first-born) founded Kiriath Jearim,

50 These were Caleb's descendants. Shobal (Hur's first-born) founded Kiriath Jearim, 51 Salma founded Bethlehem, and Hareph founded Beth Gader.
52 Shobal's descendants included Haroeh and half of the Manahathites.

53 The families of Kiriath Jearim included the Ithrites Puthites, Shumathites, and Mishraites. From these came the Zorathites and Eshtaolites.
54-55 Salma's descendants included Bethlehem inhabitants of Netophath Atroth Beth Joab, part of the Manahathites and the Zorites. The intelligence analysts' family in Jabez included the Tirathites, Shimeathites, and Sucathites. These were the Kenites from Hammath who were progenitors of the Rekabites.

§ 16170 THE HEIRS OF DAVID

3 David's sons born in Hebron included his first-born, Amnon, mothered by Ahinoam of Jezreel, and his second, Daniel, whose mother was Abigail from Carmel.
2 The third was Absalom, born to Maacah, a daughter of Prime Ruler Talmai of Geshur, and the fourth was Adonijah, Haggith's male heir.
3 Abital gave birth to the fifth male heir, Shephatiah, while the sixth, Ithream, was born to his wife, Eglah.
4 David fathered six children in Hebron, where he ruled for seven and a half years, later reigning in Yerushalayim for thirty-three years.
5 Bathsheba, daughter of Ammiel, mothered four children for him there: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon, the builder of the fortress.
6 Ibhar, Elishua, and Eliphelet were also present.
7 Nogah, Nepheg, and Japhia,
8 a total of nine, including Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet.
9 These were all David's offspring and the children from his concubines. Their sister was Tamar.
The Prime Rulers of Judah:

§ 16180 RULERS OF JUDAH

10 Solomon's offspring was Rehoboam, with Abijah as his male heir, who had Asa, and Jehoshaphat as Asa's male heir.
11 Jehoram had Ahaziah, who was followed by Joash.
12 Joash's child was Amaziah; Azariah was the child of Amaziah, and Jotham was Azariah's child.
13 Ahaz had Hezekiah, who fathered Manasseh.
14 Amon begat Josiah.
15 Josiah's offspring consisted of Johanan, the eldest, Jehoiakim, Zedekiah, and Shallum.
16 Jehoiachin and Zedekiah were the descendants who succeeded Jehoiakim. The Monarchic family Following the Exile

§ 16190 THE PRIME LINEAGE FOLLOWING THE EXILE

17 Jehoiachin, taken as a prisoner, had a male heir named Shealtiel.
18 The names include Malkiram, Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jekamiah, Hoshama, and Nedabiah.
19 Pedaiah's children included Zerubbabel and Shimei. Zerubbabel fathered Meshullam and Hananiah, with Shelomith being their sibling.
20 Five additional ones existed: Hashubah, Ohel, Berekiah, Hasadiah, and Jushab-Hesed.

21 Hananiah’s family included Pelatiah and Jeshaiah, as well as the offspring of Rephaiah, Arnan, Obadiah, and Shekaniah.
22 The family of Shekaniah had Shemaiah and his offspring: Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah, and Shaphat—six in total.

23 Neariah fathered three sons: Elioenai, Hizkiah, and Azrikam.
24 Elioenai was the father to seven sons: Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah, and Anani.

§ 16200 OTHER PEOPLES OF JUDAH

4 Judah’s family included Perez, Hezron, Karmi, Hur, and Shobal.
2 Reaiah, a descendant of Shobal, fathered Jahath, who was the progenitor of Ahumai and Lahad, forming the Zorathites.
3 Etam’s descendants were Ishma, Jezreel, Idbash, and their sister Hazzelelponi.
4 Penuel fathered Gedor, and Ezer fathered Hushah. These were Hur’s descendants, Ephrathah’s first-born and the progenitor of Bethlehem.
5 Ashhur, the progenitor of Tekoa, had two wives, Helah and Naarah.
6 Naarah bore Ahuzzam, Hepher, Temeni, and Haahashtari; they were her family.
7 Helah bore Zereth, Izhar, and Ethnan.
8 Koz fathered Anub and Hazzobebah and the communities of Aharhel, a descendant of Harum.
9 Jabez was more respected than his siblings. His mother named him Jabez, saying his birth caused her much pain.
10 Jabez fervently appealed to the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel for empowerment from the Eternal Reality and an extension of his boundaries! He sought guidance and protection to live a life free from sorrow. The Preeminent Sovereign granted his request.
11 Kelub, Shuhah’s brother, fathered Mehir, who was the progenitor of Eshton.
12 Eshton fathered Beth-Rapha, Paseah, and Tehinnah, the founder of Ir-Nahash. These were the inhabitants of Rekah.

13 Kenaz’s descendants were Othniel and Seraiah; Othniel had Hathath and Meonothai.
14 Meonothai fathered Ophrah, and Seraiah fathered Joab, the progenitor of Ge Harashim, known for its skilled artisans.
15 Caleb, Jephunneh’s son, had Iru, Elah, and Naam. Kenaz was Elah’s son.
16 Jehallelel fathered Ziph, Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel.
17 Ezrah’s descendants included Jether, Mered, Epher, and Jalon. One of Mered’s wives bore Miriam, Shammai, and Ishbah, the progenitor of Eshtemoa.
18 His Judean wife bore Jered (Gedor’s progenitor), Heber (Soko’s progenitor), and Jekuthiel (Zanoah’s progenitor). These were Bithiah’s descendants, Pharaoh’s daughter, and Mered’s wife.
19 Hodiah’s wife (Naham’s sister) bore the progenitor of Keilah the Garmite and Eshtemoa the Maakathite.
20 Shimon’s descendants included Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-Hanan, and Tilon; Ishi’s family included
Zoheth and Ben-Zoheth.
21 Judah’s descendant Shelah fathered Er (Lekah’s progenitor), Laadah (Mareshah’s originator), and the families associated with linen work at Beth Ashbea.
22 Jokim and the inhabitants of Kozeba, Joash, and Saraph ruled over Moab. They returned to Lehem—these details come from ancient records.

23 These were the clay artisans in Netaim and Gederah, serving the Prime Ruler.

§ 16210 SIMEON

24 Simeon's family included Nemuel, Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul.
25 Shaul's heir was Shallum, followed by Mibsam and Mishma.
26 Mishma's descendants were Hammuel, Zakkur, and Shimei.

27 Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters, but his brothers had fewer children, so their community didn't grow as much as the Judeans.
28 They lived in Beersheba, Moladah, and Hazar Shual.
29 Also in Bilhah, Ezem, and Tolad.
30 They inhabited Bethuel, Hormah, and Ziklag.
31 They resided in Beth Markaboth, Hazar Susim, Beth Biri, and Shaaraim until David's reign.
32 Their five settlements included Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Token, and Ashan.
33 The surrounding communities extended to Baalath. They kept meticulous family records.
34 Meshobab, Jamlech, and Joshah, son of Amaziah,
35 Joel, Jehu, descendant of Joshibiah, Seraiah's son, and Asiel's grandson.
36 Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, Benaiah.
37 Ziza was Shiphi's son, Allon's grandson, Jedaiah's great-grandson, and a descendant of Shimri and Shemaiah.
38 These individuals were communal chiefs whose families expanded significantly.
39 They moved to Gedor's outskirts to find agricultural production centers for their herds.
40 They found fertile and peaceful lands previously inhabited by Ham's descendants.
41 The listed men attacked the Hamites and Meunites there during Hezekiah's rule. They settled in their place due to the agricultural production centers.
42 Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi, led five hundred Simeonites to the mountains of Seir.
43 They defeated the remaining Amalekites and have lived there since.

§ 16220 REUBEN

5 Reuben, Israel's eldest male heir, lost his birthright due to violating his father's marital bed. The birthright was transferred to Joseph's sons. So, Reuben wasn't recognized in the ancestry as per his birthright.
2 Despite Judah's excellence and leadership emerging from his family, the privileges of the eldest male heir went to Joseph.
3 Reuben's sons were Hanok, Pallu, Hezron, and Karmi.
4 Joel's family included his male heir, Shemaiah, grandson Gog, and great grandson Shimei.
5 Micah fathered Reaiah, who fathered Baal.
6 Prime Ruler Tiglath-Pileser of Assyria took Beerah, his successor, and made him a commander among Reuben's people.
7 Their ancestral records listed relatives Jeiel, the head, and Zechariah.
8 Bela, son of Azaz, a Shema descendant and Joel's family, settled from Aroer to Nebo and Baal Meon.
9 They inhabited the eastern territories up to the Euphrates River as their herds grew in Gilead.
10 During Saul's rule, they battled the Hagrites, achieving victory and taking over their habitation East of Gilead.

§ 16230 GAD

11 The descendants of Gad lived in the Bashan region, extending to Salekah.
12 Joel led in Bashan, with Shapham, Janai, and Shaphat following.
13 The seven family members were Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jakan, Zia, and Eber.

14 They descended from Abihail, tracing family through Huri, Jaroah, Gilead, Michael, Jeshishai, Jahdo, and Buz.
15 Ahi, son of Abdiel and grandson of Guni, was their people leader.
16 Gad's community resided in Gilead and Bashan, including surrounding settlements and Sharon's agricultural production centers.
17 These individuals were documented during the reigns of Jotham, Prime Ruler of Judah, and Jeroboam, Prime Ruler of Israel.
18 The communities of Gad, Reuben, and the half-tribe of Manasseh had 44,760 warriors skilled in ballistic shields, tactical blades, and projectile launchers.
19 They fought the Hagrites, Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab.
20 The Eternal Reality aided them in battle as they trusted Him.
21 They seized 50,000 camels, 250,000 sheep, 2,000 donkeys, and 100,000 prisoners.
22 Many were killed as the war was the Sovereign Captain's. They occupied the land until captivity.

§ 16240 THE HALF-COMMUNITY OF MANASSEH

23 The half-tribe of Manasseh was populous, occupying land from Bashan to Baal Hermon, also known as Senir or Mount Hermon.
24 Their leaders were Epher, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel— brave warriors and renowned patriarchs.
25 However, they betrayed the Eternal Reality, engaging in inner infidelity with the idolized deities of the native populace, whom their Preeminent Sovereign had eradicated.
26 Consequently, the Eternal Reality of Israel stirred Pul, Prime Ruler of Assyria (Tiglath-Pileser), to exile the Reubenites, Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh to Halah, Habor, Hara, and the river of Gozan, where they remain today.

§ 16250 LEVI

6 Levi's descendants included Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
2 Kohath had four sons: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.
3 Amram's descendants were Aaron, Moses, and Miriam. Aaron's sons were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
4 Eleazar fathered Phinehas, who fathered Abishua.
5 Abishua fathered Bukki, who fathered Uzzi.
6 Uzzi fathered Zerahiah, who fathered Meraioth.
7 Meraioth fathered Amariah, who fathered Ahitub.
8 Ahitub fathered Zadok, who fathered Ahimaaz.
9 Ahimaaz fathered Azariah, who fathered Johanan.
10 Johanan fathered Azariah, who served as the ensovereigned mediator in Solomon's fortress in Yerushalayim.

11 Azariah fathered Amariah, who fathered Ahitub.
12 Ahitub fathered Zadok, who fathered Shallum.
13 Shallum fathered Hilkiah, who fathered Azariah.
14 Azariah fathered Seraiah, who fathered Jozadak.
15 Jozadak was exiled when the Sovereign Captain led Judah and Yerushalayim into captivity under Nebuchadnezzar.

16 Levi's descendants included Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.
17 Gershon's sons were Libni and Shimei.

18 Kohath's sons were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.
19 Merari's sons were Mahli and Mushi. These are the Levitical families by their paternal lines.
20 Gershon's descendants were Libni, Jahath, and Zimmah.
21 Joah fathered Iddo; Iddo fathered Zerah; Zerah fathered Jeatherai.
22 Kohath's descendants included Amminadab; his grandson Korah; and his great grandson Assir.
23 The line continued with Elkanah, Ebiasaph, and Assir.
24 Tahath fathered Uriel; Uriel fathered Uzziah; Uzziah fathered Shaul.
25 Elkanah's sons were Amasai and Ahimoth.
26 Elkanah fathered Zophai; Zophai fathered Nahath.
27 Eliab fathered Jeroham; Jeroham fathered Elkanah; Elkanah fathered Samuel.
28 Samuel's sons were Joel (his first-born) and Abijah (his second).

29 Merari's descendants included Mahli, Mahli's son Libni, Libni's son Shimei, and Shimei's son Uzzah.
30 Shimea fathered Haggiah; Haggiah fathered Asaiah. These were the fortress musicians.

§ 16260 FORTRESS MUSICIANS

31 David appointed these individuals to oversee musical service in the Sovereign Captain's fortress after the Strongbox was settled there.
32 They served through song before the Communal Tent until Solomon completed the Sovereign Captain's fortress in Yerushalayim, following specified directives.

33 The individuals who served with their descendants were as follows: From the Kohathites' family: Heman the melodist was Joel's son; Samuel's son.
34 Samuel was Elkanah's son; Jeroham's son; Eliel's son; Toah's son.
35 Zuph's son was Elkanah; Mahath's son was Amasai.
36 Elkanah's line continued from Joel to Azariah to Zephaniah.
37 Zephaniah was Tahath's son; Assir's son; Ebiasaph's son; Korah's descendant.
38 Izhar's line descended from Kohath; Levi traced back to Israel.

39 Asaph stood on Heman's right side as Berekiah's son, Shimea's son.

40 Michael's descendant; Baaseiah's son; Malkijah's descendant.

41 Ethni's offspring, Zerah, descended from Adaiah.
42 Ethan's family included Zimmah and Shimei.
43 Jahath, Gershon, and Levi were direct family.
44 From the Merarites, Ethan, Kishi's heir, on his left side, and Abdi, Malluk's heir.
45 Hashabiah, Amaziah, and Hilkiah were his ancestors.

[46-47] Hilkiah was Amzi's offspring, Bani's child, and Shemer's descendant.
[48] A descendant of Levi through Merari and Mahli. Their Levite counterparts handled all remaining tasks in the Tent, the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign.
[49] Aaron's family provided tributes on the pedestal table of scorched absolving payments and the pedestal table of fragrance in the Most Exalted Space. They sought forgiveness for Israel, following Moses' orders, the Preeminent Sovereign's servant.

[50] Aaron's progeny included Eleazar, Phinehas, and Abishua.
[51] Uzzi succeeded Bukki, and Zerahiah followed Uzzi.
[52-53] Meraioth fathered Amariah, who fathered Ahitub.
[54] Zadok, Ahitub's progeny, and his offspring Ahimaaz. Aaron's family descended from the Kohathite family and received their initial distribution.
[55] Hebron in Judah and its agricultural production centers were allotted to them.
[56] Caleb, Jephunneh's heir, received the surrounding farmland and settlements.
[57] Aaron's offspring received Hebron, a refuge city, along with Libnah, Jattir, and Eshtemoa.
[58] Hilen and Debir.
[59] Ashan, Juttah, and Beth Shemesh with their grasslands.
[60] The community of Benjamin allocated Gibeon, Geba, Alemeth, and Anathoth with their agricultural production centers. The Kohathite groups received thirteen towns.
[61-62] The remaining Kohathites received ten cities from half of Manasseh's community. Gershon's family received thirteen towns from Naphtali, Asher, Issachar, and Bashan in Manasseh.
[63] Merari's family received twelve cities by lot from Reuben, Gad, and Zebulun.
[64] The children of Israel assigned agricultural production centers to the Levites in these cities.
[65] Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin had the mentioned cities apportioned to them.
[66] Certain Kohathite peoples received towns from Ephraim's community.
[67] They received Shechem, a haven town, and Gezer, in Ephraim's mountains, [68] Jokmeam and Beth Horon.

[69-70] Aijalon and Gath Rimmon with their pastures. The remaining Kohathites from half of Manasseh received Aner and Bileam with their grazing fields from the Israelites.
[71] From half of Manasseh's people, Golan in Bashan and Ashtaroth were given to Gershon's descendants with their agricultural production centers.
[72] Kedesh and Daberath from Issachar's tribe.
[73] Ramoth and Anem with their grazing areas;
[74] Mashal and Abdon from Asher's community.
[75] Hukok, Rehob with their grasslands.
[76] Naphtali granted Kedesh in Galilee, Hammon, and Kiriathaim with their agricultural production centers. The remaining Merarites received territories from Zebulun's community, including Tabor, Rimmono, Kartah, and Jokneam with their pastures.
[77] The remaining Merarites received territories from Zebulun's community, including Tabor, Rimmono, Kartah, and Jokneam with their pastures.
[78] Reuben's community East of Jericho beyond the Jordan received Bezer in the wilderness along with Jahzah.
[79] Kedemoth, Mephaath with their grazing territories.
[80] Gad allocated them Ramoth in Gilead and Mahanaim.
[81] Heshbon with its pasture lands and Jazer with its grazing fields.

§ 16270 ISSACHAR

7 Issachar fathered four sons: Shimron, Jashub, Puah, and Tola. Tola's descendants—Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Ibsam, and Samuel—led their people. During Prime Ruler David's reign, Tola's family, recorded as warriors, numbered 22,600.
3 Uzzi's son was Izrahiah. Izrahiah's sons—Michael, Obadiah, Joel, and Ishiah— were all leaders.

4 Their people history shows they had thirty-six thousand troops ready for war due to their many wives and children.
5 Issachar's peoples collectively reported 87,000 brave warriors.

§ 16280 BENJAMIN

6 Benjamin fathered three sons: Bela, Beker, and Jediael.
7 Bela's descendants were Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth, and Iri, all people leaders, totaling 22,034 warriors.
8-9 Beker's descendants included Zemirah, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jeremoth, Abijah, Anathoth, and Alemeth, with 20,200 warriors.
10 Jediael's son was Bilhan, whose children were Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Kenaanah, Zethan, Tarshish, and Ahishahar.
11 Jediael's family had 17,200 warriors ready for battle.
12 The family also included Shuppites and Huppites; Aher's line had the Hushites.

§ 16290 NAPHTALI

13 Naphtali's descendants were Jahziel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem, all tracing their family to Bilhah.

§ 16300 MANASSEH

14 Manasseh's family included Asriel, born to his Aramean mistress, who also mothered Makir, the progenitor of Gilead.
15 Makir married a woman from the Huppites and Shuppites, and his sibling was Maakah.
Zelophehad, another descendant, had only daughters.
16 Maakah bore Peresh, and his brother Sheresh had two sons, Ulam and Rakem.

17 Ulam's son was Bedan. These were the descendants of Gilead, Makir's son and Manasseh's heir.
18 Hammoleketh, their sister, was the mother of Ishhod, Abiezer, and Mahlah.
19 Shemida fathered Ahian, Shechem, Likhi, and Aniam.

§ 16310 EPHRAIM

20 Ephraim's family included Shuthelah, his son Bered, Tahath, Eleadah, and another Tahath.
21 The men of Gath slaughtered Ezer and Elead when they tried to take their cattle.
22 Ephraim mourned deeply, and his relatives came to comfort him.
23 He had another son with his wife, naming him Beriah due to their misfortune.
24 His daughter Sheerah built the upper and lower Beth Horon and Uzzen Sheerah.
25-27 His descendants included Rephah, Resheph, Telah, Tahan, Ladan, Ammihud, Elishama, and Joshua, the son of Nun.
28 Their territories included Bethel and its towns, Naaran to the East, Gezer to the West, and Shechem and Ayyah with their towns.
29 Manasseh's borders contained Beth Shan, Taanach, Megiddo, Dor, and their villages. These were the homes of Joseph's descendants.

§ 16320 ASHER

30 Asher fathered four sons, Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, and Beriah, and one daughter, Serah.
31 Beriah's children were Heber and Malkiel, the latter being the ancestor of Birzaith.

32 Heber's descendants included Japhlet, Shomer, Hotham, and their sister Shua.
33 Japhlet's children were Pasak, Bimhal, and Ashvath.
34 Shomer's offspring were Ahi, Rohgah, Hubbah, and Aram.
35 Helem's brother fathered Zophah, Imna, Shelesh, and Amal.
36 Zophah's descendants were Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri, and Imrah.
37 Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, Ithran, and Beera are also mentioned.
38 Jeter's children were Jephunneh, Pispah, and Ara.
39 Ulla fathered Arah, Hanniel, and Rizia.
40 All these were Asher's descendants—leaders of their ancestral houses, distinguished men, brave warriors, and exceptional chiefs. Their genealogical records show 26,000 men ready for military service.

§ 16330 THE GENEALOGY OF SAUL THE BENJAMITE

8 "Benjamin's family began with Bela, followed by Ashbel, Aharah,
2 Nohah, and Rapha.
3-4 Bela's descendants included Addar, Gera, Abihud, Abishua, Naaman, Ahoah, Gera, Shephuphan, and Huram.
5-7 Ehud's family leaders in Geba were relocated to Manahath by Naaman, Ahijah, and Gera, who fathered Uzza and Ahihud.
8-9 Shaharaim had children in Moab with Hodesh after separating from Hushim and Baara.
10 His children were Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, Malkam, Jeuz, Sakia, and Mirmah.

11 Abitub and Elpaal were born to Hushim.

12-24 Elpaal's descendants included Eber, Misham, Shemed (who founded Ono and Lod), Beriah, Shema (leaders in Aijalon who expelled Gath's inhabitants), Ahio, Shashak, Jeremoth, Zevadyah, Arod, Heder, Michael, Ishpah, Joha, Zebadiah, Heber, Meshullam, Hizki, Ishmerai, Izliah, Jobab, Jakim, Zichri, Zabdi, Elienai, Zilthai, Eliel, Shimei (father of Adaiah, Beraiah, Shimrath), Ishpan, Heber, Eliel, Abdon, Zichri, Hanan, Hananiyah, Eilam, Antotyah.
25 Shashak's sons were Iphdeiah and Penuel.
26-27 Jeroham's descendants were Jaareshiah, Elijah, and Zikri.

28 These leaders of ancestral households resided in Yerushalayim.
29 Jeiel of Gibeon lived there with his wife Maakah.
30-31 His eldest son was Abdon, followed by Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, Zecher, Ahio, and Gedor.
32 Mikloth lived near his relatives in Yerushalayim.

33 Ner fathered Kish; Kish fathered Saul; Saul fathered Jonathan, Malki-Shua, Abinadab, and Esh-Baal.
34 Jonathan's son Merib-Baal fathered Micah.
35 Micah's children were Pithon, Melek, Tarea, and Ahaz.
36-37 Ahaz fathered Jehoaddah; Jehoaddah fathered Alemeth, Azmaveth, Zimri; Zimri fathered Moza; Moza fathered Binea; Binea fathered Raphah; Raphah fathered Eleasah; Eleasah fathered Azel.

38 Azel had six sons: Azrikam, Bokeru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan.

39-40 Eshek's brother had three sons: Ulam (a skilled sniper with many descendants), Jeush, and Eliphelet.

9 All of Israel was recorded in the chronicles of the Prime Rulers of Israel and Judah. Their disloyalty led to their captivity in Babylon."

§ 16340 THE PEOPLE IN YERUSHALAYIM

2 The first settlers in their lands and cities included Israelites, ensovereigned mediators, Levites, and fortress workers.
3 Yerushalayim housed people from Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh.
4 Uthai, son of Ammihud, descended from Omri, Imri, and Bani, from Perez's family, Juda's heir.
5 Asaiah led the Shelanites with his descendants.
6 Jeuel was a descendant of Zerah. Judah's population was 690.
7 From Benjamin's community were Sallu, son of Meshullam, Hodaviah's heir, and Hassenuah's descendant.
8 Ibneiah was Jeroham's son; Elah was Uzzi's child; Uzzi was Mikri's son; Meshullam was Shephatiah's descendant; Shephatiah was Reuel's son; Reuel was Ibnijah's child.
9 According to records, 956 individuals belonged to Benjamin's community, all leaders in their peoples.
10 Ensovereigned mediators included Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, and Jakin, 11 Azariah, a descendant of Hilkiah, Meshullam, Zadok, Meraioth, and Ahitub, served as the chief officer of the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress, 12 Adaiah, a descendant of Jeroham, Pashhur, and Malkijah, along with Maasai from Adiel's family, Jahzerah, Meshullam, Meshillemith, and Immer.

13 The ensovereigned lifestyle community of ensovereigned mediators included 1,760 competent men fulfilling sovereign activations in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.
14 From Levi's community were Shemaiah, a descendant of Hasshub, Azrikam, and Hashabiah from the Merarite family.
15 Present were Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, Mattaniah, Mika's son, Zikri's grandson, and Asaph's descendant.
16 Obadiah, Shemaiah's son, descended from Galal and Jeduthun; Berekiah was Asa's son and Elkanah's descendant, residing in Netophathite hamlets.
17 Security leaders included Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and their fellow Levites, with Shallum as their principal leader.
18 They were stationed at the Prime Ruler's Gate on the East side. These individuals served as gatekeepers for the Levite encampment.
19 Shallum, Kore's son, Ebiasaph's child, and Korah's grandson, along with his relatives from the Korahite people, safeguarded the fortress entrances like their forebears, who protected the Sovereign Captain's fortress entryways.
20 In earlier times, Phinehas, Eleazar's son, held authority over gatekeepers with the Sovereign Captain present with him.
21-22 Meshelemiah's son Zechariah guarded the Communal Tent's entrance. In total, 212 individuals were selected as gatekeepers at the entrances. Their ancestry was documented in their hometowns. David and Samuel appointed these men based on reliability.
23 They and their descendants oversaw the Sovereign Captain's fortress entrances known as the Tent of the ensovereigned lifestyle community.
24 Guardians were stationed on all sides: East, West, North, and South.
25 Levite counterparts in hamlets joined them weekly.
26 The four primary gatekeepers managed chambers and wealth in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.
27 They guarded the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress at night and unlocked it every dawn.

28 Some managed items used during Sovereign activations; these items were tallied when brought in and removed.
29 Some oversaw Exalted Space furniture and objects, including flour, wine, olive oil, incense, and seasonings.
30-31 Ensovereigned mediators blended spices. Mattithiah, Shallum's eldest son from the Korahite family, a Levite, made bread to make absolving payments.
32 Kohathites arranged the bread on the table every Day of Rest.
33 Music leaders from Levite lineages resided in fortress chambers free from other tasks as their work was their sole responsibility day and night.
34 Leaders of Levite peoples, distinguished by their family histories, lived in Yerushalayim.

§ 16350 THE GENEALOGY OF SAUL

35 Jeiel, the progenitor of Gibeon, lived in Gibeon with his wife Maakah.
36 His eldest son was Abdon, followed by Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, and Nadab.
37 Mikloth, Zechariah, Ahio, and Gedor.
38 Mikloth fathered Shimeam. They lived with their relatives in Yerushalayim.
39 Ner fathered Kish; Kish fathered Saul, who had four sons: Jonathan, MalkiShua, Abinadab, and Esh-Baal.
40 Jonathan's son, Merib-Baal, fathered Micah.
41 Micah fathered Pithon, Melek, Tahrea, and Ahaz.

42 Ahaz fathered Jadah, who fathered Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri. Zimri fathered Moza.
43 Moza fathered Binea; Rephaiah was Binea's son, Eleasah was Rephaiah's son, and Azel was Eleasah's son.

44 Azel had six sons: Azrikam, Bokeru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan. These were Azel's descendants.

§ 16360 SAUL TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

10 The Philistine Warriors attacked Israel, causing the Israelites to flee and suffer heavy losses on Mount Gilboa.
2 The Philistine Warriors pursued Saul and his sons, killing Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malki-Shua.
3 Saul was caught in fierce combat and was critically wounded by snipers.
4 He implored his weapon bearer to kill him to avoid torture by the enemy, but his aide was too afraid. Saul then used his tactical blade to end his own life.
5 Seeing Saul's death, his armor-bearer also took his life with his tactical blade.
6 So, Saul, his three sons, and his entire household perished.
7 Witnessing the army's retreat and Saul's death, the Israelites in the valley abandoned their homes, allowing the Philistine Warriors to occupy them.
8 The next day, the Philistines found Saul and his sons' bodies on Mount Gilboa.
9 They stripped Saul, took his head and ballistic body armor, and sent messengers throughout Philistine Warrior territory to announce the news to their counterfeit idolized deities and people.
10 They placed his battle gear in their idolized deity's shrine and displayed his skull at Dagon's temple.
11 The residents of Jabesh Gilead heard of the Philistines' actions against Saul.
12 All the brave warriors retrieved the bodies of Saul and his sons, brought them to Jabesh, buried their bones under a large tree, and observed a seven-day fast.
13 Saul's death resulted from his betrayal of the Sovereign Captain; he disobeyed the Sovereign Captain's instructions and sought advice from someone who communicates with the dead.

14 He did not seek counsel from the Sovereign Captain, so the Sovereign Captain ended his life and transferred rulership to David, Jesse's offspring.

§ 16370 DAVID BECOMES PRIME RULER OVER ISRAEL

11 Israel gathered before David at Hebron, declaring, "We are your relative, your very bone and flesh."
2 Even during Saul's reign, you led Israel's military expeditions. the Sovereign Captain disclosed that you would be the Prime Ruler of His people, Israel.
3 When all the senior leaders of Israel met David in Hebron, a solemn agreement was made in the Sovereign Captain's presence. They then purified David as the Prime Ruler of Israel, fulfilling the Eternal Reality's vision through Samuel.

§ 16380 DAVID CONQUERS YERUSHALAYIM

4 With all the Israelites, David advanced towards Yerushalayim, also known as Jebus, where the Jebusites resided.
5 Despite their claim that David would not breach their domain, he seized the stronghold of the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign, known as the City of David.
6 David declared that the first to lead the assault on the Jebusites would become commander-in-chief. Joab, son of Zeruiah, was the first to ascend, earning the leadership role.
7 David established his dwellings within the stronghold, naming it the City of David.
8 The city was built around it, from the supporting terraces to the surrounding walls, while Joab renewed the rest of the town.
9 Over time, David's strength and influence increased with the support of the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces.

§ 16390 DAVID'S MIGHTY WARRIORS

10 With the support of all of Israel, David's valiant men solidified his reign, fulfilling the Sovereign Captain's eternal wisdom.
11 Among them was Jashobeam of the Hacmonites, the principal officer, who used his tactical bayonet to defeat 300 men in one battle.
12 Eleazar, one of the three mighty warriors, was the next. He was the son of Dodai the Ahohite.
13-14 He stood with David at Pas Dammim against the Philistine Warriors. In a barley field, they held their ground and defeated the Philistine Warriors, with the Sovereign Captain granting a great victory.
15 Three of the top thirty leaders went to David at the cave of Adullam while the Philistine Warriors camped in the Rephaim Valley.
16 David was in a stronghold, and the Philistine Warriors were in Bethlehem.
17 David longed for water from Bethlehem's well by the gate.
18 The trio broke through the Philistine Warrior lines, fetched the water, and brought it to David. He refused to drink it and offered it to the Sovereign Captain, saying, "I cannot drink this! It is the blood of these men who risked their lives."
19 These were the deeds of the three warriors.
20 Abishai, Joab's brother, led the trio and used his tactical bayonet to kill 300 men, earning fame like the three.
21 He was doubly honored but not part of the three.
22 Benaiah, son of Jehoiada from Kabzeel, performed great deeds. He killed Moab's two mightiest warriors and a lion in a pit on a snowy day.
23 He also killed a giant Egyptian armed with a tactical bayonet by using a club to disarm and kill him.
24 Benaiah was as famous as the three mighty warriors.

25 Though more honored than the Thirty, he did not join the Three. David made him head of his bodyguard.
26 The list of brave men included Asahel, Joab's brother; Elhanan, son of Dodo from Bethlehem;
27 Shammoth from Harod; Helez from Pelon;
28 Ira, son of Ikkesh from Tekoa; Abiezer from Anathoth;
29 Sibbecai from Hushah; Ilai from Ahoh;

30 Maharai from Netophah; Heled, son of Baanah from Netophah;
31 Benaiah from Pirathon; Ithai, the son of Ribai of Gibeah in Benjamin;
32 Hurai from Gaash; Abiel the Arbathite;
33 Azmaveth from Baharum; Eliahba from Shaalbon;
34 Jonathan, the heir of Shagee the Hararite; Hashem the Gizonite;
35 Ahiam, son of Sakar from Harar; Eliphal, son of Ur;
36 Hepher from Mekerah; Ahijah from Pelon;
37 Hezro from Carmel; Naarai, son of Ezbai;
38 Joel, Nathan's brother; Mibhar, son of Hagri;
39 Zelek the Ammonite; Naharai from Beroth, Joab's armor-bearer;
40 Ira and Gareb the Ithrites;
41 Uriah the Hittite; Zabad, son of Ahlai;
42 Adina, son of Shiza the Reubenite leader with thirty men;
43 Hanan, son of Maakah; Jehoshaphat the Mithnite;
44 Uzzia from Ashterath; Shama and Jeiel, sons of Hotham from Aroer;

45 Jediael, son of Shimri, and his brother Joha the Tizite;
46 Eliel from Mahavah; Jeribai and Joshaviah, sons of Elnaam; Ithmah from Moab; 47 Eliel, Obed, and Jaasiel from Mezoba.

§ 16400 WARRIORS JOIN DAVID

12 These warriors joined David in Ziklag during his exile from Saul, the male heir of Kish. They were fearless and skilled snipers, proficient with both hands in slinging stones and shooting projectiles. They were relatives of Saul from Benjamin's community.
3 Ahiezer led them, with Joash, heir of Shemaah from Gibeah, Jeziel, Pelet, offspring of Azmaveth, Berakah, and Jehu from Anathoth.
4 Ishmaiah of Gibeon, a distinguished warrior among the thirty and their commander, along with Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan, and Jozabad from Gederah.
5 Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah, and Shephatiah from Haruph.
6 Elkanah, Ishiah, Azarel, Joezer, and Jashobeam, who were Korahites;
7 Joelah and Zebadiah, offspring of Jeroham from Gedor.

8 Some warriors from Gad joined David in his desert fortress. These mighty men were prepared for warfare and skilled with ballistic shields and tactical bayonets. Their countenances resembled lions and moved swiftly like gazelles over hilly terrains.
9 Ezer held the principal position, Obadiah was the deputy, and Eliab was third in rank.
10 Mishmannah was fourth, Jeremiah fifth.
11 Attai was sixth, Eliel seventh.
12 Johanan was eighth, Elzabad ninth.

13 Jeremiah was tenth, Makbannai eleventh.
14 These warriors from Gad were military leaders; even the weakest could compete with a hundred men, while the strongest could match a thousand.
15 They crossed the Jordan during the initial month when its banks were brimming, compelling all valley inhabitants to flee East and West.

16 Individuals from Benjamin and Judah also approached David at his fortress.

17 David confronted them, stating he would accept their assistance if they came peacefully to aid him. However, if they intended to deceive him and deliver him to his foes, the Preeminent Sovereign of our forefathers would witness it and pass judgment despite his innocence of any violent deeds.
18 The Eternal Spark clothed Amasai, leader of the Thirty, who declared: “We belong to you, David! We stand by you, offspring of Jesse! I wish you and those who assist your prosperity since your Preeminent Sovereign is your helper.” So, David welcomed them and installed them as heads of his raiding parties.

19 Certain individuals from Manasseh switched loyalties to David during his campaign with the Philistine Warriors against Saul. However, David and his men didn’t support the Philistine Warriors because their leaders dismissed him, fearing he might return to Saul and endanger their lives.
20 As David journeyed to Ziklag, these men from Manasseh deserted and sided with him: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, and Zillethai, all notable commanders in Manasseh.
21 They were brave fighters and leaders in his military force, assisting David against marauding groups.
22 Men continually arrived to assist David’s army, forming an immense military force like the Preeminent Sovereign’s army.

§ 16410 OTHERS JOIN DAVID AT HEBRON

23 These are the counts of the warriors prepared for conflict who rallied to David in Hebron to transfer the reign of Saul over to him by what the Sovereign Captain had proclaimed.
24 Hailing from Judah, equipped with ballistic shields and tactical bayonets, were 6,800 warriors ready for combat.
25 From the community of Simeon, 7,100 valorous soldiers prepared for warfare.
26 The count from Levi was 4,600,
27 Jehoiada, the principal leader of the Aaronites, brought with him 3,700 individuals.
28 Zadok, a brave young man, led 22 commanders from his ancestral house.
29 Out of Benjamin, Saul’s family, 3,000, the majority of whom had sustained their allegiance to the household of Saul until then.
30 From the community of Ephraim, brave soldiers who brought fame to their ancestral families numbered 20,800.
31 From a fraction of the community of Manasseh, 18,000 individuals were identified and chosen to support David’s ascension to the majestic chair/authority.
32 Issachar contributed 200 leaders who were well-versed in understanding the epoch and knowledgeable about Israel’s needs with all their relatives under their leadership.
33 From Zebulun, there were 50,000 seasoned troops, accomplished in warfare, furnished with all sorts of warfare instruments, entirely devoted to aiding David.
34 The Naphtali community provided 37,000 troops with ballistic shields, tactical bayonets, and 1,000 commanders.
35 Dan contributed 28,600 battle-prepared warriors.
36 The community of Asher supplied 40,000 seasoned warriors ready for combat.
37 From the region East of Jordan, hailing from the communities of Reuben, Gad, and half of Manasseh’s community, equipped with various arms for warfare, there were 120,000 men.

38 Each man was a combat-ready warrior who willingly served in the military ranks. They arrived at Hebron, completely resolute in their decision to ensovereign David as the Prime Ruler of all Israel. The remainder of the Israelites agreed to appoint David as Prime Ruler.

39 The individuals stayed in David's company for many days, feasting and imbibing because their relative had assembled sustenance for them.
40 Their neighbors, from as distant locations as Issachar, Zebulun, and Naphtali communities, arrived with food on beasts of burden such as donkeys, camels, mules, and oxen. They transported abundant food supplies, including flour, fig pastries, raisin pastries, wine, olive oil, cows, and sheep. The atmosphere in Israel was one of delight.

§ 16420 BRINGING BACK THE STRONGBOX

13 David consulted his leaders, responsible for thousands and hundreds of troops.
2 He then addressed the assembly of Israel, "If it pleases you and aligns with the will of the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, let's send messages to all our dispersed brothers and sisters throughout Israel and to the ensovereigned mediators and Levites in their towns and pastures, to unite with us.
3 It is time to restore the Strongbox of our Preeminent Sovereign, neglected during Saul's reign."
4 The entire community agreed, seeing it as the right action.
5 David gathered all Israel, from Egypt's Shihor River to Lebo Hamath, to retrieve the Strongbox of the Preeminent Sovereign from Kiriath Jearim.
6 Accompanied by all Israel, David journeyed to Baalah in Judah, also called Kiriath Jearim, to retrieve the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain, which sat above the Celestial Envoy and bore His Name.
7 Uzzah and Ahio guided the Strongbox on a new cart from Abinadab's house.

8 David and all Israel rejoiced fervently before the Preeminent Sovereign with songs, harps, lyres, tambourines, cymbals, and trumpets.
9 At Kidon's threshing floor, Uzzah reached out to steady the Strongbox as the oxen stumbled.
10 The Preeminent Sovereign's fury ignited against Uzzah, striking him down for touching the Strongbox, leading to his death in the presence of the Eternal Reality.
11 David was infuriated as the Sovereign Captain's anger erupted against Uzzah; the place is still called Perez Uzzah.
12 David feared the Preeminent Sovereign that day, questioning if he could ever bring the Strongbox to himself.
13 He did not move the Strongbox to his city but diverted it to Obed-Edom's house, a Gittite.
14 For 3 months, the Strongbox stayed in Obed-Edom's home, bringing empowerment from the Eternal Reality to his family and possessions.

§ 16430 DAVID'S HOUSE AND FAMILY

14 Hiram, the Prime Ruler of Tyre, sent envoys to David with cedar logs, skilled stone workers, and wood artisans to build a residence for him.
2 David recognized that the Sovereign Captain had affirmed his sovereignty over Israel and that his reign was greatly honored for the well-being of his people.
3 While in Yerushalayim, David married additional women and fathered many more children, both boys and girls.
4 The children born to him there were Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon, the builder of the fortress,
5 Their names were Ibhar, Elishua, and Elpelet,

6 Nogah, Nepheg, and Japhia.
7 Eliphalet, Beeliada, and Elishama.

§ 16440 DAVID DEFEATS THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS

8 The Philistine Warriors mobilized to find him upon David's appointment as Prime Ruler of Israel. David, aware of their plans, prepared for confrontation.
9 The Philistine Warriors launched a surprise attack in the Rephaim Valley.
10 David sought guidance from the Preeminent Sovereign: "Should I confront the Philistine Warriors? Will you grant them to my power?" The Preeminent Sovereign replied, "Proceed; I will surrender them to your control."
11 David and his troops ascended to Baal Perazim and achieved victory. He proclaimed, "The Preeminent Sovereign used me to burst through my adversaries." So, the place was named Baal Perazim.
12 The Philistine Warriors abandoned their celestial images, which David commanded to be scorched.
13 The Philistine Warriors attacked the valley again.
14 David sought guidance from the Preeminent Sovereign, who instructed him to flank them and attack from near the poplar trees.
15 When you hear the noise of troops' footsteps from the poplar trees, prepare for conflict; this is the sign of the Preeminent Prime Rulers leading the charge against the Philistine Warriors.
16 David obeyed and defeated the Philistine Warriors from Gibeon to Gezer.
17 David's renown spread across all territories, and the Sovereign Captain instilled fear in him in every nation.

§ 16450 THE STRONGBOX BROUGHT TO YERUSHALAYIM

15 After establishing his residences, David prepared a place for the Preeminent Sovereign's Strongbox and set up a shelter.

2 He declared that only the Levites could transport the Strongbox, as the Sovereign Captain had chosen them for this task and to serve Him indefinitely.
3 David gathered the Israel community in Yerushalayim to relocate the Sovereign Captain's Strongbox to its new site.
4 He assembled the descendants of Aaron and the Levites.
5 Uriel, chief of the Kohath line, brought 120 family members.
6 Asaiah led 220 relatives from Merari's family.
7 Joel, chief of Gershon's family, brought 130 relatives.
8 Shemaiah, chief of Elizaphan's family, brought 200 relatives.
9 Eliel, head of Hebron's family, brought 80 relatives.
10 Amminadab, chief of Uzziel's descendants, brought 112 relatives.

11 David called on the ensovereigned mediators Zadok and Abiathar and Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel, and Amminadab from the Levites.
12 He instructed them to purify themselves and carry the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel, to its designated location.
13 “Our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, was angered because the Levites did not accompany us initially. We failed to consult Him on the correct method.”
14 The ensovereigned mediators and Levites purified themselves to move the Strongbox.

15 The Levites carried the Strongbox on their shoulders with poles, following the directive Moses received from the Sovereign Captain.
16 David instructed the Levites’ chiefs to invite musicians among their fellows to play lyres, harps, and cymbals joyfully.

17 The Levites chose Joel’s offspring, Heman, Berekiah’s progeny Asaph, and Ethan from Kushaiah’s child among the Merarites.
18 Accompanying them were Benaiah, Eliab, Eliphelehu, Jaaziel, Jehiel, Jeiel, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, Shemiramoth, and Unni as gatekeepers.

19 Heman, Asaph, and Ethan played bronze cymbals.
20 Aziel, Benaiah, Eliab, Jehiel, Maaseiah, Shemiramoth, Unni, and Zechariah performed on harps in Alamoth’s high-pitched style.
21 Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, Jeiel, and Azaziah played harps in Sheminith’s arrangement.
22 Kenaniah led the musical performance due to his expertise.
23 Berekiah and Elkanah were gatekeepers for the Strongbox.

24 The ensovereigned mediators Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer sounded trumpets before the Preeminent Sovereign’s Ark. At the same time, Obed-Edom and Jehiah acted as guards.
25 David and Israel’s elders and military leaders joyfully transported the Strongbox from Obed-Edom’s residence.

26 As the Levites received help from the Preeminent Sovereign in bearing the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain’s solemn agreement, they offered seven bulls and seven rams as an absolving payment.
27 David wore a finely woven linen garment, similar to those worn by the Levites who carried the Strongbox and worn by the musicians under Kenaniah’s leadership. David also wore a linen sleeveless garment.

28 The entire nation of Israel carried the Strongbox amidst exuberant hollering, ram’s horns booming, trumpets blasting, cymbals clashing, and lyres and harps strumming melodiously.
29 When the Strongbox of the Eternal Reality’s solemn agreement entered the City of David, Michal, Saul’s daughter, observed from her window. Seeing Prime Ruler David’s jubilant dance and celebration filled her with disdain.

§ 16460 THE ATTENDANCE BEFORE THE STRONGBOX

16 David brought the Preeminent Sovereign’s Strongbox into his canopy, offering scorched and peace absolving payments.
2 After completing these offerings, David invoked the Sovereign Captain’s Name to empower the people.
3 He distributed bread, dates, and raisin cakes to every Israeli.
4 He appointed Levites to serve before the Strongbox, celebrating, giving thanks, and exalting the Sovereign Captain.
5 Asaph led, with Benaiah, Eliab, Jaaziel, Jehiel, Jeiel, Mattithiah, Obed-Edom, Shemiramoth, and Zechariah following, each performing specific roles. They played lyres and harps while Asaph played cymbals.
6 Benaiah and Jahaziel, as ensovereigned mediators, sounded trumpets before the Strongbox.
7 On that day, David assigned Asaph and his companions to express gratitude to the Sovereign Captain:
8 “Express gratitude to the Sovereign Captain, declare His Name, and make His deeds known.
9 Sing to Him, praise His Name, and speak of His marvelous deeds.
10 Exult in His Celestial Name; let those pursuing the Sovereign Captain be joyful.
11 Always rely on the Sovereign Captain’s power and seek His presence.
12 Remember His fantastic deeds, marvelous acts, and decisions.

13 You offspring of Israel are the select ones from Jacob’s family.
14 He is our sovereign Captain; His rulings span the globe.
15 He recalls His everlasting agreement, the pledge meant for countless generations, 16 the agreement with Abraham and the promise confirmed to Isaac.
17 He ratified it as binding for Jacob and a perpetual treaty for Israel.
18 The land of Canaan is your heritage.
19 There were few outsiders residing there at that time.
20 The chosen people journeyed across nations, moving from one realm to another.
21 He didn’t permit exploitation and admonished rulers for their benefit.
22 My chosen people are not to be harmed. Ensure no harm comes to me.
23 Day after day, let all the Earth sing to the Sovereign Captain and announce his deliverance.
24 Enlighten the nations to his splendor and describe his wondrous acts.
25 The Sovereign Captain is magnificent and deserving of our greatest adoration; he is regarded with more awe than idolized deities.
26 Every deity of various nations is merely an idolized deity. However, the Sovereign Captain is the architect of the celestial expanses.
27 He emanates majestic splendor; power and rejoicing are in His exalted fortress.
28 All you peoples of nations, a tribute to the Sovereign Captain acclaim and might.
29 Credit the Sovereign Captain with honor; present your gifts and approach His presence. Adore the Sovereign Captain in His exalted magnificence.

30 Let the whole Earth quiver in his presence! The world stands unwavering; it cannot be shaken.
31 May the celestial realms triumph and the Earth rejoice; let it be proclaimed among nations, ‘the Sovereign Captain presides!’
32 May the ocean and every creature in it roar, and the countryside and every entity in it rejoice.

33 The woodland trees shall shout jubilantly in the presence of the Sovereign Captain as he arrives to establish justice on the globe.
34 Praise the Sovereign Captain for his kindness; his loyal love lasts forever."

35 Call out, "Deliver us, our Rescuer, Preeminent Sovereign; assemble us and rescue us from foreign nations so we can express gratitude towards your set-apart Name and take pride in singing your praises."

36 May the Sovereign Captain of Israel be adored forever and always. everyone echoed in agreement and glorified the Sovereign Captain.

37 David positioned Asaph and his colleagues before the Strongbox to perform daily duties.
38 Obed-Edom and his sixty-eight colleagues assisted in their duties; Obed-Edom was appointed gatekeeper.
39-40 David stationed Zadok, the ensovereigned mediator, and his colleagues at the Sovereign Captain's Tent in Gibeon to regularly offer scorched absolving payments at dawn and dusk as decreed in the Directives of the Sovereign Captain given to Israel.

41 Heman, Jeduthun, and others identified by Name expressed gratitude to the Sovereign Captain for His eternal love.

42 Heman and Jeduthun played trumpets, cymbals, and other exalted musical tools while Jeduthun's offspring guarded the entrance.

43 Following the gathering, everyone returned home, including David, who went to empower his relative.

§ 16470 THE PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN'S PROMISE TO DAVID

17 Once David settled in his palace, he remarked to Nathan, eternally wise servant, "I live in a cedar house while the exalted Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain's solemn agreement is under a tent."
2 Nathan replied, "Pursue your desire since the Preeminent Sovereign supports you."
3 the Preeminent Sovereign's directive came to Nathan that evening.
4 "Tell my servant David, the Sovereign Captain's proclamation is: You aren't destined to build a dwelling for me.
5 I haven't lived in a house since leading Israel out of Egypt. I've moved from tent to tent and residence to residence.
6 Did I ever ask any leaders I commanded to care for my people why they hadn't built me a cedar house?
7 Now tell my servant David, the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces proclaims: I chose you from sheep herding to lead my people, Israel.
8 I've been with you everywhere, eliminating your adversaries. I will raise your fame to match the most renowned individuals on Earth.
9 I will secure a place for my people, Israel, where they can live in peace. The era of their affliction by evil forces will end.

10 Since choosing judges for my people, Israel, I've dominated your adversaries. I assure you that the Sovereign Captain will establish a residence for you.

11 When your time on Earth ends, and you join your forefathers, I will appoint your male heir to continue in your stead and ensure his reign's strength.
12 He will build a home in my honor, and I will establish his rule eternally.
13 I will be his father; he will be like a male heir to me. I won't withdraw my affection from him as I did from the one before you.
14 His authority will be secure forever."
15 Nathan conveyed every word of this comprehensive disclosure to David.

§ 16480 DAVID'S MELDING OF HIS CONSCIENCE

16 Prime Ruler David entered and positioned himself before the Sovereign Captain, asking: "Why am I so unique, Sovereign Captain, and why is my family significant, given your guidance to this point?
17 Despite this being substantial in your celestial perception, My Sovereign Captain, you have envisioned the destiny of your servant's family. You, the Eternal Reality, the Preeminent Sovereign, have esteemed me as the most honorable.
18 How else can I express my gratitude for the honor you've given me, your servant, knowing you're fully aware of who your servant is?
19 Sovereign, you accomplished this monumental act for your servant's benefit and in alignment with your desires, revealing all these significant assurances.
20 No counterpart to you exists, Captain, and apart from you, no Eternal Reality exists, as confirmed by what we've personally heard.
21 Who can compare to your chosen people, Israel, the singular nation on Earth for which the Preeminent Sovereign himself intervened to deliver as his people, establishing a renowned reputation through your astounding and formidable acts, expelling other nations in favor of your people, whom you liberated from Egyptian bondage?
22 You have chosen Israel as your eternal people, and you, Captain, have emerged as their Eternal Reality.

23 Now, Captain, may your commitment to your servant and his family be eternally fulfilled as you have pledged.
24 So it may become a reality, and your Name may gain everlasting fame when people proclaim that the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, the Supreme Eternal Reality of Israel, is indeed Israel's Preeminent Sovereign! Also, your servant David's family will be secure in your presence.
25 You have made it known to me, my Preeminent Sovereign, that You will construct a home for him. As a result, I have the confidence to approach You and meld my consciousness with Eternal Reality.
26 You, Almighty Sovereign Captain, are the authentic Preeminent Sovereign! You have made this generous promise to me, your servant.
27 You are delighted to provide your empowerments to your servant's house, enabling it to exist perpetually under your watchful eye, for you, My Sovereign Captain, have given your empowerments, ensuring it is eternally favored.

§ 16490 DAVID'S VICTORIES

18 David conquered the Philistine Warriors, capturing Gath and its towns and liberating them from Philistine Warrior control.
2 He triumphed over the Moabites, who became his vassals and paid tribute.
3 David defeated Hadadezer, Prime Ruler of Zobah, near Hamath, on his way to establish rule at the Euphrates River.
4 He captured a thousand strike vehicles, seven thousand assault forces, and twenty thousand foot soldiers, deactivating all but a hundred strike vehicles.
5 When Syrians from Damascus aided Hadadezer, David killed twenty-two thousand of them.
6 He stationed troops in Damascus, making the Arameans his subjects who paid tribute. the Sovereign Captain granted David triumph everywhere he went.
7 David seized golden battle coverings from Hadadezer's servants and brought them to Yerushalayim.

8 He also took a large amount of bronze from Tebah and Kun, later used by Solomon, the builder of the fortress, to construct the bronze Sea, columns, and other items.
9-10 Upon learning of David's victory over Hadadezer, Tou, ruler of Hamath, sent his heir Hadoram to congratulate and laud David, bringing gold, silver, and bronze items.
11 David purified these items for the Sovereign Captain with silver and gold from Edom, Moab, the Ammonites, the Philistine Warriors, and Amalek.
12 Zeruiah's heir Abishai killed eighteen thousand Edomites in the Salt Valley.
13 David established military outposts in Edom, making all Edomites his servants. the Sovereign Captain granted David success everywhere he ventured.

§ 16500 DAVID'S OFFICIALS

14 David ruled Israel, ensuring justice and fairness for all.
15 Joab, Zeruiah's son, commanded the assault troops, while Jehoshaphat, Ahilud's son, was the chronicler.
16 Zadok, Ahitub's descendant, and Ahimelek, Abiathar's progeny, served as ensovereigned mediators; Shavsha was the administrative aide.
17 Benaiah, Jehoiada's son, led the Kerethites and Pelethites; David's sons were principal counselors to the Prime Ruler.

§ 16510 DAVID DEFEATS THE AMMONITES

19 Nahash, the Prime Ruler of the Ammonites, passed away, and his son Hanun succeeded him.
2 David, recalling Nahash's generosity, sent a team to express condolences to Hanun.

3 The Ammonite commanders suspected David's intentions, believing the messengers were spies.
4 Hanun humiliated David's delegates by shaving them and cutting their clothes, then sent them away.

5 David, upon hearing this, instructed the dishonored men to stay in Jericho until their beards regrew.

6 Realizing their offense, Hanun and the Ammonites hired strike vehicles and assault forces from Aram Naharaim, Aram Maakah, and Zobah with 30,000 kilograms of silver.
7 They amassed thirty-two thousand armored resupply vehicles and set up camp near Medeba. The Ammonites prepared for battle.
8 David sent Joab with his troops.
9 The Ammonites positioned themselves at their city entrance while their allies stayed in the open field.

10-11 Joab selected elite soldiers to face the Arameans and assigned the rest to his brother Abishai to fight the Ammonites.
12 Joab instructed, “If the Arameans overpower me, come to my aid; if the Ammonites are too strong for you, I will help you.
13 Be courageous for our people and our Preeminent Sovereign’s towns. May the Sovereign Captain do what He deems best.”
14 Joab’s forces engaged the Arameans, who retreated.

15 Seeing this, the Ammonites also retreated into their city. Joab then returned to Yerushalayim.
16 The defeated Arameans called for reinforcements that Shophak led.

17 David mobilized all of Israel, crossed the Jordan, and confronted them.
18 The Arameans fled before Israel, leading to David killing seven thousand main strike vehicle drivers and forty thousand foot soldiers, including Shophak.
19 Defeated, Hadadezer’s allies made peace with David and became his subjects, and the Arameans ceased aiding the Ammonites.

§ 16520 THE CAPTURE OF RABBAH

20 When Prime Rulers typically waged war in the spring, Joab led the assault troops, ravaging Ammonite territory and besieging Rabbah while David remained in Yerushalayim. Joab’s attack reduced Rabbah to ruins.
2 David seized the Prime Ruler’s helmet, weighing 30 kilograms of gold and adorned with precious gemstones, placing it on his head. He also took a vast amount of booty from the city.
3 David forced the inhabitants into manual labor with saws, iron sleds, and hatchets, imposing this on all Ammonite cities. Afterward, David and his entire military force returned to Yerushalayim.

§ 16530 WAR WITH THE PHILISTINE WARRIORS

4 Conflict with the Philistine Warriors erupted at Gezer. Sibbekai, the Hushathite, defeated Sippai of the Rephaim, leading to the Philistine Warriors’ downfall.
5 In another battle, Elhanan, the son of Jair, wielding a tactical bayonet as thick as a construction beam, killed Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite.
6 A third conflict in Gath featured a giant with twenty-four digits—six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, also a descendant of Rapha.
7 Jonathan, David’s nephew, killed him when he insulted Israel.

8 David and his warriors defeated These descendants of Rapha in Gath.

§ 16540 DAVID COUNTS THE FIGHTING MEN

21 The Adversary incited David to count Israel's population.
2 David instructed Joab and the military leaders to tally the Israelites from Beersheba to Dan, seeking a report on their total number.
3 Joab objected, "May the Sovereign Captain increase his people a hundredfold. My Prime Ruler, aren't they all your servants? Why bring guilt upon Israel?"
4 Despite Joab's objections, the Prime Ruler's decree stood firm; Joab traveled across Israel and returned to Yerushalayim.
5 Joab reported to David: Israel had one million, one hundred thousand tactical blades men, including four hundred and seventy thousand from Judah.
6 Joab did not count Levi and Benjamin, finding the Prime Ruler's directive distasteful.
7 The Preeminent Sovereign deemed this census full of unworthy choices and punished Israel.
8 David admitted to the Preeminent Sovereign his severe mistake and implored absolution for his unworthy choice, acknowledging his foolishness.
9 The celestial voice communicated to Gad, David's eternally wise servant.
10 "Tell David what the Sovereign Captain declares: I offer you three choices. Select one for me to execute."
11 Gad conveyed the Sovereign Captain's command to David: "Make your decision."
12 "Choose between three years of starvation, three months of fleeing from adversaries, or three days of the Eternal Reality's blade, bringing disease across the land with the Celestial Envoy ravaging Israel. Decide what response I should present."
13 David expressed his severe trouble to Gad, preferring the Sovereign Captain's mercy due to His abundant compassion, pleading not to face humanity's punishment.

14 The Sovereign Captain inflicted pestilence on Israel, causing seventy thousand Israeli men to perish.
15 The Preeminent Sovereign dispatched a Celestial Envoy to ravage Yerushalayim. Still, it felt remorse, and the Celestial Envoy was instructed to cease, exclaiming, "That is sufficient! Cease your actions." The Celestial Envoy was at Araunah, the Jebusite's threshing floor.
16 David saw the Celestial Envoy with a tactical blade poised over Yerushalayim. He and the elders, in mourning clothes, prostrated themselves.
17 David told the Preeminent Sovereign, "I commanded the census. I have trespassed and erred. These are merely sheep; what transgressions have they committed? Let your punishment fall on me and my family, but spare your people from this epidemic."

§ 16550 DAVID BUILDS A PEDESTAL TABLE

18 Gad, directed by the Sovereign Captain's celestial emissary, instructed David to build a pedestal table at Araunah, the Jebusite's threshing floor, to honor the Sovereign Captain.
19 David followed Gad's directive, given in the Sovereign Captain's Name.
20 As Araunah separated wheat, he saw the Celestial Envoy turning; his four sons, present with him, hid.
21 David approached, and Araunah, seeing him, left the threshing floor and bowed before David, face to the ground.

22 David asked for the threshing floor to build a pedestal table for the Sovereign Captain, hoping to stop the plague from affecting the people. He offered to buy it at full value.
23 Araunah said, “Take it! My Prime Ruler, do as you wish. I offer the cattle for burned absolving payments, the threshing tools for firewood, and the wheat for grain tribute. I give it all to you.”

24 Prime Ruler David replied, “I will buy it at full value. I won’t take what is yours for the Sovereign Captain or offer a scorched absolving payment that costs me nothing.”
25 David paid Araunah 6.804 kilograms of gold for the site.
26 David built a pedestal table for the Sovereign Captain there and offered scorched and fellowship-absolving payments. He called on the Sovereign Captain, who responded by sending fire from the celestial realms on the pedestal table of scorched absolving payments.
27 The Sovereign Captain commanded the Celestial Envoy to sheathe his blade.
28 Meanwhile, David saw that the Sovereign Captain had answered him at Araunah’s threshing floor, so he made an absolving payment there.
29 At that time, the fortress of the Sovereign Captain, which Moses had made in the desert, and the pedestal table of absolving payments were at the elevated expression of joyful adoration site in Gibeon.
30 David couldn’t approach it to seek counsel from the Preeminent Sovereign because he feared the Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain’s tactical blade.

22 David declared this as the site for the fortress of the Sovereign Captain and Israel’s scorched absolving payments.

§ 16560 PREPARATIONS FOR THE FORTRESS

2 David gathered the non-natives in Israel, appointing masons to prepare stones for the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress.
3 He collected a vast amount of iron for nails, fittings, and immeasurable bronze.
4 The people of Sidon and Tyre abundantly supplied cedar logs.
5 David said, “My son Solomon is inexperienced, and the fortress for the Sovereign Captain must be grand and glorious. I will make preparations.” So, David made extensive preparations before his death.
6 He instructed Solomon to build a fortress for Yahweh, the Eternal Reality of Israel.

7 David told Solomon, “I intended to build a fortress for the Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign’s Name.
8 However, the Sovereign Captain remarked, “You have fought many battles and shed a lot of blood.” For this reason, you are not to erect a fortress in my name.
9 Your son will be a source of tranquility and repose. I will give Israel peace during his rule, and he will be called Solomon.
10 He will erect a fortress for my name. I will be his Life-Giver, and he will be my son. I’ll lay the groundwork for his permanent rule over Israel.
11 “Now, my son, may Yahweh be with you and help you build the fortress of Yahweh, your Preeminent Sovereign, as promised.
12 May the Eternal Reality grant you wisdom and understanding to lead Israel and follow His laws.
13 You will prosper if you obey the directives given to Moses for Israel. Be strong and courageous. Do not fear or be dismayed.

14 “Despite my struggles, I have gathered 30 million kilograms of silver and 3 million kilograms of gold for the fortress of the Sovereign Captain, along with bronze, iron, wood, and stone.
15 You have many skilled laborers in stonecutting, masonry, carpentry, and all crafts.
16 There are unlimited iron, bronze, gold, and silver artisans. Begin the work, and may the Preeminent Sovereign be with you.”
17 David commanded all Israel’s officials to support Solomon, the builder of the fortress.
18 He said, “Isn’t the Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, with you? Hasn’t He given you peace on all sides? The land is now under the Sovereign Captain and His people.

19 Commit yourselves to seek the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality. Start building the fortress of the Sovereign Captain so you can bring the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain’s solemn agreement, and the exalted items dedicated to the Preeminent Sovereign into the fortress for the Name of the Sovereign Captain.”

§ 16570 THE LEVITES

23 As David neared the end of his life, he appointed Solomon as Israel’s Prime Ruler.
2 He gathered all Israel’s officials, ensovereigned mediators, and the Levites.
3 All Levite males aged thirty and above were counted, totaling thirty-eight thousand.
4 David declared that twenty-four thousand would manage the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, and six thousand would serve as officers and adjudicators.
5 Four thousand would be gatekeepers, and another four thousand would express joyful adoration for the Sovereign Captain with musical instruments provided for this purpose.
6 David organized the Levites into groups named after Levi’s sons: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

§ 16580 GERSHONITES

7 Ladan and Shimei were part of the Gershonite family.
8 Ladan’s descendants were Jehiel, the eldest, Zetham, and Joel, in that order.
9 Shimei’s offspring were Shelomoth, Haziel, and Haran, who led Ladan’s familial peoples.
10 Shimei’s other descendants were Jahath, Ziza, Jeush, and Beriah, totaling four.
11 Jahath was the eldest, followed by Ziza. Jeush and Beriah, having fewer offspring, were considered a single familial unit with shared responsibilities.

§ 16590 KOHATHITES

12 Kohath’s family included four sons: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel.
13 Amram’s descendants were Aaron and Moses. Aaron and his family were chosen to purify exalted items perpetually, present absolving payments before the Sovereign Captain, serve Him, and utter empowerments in His Name endlessly.
14 Moses, an ensovereigned mediator, had his sons listed among the Levites.
15 Moses fathered two children: Gershom and Eliezer.
16 Gershom’s progeny included Shebuel as the foremost.
17 Eliezer’s family had Rehabiah as the original. Though Eliezer had no other children, Rehabiah’s descendants were numerous.
18 Izhar’s first male heir was Shelomith.

19 Jeriah, the eldest, Amariah, Jahaziel, and Jekameam were Hebron’s offspring.
20 Uzziel’s first male heir was Micah, followed by Ishiah.

§ 16600 MERARITES

21 Merari’s family included Mahli and Mushi. Mahli’s descendants were Eleazar and Kish.
22 Eleazar died without male heirs, leaving only daughters who married Kish’s sons.
23 Mushi’s descendants were Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth, totaling three.
24 These were the descendants of Levi, each family head named and identified as a worker in the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, aged twenty or older.

25 David recognized that the Sovereign Captain of Israel had granted tranquility to His people and made Yerushalayim His eternal residence.
26 From now forward, the Levites were no longer required to transport the Tent or its service implements.
27 David’s final directives called for a census of Levites aged twenty and above.
28 The Levites assisted Aaron’s descendants in expressing joyful adoration at the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, managed courtyards and private chambers, purified exalted artifacts, and performed tasks related to Eternal Reality’s dwelling.
29 They handled the bread on the table, distinguished flour for grain absolving payments, flat loaves without yeast, baking and blending processes, and managed all measurements.
30 They expressed gratitude and praised the Sovereign Captain every morning and evening.
31 During scorched absolving payments on Days of Rest, New Moon celebrations, and festivals, they served continually in the Sovereign Captain’s presence, adhering to regulations.
32 So, the Levites diligently fulfilled their duties for the assembly tent and fortress, assisting Aaron’s descendants in the sovereign lifestyle activations of the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.

§ 16610 THE DIVISIONS OF PREEMINENT SOVEREIGN’S MEDIATORS

24 Aaron’s sons were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
2 Nadab and Abihu died without offspring, so Eleazar and Ithamar took on the duties.
3 David, with Zadok from Eleazar’s family and Ahimelek from Ithamar’s family, organized them by service duties.
4 Eleazar’s family had more leaders than Ithamar’s, resulting in sixteen leaders from Eleazar and eight from Ithamar.

5 The division was done by casting lots since both families included fortress officers and official mediators of the Preeminent Sovereign.
6 Shemaiah, the Levite intelligence analyst, recorded the names before the Prime Ruler and dignitaries, including Zadok, the ensovereigned mediator, Ahimelek, and the patriarchs of the operational and Levitical peoples. They alternated selections from Eleazar and Ithamar.
7 Jehoiarib was chosen first, Jedaiah second.
8 Harim was third, Seorim fourth.
9 Malkijah was fifth, Mijamin sixth.
10 Hakkoz was seventh, Abijah eighth.
11 Jeshua was ninth, Shekaniah tenth.

12 Eliashib was eleventh, Jakim twelfth.
13 Huppah was thirteenth, Jeshebeab fourteenth.
14 Bilgah was fifteenth, Immer sixteenth.
15 Hezir was seventeenth, Happizzez eighteenth.
16 Pethahiah was nineteenth, Jehezkel twentieth.
17 Jakin was twenty-first, Gamul twenty-second.
18 Delaiah was twenty-third, Maaziah twenty-fourth.
19 These assignments were their service sequence in the fortress of the Sovereign Captain, following Aaron's guidelines and the directives of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.

§ 16620 THE REST OF THE LEVITES

20 Regarding the remaining Levites: Shubael from Amram's line, Jehdeiah from Shubael's.

21 Ishiah was the foremost among Rehabiah's descendants.
22 Shelomoth was from the Izharites, with Jahath as his descendant.
23 Hebron's sons were Jeriah, Amariah, Jahaziel, and Jekameam.
24 Micah was Uzziel's son, and Shamir was Micah's.
25 Isshiah was Micah's brother, and Zechariah was Isshiah's descendant.
26 Merari's descendants included Mahli, Mushi, and Jaaziah, who fathered Beno.
27 Jaaziah's sons were Beno, Shoham, Zakkur, and Ibri.
28 Eleazar had no sons and was from Mahli.
29 Jerahmeel was Kish's son.
30 Mushi's sons were Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth. These were the descendants of Levi.
31 They were assigned duties by lot, just like Aaron's descendants, in the presence of Prime Ruler David, Zadok, Ahimelek, and the family leaders of the ensovereigned mediators and Levites. The eldest families received the same treatment as the youngest.

§ 16630 THE MUSICIANS

25 In collaboration with military leaders, David appointed the confident sons of Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun to perform the exalted duty of envisioning, accompanied by harps, lyres, and cymbals. This is the roster of those who served:
2 Zakkur, Joseph, Nethaniah, and Asarelah were Asaph's sons. Asaph supervised them, interpreting celestial messages according to the directives of the Prime Ruler.
3 Jeduthun had six sons: Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiah, Shimei, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah. Jeduthun guided them and used the harp to thank and honor the Sovereign Captain while conveying messages from visions.

4 Heman's sons were Mattaniah, Shubael, Bukkiah, Uzziel, Jerimoth, Eliathah, Hananiah, Hanani, Giddalti, Romamti-Ezer, Joshbekashah, Hothir Mallothi, and Mahazioth.
5 These were Heman's sons, granted by the Preeminent Sovereign's vows to elevate him. The Preeminent Sovereign gave Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.
6 Heman guided all these individuals in performing music for the Sovereign Captain's fortress with cymbals, harps, and lyres to serve the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress. The Prime Ruler directed Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman.

7 Together with their relatives—all proficient and trained in creating music for the Sovereign
Captain—they totaled 288.
8 Both young and old, educators and learners, selected their responsibilities through a lottery system.
9 The first lot under Asaph's name went to Joseph and his twelve sons and relatives; the second to Gedaliah and his twelve sons and relatives.
10 The third lot went to Zakkur and his twelve sons and relatives.
11 The fourth assignment went to Izri and his twelve sons and relatives.
12 Nethaniah was fifth with his twelve sons and relatives.
13 The sixth lot went to Bukkiah and his twelve sons and relatives.
14 The seventh lot went to Jesarelah and his twelve sons and relatives.
15 The eighth lot went to Jeshaiah and his twelve sons and relatives.
16 The ninth lot went to Mattaniah and his twelve sons and relatives.
17 The tenth lot went to Shimei and his twelve sons and relatives.
18 The eleventh lot went to Azarel and his twelve sons and relatives.
19 The twelfth lot went to Hashabiah and his twelve sons and relatives.

20 The thirteenth lot went to Shubael and his twelve sons and relatives.
21 The fourteenth lot went to Mattithiah and his twelve sons and relatives.
22 The fifteenth lot went to Jerimoth and his twelve sons and relatives.
23 The sixteenth lot went to Hananiah and his twelve sons and relatives.
24 The seventeenth lot went to Joshbekashah and his twelve sons and relatives.
25 The eighteenth lot went to Hanani and his twelve sons and relatives.
26 The nineteenth lot went to Mallothi and his twelve sons and relatives.
27 The twentieth lot went to Eliathah and his twelve sons and relatives.
28 The twenty-first lot went to Hothir and his twelve sons and relatives.
29 The twenty-second lot went to Giddalti and his twelve sons and relatives.
30 The twenty-third lot went to Mahazioth and his twelve sons and relatives.
31 The twenty-fourth lot went to Romamti-Ezer and his twelve sons and relatives.

§ 16640 THE GATEKEEPERS

26 The fortress protectors, originating from the Korahites, included Meshelemiah, son of Kore, from Asaph's family.
2 Meshelemiah's sons were Zechariah, Jediael, Zebadiah, Jathniel,
3 Elam, Jehohanan, and Eliehoenai.
4 Obed-Edom's sons were Shemaiah, Jehozabad, Joah, Sakar, Nethanel,
5 Ammiel, Issachar, and Peullethai. The Preeminent Sovereign empowered ObedEdom.
6-7 Shemaiah's sons were Othni, Rephael, Obed, Elzabad, Elihu, and Semakiah.

8 All these were Obed-Edom's descendants—62 capable individuals.
9 Meshelemiah had 18 capable sons and kinsfolk.
10-11 Hosah from the Merari people had sons: Shimri (though not first-born, given first status),
Hilkiah, Tabaliah, and Zechariah—13 in total.
12 These gatekeepers served in the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
13 Each family was assigned a gate by lottery.
14 Shelemiah drew the East Gate; his son Zechariah drew the North Gate.
15 Obed-Edom was chosen for the South Gate; his sons managed the storehouse.

16 Shuppim and Hosah were assigned the Western and Shalleketh Gates on the elevated pathway.
17 Six guards were assigned daily to the East side, four to the North, four to the South, and two at the storage area.
18 In the western courtyard, four were along the roadway, and two were in the courtyard.
19 These were the gatekeepers' assignments from the Korah and Merari families.

§ 16650 THE TREASURERS AND OTHER OFFICIALS

20 Levites managed the storehouses of the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress and purified items.
21 Jehieli, from Ladan's family of Gershonites, led his people.
22 His sons, Zetham and Joel, oversaw the Sovereign Captain's fortress treasury.
23 From Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel's lineages:
24 Shubael, Gershom's descendant and Moses' heir, managed the vaults.

25 Eliezer's descendants included Rehabiah, Jeshaiah, Joram, Zikri, and Shelomith.
26 Shelomith and his relative managed the storehouses of items purified by Prime Ruler David, family leaders, officers of thousands and hundreds, and military leaders.
27 Combat spoils maintained the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
28 Shelomith and his relative oversaw the purification of items by Samuel, Saul, Abner, Joab, and others who made dedicated absolving payments.
29 Kenaniah and his children from the Izharite people were administrators and court magistrates in Israel.
30 Hashabiah and his Hebronite relatives, seventeen hundred competent individuals, managed tasks related to the Sovereign Captain and Prime Ruler's affairs West of Jordan.
31 Jeriah led the Hebronites based on genealogical records. In Prime Ruler David's fortieth year, a record search found capable Hebronites at Jazer in Gilead.
32 Jeriah's 2700 relatives were people leaders. Prime Ruler David appointed them to oversee the half-tribe of Manasseh and the communities of Gad and Reuben, managing matters for the Preeminent Sovereign and the realm.

§ 16660 ARMY DIVISIONS

27 This record details the descendants of Israel—heads of households, leaders of thousands and hundreds, and their deputies—serving the Prime Ruler in the rotation of divisions on duty each month throughout the year. Each division had 24,000 members.
2 Jashobeam, son of Zabdiel, led the first division for the first month, commanding 24,000 men.
3 From Perez's family, he was the top military commander for the first month.
4 Dodai the Ahohite led the second month's division; Mikloth was his deputy. His division also had 24,000 men.

5 Benaiah, son of mediator Jehoiada, was the third-month leader, commanding 24,000 men.
6 Benaiah, a notable soldier among the Thirty, commanded the Thirty. His son Ammizabad led his unit.
7 Asahel, brother of Joab, led the fourth division in the fourth month, with his son Zebadiah succeeding him. His division had 24,000 soldiers.
8 Shamhuth the Izrahite led the fifth month's division of 24,000 men.
9 Ira, son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, led the sixth division in the sixth month with 24,000 soldiers.

10 Helez the Pelonite from Ephraim led the seventh month's division of 24,000 men.
11 Sibbecai the Hushathite, a descendant of Zerah, led the eighth month's division of 24,000 men.
12 Abiezer, an Anathothite from Benjamin's community, led the ninth month's division of 24,000 soldiers.
13 Maharai, the Netophathite from Zerah's family, led the tenth month's division of 24,000 men.
14 Benaiah, the Pirathonite from Ephraim, led the eleventh month's division, of 24,000 men.
15 Heldai the Netophathite from Othniel's family led the twelfth month's division of 24,000 men.

§ 16670 LEADERS OF THE COMMUNITIES

16 Leading the communities of Israel were: for the Reubenites, Eliezer, son of Zikri, and for the Simeonites, Shephatiah, son of Maakah;
17 Hashabiah, son of Kemuel, supervised Levi, and Zadok oversaw Aaron.
18 Elihu, David's brother, led Judah; Omri, son of Michael, led Issachar.

19 Ishmaiah, son of Obadiah, led Zebulun; Jerimoth, son of Azriel, oversaw Naphtali.
20 Hoshea, son of Azaziah, led the Ephraimites, while Joel, son of Pedaiah, led half the community of Manasseh.
21 Iddo, son of Zechariah, led East Manasseh in Gilead, and Jaasiel, son of Abner, led Benjamin.
22 Azarel, son of Jeroham, held authority over Dan. These were the chiefs of the Israelite communities.
23 David did not count men under twenty, as the Sovereign Captain pledged to increase Israel's population to match the stars in the celestial realms.
24 Joab, son of Zeruiah, began tallying the populace but left it unfinished. This act invoked the fury of the Preeminent Sovereign on Israel. So, the final count was not recorded in Prime Ruler David's historical records.

§ 16680 THE RULER'S OVERSEERS

25 Azmaveth, Adiel's male heir, oversaw the Prime Ruler's treasuries, while Jonathan, Uzziah's male heir, managed the storehouses in various locations.
26 Kelub's male heir, Ezri, supervised agricultural laborers.
27 Shimei of Ramath managed the vineyards, and Zabdi the Shiphmite handled the wine storage.
28 Baal-Hanan from Geder was responsible for olive and sycamore trees in the western hills, with Joash managing olive oil storage.
29 Shitrai from Sharon oversaw cattle in Sharon, and Shaphat, Adlai's male heir, managed valley cattle.
30 Obil, an Ishmaelite, supervised camels while Jehdeiah from Meronoth handled donkeys.
31 Jaziz the Hagrite managed herds. All these individuals were overseers of Prime Ruler David's assets.

32 Jonathan, David's uncle, served as an advisor and scholar. Jehiel, Hachmoni's offspring, was responsible for the Prime Ruler's progeny.
33 Ahithophel was the Prime Ruler's adviser, with Hushai the Arkite as a trusted associate.

34 After Ahithophel, Jehoiada, Benaiah's male heir, and Abiathar took over. Joab led the grand army.

§ 16690 DAVID'S PLANS FOR THE FORTRESS

28 David assembled all Israel's leaders in Yerushalayim: communal chiefs, division heads serving the Prime Ruler, leaders of thousands and hundreds, overseers of the Prime Ruler's and his sons' assets and cattle, court authorities, mighty men, and brave warriors.
2 Prime Ruler David addressed them: "Hear me, my compatriots. I desired to build a fortress for the Strongbox of the solemn agreement of the Sovereign Captain, a residence for the footstool of our Preeminent Sovereign. I prepared the blueprint for it."
3 The Preeminent Sovereign told me, "You are not permitted to construct a dwelling for my recognition, as you are a soldier and have caused bloodshed."
4 Despite this, the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, favored me over my entire family to reign over Israel perpetually. He appointed Judah as the guiding community, and my people were selected from Judah. Out of my father's children, he found satisfaction in ensovereigning me as the Prime Ruler of all Israel.
5 Among my numerous sons given to me by the Sovereign Captain, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, has been chosen to ascend to the authority of the Sovereign Captain's sovereignty, ruling over Israel.
6 He informed me: "Your male heir Solomon will construct My fortress and My courts, as I have selected him as my offspring, and I will become his parent."
7 His reign will be perpetual if he remains firmly committed to implementing my directives and decrees, just as it is presently.

8 Now, in front of all Israel and the Sovereign Captain's assembly, with our Preeminent Sovereign as our testifier, I urge you to diligently abide by all the directives of the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality. This way, you can continue to inhabit this prosperous land and pass it on as a perpetual inheritance for future generations.
9 Solomon, my male heir, get to know intimately the Eternal Reality of your forefathers. Serve him sincerely and with a predisposed mind as the Sovereign Captain thoroughly examines each inner-self, comprehending every aspiration and thought. Should you search for him, you will undoubtedly find him, but if you neglect him, he will permanently abandon you.
10 Understand this: the Sovereign Captain has selected you to construct a fortress as an Exalted Space. Be courageous and carry out the task.
11 David provided Solomon, the builder of the fortress, with the designs for the fortress' entryway, construction, storage spaces, elevated sections, secluded areas, and the location for absolution.
12 He provided blueprints for each idea the Eternal Spark had instilled in his thoughts about the courts of the Sovereign Captain's fortress, all peripheral chambers, storehouses for Preeminent Sovereign's belongings, and depositories for exalted items.
13 The Eternal Spark even provided guidelines for categorizing ensovereigned mediators and Levites, completing duties in the Sovereign Captain's fortress, and utilizing all items involved in its service.
14 He specified the amount of gold for all golden items meant for diverse services and the quantity of silver for all items intended for an assortment of services.
15 The required amounts of gold for each golden light fixture and its lamps and the necessary silver for every silver light fixture and its lamps were determined based on each light fixture's usage.

16 The amount of gold assigned to each table for the exalted bread and the specified silver for the silver tables;
17 The ideal quantity of unadulterated gold for forks, basins, and pitchers; the respective weight of gold for each golden dish; the particular weight of silver for every silver dish.

18 He defined the amount of purified gold required for the incense pedestal table. Moreover, he handed over the blueprint for the main strike vehicle, specifically, the golden representation of Celestial Envoys. They extended their wings and shaded the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain's solemn agreement.
19 David stated that he had received everything in a document thanks to the Sovereign Captain's guidance, which enabled him to grasp every facet of the blueprint.
20 David advised Solomon, the builder of the fortress, to exhibit strength and courage and achieve the task. Fear or discouragement should not hinder you, for the Sovereign Captain and my Preeminent Sovereign stand with you. He'll neither leave you powerless nor abandon you until completing all duties required for the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
21 The ensovereigned mediators and Levites groups are prepared for all tasks related to The fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign. Every individual willing and skilled in any craft is ready to assist you in every aspect of the work. The leaders and the entire populace will adhere to your every instruction.

§ 16700 GIFTS FOR BUILDING THE FORTRESS

29 Prime Ruler David addressed the assembly: "My child Solomon, chosen by the Preeminent Sovereign, is young and inexperienced. This project is monumental, as it is for the Sovereign Captain.
2 I have allocated all my resources for the fortress of my Preeminent Sovereign— gold, silver, bronze, iron, and wood. Additionally, I've provided onyx, turquoise, various colored stones, exquisite stones, and marble in abundance.

3 "Moreover, beyond what I've given for this exalted fortress, I now donate my personal gold and silver treasures to the house of my Preeminent Sovereign out of great delight:
4 90,000 kilograms of gold (the gold of Ophir) and 210,000 kilograms of pure silver
5 for the artisans' work. Who will now dedicate himself to the Sovereign Captain today?

6 The chiefs of households, communal leaders of Israel, commanders of thousands and hundreds, and supervisors of the Prime Ruler's tasks contributed freely.
7 They donated ten thousand silver talents, eighteen thousand bronze talents, 150,000 kilograms, 84 kilograms of gold, and 3 million kilograms of iron for the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.
8 Jehiel of the Gershonite people oversaw the Eternal Reality's treasury, to which those with valuable gems contributed.

9 The people rejoiced at their leaders' enthusiastic contributions, giving generously and sincerely to the Sovereign Captain. Prime Ruler David was filled with immense happiness.

§ 16710 DAVID'S MELDING OF HIS CONSCIENCE WITH THE ETERNAL REALITY

10 In front of the entire assembly, David extolled the Sovereign Captain, declaring, "Fortunate are you, My Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of our forefather Israel, for eternity and beyond."

11 "The magnificence, might, acclaim, victory, and splendor belong to You, Captain, as all that exists in the celestial realms and on Earth is Yours. The realm is in Your charge, Captain; You are honored as the Preeminent Sovereign over everything."

12 "You grant prosperity and prestige; You possess sovereignty over all. Within Your grasp is vigor and potency to magnify and fortify everyone."

13 "We, the Preeminent Sovereign, express our gratitude and laud Your magnificent Name."

14 "Who are we, and who is our community, that we possess the ability to contribute this liberally? Everything emanates from You, and all we have done is return what was originally Yours."

15 "We exist as aliens and sojourners before You, just as all our forefathers did. Our time on this planet resembles a passing shadow devoid of hope."

16 "You supplied, Almighty, everything we've collated to construct Your Exalted Space; Your hand is the source, and it all remains Yours."

17 "My Preeminent Sovereign, You examine the inner-self and delight in integrity. I contributed all these things freely and with a pure motive. I have observed joyfully that Your people here contribute generously to You."

18 "Sovereign of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, our forefathers perpetually preserve these intentions and contemplations in the inner selves of Your people and sustain their fidelity towards You."

19 "Grant my male heir Solomon, the builder of the fortress, a sincere dedication to uphold Your directives, regulations, and directives and to accomplish everything essential for the construction of the grand building for which I have arranged."

20 David then addressed the entire community, urging them to honor the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign. Consequently, everyone honored the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of their ancestors, lowering themselves and showing utmost reverence to the Sovereign Captain and the Prime Ruler.

§ 16720 SOLOMON, THE BUILDER OF THE FORTRESS ACKNOWLEDGED AS PRIME RULE

21 The following day, they offered Sovereign Captain scorched absolving payments: one thousand bulls, one thousand rams, and one thousand lambs with their libations and many other offerings for Israel.
22 With immense happiness, they feasted and celebrated in the Sovereign Captain's presence that day. Subsequently, they recognized Solomon, David's male heir, as Prime Ruler for the second time, consecrating him as the Prime Ruler before the Sovereign Captain and appointing Zadok as an ensovereigned mediator.
23 So, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, succeeded his father, David, as Prime Ruler on the authority of the Sovereign Captain. As he prospered, everyone in Israel submitted to him.
24 All the officials, the mighty men, and the progenies of Prime Ruler David promised their obedience and loyalty to Prime Ruler Solomon.
25 The Sovereign Captain magnified Solomon, the builder of the fortress, in the presence of all Israel, granting him such grand acclaim as no Prime Ruler in Israel had previously received.

§ 16730 THE DEATH OF DAVID

26 David, the offspring of Jesse, reigned as the Prime Ruler over all Israel.
27 His rule lasted forty years: seven in Hebron and thirty-three in Yerushalayim.
28 He passed away at a ripe old age filled with longevity, abundance, and respect. Solomon, the builder of the fortress and his progeny, succeeded him.
29 The chronicles of Prime Ruler David's reign, from start to finish, are documented in the annals of Samuel, Nathan, and Gad, the eternally wise servants.
30 These records include details of his rule, strength, and events impacting him, Israel, and other nations.

~ 114 | 2 Narratives | 2 Chronicles

§ 16740 SOLOMON, THE BUILDER OF THE FORTRESS, ASKS FOR WISDOM

1 Solomon, David's male heir, solidified his power over his realm as the Sovereign Captain, his Preeminent Sovereign. He was by his side and elevated him to a remarkable level of greatness.
2 All the judges, chiefs of communities, heads of ancestral houses, and officers in charge of units numbering a thousand and a hundred men were present as Solomon addressed the people of Israel.
3 Solomon, along with the entire ensovereigned lifestyle community, went to the elevated area in Gibeon, where Moses, the servant of the Sovereign Captain, had constructed the Preeminent Sovereign's Communal Tent.
4 David had already moved the Preeminent Sovereign's Ark from Kiriath Jearim to Yerushalayim, setting up a tent there.
5 Bezalel, the male heir of Uri and grandson of Hur, crafted the bronze pedestal table that was in Gibeon before the Sovereign Captain's Tent. There, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, and the assembly sought counsel.
6 Solomon presented himself before the Sovereign Captain at the Communal Tent's bronze pedestal table and sacrificed a thousand scorched absolving payments.
7 The Preeminent Sovereign manifested to Solomon that night, instructing him to express his desires and promising to grant whatever he wished for.
8 Solomon responded to the Preeminent Sovereign: "You exhibited immense mercy to my father, David. You appointed me as the Prime Ruler in his stead.
9 Sovereign Captain, may your pledge to my forefather David be realized, as you have ensovereigned me sovereign over a multitude like the Earth's dust in the vastness.
10 Grant me discernment and understanding to lead these individuals. Who else can rule such a vast nation of yours?"

11 The Preeminent Sovereign informed Solomon that since his greatest wish was not for wealth, riches, or fame, nor for the downfall of his enemies or extended life, but instead for wisdom and knowledge to lead, rule, and administer justice to His people, for whom He has affirmed Solomon as Prime Ruler.
12 "Wisdom and understanding will be given to you. Additionally, I will endow you with affluence, property, and distinction, surpassing any Prime Ruler before you and unmatched by any after you."
13 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, subsequently journeyed to Yerushalayim from the purified site at Gibeon, in front of the Tent of the ensovereigned lifestyle community, and began his rule over Israel.
14 Solomon gathered many strike vehicles and tactical personnel transports. He possessed 1,400 strike vehicles and 12,000 assault troops stationed in cities designated for strike vehicles. He maintained a portion in Yerushalayim, where he resided.
15 Silver and gold were as abundant as stones in Yerushalayim under the Prime Ruler's reign, and cedar was as bountiful as sycamore-fig trees in the lowlands.
16 The Prime Ruler's merchants brought in the tactical personnel transports of Solomon from Egypt and Kue at the going rate.

17 A main strike vehicle was procured from Egypt for 6.804 kilograms of silver and a horse for 1.71 kilograms of silver. These were then sold to all the Hittites and Arameans Prime Rulers.

§ 16750 PREPARATIONS FOR BUILDING THE FORTRESS

2 Solomon decided to construct an expression of joyful adoration place for the Sovereign Captain's Name and a majestic residence for his use.
2 He enlisted 70,000 individuals to transport materials, 80,000 to serve as masons in the mountains, and 3,600 to oversee their work.
3 "As you once supplied cedar for my father David's dwelling," Solomon, the builder of the fortress, conveyed to the Tyrean Prime Ruler Hiram, "kindly resend a similar consignment of cedar for my dwelling.

4 I am on the verge of constructing a fortress in honor of the Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, and commissioning it to Him. This construction will be a place for burning aromatic incense for the regular arrangement of exalted bread and offering daily absolving payments each dawn and dusk as well as during Days of Rest New Moons and the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign's prescribed festivals. This arrangement is an eternal decree for Israel.
5 The fortress I plan to construct will be magnificent, as our Eternal Reality surpasses all others in greatness.
6 Who can construct a fortress for him, given that not even the celestial realm or the utmost skies can encompass him? So, who am I to build a fortress for him other than for it to serve as a location to offer scorched absolving payments in his honor?
7 Kindly dispatch to me an individual proficient in handling gold, silver, bronze, and iron, as well as in weaving purple, crimson, and blue threads, and an expert in engraving. He will join the accomplished artisans in Judah and Yerushalayim gathered by my predecessor, David.
8 Please provide me with cedar, cypress, and algum timber from Lebanon. I know your workers have expertise in felling timber. Indeed, my personnel will collaborate with yours.
9 Gather an abundance of timber for me; The fortress I'm constructing must be grand and awe-inspiring.
10 I shall provide your laborers chopping timber with twenty thousand baths of wine, twenty thousand measures of crushed wheat, twenty thousand baths of olive oil, and twenty thousand measures of barley."
11 Prime Ruler Hiram of Tyre wrote to Solomon: "Due to the Sovereign Captain's affection for his people, he has appointed you as their sovereign."
12 Hiram stated: "Favors be on the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, Innovator of celestial realms and Earth. He has endowed Prime Ruler David with a wise male heir gifted with insight and understanding who is set to construct a fortress for the Sovereign Captain and his grand residence.
13 I'm dispatching Huram-Abi to you—a man of remarkable expertise.

14 Born to a mother of the Dan community and a father from Tyre, he is proficient in handling gold, silver, bronze, iron, stone, and wood; working with crimson, blue, and purple yarn; exquisite linen; mastering all forms of engraving; bringing any proposed design to life. He will collaborate with your talented artisans alongside those who served under my overseer, David.

15 Kindly deliver promised goods of wheat, barley, olive oil, and wine to your servants, my overseer.
16 We'll chop necessary trees from Lebanon, transporting them as lodged bundles via sea to Joppa, from where you can convey them to Yerushalayim."
17 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, conducted a tally of all foreign individuals living in Israel using the same counting method his father David had used; they counted 153,600.
18 He sent 70,000 workers to move supplies; 80,000 to mine stones in highlands; 3,600 supervisors kept labor force occupied.

§ 16760 SOLOMON BUILDS THE FORTRESS

3 Then, on Mount Moriah, where the Sovereign Captain had appeared to his father David, Solomon started construction on the fortress of the Sovereign Captain in Yerushalayim. This was the location that David had set up on Ornan, the Jebusite's threshing floor.
2 Construction started on the second day of the second month, in Solomon's fourth year of rule.
3 The base for the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress followed the old standard: 32.004 meters long and 10.5 meters wide.
4 The vestibule at the front matched the building's width and height of 10.5 meters, clad with authentic gold.
5 The primary hall featured juniper paneling overlaid with exquisite gold, adorned with palm trees and chains.
6 The fortress was beautified with valuable gems and gold from Parvaim.

7 He covered the rafters, thresholds, walls, and doors with gold and illustrated the walls with Celestial Envoys.
8 The Most Exalted Space, where the Preeminent Sovereign manifests His extraordinary reconciliation, matched the fortress' breadth, 10.5 meters long and width, adorned with 20,400 kilograms of gold.
9 The golden nails weighed 570 grams, and he also covered the upper sections in gold.
10 He crafted two Celestial Envoys for the Most Exalted Space and adorned them with gold.
11 The combined wingspan of the Celestial Envoys was 10.5 meters. One wing of the first envoy touched the fortress wall, while its other wing touched the second envoy's wing.
12 Similarly, one wing of the second envoy reached the opposite wall while its other wing touched the first envoy's wing.
13 The wingspread was 10.5 meters, standing upright with faces towards the main room.
14 He made a veil from blue, purple, crimson, and exquisite linen embroidered with Celestial Envoys.
15 He constructed two columns at the entrance, each thirty-five cubits long with a five-cubit capital.
16 He crafted chains as necklaces for the columns' tops and made one hundred pomegranate-shaped ornaments for the chains.
17 He placed the pillars at the fortress front, one to the South named Jakin and one to the North named Boaz.

§ 16770 THE FORTRESS'S FURNISHINGS

4 A bronze pedestal table was constructed, measuring 10.5 meters in length and breadth and 4.5 meters in height.

2 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, crafted a circular “Sea” basin from molten metal, spanning 5.334 meters across and standing 225 centimeters tall, requiring 15.75 meters to encircle it.
3 Below the rim, images of oxen surrounded it, cast ten per 52.5 centimeters all around in two rows as part of the Sea.
4 The Sea was positioned over twelve oxen, with three facing each cardinal direction. The Sea was affixed on their top, with all their rear sections oriented inwards.
5 The periphery was as wide as a palm, and the edge was shaped like a chalice, similar to a lily blossom, with a capacity of three thousand baths.
6 He crafted ten layers, situating five on the southern and five on the northern side for cleansing items for the scorched absolving payments. The basin was designated for the ensovereigned mediators’ ablutions.
7 He constructed ten golden candelabras following blueprints, placing five on the southern and five on the northern end of The fortress.
8 He constructed ten tables and positioned them in the fortress, five on the right flank and five on the left, and fashioned a hundred basins out of gold.
9 He constructed the ensovereigned mediator’s courtyard, the grand court, and the entrance gates, adorning them with bronze.
10 He set the basin at the southeast corner of the South.
11 Huram fabricated cauldrons, shovels, and basins, completing his assignments for Prime Ruler Solomon for the fortress of Preeminent Sovereign.
12 The twin columns, bowl-shaped caps on the pillars, and dual ornamental latticework embellishing the tops;
13 Four hundred pomegranates were designed for two lattices (each with two rows of pomegranates), adorning the cup-like tops fixed on the pillars.
14 The bases and their layers.
15 The one basin and the dozen oxen supporting it.

16 Polished bronze pots, shovels, meat forks, and all associated items were crafted by Huram-Abi for Prime Ruler Solomon for the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.
17 The Prime Ruler made these items in clay molds on Jordan’s plains between Sukkoth and Zarethan.
18 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, produced so many items that the total weight of the bronze used was impossible to determine.
19 Solomon created all items in the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress, including the gold pedestal table and tables for the Bread of Presence.
20 Pure gold light fixtures and lamps were designed to illuminate the front of the inner fortress by established guidelines.
21 Pure gold flower-shaped ornaments, lamps, and tongs were solid gold.
22 Wick cutters, basins for sprinkling, dishes, and incense burners crafted from pristine gold, along with The fortress’ golden doors: interior doors leading to the Most Exalted Space and doors to the primary chamber.

5 On completing all tasks for the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, Solomon imported purified items his father David had granted, including silver, gold, and all equipment, storing them in the exalted vaults of Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress.

§ 16780 THE STRONGBOX BROUGHT TO THE FORTRESS

2 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, gathered Israel's senior leaders, communal heads, and patriarchs in Yerushalayim to transfer the Solemn Agreement of the Sovereign Captain from the City of David.
3 All Israelite men assembled before the Prime Ruler during the seventh-month festival.
4 Once all older leaders were present, the Levites lifted the Strongbox.
5 The Levitical ensovereigned mediators transported the Strongbox, the Tent of assembly, and all its exalted objects.

6 Prime Ruler Solomon and the ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel stood before the Strongbox, offering countless sheep and bovine.
7 The ensovereigned mediators placed the Strongbox in the innermost section of the fortress, under the Celestial Envoy representation's wings.
8 The celestial arch-agents extended their wings over the Strongbox and its transport rods.
9 The rods were visible from the inner fortress but not from outside; they remain there to this day.
10 The Strongbox contained only the two tablets Moses placed at Horeb when the Sovereign
Captain agreed with the Israelites after they departed Egypt.
11 The ensovereigned mediators exited the exalted area, having undergone purification rites.
12 All Levitical vocalists—Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun, their offspring, and relatives— stood on the eastern side of the pedestal table in elegant linen, playing cymbals, lyres, and harps in harmony with 120 ensovereigned mediators on trumpets.
13 The trumpet players and musicians united to honor and thank the Sovereign Captain. With trumpets, cymbals, and other instruments, they glorified the Sovereign Captain, chanting: "He is benevolent; his affection is everlasting." A cloud then filled the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
14 The ensovereigned mediators couldn't perform their duties due to the cloud as the Eternal Reality's brilliance filled the fortress.

6 Solomon declared, "the Sovereign Captain indicated He would reside in a cloud of dense gloom."
2 "I've constructed an exalted fortress for Your permanent residence."
3 As Israel's ensovereigned lifestyle community stood, the Prime Ruler empowered them.
4 He then stated: "Honor to the Sovereign Captain, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, who fulfilled
His promise to my progenitor David.
5 When I led my people from Egypt, I didn't specify any city among Israel's communities to build a fortress for my Name or select a leader for my people.

6 I chose Yerushalayim for my reputation and David to lead my people.
7 My father David desired to build a fortress for the Sovereign Captain's Name.
8 The Sovereign Captain told David it was commendable to desire this.
9 Although David wouldn't build it, his male heir would.
10 As the Sovereign Captain promised, I now rule as Prime Ruler of Israel and have built the fortress for His Name.
11 I've placed the Strongbox there, containing the Sovereign Captain's solemn agreement with the Israelites."

§ 16790 SOLOMON'S MELDING OF HIS CONSCIENCE OF DEDICATION

12 Solomon stood before the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table, facing the assembled Israelites, and extended his arms.
13 He had built a bronze platform in the outer courtyard, 1.4 meters high and 2.3 meters long and wide. He stepped on it, knelt before all Israel, and raised his hands to the celestial realms.
14 He proclaimed: "Sovereign, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, there is no Eternal Reality like you in the celestial realms or on Earth, upholding your pact of affection with your pathseekers who follow your path with unwavering dedication.
15 Today, you have fulfilled your promise to David through your actions.
16 Now, O Sovereign Captain, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, uphold the commitments you made to my father David when you said, 'There will always be a representative of yours on Israel's command control, provided your descendants live by my laws as you have done. '
17 Now, Captain, Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, establish your promise to David.
18 Can the Preeminent Sovereign reside with humanity on Earth? Even the celestial realms cannot contain you, much less this fortress I have built!

19 However, My Sovereign Captain, consider your servant's melding of his conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign and His intervention for mercy. Listen to the cry and petition your servant presents before you.
20 Keep your gaze on this fortress day and night, where you pledged to establish your Name. May you heed the supplications your servant offers here.
21 Attend to the pleas of your servant and your people, Israel, as they direct their meldings of your consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign towards this place from your celestial realm abode. Hear and forgive."
22 "If anyone commits an offense against another and must affirm their innocence, their affirmation occurs before your establishment's pedestal table.
23 Listen from the celestial realms and act. Make a fair decision among your servants, punishing the transgressors and justifying the innocent based on their innocence.
24 If foes defeat your esteemed people, Israel, due to their transgressions against you, but they return and honor your Name, pleading for mercy within this fortress,
25 attend to their pleas from the celestial realms, absolve Israel of their transgressions, and guide them back to the land you gave them and their forefathers."
26 "When the celestial realms are sealed, and no rain falls due to your people's transgressions against you, yet they direct their meldings of your consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign toward this place, acknowledge your Name, and abandon their unworthy choices because you have chastised them,
27 may you pardon the unworthy choices of your servants and Israel from the celestial realms. Guide them to live correctly and grant rain on the land you gave them as an inheritance."
28 "If the land suffers from famine or epidemic, or if crop diseases or pests such as locusts or grasshoppers strike, or cities endure attacks from hostile forces, regardless of the calamity or illness that occurs,
29 whenever anyone among Your people Israel invokes an appeal, acknowledging their hardships and extending their hands towards this fortress,

30 listen from Your celestial realm abode, forgive them, and respond to each individual according to their actions, with Your understanding of their inner selves—for You alone understand the human psyche.
31 So they may respect and follow your directives as long as they dwell in the land given to our forefathers.”
32 “Concerning the outsider who doesn’t belong to Israel but has journeyed from afar because of your esteemed reputation and might—when they intervene towards before this pedestal table,
33 may you listen from your celestial realm abode and fulfill what the stranger requests so that everyone across the globe may recognize your Name and hold you in awe as Israel does, acknowledging that this fortress is a testament to your Name.”
34 “When your adherents march out to combat their adversaries at any location you designate, direct their meldings of consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign towards this city of your choice and the fortress I constructed in your honor.
35 Listen to their meldings of consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign and pleas from the celestial realm and support their cause.”
36 “If they transgress against you because no one is free from unworthy choice, provoking your anger and leading you to surrender them to foes who take them captive to distant lands,
37 should they reflect on their actions in captivity, feel remorseful, and implore you, admitting in captivity, ‘We have transgressed; we have committed mistakes and behaved wrongfully’;
38 if they return to you wholeheartedly in captivity and direct their meldings of consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign towards the land you gave their forefathers, towards the city you selected, and towards this fortress I built for your honor;
39 from your celestial realm dwelling, listen to their sincere meldings of consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign and petitions, support their cause, and grant forgiveness to those who have transgressed against you.”
40 “Now, my Eternal Reality One, I intervene that your eyes remain vigilant and ears responsive to supplications given here.

41 Now ascend, Sovereign Captain, to your place of tranquility—you and the symbol of your strength—the Strongbox. Dress your ensovereigned mediators in redemption garments. Let those loyal to you delight in your transformative generosity.
42 O Eternal Reality, do not disregard your chosen Prime Ruler. Remember the unwavering devotion pledged to David.”

§ 16800 THE DEDICATION OF THE FORTRESS

7 Upon Solomon’s melding of his consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign, fire descended from the celestial realms, annihilating the scorched and absolving payments. The fortress was enveloped in the Sovereign Captain’s magnificence.
2 The ensovereigned mediators could not enter the Sovereign Captain’s fortress due to its saturation with His magnificence.
3 Witnessing the fire and the Eternal Reality’s acclaim above the fortress, the Israelites prostrated themselves, expressing joyful adoration and gratitude to the Sovereign Captain for His goodness and enduring love.
4 The Prime Ruler and all present gave absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain.
5 Prime Ruler Solomon offered twenty thousand sheep, goats, and twenty-two thousand oxen, purifying the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress with the people.
6 The ensovereigned mediators and Levites performed their duties. Levites used musical instruments crafted by Prime Ruler David to laud the Sovereign Captain, echoing that love endures forever. The ensovereigned mediators played trumpets while all of Israel stood in attendance.

7 Solomon set-apart the central courtyard before the Sovereign Captain's fortress for scorched absolving payments and peace absolving payments, as there was insufficient room on the bronze pedestal table he made.
8 Solomon celebrated the festival for a week with all Israel, a massive ensovereigned lifestyle community from Lebo Hamath to the stream of Egypt.

9 They convened a solemn gathering after seven days, having observed the dedication of the pedestal table and the festival for seven days each.
10 On the twenty-third day of the seventh month, Solomon, the builder of the fortress, released his people to their dwellings, filled with happiness and contentment in their inner selves due to the Sovereign Captain's empowerment of David; Solomon, and Israel.

§ 16810 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN APPEARS TO SOLOMON, THE BUILDER OF THE FORT

11 After Solomon completed his plans for the Sovereign Captain's fortress and grand residence, 12 The Sovereign Captain appeared to him at night, saying: "I have acknowledged your intervention and designated this place as my fortress for absolving payments.
13 If I restrict the celestial realms, causing drought, command insects to consume vegetation, or unleash an epidemic on my people,
14 and my pathseekers, identified by my Name, humble themselves, supplicate, and earnestly seek my presence, turning from their evil actions, I will hear from the celestial realms, absolve their transgressions and restore their land.
15 My eyes will be open, and my ears attentive to the supplications made here.
16 I have chosen and set-apart this fortress for my Name to reside eternally. My eyes and inner-self will always be there.
17 If you follow your father David's example, trustfully serving me, adhering to my directives, and upholding my statutes and regulations as he did,
18 I will secure your kingly rule as I promised David, ensuring a descendant from your family always governs Israel.
19 But if you deviate, neglecting the laws and directives I've given you, and serve idolized deities, 20 I will eliminate Israel from my territory and disapprove of this fortress I have set-apart in my honor. It will become a common phrase and a subject of ridicule among all nations.

21 This fortress will turn into ruins. everyone passing by will be shocked and ask why the Sovereign Captain did this to the land and the fortress.
22 They will answer that it's because they abandoned the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of their forefathers who led them out of Egypt, and followed idolized deities, showing reverence and devotion to them; this is why he inflicted all this calamity on them."

§ 16820 SOLOMON'S OTHER ACTIVITIES

8 After two decades, Solomon built the Sovereign Captain's fortress and his residence.
2 He rebuilt the towns Hiram had given him and settled Israelites there.

3-4 Solomon conquered Hamath Zobah and built Tadmor in the wilderness and supply centers in Hamath.
5 He fortified Upper and Lower Beth Horon with walls and barred gates.
6 Solomon constructed Baalath, storage towns, and cities for his strike vehicles and tactical personnel transports in Yerushalayim, Lebanon, and across his realms.
7 The remaining residents included Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites.
8 Solomon imposed labor on their descendants, which continues today.
9 Israelites were not conscripted; they served as warriors, leaders, and managers of his strike vehicles and transport drivers.
10 Solomon's top administrators—250 officers—managed the workforce.
11 Solomon, the builder of the fortress, moved Pharaoh's daughter from the City of David to a new residence, believing she should not live in David's palace due to its Exaltedness from housing the Strongbox of the Sovereign Captain.

12 Solomon offered scorched absolving payments on the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table he built before the vestibule.
13 He followed daily formalities, offering recon payments as Moses commanded during the Days of Rest, New Moons, and three yearly festivals—Festival of Tents, Festival of Weeks, and Festival of Unleavened Bread.
14 Following his father David's directives, Solomon assigned ensovereigned mediators to their offices and Levites to express joyful adoration and assist according to daily tasks. He also established gatekeepers by sections, as David directed.
15 They adhered to the Prime Ruler's orders concerning ensovereigned mediators and Levites, including storehouse matters.
16 Solomon completed all tasks, from initiating to finishing the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
17 Solomon traveled to Ezion Geber and Elath on Edom's shore.
18 Hiram sent ships with skilled mariners who went to Ophir with Solomon's crew and returned with 14.85 metric tons of gold for Solomon.

§ 16830 THE FIRST LADY OF SHEBA VISITS SOLOMON, THE BUILDER OF THE FORTRESS

9 Hearing of Solomon's wisdom, the First Lady of Sheba traveled to Yerushalayim with a grand entourage and transports laden with spices, gold, and precious gemstones to challenge him with riddles. She discussed all her thoughts and queries with Solomon.
2 Solomon answered all her questions effortlessly.
3 She was amazed by his intellect and his residence.
4 Observing the meals at his table, the seating of his officials, the servants' attire, the cloak-clad cupbearers, and the scorched absolving payments he presented at Preeminent Sovereign's fortress, she was astounded.

5 The First Lady told Solomon that the tales of his accomplishments and wisdom were authentic.
6 "I was skeptical until I saw it myself. Your wisdom far exceeds what I was told.
7 How fortunate your people are. What bliss for your officers who always hear your wisdom.
8 Honor to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, who delights in you and has made you sovereign to govern for Him. Because of His love for Israel and enduring commitment, He has appointed you as their Prime Ruler to secure justice and integrity."

[9] The First Lady gave Solomon 3.96 metric tons of gold, spices, and precious gemstones. The spices she gave were unparalleled.
[10] Hiram and Solomon's workers fetched gold from Ophir and imported algum wood and valuable gemstones.
[11] Solomon, the builder of the fortress, used the algum wood to build stairways for the Sovereign Captain's fortress and the governance palace and to make lyres and harps for musicians. Such items had never been seen in Judah before.
[12] Solomon granted all the First Lady's requests, giving her more than she brought. She then returned to her homeland with her entourage.

§ 16840 SOLOMON'S SPLENDOR

[13] Each year, Solomon received approximately 19,980 kilograms of gold.
[14] Besides the income from merchants and traders, all the Prime Rulers of Arabia and regional leaders supplied gold and silver to Solomon.
[15] Prime Ruler Solomon crafted two hundred significant ballistic shields from beaten gold, each weighing 6.804 kilograms.
[16] He made three hundred smaller ballistic shields from hammered gold, using three hundred shekels for each. These were placed in the Lebanon Forest Palace.

[17] Solomon, the builder of the fortress, constructed a magnificent seat adorned with ivory and coated with pure gold.
[18] Six steps led up to the majestic chair with a golden footstool. Armrests were on either side, with a lion artifact beside each.
[19] Twelve lions were placed on the six steps, two at each end. No other realm had crafted anything like it.
[20] All furnishings in Solomon's Lebanon Forest Palace were solid gold, as were his drinking utensils. Silver was considered insignificant during Solomon's era.
[21] Solomon's trading vessels, crewed by Hiram's men, embarked on maritime journeys every three years, returning with gold, silver, ivory, monkeys, and peacocks.
[22] Prime Ruler Solomon surpassed all Prime Rulers in wealth and wisdom.
[23] Every Prime Ruler on Earth sought Solomon, the builder of the fortress, to hear the Eternal Reality's knowledge instilled in him.
[24] Annually, visitors presented tributes—silver and gold items, garments, weapons, fragrant spices, tactical personnel transports, and utility terrain vehicles.
[25] Solomon maintained four thousand garages for armored personnel carriers, strike vehicles, and twelve thousand tactical personnel transports. He stationed them in designated main strike vehicle municipalities and at his side in Yerushalayim.
[26] He ruled over all the rulers from the Euphrates River to Philistine Warrior territory and the Egyptian frontier.
[27] Silver was as abundant in Yerushalayim as stones under Solomon's reign, and cedar was as widespread as sycamore-fig trees in the lowlands.
[28] Mounts from Egypt and other lands were brought in for Solomon.

§ 16850 SOLOMON'S DEATH

29 Regarding the remaining actions of Solomon, from start to finish, are they not documented in the prophecies of Ahijah the Shilonite, the records of Nathan, the eternally wise servant, and the visions of Iddo the Seer, regarding Jeroboam, son of Nebat?
30 Solomon ruled Israel for 40 years with Yerushalayim as his capital.
31 After his death, Solomon was buried in the city of his father, David. His male heir, Rehoboam, succeeded him.

§ 16860 ISRAEL REBELS AGAINST REHOBOAM

10 Rehoboam traveled to Shechem, where all of Israel had gathered to ensovereign him as Prime Ruler.
2 Jeroboam, son of Nebat, who had fled to Egypt to escape Prime Ruler Solomon, returned upon hearing the news.
3-4 Jeroboam and all of Israel approached Rehoboam, saying, "Your father imposed a heavy yoke on us. If you lighten this burden, we will serve you."
5 Rehoboam replied, "Return in three days." So, the people left.

6 Rehoboam sought advice from the elders who had served his father, Solomon. He asked, "How should I respond to these people?"
7 They advised, "If you are kind and accommodating, they will serve you forever."
8 However, Rehoboam ignored their counsel and consulted his peers who had grown up with him.
9 He asked them, "What do you suggest?"
10 "This is how you ought to reply to these people who said to you, 'Your father made our burden heavy, but you should make it lighter, '" the young men who had grown up with him retorted. Tell them that your little pinky is thicker than your father's belly.

11 I will add to the great load that my father placed upon you. I shall chastise you with scorpions, just like my father did with whips.

12 After three days, Jeroboam and the people returned to Rehoboam.
13-14 Rehoboam harshly rejected the elders' advice and followed his peers' counsel, saying, "You already have a hefty load from my father; I shall add to it. He disciplined you with whips; I will use venomous creatures."
15 This celestial orchestration fulfilled the Sovereign Captain's vision for Jeroboam through Ahijah, the Shilonite eternally wise servant.

16 Realizing Rehoboam would not listen, the Israelites said, "Why should we be associated with David or Jesse's family? Return to your homes, Israel! Take care of your own house, David!" So, the Israelites went home.
17 Rehoboam ruled over the Israelites in Judah's cities.
18 He sent Adoniram to oversee conscripted labor, but the Israelites stoned him to death. Rehoboam fled to Yerushalayim in his main strike vehicle.
19 Israel has rebelled against David's dynasty ever since.

11 In Yerushalayim, Rehoboam assembled 180,000 warriors from Judah and Benjamin to fight Israel and reclaim the realm.
2 Shemaiah, the ensovereigned mediator, received a message from the Preeminent Sovereign from the Sovereign Captain.
3-4 He conveyed this message to Rehoboam and all Israelites in Judah and Benjamin: “the Sovereign Captain proclaims: Do not fight your Israelite brethren. Everyone should return home; this situation is my will.” They obeyed the Sovereign Captain’s directive and did not attack Jeroboam.

§ 16870 REHOBOAM FORTIFIES JUDAH

5 Rehoboam resided in Yerushalayim, constructing fortified cities in Judah for protection.
6 Construction occurred in Bethlehem, Etam, and Tekoa.
7 Beth-Zur, Socho, Adullam.
8 Ziph, Gath, and Mareshah.
9 Adoraim, Azekah, and Lachish.
10 Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron were all cities in Judah and Benjamin that had been strengthened with defenses.
11 He fortified the fortifications, appointed leaders, and stocked food, olive oil, and wine.
12 He stored battle paraphernalia in each metropolis, strengthening them significantly, hence maintaining dominance over Judah and Benjamin.
13 The ensovereigned mediators and Levites from every Israel region pledged allegiance to him.
14 The Levites deserted their fields and lands, moving to Judah and Yerushalayim due to Jeroboam and his sons’ disapproval of allowing them to serve as ensovereigned mediators of the Sovereign Captain.
15 When he selected his clergy for the elevated expression of joyful adoration sites and the goat and calf figures he had crafted.
16 Individuals from every community of Israel who were determined to seek the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, joined the Levites on their journey to Yerushalayim to provide absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of their forefathers.
17 The realm of Judah was fortified, and Solomon’s male heir, Rehoboam, was backed for three years, adhering to the principles of David and Solomon during this period.

§ 16880 REHOBOAM’S FAMILY

18 Rehoboam married Mahalath, daughter of Jerimoth, David’s male heir, and Abihail, daughter of Eliab, Jesse’s male heir.
19 She bore him Jeush, Shemariah, and Zaham.
20 He later married Maacah, Absalom’s daughter, who gave birth to Abijah, Attai, Ziza, and Shelomith.
21 Rehoboam favored Maacah over his wives and concubines. He had eighteen wives and sixty concubines, fathering twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters.
22 He appointed Abijah, Maacah’s son, as the principal leader to establish him as the Prime Ruler.
23 Wisely stationed some offspring in Judah and Benjamin’s stronghold cities, providing them ample supplies and seeking many wives.

§ 16890 SHISHAK ATTACKS YERUSHALAYIM

12 Once Rehoboam solidified his sovereignty and amassed power, he and Israel disregarded the Sovereign Captain's Path.
2 Due to their disloyalty, Prime Ruler Rehoboam's reign faced an invasion from Shishak, the Prime Ruler of Egypt, in its fifth year.
3 Shishak brought twelve hundred strike vehicles, sixty thousand assault forces, and countless soldiers from Libya, Sukkiim, and Cush.
4 He seized Judah's strongholds and advanced toward Yerushalayim.

5 The eternally wise servant, Shemaiah, approached Rehoboam and Judah's chiefs in Yerushalayim, delivering a message from the Sovereign Captain: they had turned their backs on Him and would face Shishak.
6 Israel's Prime Ruler and rulers expressed humility, declaring the Sovereign Captain was full of integrity.

7 Observing their humility, the Sovereign Captain told Shemaiah: "As they have demonstrated humility, I won't eradicate them but offer redemption shortly. My fury won't be unleashed on Yerushalayim via Shishak."
8 However, they will be subdued to understand the distinction between serving me and other rulers.

9 Shishak attacked Yerushalayim, seizing wealth from the Sovereign Captain's fortress and the grand residence, including Solomon's golden ballistic shields.
10 Prime Ruler Rehoboam fabricated bronze ballistic shields in their stead, entrusting them to commanders safeguarding his governance dwelling.
11 Guards carried the ballistic shields back to the guardroom each time the Prime Ruler visited the Sovereign Captain's fortress.

12 When Rehoboam showed humility, the Sovereign Captain's wrath was diverted, sparing him from destruction. Surprisingly, favorable conditions were observed in Judah.
13 Rehoboam fortified his position in Yerushalayim and ruled. At forty-one, he ascended to authority and governed Yerushalayim for seventeen years. His mother was an Ammonite named Naamah.
14 He committed wrongdoings as he did not truly resolve to pursue the Sovereign Captain.

15 The chronicles of Rehoboam's reign are documented in the annals of Shemaiah and Iddo, including genealogical records. Persistent conflict existed between Rehoboam and Jeroboam during this period.
16 Rehoboam joined his predecessors in death and was interred in David's city. His male heir, Abijah, took over authority following him.

§ 16900 ABIJAH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

13 Abijah began his rule over Judah in Jeroboam's eighteenth year.
2 He governed in Yerushalayim for many years. His mother was Maakah, a descendant of Uriel from Gibeah. Conflict arose between Abijah and Jeroboam.

[3] Abijah led four hundred thousand soldiers into battle, while Jeroboam assembled eight hundred thousand men.
[4] Standing on Mount Zemaraim in Ephraim, Abijah addressed Jeroboam and Israel, urging them to listen.
[5] "the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, gave David and his family eternal reign over Israel through a salt pact.
[6] Yet, Jeroboam, the heir of Nebat, rebelled against Solomon."
[7] "Worthless men rallied around him, overpowering Rehoboam, Solomon's young and inexperienced son.
[8] Now you challenge the Sovereign Captain's sovereignty with David's descendants. Do you think you can prevail despite your large army and golden idolized deities made by Jeroboam?
[9] Have you not expelled the ensovereigned mediators of the Sovereign Captain, Aaron's descendants, and the Levites, setting up your own priests like foreign nations? Anyone who brings a young bull and seven rams can become a priest of entities, not of the Preeminent Sovereign.
[10] "But we have not abandoned Yahweh, our Eternal Reality. Aaron's descendants actively serve as ensovereigned mediators on behalf of our Preeminent Sovereign, with the support of the Levites.
[11] They offer scorched absolving payments and aromatic incense every morning and evening. They set the candles on the golden light fixture every evening and placed the bread on the spotless table. We fulfill our duties to the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign. But you have abandoned Him.
[12] The Sovereign Captain is with us; He guides us. His ensovereigned mediators will sound their signal for battle against you. Israelites, don't fight against the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of your forefathers; you will not succeed."

[13] Jeroboam had set an ambush to attack from behind while confronting Judah from the front.
[14] Judah turned and saw they were attacked from both sides. They cried out to the Sovereign Captain, and the ensovereigned mediators sounded their sound cannons.
[15] Judah's warriors shouted a war cry. As their shout echoed, the Preeminent Sovereign defeated Jeroboam and all of Israel before Abijah and Judah.
[16] Israel fled from Judah, and the Preeminent Sovereign delivered them into Judah's hands.
[17] Abijah's army struck down half a million chosen men from Israel.
[18] Israel was defeated while Judah triumphed because they trusted in their forefathers' Captain, the Eternal Reality.
[19] Abijah pursued Jeroboam, capturing Bethel, Jeshanah, Ephron, and their villages.
[20] Jeroboam never regained power during Abijah's reign and eventually died at the Sovereign Captain's hand.
[21] As Abijah gained strength, he married fourteen times and produced sixteen daughters and twenty-two boys.
[22] Abijah's deeds are recorded in the writings of Iddo, the eternally wise servant.

[14] Abijah died peacefully and was buried in David's city. His son Asa succeeded him, bringing peace to the land for a decade.

§ 16910 ASA PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

[2] Asa acted with integrity, pleasing his Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.

3 He destroyed the pedestal tables of foreign idolized deities, their religious shrines, exalted monoliths, and symbols of Asherah.

4 Asa instructed Judah to follow the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of their forefathers, and adhere to His teachings and directives.
5 He abolished the venerated religious shrines and incense pedestal tables throughout Judah, bringing tranquility to the realm.
6 Judah's fortified towns were strengthened during this peaceful period, as the Sovereign Captain granted respite.
7 "Let's fortify these cities," Asa urged, "with bars, walls, gates, and towers. We control this territory because we have trustfully pursued the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign; we've diligently sought His guidance and gifted us tranquility." So, they developed and thrived.
8 Asa commanded three hundred thousand courageous soldiers from Judah with broad ballistic shields and tactical bayonets and two hundred eighty thousand from Benjamin with compact ballistic shields and projectile launchers. All were brave warriors.
9 The Ethiopian Zerah advanced with a million men and three hundred strike vehicles, reaching Mareshah.
10 Asa confronted him, arranging their lines for combat in the Zephathah Valley near Mareshah.
11 Asa pleaded to the Sovereign Captain, his Preeminent Sovereign, declaring that no one can compare to Him in aiding the weak against the powerful. "We implore you, our Sovereign Captain, as we depend on You. In Your esteemed Name, we confront this enormous force. Captain, You are our Eternal Reality; do not let mere humans triumph over You."
12 The Eternal Reality quelled the Cushites before Asa and Judah, leading to their retreat.
13 Asa and his troops pursued them to Gerar, decimating them under the Sovereign Captain's and his warriors' supremacy. Judah's soldiers hauled away bountiful treasures.
14 All settlements around Gerar were devastated as the fear of the Sovereign Captain seized them. They ransacked these communities due to the substantial loot present.

15 The herders' camps were also assaulted, resulting in massive seizures of sheep, goats, and camels. They then returned to Yerushalayim.

§ 16920 ASA'S REFORM

15 Azariah, Oded's son, was filled with the Eternal Spark of the Preeminent Sovereign.
2 He approached Asa and implored him, "Pay heed to My Path and those of Judah and Benjamin's inhabitants. the Sovereign Captain remains by your side when you stay by His. If you pursue Him, you will undoubtedly discover Him; however, should you abandon Him, He will reciprocate that abandonment."
3 Israel lived for years devoid of the genuine Eternal Reality, lacking an ensovereigned mediator to instruct and bereft of legislation.
4 During their hardship, they focused on the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, earnestly seeking Him, and He made Himself discoverable to them.
5 During that period, journeying was not secure as every dweller of the territories was in considerable distress.
6 One nation battered another, and one city battered another because the Preeminent Sovereign inflicted all forms of distress.
7 Remain firm and never surrender, as your efforts shall have a payoff.

8 Hearing Azariah's vision, Asa was filled with brave determination. He rid Judah and Benjamin of all repulsive idolized deities, including the cities he had seized in Ephraim's highlands. Asa renovated the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table before the fortress' entrance hall.
9 He gathered all the people of Judah and Benjamin, including those from Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon, who had chosen to live among them. A significant multitude from Israel switched their allegiance to him, persuaded by the presence of the Sovereign Captain, his Preeminent Sovereign.

10 In the third month of Asa's fifteenth year as Prime Ruler, they assembled in Yerushalayim.
11 They offered the Sovereign Captain part of their accumulated loot: seven hundred bovines and seven thousand sheep.
12 They solemnly agreed to search for the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of their forefathers, with their entire being and energy.
13 Anyone who wouldn't dedicate their lives to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, would be executed, regardless of status or gender.
14 They pledged their loyalty to the Sovereign Captain, passionately shouting while sound cannons and trumpets echoed.

15 The entire region of Judah was delighted over the solemn pledge, as they had made it sincerely and passionately. They earnestly desired and found the Preeminent Sovereign, and in return, He gave them tranquility from all directions.
16 Prime Ruler Asa displaced his grandmother Maakah from her role as Matriarch Mother due to her creation of a revolting idolized deity for Asherah. He demolished, crushed, and scorched it in the Kidron Valley.
17 Even though Asa didn't eradicate the religious shrines in Israel, his devotion to the Sovereign
Captain was undivided throughout his existence.
18 He conveyed the silver, gold, and items he and his father had purified into the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.
19 The conflict ceased up until the 35th year of Asa's rule.

§ 16930 ASA'S LAST YEARS

16 In Asa's 36th year of rule, Baasha, the Prime Ruler of Israel, attacked Judah and fortified
Ramah to block movement within Asa's realm.

2 Asa took gold and silver from the Sovereign Captain's fortress and residence, sending it to Ben-Hadad, the Prime Ruler of Aram in Damascus.
3 "Let's renew our fathers' agreement. Here's silver and gold. Break your pact with Baasha so he leaves me alone."
4 Ben-Hadad agreed, sending his army leaders to invade Israel's cities, capturing Ijon, Dan,
Abel Maim, and all storage hubs in Naphtali.
5 Hearing this, Baasha stopped fortifying Ramah and abandoned his work.
6 Asa then mobilized Judah's men to haul away Baasha's construction materials to strengthen Geba and Mizpah.
7 Hanani, the eternally wise servant, told Asa: "You trusted Aram's Prime Ruler instead of the Sovereign Captain; you're the Preeminent Sovereign.
8 Didn't the Cushites and Libyans have a powerful force? Yet you trusted the Sovereign
Captain, and He delivered them to you.

9 The Sovereign Captain's gaze roams the world, strengthening those devoted to Him. Your actions were imprudent; now you'll face conflict."
10 Enraged, Asa imprisoned Hanani and oppressed some of the populace.
11 Asa's reign is documented in the records of Judah and Israel's Prime Rulers.
12 In his 39th year, Asa suffered a severe foot disease but relied solely on medical practitioners, not seeking celestial help from the Sovereign Captain.
13-14 In his 41st year, Asa died and was buried in the City of David on a couch with spices and fragrances. A colossal bonfire was lit in his remembrance.

§ 16940 JEHOSHAPHAT BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

17 Jehoshaphat, his offspring, ascended to authority after him and consolidated his rule over Israel.
2 He assigned forces to all the fortified citadels in Judah and established military posts throughout Judah and in the Ephraim cities that his father Asa had seized.

3 The Sovereign Captain guided Jehoshaphat as he inherited the principles of his forefather
David and refrained from resorting to the worship of the Baals.
4 He pursued the Eternal Reality of his forefather, adhered to His decrees, and refrained from Israel's customary practices.
5 The Sovereign Captain solidified Jehoshaphat's rule over the realm; all the people of Judah gave presents to him, resulting in him amassing considerable riches and prestige.
6 He was deeply committed to following the Sovereign Captain's ways. Additionally, he eradicated the places of skeptical worship, and the Asherah idolized deities from Judah.
7 During his third year of rule, he commissioned his officers Ben-Hail, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Micaiah to instruct in the cities of Judah.
8 Accompanying them were certain Levites, including Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah, and Tob-Adonijah, as well as the ensovereigned mediators Elishama and Jehoram.
9 They provided instruction throughout Judah, carrying with them the Book of the Sovereign Captain's Laws; they traversed all the municipalities of Judah, imparting knowledge to the populace.
10 The dread of the Sovereign Captain overwhelmed the nations in the territories bordering Judah, preventing them from instigating conflict with Jehoshaphat.
11 Several Philistine Warriors presented Jehoshaphat with offerings and tribute in silver, while the Arab communities provided him with a collection of livestock: precisely, seven thousand seven hundred rams and an equivalent number of goats.
12 Jehoshaphat's strength and influence grew progressively; he constructed fortresses and storage towns throughout Judah.
13 He possessed extensive resources in the cities of Judah and stationed seasoned warriors in Yerushalayim.
14 The registration by ancestral houses disclosed the following: from Judah, there were leaders of battalions consisting of 1,000 men each, with Adnah as the chief commander having 300,000 valiant warriors under his leadership.

15 Following him, Jehohanan, the leader, oversaw 280,000 soldiers.

16 Amasiah, offspring of Zikri, willingly dedicated himself to the service of Yahweh, leading two hundred thousand valiant warriors.
17 Eliada of Benjamin, a brave warrior accompanied by an army of 200,000 soldiers, wielded projectile launchers and ballistic shields.
18 Following him was Jehozabad, commanding 180,000 warfare-trained soldiers.
19 These individuals attended to the Prime Ruler and those he garrisoned in the fortified towns all over Judah.

§ 16950 MICAIAH PROCLAIMS ETERNAL WISDOM AGAINST AHAB

18 Jehoshaphat, rich and prestigious, allied with Ahab through marriage.
2 He visited Ahab in Samaria, where Ahab hosted a grand feast and persuaded him to attack Ramoth Gilead.
3 Ahab, Prime Ruler of Israel, asked Jehoshaphat, Prime Ruler of Judah, “Are you going to fight alongside me against Ramoth Gilead?” “I’m the same as you are, and those around me as your fellow citizens; we will fight with you,” Jehoshaphat retorted.
4 Jehoshaphat first urged Ahab to seek the Sovereign Captain’s guidance.
5 Ahab gathered 400 prophets and asked, “Should we go to war against Ramoth Gilead or not?” They answered, “Go, for the Preeminent Sovereign will give you victory.”
6 Jehoshaphat asked, “Is there not an eternally wise servant of the Sovereign Captain here whom we can consult?”
7 Ahab replied, “There is one man, Micaiah, son of Imlah, but I hate him because he never delivers wisdom anything good about me, only disaster.” Jehoshaphat said, “A Prime Ruler should not say such things.”
8 Ahab summoned an officer to bring Micaiah.

9 Ahab and Jehoshaphat, dressed in governance robes, sat on their bases of authority at the threshing floor by the gate of Samaria, with all the prophets prophesying before them.
10 After crafting iron horns, Zedekiah, son of Kenaanah, proclaimed, “This is what the Sovereign Captain says: You will slash the Arameans up until they are destroyed.”
11 All the other prophets agreed, saying, “Attack Ramoth Gilead and be victorious, for the Sovereign Captain will give it into the Prime Ruler’s hand.”
12 “See, the other prophets have forecast success for the Prime Ruler,” declared the messenger who had gone to fetch Micaiah. “Let your word speak pleasantly and align with the same thing.”
13 But Micaiah said, “As surely as the Preeminent Sovereign lives, I can tell him only what my Eternal Reality says.”

14 When he arrived, Ahab asked him, “Micaiah, should we go to war against Ramoth Gilead or not?” Micaiah answered, “Attack and be victorious, for they will be given into your hand.”
15 Ahab said to him, “How many times must I make you swear to tell me nothing but the authenticity in the Name of the Sovereign Captain?”
16 Micaiah answered, “I saw all Israel scattered on the hills, a protected people without an inner shield. And the Sovereign Captain said, ‘These people have no overseer. Let each one go home in peace. ’”
17 Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, “Didn’t I tell you that he never delivers wisdom anything good about me, only bad?”

18 Micaiah continued, “Therefore, hear the word of the Sovereign Captain: I saw the Sovereign Captain sitting at his command control with all the Celestial Envoys standing on his right and left.

19 “Who will entice Ahab, the Prime Ruler of Israel, to march up and fall at Ramoth Gilead?” the Sovereign Captain asked. One recommended this, and another recommended that.
20 Finally, a Celestial Envoy came forward, stood before the Sovereign Captain, and said, ‘I will entice him. ’
21 How would you go about it? Captain enquired. The Celestial Envoy vowed, “I will go and be a entity of deception in the lips of all his prophets.” “You’ll be successful in seducing Ahab,” the Sovereign Captain predicted. “Go ahead and make it happen.”
22 So now the Preeminent Sovereign has put a deceiving entity in the mouths of Ahab’s prophets. The Preeminent Sovereign has decreed disaster for you.”

23 Then Micaiah got his face smacked by Zedekiah, son of Kenaanah, who questioned, “Where did the Eternal Spark go when it left me to speak to you?”

24 Micaiah said, “You’ll find out in the morning when you’re hiding in an inner room.”
25-26 Ahab ordered, “Put this man in prison and give him nothing but bread and water until I return safely.”
27 Micaiah declared, “If you ever return safely, the Sovereign Captain has not spoken through me.” Then he added, “Mark my words, all you people!”

§ 16960 AHAB KILLED AT RAMOTH GILEAD

28 The Prime Ruler of Israel and Jehoshaphat, the Prime Ruler of Judah, advanced towards Ramoth Gilead.
29 The Israeli Prime Ruler informed Jehoshaphat, “I will camouflage myself and join the fight. However, you should wear your kingly attire.” So, the Israeli Prime Ruler veiled his identity and entered the fray.

30 The Aramean Prime Ruler had explicitly commanded his main strike vehicle leaders to battle solely with the Prime Ruler of Israel, irrespective of rank.
31 On sighting Jehoshaphat, the commanders of the strike vehicles mistook him for the Prime Ruler of Israel, prompting them to initiate an attack. Jehoshaphat, in his desperation, sent up a cry for help, and the Sovereign Captain came to his aid, causing his attackers to retreat.
32 On realizing he was not the Prime Ruler of Israel, the commanders of the strike vehicles ceased their chase.
33 Without any precise aim, an individual shot a projectile, striking the Prime Ruler of Israel between the breastplate and scale ballistic body armor. The Prime Ruler instructed his charioteer to turn around and help him exit the battlefield due to his injury.
34 Throughout the day, the combat escalated, with the Prime Ruler of Israel sustaining himself in his main strike vehicle, confronting the Arameans until dusk. At sunset, he succumbed to death.

19 The Prime Ruler of Judah, Jehoshaphat, arrived unscathed at his fortress in Yerushalayim.
2 Jehu, Hanani’s prophet and male heir, confronted the Prime Ruler, questioning if aiding the impure and expressing affection for those hostile towards the Sovereign Captain was right. He warned that such actions have invoked the Sovereign Captain’s anger against him.

3 Still, there's a positive side to you as you've eradicated the symbols of goddess Asherah from the territory and devoted your intent towards seeking the Preeminent Sovereign.

§ 16970 JEHOSHAPHAT APPOINTS JUDGES

4 Jehoshaphat resided in Yerushalayim and traveled from Beersheba to Ephraim, guiding the people back to the joyful adoration of the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of their forefathers.
5 He appointed judges in each fortified town of Judah.

6 He urged them to be discerning, as they were delivering justice for the Sovereign Captain, who is present in every ruling.
7 "Let reverence for the Sovereign Captain guide you. Judge carefully, for with our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, there is no unfairness, favoritism, or corruption."
8 Jehoshaphat also appointed Levites, ensovereigned mediators, and heads of Israelite families in Yerushalayim to enforce the Sovereign Captain's regulations and resolve disputes.
9 He commanded, "Serve with integrity and complete devotion in reverence of the Sovereign Captain."
10 "In every dispute brought by your fellow citizens—whether it involves manslaughter or aspects of the Mosaic Law, directives, or regulations—warn them to avoid making unworthy choices against the Sovereign Captain. Otherwise, His anger will engulf you and your people. Follow this, and you will prosper."
11 "Amariah, the prime ensovereigned mediator, will oversee all matters related to the Sovereign Captain. Zebadiah, Ishmael's relative, and Judah's communal chief will handle affairs related to the Prime Ruler. The Levites will serve as your administrators. Be brave, and may the Sovereign Captain support those who act rightly."

§ 16980 JEHOSHAPHAT DEFEATS MOAB AND AMMON

20 Following these events, the Moabites, Ammonites, and some Meunites initiated a conflict against Jehoshaphat.
2 Jehoshaphat was informed by some individuals that a massive military force from Edom was advancing towards him from across the Dead Sea, having already reached Hazezon Tamar, also known as En Gedi.
3 Feeling a sense of fear, Jehoshaphat sought guidance from the Sovereign Captain. It declared a fasting period for the entirety of Judah.
4 Inhabitants of Judah assembled to ask for the Sovereign Captain's guidance; indeed, they arrived from all corners of Judah to implore him.

5 Jehoshaphat positioned himself among the people of Judah and Yerushalayim in the house of the Eternal Reality ahead of the refreshed open space.
6 He proclaimed: "Sovereign, the Eternal Reality of our forefathers, aren't you the celestial Eternal Reality? You govern all the dominions of the nations. Strength and power are within your grasp, and none can resist you.

7 Our Eternal Reality Entity, haven’t you expelled the former dwellers of this territory preceding the arrival of your chosen ones, Israel, and perpetually given it on the family of your confidant, Abraham?
8 They resided there and constructed an Exalted Space dedicated to your Name, uttering
9 ‘Should adversity befall us, be it the tactical blade of retribution, pestilence, or famine, we will stand before this fortress resonating with your Name. In our turmoil, we will loudly invoke you, confident you will lend an ear to our cry and deliver us from our hardships. ’

10 However, we now see the people of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir lands. You did not permit Israel to attack when they emerged from Egypt; hence, Israel bypassed them and refrained from annihilating them.
11 Observe how they reciprocate by attempting to force us out of the territory you gave us as our legacy.
12 Almighty, won’t you execute judgment on them? Against this formidable horde assaulting us, we feel powerless. We lack knowledge of our next move, yet our gaze is firmly fixed on you.”

13 Every individual of Judah, from men to wives to their young ones, was present in the Sovereign Captain’s presence.
14 The Eternal Spark of the Sovereign Captain enveloped Jahaziel, a Levite and offspring of Asaph, the male heir of Mattaniah, the male heir of Jeiel, the male heir of Benaiah, and male heir of Zechariah, as he made his stand amidst the gathering.

15 “Pay heed, Prime Ruler Jehoshaphat, and all residents of Judah and Yerushalayim! the Sovereign Captain conveys this message: Fear not, nor lose energy due to this immense army. Remember, the contest belongs not to you but to the Preeminent Sovereign.
16 Proceed against them the following day. They’ll be ascending through the route of Ziz, and after the ravine in the Wilderness of Jeruel, you’ll locate them.
17 There won’t be a need for you to engage in this combat. Assume your positions, remain steadfast, and witness the redemption the Sovereign Captain will provide you, Judah and Yerushalayim. Let not fear or discouragement creep in. Face them tomorrow, and be assured that the Sovereign Captain shall stand by your side.”

18 Jehoshaphat lowered his head towards the Earth, and all the residents of Judah and Yerushalayim prostrated themselves in reverence to the Sovereign Captain.
19 Levites hailing from the peoples of Kohath and Korah rose to praise the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel loudly.
20 They left at dawn to travel to the Tekoa Wilderness. Jehoshaphat stood tall as they began their march and proclaimed, “Take heed, Judah and inhabitants of Yerushalayim! Trust in the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, and you will remain secure; trust in His eternally wise servants, and you will triumph.”

21 Following discussions with the people, Jehoshaphat designated men to deliver male heirs of acclaim to the Sovereign Captain and acknowledge his majestic purification as they led the march of the army, proclaiming: “Express gratitude to the Sovereign Captain, for his affection persists eternally.”
22 When they initiated their chants and praises, the Sovereign Captain orchestrated surprise attacks against the forces of Mount Seir, Moab, and Ammon, who had threatened Judah, leading to their defeat.
23 The Ammonites and Moabites collaborated to obliterate the inhabitants of Mount Seir. After wiping them out, they turned against each other, leading to mutual destruction.

24 On arriving at the vantage point that surveyed the wilderness, the warriors of Judah peered at the massive force, exclusively to behold a field littered with lifeless bodies, with not a single male heir having survived.
25 So, Jehoshaphat and his troops set out to gather their loot, discovering many gear, attire, and other precious items among them—far exceeding what they could carry off. Their spoils were so plentiful that it took them three days to accumulate.
26 They gathered on the fourth day in Berakah Valley, where they lauded the Sovereign Captain. So, it is known as Berakah Valley to this day.

27 Subsequently, every man from Judah and Yerushalayim, headed by Jehoshaphat, jubilantly returned to Yerushalayim as the Sovereign Captain had granted them delight over their foes.
28 Accompanied by the music of lyres, harps, and trumpets, they directly proceeded to the Sovereign Captain's fortress in Yerushalayim.
29 On hearing about the Sovereign Captain’s battle against Israel’s adversaries, a celestial dread seized all neighboring nations.
30 Jehoshaphat’s realm enjoyed tranquility as his Eternal Reality granted him rest from all quarters.

§ 16990 THE END OF JEHOSHAPHAT’S REIGN

31 Jehoshaphat became Judah’s Prime Ruler at 35 and ruled from Yerushalayim for twenty-five years. His mother was Azubah, a descendant of Shilhi.
32 Jehoshaphat followed his father Asa’s path, doing what was right in the Sovereign Captain’s sight.
33 However, skeptic worship sites remained, and the people hadn’t fully committed to the Preeminent Sovereign their forefathers venerated.
34 The rest of Jehoshaphat’s deeds are chronicled in the Chronicles of Jehu, son of Hanani, preserved in the Book of the Prime Rulers of Israel.

35-36 Jehoshaphat formed a pact with Ahaziah, Israel’s ruler known for his evil deeds, to build merchant vessels at Ezion Geber.
37 Eliezer of Mareshah, son of Dodavahu, expressed eternal wisdom against Jehoshaphat, saying, “Due to your partnership with Ahaziah, the Sovereign Captain will destroy your works.” The vessels were damaged and couldn’t embark on a voyage.

21 After passing away, Jehoshaphat was buried in the ancient city of David with his forebears. His son Jehoram followed him.
2 Jehoram’s brothers—Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariah, Azariah, Michael, and Shephatiah—were all sons of Jehoshaphat.
3 Their father gave them gold, silver, valuable items, and fortified cities in Judah but transferred the realm to Jehoram as the eldest.

§ 17000 JEHORAM BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

4 After securing control over his father’s realm, Jehoram executed all his siblings and several of Israel’s leaders.

5 He ascended to authority at thirty-two and reigned in Yerushalayim for eight years.
6 Jehoram, influenced by Ahab's family through his marriage to Ahab's daughter, lived as the Prime Ruler of Israel, engaging in deeds that the Sovereign Captain considered impure.
7 Despite this, the Sovereign Captain honored His agreement with David, vowing to keep a beacon for David and his progeny eternally.
8 During Jehoram's reign, Edom defied Judah's authority and appointed their Prime Ruler.
9 Jehoram fought back with his commanders and struck vehicles but only escaped the Edomites' encirclement during the night.
10 Edom continued resisting Judah's rule. Libnah also rejected their dominance as Jehoram had abandoned the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of his progenitors.

11 He constructed venerated sites on Judah's hills, leading Yerushalayim's inhabitants into inner infidelity and misguiding Judah's people.
12 Elijah, the eternally wise servant, sent a message to Jehoram stating that his actions did not emulate those of his father, Jehoshaphat, or Prime Ruler Asa of Judah.
13 Instead, he emulated the Prime Rulers of Israel, leading Judah and Yerushalayim into inner infidelity and committing fratricide against morally superior relatives.
14 The Sovereign Captain would severely afflict his people, offspring, spouses, and belongings with tragedy.
15 Jehoram would endure a chronic intestinal illness until his intestines were ejected due to the disease.
16 The Preeminent Sovereign incited the Philistine Warriors and Arabs near the Cushites against Jehoram.
17 Judah was assaulted, valuables looted, and only Ahaziah, the youngest male heir, was spared.
18 The Sovereign Captain inflicted Jehoram with a non-healable intestinal illness.
19 After two years, his intestines protruded due to the illness, leading to his death amidst tremendous suffering. No commemorative fire was lit in his memory.
20 Jehoram assumed authority at thirty-two and reigned in Yerushalayim for eight years. His death was met with no sorrow, and he was laid to rest in the City of David, though not in the burial grounds of the Prime Rulers.

§ 17010 AHAZIAH BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

22 Yerushalayim's inhabitants chose Ahaziah, Jehoram's youngest heir, to rule after raiders allied with the Arabs killed his older brothers. So, Ahaziah began his rule over Judah.
2 He started his reign at twenty-two and ruled Yerushalayim for a year. His mother, Athaliah, was Omri's granddaughter.

3 Influenced by his mother, he actively followed Ahab's household and engaged in evil actions.
4 He made entirely unworthy choices in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, similar to Ahab's family. After his father's death, Ahab's family became his counselors, leading to his downfall.
5 He followed their advice and joined Joram, Ahab's heir and Prime Ruler of Israel, in the battle against Hazael, Prime Ruler of Aram, at Ramoth Gilead, where the Arameans injured Joram.
6 Joram returned to Jezreel to heal from his injuries sustained at Ramoth. Ahaziah then went to Jezreel to visit Joram as he recovered.

7 The Preeminent Sovereign orchestrated Ahaziah's fall during this visit. Upon arrival, Ahaziah joined Joram to confront Jehu, Nimshi's heir, who the Preeminent Sovereign chose to annihilate Ahab's family.
8 As Jehu executed the Preeminent Sovereign's judgment on Ahab's family, he found Judah's leaders and Ahaziah's nephews serving Ahaziah and killed them too.
9 Jehu then searched for Ahaziah. His men found him hiding in Samaria and brought him to Jehu, who ordered his execution. They buried him, acknowledging he was a descendant of Jehoshaphat, who devotedly sought the Sovereign Captain. Consequently, Ahaziah's family lacked anyone strong enough to sustain control of the realm.

§ 17020 ATHALIAH AND JOASH

10 Upon learning her son Ahaziah was dead, Athaliah sought to eliminate the entire ruling family of Judah.
11 Jehosheba, daughter of Prime Ruler Jehoram, secretly saved Joash, Ahaziah's son, hiding him and his nurse in a secure room. Jehosheba was Jehoram's daughter, Jehoiada, the ensovereigned mediator's wife, and Ahaziah's sister, successfully kept Joash hidden from Athaliah.
12 While Athaliah ruled, Joash remained concealed in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress for six years.

23 In the seventh year, Jehoiada took action. He agreed with leaders of the hundred-man units:
Elishaphat, son of Zikri; Azariah, son of Jeroham; Ishmael, son of Jehohanan; Maaseiah, son of Adaiah; and Azariah, son of Obed.
2 They traveled throughout Judah, gathering Israel's family heads and Levites from every city.
Upon arriving in Yerushalayim, they formed a solemn agreement with the Prime Ruler in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.

3 "Look, the Prime Ruler's heir!" exclaimed Jehoiada. "He must rule as the Sovereign Captain said concerning David's family."
4 Here's the plan: One-third of you, ensovereigned mediators and Levites on duty on the Day of Rest, will guard the entrances.
5 Another third will be stationed in the Prime Ruler's residence and another third at the foundational entrance. The rest will gather in the Sovereign Captain's fortress courtyard.
6 Only ensovereigned mediators and commissioned Levites may enter; their exalted status grants access, while others must obey the Sovereign Captain's decree prohibiting entrance.
7 Levites must form a protective ring around the Prime Ruler, each bearing his weapon. If anyone tries to enter the fortress, they must be eliminated. Accompany the Prime Ruler consistently.

8 Following Jehoiada's orders, the Levites and all Judah's men acted. Each leader gathered their team—those starting and ending their shifts on the Day of Rest—as Jehoiada hadn't permitted any divisions to disperse.
9 He then presented the leaders of the hundred-member units with tactical bayonets and ballistic shields that once belonged to Prime Ruler David, housed in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.
10 He positioned everyone, each holding his weapon, circling the Prime Ruler near the pedestal table and fortress, from South to North.

11 Jehoiada and his sons brought out the Prime Ruler's heir, placed the grand command control on him, handed him a transcript of the solemn agreement, and declared his rule publicly.
ensovereigning was performed on him amid cries of "May the Prime Ruler have a long life!"
12 Hearing the commotion and acclaiming the Prime Ruler, Athaliah approached them in the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
13 She saw commanders and trumpeters surrounding the Prime Ruler by his column at the entranceway. The land's inhabitants were filled with delight and resounding trumpets. Musicians led chants of acclaim. Distressed, Athaliah tore her vestments and cried out.

14 Jehoiada instructed leaders of the hundred-strong military units to escort her from among the soldiers and execute anyone who followed her. He explicitly stated her life must not be taken within the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
15 They apprehended her at the Horse Gate entrance to the palace and executed her there.

16 Jehoiada made a promise on behalf of himself, the Prime Ruler, and the people to belong to the Sovereign Captain.
17 The crowd went to Baal's temple, reducing it to rubble. They shattered worship platforms and effigies and executed Mattan, Baal's clergyman, near the pedestal tables.
18 Jehoiada then assigned responsibility for the Sovereign Captain's fortress to Levitical ensovereigned mediators designated by David for specific roles in The fortress to carry out scorched absolving payments as mandated in Moses' Law, amid male heirs and jubilation, following David's command.
19 He also positioned sentinels at The fortress entrance to prevent anyone formally impure from entering under any circumstances.

20 He guided leaders of hundreds, distinguished individuals, people's governors, and all citizens; they escorted the Prime Ruler from the fortress. They entered the grand residence via the Upper Gate and positioned the Prime Ruler on the realm's majestic chair/authority.
21 The territory's inhabitants celebrated, and serenity prevailed as Athaliah met her end with a tactical blade.

§ 17030 JOASH REPAIRS THE FORTRESS

24 At seven, Joash ascended to authority and ruled Yerushalayim for forty years. His mother, Zibiah, hailed from Beersheba.
2 Throughout Jehoiada's lifetime, the ensovereigned mediator, Joash, acted in a manner that pleased the Sovereign Captain.
3 Jehoiada arranged two marriages for him, resulting in male heirs and daughters.

4 Joash resolved to refurbish the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
5 He summoned the ensovereigned mediators and Levites, instructing them to collect the annual tax from all of Israel to maintain the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress. He implored them to act promptly, but the Levites reacted slowly.
6 So, the Prime Ruler summoned Jehoiada, the prime ensovereigned mediator, and questioned,
"Why haven't you demanded that the Levites collect the tax from Judah and Yerushalayim, as Moses, the Sovereign Captain's servant, and the ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israel assigned for the Tent of the Solemn Agreement Law?"

7 The offspring of the malevolent Athaliah had unlawfully entered the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress. They used its exalted items in their worship of Baal's idolized deities.

[8] By the Prime Ruler’s decree, a box was constructed and positioned near the entrance of the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.

[9] An announcement was made throughout Judah and Yerushalayim, urging people to submit to the Sovereign Captain the tribute Moses had imposed on Israel during their time in the wilderness.

[10] Every leader and the people willingly gave their absolving payments, happily depositing them into the chest until it was full.
[11] Each time, the Levites brought the chest to the administrative male heir of the Prime Ruler. When it was full of money, the prime intelligence analyst and the delegate of the ensovereigned mediator would empty it and return it to its spot. This routine operation led to a substantial amount of money.

[12] The Prime Ruler and Jehoiada entrusted the money to those performing services inside the Sovereign Captain’s fortress. They employed stone workers, wood artisans, and specialists in iron and bronze for repairs.
[13] The project leaders worked earnestly, and renovations progressed steadily under their watch. They restored the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress to its initial blueprint and strengthened it further.

[14] On completion, they handed over surplus money to the Prime Ruler and Jehoiada, which was used to craft items for the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, including articles for services, scorched absolving payments, and various utensils made of gold and silver. As long as Jehoiada was alive, continuous scorched absolving payments were conducted at the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.

[15] Jehoiada reached a ripe old age and passed away at one hundred and thirty years old.
[16] He was laid to rest alongside the Prime Rulers in the City of David due to his significant contributions to Israel, the Preeminent Sovereign, and His fortress.

§ 17040 THE IMPURITY OF JOASH

[17] After Jehoiada’s death, Judah’s leaders approached the Prime Ruler, expressing loyalty, and heeded their counsel.
[18] They abandoned the fortress of the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of their ancestors, and worshipped wooden images and idolized deities. Consequently, wrath descended on Judah and Yerushalayim due to their transgression.
[19] Despite the Eternal Reality sending heralds to guide them back to His path and warn against their wrongdoings, the people ignored their words.
[20] The Eternal Spark enveloped Zechariah, Jehoiada’s male heir and ensovereigned mediator. He stood before the people and conveyed the Preeminent Sovereign’s message: “Why are you violating the directives of the Sovereign Captain? Success will elude you. As you’ve deserted the Sovereign Captain, He too has abandoned you.”
[21] They conspired against him, and at the Prime Ruler’s command, they stoned him to death in the court of the fortress of the Sovereign Captain.
[22] Prime Ruler Joash dismissed Jehoiada’s devoted service and murdered his male heir. As Zechariah died, he exclaimed, “May the Sovereign Captain observe this and hold you responsible.”

23 At year's end, Aram's forces attacked Joash, invading Judah and Yerushalayim, executing all leaders, and sending all loot to their Prime Ruler in Damascus.
24 Despite being outnumbered, the Sovereign Captain allowed them to defeat a larger army as punishment for Joash and Judah abandoning Him.
25 After the Arameans retreated, Joash was critically injured. His officials plotted against him for assassinating Jehoiada's male heir and killed him in his bed. He was buried in the City of David but not in the grand crypts.
26 The plotters were Zabad, son of Shimeath (an Ammonite woman), and Jehozabad, son of Shimrith (a Moabite woman).
27 The book of the Prime Rulers contains the chronicles of his children, visions concerning him, and documentation of His fortress' refurbishment. Amaziah's offspring succeeded him.

§ 17050 AMAZIAH BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

25 Amaziah ascended to authority at twenty-five and ruled in Yerushalayim for twenty-nine years. His mother was Jehoaddan of Yerushalayim.
2 He acted correctly according to the Sovereign Captain's perspective, yet his devotion was incomplete.
3 Once he secured his realm, he executed the servants who assassinated his father, the Prime Ruler.
4 However, he spared their offspring, adhering to the Mosaic Law: "Parents shouldn't face death for their children's actions, nor children for their parents'; each individual suffers for their wrongdoings."

5 Amaziah mobilized Judah, organizing them by families and assigning leaders over thousands and hundreds across Judah and Benjamin. He conducted a census of those aged twenty and above, revealing three hundred thousand capable warriors proficient in tactical bayonet and ballistic shield usage.
6 He also enlisted one hundred thousand mighty warriors from Israel for 3000 kilograms of silver.
7 A servant of the Preeminent Sovereign approached him, stating, "Sovereign, the soldiers from Israel shouldn't accompany you because the Eternal Reality is not with Israel or any Ephraimites."
8 "Even if you enter battle bravely, your foes will defeat you due to the Preeminent Sovereign's will, for He alone can assist or cause downfall."

9 Amaziah asked the Eternal Reality's messenger, "What about the 3000 kilograms expended for these Israeli soldiers?" The Celestial Envoy responded, "Preeminent Sovereign can provide you with far more significance than that."
10 As a result, Amaziah discharged the Ephraim soldiers, instructing them to return home. They were highly indignant towards Judah and departed in intense fury.

11 Amaziah commanded his troops to the Salt Valley, defeating ten thousand individuals from Seir.
12 Judah's troops seized ten thousand individuals alive, brought them to a precipice's peak, and tossed them off, causing all to be smashed to smithereens.

13 Concurrently, the dismissed soldiers attacked numerous settlements in Judah, ranging from Samaria to Beth Horon. They annihilated three thousand inhabitants and seized considerable loot.

14 Following his victory over the Edomites, Amaziah brought back the worshipped idolized deities of Seir's inhabitants. He appropriated these as idolized deities, expressing his devotion by prostrating himself before them and offering incense.
15 The Sovereign Captain was wrathful towards Amaziah. He dispatched an eternally wise servant to him with a question: "Why are you seeking guidance from the idolized deities of these people, who couldn't rescue their people from your clutches?"
16 As he was mid-sentence, the Prime Ruler interjected, "Were you assigned as the Prime Ruler's consultant? Halt! Why should you meet your demise?" Consequently, the visionary ceased speaking yet proclaimed, "I'm aware that the Preeminent Sovereign has resolved to eradicate you due to your actions and disregarding my advice."

17 Following a meeting with his counselors, Prime Ruler Amaziah of Judah sent a message to Jehoash, the male heir of Jehoahaz and grandson heir of Jehu, the Prime Ruler of Israel, daring him to meet on the battlefield.
18 However, Prime Ruler Jehoash of Israel responded: "Once, a thorn bush in Lebanon invited a mighty cedar there to wed its daughter to his male heir. But soon after, a ferocious beast from the Lebanese wilderness crushed the thorn bush."
19 "You trust that you have conquered Edom, which has led to your overconfidence and boastfulness. However, remain in your dwelling! Why provoke calamity and bring about your defeat, as well as that of Judah?"

20 Despite promptings, Amaziah ignored them; the Preeminent Sovereign had planned to let Jehoash conquer them since they worshipped the idolized deities of Edom.
21 Jehoash initiated the conflict. He and Amaziah confronted each other in Beth Shemesh, in Judah.
22 Israel defeated Judah, and each individual retreated to his dwelling.
23 Jehoash seized Amaziah at Beth Shemesh. Jehoash then transferred him to Yerushalayim, where he razed a portion of the Yerushalayim wall, extending about four hundred cubits from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate.
24 He confiscated all the gold, silver, and items in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress under Obed-Edom's supervision. He also seized the governance palace's treasures and hostages and returned to Samaria.

25 Amaziah survived for fifteen years following Jehoash's demise.
26 Are not all occurrences during Amaziah's reign documented in the chronicles of Judah and Israel?
27 When Amaziah disobeyed the Sovereign Captain, a plot was hatched against him in Yerushalayim. In an attempt to escape, he fled to Lachish. However, they dispatched people who eventually assassinated him there.
28 His body was conveyed in armored personnel transports and laid to rest with his forefathers in Judah's metropolis.

§ 17060 UZZIAH BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

26 At sixteen, the people of Judah chose Uzziah to succeed his father, Amaziah, as the Prime Ruler.
2 He rebuilt Elath and reintegrated it into Judah after Amaziah's death.
3 Uzziah ruled Yerushalayim for fifty-two years, starting at sixteen. His mother, Jekoliah, was from Yerushalayim.

4 He acted in alignment with the Sovereign Captain's will, like his father, Amaziah.
5 Guided by Zechariah, he prospered in his service to the Preeminent Sovereign as long as he remained loyal.

6 Uzziah fought the Philistine Warriors, demolishing Gath, Jabneh, and Ashdod's fortifications, and rebuilt settlements near Ashdod and other Philistine Warrior areas.
7 The Preeminent Sovereign aided him against the Philistine Warriors, Arabs in Gur Baal, and Meunites.
8 The Ammonites paid tribute to Uzziah, and his fame reached Egypt as his power grew.
9-10 He fortified Yerushalayim at the Valley Gate and Corner Gate and built fortifications in the wilderness, digging many wells due to his abundant livestock. He employed people to tend fields and vineyards in the mountains and fertile lands, showing his love for agriculture.

11 Jeiel, the grand intelligence analyst, and Maaseiah, the official, organized Uzziah's well-trained military force under Hananiah's guidance.
12-13 The force included 2,600 chiefs commanding 307,500 soldiers ready for battle.
14 Uzziah equipped them with ballistic shields, helmets, tactical bayonets, battle gear, projectile launchers, and slingshot stones.
15 In Yerushalayim, he built devices for defensive towers and corners to launch projectiles and large stones. His fame spread widely due to his remarkable strength.

16 However, Uzziah's arrogance led to his downfall. He disrespected the Sovereign Captain by burning incense in his fortress.

17-18 Ensovereigned mediator Azariah and 80 other valiant ensovereigned mediators confronted him, stating that only ensovereigned mediators, heirs of Aaron, were set-apart for this duty. They urged him to leave the fortress for his disloyalty.

19-20 While holding an incense burner in anger, a skin affliction appeared on Uzziah's forehead. Azariah and the other ensovereigned mediators saw this and quickly expelled him. Uzziah also hurried out due to the affliction he suffered from the Sovereign Captain.

21 Uzziah lived with contagious skin disease (an indication of inner unhealthfulness) until his death, isolated and barred from the Sovereign Captain's fortress. His son Jotham managed the grand mansion and national affairs.
22 Isaiah, Amoz's son, recorded The rest of Uzziah's reign.
23 Uzziah was buried near his forefathers in a grand burial ground due to his contagious skin disease (an indication of inner unhealthfulness). Jotham succeeded him as ruler.

§ 17070 JOTHAM BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

27 At twenty-five, Jotham ascended to authority and ruled Yerushalayim for sixteen years. His mother, Jerusha, was the offspring of Zadok.
2 He followed the integrid path according to the Sovereign Captain's perspective, mirroring his progenitor Uzziah's deeds, but refrained from intruding on the Sovereign Captain's fortress. However, the populace persisted in dishonest conduct.
3 Jotham restored the Sovereign Captain's fortress' Upper Gate and extensively constructed Ophel Hill's wall.
4 He built cities in Judah's highlands and established strongholds and watchtowers amidst the forests.

5 Jotham initiated a conflict with the Prime Ruler of the Ammonites and achieved victory. That year, the Ammonites compensated him with 3,000 kilograms of silver, ten thousand units of wheat, and ten thousand units of barley, consistently given for the next two years.
6 Jotham gained strength by steadfastly following the path of the Sovereign Captain, his Preeminent Sovereign.
7 The remaining chronicles of Jotham's rule, including all his military conflicts and actions, are documented in the historical records of the Prime Rulers of Israel and Judah.
8 Ascending to authority at twenty-five, he ruled Yerushalayim for sixteen years.
9 Jotham joined his forbears in death and was interred in David's city. His male heir, Ahaz, took over authority after him.

§ 17080 AHAZ BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

28 Ahaz ascended to authority at age twenty and ruled Yerushalayim for sixteen years. Unlike his forefather, David, he failed to act according to the Sovereign Captain's expectations.
2 He pursued the customs of the Israelite Prime Rulers and crafted figurines for the reverence of the Baals.
3 He offered scorched absolving payments in the Ben Hinnom Valley, even immolating his offspring in the flames. This horrific act mirrored the detestable customs of the communities that the Preeminent Sovereign had expelled to make room for the Israelites.
4 He presented absolving payments and kindled fragrant substances at the religious shrines, on the crests of the hills, and beneath every flourishing tree.

5 As a result, the Sovereign Captain handed him over to the Prime Ruler of Aram, who triumphed over him, capturing many of his people and transporting them to Damascus. Additionally, he surrendered to the Prime Ruler of Israel, who inflicted severe losses on him.

6 Pekah, the male heir of Remaliah, in a single day, resulted in the death of one hundred twenty thousand brave soldiers in Judah due to them abandoning the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of their forebears.

7 Zichri, a brave soldier from Ephraim, ended the lives of Maaseiah, the Prime Ruler's progeny, Azrikam, the administrator of the grand dwelling, and Elkanah, who held a position second exclusively to the Prime Ruler.
8 The Israelis seized two hundred thousand of their relatives, wives, and offspring from their Judean relatives. Additionally, they claimed a significant amount of loot and transported it back to Samaria.

9 Yet, an eternally wise servant of the Sovereign Captain named Oded was present. He confronted the army when they arrived back in Samaria. He proclaimed that he handed them over to you due to the anger of the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of your forefathers, against Judah. However, you have mercilessly killed them in a fury that extends to the celestial realms.
10 "Currently, you aim to subjugate the individuals of Judah and Yerushalayim into servitude. However, do you not also bear the burden of your transgressions against the Sovereign Captain? You're the Preeminent Sovereign.
11 Heed my advice! Return the captives taken from your brethren, as the intense wrath of the Sovereign Captain is directed towards you."

12 Certain key figures from Ephraim—Berekiah, the male heir of Meshillemoth; Azariah, the male heir of Jehohanan; Jehizkiah; Amasa, the male heir of Hadlai; and Shallum—challenged those returning from the battlefield.
13 They asserted, "Do not bring these captives here, lest we incur the Sovereign Captain's wrath. Are you planning to multiply our unworthy choices and guilt? Our transgressions are considerably weighty already, and His vehement anger is poised over Israel."
14 The warriors surrendered the captives and looted sight of the leaders and the entire gathering.

15 The men identified by name took charge of the captives, and using the spoils, they dressed all who were bare. They supplied them with garments, footwear, nourishment, hydration, and a healing salve. All those unable to walk were placed on donkeys. Consequently, they escorted them back to their kinsfolk in Jericho, the Metropolis of Palms, and then they returned to Samaria.

16 Prime Ruler Ahaz pleaded with the Assyrian Prime Rulers for assistance during that period.
17 The Edomites had once more invaded Judah, defeated them, and took captives.
18 The Philistine Warriors had also attacked areas in the sloping regions and southern parts of Judah. They successfully seized and established residency in Beth Shemesh, Aijalon, and Gederoth, including Soko, Timnah, and Gimzo, along with their adjacent settlements.
19 The Sovereign Captain brought Judah to its submission because Ahaz, the Prime Ruler of Israel, led Judah into moral corruption and was utterly untrustworthy of the Sovereign Captain.
20 The Assyrian Prime Ruler Tiglath-Pileser arrived; instead of providing aid, he caused difficulties.
21 Ahaz took valuables from the Sovereign Captain's fortress, the governance palace, and the leaders. It gave them to the Assyrian Prime Ruler, yet it availed him nothing.

22 During his tribulation, Prime Ruler Ahaz escalated his disloyalty against the Sovereign Captain.
23 He made offerings to the idolized deities of Damascus, believing they had helped him triumph; influenced by the conviction that the idolized deities of the Aram Prime Rulers had aided them, he offered absolving payments to these entities, hoping for the same assistance. However, these idolized deities precipitated his ruin and the downfall of the entire nation of Israel.

24 Ahaz collected the items from the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress, smashing them into fragments. He sealed the Sovereign Captain's fortress entrances and fabricated expressions of joyful adoration sites at every intersection in Yerushalayim.

25 He constructed altars in every city of Judah to offer absolving payments to foreign idolized deities, provoking the wrath of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of his forefathers.

26 The complete account of his reign, including all his actions and decisions from inception to conclusion, is documented in the chronicles of the Prime Rulers of Judah and Israel.
27 Ahaz joined his forefathers in death and was laid to rest in Yerushalayim. Yet his remains were not deposited in Israel's Prime Rulers' burial sites. His male heir, Hezekiah, ascended to authority in his stead.

§ 17090 HEZEKIAH PURIFIES THE FORTRESS

29 Ascending to authority at age twenty-five, Hezekiah ruled Yerushalayim for twenty-nine years. His mother, Abijah, was the offspring of Zechariah.
2 He pleased the Sovereign Captain with his actions, following the example his ancestor David had set.
3 In the initial month of his ruling period's first year, he reopened and restored the doors of the Sovereign Captain's Exalted Space.
4 He convened the ensovereigned mediators and Levites, gathering them in the eastern plaza.
5 He said, "Pay heed to me, you descendants of Levi! Purify yourselves now and clean up the fortress of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of your forefathers. Remove any impurity from the set-apart place.
6 Our ancestors acted treacherously, performing actions displeasing to the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, and abandoned him. Ignoring the Sovereign Captain's fortress, they turned their backs on him.
7 They also sealed the entrance hall of the fortress, extinguishing the lamps. They ceased to offer incense or conduct any scorched absolving payments in the Exalted Space dedicated to the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.

8-9 Consequently, the Preeminent Sovereign's fury descended on Judah and Yerushalayim, making them a spectacle of terror, shock, and ridicule, visibly evident to all. The tactical blade has killed our fathers, and our daughters, sons, and wives are captives because of this rage.
10 I have decided to form an agreement with the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, hoping that His severe wrath will be diverted from us.
11 My children, do not neglect your duties any longer, for the Sovereign Captain has appointed you to be in his presence, serve him, fulfill his ministerial tasks, and offer incense."

12 Then the following Levites commenced their duties: Joel, the male heir of Azariah and Mahath, the male heir of Amasai from the Kohathite family; Kish, the male heir of Abdi; and Azariah, the male heir of Jehallelel from the Merarite family; and Joah, the male heir of Zimmah, and Eden, the male heir of Joah from the Gershonite family.
13 Shimri and Jeiel were from the Elizaphan family, while Zechariah and Mattaniah came from Asaph's family.
14 Jehiel and Shimei were from Heman's family. Shemaiah and Uzziel were from the Jeduthun family.

15 After gathering their fellow Levites and purifying themselves, they cleaned the Sovereign Captain's fortress in compliance with the Prime Ruler's directive and the Sovereign Captain's words.
16 The ensovereigned mediator entered the exalted fortress of the Sovereign Captain to cleanse it. They relocated all impurities they discovered within the Sovereign Captain's fortress to the courtyard of Eternal Reality's building. The Levites then transported these unhealthy objects to the Kidron Valley.

17 The initiation of the purification rites started on the first day of the initial month, leading them to the vestibule of the Sovereign Captain by the eighth day. They dedicated another eight days to purifying the fortress of the Sovereign Captain itself, bringing the entire process to completion by the sixteenth day of the commencement month.
18 They proceeded to Prime Ruler Hezekiah. They informed him: "The entire fortress of the Sovereign Captain has been thoroughly cleansed, including the pedestal table for scorched absolving payments with all its tools, as well as the table for displaying the exalted bread, along with all its items.
19 All items Prime Ruler Ahaz discarded during his reign due to his untruthfulness have been restored and exalted. They are currently positioned before the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table."

20 Prime Ruler Hezekiah assembled the city's leaders at dawn and ascended to the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
21 Seven oxen, seven rams, seven lambs, and seven male goats were presented as an absolving payment for transgression for the realm, the Exalted Space, and Judah's people. The reigning Prime Ruler instructed Aaron's heirs to perform the offering on the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table.
22 The ensovereigned mediators proceeded with absolving payment of bulls, collecting blood, and casting it on the pedestal table; they followed with rams and lambs, gathering blood and dispersing it on the pedestal table each time.
23 The male goats intended for peace offering were presented to the Prime Ruler and gathered assembly, who then placed their hands on them.
24 The ensovereigned mediators slaughtered goats, applying their blood to pedestal table as an offering for unworthy choices, seeking absolution for all Israel per the Prime Ruler's mandate for scorched absolving payments for all Israel.

25-26 Prime Ruler Hezekiah commissioned Levites in the Sovereign Captain's fortress with cymbals, harps, and lyres per directives by David, Gad (Prime Ruler's seer), and Nathan (eternally wise servant). The Levites were prepared with David's musical tools; ensovereigned mediators held trumpets ready.

27 Hezekiah instructed scorched absolving payment on pedestal table. As this formality began, they sang praises to the Sovereign Captain with trumpets and musical tools that David crafted.
28 The ensovereigned lifestyle community prostrated in joyful adoration. At the same time, instruments played, and horns reverberated until scorched absolving payment was fully offered.

29 On completing absolving payments, Prime Ruler Hezekiah and everyone in attendance bowed and paid homage.
30 Prime Ruler Hezekiah and his leaders directed Levites to acclaim Sovereign Captain using lyrics of David and the eternally wise servant, Asaph. They joyously sang praises and humbly bowed in adoration.

31 Hezekiah declared: “You have purified yourselves to Sovereign Captain. Approach and present your absolving payments and expressions of gratitude at Sovereign Captain’s fortress.” So, an ensovereigned lifestyle community brought forth absolving payments and expressions of gratitude; every individual with a generous mindset offered scorched absolving payments.

32 The ensovereigned lifestyle community delivered seventy bulls, a hundred sheep, and two hundred young lambs—all intended for scorched absolving payments to Sovereign Captain.
33 The tally of animals dedicated for exalted absolving payments was six hundred oxen and three thousand sheep and goats.

34 The number of ensovereigned mediators was inadequate to skin all scorched absolving payments; hence, their relative Levites assisted until work was complete and rest had made themselves exalted. The Levites had been more meticulous in self-authentication than ensovereigned mediators.

35 Scorched absolving payments were plentiful, along with fat from peace absolving payments and accompanying liquid offerings for scorched absolving payments, restoring joyful adoration in Sovereign Captain’s fortress.
36 Hezekiah and all people were joyful for the swift actions Preeminent Sovereign enabled for His people.

§ 17100 HEZEKIAH CELEBRATES THE EMANCIPATION

30 Hezekiah sent messages across Israel and Judah, inviting Ephraim and Manasseh to the Sovereign Captain’s fortress in Yerushalayim to celebrate the Emancipation Feast in honor of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.
2 The Prime Ruler, his aides, and the ensovereigned lifestyle community in Yerushalayim decided to observe the Emancipation Feast during the second month.
3 They couldn’t celebrate at the usual time because not enough ensovereigned mediators had set themselves apart, and the people hadn’t gathered in Yerushalayim.
4 The Prime Ruler and the ensovereigned lifestyle community agreed this was appropriate.
5 A decree was circulated throughout Israel, from Beersheba to Dan, inviting everyone to Yerushalayim to observe the Emancipation Feast in honor of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel. The celebration hadn’t been kept with such a large crowd for a long time.
6 Following the Prime Ruler’s directive, messengers traveled across Israel and Judah, delivering letters that urged citizens to recommit to the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality, adored by Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, and assured them that He would return to those who had escaped the Assyrian Prime Rulers.
7 Do not emulate your ancestors who betrayed the Sovereign Captain, their forefathers’ Preeminent Sovereign, resulting in their dreadful fate.

8 Do not be stubborn like your forefathers; yield to the Sovereign Captain. Proceed to his Exalted Space, which he has exalted for all eternity. Express joyful adoration to the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, so his extreme wrath will deviate from you.

9 If you return to the Sovereign Captain, your brethren and offspring will receive mercy from their captors and return to this land. The Sovereign Captain embodies kindness and compassion. His gaze will not be averted from you if you come back to him.
10 The messengers traveled through Ephraim and Manasseh up to Zebulun but were met with mockery and ridicule.
11 Despite this, a few individuals from Asher, Manasseh, and Zebulun humbled themselves and went to Yerushalayim.
12 In Judah, the Preeminent Sovereign instilled unanimity in the populace to adhere to the Prime Ruler's and his officials' grand mandate according to the Sovereign Captain's directive.
13 During the second month, a large assembly gathered in Yerushalayim to observe the Feast of Unleavened Bread.
14 The pedestal tables and incense altars in Yerushalayim were eradicated and discarded into the Kidron Valley.
15 The paschal lamb was put to death on the fourteenth day of the second month. Feeling humiliated, the ensovereigned mediators and Levites set themselves apart. They brought absolving payments to be burned at the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
16 They then assumed their customary posts following Moses' guidelines. The ensovereigned mediators dispersed the blood the Levites gave on the pedestal table.
17 As many in the gathering weren't set-apart, the Levites slaughtered the Emancipation Feast lambs for those not properly cleansed.
18 Although many from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun hadn't purified themselves, they consumed the Emancipation Feast meal, deviating from what was prescribed. However, Hezekiah interceded on their behalf, pleading for forgiveness from the benevolent Sovereign Captain.

19 Everyone prepares their inner-self to pursue the Preeminent Sovereign, even if they aren't formally healthy as per fortress regulations.
20 The Preeminent Sovereign responded to Hezekiah's pleas and restored their health.
21 For seven days, the Israelites in Yerushalayim enjoyed the Feast of Unleavened Bread with great delight. The ensovereigned mediators dispersed the blood the Levites gave on the pedestal table.
22 Hezekiah communicated positive words to all Levites who knew well about performing service for the Sovereign Captain. During seven days, they consumed their allotted food, presented peace offerings, and expressed gratitude to the Sovereign Captain, their forefathers' Preeminent Sovereign.
23 The ensovereigned lifestyle community agreed to extend the festival for another week; hence, they jubilantly observed for another seven days.
24 For the assembly, Hezekiah provided seven thousand lambs and a thousand bulls; officials provided ten thousand sheep and a thousand bulls. Many mediators gave themselves up.
25 everyone present from Judah, including ensovereigned mediators, Levites, Israel's gathering, immigrants from Israel, and those dwelling in Judah were delighted.
26 Yerushalayim hadn't experienced such happiness since Solomon's reign; it was unmatched.
27 Ensovereigned mediators and Levites invoked empowerment in the people. Their voices reached the Preeminent Sovereign as their intervention was heard up to his exalted fortress in the celestial realm.

31 After these events, Israelites journeyed to Judah's cities, pulverizing religious monoliths and chopping down Asherah poles. They obliterated high sanctuaries and religious altars throughout Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh. Having eradicated them, Israelites returned to their towns and properties.

§ 17110 CONTRIBUTIONS FOR A JOYFUL ADORATION

2 Hezekiah organized the ensovereigned mediators and Levites into groups based on their roles to present scorched absolving payment and peace offerings, serve, express gratitude, and sing at the Sovereign Captain's fortress entrance.
3 The Prime Ruler allocated part of his wealth for routine morning and evening absolving payments and scorched absolving payment during the Day of Rest, New Moon, and specified festivals as per the Sovereign Captain's Law.
4 He instructed Yerushalayim's inhabitants to provide the appropriate share to the ensovereigned mediators and Levites, enabling them to commit to the Sovereign Captain's path fully.
5 Following the proclamation, the Israelites offered the first portion of their crop, fresh wine, olive oil, honey, and everything their fields yielded, providing a tenth of all their produce.
6 The inhabitants of Israel and Judah residing in Judah's cities also brought a tenth of their livestock and set-apart items dedicated to their Preeminent Sovereign, the Sovereign Captain, accumulating them into large mounds.
7 This action began in the third month and was finalized in the seventh month.
8 Witnessing the accumulation, Hezekiah and his leaders exalted the Sovereign Captain and empowered Israel's people.
9 Hezekiah inquired of the ensovereigned mediators and Levites about the mounds of absolving payments.
10 Azariah, the principal ensovereigned mediator from Zadok's family, responded, "Since the ensovereigned lifestyle community started bringing their absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain's fortress, we've had an abundance of food and even a surplus due to the Sovereign Captain's empowerments on his people. So, this massive surplus remains."
11 Hezekiah directed that storage chambers be set up in the Sovereign Captain's fortress, which was accomplished.
12 They handed over the donations, absolving payments of a tenth, and exalted items. Konaniah, a Levite, was responsible for them, with his brother Shimei as his deputy.

13 Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismakiah, Mahath, and Benaiah were deputies to Konaniah and Shimei. Prime Ruler Hezekiah's decree and the fortress' chief official, Azariah, established this arrangement.
14 Kore, a Levite and Imnah's heir, controlled the East Gate and was responsible for voluntary offerings to the Preeminent Sovereign, distributing donations dedicated to the Sovereign Captain and exalted gifts.
15 Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shekaniah supported him in the ensovereigned mediators' settlements, distributing portions evenly among their fellow ensovereigned mediators regardless of divisions or age.
16 They were allotted to males three years old and above listed in genealogical annals who partook in daily obligations at the Sovereign Captain's fortress based on their duties and group divisions.
17 Families and Levites aged twenty or above distributed gifts to ensovereigned mediators listed in ancestral registries according to their roles and groupings.
18 The entire community's little ones, wives, male heirs, and daughters were included in genealogical records. They displayed loyalty in purifying themselves.

19 Concerning ensovereigned mediators, Aaron's descendants residing in agricultural lands around their settlements or other locations had individuals appointed to allocate shares to every male among them. All were cataloged in Levites' family histories.
20 Prime Ruler Hezekiah acted uprightly, authentically, and steadfastly throughout Judah in the sight of his Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.
21 His devotion to the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress service and adherence to laws and directives was evident in every task he undertook related to the Preeminent Sovereign. This adherence led to his success.

§ 17120 SENNACHERIB THREATENS YERUSHALAYIM

32 Despite Hezekiah's loyalty, Prime Ruler Sennacherib of Assyria invaded Judah, aiming to seize its fortified cities.

2-3 Hezekiah saw Sennacherib's plan to attack Yerushalayim and sought advice from his leaders and warriors to stop the water flow from outside springs, which they supported.
4 A large crowd sealed off the springs and river, questioning why Assyria should find abundant water.
5 Hezekiah repaired the wall, built towers, added another wall, and fortified the City of David's terraces. He also produced many weapons and ballistic shields.
6 Hezekiah gathered the populace in the city gate plaza and nominated military leaders to rule over them. Then he encouraged them, stating,

7 "Have courage and strength! There is a much greater One with us than with the Prime Ruler of Assyria and his large army, so do not be afraid or dismayed in the face of them.

8 Assyria merely possesses the arm of flesh; in contrast, the Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, aids us and fights our struggles. So, the words of Judah's Prime Ruler, Hezekiah, invigorated the people.

9 Sennacherib, the Prime Ruler of Assyria, later dispatched his servants to Yerushalayim with a message for Prime Ruler Hezekiah of Judah and all the Judeans in Yerushalayim, as he and his troops besieged Lachish:

10 Sennacherib, Prime Ruler of Assyria, states: "What assures you that you may stay in Yerushalayim when it is under siege?
11 Hezekiah deceives you by claiming the Sovereign Captain will rescue you, leading you to starvation and thirst.
12 Did Hezekiah not eliminate this idolized deity's shrines and pedestal tables, directing worship at a single table with scorched absolving payments?
13 Have any idolized deities rescued their territories from my control?

14 How could your Eternal Reality free you from my clutches?
15 Do not trust Hezekiah; no idolized deity has saved their adherents from Me. Your idolized deity cannot rescue you either."

16 Sennacherib's delegates mocked the Sovereign Captain and Hezekiah.

17 Sennacherib wrote letters to mock the Sovereign Captain, claiming Hezekiah's Eternal Reality would fail to save Yerushalayim.
18-19 They shouted in Hebrew to instill fear in Yerushalayim's inhabitants, equating the Preeminent Sovereign with other idolized deities.

20 Hezekiah and Isaiah invoked the celestial realm through meldings of consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign.
21 The Sovereign Captain sent a messenger who exterminated Assyria's warriors, commanders, and officers, forcing Sennacherib to retreat home in humiliation, where his offspring assassinated him with a tactical blade.
22 The Sovereign Captain rescued Hezekiah and Yerushalayim from Sennacherib and other threats, ensuring their safety.
23 Many brought absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain in Yerushalayim and treasures for Hezekiah, who was then esteemed by all nations.

§ 17130 HEZEKIAH'S PRIDE, SUCCESS AND DEATH

24 During that period, Hezekiah fell seriously ill to the brink of death. He sought out the Sovereign Captain in melding his conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign, who responded to him and provided him with a wondrous indication.
25 Hezekiah's inner-self, in its arrogance, failed to acknowledge the transformative generosity extended towards him, causing anger from the Sovereign Captain to descend on him, Judah, and Yerushalayim.

26 Consequently, Hezekiah and the residents of Yerushalayim humbled themselves, acknowledging the arrogance in their inner selves. As such, the Sovereign Captain's anger did not befall them during Hezekiah's reign.
27 Hezekiah accumulated considerable riches and respect and established storehouses for precious metals, jewels, aromatic substances, protective gear, and prized possessions.
28 He also constructed towers to house grain yield, fresh wine, and olive oil; he established stalls for all livestock types and enclosures for the sheep.
29 He constructed settlements and amassed significant quantities of livestock as the Preeminent Sovereign had given him immense wealth.
30 Hezekiah was the one who dammed up the higher spring of Gihon's waters, directing them beneath to the western part of David's city. He prospered in all the tasks he set out to do.
31 When the officials of Babylon dispatched representatives to inquire about the extraordinary event in the territory, the Preeminent Sovereign allowed him to examine him and comprehend all that resided in his core.
32 The chronologies of the Prime Rulers of Judah and Israel and the visionary epiphanies of Isaiah, the male heir of Amoz, describe the remaining events from Hezekiah's reign and his trustworthy deeds.
33 Hezekiah passed away, joining his forefathers, and was interred on a hill with graves belonging to David's family. All the residents of Judah and Yerushalayim paid him tribute posthumously. His male heir, Manasseh, ascended the majestic chair/authority in his place.

§ 17140 MANASSEH PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

33 Manasseh ascended to authority at twelve and ruled over Yerushalayim for fifty five years.
2 He committed acts considered impure in the sight of the Sovereign Captain, replicating the abhorrent rituals of the nations the Sovereign Captain had ousted for the Israelites.

3 He erected altars for the Baals, fashioned Asherah poles, restored religious shrines his father Hezekiah had destroyed, and worshiped all extra-terrestrial entities.
4 He fabricated pedestal tables in the Sovereign Captain’s fortress, where the Sovereign Captain proclaimed, “My Name shall forever reside in Yerushalayim.”
5 He constructed platforms for the celestial array within the two courtyards of the Sovereign Captain’s fortress.
6 He offered his offspring into the flames within the Valley of Ben Hinnom, indulged in soothsaying and sorcery, interpreted signs, and engaged with spirit metaphysical guides and fortune-tellers, committing numerous unworthy choices and inciting the Sovereign Captain’s wrath.

7 The figure he crafted was positioned in the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign. The Preeminent Sovereign had informed David and Solomon, the builder of the fortress, that His name would eternally reside in this fortress and Yerushalayim, chosen among all Israel’s communities.
8 “I won’t allow the Israelites to depart again from the territory I provided for their forefathers, granted they adhere strictly to all commandments, laws, and directives prescribed through Moses.”
9 Manasseh misguided Yerushalayim and Judah, leading them to act more wickedly than the nations the Sovereign Captain had eliminated before the Israelites’ arrival.
10 Despite the Sovereign Captain’s message to Manasseh and his community, they turned a deaf ear.

11 Therefore, the Sovereign Captain sent Assyrian military leaders against them, who captured Manasseh, trapped him with a hook, bound him in bronze restraints, and transported him to Babylon.
12 Amidst his hardship, he pleaded for the Sovereign Captain’s mercy and lowered his pride before the Eternal Reality of his forebears.

13 On melding his conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign, Manasseh’s entreaty deeply affected the Sovereign Captain, who paid attention to his intervention, allowing him to return to his realm in Yerushalayim. Consequently, Manasseh recognized the Sovereign Captain as the authentic Preeminent Sovereign.

14 Subsequently, he reconstructed David’s City’s external wall, extending up to the Fish Gate and surrounding Ophel Hill; he notably increased its altitude. He positioned army chiefs in all of Judah’s fortified towns.
15 He eliminated outsider idolized deities and artifacts from the Sovereign Captain's fortress, along with all pedestal tables he had constructed on the mountain of the Sovereign Captain’s home and in Yerushalayim, discarding them outside the city.
16 He reinstated the pedestal table of the Sovereign Captain, offering absolving payments of peace and gratitude on it while instructing Judah to express joyful adoration to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.

17 The esteemed people offered absolving payments at elevated shrines exclusively to their Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain.
18 Additional details of Manasseh's rule, his intervention in his Eternal Reality, and visions shared with him by Visionaries on behalf of the Sovereign Captain can be found in Israel's Prime Rulers' official records. In the chronicles of Eternally Wise Servants are recorded: • Manasseh's intervention and how the Preeminent Sovereign responded, • All his transgressions and disloyalties, 19 • Locations where he constructed religious shrines and installed Asherah poles and graven images before his self-abasement.

20 Manasseh passed away and joined his forefathers; he was interned in his grand residence. His male heir, Amon, took over authority after him.

§ 17150 AMON PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

21 Amon began his reign in Yerushalayim at twenty-two, ruling for two years.
22 He defied the Sovereign Captain's will, following his father Manasseh's transgressions. Amon worshipped and sacrificed to the counterfeit idolized deities Manasseh had created.
23 Unlike Manasseh, Amon did not submit to the Sovereign Captain, increasing his guilt.
24 His servants conspired and killed him in his residence.
25 The people executed the conspirators and appointed his son, Josiah, as the new ruler.

§ 17160 JOSIAH'S REFORMS

34 Ascending the majestic chair at eight, Josiah ruled Yerushalayim for thirty-one years.
2 He acted by what was pleasing to the Sovereign Captain, adhering to the path of his ancestor David, without swerving either right or left.
3 During the eighth year of his reign, while still young, Josiah began to pursue the Preeminent Sovereign, joyfully adored by his father, David. In his twelfth year, he started cleansing Judah and Yerushalayim from religious shrines, Asherah poles, and idolized deities.
4 Under his oversight, the worship platforms of the Baals were demolished; he shattered the incense altars positioned above them and the Asherah poles where idolized deities were revered. He crushed these into fragments and scattered them over the tombs of those who had previously offered absolving payments to them.
5 He scorched the remains of the false religious priests in their places of joyful adoration, purifying Judah and Yerushalayim.

6 Within the settlements of Manasseh, Ephraim, and Simeon, extending to Naphtali and their surrounding areas,
7 he demolished the altars and Asherah posts, pulverized the venerated idolized deities into dust, and destroyed all the incense altars across Israel. Afterward, he returned to Yerushalayim.
8 During Josiah's eighteenth year as Prime Ruler, in his efforts to cleanse the land and the fortress, he dispatched Shaphan, Azaliah's male heir, along with the city's governor, Maaseiah, and Joah, the male heir of Joahaz, who was the chronicler, to undertake the restoration of the Sovereign Captain's fortress.

[9] They approached Hilkiah, the prime ensovereigned mediator, and handed over the funds amassed in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress. The Levites serving as doorkeepers gathered this amount from the communities of Manasseh, Ephraim, the remaining populace of Israel, and everyone from Judah, Benjamin, and Yerushalayim.
[10] The responsibility was given to those designated to oversee the work in the Sovereign Captain's fortress. These individuals compensated the laborers who rehabilitated and reinstated the fortress.
[11] They additionally provided funds to woodworkers and construction professionals to acquire chiseled stone and lumber for support structures and beams of the towers that the Prime Rulers of Judah had neglected.
[12] The workers diligently carried out their tasks. Leading them were Zechariah and Meshullam from the house of Kohath and Jahath and Obadiah, Levites from the household of Merari. All Levites were adept at playing musical instruments.
[13] They oversaw the laborers and directed all workers on each task. Some Levites functioned as intelligence analysts, officials, and gatekeepers.

§ 17170 THE BOOK OF SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN'S DIRECTIVES FOUND

[14] As funds were extracted from the Sovereign Captain's fortress, ensovereigned mediator Hilkiah discovered the Living Word of the Sovereign Captain's Directives, initially delivered through Moses.
[15] Hilkiah informed intelligence analyst Shaphan about finding the Book of the Mosaic Law in the Sovereign Captain's fortress and handed it to him.

[16] Shaphan conveyed the book to the Prime Ruler, reassuring him: "Your officers execute all tasks entrusted to them."
[17] "They have distributed the funds from the Sovereign Captain's fortress to the overseers and laborers."
[18] Shaphan then read excerpts from the book to the Prime Ruler.
[19] On hearing the teachings, the Prime Ruler tore his garments.
[20-21] He directed Hilkiah, Ahikam (Shaphan's heir), Abdon (Micah's heir), Shaphan, and Asaiah (the Prime Ruler's servant) to seek answers from the Sovereign Captain regarding the book's contents.
[22] Hilkiah and the appointed individuals sought counsel from Huldah, an eternally wise servant residing in Yerushalayim's New Quarter.
[23-24] She conveyed the Sovereign Captain of Israel's message: "He will unleash catastrophe on this territory and its inhabitants, implementing all maledictions documented in the Living Word recited before the Prime Ruler of Judah."
[25] "As they have abandoned me, offering scorched absolving payment to idolized deities, my fury will be unleashed on this land and remain unquenched."
[26-27] "Tell the Prime Ruler of Judah that because of his gentle inner-self, humility, and acknowledgment of My Path, he will be laid to rest in tranquility and not witness the calamity I will unleash."
[28] They relayed her response to the Prime Ruler.
[29] The Prime Ruler summoned all respected leaders of Judah and Yerushalayim.

30 Accompanied by Judah's populace, Yerushalayim's inhabitants, ensovereigned mediator, and Levites, he ascended to the Sovereign Captain's fortress. He read aloud the Solemn Agreement's scroll.
31 Standing by his pillar, he wholeheartedly reaffirmed his commitment to obey the Sovereign Captain and follow the agreement's stipulations.
32 He urged all in Yerushalayim and Benjamin to commit to the pledge. The citizens acted honorably according to the solemn agreement with the Preeminent Sovereign, the Eternal Reality of their forefathers.

33 Josiah eradicated all abhorrent idolized deities across Israel, compelling all residents to express joyful adoration to the Preeminent Sovereign. Throughout his life, they remained loyal to the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of their forefathers.

§ 17180 JOSIAH CELEBRATES THE EMANCIPATION

35 Josiah celebrated the Sovereign Captain's Emancipation in Yerushalayim, with the Emancipation Feast lambs sacrificed on the 14th day of the first month.
2 He assigned the ensovereigned mediators their duties and inspired them to serve in the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
3 Josiah instructed the Levites, educators of Israel, and set-apart for the Sovereign Captain: "Place the Exalted Strongbox in the fortress Solomon, David's heir and Prime Ruler of Israel, established. You no longer need to carry it. Now, serve the Sovereign Captain and His people, Israel."

4 "Prepare yourselves by family divisions, following directives from David, Prime Ruler of Israel, and his heir Solomon, the builder of the fortress,
5 Position yourselves in the Exalted Space with Levites assigned to different family groups of your non-activator fellow countrymen.
6 Execute the Emancipation Feast, make absolving payments, purify yourselves, and make absolving payments for your fellow citizens following the instructions given by the Sovereign Captain through Moses."

7 Josiah provided thirty thousand lambs and goats for Emancipation, absolving payments, and three thousand bovines from the Prime Ruler's possessions.
8 His leaders generously gifted to the populace, ensovereigned mediators, and Levites. Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel commanded Eternal Reality's fortress and presented ensovereigned mediators with two thousand six hundred Emancipation absolving payments and three hundred bovines.

9 Additionally, Conaniah, his brothers Shemaiah and Nethanel, and Levite officers Hashabiah, Jeiel, and Jozabad gave 500 bulls and 5,000 emancipation absolving payments to the Levites.

10 The formality was organized; ensovereigned mediators took their posts, and Levites stood by their groups per the Prime Ruler's directive.
11 The Emancipation lambs were sacrificed, and ensovereigned mediators dashed the blood on the pedestal table while Levites peeled the animals.
12 They apportioned absolving payments to be burned. As the Book of Moses stated, they distributed them to family groups to present to the Sovereign Captain. The same was done with bovine animals.

13 Emancipation animals were burned over the fire as instructed, and exalted absolving payments were prepared in pots, kettles, and pans, then distributed to the population.

14 They then organized provisions for themselves and ensovereigned mediators since Aaron's family offered scorched absolving payments and fat until dusk. Levites arranged provisions for themselves and Aaron's family ensovereigned mediators.
15 Musical performers, relatives of Asaph, were positioned per directives from David, Asaph, Heman, and the grand, eternally wise servant, Jeduthun. Gatekeepers didn't abandon their duties because Levite counterparts handled preparations.

16 During that period, Prime Ruler Josiah directed the implementation of the entire joyful adoration service of the Sovereign Captain to commemorate Emancipation. He presented scorched absolving payments on the Sovereign Captain's pedestal table.
17 The Israelites celebrated Emancipation and observed the seven-day Unleavened Bread Festival.

18 Such an Emancipation hadn't been commemorated in Israel since Samuel's era; none of Israel's rulers hosted an Emancipation like Josiah did, including ensovereigned mediators, Levites, everyone from Judah and Israel present, and Yerushalayim residents.
19 The observance occurred in Josiah's eighteenth year of rule.

§ 17190 THE DEATH OF JOSIAH

20 After fortifying the fortress, Josiah faced Necho, the Prime Ruler of Egypt, who was waging war at Carchemish by the Euphrates.
21 Necho sent envoys to Josiah, saying, "Why engage in conflict with me, Prime Ruler of Judah? The Preeminent Sovereign directs my target to another realm. Cease your resistance, or He will bring about your downfall."
22 Josiah ignored this warning, disguised himself, and went to battle in Megiddo.
23 Snipers struck Josiah, and he ordered his aides, "Evacuate me; I am severely injured."
24 His aides moved him to a backup main strike vehicle and took him to Yerushalayim, where he died and was buried with his forefathers. Judah and Yerushalayim mourned deeply.
25 Jeremiah composed laments for Josiah, which male and female singers still perform. These laments are recorded in the Book of Laments.
26-27 Josiah's reign and his deeds of devotion are documented in the chronicle of the Prime Rulers of Israel and Judah.

36 The people chose Jehoahaz, Josiah's heir, and he became the Prime Ruler in Yerushalayim.

§ 17200 JEHOAHAZ BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

2 Jehoahaz became ruler at twenty-three and governed Yerushalayim for three months.

3 The Prime Ruler of Egypt deposed him in Yerushalayim, imposing a tax of 3,000 kilograms of silver and 30 kilograms of gold on Judah.

4 Prime Ruler Necho of Egypt then appointed Eliakim, Jehoahaz's brother, as ruler of Judah and Yerushalayim, renaming him Jehoiakim. He also captured Jehoahaz and took him to Egypt.

§ 17210 JEHOIAKIM BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

5 Jehoiakim ascended to authority at age twenty-five, ruling Yerushalayim for eleven years. Actions considered completely unworthy in the sight of his celestial Sovereign Captain marked his reign.
6 Nebuchadnezzar, the Prime Ruler of Babylon, launched an assault, shackled him in bronze, and transported him to Babylon.
7 Nebuchadnezzar took some objects from the Sovereign Captain's fortress, transported them to Babylon, and placed them in his shrine there.
8 The remaining incidents of Jehoiakim's rule, including his deplorable actions and all evidence found against him, are documented in the historical records of the Prime Rulers of Israel and Judah. His male heir, Jehoiachin, then took over authority.

§ 17220 JEHOIACHIN BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

9 Jehoiachin became ruler at eighteen, reigning in Yerushalayim for three months and ten days. From the Sovereign Captain's perspective, his rule was seen as full of unworthy choices.
10 In spring, Prime Ruler Nebuchadnezzar summoned him to Babylon, taking esteemed items from the Sovereign Captain's fortress. He appointed Zedekiah, Jehoiachin's uncle, as ruler of Judah and Yerushalayim.

§ 17230 ZEDEKIAH BECOMES THE PRIME RULER OF JUDAH

11 Zedekiah became Prime Ruler at 21 and governed Yerushalayim for 11 years.

12 He committed transgressions before the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign. Zedekiah ignored the eternally wise Jeremiah, who conveyed the Sovereign Captain's message.
13 He defied Prime Ruler Nebuchadnezzar despite invoking the Preeminent Sovereign's name and pledging loyalty. He was obstinate, hardened his inner-self, and refused to return to the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel.
14 Moreover, the high-ranking priests and citizens increasingly committed acts of disloyalty, adopting reprehensible customs of foreign nations and defiling the exalted fortress of the Sovereign Captain set-apart in Yerushalayim.

§ 17240 THE FALL OF YERUSHALAYIM

15 The Preeminent Sovereign repeatedly reached out to His people through His eternally wise servants, driven by compassion for His people and His home.
16 They mocked the Eternal Reality's emissaries, ignored His teachings, and scorned His eternally wise servants until the Sovereign Captain's fury was ignited, leaving no path to healing.
17 The Eternal Reality empowered the Prime Ruler of the Chaldeans to rise against them, slaughtering their young males within their fortress, showing no mercy to the young or old, frail or strong. the Sovereign Captain handed them over to Nebuchadnezzar.
18 All items from the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress, regardless of size, along with the wealth of the Eternal Reality's fortress, were taken to Babylon.
19 The Eternal Reality's fortress was set ablaze; Yerushalayim's fortifications were demolished; every palace was burned, and all valuable items were destroyed.
20 The survivors were exiled to Babylon, serving him and his descendants until the Persians took control.
21 As envisioned by Jeremiah through the Sovereign Captain's word, the land observed its Day of Rest, remaining desolate until the completion of seventy years.

22 In Cyrus' first year as Persia's ruler, fulfilling Yahweh's vision by Jeremiah, Yahweh stirred Cyrus to issue a decree throughout his territory and record it in writing.
23 Cyrus, the Prime Ruler of Persia, proclaimed: "The Preeminent Sovereign, the Eternal Reality of the celestial realms, has given me all earthly reigns and appointed me to build a fortress for Him in Yerushalayim, Judah. Anyone among His people of trust may journey, and may their celestial entity be with them."

~ 115 | The-Helper | Ezra

§ 17250 CYRUS HELPS THE EXILES TO RETURN

1 During the initial reign of Cyrus, the Prime Ruler of Persia, to fulfill Jeremiah's vision, the Sovereign Captain stirred Cyrus to issue a declaration throughout his dominion and document it in writing.
2 Cyrus declared: "The Preeminent Sovereign of the celestial realms, the Sovereign Captain, has given me all the Earth's nations and tasked me with constructing a house of joyful adoration for Him in Yerushalayim, Judah."
3 "All his pathseekers may journey to Yerushalayim in Judah to construct the Sovereign Captain's fortress, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, who resides in Yerushalayim, and may their Eternal Reality assist them."
4 "Wherever survivors reside, their community should contribute silver, gold, goods, and livestock, along with voluntary gifts for the house of joyful adoration for the Preeminent Sovereign in Yerushalayim."
5 The leaders of Judah and Benjamin communities, ensovereigned mediators, and Levites—all stirred by the Preeminent Sovereign—began their journey to Yerushalayim to reconstruct the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
6 Their neighbors supported them with silver, gold, resources, farm animals, expensive presents, and numerous spontaneous donations.

7 Additionally, Cyrus retrieved items from the Sovereign Captain's fortress that Nebuchadnezzar had taken from Yerushalayim and placed them in his idolized deity's temple.
8 Mithredath, the treasurer Cyrus commissioned to distribute them, gave them to Sheshbazzar, the Prime Ruler of Judah.
9 The itemized count was thirty gold dishes, a thousand silver dishes, and twenty nine silver pans.
10 There were thirty golden basins, four hundred and ten corresponding silver basins, and a thousand other miscellaneous items.
11 All gold and silver items totaled 5,400. Sheshbazzar transported these valuables with the captives when they journeyed from Babylon back to Yerushalayim.

§ 17260 THE LIST OF THE EXILES WHO RETURNED

2 These individuals from the province emerged from the exile's captivity. The Babylonian Prime Ruler Nebuchadnezzar transported them to Babylon. They returned to Yerushalayim and Judah, each settling in their respective hometowns.
2 Accompanied by Baanah, Bigvai, Bilshan, Joshua, Mispar, Mordecai, Nehemiah, Reelaiah, Rehum, Seraiah, and Zerubbabel here is the count of the men who belonged to the nation of Israel.
3 The family of Parosh comprised 2,172 members.
4 Shephatiah's family consisted of 372 members.
5 Arah's family, numbering 775.
6 From the descendants of Pahath-Moab, specifically those of Jeshua and Joab, a total of 2,812 returned.
7 Elam's family counted 1,254 members.

[8] Zattu’s family amounted to 945.

[9] The offspring of Zaccai amounted to 760.
[10] Bani’s family accounted for 642 individuals.
[11] Bebai’s family amounted to 623.
[12] Azgad’s family amounted to 1,222 individuals.
[13] Adonikam’s family counted 666.
[14] From the Bigvai family, there were 2,056 people.
[15] From Adin’s family, 454 individuals.
[16] Ater’s family, specifically through Hezekiah, counted 98 individuals.
[17] Bezai’s family amounted to 323.
[18] Jorah’s family consists of 112 members.
[19] Hashum’s family numbered 223.
[20] From the family of Gibbar, there were ninety-five.
[21] Descendants of Bethlehem numbered 123.
[22] Fifty-six individuals hailed from Netophah.
[23] One hundred and twenty-eight individuals from Anathoth.
[24] Azmaveth’s descendants numbered 42.
[25] From Kiriath-arim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, the count stood at seven hundred and forty-three.
[26] Inhabitants from Ramah and Geba were numbered at 621.
[27] The community of Michmas consisted of 122 people.
[28] From Bethel and Ai, the count amounted to 223 individuals.

[29] Fifty-two descendants from Nebo.
[30] Magbish’s descendants numbered 156.
[31] The offspring of an alternative Elam numbered two hundred fifty-four.
[32] Harim’s descendants totaled 320.
[33] The inhabitants stemming from Lod, Hadid, and Ono amounted to 725.
[34] The family of Jericho comprised 345 individuals.
[35] The family of Senaah includes 3,630 individuals.
[36] The ensovereigned mediator order: the family of Jedaiah, belonging to the household of Jeshua, numbered 973.
[37] Immer’s family consisted of 1,052 individuals.
[38] Pashhur’s family counted 1,247 individuals.
[39] Harim’s descendants totaled 1,017.
[40] Seventy-four Levites, the progeny of Jeshua and Kadmiel, about the Hodaviah family.
[41] The singers from the Asaph family were 128 in number.
[42] The fortress’ gatekeepers included the progeny of Shallum, Ater, Talmon, Akkub, Hatita, and Shobai, amounting to 139 in total.
[43] Among the fortress assistants were those of the Ziha, Hasupha, and Tabbaoth families.
[44] Descendants of Keros, Siaha, Padon.
[45] Descendants of Lebanah, Hagabah and Akkub.
[46] Descendants of Hagab, Shalmai, and Hanan.
[47] Descendants of Giddel, Gahar, and Reaiah.

[48] Offspring of Rezin, descendants of Nekoda, the progeny of Gazzam.
[49] Descendants of Uzza, Paseah, and Besai.
[50] Descendants of Asnah, Meunim, and Nephusim.
[51] Offspring of Bakbuk, offspring of Hakupha and Harhur.
[52] Progeny of Bazluth, Mehida, Harsha.

53 Descendants of Barkos, Sisera, and Temah.
54 Descendants of Neziah and Hatipha.
55 The progeny of Solomon's servants: the family of Sotai, Hassophereth, and Peruda.
56 Descendants of Jaalah, Darkon, and Giddel.
57 Descendants of Shephatiah, Hattil, Pokereth-Hazzebaim, and Ami.
58 The sum of fortress assistants and Solomon's servants' offspring reached 392.
59 Those originating from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Kerub, Addon, and Immer could not prove that their family traced back to Israel.
60 The family of Delaiah, Tobiah, and Nekoda consists of 652 individuals.
61 Among the ensovereigned mediators, there were progenies of Hobaiah, Hakkoz, and Barzillai, who adopted the name Barzillai the Gileadite after marrying a woman from their family.
62 These individuals attempted to locate their ancestral registrations without success. As a result, they were disqualified from serving as ensovereigned mediators due to perceived impurity.
63 The leader commanded them to abstain from consuming the purest food until an ensovereigned mediator who could operate the Urim and Thummim emerged.
64 The total count of the assembly reached 42,360.

65 In addition to their 7,337 male and female servants, they also possessed 200 men and women who were singers.
66 Their equine count was 736 while the number of mules was 245.
67 They had 435 camels along with 6,720 donkeys.
68 On reaching the Sovereign Captain's fortress in Yerushalayim some family leaders volunteered to contribute to the reconstruction of the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress at its original location.
69 By their means they contributed to the building fund for this project—precisely 262.3 kilograms of gold, 2,850 kilograms of silver and a hundred robes for the ensovereigned mediators.
70 The ensovereigned mediator the Levites performers door guards and fortress workers established their homes in their cities and a portion of the populace while the remaining Israelites occupied their towns.

§ 17270 REBUILDING THE PEDESTAL TABLE

3 In the seventh month, after the Israelites settled in their towns, they gathered in Yerushalayim as one.
2 Jeshua, the male heir of Jozadak, and his fellow ensovereigned mediators, along with Zerubbabel, the male heir of Shealtiel, and his colleagues, rebuilt the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel's pedestal table to perform scorched absolving payments according to Mosaic Law.
3 Despite the fear of surrounding communities, they erected the pedestal table on its original foundations, offering the Sovereign Captain morning and evening scorched absolving payments.
4 They observed the Feast of Shelters, presenting daily scorched gifts as required for each festival day.
5 They also offered continual scorched payments, new moon absolving payments, formal absolving payments for all set-apart feasts, and voluntary contributions to the Sovereign Captain.

6 From the start of the seventh month, they began presenting scorched absolving payments to the Sovereign Captain, even though the base of the Sovereign Captain's fortress was not yet established.

§ 17280 REBUILDING THE FORTRESS

7 Masons and carpenters were compensated with money. Sidon and Tyre's inhabitants received food, beverages, and olive oil to transport cedar logs from Lebanon to Joppa by sea, authorized by Prime Ruler Cyrus of Persia.
8 In the second month of their second year in Yerushalayim, Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, Joshua, son of Jozadak, and their community, including ensovereigned mediators, Levites, and returnees from bondage, began their work. They appointed Levites aged twenty and above to lead the construction.
9 The heirs of Henadad and their sons and brothers, Kadmiel and his sons (Yehudah's descendants), and Jeshua and his sons and siblings—all Levites— oversaw the work on the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.
10 When the foundation for the Sovereign Captain's fortress was laid, ensovereigned mediators in formal attire with trumpets and Levite descendants of Asaph with cymbals took their positions to honor the Sovereign Captain, following Prime Ruler David of Israel's mandate.
11 They sang with delight and gratitude to the Eternal Reality: "He is benevolent; his affection for Israel is everlasting." The people cheered triumphantly as the Sovereign Captain's fortress foundation was set.
12 Many older ensovereigned mediators, Levites, and family heads who had seen the original fortress wept at the sight of this new foundation, while many others shouted with delight.
13 The mix of sorrowful cries and joyful cheers created an immense noise that could be heard from afar.

§ 17290 OPPOSITION TO THE REBUILDING

4 Upon hearing that a fortress for the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, was being built by the exiles, Judah and Benjamin's adversaries were alerted.

2 They approached Zerubbabel and the family heads, offering to help, claiming they, too, were pathseekers of the same Preeminent Sovereign and had been making absolving payments since Prime Ruler Esarhaddon of Assyria relocated them.
3 Zerubbabel, Joshua, and Israel's leaders insisted that constructing the fortress was their sole responsibility, as directed by Prime Ruler Cyrus of Persia, the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.
4 The local residents then sought to demoralize Judah's people, instilling fear to halt construction.
5 They bribed authorities to oppose and undermine their efforts throughout Prime Ruler Cyrus' reign, continuing until Prime Ruler Darius of Persia's rule.

§ 17300 LATER OPPOSITION UNDER XERXES AND ARTAXERXES

6 When Xerxes ascended to power, a formal complaint was lodged against the inhabitants of Judah and Yerushalayim.
7 During Artaxerxes' reign, Persian Prime Rulers Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel, and their companions wrote to Artaxerxes in Aramaic.
8 Rehum, the chief official, and Shimshai, the intelligence analyst, composed a letter opposing Yerushalayim addressed to Prime Ruler Artaxerxes.
9 Rehum, Shimshai, and their colleagues, including judges, supervisors, and administrators from Persia, Uruk, Babylon, and the Elamites from Susa.
10 Additionally, other communities were relocated by Ashurbanipal to Samaria and regions beyond the Euphrates River.
11 The message to Prime Ruler Artaxerxes came from those serving in the province beyond the Euphrates River.
12 They informed the Prime Ruler that individuals from his region had relocated to Yerushalayim and were reconstructing the city known for defiance and impurity. They were nearing completion of its base structure.

13 They warned that if the city was rebuilt and its defenses re-established, it would no longer contribute taxes, customs, or tolls, reducing grand income.
14 Bound by duty to the Prime Ruler's headquarters and unwilling to witness his disgrace, they sent this communication.
15 They urged an investigation of historical chronicles to reveal Yerushalayim's history of defiance and revolt, which led to its ruin.
16 They warned that the Prime Ruler would lose possession in the region beyond the Euphrates if the city was rebuilt and its defenses re-established.
17 The Prime Ruler responded: Salutations to Rehum, Shimshai, and their affiliates in Samaria and across the Trans-Euphrates.
18 The correspondence was translated and understood.
19 An examination disclosed Yerushalayim's extensive record of defiance and rebellion against Prime Rulers.
20 Yerushalayim was governed by mighty Prime Rulers who controlled the entire region beyond the Euphrates, receiving various taxes, duties, and tributes.
21 A directive was issued to halt construction activities until further instructions were received.
22 Appropriate caution was advised to prevent negligence and protect grand interests.
23 When Artaxerxes' letter was read to Rehum, Shimshai, and their colleagues, they promptly went to Yerushalayim. They forced the Israelites to cease their activities.
24 Consequently, the construction of the Eternal Reality's abode in Yerushalayim was halted until the second year of Prime Ruler Darius of Persia.

§ 17310 TATTENAI'S LETTER TO DARIUS

5 At that time, the eternally wise servants Haggai and Zechariah, a descendant of Iddo, conveyed celestial messages to the Judean people in Judah and Yerushalayim, speaking on behalf of the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel who governed over them.

2 Zerubbabel, the descendant of Shealtiel, alongside Joshua, Jozadak's male heir, commenced the restoration of the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress in Yerushalayim. The Preeminent Sovereign's eternally wise servants gave them unstinting aid and encouragement.
3 During that period, Tattenai, the chief of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai, along with their colleagues, approached them and inquired, "Who granted you the permission and authority to refurbish this fortress and complete its construction?"
4 They also asked about the individuals building this structure.
5 However, the Preeminent Sovereign kept a vigilant watch over the Judean elders so they were not forced to halt their work until Darius could receive and respond to their report.
6 Here is the transcribed letter that Tattenai, the province administrator, stretched across the Euphrates. Shethar-Bozenai and their colleagues, the officials governing the Trans-Euphrates, were dispatched to Prime Ruler Darius. They forwarded him the written communication:

7 "To Darius, the Prime Ruler: Warm good wishes.
8 The Prime Ruler must know that we journeyed to Judah's territory, the house of the immense Eternal Reality. The inhabitants construct it with colossal stones and embed the beams within the walls. This task is being performed with great care and is advancing rapidly under their supervision.
9 We asked the senior leaders, 'Who granted you the decree to reconstruct and complete this exalted structure?'
10 We additionally inquired about their identities so we could note the names of their chiefs for your database.

11 The senior leaders responded: "We, the pathseekers of the Preeminent Sovereign who reigns over the celestial realms and the Earth, are reconstructing the fortress. A prominent Prime Ruler of Israel, who also saw its completion, initially established it many centuries ago."
12 Our forefathers, by inciting the wrath of the celestial Eternal Reality, were surrendered to Nebuchadnezzar the Babylonian Prime Ruler, a Chaldean, who annihilated this Exalted Space and relocated the population to Babylon.
13 In his initial year as Prime Ruler of Babylon, Cyrus instituted an order to restore this celestial fortress.
14 Prime Ruler Cyrus extracted the exalted gold and silver items from the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress, which Nebuchadnezzar had carried from Yerushalayim's fortress to Babylon's fortress, from Babylon's fortress. These precious items were entrusted to Sheshbazzar, whom Cyrus appointed governor.
15 He instructed him to place these items in the fortress in Yerushalayim and reconstruct the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress in its original location.
16 So, Sheshbazzar arrived and established the groundwork of the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress in Yerushalayim. The construction has been ongoing since that day, yet it is not fully accomplished.
17 We suggest examining the grand vaults of Babylon, with the Prime Ruler's agreement, to determine whether Prime Ruler Cyrus indeed issued a proclamation authorizing the reconstruction of the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress in Yerushalayim. We respectfully request that the Prime Ruler convey his verdict on this matter."

§ 17320 THE DECREE OF DARIUS

6 Prime Ruler Darius issued a decree, prompting a search in the Babylon treasury records.
2 In Ecbatana, Media District, an official note was found:

[3] During his first year, Prime Ruler Cyrus ordered the reconstruction of the House of Preeminent Sovereign in Yerushalayim for offering absolving payments, with strong foundations and dimensions of 32.004 meters in height and width.

[4] The grand bank was to cover the expenses for building it with three layers of foundation stone and a timber row.
[5] Nebuchadnezzar, who took the gold and silver articles from the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress to Babylon, was to restore them to the fortress in Yerushalayim.
[6] "Tattenai, ruler beyond the Euphrates, Shethar-Bozenai, and officials in that region, must not interfere.
[7] Allow the Judean governor and elders to rebuild the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress at its original site.
[8] Their expenses will be funded from the grand treasury beyond the Euphrates River to ensure uninterrupted work.
[9] Daily supplies—young bulls, rams, male lambs for absolving payments, wheat, salt, wine, and olive oil—must be provided as required by the ensovereigned mediators in Yerushalayim.
[10] They must offer absolving payments to the celestial Eternal Reality and seek empowerment for the Prime Ruler and his offspring.
[11] Anyone violating this mandate will be hung up and nailed to a beam from their dwelling, which will be reduced to debris.
[12] Any Prime Ruler or nation attempting to alter this mandate or destroy this fortress in Yerushalayim will face the wrath of the Eternal Reality. I, Darius, have issued this decree for precise execution."

§ 17330 COMPLETION AND DEDICATION OF THE FORTRESS

[13] Following Prime Ruler Darius' proclamation, Tattenai, the governor West of the Euphrates, Shethar-Bozenai, and their colleagues diligently executed the order.
[14] The Judean elders persevered in their building efforts, thriving under the visions of Haggai and Zechariah, a scion of Iddo. The fortress was completed according to the directives from the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel and those of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes, the Prime Rulers of Persia.

[15] The construction was finalized on the third day of Adar, in the sixth year of Prime Ruler Darius' rule.
[16] The individuals of Israel, the ensovereigned mediators, the Levites, and all other returnees exuberantly marked the inauguration of the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress with delight.
[17] During the commissioning, they presented a hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred young lambs, and twelve male goats as unworthy choice compensation for all Israel, symbolizing each community.
[18] The ensovereigned mediators and Levites were arranged in their respective orders to express joyful adoration of the Preeminent Sovereign in Yerushalayim as stipulated in the Book of Moses.

§ 17340 THE EMANCIPATION

19 The individuals returning from exile commemorated the Emancipation Feast on the initial month's fourteenth day.
20 The ensovereigned mediators and Levites had made themselves formally clean, achieving formal cleanliness. They offered the Emancipation Feast lamb for all those who had returned from exile, their fellow ensovereigned mediators, and themselves.
21 The Israelites who had returned from exile partook in the meal, along with everyone who had renounced the impure customs of the Outsider people around them, to elevate the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.
22 They commemorated the Festival of Unleavened Bread with delight for a week, as the Sovereign Captain had instilled happiness within them by influencing the mindset of the Assyrian Prime Ruler to support them in their efforts to reconstruct the dwelling place of the Preeminent Sovereign, the Eternal Reality of Israel.

§ 17350 EZRA COMES TO YERUSHALAYIM

7 During the reign of Prime Ruler Artaxerxes of Persia, Ezra, a descendant of Seraiah, Azariah, and Hilkiah, emerged.

2 He was also a descendant of Shallum, Zadok, and Ahitub.
3 His family included Amariah, Azariah, and Meraioth,
4 as well as Zerahiah, Uzzi, and Bukki.
5 He traced his ancestry to Abishua, Phinehas, Eleazar, and the prime ensovereigned mediator, Aaron.

6 Ezra, well-versed in the Mosaic Law given by the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, journeyed from Babylon as an educator. The Prime Ruler granted all his requests because the Sovereign Captain's Preeminent Sovereign's hand guided him.

7 In the seventh year of Prime Ruler Artaxerxes' reign, a group of Israelites, ensovereigned mediators, Levites, singers, gatekeepers, and fortress servants traveled to Yerushalayim.
8 Ezra arrived in Yerushalayim during the fifth month of the Prime Ruler's seventh year.
9 He began his journey from Babylon on the first day of the first month and reached Yerushalayim at the start of the fifth month under the benevolent influence of his Preeminent Sovereign.

10 Ezra dedicated his life to understanding and obeying the Sovereign Captain's laws and teaching these precepts to the people of Israel.

§ 17360 PRIME RULER ARTAXERXES‘ LETTER TO EZRA

11 Here is the transcript of the letter that Prime Ruler Artaxerxes presented to Ezra, the ensovereigned mediator and scholarly instructor, who is well-versed in matters regarding the directives and regulations of the Sovereign Captain for Israel.

12 “Greetings are sent from Artaxerxes, the chief Prime Ruler, to Ezra, the ensovereigned mediator and expert on the laws of the Eternal Reality of the celestial realms.”

13 “I rule that any individual among the Israelites in my jurisdiction, comprising ensovereigned mediators and Levites who willingly wish to depart to Yerushalayim accompanying you, are permitted to do so.

14 “The Prime Ruler and his seven counselors have dispatched you to examine Judah and Yerushalayim about the Mosaic Law of your Preeminent Sovereign that you possess.

15 “You are tasked with transporting the silver and gold. The Prime Ruler and his counselors have generously contributed to the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, the Eternal Reality, whose residence is in Yerushalayim.

16 “Besides all the silver and gold you can gather from the Babylon region, the general public’s voluntary contributions and mediators for their Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress in Yerushalayim should also be included.

17 “Employ this cash with utmost care to procure bulls, rams, lambs, and their corresponding grain and drink-absolving payments. Subsequently, perform their absolving payment on the pedestal table of your Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress in Yerushalayim.

18 “You and your companions among the Israelites can utilize the remaining silver and gold as you deem fit, provided it aligns with the Preeminent Sovereign’s intentions.

19 “Present all the items given to you for the service of your Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress to the Preeminent Sovereign of Yerushalayim.

20 “Should there be a requirement for any other items for the house of your Preeminent Sovereign that fall under your purview to offer, you may obtain them from the Sovereign’s reserve of wealth.

21 “I, Artaxerxes, the Prime Ruler, command all finance managers in the region trans-Euphrates to dutifully supply whatever Ezra, the ensovereigned mediator and instructor of the Preeminent Sovereign of the celestial realm’s laws, may request from you.

22 “Up to 3000 kilograms of silver, an unlimited supply of salt, one hundred baths of oil, one hundred baths of wine, and one hundred cors of wheat.

23 “Ensure you execute any directive given by the Eternal Reality of celestial realms with zeal for the exalted fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign of the celestial realm. What is the need for his fury to be inflicted on the Prime Ruler’s realm and his offspring?”

24 “Be aware that you do not have the jurisdiction to levy taxes, fees, or tolls on any fortress servants, gatekeepers, Levites, ensovereigned mediators, musicians, or other personnel at the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress.

25 “Using the Eternal Reality’s knowledge given up on you, Ezra assigns judges and officials to govern Trans-Euphrates’ inhabitants, particularly those acquainted with your Preeminent Sovereign’s laws. Furthermore, it would be best if you enlightened those unfamiliar with these laws.

26 “Anyone who fails to comply with the Mosaic Law of your Preeminent Sovereign or the Prime Ruler’s Law will face strict consequences, including execution, exile, property seizure, or captivity.”

27 Honor and thanks be to the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of our forefathers, who has inspired the Prime Ruler to enhance and dignify the Sovereign Captain’s fortress in Yerushalayim in such a manner.

28 The Sovereign Captain showcased His kindness to me in the presence of the Prime Ruler, his counselors, and all his influential officers. Possessing the strength of the Sovereign Captain, I felt emboldened and assembled leaders from Israel to accompany me on my journey.

§ 17370 LIST OF THE FAMILY HEADS RETURNING WITH EZRA

8 These communal leaders and their enlisted members accompanied me from Babylon during the rule of Prime Ruler Artaxerxes.

2 Gershom from Phinehas’ family, Daniel from Ithamar’s family, and Hattush, a descendant of David.

3 Zechariah, a descendant of Shekaniah and Parosh, had 150 men under his registry.

4 Eliehoenai, the male heir of Zerahiah from the family of Pahath-Moab, arrived with 200 men.

5-6 From the family of Elam, Jeshaiah, a descendant of Athaliah, attended by 70 males.

7 Zattu’s family, including Jahaziel’s descendant, Shekaniah, along with 300 men, accompanied him; from the family of Adin, Ebed, the male heir of Jonathan, brought along 50 men.

8 Zebadiah, Michael’s offspring from the family of Shephatiah, accompanied by 80 males.

9 From Joab’s family came Obadiah, the male heir of Jehiel, accompanied by 218 males.
10 Shelomith, the offspring of Josiphiah from the Bani family, accompanied by 160 males.
11 From the family of Bebai, Zechariah, the male heir of Bebai, accompanied by 28 males;
12 From Azgad’s family was Johanan, Hakkatan’s offspring, attended by 110 males.
13 Among the progeny of Adonikam, the final arrivals were Eliphelet, Jeuel, and Shemaiah, accompanied by 60 males.
14 Uthai and Zakkur from the Bigvai family, accompanied by seventy males.

§ 17380 THE RETURN TO YERUSHALAYIM

15 I gathered everyone by the Ahava River, where we camped for three days. Reviewing the assembly, I noticed no Levites.
16 I called on Ariel, Eliezer, Elnathan, Jarib, Meshullam, Nathan, Shemaiah, and Zechariah, recognized figures, and Joiarib and Elnathan, men of discernment.
17 I instructed them to approach Iddo, the chief in Kasiphia, guiding them on what to say to secure helpers for the Eternal Reality's house of our Sovereign Captain.
18 Our Preeminent Sovereign favored us, and they brought Sherebiah, a man of insight from Mahli's family, along with his sons and siblings, totaling eighteen.
19 Hashabiah and Jeshaiah, with their relatives and nephews from Merari's family, made up a group of 20.
20 Additionally, they brought 220 fortress workers instituted by David and his deputies to support the Levites. The list named each one.

21 By the Ahava Canal, I declared a fast to humble ourselves before our Preeminent Sovereign and seek His guidance for a safe journey for us, our children, and our belongings.
22 I was too embarrassed to ask the Prime Ruler for troops and assault forces for protection, as we had assured him that our Preeminent Sovereign's benevolent hand is upon all who seek His guidance. Still, His wrath is against those who abandon Him.
23 So, we skipped meals and pleaded with our Eternal Reality, and He responded to our intervention.

24 I designated twelve principal ensovereigned mediators, including Sherebiah and Hashabiah, and ten of their relatives.
25 I measured the silver and gold contributions from the Prime Ruler, his counselors, officers, and all Israelites there for our Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.
26 I handed over 650 units of silver, silver utensils valued at 100 units, and 100 units of gold.
27 Twenty gold basins worth a thousand darics each and two finely polished bronze vessels as valuable as gold.
28 I told them these items were exalted to the Sovereign Captain. The silver and gold are gifts to the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of your forefathers.
29 Safeguard them until you measure them in Yerushalayim's fortress chambers before the prime ensovereigned mediators, Levites, and Israelite family leaders.
30 The ensovereigned mediators and Levites accepted responsibility for the silver, gold, and exalted objects to be transported to our Preeminent Sovereign's fortress in Yerushalayim.

31 We left the Ahava Canal for Yerushalayim in the first month on the twelfth day. The celestial hand of our Preeminent Sovereign safeguarded us from foes and marauders throughout our journey.

32 We reached Yerushalayim and rested for three days.
33 We measured the gold, silver, and exalted objects within our Preeminent Sovereign's fortress on day four. Meremoth, the ensovereigned mediator and Uriah's male heir, along with Eleazar, Phinehas' male heir, and the Levites Jozabad (Jeshua's male heir) and Noadiah (Binnui's male heir), took custody of them.
34 All items were enumerated and measured during that period, and their comprehensive weight was documented.

35 Following their return from exile, the former captives offered a scorched absolving payment to the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel: These included twelve male goats, seventy-seven lambs, ninety-six rams, and twelve bulls representing all of Israel to vindicate unworthy choices. All were presented to the Sovereign Captain as scorched absolving payments.

36 The Prime Ruler's grand instructions were handed over to his satraps and governors beyond the Euphrates, who supported the people and the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.

§ 17390 EZRA'S MELDING OF HIS CONSCIENCE ABOUT INTERMARRIAGE

9 After these events, officials informed me that the Israelites, including the ensovereigned mediators and Levites, had not separated themselves from neighboring communities' repugnant customs, similar to those of the Ammonites, Amorites, Canaanites, Egyptians, Hittites, Jebusites, Moabites, and Perizzites.
2 Some men and their sons had married foreign women, integrating their exalted families with surrounding populations. Disturbingly, the principals and leaders endorsed this betrayal.
3 On hearing this, I tore my garment and robe, pulled hair from my scalp and beard, and sat down in shock.
4 The words of the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel shook those who gathered with me because of the untruthfulness of the returning exiles; shock kept me seated until the evening offering.

5 At the evening offering, I rose from humiliation, my clothes torn; I knelt, extending my hands to the Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign.
6 I melded my consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign: "I am deeply humiliated and disgraced, my Eternal Reality, to raise my face towards you; our wrongdoings tower above us, and our guilt reaches the celestial realm.
7 Since our forefathers' time to now, our guilt has been extensive. Due to our transgressions, we and our rulers and clergy have faced warfare, enslavement, looting, and degradation by foreign Prime Rulers, as is the case today.
8 However, for a short time, our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, has shown kindness by sparing a chosen people and securing our position in His exalted territory, illuminating our vision and providing respite amidst our servitude.
9 Our Preeminent Sovereign hasn't abandoned us even in servitude. He's shown affection towards us before the Persian Prime Rulers: He's given us renewed life to restore our Preeminent Sovereign's fortress and mend its devastations, providing a safeguarded fortification in Judah and Yerushalayim.
10 Now, we are the Preeminent Sovereign. What can we say after our actions, considering we have ignored your directives?
11 You conveyed through your eternally wise servant servants that its inhabitants' heresies taint the land you are about to inhabit. Their despicable acts have saturated it with filth from one boundary to another.
12 So avoid marrying your daughters to their sons or accepting their daughters as wives for your sons. Refrain from any alliance or pact with them to remain strong and enjoy the land's bounties, leaving it as a perpetual heritage for your offspring.
13 Our predicament is due to our evil acts and severe guilt. However, you, our Preeminent Sovereign, have given us a milder punishment than our transgressions warranted and spared some of us as survivors.

14 Should we again disobey your instructions by allowing alliances through marriage with those who perform such horrid acts? Wouldn’t your rage be sufficient to annihilate us, leaving no survivor or escapee?
15 The Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, you embody fairness! We endure today as survivors. We stand under the weight of our transgressions, making it impossible to withstand your presence due to our unworthy choices.”

§ 17400 THE PEOPLE‘S CONFESSION OF HER UNWORTHY CHOICES

10 Ezra melded his conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign. He admitted a lot of unworthy choices, shedding tears and prostrating before the Sovereign Captain's fortress. A large ensovereigned lifestyle community of Israelites— men, women, and children—surrounded him, also crying intensely.
2 Shekaniah, a Jehiel descendant from the Elam family, addressed Ezra, confessing their transgression by marrying women from surrounding nations. Despite this, he expressed hope for Israel’s redemption.
3 “Let’s now promise our Preeminent Sovereign to dismiss these wives and their offspring, following my overseer’s advice and those who elevate our Preeminent Sovereign’s directives. Let’s adhere to the Mosaic Law.”
4 “Arise, this matter is under your control. We will support you; be brave and take action.”
5 Ezra stood up and made the chief ensovereigned mediators, the Levites, and everyone in Israel promise to follow the plan. They made a solemn pledge.
6 Ezra left the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress and went to Jehohanan’s quarters, Eliashib’s male heir. He did not eat or drink due to his grief over the disloyalty of the returned captives.
7 An announcement was distributed across Judah and Yerushalayim, commanding all returned captives to gather in Yerushalayim.
8 Anyone who failed to show up within three days would lose all possessions and be ousted from the community of returned captives.
9 Within three days, every man from Judah and Benjamin assembled in Yerushalayim. On the twentieth day of the ninth month, a sea of people occupied the public square in front of the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress, deeply agitated by the gravity of the situation and persistent rainfall.
10 Ezra, the ensovereigned mediator, addressed them, stating their distrustfulness in marrying Outsider women has exacerbated Israel’s guilt.

11 “Respect the Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of your forefathers, and fulfill his desires; distance yourselves from neighboring communities and your non-native spouses.”
12 In unison, the ensovereigned lifestyle community loudly agreed: “Absolutely! We must act on your words.”
13 Given the large crowd and ongoing rainy season, standing outside isn’t feasible. Resolving this issue isn’t a matter of a day or two due to our severe transgressions.
14 “Allow our representatives to stand for the entire assembly. Then, all those in our towns who have wedded foreign women should appear at a scheduled time with the seniors and magistrates of each city until the severe wrath of our Preeminent Sovereign subsides.”
15 Jonathan, the male heir of Asahel, and Jahzeiah, the male heir of Tikvah, with the support of Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite, objected.

16 The returning captives implemented the plan. Ezra appointed leaders from each family group, marking each with their names. They convened on the first day of the tenth month to scrutinize each case.
17 By the first day of the first month, they had completed handling all cases of men married to foreign women.

§ 17410 THOSE GUILTY OF INTERMARRIAGE

18 The following family members were identified for marrying Outsider women: Jeshua, Jozadak's heir, and his brothers Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah.
19 They pledged to separate from their wives and offered a ram as an atonement offering.
20 Hanani and Zebadiah from Immer's family.
21 From Harim's family: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel, and Uzziah.
22 From Pashhur's family: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasah.

23 The Levites included Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer.
24 Eliashib among the musicians; Shallum, Telem, and Uri as gatekeepers.
25 From Parosh's family: Ramiah, Izziah, Malkijah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Malkijah, and Benaiah.
26 From Elam's family: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth, and Elijah.
27 From Zattu's family: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad, and Aziza.
28 From Bebai's family: Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai.
29 From Bani's family: Meshullam, Malluk, Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal, and Jeremoth.
30 From Pahath-Moab's family: Adna, Benaiah, Bezalel, Binnui, Kelal, Maaseiah, Manasseh, and Mattaniah.
31 From Harim's family: Eliezer, Ishijah, Malkijah, Shemaiah, and Shimeon.
32 Benjamin and Malluk with Shemariah.
33 From Hashum's family: Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, Mattattah, Mattenai, Shimei, and Zabad.
34 From Bani's family: Maadai, Amram, and Uel.
35 Benaiah, Bedeiah, and Cheluhi.
36 Vaniah, Meremoth, and Eliashib.
37 Mattaniah, Mattenai, and Jaasai.
38 From Binnui's family: Shimei.
39 Shelemiah, Nathan, and Adaiah.
40 Maknadebai, Shashai, Sharai.
41 Azarel, Shelemiah, and Shemariah.

42 Shallum, Joseph, and Amariah.
43 From Nebo's progeny: Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jaddai, Joel, and Benaiah.
44 These men married women from other lands; some had children with them.

~ 116 | The-Comforter | Nehemiah

§ 17420 NEHEMIAH'S MELDING OF HIS CONSCIENCE

1 Nehemiah, son of Hacaliah, recounts his story in Kislev, the twentieth year, within Susa's citadel.
2 My relative Hanani and some men from Judah arrived. I asked about the Israelites who survived captivity and the state of Yerushalayim.
3 They reported that the survivors were in great distress and humiliation. Yerushalayim's protective barrier is damaged, and its portals are scorched.

4 Overcome with grief, I wept for days, skipped meals, and sought solace in the Eternal Reality, the Preeminent Sovereign of the celestial realms.
5 I merged my consciousness with the Eternal Reality: "Sovereign, the immense and awe-inspiring Eternal Reality, who upholds His agreement of affection with those who honor His decrees,
6 May your ear be alert and your eyes open to perceive the melding of your conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign that your servant offers day and night for Israel. I confess our transgressions, including mine and my paternal family's.
7 We have grievously transgressed against you, failing to adhere to the directives, statutes, and laws given to Moses.

8 Remember your guidance to Moses: if disloyal, we will be dispersed among nations.
9 Return to me and follow my directives. No matter how far exiled, I will gather them to the place chosen for my Name.
10 These people are emancipated with your immense power and potent hand.
11 Almighty, may your ear be open to the intervention of your servant and those who delight in honoring your Name. Grant your servant success and show compassion before this man." I served as a cupbearer to the Prime Ruler.

§ 17430 ARTAXERXES SENDS NEHEMIAH TO YERUSHALAYIM

2 I served him wine with a sad countenance during Nisan's twentieth year of Prime Ruler Artaxerxes' reign.
2 The Prime Ruler asked, "Why are you gloomy when you're not ill? It must be heartache." I was terrified.
3 I replied, "Long live the Prime Ruler! Why wouldn't I be sad when the city of my forefathers is in ruins and its gates burned?"
4 The Prime Ruler asked, "What do you want?" Before answering, I melded my consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign to the celestial Eternal Reality.
5 I said, "If it pleases the Prime Ruler, and if I have your favor, send me to Judah to restore it."

6 The Prime Ruler, with the First Lady beside him, asked, “How long will your journey take, and when will you return?” He was pleased to send me, so I set a schedule.
7 I also requested letters from the governors beyond the Euphrates for safe passage to Judah.
8 “Can I get a letter for Asaph, the grand forest steward, for timber to build beams for the fortress gates, city wall, and my house?” The Prime Ruler granted my requests because my Preeminent Sovereign’s benevolent hand was on me.

9 I went to the regional leaders beyond the Euphrates and presented the Prime Ruler’s letters.
He had sent military officials and horse-mounted soldiers with me.
10 Sanballat, the Horonite, and Tobiah, the Ammonite leader, were upset that someone had come to help the Israelites.

§ 17440 NEHEMIAH INSPECTS YERUSHALAYIM’S WALLS

11 I arrived in Yerushalayim and stayed for three days.
12 Under the cover of darkness, I set out with a small group, keeping the inspiration of Eternal Reality to myself. I rode the only beast of burden we had.
13 I passed through the Valley Gate, Dragon’s Spring, and Dung Gate at night, inspecting Yerushalayim’s ruined walls and burned gates.
14 I then moved towards the Fountain Gate and the Prime Ruler’s Pool, but the path was too narrow for my animal.
15 I continued through the valley, examining the wall, and reentered the city via the Valley Gate.
16 The authorities were unaware of my activities. I had not disclosed anything to the Israelites, ensovereigned mediators, statespersons, officials, or any others involved.
17 I then addressed them, highlighting our dire situation: “Yerushalayim is in ruins, and its gates are burned. Let’s rebuild Yerushalayim’s wall to remove our disgrace.”
18 I shared the benevolent favor of my Preeminent Sovereign and the Prime Ruler’s words to me. They responded, “Let’s start rebuilding.” So, they began this beneficial project.
19 When Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite Officer, and Geshem the Arab heard of our actions, they mocked and ridiculed us, asking, “Are you rebelling against the Prime Ruler?”

20 I replied, “The Eternal Reality of the celestial realms will ensure our success. We, His administrators, will rebuild. But you have no share in Yerushalayim, no legal right, or historical claim.”

§ 17450 BUILDERS OF THE WALL

3 Eliashib, the prime ensovereigned mediator, and his fellow ensovereigned mediators began their work by reconstructing the Sheep Gate. They purified it, installed its doors, and extended their building to the Tower of the Hundred, which they set-apart, continuing to the Tower of Hananel.
2 The men from Jericho built beside them, with Zakkur, Imri’s male heir, working beside them.
3 The sons of Hassenaah rebuilt the Fish Gate, constructing its framework, installing its doors, and securing its locks and bars.

[4] Meremoth, Uriah's male heir and Hakkoz's grandson repaired the next section. Meshullam, Berekiah's progeny and Meshezabel's grandson, followed him. Zadok, Baana's male heir, also made repairs.
[5] The men of Tekoa repaired the next section, but their superiors did not oversee the work of their elite.
[6] Joiada, Paseah's male heir, and Meshullam, Besodeiah's male heir, restored the Jeshanah Gate, installing its beams, doors, bolts, and bars.
[7] Men from Gibeon and Mizpah, Melatiah and Jadon of Meronoth, worked under the governor's jurisdiction from the region West of the Euphrates River.
[8] Uzziel, Harhaiah's offspring and a goldsmith, repaired the next section; Hananiah, a perfumer, worked alongside him. Together, they restored Yerushalayim up to the broad wall.
[9] Rephaiah, Hur's male heir and leader of half of the Yerushalayim district, repaired the next section.
[10] Jedaiah, Harumaph's male heir, repaired across from his house; Hattush, Hashabneiah's male heir, worked next to him.

[11] Malkijah, Harim's offspring, and Hasshub, a Pahath-Moab descendant, repaired another section, including the Tower of Furnaces.
[12] Shallum, Hallohesh's male heir and governor of half of the Yerushalayim district, led repairs with his daughters.
[13] Hanun and Zanoah's inhabitants restored the Valley Gate and repaired 457.2 meters of wall to the Dung Gate.
[14] Malkijah, Rekab's male heir and leader of the Beth Hakkerem area, rebuilt the Dung Gate with its doors, bolts, and bars.
[15] Shallun, Kol-Hozeh's male heir and leader of the Mizpah district, restored the Fountain Gate with a roof and installed its doors, bolts, and bars. He also repaired the wall of the Pool of Siloam near the Prime Ruler's Garden to the city descent.
[16] Nehemiah, Azbuk's male heir and half Beth Zur district leader, repaired up to David's burial sites and the mighty warriors' abode.
[17] Rehum, Bani's male heir, led the Levites in performing restorations. Hashabiah governed half of Keilah district and conducted renovations for his jurisdiction.
[18] Binnui, Henadad's heir and Prime Ruler of Keilah's other half-district, led their compatriots in repairs.
[19] Ezer, Jeshua's progeny and leader of Mizpah, restored another section from the incline towards the arsenal to the wall junction.
[20] Baruch, Zabbai's male heir, earnestly restored another segment from the wall bend to Eliashib's dwelling entrance.
[21] Meremoth restored an adjoining portion from Eliashib's residence doorway to its farthest point.
[22] Activators from the bordering area performed adjacent repairs.
[23] Benjamin and Hasshub renovated facing their home; Azariah performed enhancements next to his fortress.
[24] Binnui restored another sector from Azariah's residence to the bend and edge.

[25] Palal reconstructed the bend and tower near the Prime Ruler's upper residence by the guard's courtyard; Pedaiah also engaged in repairs.
[26] Fortress servants on Ophel Hill repaired towards the Water Gate on the East side and the overhanging tower.

[27] Adjacent to them, the individuals from Tekoa refurbished an additional segment, spanning from the grand protruding tower up to the Ophel's wall.

28 Over the Horse Gate, each mediator performed restorations before His fortress.
29 Adjacent to them, Zadok, Immer's male heir, performed restorations before His fortress. Beside him, the East gate's guard, Shemaiah, the male heir of Shekaniah, performed similar restorations.
30 Adjacent to him, Hananiah, the offspring of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sixth offspring of Zalaph, worked on another part of the wall. Adjacent to them, Meshullam, the progeny of Berekiah, carried out renovations facing his dwelling.
31 Adjacent to him, Malkijah, a member of the goldsmiths, carried out repairs reaching the dwelling of the fortress workers and the traders across from the Inspection Gate and extending up to the upper chamber at the corner.
32 The goldsmiths and merchants repaired from the chamber at the top to the Sheep Gate.

4 On discovering that the wall was under reconstruction, Sanballat was filled with fury and great anger. He scornfully mocked the Israelites.
2 Amid his peers and the assault troops of Samaria, he questioned, "What can these powerless Israelites achieve? Do they trust they can reconstruct their wall? Are they planning to perform absolving payments? Can they complete it all within a day? Do they have the capacity to resurrect these burned stones from the rubble piles?"
3 Tobiah the Ammonite, positioned nearby, commented that even if a fox were to scale their construction, it would collapse their stone wall.

4 "Preeminent Sovereign, hear us because we are hated. Cast their contempt back on their heads and allow them to be carried off as enslaved people to a place of imprisonment.
5 Do not ignore their transgressions or erase their unworthy choices from your view as they have hurled disparagements at the builders."
6 Given the people's total commitment to their work, we restored the wall until it stood half as tall.

7 The news of Yerushalayim's wall restoration advancing and the closing of the breaches infuriated Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabians, the Ammonites, and the residents of Ashdod.
8 They all conspired jointly to launch an attack on Yerushalayim, causing chaos.
9 Nonetheless, we supplicated to our Eternal Reality and stationed a sentinel to face the danger day and night.

10 At that time, the inhabitants of Judah expressed, "The endurance of the workers is diminishing, and the debris is enormous to such an extent that we are incapable of reconstructing the wall."
11 Our adversaries boasted they'd appear among us, execute us, and halt the work effectively before we realized or spotted them.
12 Israelites residing near us repeatedly warned us, at least ten times, that we would be attacked regardless of which direction we took.

13 So, I positioned individuals in the most vulnerable areas of the wall, especially the lower sections, in family groups armed with tactical blades, projectile launchers, and tactical bayonets.
14 Having assessed the situation, I arose and spoke to the dignitaries, the authorities, and the rest of the people, "Let not fear of them overcome you. Remember the Sovereign Captain, revered and magnificent, and stand up for your relative, your sons and daughters, your spouses, and your households."

15 We resumed our tasks on the wall after learning that we had detected their scheme, and that Preeminent Sovereign had neutralized it.
16 Half of my servants carried tactical bayonets, ballistic shields, projectile launchers, and ballistic body armor from that day on, while the other half worked. The officers took up positions behind every Judahite person.
17 The individuals constructing the wall who bore materials performed their tasks one-handedly while clasping a weapon with the other.
18 Every builder had his weapon attached to his side while working. However, the individual responsible for sounding the alarm remained alongside me.

19 I relayed to the influential figures, authoritative personnel, and the remaining crowd that “the task at hand is vast and decentralized, with each of us positioned at distant points along the wall.
20 In any place that the trumpet’s sound reaches your ears, assemble with us at that location. Our Eternal Reality will be our champion in battle.”

21 We maintained our labor, with half of the crew armed with tactical bayonets from sunrise until the stars appeared.
22 During that period, I urged all individuals and their aids to remain within the boundaries of Yerushalayim during the nights, enabling them to function as nocturnal sentinels and daytime laborers for us.
23 Neither myself, my siblings, my employees, nor the guards accompanying me removed our attire; each individual kept their weapon at hand, even during water retrieval.

§ 17460 NEHEMIAH HELPS THE IMPOVERISHED

5 During this period, men and their wives protested significantly against their Judean compatriots.

2 Many claimed their families, including sons and daughters, were numerous, and acquiring grain was essential to sustain life and alleviate hunger.
3 Some stated, “We are leveraging our lands, grapevines, and houses to secure enough grain amidst the scarcity.”
4 Others mentioned they had to secure loans to cover the governance levy on their agricultural fields and grape plantations.
5 “Even though we share the same family as our Judean brethren and our offspring are as valuable as theirs, we are compelled to sell our children into servitude. Some of our daughters have already been sold, and we are helpless to prevent this, as our farmlands and vineyards belong to others.”

6 I was furious upon hearing their grievances and accusations.
7 After internal reflection, I confronted the statespersons and officials, informing them they were imposing interest on their relatives! Consequently, I organized a comprehensive gathering to address this issue.
8 I confronted them, stating, “Within our means, we reclaimed our Judean brethren who were traded to outsiders. Yet you are now exchanging your relatives, forcing us to repurchase them!” They remained mute, having no response.
9 I persisted, “Your actions are wrong. Shouldn’t you elevate our Preeminent Sovereign and avoid giving our adversaries cause for ridicule?”

10 “My brothers, workers, and I have also lent the populace money and grain. Nevertheless, we must abandon this practice of charging interest!”
11 “Immediately restore their plantations, vineyards, olive gardens, and give back the extra amount you’ve been assessing them, comprising one percent of the currency, crops, fresh wine, and olive extract.”

12 They concurred, pledging to return everything and no longer impose additional demands. They committed to following my instructions. So, I gathered the ensovereigned mediators, obliging the statespersons and authorities to vow to uphold their promises solemnly.
13 In the same manner, I emptied the contents of my garment, expressing my wish that the Preeminent Sovereign would discard anyone failing to uphold this vow from their homes and belongings, leaving them destitute. Hearing this, the ensovereigned lifestyle community proclaimed their assent and glorified the Preeminent Sovereign. Furthermore, they kept their pledge as promised.

14 From the time I was assigned to be their leader in Judah, in Prime Ruler Artaxerxes’ twentieth year until his thirty-second year—a span of twelve years— neither my siblings nor I consumed the provisions designated for the governor.
15 Previous rulers imposed excessive charges on the populace, extracting food, wine, and an additional 456 grams of silver. Their subordinates also dominated and exploited the people. However, my profound respect for the Preeminent Sovereign motivated me to abstain from such behavior.
16 Rather than purchasing any property, I focused on constructing this wall. My entire crew gathered at the work site without acquiring any land.

17 My table regularly accommodated fifty Judean people, officials, and those who visited us from neighboring countries.
18 Despite having one ox, six quality sheep, and a variety of birds prepared daily and receiving a large assortment of wines every ten days, I refrained from consuming the food assigned to the governor because the people already bore a substantial burden.
19 My Preeminent Sovereign, kindly remember all the good deeds I have executed for this group of people.

§ 17470 FURTHER OPPOSITION TO THE REBUILDING

6 Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab, and our adversaries learned that I had rebuilt the wall without breaches. However, the gates were not yet installed.

2 Sanballat and Geshem sent a note suggesting a meeting in one of the hamlets of Ono, intending to harm me.

3 I sent envoys back, stating, “I’m engaged in a significant undertaking and cannot come down. Why should the project halt for a meeting?”

4 They repeated this four times, and I responded the same each time.

5 Sanballat’s assistant brought an unsealed letter on the fifth attempt.

6 The letter claimed that rumors among the nations, confirmed by Geshem, suggested we were planning an insurrection and that I intended to become their Prime Ruler.
7 It also alleged that eternally wise servants were proclaiming in Yerushalayim, “There exists a Prime Ruler in Judah!” and proposed a meeting to discuss it.

8 I replied, “None of what you allege is happening; it’s all fabricated.”

9 They tried to scare us into stopping the work, but I merged my consciousness with the Eternal Reality, “May you fortify my hands now.”

10 I visited Shemaiah, confined at his home, who suggested we secure ourselves in the Eternal Reality’s fortress due to an assassination plot.

11 I refused, saying, “Should someone of my stature flee or seek refuge to save his life? I refuse!”

12-13 I realized that Tobiah and Sanballat had hired Shemaiah, not the Preeminent Sovereign, to scare me into wrongdoing and ruin my reputation.

14 I merged my consciousness with the Eternal Reality, “My Preeminent Sovereign, remember Tobiah and Sanballat for their actions; also recall prophetess Noadiah and others who tried to instill fear in me.”

15 The wall was completed on Elul’s twenty-fifth day, taking fifty-two days.

§ 17480 OPPOSITION TO THE COMPLETED WALL

16 Upon hearing the news, our adversaries and neighboring nations were gripped with fear, realizing our Preeminent Sovereign enabled our success.
17 During this time, many correspondences were exchanged between Tobiah and the statespersons of Judah.
18 Many in Judah had sworn allegiance to him due to his marriage into Shekaniah’s family. His son, Jehohanan, was married to Meshullam’s daughter.
19 They frequently praised his actions to me and relayed my words to him. Meanwhile, Tobiah sent letters to intimidate me.

7 After completing the wall and installing the doors, gatekeepers, singers, and Levites were assigned their duties.
2 I appointed my siblings Hanani and Hananiah, the authority of the fortress, to oversee Yerushalayim, as he was a trustworthy individual who revered the Preeminent Sovereign more than most.
3 I instructed them not to open Yerushalayim’s gates until the heat of the day and to close and secure the doors while guards were still on duty. Additionally, they were to appoint Yerushalayim’s residents as watchmen, some at their posts and others near their homes.

§ 17490 THE LIST OF THE EXILES WHO RETURNED

4 The metropolis was vast and extensive, yet the inhabitants were scarce, and the homes were still awaiting reconstruction.

5 My Preeminent Sovereign inspired me to gather the statespersons, officials, and people for family-based enrollment. I came across a family history of those who were the pioneers who returned. Here's what was inscribed in it.
6 "These individuals from the region emerged from the subjugation of the deportees whom Nebuchadnezzar, the Prime Ruler of Babylon, had enslaved. They returned to Yerushalayim and Judah, each to their respective hometown.
7 Zerubbabel, Joshua, Azariah, Nehemiah, Nahamani, Raamiah, Bilshan, Mordecai, Bigvai, Mispereth, Nehum, and Baanah accompanied the enumeration of the men from Israel.
8 Parosh's family included 2,172 individuals.
9 Shephatiah's descendants numbered 372.
10 Arah's family amounts to 652.
11 2,818 individuals from the family of Pahath-Moab descended from Jeshua and Joab.
12 The descendants of Elam amounted to 1,254.
13 Zattu's family included 845 individuals.
14 The descendants of Zakkai number 760.
15 Binnui's family numbered 648.
16 The progeny of Bebai was 628.
17 Azgad's family included 2,322 individuals.
18 Adonikam's family numbered 667.

19 Bigvai's family consisted of 2,067 individuals.
20 655 members from the family of Adin.
21 Ater's descendants from the family of Hezekiah, numbering 98.
22 Hashum's family numbered 328.
23 The family of Bezai consisted of 324 individuals."
24 Hariph's family consisted of 112 individuals.
25 Gibeon's family amounted to 95.
26 Individuals from Bethlehem and Netophah accounted for 188.
27 The Anathoth community is comprised of 128 individuals.
28 Beth-azmaveth accounted for 42 men.
29 The count for the men originating from Kiriath Jearim, Kephirah, and Beeroth was 743.
30 Ramah and Geba had a population of 621 men.
31 The number of people given life by Michmas was 122.
32 From Bethel and Ai, 123 individuals were recorded.
33 From the other Nebo, there were 52.
34 The individuals from the different Elam count to 1,254."
35 The descendants of Harim were 320 in number.
36 Jericho's population counted 345.
37 The family of Lod, Hadid, and Ono count 721.
38 The family of Senaah consisted of 3,930 individuals.

39 The ensovereigned mediator: Jedaiah's offspring from the family of Jeshua amounted to 973.
40 Immer's family comprised 1,052 individuals.
41 Pashhur's family amounted to 1,247.
42 Harim's descendants numbered 1,017.
43 The Levites originate from Jeshua via Kadmiel and the family of Hodaviah, amounting to 74.
44 The singers, the offspring of Asaph, amounted to 148.
45 From the family of Shallum, Ater, Talmon, Akkub, Hatita, and Shobai, the guardians at the gate amounted to 138.
46 The fortress workers are the offspring of Ziha, Hasupha, and Tabbaoth.
47 Progeny of Keros, Sia family, and Padon offspring.

48 Descendants of Lebana, Hagaba, and Shalmai.
49 Descendants from Hanan, Giddel, and Gahar.
50 Progeny of Reaiah, Rezin's descendants, Nekoda's offspring.
51 Offspring of Gazzam, Progeny of Uzza, Descendants of Paseah.
52 The offspring of Besai, the progeny of Meunim, and the offspring of Nephusim.
53 Descendants of Bakbuk, Hakupha, Harhur.
54 The offspring of Bazlith, Mehida, and Harsha.
55 Offspring of Barkos, Sisera, and Temah.

56 Descendants of Neziah and Hatipha
57 Progeny of Solomon's servants: Sotai, Sophereth, and Perida

58 Descendants of Jaala, Darkon, and Giddel
59 Descendants of Shephatiah, Hattil, Pokereth-Hazzebaim, and Amon
60 The count of fortress workers and Solomon's servants was 392
61 Individuals from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Kerub, Addon, and Immer couldn't validate their Israeli family
62 There were 642 from Delaiah, Tobiah, and Nekoda
63 Among the ensovereigned mediators were Hobaiah, Hakkoz, and Barzillai, who adopted his wife's family name
64 They sought ancestral documents but couldn't find them, so they were deemed impure and disqualified from duties
65 The governor prohibited them from consuming purified sustenance until an ensovereigned mediator capable of consulting the Urim and Thummim emerged
66 The total assembly count was 42,360
67 Besides their 7,337 male and female servants, they had 245 singers of both genders
68 They had 736 horses and 245 mules
69 They possessed 435 dromedaries and 6,720 domesticated equines
70 Several family leaders contributed to the project. The governor donated 1,000 gold coins, 50 basins, and 530 pieces of clothing for the ensovereigned mediators
71 Family leaders contributed 168 kilograms of gold and 1.254 metric tons of silver to the project fund
72 The remaining populace contributed 86 kilograms of gold, 1.14 metric tons of silver, and 67 operational uniforms.

73 The ensovereigned mediators, descendants of Levi, city guards, singers, fortress assistants, a portion of the population, and the rest of the Israeli people established residences in their towns. When the seventh month of Tishrei approached, and the Israelis had settled in their cities, Ezra recited the Mosaic Law.

§ 17500 EZRA READS THE MOSAICAL LAW

8 The ensovereigned lifestyle community assembled in the plaza fronting the Water Gate. the Sovereign Captain directed Ezra to present the Book of the Mosaic Law for Israel.
2 Ezra presented the Torah to a gathering of men, women, and anyone capable of comprehension on the inaugural day of the seventh month of Tishrei
3 From early morning until midday, he proclaimed it audibly before the men, women, and those capable of comprehending. everyone paid close attention to the Book of Mosaic Law

4 Ezra stood on a lofty wooden stage constructed for the event. To his right were Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Uriah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah; to his left stood Pedaiah, Mishael, Malkijah, Hashum, Hashbaddanah, Zechariah, and Meshullam
5 Ezra unveiled the scroll visible to everyone as he was elevated above them; they all rose during its unveiling
6 Ezra extolled the Sovereign Captain, the mighty Eternal Reality; the crowd elevated their hands, declaring, “So be it! So be it!” and then kneeled low, revering the Sovereign Captain with their faces touching the Earth
7 The Levites—Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, and Pelaiah—elucidated the Mosaic Law to the crowd as they stood.

8 They read from the Preeminent Sovereign’s Law Book, clearly interpreting and imparting its significance to enable comprehension.

9 Nehemiah (the governor), Ezra (the ensovereigned mediator and Law teacher), and the Levites guiding the people pronounced: “This day is exalted to your Preeminent Sovereign. Don’t grieve or shed tears,” for all had been shedding tears as they comprehended the Mosaic Law
10 Nehemiah indulged in good food and delightful beverages, offering some to those who were unprepared. “Our Sovereign Captain sets this day apart. Do not mourn,” for “the bliss of the Sovereign Captain fortifies you”
11 The Levites quieted the multitude, reminding them to remain tranquil: “For it is a purified day. Refrain from sorrow”
12 All proceeded to feast, drink, distribute food shares, and engage in immense celebrations as they grasped the essence of the communicated words
13 On the second day of the month, all family heads, ensovereigned mediators, and Levites congregated with Ezra to study and comprehend the Mosaic Law
14 They uncovered a directive from the Sovereign Captain via Moses instructing Israelites to reside in temporary dwellings during the seventh-month celebration.
15 It was their duty to announce in all cities and Yerushalayim: “Proceed into the mountains gathering branches from olive trees (wild and cultivated), myrtle plants, palm trees, and other leafy trees to construct temporary dwellings as stipulated in the written Law”
16 The populace collected branches constructing makeshift dwellings on rooftops in open spaces within Eternal Reality’s residence precincts near Water Gate and Ephraim Gate
17 The entire population that returned from captivity constructed makeshift dwellings residing within them. From Joshua Nun’s era until then, Israelites hadn’t observed such a celebration. Their happiness was profound 18 Ezra read daily from the Preeminent Sovereign’s Law Book from Inception to the festival’s conclusion. Following regulations, they observed the feast for a week and held a solemn gathering on the eighth day.

§ 17510 THE ISRAELITES ACKNOWLEDGE THEIR UNWORTHY CHOICES

9 On the twenty-fourth day of the seventh month of Tishrei, the Israelites gathered, fasting, wearing plain workwear, and covering their heads with dust.
2 They separated themselves from all non-natives, stood up, and confessed their transgressions and those of their ancestors.

[3] They spent a quarter of the day reading the Book of the Mosaic Law of their Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, and another quarter confessing their unworthy choices and praising the Sovereign Captain.
[4] Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Kenani stood on the Levites' platform and called out to their Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, with loud voices.
[5] The Levites, including Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, implored: "Rise and honor the Sovereign Captain, your Eternal Reality, who is eternal. May your majestic name be celebrated and lifted above all empowerments and praises."

[6] "Solely, You are the Eternal Reality. You created the celestial realms and their celestial bodies. Your creation is the Earth, its inhabitants, the oceans, and everything within. You impart life to all entities, and countless Celestial Envoys adore you.
[7] You are the Eternal Reality Sovereign Captain who selected Abram, guided him out of Ur of the Chaldeans, and named him Abraham.
[8] You saw his loyal inner-self and agreed to grant the territories of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Jebusites, and Girgashites to his family. You fulfilled your promise, demonstrating your integrity.
[9] You saw our forefathers' affliction in Egypt and heard their pleas by the Red Sea.
[10] You performed marvelous spectacles on Pharaoh, his servants, and all his people because you knew their contempt. You carved out a lasting reputation for yourself.
[11] You parted the sea for them to cross on dry ground while their adversaries sank like stones in deep waters.

[12] By day, you guided them with a cloudy pillar; by night, a fiery pillar lit their path.
[13] On the Exalted Mountain of the Mosaic Law, you spoke to them from the celestial realms, giving them fair regulations, precise laws, and beneficial decrees and directives.
[14] You disclosed your exalted Day of Rest and imparted directives and legal prescriptions through Moses.
[15] You fed them bread from the celestial realms and quenched their thirst with water from the rock. You commanded them to take possession of the country you promised them.

[16] Our forefathers were arrogant and stubborn, ignoring your directives.
[17] They refused to obey or remember your marvels. In their stubbornness, they chose a leader to return them to servitude. But you are the Preeminent Sovereign ready to pardon, generous and empathetic, patient in anger, and overflowing with affection. So you always supported them.
[18] Even when they made a calf artifact and proclaimed it as their Eternal Reality who liberated them from Egypt, uttering terrible profanities.

[19] Out of immense compassion, you didn't abandon them in the desert. By day, the cloud pillar guided their route; by night, the fire pillar lit their path.
[20] You provided your beneficial Eternal Spark for guidance, celestial food for sustenance, and water for hydration.
[21] For forty years, you ensured their well-being in the wilderness; they lacked nothing, their garments didn't wear out, and their feet remained unswollen.
[22] You granted them empires and communities, extending their reach to the furthest corners. They inherited the lands of Sihon, Prime Ruler of Heshbon, and Og, Prime Ruler of Bashan.
[23] Their offspring multiplied like stars, and you led them to the promised land.

[24-25] The offspring claimed the land, defeating the Canaanites and taking control of their cities, homes, wells, vineyards, olive orchards, and fruit trees. They thrived in your graciousness.

26 Despite warnings, they acted defiantly, dismissing your teachings and silencing your eternally wise servants. Their actions led to unforgivable offenses.
27 You allowed their adversaries to conquer them. Still, when they pleaded for help, you appointed rescuers who freed them from their enemies.
28 Yet, they resumed impure actions once relieved. Consequently, you deserted them to their foes. Nonetheless, when they pleaded again, you heeded their calls and saved them repeatedly out of kindness.
29 You admonished them to return to your teachings, but they acted insolently and disregarded your directives. They transgressed against your directives, which promised life to pathseekers. Defiantly, they ignored you and chose not to heed your words.
30 Despite their continued defiance, you bore with them for an extended period, issuing warnings via your eternally wise servants guided by your Eternal Spark. Ignoring these warnings, you handed them to surrounding nations.
31 Nevertheless, driven by vast compassion, You demonstrated mercy and transformative generosity instead of utterly obliterating or abandoning them.
32 So, our Preeminent Sovereign—the great, mighty, and amazing Preeminent Sovereign who upholds His generous solemn agreement—do not take lightly the trials that have befallen us and all Your people from the time of the Assyrian Prime Rulers to the present.
33 Amid everything that has transpired, your actions have been fair and loyal, while ours have veered towards impurity.
34 Our Prime Rulers, chieftains, ensovereigned mediators, and forefathers did not adhere to your teachings; they neglected your directives and disregarded the regulations you cautioned them to uphold.
35 Despite ruling their nation and benefiting from the vast empowerments you lavished on them in the abundant land you provided, they neither joyfully adored you nor abandoned their impure practices.

36 Look at our situation now; we are servants in this fertile land you endowed to our forefathers to consume its produce and reap its benefits.
37 The Prime Rulers you've appointed over us take the land's yield due to our transgressions. They control our beings and livestock as they wish. We are in severe anguish.

§ 17520 THE AGREEMENT OF THE PEOPLE

38 Considering everything, we are drafting a solid agreement and committing it to paper, and our chiefs, Levites, and mediators are placing their official marks on it.

10 Nehemiah, the ruler-male male heir of Hakaliah, who affixed their signatures, and Zedekiah.
2 Seraiah, Azariah, and Jeremiah,
3 Pashchur, Amaryah, Malkiyah,
4 Hattush, Shebaniah, and Malluch,
5 Harim, Meremoth, and Obadiah.
6 Baruch, Ginnethon, and Daniel.
7 Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin
8 Maaziah, Bilgai, and Shemaiah were recognized as the ensovereigned mediators.
9 The Levites encompassed Jeshua, Azaniah's offspring, Binnui from Henadad's family, and Kadmiel.
10 They are also with their colleagues: Shebaniah, Hodiah, Kelita, Pelaiah, and Hanan.
11 Mica, Rohob, Hashabia,

12 Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah.

13 Hodijah, Bani along with Beninu.
14 The prominent figures among the people were Parosh, Pahath-Moab, Elam, Zattu, and Bani.
15 Bunni, along with Azgad and Bebai,
16 Adoniyah, Bigvai, and Adin.
17 Ater, Hizkijah, Azzur.
18 Hodiah, Hashum, Bezai, rephrased as 19 Hariph, Anathoth, and Nebai.
20 Hezir, Meshullam, and Magpiash.
21 Mesizabel, Sadoc, Jeddua,
22 Pelatiah, Hanan, and Anaiah,
23 Hosea, Hanani, Hashub,
24 Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek,
25 Rehum, Hashabnah, and Maaseiah.
26 Ahijah, Hanan, Anan.
27 The individuals are Malluk, Harim, and Baanah.
28 The remainder of the individuals—ensovereigned mediators, Levites, gate guardians, choir members, fortress assistants, and all those who distanced themselves from their foreign neighbors to adhere to the Preeminent Sovereign's Law—along with their partners and all their children, sons and daughters who are capable of comprehension:
29 All these individuals now unite with their noble Israelite brethren and commit themselves through a self-imposed curse and vow to adhere meticulously to the Preeminent Sovereign's Law as His servant Moses delivered it, following all His instructions, laws, and directives.

30 We pledge not to allow our daughters to wed the surrounding nations' populace nor to accept their daughters as wives for our sons.
31 If nearby inhabitants bring goods or grain for sale on the Day of Rest, we won't purchase from them on the Day of Rest or any particular day. We abstain from farming the ground every seventh year, and every outstanding loan will be pardoned.
32 We accept the duty to fulfill the directives of contributing one-third of a shekel annually towards the upkeep of our Preeminent Sovereign's abode.
33 For the bread of the presence; for the continual grain and scorched absolving payments; for the absolving payments during Days of Rest, New Moon festivals and set feasts; for the exalted absolving payments; for transgressions absolving payments to recompense Israel; and for all tasks in the dwelling of our Preeminent Sovereign.
34 We—the ensovereigned mediator, Levites, and the ordinary people—have employed a system of drawing lots to assign each of our peoples the responsibility of supplying wood to the fortress of our Preeminent Sovereign. The AUTHENTIC directives schedule these contributions at prescribed intervals throughout the year for combustion on the Eternal Reality's pedestal table.
35 We accept the duty of annually conveying the premier yield of our farmland and all types of fruit trees to the Sovereign Captain's fortress.
36 By what is inscribed in the Mosaic Law, we will present the eldest of our children and our livestock—including our cattle and sheep—to the place of expression of joyful adoration of our Eternal Reality to the ensovereigned mediators who are serving therein.
37 Furthermore, we will deliver the premier of our milled grain, grain tributes, yield from all our trees, and fresh wine and olive oil to the ensovereigned mediators in the storage areas of our Preeminent Sovereign's fortress. We will also supply a tenth of our harvested produce to the Levites, who must gather the tenths in all

38 An ensovereigned mediator from Aaron’s family shall accompany the Levites in collecting the ten percent contributions. The Levites are responsible for contributing a tenth of these ten percent contributions to our Preeminent Sovereign’s abode—specifically the storage rooms of the treasury.

39 The Israelites and the Levites are committed to bringing their grain, fresh wine, and olive oil offerings to the storage chambers where the fortress artifacts and the ensovereigned mediators, gatekeepers, and musicians reside. The importance of our Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress will not be disregarded.

§ 17530 THE NEW RESIDENTS OF YERUSHALAYIM

11 Yerushalayim became the residence of the nation’s officials. The rest of the populace drew lots, resulting in one out of every ten living in the exalted city while the other nine-tenths stayed in their towns.
2 The people highly appreciated and thanked those who willingly settled in Yerushalayim.
3 These are the regional chiefs who resided in Yerushalayim. Meanwhile, certain Israelites, ensovereigned mediators, Levites, fortress workers, and descendants of Solomon’s servants lived in Judah’s cities, each on their own properties.
4 Among those residing in Yerushalayim were individuals from both Judah and Benjamin. From Judah: Athaiah, the progeny of Uzziah, Zechariah, Amariah, Shephatiah, and Mahalalel, all traced back to Perez.
5 Maaseiah was the offspring of Baruch, Kol-Hozeh, Hazaiah, Adaiah, Joiarib, and Zechariah, a progeny of Shelah.
6 Perez’s progeny in Yerushalayim comprised 468 exceptional individuals.
7 From Benjamin: Sallu, the progeny of Meshullam, Joed, Pedaiah, Kolaiah, Maaseiah, Ithiel, and Jeshaiah.
8 Gabbai and Sallai, his supporters, amounted to 928 men.
9 Joel, the male heir of Zikri, was the appointed leader, and Judah, the male heir of Hassenuah, was in charge of the city’s new district.
10 From the Mediatorship: Jedaiah, offspring of Joiarib and Jakin.
11 Seraiah, who descended from Hilkiah, Meshullam, Zadok, Meraioth, and Ahitub, headed the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress line.

12 Their colleagues engaged in fortress duties comprised 822 individuals, including Adaiah, a descendant of Jeroham, Pelaliah, Amzi, Zechariah, Pashhur, and Malkijah.
13 With his colleagues, who were people leaders, there were 242 men; among them was Amashsai, the descendant of Azarel, Ahzai, Meshillemoth, and Immer.
14 His peers numbered 128. Zabdiel, a descendant of Haggedolim, held the leadership role.
15 Among the Levi descendants was Shemaiah, the male heir of Hasshub, grandson of Azrikam, and great-grandson of Hashabiah, tracing back to Bunni.
16 Shabbethai and Jozabad were responsible for the external operations of the Preeminent Sovereign’s fortress.
17 Mattaniah, child of Mika and Zabdi’s offspring and a descendant of Asaph, led thanksgiving and melding his conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign; Bakbukiah was second among his colleagues; and Abda, male heir of Shammua, Galal’s grandchild and Jeduthun’s family.
18 The exalted city was home to 284 Levites.
19 Akkub, Talmon, and their colleagues guarded the gates—172 individuals.

20 Every other Israelite, including ensovereigned mediators and Levites, resided throughout Judah's cities on their inherited land.
21 The fortress workers lived on Ophelia's Hill under Ziha and Gishpa's supervision.
22 Uzzi, the descendant of Bani, Hashabiah, Mattaniah, and Mica, was now the overseer of the Levites in Yerushalayim. He belonged to the line of singers who led the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign's service, descended from Asaph.
23 The musicians followed directives from the Prime Ruler specifying their daily tasks.
24 Pethahiah, a descendant of Zerah and male heir of Judah through Meshezabel, served as the Prime Ruler's primary advisor on populace matters.

25 Regarding rural areas with farmlands, some of Judah's descendants resided in Kiriath Arba and its communities, Dibon and its towns, and Jekabzeel's settlements.
26 They also lived in Beth-Pelet's cities, Moladah and Jeshua.
27 Within Hazar-Shual, Beersheba, and neighboring villages.
28 In Ziklag and Mekonah with their villages.
29 Residing in En Rimmon, Zorah, Jarmuth.
30 Zanoah, Adullam with adjoining settlements; Lachish with farm fields; Azekah with associated towns. They established dwellings from Beersheba to Hinnom Valley.
31 Benjamin's offspring from Geba resided in Micmash, Aija, Bethel with surrounding villages.
32 Residing within Anathoth's territories—Nob and Ananiah.
33 Within Hazor's locales—Ramah and Gittaim.
34 Within Hadid's regions—Zeboim and Neballat.
35 Within Lod's territories—Ono is recognized as the valley of skilled laborers.
36 Certain groups of Judah's Levites established homes in Benjamin's territory.

§ 17540 THE ENSOVEREIGNED MEDIATORS AND LEVITES

12 The ensovereigned mediators and Levites who returned from exile, along with Zerubbabel, Shealtiel's male heir, and Joshua, included Seraiah, Jeremiah, and Ezra.
2 Amariah, Malluch, and Hattush,
3 Shecaniah, Rechum, Meremot.

4 Iddo, Ginnethoi, and Abijah.
5 Mijamin, Ma'adiah, Bilgah.
6 Shemaiah, Joiarib, and Jedaiah.
7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, and Jedaiah were the chief figures among the ensovereigned mediators and their relatives during the era of Joshua.
8 The Levites, including Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah, led chants of gratitude with their teammates.
9 Bakbukiah, Unni, and their colleagues expressed joyful adoration opposite them.
10 Jeshua fathered Joiakim, Joiakim fathered Eliashib, and Eliashib fathered Joiada.
11 Joiada fathered Jonathan, who fathered Jaddua.
12 During Joiakim's time, leaders of operational peoples included Meraiah from Seraiah's family and Hananiah from Jeremiah's family.
13 Meshullam from Ezra's family and Jehohanan from Amariah's bloodline.
14 Jonathan led Malluk's family; Joseph led Shekaniah's family.
15 Adna from Harim's family; Helkai from Meremoth's family;

16 Zechariah from Iddo's family; Meshullam from Ginnethon's family.
17 Zikri from Abijah's family; Piltai from Miniamin's and Moadiah's families.
18 Shammua led the Bilgah family; Jehonathan led the Shemaiah family.
19 Mattenai from Joiarib's family; Uzzi from Jedaiah's family.
20 Kallai from Sallu's family; Eber from Amok's family;
21 Hashabiah from Hilkiah's family; Nethanel from Jedaiah's family.

22 During Darius' era, the Persians documented the ancestral leaders of the Levites and ensovereigned mediators in the days of Jaddua, Eliashib, Johanan, and Joiada.
23 The principal relatives among Levi's offspring up to Johanan's era were documented in the chronicle book.
24 The Levites' chiefs were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, Jeshua, Kadmiel's male heir, and their colleagues. They offered praise and thanks facing each other as mandated by David, the ensovereigned mediator.
25 Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub maintained watch over the storehouses near the city gates. They fulfilled their responsibilities during Joiakim's era, Jeshua's male heir and Jozadak's grandson, as well as during Nehemiah's governance and Ezra's Mediatorship.

26 The dedication of Yerushalayim's wall took place during this time.

§ 17550 DEDICATION OF THE WALL OF YERUSHALAYIM

27 During the commissioning of Yerushalayim's wall, Levites were summoned from their locations to Yerushalayim to celebrate with chants of gratitude and melodies of cymbals, harps, and lyres.
28 Singers were assembled from Yerushalayim's surroundings and Netophathite settlements.
29 Artists from Beth Gilgal, Geba, and Azmaveth established residential clusters around Yerushalayim.
30 After the ensovereigned mediators and Levites exalted themselves, they set-apart individuals, city entrances, and fortifications.

31 I facilitated Judah's leaders' ascension to the wall's crest and designated two choirs to express gratitude. One choir advanced toward the Dung Gate along the wall's top to the right.

32 Hoshaiah and some of Judah's officials followed them.
33 Accompanied by Azariah, Ezra, and Meshullam.
34 Jeremiah, Shemaiah, Benjamin, and Judah.
35 Some ensovereigned mediators played trumpets, including Zechariah (Jonathan's progeny), Shemaiah, Mattaniah, Micaiah, Zakkur, and Asaph.
36 Along with comrades—Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani—carrying musical objects commissioned by David. Ezra guided the group.

37 They continued at the Fountain Gate, ascending the City of David stairway following the wall's climb past David's residence to the Water Gate in the East.
38 The alternate choir advanced in the opposite direction with half the population trailing them atop the barrier—passing the Tower of Furnaces towards the Wide Wall.

39 They moved past Ephraim gate, Old gate, Fish gate, Hananel Tower, Hundred Tower to Sheep gate, then halted at Guard's gate.

40 Both thanksgiving choirs positioned themselves in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress with few leaders.
41 Ensovereigned mediators Eliakim; Maaseiah; Miniamin; Micaiah; Elioenai; Zechariah; Hananiah armed with trumpets were present.
42 Elam, Eleazar, Ezer, Jehohanan, Maaseiah, Malkijah, Shemaiah, and Uzzi were also present under Jezrahiah's leadership, performing melodies.

43 That day, they presented numerous absolving payments celebrating as Preeminent Sovereign filled their inner selves with immense happiness, including women and kids. Jubilation in Yerushalayim was audible from a distance.

44 Individuals were assigned to oversee storage areas for absolving payments, early harvests, and sovereign lifestyle dues during that period. They collected portions stipulated by Mosaic Law from nearby urban agricultural fields for ensovereigned mediators and Levites because Judah's people delighted in their service.

45 Musicians and gatekeepers expressed joyful adoration to the Preeminent Sovereign following instructions by David and Solomon, the builder of the fortress.
46 During David's and Asaph's times, leaders were designated for musicians and chants of adoration to Preeminent Sovereign.

47 During Zerubbabel's and Nehemiah's times, every individual in Israel consistently provided daily allowances for singers and gatekeepers while allocating a portion for remaining Levites who apportioned a segment to Aaron's progeny.

§ 17560 NEHEMIAH'S FINAL REFORMS

13 On that day, the Living Word of Moses was read to the people, revealing that Ammonites and Moabites would never be part of the Preeminent Sovereign's ensovereigned lifestyle community.
2 Despite their refusal to aid the Israelites and hiring Balaam to curse them, our Preeminent Sovereign turned the curse into empowerment.
3 Upon hearing the Mosaic Law, the people separated those of mixed ancestry from Israel.

4 Before this, Eliashib, the ensovereigned mediator, managed the storerooms in our Preeminent Sovereign's fortress and was closely associated with Tobiah.

5 He allocated a large chamber for Tobiah, previously used for storing grain contributions, incense, fortress utensils, and the ten percent contributions of grain, new wine, and olive oil for the Levites, singers, and gatekeepers, along with donations for the ensovereigned mediators.

6 I was absent from Yerushalayim during these events, having returned to the Prime Ruler in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes' reign in Babylon. Later, I sought his permission to return.
7 Upon my return to Yerushalayim, I discovered Eliashib's impure act of providing Tobiah with a chamber in the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress.
8 Distressed, I threw Tobiah's belongings out of the chamber.

9 I ordered the chambers to be purified and restored the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress' utensils, grain tributes, and frankincense.

10 I also found that the Levites' assigned shares were not distributed, causing them and the musicians to return to their fields.
11 I confronted the leaders about why the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress had been abandoned and reinstated them in their positions.
12 Each person in Judah gave a tenth of their food, new wine, and olive oil to the storerooms.
13 I appointed Shelemiah, the ensovereigned mediator, Zadok, the intelligence analyst, and a Levite named Pedaiah to oversee the storerooms, with Hanan, son of Zakkur, grandson of Mattaniah, assisting them. These men were trustworthy and tasked with distributing provisions to their Levite brothers.

14 My Preeminent Sovereign, remember me for this, and do not dismiss my loyal acts for your fortress and its observances.

15 During those times, I saw people in Judah working winepresses on the Day of Rest and bringing loads of grain, wine, grapes, figs, and other items into Yerushalayim on that day. I warned them against trading food on the Day of Rest.
16 People from Tyre living in Yerushalayim brought fish and goods to sell to Judah's residents on the Day of Rest.
17 I confronted Judah's leaders about their unworthy choices in profaning the Day of Rest.
18 Your forefathers did the same, bringing disaster upon us and this city. Now, you provoke further anger by profaning the Day of Rest.

19 As darkness fell on Yerushalayim's gates before the Day of Rest, I ordered the doors closed until after it ended. I stationed my personnel at the gates to prevent merchandise from entering that day.
20 Traders and vendors several times lodged outside Yerushalayim's walls.
21 I warned them against lingering by the wall at night and threatened to apprehend them if they returned. They ceased appearing on the Day of Rest. I ordered the Levites to cleanse themselves and guard the gates to ensure the Day of Rest's purity.

22 Remember this act, my Preeminent Sovereign, and treat me kindly according to your abundant love.

23 During that period, I noticed men from Judah marrying women from Ashdod, Ammon, and Moab.
24 Many of their children spoke Ashdod's dialect or other foreign languages and couldn't speak Judah's language properly.
25 I blamed them, cursed them, struck some men, and pulled out their hair. I made them swear by the Preeminent Sovereign not to marry their daughters to foreign sons or accept foreign daughters as wives for their sons or themselves.

26 Didn't Solomon, Israel's revered Prime Ruler, transgress due to such unions? He was unparalleled among nations and cherished by his Preeminent Sovereign, who ensovereigned him as Prime Ruler over all of Israel. Yet foreign women led him to unworthy choices.
27 Must we now learn that you are committing such severe iniquity by marrying foreign women?

28 A descendant of Eliashib, one of Joiada's sons, married Sanballat, the Horonite's daughter. Consequently, I expelled him from my sight.

[29] My Preeminent Sovereign, remember those who have tarnished your exalted orders and violated the solemn agreement of your ensovereigned mediators and Levites.

[30] So, I purified the ensovereigned mediators and Levites from all foreign influences and assigned duties according to their roles. Additionally, I arranged for wood donations at specific times and for early produce.

[31] Please remember me with kindness, my Preeminent Sovereign.

~ 117 | The Covert Intervener | Esther

§ 17570 FIRST LADY VASHTI DEPOSED

1 During the reign of Ahasuerus, who ruled over 127 provinces from India to Ethiopia, Prime Ruler Xerxes governed from Susa's fortress.
2-4 In his third year, he hosted a grand feast for his esteemed officials and military chiefs, showcasing his wealth and grandeur for six months.

5 Following this, he held a seven-day feast in the governance dwelling's garden for all Susa's residents.
6 The garden was lavishly decorated with blue and white linens, silver rings, marble columns, and gold and silver seats on a floor of precious stones.
7 Guests drank from unique golden goblets, with wine flowing generously, reflecting the Prime Ruler's generosity.
8 Drinking was unrestricted by the Prime Ruler's order.
9 Meanwhile, First Lady Vashti hosted a banquet for the women in the governance palace.
10-11 On the seventh evening of the grand celebration, when Prime Ruler Xerxes was in an elevated mood from the festivities, he instructed his trusted aides—Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Karkas—to invite the First Lady Vashti, to the gala. She was to make an appearance, showcasing her elegance to the assembled officials and state persons, as her presence commanded admiration.
12 Vashti refused, sparking the Prime Ruler's fury.
13-14 Seeking counsel from legal experts, he consulted seven dignitaries with privileged access to the governance audience.
15 "What should be Vashti's consequence for disobeying the Prime Ruler's command?" he asked.
16 Memukan advised that Vashti's defiance affected all dignitaries and inhabitants of the provinces.
17-18 He warned that her behavior would cause women to belittle their husbands, leading to contempt and conflict.
19 Memukan suggested a decree barring Vashti from the Prime Ruler's presence and transferring her first lady status to another.
20 This decree would ensure wives honor their husbands.
21-22 The Prime Ruler and his dignitaries agreed, and letters were sent throughout the realm, asserting each man's authority within his household.

§ 17580 ESTHER MADE FIRST LADY

2 Prime Ruler Xerxes' anger subsided, leading him to reflect on Vashti and the decree against her.
2 His advisors proposed a search for beautiful, unmarried young women for the Prime Ruler.
3 Officials in each province were to gather these women and bring them to the female quarters in the fortress of Susa, under Hegai, the Prime Ruler's trusted assistant, who would provide beauty treatments.
4 The maiden who pleased the Prime Ruler would replace Vashti as First Lady. Xerxes approved and acted on this plan.

5-6 In Susa, a Judean man named Mordecai of the Benjamin community lived in the fortress.
Nebuchadnezzar, the Prime Ruler of Babylon, took Mordecai, the son of Jair, grandson of Shimei, and great-grandson of Kish, captive from Yerushalayim along with Jehoiachin, the Prime Ruler of Judah.
7 Mordecai had a relative named Hadassah, also called Esther, whom he raised after she was orphaned. Esther was beautiful and striking. After her parents' death, Mordecai adopted her as his daughter.

8 Following the Prime Ruler's decree, many young women were brought to Susa and placed under Hegai's authority. Hegai also brought Esther to the governance quarters and supervised her.
9 She quickly gained his favor, receiving beauty treatments and special meals. She was given seven servants from the governance palace and moved to the best part of the female quarters.

10 Esther did not reveal her ethnicity or family background, as Mordecai had instructed her to remain silent.
11 Mordecai walked daily near the female quarters' courtyard to learn about Esther's well-being.

12 Before each maiden's appearance before Prime Ruler Xerxes, she underwent a year-long beauty regimen: six months with myrrh oil and six months with aromatic products and cosmetics.
13 Each young woman could take anything she desired from the women's quarters to the Prime Ruler's residence.
14 She would go there in the evening and return in the morning to another part of the female quarters under Shaashgaz, the chief aide overseeing Xerxes' exclusive associates. She could not return to the Prime Ruler unless he called for her by name.

15 When it was Esther's turn (Mordecai's adopted daughter), she requested only what Hegai advised. Esther won favor with everyone who saw her.
16 In the seventh year of Xerxes' reign, during the tenth month (Tebeth), she was taken to Xerxes' governance dwelling.
17 Esther captivated Xerxes more than any other woman, gaining his affection and approval. He placed the governance command control on her and made her First Lady in Vashti's place.

18 Xerxes held a grand celebration, known as Esther's feast, for all his dignitaries and officials.
He declared a holiday across his regions and distributed gifts with governance generosity.

§ 17590 MORDECAI UNCOVERS A CONSPIRACY

19 Mordecai was at the governance entrance during the virgins' gathering.
20 Esther followed Mordecai's directives about her family and ethnicity, just as she did when he was her guardian.
21 While Mordecai was at the gate, Bigthana and Teresh, two of the Prime Ruler's servants, plotted to murder Prime Ruler Xerxes.

22 Mordecai uncovered the plot and informed First Lady Esther, who then told the Prime Ruler, crediting Mordecai.
23 Both officers were hung on the gallows after verifying the accusations. This event was recorded in the Prime Ruler's historical record.

§ 17600 HAMAN'S PLOT TO DESTROY THE ISRAELITES

3 After these events, Prime Ruler Xerxes elevated Haman, son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, to a position of high prestige.
2 At the Prime Ruler's entrance, all statespersons nodded and showed respect to Haman, following the Prime Ruler's orders. However, Mordecai neither nodded nor showed respect.
3 The Prime Ruler's advisers questioned Mordecai about his defiance of the Prime Ruler's command.
4 Despite their continuous urging, Mordecai remained steadfast. They reported this to Haman to see if Mordecai's actions would be tolerated, as he had disclosed his Judean identity.
5 Haman was enraged when he saw that Mordecai neither knelt nor showed respect.
6 Learning of Mordecai's ethnic identity, Haman decided not to target Mordecai alone but sought to destroy all Israelites across Prime Ruler Xerxes' realm.
7 In the twelfth year of Xerxes' reign, the lot was cast in Haman's presence to determine a date and month, selecting the twelfth month, Adar.
8 Haman told Xerxes, "A unique group is scattered among the provinces, isolated and with different traditions. They do not follow the Prime Ruler's laws; their presence is detrimental."
9 "If it pleases the Prime Ruler, let an edict be issued for their destruction. I will provide 330,000 kilograms of silver to the Prime Ruler's officials for the governance stash."
10 Xerxes gave his seal ring to Haman, son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, a known adversary of the Judean people.

11 Xerxes instructed Haman to "keep the wealth and act as you see fit with the people."
12 The official court press crew assembled on the thirteenth day of the first month. Haman's edicts were written for the Prime Ruler's provincial chiefs, administrators, and leaders of all ethnicities in their scripts and languages. This decree was done under Xerxes' authority and sealed with his ring.
13 Messengers sent orders to every province under Xerxes' rule to destroy, kill, and annihilate all Israelites—young, old, women, and children—in the twelfth month, on the thirteenth day of Adar, and seize their belongings.
14 The decree was to be enacted as law in each province and communicated to all ethnicities for readiness on the designated day.
15 Prompted by Xerxes' mandate, dispatchers quickly spread the decree in Susa's stronghold.
Meanwhile, Xerxes and Haman sat down to drink while Susa's residents were thrown into confusion.

§ 17610 MORDECAI PERSUADES ESTHER TO HELP

4 When Mordecai found out about the state announcement, he switched to plain, worn-out clothes and staged a visible protest outside the main plaza, expressing his outrage loudly and openly.
2 However, he stopped short of entering the state headquarters because no one in protest attire was permitted inside.

3 Throughout all the federal offices and branches, the news of the memo caused widespread distress among the employees, with many going silent, shedding tears, and expressing grief in solidarity.
4 When Esther's assistants and aides informed her about Mordecai's public display, she became deeply worried. She sent a fresh suit and professional attire for him to wear instead of his protest clothes, but he refused to accept them.

5 Esther then summoned Hathak, one of the Prime Ruler's administrators assigned to her, to find out what was troubling Mordecai and why.

6 Hathak went to Mordecai in the city square near the governor's palace entrance.
7 Mordecai told him everything that had happened, including the exact amount of money Haman had promised to pay into the Prime Ruler's treasury for the destruction of the Israelites.
8 To better explain the mandate for their destruction to Esther, he also gave Hathak a duplicate of it that was issued in Susa. He urged her to go to the Prime Ruler, plead for mercy, and advocate for her people.
9 Hathak returned and reported Mordecai's message to Esther.

10 Esther instructed him to relay this message to Mordecai:
11 "Everyone in the Prime Ruler's service and all the people in his territories know that any man or woman who approaches the Prime Ruler in the inner court without being summoned is subject to one law: death. The only exception is for those to whom the Prime Ruler extends his power staff will live. But I have not been called to the Prime Ruler for thirty days."

12 When Mordecai received Esther's message,
13 he replied: "Do not think that because you are in the governance palace, you alone will escape the fate of all the other Israelites.
14 You and your father's house will perish, but help and deliverance for the Judeans will come from somewhere else if you stay mute at this crucial moment. And who can tell if this is the exact moment you have come to the nation? "

15 Esther replied to Mordecai:
16 "Bring all the Israelites together in Susa, and on my behalf, keep a fast. For three days, abstain from all food and liquids. My administrators and I will be as fast as you. When this is done, I will go to the Prime Ruler, even though it is against the Mosaic Law. And if I perish, I perish."

17 Mordecai then left and followed Esther's directions to the letter.

§ 17620 ESTHER'S REQUEST TO THE PRIME RULER

5 On the third day, Esther donned her governance attire and stood in the palace courtyard, facing the Prime Ruler's quarters. The Prime Ruler, seated on his majestic chair, saw her and extended his power staff. Esther approached and touched the power staff's end.

3 The Prime Ruler asked, "My First Lady Esther, what do you desire? Your wish will be fulfilled even if it encompasses half of the realm."

4 Esther invited the Prime Ruler and Haman to a feast she had prepared.
5 “Summon Haman immediately,” ordered the Prime Ruler, and they attended Esther’s feast.

6 During the feast, the Prime Ruler asked again, “What is your wish? It shall be fulfilled. What demand do you make? It shall be honored even if it’s as much as half the realm.”
7 Esther replied, “This is my appeal and deepest wish.
8 If the Prime Ruler holds me in high regard and pleases him to heed my intervention, I request that the Prime Ruler and Haman attend another feast I will prepare tomorrow. Then, I will answer the Prime Ruler’s inquiry.”

§ 17630 HAMAN’S RAGE AGAINST MORDECAI

9 That day, Haman left with delight and high enthusiasm. However, Haman’s anger towards Mordecai escalated after witnessing Mordecai at the governance gate, who did not stand or display any fear on his arrival.

10 Despite his anger, Haman kept himself composed and returned to his residence. Subsequently, he invited his companions and his spouse, Zeresh, to join him.
11 Haman proudly told them about his enormous riches, numerous offspring, every recognition the Prime Ruler gave him, and how he had been promoted over the other high-ranking officials and servants.
12 “Moreover,” Haman continues, “it was solely me whom the First Lady Esther asked to join the Prime Ruler at the feast she hosted. Plus, she has requested my presence with the Prime Ruler again tomorrow.”
13 “Despite everything, deriving pleasure proves elusive while Mordecai the Judean remains stationed at the governance entrance.”
14 Zeresh, his spouse, and his companions proposed establishing an execution stake reaching up to 26.25 meters high and, in the morning, requested the Prime Ruler to have Mordecai executed on it. Then, accompany the Prime Ruler to the feast and relish the occasion. This advice appealed to Haman, provoking him to construct the stake.

§ 17640 MORDECAI HONORED

6 During the night, the Prime Ruler couldn’t sleep and ordered the chronicle of his reign to be read to him.
2 The records disclosed Mordecai had exposed a plot by Bigthana and Teresh, two of the Prime Ruler’s guards, to assassinate Prime Ruler Xerxes.
3 “What recognition has Mordecai received for this?” the Prime Ruler asked. “None,” his servants replied.
4 The Prime Ruler then asked, “Who is in the courtyard?” At that moment, Haman had entered the palace’s outer court to suggest executing Mordecai on the gallows he had prepared.
5 The aides said, “Haman is in the courtyard.” “Bring him in,” ordered the Prime Ruler.

6 When Haman arrived, the Prime Ruler asked, “What should be done for the man the Prime Ruler wishes to honor?” Haman thought, “Who else would the Prime Ruler want to honor but me?”
7 Haman informed, “For Mordecai whom the Prime Ruler is delighted to honor. "

8 “Bring out a designer suit that I have personally worn, and the luxury transport I have driven, complete with the state emblem prominently displayed.
9 Let these be entrusted to one of the most honorable administrators in the Prime Ruler’s household.. Have them dress the individual in a manner that Xerxes wants to honor in the suit, and drive them through the downtown business district in the luxury transport, announcing, ‘This is how the Prime Ruler celebrates Mordecai they hold in the highest regard!’”
10 “Do it immediately,” Xerxes instructed Haman. “Get the suit and the transport and follow your plan exactly for Mordecai, the associate who worked at the governance palace entrance. Don’t leave out any detail of what you’ve suggested.”
11 So Haman collected the suit and the transport. He dressed Mordecai in the suit and chauffeured him in the luxury transport through the downtown business district, announcing, “This is how Xerxes celebrates someone they hold in the highest regard!”
12 Afterward, Mordecai returned to the gate, but Haman rushed home in grief and shame.
13 Haman recounted everything to his wife, Zeresh, and friends. His advisors and Zeresh said, “Since Mordecai is of Judean descent, you cannot stand against him—you will surely come to ruin.”
14 While they were still talking, the Prime Ruler’s officials arrived and hurried Haman away to Esther’s banquet.

§ 17650 HAMAN HANGED

7 First Lady Esther hosted a feast that the Prime Ruler and Haman attended.

2 While enjoying wine on the second occasion, the Prime Ruler asked, “First Lady Esther, what is your intervention? It shall be fulfilled. What do you desire? Even if it’s half the realm, it shall be granted.”
3 First Lady Esther replied, “If I have won your approval, Prime Ruler, and if it suits you, assure my survival—this is my intervention. Also, save my people— this is my appeal.
4 My people and I have been designated for destruction, murder, and obliteration. If we had been traded as male and female bonded laborers, I would have maintained silence since such a predicament wouldn’t have been significant enough to trouble the Prime Ruler.”
5 Prime Ruler Ahasuerus asked, “Who is the individual, and where can he be found? Who dared to execute such an act?”
6 Esther responded, “Our opponent and nemesis, this abhorrent Haman!” Haman was seized with dread in their presence.
7 Enraged, the Prime Ruler stormed to the palace garden. Haman stayed behind, realizing his fate was sealed; he pleaded with First Lady Esther for mercy.
8 As the Prime Ruler returned, he saw Haman collapsing on the couch where Esther lay. The Prime Ruler questioned if Haman would dare molest the First Lady in his presence. No sooner had he spoken than they covered Haman’s face.
9 Harbona, one of the Prime Ruler’s administrators, pointed out a gallows 26.25 meters high near Haman’s house, intended for Mordecai. The Prime Ruler commanded, “Hang him on it!”
10 Haman was hung on the gallows he had set up for Mordecai. The Prime Ruler’s anger then cooled down.

§ 17660 THE RULER'S EDICT IN BEHALF OF THE ISRAELITES

8 On that day, First Lady Esther received Haman's property from Prime Ruler Xerxes. Because Esther disclosed their relationship, Mordecai was granted access to the Prime Ruler.

2 Xerxes gave Mordecai his signet ring, previously taken from Haman, and Esther appointed Mordecai over Haman's property.
3 Esther, in tears, pleaded with Xerxes to nullify Haman's evil scheme against the Israelites.
4 The sovereign extended the golden rod to Esther, allowing her to stand before him.
5 "If it pleases the Prime Ruler," she said, "and if he esteems me, let a decree overturn Haman's orders for the destruction of the Israelites.
6 How can I witness my people's calamity and my family's destruction?"
7 Xerxes replied to Esther and Mordecai: "Since Haman attacked the Israelites, I gave his property to Esther, and he was executed.
8 Write a new mandate in the Prime Ruler's name for the Israelites, seal it with the Prime Ruler's ring—any document sealed with his ring cannot be revoked."
9 The governance clerks were summoned on the twenty-third day of the third month. They wrote Mordecai's directives to the Israelites and officials of the 127 provinces from India to Cush in each province's script and language, including the Israelites'.
10 Mordecai drafted the official messages on behalf of Xerxes, authenticated them with the state's digital seal, and dispatched them via express couriers, using state-of-the-art vehicles reserved for high-priority deliveries.
11 The decree allowed Judean people in each city to gather and defend themselves, eliminate any military threat, and confiscate their adversaries' possessions.
12 This was to be executed on the twelfth month, the thirteenth day of Adar.
13 The decree was to be circulated as law in each region. It was announced to all ethnicities, ensuring the Judean community could retaliate on the specified day.
14 The express couriers, driving executive fleet vehicles, sped through the city, urged on by Xerxes' directive. The official announcement was broadcast from the headquarters in the heart of the metropolis, Susa.

15 When Mordecai stepped out of the executive chamber, he was dressed in an elegant suit of deep blue and white, adorned with a golden emblem of authority, and a tailored purple coat of luxurious fabric. The entire metropolis erupted in celebration, with cheers echoing through its streets.
16 The Judean people experienced cheerfulness, delight, triumph, and respect.
17 Happiness and merriment filled the Israelites in all territories and cities where the Prime Ruler's decree reached, accompanied by feasts and festivities. Many individuals of diverse ethnicities embraced Judaism due to the surrounding fear of the Israelites.

§ 17670 THE TRIUMPH OF THE ISRAELITES

9 On the thirteenth day of the twelfth cycle, Adar, the governance decree was executed. This date was when the adversaries of the Israelites planned to subdue them. Still, the situation drastically changed, leading to the Israelites gaining superiority over their foes.

[2] The Israelites rallied in their cities across all regions ruled by Prime Ruler Xerxes to defend themselves against those seeking destruction. None could oppose them due to the pervasive fear they instilled in other ethnicities.
[3] Each territorial official, regional authority, governor, and those involved with the Prime Ruler's operations supported the Israelites as the dread of Mordecai overtook them.
[4] Mordecai became increasingly influential at the court; his fame resonated across all provinces, amplifying his power.

[5] The Israelites retaliated against their adversaries using the tactical blade, annihilating and demolishing them and acting on their desires towards those who despised them.
[6] Within Susa's stronghold, the Israelites eliminated five hundred individuals.
[7] Parshandatha, Dalphon, and Aspatha were among those eliminated.
[8] Poratha, Adalia, and Aridatha.
[9] Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vaizatha.

[10] Haman's ten offspring, sons of Hammedatha, were adversaries of the Israelites. However, they refrained from seizing any spoils.

[11] That day, the Prime Ruler was informed about the count of individuals who lost their lives in Susa's fortress.
[12] The sovereign communicated to First Lady Esther that the Israelites had slaughtered five hundred individuals and Haman's ten progeny in Susa's fortress. "What actions have they carried out in other territories of the Prime Ruler? Now, what do you desire? It shall be given to you. What else do you seek? It will likewise be fulfilled."

[13] "Should it find favor with the Prime Ruler," Esther suggested, "allowing the Israelites in Susa to carry out the decree from today again on a subsequent day and have Haman's ten offspring displayed on the gallows."
[14] The Prime Ruler endorsed the act. A proclamation was made in Susa, leading to the execution of Haman's ten offspring.

[15] On the fourteenth of Adar, the Israelites in Susa assembled and executed three hundred individuals but refrained from taking any loot.
[16] Concurrently, the rest of the Judean community in governance provinces convened to defend themselves and gain respite from their adversaries. They eliminated seventy-five thousand foes but refrained from seizing loot.
[17] The events transpired on the thirteenth day of Adar; they took a break on the fourteenth day, transforming it into a day of festivities and happiness.

§ 17680 PURIM ESTABLISHED

[18] The Judean community in Susa gathered on the 13th and 14th days. On the 15th day, they paused and turned it into a day filled with merriment and delight.

[19] This explains why Israelites residing in the countryside or villages celebrate the fourteenth day of Adar as a joyful time of feasts and a day chosen to exchange gifts among themselves.

[20] Mordecai documented these events and sent notifications to Israelites throughout Prime Ruler Xerxes' realm, near and far.
[21] He instructed them to commemorate the fourteenth and fifteenth days of Adar annually.

22 These dates marked their liberation from adversaries and the transformation of their sorrow into delight and mourning into festivity. He directed them to celebrate with feasting, delight, sharing meals, and giving gifts to the impoverished.
23 The Judean people agreed to continue this commemoration as Mordecai had instructed.
24 Haman, the Agagite adversary of all Israelites, had plotted to destroy them and cast lots (pur) to determine the timing of their downfall.
25 When the Prime Ruler learned of this, he decreed that Haman's impure plan should fall on him, leading to the hanging of Haman and his sons.
26 So, these days are called Purim, derived from Pur. This was due to the details in Mordecai's letter, their experiences, and the events that transpired.
27 The Judean community committed, along with their descendants and allies, to observe these two days annually according to the prescribed traditions and times.
28 Every generation, family, province, and city should celebrate Purim. The Judean community must never neglect these days, ensuring their remembrance through their progeny.
29 Together with Mordecai and First Lady Esther, Abihail's offspring, they used her full authority to confirm this secondary correspondence about Purim.
30 Mordecai sent messages of kindness and confidence to all Israelites across Xerxes' 127 territories.

31 These days of Purim were established at their appointed times under Mordecai and Esther's regulations. They also set directives for fasting and expressions of sorrow for themselves and future generations.
32 Esther's command affirmed and made these directives official, documented in the archives.

§ 17690 THE GREATNESS OF MORDECAI

10 Prime Ruler Xerxes imposed a tax across his domain, reaching its farthest coastlines.
2 The historical records of the Prime Rulers of Media and Persia document his mighty deeds and the rise of Mordecai to prominence, facilitated by the Prime Ruler.
3 Mordecai the Judean, second only to Prime Ruler Xerxes, was influential among the Israelites and highly respected by many compatriots due to his continuous efforts to promote their prosperity and well-being.

~ 118 | The Persecuted | Job

§ 17700 THE SAGA OF JOB

1 A man named Job lived in Uz, where he was known for his integrity and fairness. He respected the Preeminent Sovereign and avoided evil.
2 He had seven sons and three daughters.
3 His wealth included five hundred donkeys, three thousand camels, seven thousand sheep, five hundred pairs of oxen, and many workers. He was the most esteemed man in the East.

4 Job's sons regularly hosted feasts in their homes, inviting their three sisters to join.
5 After these celebrations, Job would purify them, offering a scorched absolving payment for each at dawn, thinking, "Perhaps my children have transgressed and reviled the Preeminent Sovereign within their inner selves." This routine was Job's regular practice.

§ 17710 JOB'S FIRST TEST

6 One day, the Celestial Envoys gathered before the Sovereign Captain, and the Adversary was among them.
7 The Eternal Reality asked the Adversary, "Where have you come from?" The Adversary replied, "From roaming the Earth."
8 The Sovereign Captain asked if he had considered His servant Job, noting his integrity and reverence for the Preeminent Sovereign.

9 The Adversary retorted, "Does Job fear the Preeminent Sovereign for no reason?
10 Haven't you protected him and his possessions? You've empowered his work, and his livestock has spread across the land.
11 But if you strike all he has, he will curse you openly."
12 The Eternal Reality responded, "Everything he has is in your power, but do not harm him." The Adversary then left the Preeminent Sovereign's presence.

13 At their oldest brother's home, Job's sons and daughters were enjoying food and wine one day when 14 a messenger reported to Job: "While tens the donkeys were eating nearby and the oxen were plowing,
15 "The Sabeans attacked and took everything, killing the servants with their tactical blades. I alone escaped to tell you!"

16 While he was speaking, another messenger arrived, reporting that a celestial flame had burned up the sheep and servants. "I alone escaped to tell you."

17 As he spoke, another messenger came, saying the Chaldeans formed three bands, seized your camels, and killed the servants with their tactical blades. "I alone escaped to tell you!"
18-19 While he was still speaking, another messenger reported that Job's children were feasting when a strong wind struck the house, causing it to collapse and kill them all. "I alone escaped to tell you!"

20 Job got up, ripped his clothes apart, cut his hair, and collapsed in a joyful adoration.
21 "I came from my mother's womb naked, and I will leave naked," he declared. the Sovereign Captain gave and has taken away; fortunate be the name of the Sovereign Captain."
22 In all this, Job did not transgress or blame the Preeminent Sovereign.

2 Again, the Celestial Envoys came before the Sovereign Captain, and the Adversary was with them.

2 The Sovereign Captain asked where he had been. The Adversary replied, "I have been roaming the Earth."

3 The Sovereign Captain asked if the Adversary had considered Job, who maintained his integrity despite adversity.

4 The Adversary retorted, "A man will give all he has for his life.

5 But if You strike his flesh and bones, he will curse you openly."
6 "Excellent," the Sovereign Captain said to the Adversary. "You have control over him, but you have to spare his life."
7 After departing, the Adversary left Job with excruciating sores all over his body.
8 Job sat among the ashes, scraping himself with broken pottery.

9 His wife said, "Are you still maintaining your integrity? Curse the Preeminent Sovereign and die!"
10 He replied, "You speak like a foolish woman. Shall we accept good from the Preeminent Sovereign and not trouble?" In all this, Job did not transgress with his words.

§ 17720 JOB'S THREE FRIENDS

11 Job's three friends—Eliphaz from Teman, Bildad from Shuah, and Zophar from Naamah—heard of his troubles and came to comfort him.
12 They barely recognized him when they saw Job from a distance; they sobbed loudly, ripped their robes, and sprinkled dust on their heads.
13 They sat with him on the ground for seven days and nights without speaking because they saw how great his suffering was.

§ 17730 JOB SPEAKS

3 Job broke his silence, cursing the day of his birth.
2 He declared:
3 "Erase the day I was born and the night it was said, 'A male child is conceived!'
4 May that day vanish into darkness; let the Preeminent Sovereign ignore it; let no light shine upon it.

5 Let deep shadows reclaim it; let a mist envelop it; let darkness consume its light.
6 Let profound obscurity overtake that night; let it not join the year or count among the months.
7 Let that night be barren, devoid of delight.

8 Let those who curse days curse that day, those skilled in rousing Leviathan, the Symbol of Chaos and an Opponent of the Preeminent Sovereign.
9 Let its morning stars be darkened; let it long for light but see none.
10 It did not close the doors of my mother's womb to shield me from distress.
11 Why didn't I die at birth or perish as I emerged?
12 Why were there laps to cradle me and breasts to nurse me?
13 I would be lying in peace, asleep and at rest,
14 with Prime Rulers and rulers who built now-ruined palaces,
15 with rulers who had gold and filled their houses with silver.
16 Why wasn't I hidden in the ground like a stillborn child, like an infant who never saw the light?
17 There, the counterfeit cease their turmoil, and the weary find rest.
18 Even captives are at ease, no longer hearing their oppressor's voice.
19 The small and great are there, and servants are freed from their overseers.
20 Why is life given to those in misery and existence to the bitter-hearted?
21 To those who long for death that does not come, who search for it more than hidden treasure, 22 who are overjoyed and glad when they reach the grave?

23 Why is life given to a man whose way is hidden, whom the Preeminent Sovereign has hedged in?
24 Sighing has become my daily food; my groans pour out like water.
25 What I feared has come upon me; what I dreaded has happened to me.
26 I have no peace, no quietness; I have no rest, but only turmoil."

§ 17740 ELIPHAZ

4 Eliphaz from Teman responded,
2 "Would you be annoyed if someone spoke to you? Who can resist voicing their thoughts?
3 Think of the many you've educated and how you strengthened weak hands.
4 Your words upheld those about to fall; you gave strength to weak knees.
5 Yet adversity strikes you, and you lose your inner-self; when it hits, you become terrified.
6 Isn't your reverence for Preeminent Sovereign your assurance, and doesn't your life of integrity give you hope?
7 Reflect on this: when has an innocent person ceased to exist? Can you find an instance where the authentic were utterly obliterated?
8 Based on my observations, those who cultivate impurity and propagate turmoil will harvest the same.
9 They meet their end when the Preeminent Sovereign exhales. They cease to exist when his wrath erupts.
10 Powerful lions might bellow and snarl, but their fangs are shattered.
11 The fierce lion succumbs due to lack of food, and the offspring of the lioness are dispersed.

12 Covertly, a message reached me, and a murmur pricked my hearing.
13 During unsettling thoughts from nocturnal visions, as profound slumber descends on individuals, 14 dread and terror gripped me, causing every bone in my body to shudder.
15 An apparition swept across my face, causing every hair on my body to bristle.
16 The entity paused, yet it appeared indecipherable. An image positioned itself in my sight, followed by a gentle whisper.

17 ‘Is a human more upright than the Preeminent Sovereign? Could a stalwart individual surpass his Innovator in purity?
18 The Preeminent Sovereign doesn’t trust His servants; even His Celestial Envoys are accused of mistakes.
19 How much less confidence does he have in those residing in earthen homes, grounded on dust, which can be obliterated quicker than a month!
20 From sunrise to sunset, they are shattered unobserved; they cease to exist eternally.
21 Isn’t their life string severed within them, resulting in their demise devoid of insight?’

5 “You may invoke it, but who will respond? Which of the idolized deity entities will you direct your intervention to?
2 A fool’s bitterness leads to their demise, while jealousy brings about the death of the naive.
3 I’ve seen a fool establish himself, but abruptly, his dwelling found a curse.
4 His offspring are distant from security; they are oppressed in judicial proceedings with no one to advocate for them.
5 Starving individuals devour his crops, even if thistles surround them, while those in need yearn for his riches.

6 Indeed, adversity doesn’t originate from the Earth, nor does distress emerge from the terrain.
7 For sure, humans are destined for hardship as naturally as embers dart toward the sky.

8 “However, if I were in your situation, I’d go to Preeminent Sovereign and present my issues to him.
9 He executes astounding deeds beyond comprehension and countless extraordinary marvelous works.
10 He showers the Earth with rain and irrigates the fields.
11 He elevates the humble and raises the sorrowful to security.
12 He disrupts the schemes of the cunning, ensuring their endeavors bear no inner fruit.
13 He traps the insightful ones in their devious strategies, and the crafty maneuvers of the cunning are abruptly ended.
14 They are shrouded in obscurity during the day and fumble in broad daylight as if it were evening.
15 He rescues people in need from damaging speech; he delivers them from the grasp of the influential.
16 The underprivileged find optimism, and unfairness is silenced.”

17 “Consider yourself fortunate when the Eternal Reality’s instruction corrects you; hence, do not disregard His discipline.
18 He may inflict pain, yet he also provides relief; he might cause injury, but his hands also bring healing.
19 He will liberate you from six unfortunate incidents; no evil will encounter you during the seventh.

20 During hunger, he will rescue you from perishing and protect you from lethal weaponry amid conflict.
21 You will be shielded from hurtful words; disaster won’t bring fear.
22 You’ll enjoy devastation and starvation without dreading Earth’s untamed creatures.
23 You will form a pact with rocks in the countryside, and wild creatures will exist harmoniously with you.
24 You will realize your dwelling is safe; you will discover no absence when you survey your possessions.

25 You'll know your offspring will be plentiful and your progeny as abundant as tactical blades of grass on the globe.
26 You will approach the tomb at a ripe old age, like a stack of grain collected at the perfect moment.

27 "We have thoroughly scrutinized this matter and found it factual. Therefore, listen to this and implement it in your life."

§ 17750 JOB

6 Job responded:
2 "If only my suffering could be measured and my calamities weighed on a scale!"
3 "They would outweigh the sands of the sea. No wonder my words are rash.
4 The Eternal Reality's projectiles are within me; my inner-self consumes their venom; the terrors of the Preeminent Sovereign confront me.
5 Does a wild donkey bray when it has grass or an ox low when it has fodder?
6 Who enjoys bland food without seasoning? Just as salt enhances flavor, purpose and meaning bring life to our experiences.

7 I refuse to touch it; such food makes me ill.
8 I wish the Preeminent Sovereign would grant my request and fulfill my hope.
9 I long for the Preeminent Sovereign to crush me, to unleash his power, and to end my life!
10 Even in relentless agony, I would find solace in knowing I never rejected the Exalted One's words. This act would be my delight.
11 What strength do I have to keep hoping? What future do I have to be patient for?
12 Is my strength like that of stones, or is my body made of bronze?
13 Do I have any power to help myself now that success is beyond reach?
14 A person who withholds kindness from a friend forsakes respect for the Eternal Reality.
15 My brothers are as unreliable as seasonal streams like rivers overflowing.
16-17 When ice thaws and darkens them, and melting snow swells them, they cease to flow in the dry season and disappear in the heat.
18 Caravans turn aside from their routes, venturing into the wasteland to perish.
19 The caravans of Tema look for water; the travelers of Sheba hope for it.
20 They are distressed because they had been confident; they arrive only to be disappointed.
21 You too have proven to be of no help; you see something dreadful and are afraid.
22 Did I ever say, 'Give me something, offer a bribe for me from your wealth,
23 deliver me from the Adversary's hand, or ransom me from the clutches of the ruthless'?
24 Teach me, and I will be silent; show me how I have erred.

25 Honest words can be painful, but what do your arguments prove?
26 Do you intend to correct my words and treat my desperate utterances as wind?
27 You would even sell your friend and toss dice for an orphan.
28 Look at me; would I lie to your face?
29 Relent, do not be unjust; reconsider, for my integrity is at stake.
30 Is there any falsehood on my lips? Can my mouth not discern malice?"

7 "Isn't human life on Earth hard labor? Aren't their days like those of hired workers?
2 Like a servant longing for the evening shade or a laborer waiting for his wages,
3 I am allotted months of futility and assigned nights of misery.

4 When I lie down, I think, ‘How long before I get up?’ The night drags on, and I toss until dawn.
5 My skin is cracked and festering; my body is covered in scabs and maggots.
6 My days are swifter than a weaver’s shuttle, and they come to an end without hope.
7 Remember, Preeminent Sovereign, that my life is but a breath; my eyes will never see happiness again.
8 The eye that now sees me will see me no longer; you will look for me, but I will be no more.
9 As a cloud vanishes and is gone, so one who goes down to the underworld does not return.
10 He will never come to his house again; his place will know him no more.
11 I shall speak up in my inner grief and grieve in my bitterness; I won’t stay silent. As a result, I will not remain silent.

12 Do you have a guard over me, the sea, or a sea monster?
13 When I trust that my couch and bed will soothe my discomfort,
14 Even then, You shock me with sights and fear me with dreams.
15 I prefer strangling and death over this body of mine.
16 I despise my life; I would not live forever. Leave me alone; my days have no meaning.
17 Why do humans matter so much to you that you give them so much attention?”

18 “Do you examine them every morning and test them every moment?
19 Will you never look away from me or let me alone, even for an instant?
20 If I have transgressed, what have I done to you who see everything we do? Why have you made me your target? Have I become a burden to you?
21 Why do you not pardon my offenses and forgive my unworthy choices? For soon I will lie down in the dust; you will search for me, but I will be no more.”

§ 17760 BILDAD

8 Bildad the Shuhite responded,
2 “How long will you keep saying these things? Your words are just a turbulent breeze.
3 Does the Preeminent Sovereign distort fairness? Does the Eternal Reality make what’s right seem wrong?
4 Your offspring faced repercussions from their wrongdoings as He surrendered them to their unworthy choices.

5 But if you pursue the Preeminent Sovereign with determination and implore the mercy of the Eternal Reality,
6 He will stand up for you and restore your flourishing if you are authentic and honest.
7 Your beginnings might seem modest, but your future will be extraordinarily prosperous.
8 Inquire from the past generation and consider the knowledge of their forefathers.
9 We came into being briefly; we possess no knowledge, as our time on this planet is temporary.
10 Won’t they guide you and share their wisdom?
11 Can papyrus flourish without a swamp? Can rushes grow tall without water?
12 Even if hardy, they will dry up without water before any other plant.
13 All who forget the Preeminent Sovereign end up like this; the atheist’s hope will fade.
14 Their trust is brittle; their dependence is like a spider’s web.
15 They rely on the web, yet it collapses; they grasp it, but it fails to support them.
16 They are like a thriving sapling under the sun, extending its branches throughout the garden.
17 It wraps its roots around rocks, searching for a suitable location among the stones.

18 But if uprooted, that area disowns it, saying, ‘I have never seen you. ’
19 Its existence fades, and other foliage rises.
20 The Preeminent Sovereign will not shun a person of integrity nor empower those who perform malicious acts.
21 He will fill your mouth with glee and your lips with jubilant cries.

22 Those opposed to you will wear disgrace, and the dwelling of the impure will vanish.”

§ 17770 JOB

9 Job responded:
2 “Undeniably, I know this is factual. But how can a human being manifest guiltlessness in the sight of a Preeminent Sovereign?
3 Even if they desired to argue with him, they couldn’t respond even once to a thousand of his questions.
4 His intellect is far-reaching, and his might is immeasurable. Who has dared to confront him and remained unharmed?
5 He shifts peaks unknown to them, flipping them in his wrath.
6 He stirs the Earth from its position, causing its foundational pillars to quake.
7 He directs the sun not to radiate, and he blocks the illumination of the stars.
8 Solely, he extends the celestial realms and marches on the sea’s waves;
9 The Innovator of the Bear, Orion, the Pleiades, and the celestial formations in the southern sky.
10 He performs astonishing acts beyond comprehension and extraordinary deeds too numerous to measure.
11 Even as he moves before me, I remain oblivious; his presence is invisible when he glides past.
12 Should he seize something, who has the power to hinder him? Who is brave enough to question his actions?
13 The Preeminent Sovereign does not hold back his wrath; Rahab’s allies cringe in fear beneath him.

14 “How am I qualified to argue with him? How can I gather the appropriate words to contend with him?
15 Even though I am free of unworthy choices, I cannot confront Him; my exclusive recourse is to implore my Arbitrator for leniency.
16 Even if I were to call on him and he would answer me, I still couldn’t trust that he would heed my words.
17 He could batter me with a storm and repeatedly inflict injuries on me without any cause.
18 He would not allow me to catch my breath. Instead, he filled me with unbearable bitterness.
19 On the topic of power, undoubtedly, he reigns supreme! And when it comes to the legalities, who dares to oppose him?
20 Even though I am guiltless, my mouth would implicate me; if I were without any blame, it would label me as guilty.
21 Despite my innocence, I show no regard for myself; I detest my existence.
22 Regardless, I assert, ‘He annihilates both the innocent and the miscreant. ’
23 He ridicules the anguish of the clear when a calamity causes sudden death.
24 If a territory is delivered to evil individuals, he conceals the sight of its arbitrators. If it’s not him, then who could it be?

25 My life passes more rapidly than a sprinter. It vanishes without seeing any happiness.
26 They rapidly glide like papyrus skiffs, like eagles rushing on their food.
27 "Should I decide to dismiss my grievance, alter the look on my face, and beam?
28 I continue to fear all the agony I must endure as I know you will not consider me guiltless.
29 As I've already been declared guilty, why should I exhaust myself for no reason?

30 Even though I scrubbed my body with the pure melted snow and rigorously cleaned my hands with the most potent lye.
31 You would still push me into the muddy pit, so much so that even my garments would find me repulsive.
32 He isn't a simple human as I am; hence, I can't respond to him or take him to the judicial court.
33 I wish there existed a person who could settle disputes between us, someone capable of uniting us.
34 I yearn for someone who could lift the threat of Preeminent Sovereign's chastisement from me so his terrors would no longer petrify me.
35 I long to express myself without apprehension of him, but given my present state, it is unfeasible.

10 "I despise my existence, so I will unreservedly express my grievances and share the anger within my inner-self.
2 I implore the Preeminent Sovereign: Do not deem me guilty; instead, shed light on the accusations brought on me.
3 Do you take delight in causing me distress, in rejecting what you've crafted with your hands while grinning at the schemes of the counterfeit?
4 Are your eyes like those of a human? Do you view things exclusively as people do?
5 Is your lifetime exclusively as long as ours? Is your life so short?
6 I appreciate that you must delve into my transgressions and meticulously investigate my wrongdoings.
7 Despite your awareness that I am innocent, nobody can save me from your power.
8 "Your hands have crafted and constituted me. Will you presently revert and annihilate me?

9 Remember that you formed me with care, like a designer shapes raw material. Will you now let me dissolve back into nothingness?
10 Didn't you shape me as milk is shaped and form me similarly to cheese?
11 Would you attire me in skin and flesh and intricately assemble me with bones and tendons?
12 You have granted me existence and demonstrated love, and your celestial care has preserved my inner-self.
13 This love is what you hid in your essence, and I know this was your intent.
14 Should I commit an unworthy choice, you would observe me and not absolve me from the consequences of my wrongdoing.
15 "Should I be culpable, calamity is mine. Despite being unblemished, I can't raise my head, as I'm overwhelmed with disgrace and subsumed in my suffering.
16 Should I lift myself, you hunt me like a fierce lion and exhibit your tremendous might against me again.
17 You persistently summon fresh testimonies against me, amplifying your wrath; your armies relentlessly launch a series of onslaughts on me.
18 Why did you let me be born? I wish I had perished before anyone had the chance to lay eyes on me.
19 I wish I had never lived; I should have been immediately taken from birth to the tomb.

20 “Can’t you see my days are numbered? Leave me be so that I can experience a fleeting moment of happiness.
21 Before my departure to a realm from which I shall never revisit, a territory filled with darkness and profound gloom.
22 Into intense sadness, complete darkness, and confusion, the illumination resembles obscurity.”

§ 17780 ZOPHAR

11 Zophar from Naamah responded: “
2 Should this torrent of words not receive a response? Can a person who talks excessively be justified?
3 Will your empty prattle hush the others? When you deride, will nobody admonish you?
4 You assert to the Preeminent Sovereign, ‘My directives are untainted, and I am innocent in your eyes. ’
5 If exclusively the Preeminent Sovereign would voice His thoughts and articulate His objections towards you.
6 He could reveal the mysteries of sagacity, which inherently has a dual nature. Be aware: Preeminent Sovereign has chosen to overlook certain instances of your transgressions.
7 Can you understand the secrets of the Eternal Reality? Can you discover the extent of His limitless power?
8 They surpass the sky’s height—what actions could you take? They extend beneath the deepest layers of the Earth—what knowledge could you truly attain?
9 Their extent surpasses the Earth’s length and the ocean’s breadth.
10 If the Preeminent Sovereign arrives, puts you behind bars, and summons a legal proceeding, who can contest Him?
11 He identifies as fraudulent; doesn’t He pay heed when witnessing impurity?
12 A fool gaining wisdom is as improbable as a wild donkey’s offspring being born as a human.
13 Regarding you, if you turn to Him with your inner-self and raise your hands,
14 if you store the wrong you have committed and do not let it remain in your tents, 15 when it happens, you will raise your face shame-free and stand tall without fear.

16 Your distress will undoubtedly be forgotten, remembering it merely as water that has flowed past.
17 Your existence will illuminate more vibrantly than the midday sun, turning obscurity into something resembling sunrise.
18 You will feel safe as hope prevails; you will survey your surroundings and lie down without fear.
19 You will rest, unafraid, as many long to be in your good graces.
20 The sight of the fullness of unworthy choices will degenerate; they won’t manage to flee; their exclusive aspiration is their last breath. “

§ 17790 JOB

12 Job responded: “You think you’re the only wise ones; wisdom won’t die with you! I understand as much as you do. I’m not inferior. Isn’t this common knowledge? Despite my cries to the Eternal Reality and my adherence to upright behavior, my comrades ridicule me. Those living comfortably dismiss adversity, seeing it as the fate of those about to fall. Raiders’ tents are peaceful, and those irritating the Preeminent Sovereign seem secure—these individuals whom the Preeminent Sovereign holds in his power.

7-12 "Consult the wild creatures; they'll instruct you. Ask the birds; they'll inform you. Converse with the Earth; it's ready to teach, and let marine creatures enlighten you. Which of these does not know the Sovereign Captain did this? Every living creature's existence and all humanity's breath are under His control. Doesn't the ear scrutinize speech like the palate savors food? Isn't it authentic that older people possess wisdom? Doesn't a long life provide discernment?

13-17 "Wisdom and strength are with the Preeminent Sovereign. He has insight and sound advice. If he demolishes something, it can't be rebuilt, and freedom can't be achieved for those he incarcerates. When he restrains the waters, it results in drought. When he releases them, they destroy the land. He possesses power and understanding of both the misleader and the misled. He strips leaders of authority and turns jurists into jesters. He relieves Prime Rulers of constraints and binds their midsection with a belt. He directs administrators to leave barefoot and upsets long-standing authorities.

18-25 "He holds back reliable counselors' words and strips senior leaders of wisdom. He disgraces those of high rank and strips strength from the powerful. He unveils mysteries long obscured in darkness and brings their meaning to light. He amplifies nations' strength only to demolish them; he expands their populace and scatters them. He takes away understanding from world leaders, leaving them to roam in a pathless wilderness. They feel their way in the dark; he makes them sway as if intoxicated.

13 "My gaze has taken in everything; my auditory senses have grasped it. I possess the same knowledge as you, not less than you. I prefer to converse with the Eternal Reality and present my arguments before the Preeminent Sovereign. Conversely, you tarnish my reputation with untruths; you all are inept healers! I wish you'd stop talking; then you'd be wise. Please consider my case; consider my lips' pleadings.

7-12 "Are you going to utter falsehoods in support of the Preeminent Sovereign? Will you resort to dishonest discourse on his behalf? Will you favor him? Will you argue for the Preeminent Sovereign? Would you be comfortable if he inspected you? Could you trick him like a human being? Undoubtedly, he'd reprimand you if you were secretly prejudiced. Wouldn't his magnificence fill you with fear? Wouldn't his awe strike you down?

13-17 "Your cited wisdom is as disposable as ashes; your rebuttals are as fragile as earthenware. Maintain your peace; let me speak; afterward, whatever happens, happens. Why should I endanger myself and hold my fate in my grasp? Even if He takes my life, my trust in Him remains unwavering. I'll assert my actions in his presence. This trust may result in my redemption, as no impure individual would dare stand before him! Pay close attention to my speech. Let my declaration echo in your hearing.

18-22 "Having set up my argument, I'll be justified. Is there anyone who can argue against me? If they can, I'll remain mute and perish. Preeminent Sovereign, I ask for two favors, after which I won't avoid your presence. Remove your punishment palm from me, and halt terrifying me with your fears. Then call me, and I'll respond, or allow me to speak, and then you can react.

23-28 "What is the count of my transgressions and wrongdoings? Make my disobedience and offenses known to me. Why do you shroud your presence and deem me your Adversary? Will you frighten a leaf driven by the wind? Will you pursue worthless straw? You pen harsh accusations against me and cause me to bear the guilt of my youthful indiscretions. You bind my ankles with restraints, meticulously observing each of my routes by inscribing symbols on my feet. So, human life deteriorates like decaying clothing.

14 “Humans born of a woman have a short lifespan filled with hardships. They rise like viral trends, but quickly fade; like fleeting moments in the spotlight, they do not last. Do you observe such individuals? Will you summon them for a verdict before you? Who can produce something healthy from something unhealthy Nobody! The duration of an individual’s life is predestined; you’ve established the count of his months and imposed boundaries he can’t surpass.

6-9 “Kindly divert your gaze from him and grant him solitude until he completes his workday as a contractual worker. A tree still has hope: If cut down, it can grow anew, and its fresh branches won’t cease. Even if roots age deep within the Earth and the trunk decays in dust, a hint of water can cause it to bud, producing sprigs like a sapling.

10-12 “Nevertheless, a human dies and becomes powerless; he expires and ceases to exist. Just as water vanishes from a lake or a riverbed, it turns arid. So, an individual lays down and doesn’t rise again until celestial realms cease to exist. Humanity won’t awaken or stir from their slumber.

13-15 “I wish you’d tuck me away in the afterlife, hidden until your wrath subsides! If only you could establish a moment for me and bring me back to mind! Is it possible for a deceased individual to return to life? I’ll persist through all challenging days until my transformation occurs. You summon, and I respond; you yearn for the being your hands create.

16-19 “Certainly, you’ll quantify my strides but won’t archive my transgressions. My transgressions would be locked away in a pouch; you’d conceal my wrongdoing. Like how a mountain deteriorates and breaks down or a stone is displaced from its original location. You obliterate human optimism as water erodes rocks and floods carry away Earth.

20-22 “You prevail over them permanently, causing their departure; their appearance is altered before you dismiss them. They remain oblivious when their progeny achieves distinction or their downfall goes unnoticed. They only perceive their flesh’s ache and lament solely for their being.”

§ 17800 ELIPHAZ

15 Eliphaz from Teman responded: “Would an intelligent individual respond with vacuous ideas or stuff themselves with the scorching eastern breeze?
3 Would they engage in pointless chatter, delivering unimportant speeches?

4 You are doing away with the fear of the Preeminent Sovereign and obstructing meditation before Him.
5 Your wrongdoing instructs your speech; you choose the language of the deceitful.
6 Your statements make you guilty, not my words; your expressions are evidence against you.
7 Are you the original human to exist? Were you produced before the formation of the hills?
8 Have you eavesdropped on the secret meetings of Preeminent Sovereign? Do you alone possess all knowledge?
9 Is there anything we are unaware of in your knowledge? Do you own an understanding that we haven’t grasped yet?

[10] Individuals with gray hair and those advanced in years support us; they surpass your father in age.
[11] Isn’t the comfort the Preeminent Sovereign provides sufficient even when the words are communicated mildly to you?
[12] What led your emotions to control you, and why do your eyes exhibit such anger?
[13] Why do you express your anger toward the Preeminent Sovereign and allow such phrases to emanate from your lips?

[14] “How can human beings, who are mere mortals, claim to be pure? And how can anyone born of a woman assert their integrity?
[15] Even the Eternal Reality’s beings don’t have the Preeminent Sovereign’s complete confidence. He perceives even the celestial realms as not entirely pure.
[16] How much more abhorred and filthy is a man who absorbs impurity like water!

[17] Heed My Path, and I will clarify. Allow me to recount the things I have witnessed.
[18] What the wise men said and didn't hide from their fathers,
[19] When no foreigner went among them, the country was entrusted to them alone.

[20] “The wrongdoer endures pain throughout his existence, while the tyrant faces suffering during all the years reserved for him.
[21] He is filled with dreadful sounds; when everything appears to be in order, plunderers assault him.
[22] He lacks confidence in his ability to evade the sphere of obscurity; he is destined for the tactical blade.
[23] He aimlessly roams in search of sustenance. Similar to a scavenger, he is acutely aware that a time of obscurity is imminent.
[24] Anxiety and distress instill in him a sense of dread; adversities overpower him, like a Prime Ruler ready to strike.

[25] “Since he dares to challenge the Preeminent Sovereign, he behaves proudly against the Eternal Reality.
[26] He bravely launches his assault, backed by a substantial, robust ballistic shield.
[27] Although his face is thick with fat and his thighs are heavy with additional weight, [28] he will reside in devastated cities and uninhabited dwellings, structures on the verge of becoming ruins.
[29] His affluence will not be sustained, his material prosperity won’t remain, and his holdings won’t extend across the Earth.

[30] “He will not elude the shadows; a fiery blaze will cause his offshoots to fade, and Preeminent Sovereign’s spoken breath will sovereign him away.

[31] He should not mislead himself by trusting in futility, as his reward will be void.
[32] He will fade before his due time, and his offshoots will not prosper.
[33] He will resemble a vine that loses its immature grapes, much like an olive tree discarding its blooms.
[34] The gathering opposing the Preeminent Sovereign’s style will yield no offspring, and fire will devour the shelters of those fascinated with bribery.
[35] They design hardship and produce impurities. Their inner being shapes deception.”

§ 17810 JOB

16 Job responded,
2 “I have often heard such things. You are all wretched comforters!
3 Will your long-winded speeches never end? What troubles you that you keep arguing?
4 I could speak like you if our roles were reversed; I could heap accusations and shake my head at you.
5 I hope my words inspire you. You would feel relief if I were to comfort you.
6 If I speak, my pain is not lessened; if I stay silent, it does not go away.
7 Surely, Preeminent Sovereign, you have worn me out and devastated my entire family.
8 You’ve dried me up so much that it’s now a testifier against me; my leanness stands up and speaks for me.
9 In his anger, the Preeminent Sovereign tears at me and gnashes his teeth at me; my Adversary glares at me.

10 People mock me openly. They strike my face in scorn and unite against me.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign has turned me over to the unjust and thrown me into the hands of the impure.
12 I was at ease, but the Eternal Reality shattered me; he seized me by the neck and crushed me. He has made me his target.
13 His projectiles envelop me; he mercilessly pierces my kidneys and splatters my bile on the floor.
14 He breaks through my defenses again and again; he rushes at me like a warrior.
15 0.669444444
16 My face is red with weeping, and deep shadows ring my eyes.
17 Yet my hands have committed no violence, and my intervention is pure.
18 Please do not cover my blood, Earth; may my cries never be silenced.
19 Even now, my testifier is in the celestial realms; my advocate is on high.
20 My intercessor is my friend as my eyes pour out tears to the Eternal Reality.
21 He pleads with a Preeminent Sovereign on behalf of a human, as one pleads for a friend.
22 Only a few years will pass before I go on the journey of no return.

17 My inner-self is broken, my days are cut short, and the grave awaits me.
2 Surely mockers surround me; my eyes must dwell on their hostility.
3 My Preeminent Sovereign, grant me the required oath. Who else is going to protect me?
4 You won’t allow them to win because you have made them incapable of understanding.
5 If someone denounces their friends for reward, their children’s eyes will fail.

6 People use my name as a byword, and I am a man in whose face they spit.
7 My eyes are so filled with sadness that they are now shadows of themselves.
8 The upright are appalled at this; the innocent are aroused against the unworthy choices.
9 Still, honest people will stick to their principles, and those with impeccable hands will get stronger.
10 But come on, all of you, try again! I will not find a wise man among you.
11 Days have gone, and plans have failed, but my inner-self’s wishes make night become day; light is approaching amid darkness.
12 They have made darkness seem close to light by transforming night into day.
13 If the cemetery is the only place I can call home if I make my bed in the underworld.
14 If I say to corruption, ‘You are my father, ’ and to the worm, ‘My mother’ or ‘My sister, ’—

15 Where is my hope—who can see any hope for me?
16 Will it go down to the gates of death? Will we descend together into the dust?”

§ 17820 BILDAD

18 Bildad the Shuhite responded,
2 “When will you stop your monologues? Show some understanding, and then we can discuss.
3 Why do you see us as mere beasts and deem us unintelligent?

4 Your fury is self-destructive, but will the world be deserted for your benefit? Should stones shift from their settled locations?
5 The light of a transgressor is extinguished; his fire no longer glows.
6 Darkness prevails in his dwelling; the light behind him ceases to shine.
7 His powerful strides lose strength; his plans undo him.”

8 “His feet lead him into a trap; he strays into its web.
9 A snare clamps around his heel, digging into him.
10 A snare awaits him under the Earth; pitfalls lie along his journey.
11 Fears terrify him on every side and chase him at every step.
12 Disaster craves him. Catastrophe is primed for his downfall.
13 His skin is consumed by the initial child of death, feasting on his body parts.
14 He is forcibly removed from the safety of his dwelling and compelled to face the Prime Ruler of fears.
15 Fire takes refuge in his abode. Flaming brimstone is strewn across His fortress.
16 Beneath, his roots wither, and his branches above fade away.
17 His existence will be forgotten on Earth; his identity remains unmentioned in the territory.
18 He is propelled from light into darkness and expelled from the inhabited world.
19 He bears no children or family within his community; no one remains where he once resided.
20 Westerners are horrified by his outcome; Easterners are gripped with terror.
21 Undoubtedly, this is the residence of an impure individual. Such is the abode of one who lacks knowledge of the Preeminent Sovereign.”

§ 17830 JOB

19 Job responded:
2 “How long will you torment me and crush me with your words?”
3 “You have humiliated me ten times already; you attack me without shame.
4 If I have strayed, my error is mine alone.
5 Do you intend to elevate yourselves above me and use my disgrace against me?
6 Know that the Preeminent Sovereign has wronged me and trapped me.
7 Despite my cries for justice, there is no acknowledgment; while pleading for help, I find no fairness.
8 He has blocked my path and shrouded my way in darkness.
9 My honor is stripped away, and the crown is gone from my head.
10 He tears me down on every side until I am gone; he uproots my hope like a tree.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign treats me as his Adversary; his anger burns against me.
12 His army assembles; they surround my residence and construct a siege ramp against me.
13 My relatives are distant; those who know me are strangers.

14 My family has left; my closest friends have forgotten me.
15 Those in my house and my maids consider me a stranger; they look at me as an outsider.
16 I call my servant, but he does not answer, though I beg him with my mouth.

17 My breath is offensive to my wife. My own family finds me repulsive.
18 Even young children despise me; when I rise, they mock me.
19 My closest friends detest me; those I loved have turned against me.
20 I am nothing but flesh and bones; I barely made it out alive.
21 Have pity on me, my friends; have pity, for the hand of the Eternal Reality has struck me.
22 Why do you pursue me as if you were celestial? Aren't you satisfied with my flesh's suffering?
23 I wish My Path were recorded, inscribed in a book.
24 I wish they were engraved with an iron tool on lead or carved in stone forever!
25 I know that my protector lives and that in the end, he will stand on the Earth.
26 After my skin has been destroyed, yet in my flesh, I will see the Preeminent Sovereign.
27 I will see him with my own eyes—I, and not another. How my inner-self yearns within me!
28 If you say, 'How we will pursue him since the root of the matter lies in him, '
29 You should fear the tactical blade yourselves, for wrath brings punishment by the tactical blade."

§ 17840 ZOPHAR

20 Zophar from Naamah responded: "My unsettled thoughts compel me to respond due to my significant turmoil.
3 A reproach that insults me is what I perceive, and my intellect motivates me to respond.

4 Do you not recognize that since the beginning of time, when man first appeared on Earth,
5 the happiness of evil individuals is fleeting, and the pleasure of those without the Preeminent Sovereign exclusively persists for an instant.
6 Even if the individual's arrogance opposes the Preeminent Sovereign's style, the individual soars to the celestial realms, and his head grazes the clouds.
7 He is destined to perish like his own waste eternally, and those who once looked on him will question, 'What has become of him?'
8 He vanishes like a dream, never to be located again, dismissed as a nocturnal illusion.
9 The individual who once gazed at him will no longer do so. His erstwhile dwelling comes his presence any longer.
10 His offspring will be required to compensate the underprivileged; his own hands are obligated to return his fortune.
11 The strength of his youth that permeates his bones will accompany him into the Earth.
12 Even though he savors the taste of impurity and conceals it beneath his tongue, 13 finds it hard to release it; he allows it to stay in his oral cavity.
14 His food, once ingested, is transformed into bitter poison in his gut, just like the lethal venom of snakes lurking within him.
15 The wealth he consumed will be expelled, and the Preeminent Sovereign will cause his belly to discharge them.
16 He will ingest the venom of snakes; the bite of a viper will lead to his demise.
17 He will not experience the delight of torrents and rivers teeming with honey and curds.
18 He must return what he has labored for. Without consuming it, he will derive no pleasure from his business earnings.

19 He has caused suffering to the impoverished and left them with nothing; he has forcefully taken possession of houses he did not construct.
20 He will find no peace from his desires; his wealth cannot rescue him.
21 Nothing remains to consume, so his well-being will not last.
22 Even at the peak of his prosperity, adversity will engulf him; extreme woe will descend on him.
23 As he satiates his appetite, the Preeminent Sovereign will unleash His fierce wrath, showering him with punitive strikes.
24 Even if he attempts to escape from a steel armament, a projectile from a bronze projectile launcher will puncture him.
25 Extracting it from his back, the shimmering tip from his liver, fear descends on him.
26 His wealth is stalked by sheer darkness. An un-fueled flame will engulf him and eradicate the remainder of his dwelling.
27 Celestial Realm will reveal his unworthy choice, and the Earth shall testify against him.
28 A deluge will sweep away his house, with surging waters arriving on the day of celestial fury.
29 The Preeminent Sovereign has given this destiny to the counterfeit, specifically designing the inheritance for them."

§ 17850 JOB

21 Job responded,
2 "Please listen to My Path; let this be your comfort to me.
3 Bear with me while I speak, then mock if you must.
4 Am I complaining to a mortal? Why shouldn't I be impatient?

5 Look at me and be astonished; put your hand over your mouth."
6 "Thinking about this terrifies me, and my body trembles.
7 Why do the impure live on, grow old, and increase power?
8 They see their children established around them, their offspring before their eyes.
9 Their homes are secure, free from fear; the Preeminent Sovereign's power staff is not upon them.
10 Their cattle breed without fail; their cows calve and do not miscarry.
11 They send forth their children like a protected community; their little ones dance about.
12 They sing to the tambourine and harp and rejoice in the sound of the flute.
13 They spend their years in prosperity and go down to the underworld in peace."
14 "Yet they say to the Preeminent Sovereign, 'Leave us alone! We have no desire to know Your ways.
15 Who is the Eternal Reality that we should serve Him? What will we gain by melding my consciousness with the Eternal Reality?'
16 Their prosperity is not in their own hands, so I keep away from the plans of the impure."
17 "How often is the lamp of the impure snuffed out? How often does calamity come upon them, the fate the Preeminent Sovereign allots in His anger?
18 How often does a storm carry them away like chaff or the wind before straw?
19 It is said, 'The Preeminent Sovereign stores up the punishment of the impure for their children.' Let Him repay the impure so that they themselves will experience it!
20 Let their own eyes see their destruction; let them drink of the wrath of the Supreme One.

21 For what do they care about the families they leave behind when their allotted months come to an end?”
22 “Can anyone teach knowledge to the Preeminent Sovereign, since He judges even the highest?
23 One person dies in full vigor, completely secure and at ease,
24 well-nourished in body, with bones rich with marrow.
25 Another dies in bitterness of inner-self, never having enjoyed anything good.
26 They lie in the dust side by side, and worms cover them both.”
27 “I fully know what you are thinking, the schemes by which you would wrong me.
28 You ask, ‘Where now is the house of the great, the tents where the impure lived?’
29 Have you never questioned those who travel? Have you paid with no regard for their accounts?
30 The impure are spared from the day of calamity and delivered from the day of wrath.
31 Who denounces their conduct to their face? Who repays them for what they have done?
32 They are carried to the grave, and a watch is kept over their tombs.
33 They find the valley’s soil pleasant; a boundless multitude advances ahead of them, and everyone trails behind.
34 In what way, then, can your foolishness comfort me? Your responses have left you with nothing but lies!

§ 17860 ELIPHAZ

22 Eliphaz the Temanite responded:

2 “Can any human truly benefit the Preeminent Sovereign? Even the wisest among us?
3 Does your integrity delight the Eternal Reality? Does your flawless conduct benefit Him?”
4 “Is it your reverence that prompts His correction and judgment?
5 Isn’t evil abundant? Are your transgressions not limitless?
6 You seized collateral without cause, left individuals bare by taking their attire.
7 You denied water to the weary and food to the desperate,

8 whereas a man of honor resided on the property, which belonged to a powerful man.
9 Despite your influence and wealth, you turned away widows and crushed orphans.
10 This is why traps surround you, and sudden dread causes panic.
11 You cannot see due to darkness, and a deluge engulfs you.
12 Doesn’t the Preeminent Sovereign reside in the highest celestial realms? Observe the towering stars!
13 Your question, ‘Does the Eternal Reality comprehend anything? Can He adjudicate amidst such obscurity?’
14 Dense clouds cover Him, preventing His sight as He wanders the sky.
15 Are you determined to follow the paths of evil people?
16 A deluge overtook their base, whisking them away prematurely.
17 They told the Preeminent Sovereign, ‘Depart from us! What can the Eternal Reality do to us?’
18 Even though He gave their homes abundance, I remain detached from evildoers.

19 Upright individuals witness their downfall and express delight. Those free of guilt ridicule them.
20 Our enemies are annihilated, and fire consumes their riches.
21 Yield to the Eternal Reality and establish tranquility with Him. Good fortune will follow.

22 Embrace His path and engrave His words in your inner-self.
23 If you revert to the Eternal Reality, you will be rebuilt. Banish evil from your dwelling.
24 Relinquish your gold to the dirt, your Ophir's to the stones in the gorges.
25 The Eternal Reality will become your treasure, like finest silver.
26 You will delight in the Eternal Reality and direct your gaze towards the Preeminent Sovereign.
27 When you petition Him, He will listen, and you will keep your pledges.
28 You will succeed in whatever you choose. Illumination will fall on your path."
29 "When individuals are humbled, and you exclaim, 'Have courage!', they will be saved.
30 Even an innocent person will escape due to the purity of your actions."

§ 17870 JOB

23 Job responded:
2 "My protest remains contentious even today; despite my lament, his grasp weighs heavily.
3 I yearn to understand his location and visit his residence.

4 I would arrange my argument for justice before him and brim my mouth with rebuttals.
5 I would discover his response to me and contemplate his words.
6 Would he passionately argue against me? No, he would merely heed my words.
7 In that place, those who adhere to integrity could prove their guiltlessness to him. My adjudicator could set me free eternally.
8 Alas, he is not present wherever I head ahead or behind; I cannot detect him.
9 I fail to perceive him when he performs his duties in the North; when he veers to the South, I cannot discern his presence.
10 He knows my path; once he has examined me, I will emerge as pure as gold.
11 I've faithfully adhered to his path and pursued his route without diverting.
12 I have never strayed from the instructions of his lips. The utterances of his mouth hold more value to me than my everyday meals.
13 He is singular and unopposed, pursuing whatever his inner-self desires without restraint.
14 He executes the determination set for me and still harbors numerous similar intentions.
15 I tremble in dread of him; he fills me with terror whenever I reflect on it.
16 The Eternal Reality has filled and weakened my inner-self with fear.
17 Nevertheless, the all-encompassing obscurity or the gloom that masks my visage does not mute me.

24 Why doesn't Eternal Reality designate periods for judgment? Why do those familiar with Him anticipate these moments in vain?
2 Certain individuals relocate boundary markers while they tend to herds they have illegally acquired.

3 The donkey belonging to the orphan is driven away, and the widow is seized as collateral.
4 They compel the underprivileged to stray from the path and coerce every impoverished inhabitant of the land to seek refuge in concealment.
5 Compared to wild beasts in the wilderness, the destitute tirelessly toil in their quest for sustenance; the barren land is the sole source of nourishment for their offspring.
6 They collect sustenance from open lands and scrape leftovers in the impure fields.
7 Bereft of garments, they endure the frigid night unclothed; they possess nothing to shield them from the chill.

8 The downpour from the hills soaks them as they cling to boulders without a refuge.
9 The child bereft of a father is torn away from its mother. At the same time, the helpless infant of the impoverished is claimed as repayment for an obligation.
10 Devoid of garments, they wander around bare; they transport grain bundles, yet their hunger persists.
11 They remain parched while pressing olives on the terraces and stomping on grapes in the winepresses.
12 The cries of pain from those nearing death echo from the city, and the pleas for aid from those injured resound. Yet Preeminent Sovereign doesn't see anyone engaging in misconduct.
13 A group exists that resists the illumination, is unfamiliar with its routes, and does not remain in its tracks.
14 As daylight fades away, the killer gets up, murders those who are impoverished and helpless, and under cover of night, he behaves as a burglar.
15 The individual engaging in infidelity waits for the twilight, under the impression that no one can observe me, and he conceals his facial features.

16 Within the obscurity of night, burglars infiltrate households, yet during the daytime, they seclude themselves; they avidly avoid any encounter with daylight.
17 The black night serves as the dawn for each of them. They familiarize themselves with the horrors of the dark.
18 They resemble bubbles floating on the water; their share of the Earth is under a curse, barring anyone from their vineyards.
19 As summer and drought melt and carry off the winter snow, the underworld consumes those who have made unworthy choices.
20 The maternal entity dismisses them; the maggot enjoys consuming them; the evil ones cease to be remembered and are shattered like a tree.
21 They exploit the infertile woman who has no offspring. They exhibit no sympathy towards the bereaved wife.
22 However, the Preeminent Sovereign pulls the powerful by His might; despite their stability, they lack the certainty of survival.
23 He might allow them to bask in a sense of safety, yet his gaze is fixed on their actions.
24 For a brief period, they are esteemed, but then they disappear; they are humbled and gathered like the rest; they are severed like the tops of stalks of grain.
25 Who can declare me wrong and make my utterances insignificant if this isn't authentic?"

§ 17880 BILDAD

25 Bildad the Shuhite responded:
2 "The Preeminent Sovereign holds supreme power and instills fear. He manifests peace and harmony in His celestial domain.
3 Can His troops be quantified? Is anyone not illuminated by His radiance?

4 How can a human be suitable with the Preeminent Sovereign? How can a human be pure?
5 Even the lunar brightness and stellar purity fall short in His perspective.
6 How much less is a human, merely a grub, an individual who is nothing more than a worm?

§ 17890 JOB

26 Job responded: “How you have rescued the weak and assisted the helpless!

3 “How you have enlightened the one lacking wisdom. What profound knowledge you have disclosed.

4 “Who helped you in delivering these statements? From whom did your inspiration originate?

5 “Those who have passed away experience profound distress, as do those residing below the aquatic depths and all living beings within.

6 “The Preeminent Sovereign keenly observes the underworld; the place of ruin is exposed.

7 “He extends the northern celestial realms across the void; he dangles the Earth on non-existence.

8 “He confines the waters within his thick clouds, and the clouds do not rupture due to their weight.

9 “He conceals the moon, shrouding it with his clouds.

10 “He delineates the boundary on the water’s surface, creating a division between illumination and obscurity.

11 “The foundations of the celestial realms tremble, filled with dread at his reproach.

12 “With his strength, he agitated the ocean; using his intelligence, he shattered Rahab.

13 “His exhalation made the celestial realms beautiful; his hand wounded the swiftly moving snake.

14 “These are merely glimpses of his mighty deeds; the words we perceive from him are so subtle! Who can fathom the thundering intensity of his might?”

§ 17900 JOB’S FINAL WORD TO HIS FRIENDS

27 Job continued his discussion.
2 “As the living Preeminent Sovereign, who has deprived me of my rights and the Eternal Reality that has filled my existence with bitterness,
3 as long as breath from the Preeminent Sovereign serves my nose, I hold life within me.
4 I refuse to utter any falsehood from my lips; my tongue is determined not to release deceit.

5 I will never concede that you are correct; until my last breath, I won’t notice my innocence.
6 I will cling to my integrity and never surrender it. My sense of right and wrong has not been me throughout my existence.
7 May the one who opposes me suffer like the fullness of unworthy choices, and the one against me be punished like those who are unfair!

8 What expectation can the deceptive grasp when they are severed from life when the Preeminent Sovereign takes their existence?
9 Will the Eternal Reality heed their pleas when calamity befalls them?
10 Can they take pleasure in the Eternal Reality? Will they continuously invoke the Preeminent Sovereign?
11 I'll instruct you in the might of Preeminent Sovereign and won't conceal the actions of the Eternal Reality.
12 All of you have observed this for yourselves. So, why persist with such pointless chatter?
13 This result is what the Preeminent Sovereign has given the impure man; this is the inheritance that the merciless inherit from the Eternal Reality.
14 No matter the number of his progeny, they are destined for destruction; his descendants will always suffer from hunger.
15 Those who endure him will perish due to the pestilence, and their bereaved wives will not shed tears for them.
16 Even if he amasses wealth, likened to dust, and clothing in quantities as abundant as clay, 17 the authentic will don their accumulated possessions, and the guiltless will distribute their silver.
18 He constructs a dwelling that resembles a moth's cocoon, similar to a temporary shelter a guard fabricates.
19 A man is affluent when he goes to sleep, but he won't be wealthy when he wakes up.

20 Fears engulf him like a deluge. A storm whisks him away under cover of darkness.
21 The easterly gale lifts him, and he vanishes; it whisks him from his familiar location."
22 It assails him pitilessly while he desperately scrambles away from its influence.
23 Mockingly, it applauds and drives him away from his location with a contemptuous hiss."

§ 17910 INTERLUDE: WHERE WISDOM IS FOUND

28 Silver has its source, and gold is refined.
2 Iron is mined, and copper is smelted from rocks.
3 Humans explore the darkest places for metal.
4 In remote areas, they dig tunnels far from civilization.
5 The ground, which provides food, is transformed below as if by fire.
6 Lapis lazuli comes from its stones, with gold dust within.
7 No bird of prey knows that path; no hawk has seen it.
8 No majestic beasts walk there, nor does any lion roam it.
9 People break the hardest rocks and uncover the base of the hills.
10 They cut channels in the rocks, and their eyes see every treasure.
11 They search the sources of rivers and bring hidden things to light.

12 "Where can wisdom be found? Where does understanding dwell?"

13 No one knows its value; it cannot be found in the land of the living.
14 The deep says, "It is not in me," and the sea says, "It is not with me."
15 Its value cannot be measured in silver or purchased with gold.
16 It cannot be worth more than Ophir's gold, valuable onyx, or lapis lazuli.
17 Gold and crystal cannot equal it, nor can they be exchanged for fine gold and jewels.
18 Rubies are not worthy of mention when discussing coral and jasper; intelligence is worth far more.

19 It is incomparable to Ethiopian topaz, which cannot be purchased with pure gold.

20 “Where then does wisdom come from? Where does understanding dwell?”
21 Even the birds in the skies cannot see it since it is veiled from their eyes.
22 Destruction and Death say, “We have only a rumor of it.”
23 Only the Preeminent Sovereign knows its way and place.
24 He sees everything below the celestial realms when he gazes toward both ends of the Earth.

25 When He determined the path of the thunderstorm and the precipitation, 26 when He established the wind’s intensity and measured the waters,
27 then He beheld wisdom and judged it; He verified and examined it.
28 He said to humanity, “To respect the Sovereign Captain is authentic wisdom, and to shun impurity is understanding.”

§ 17920 JOB’S FINAL DEFENSE

29 Job resumed his discussion.
2 “I yearn for the past times when the Preeminent Sovereign kept me under His protection.
3 His light shone over me like a streetlamp, guiding me through uncertain nights.
4 Ah, to return to my youth’s flourishing days, when the Preeminent Sovereign’s cherished counsel graced my dwelling.
5 The Eternal Reality was present with me, and my offspring were in my vicinity.
6 The stone yielded olive oil when my journey was soaked in cream.
7 Whenever I reached the urban entry point and secured my position in the communal open space.
8 Youngsters made their way to spot me while older people stood up on my arrival.
9 The leading figures ceased to talk and placed their hands over their mouths.
10 The utterances of the notables were silenced, and their tongues adhered to their palates.
11 All who listened to me expressed their praise, and those who observed me endorsed me.
12 I aided needy people who appealed for help and the orphans who lacked assistance.
13 The individual on the brink of death granted me his benediction; I aroused delight within the inner-self of the suffering woman.
14 I adorned myself in the integrity that enveloped me; my equitable decisions served as my cloak and headwear.

15 I acted as a sight for those without vision and provided mobility for disabled people.”

16 “I was a guardian for the underprivileged and championed unknown individuals.
17 I shattered the jaws of the counterfeit and rescued the prey from their grasp.
18 I trusted I would breathe my last in my home, with my lifespan equating to the countless specks of sand.
19 My roots will grow deep, spreading to the water, and the dew will settle on my branches throughout the night.
20 My honor will always be fresh, and my strength in marksmanship will perpetually renew.
21 Individuals eagerly paid attention to me, quietly anticipating my advice.
22 Once I finished talking, they remained silent; my utterances were as soft as dew on their senses.
23 They anticipated my discourse as one longs for rain and ingested my insights like a spring shower.
24 When I showed them a smile, they barely trusted it; my facial radiance was invaluable.

25 I decided the path for them and presided as their leader; I lived like a Prime Ruler amid his soldiers; I resembled someone who gives solace to those in grief.”

30 “Now, those less aged than I deride me, men whose fathers I would have considered unworthy to accompany my sheep keeper dogs.
2 What benefit could I have obtained from their physical power, considering their vitality had abandoned them?
3 Emaciated from poverty and starvation, they wandered the arid terrain during the nighttime amidst the barren and desolate wilderness.

4 They collected saline plants from amidst the shrubbery, and the broom trees served as their sustenance.
5 They were exiled from human company and berated like robbers.
6 They had no choice but to inhabit the dried-up riverbeds amidst stones and within crevices in the soil.
7 They howled like animals among the shrubs and gathered tightly under the brush.
8 They were a senseless and disreputable crowd ousted from the territory.
9 Now, the youthful individuals jeer at me through songs; I’ve become a term of derision for them.
10 They loathe me and stand aloof, free to spit at my visage.
11 Given that the Preeminent Sovereign has loosened my bowstring and humbled me, they discard all inhibitions before me.
12 The horde emerges on my right, striving to knock me off my footing, piling their catastrophic strategies against me.
13 They obstruct my path; they triumph in ruining me. ‘There’s resistance for him’ is their claim.
14 They move forward as if passing through a vast hole in the wall amidst the wreckage. They continue in waves.”

15 “Fears smother me; my esteem is blown away like the wind, and my sense of security fades like a cloud.
16 Currently, my existence is slipping away; times of torment seize me.
17 My bones are relentlessly subjected to torment during the darkness; the ache that chews on me ceaselessly doesn’t relent.
18 Under His mighty force, the Preeminent Sovereign embodies the form of my clothes; He constrains me as if He were the collar of my attire.

19 I am flung into the mire, becoming no better than dirt and cinders.”

20 “The Preeminent Sovereign, I call you for help, but you stay silent; when I get up, you observe me indifferently.
21 You mercilessly change your stance towards me; you assault me with your significant power.
22 You seize and push me into the wind; you cause me to be disturbed in the storm.
23 I know you will lead me to my death, the location destined for everyone alive.”

24 “Nobody harms an individual in ruins when he pleads for assistance during hardship.
25 Didn’t I shed tears for those going through hardship? Wasn’t it filled with sorrow for the impoverished?
26 While I waited for prosperity, misfortune fell on me; as I sought illumination, all I found was obscurity.
27 I am ceaselessly in turmoil within; days of affliction challenge me.

28 I wander in the dark, not due to lack of sunlight; I rise in the public meeting, pleading for assistance."

29 "I've transformed into a sibling to wild dogs and a friend to ostriches.
30 My skin tinges dark and sheds; my physique is ablaze with high temperature.
31 My harp is turned to sorrow, and my trumpet to the sound of crying."

31 "I pledged with my eyes not to gaze with desire at a maiden.

2 What has the Preeminent Sovereign above us promised us as our share? What is the heritage? What has the Eternal Reality in the celestial realm planned for us?"
3 "Is catastrophe not destined for the impure and misfortune of those who practice injustice?
4 Isn't it authentic that the Preeminent Sovereign observes my paths and tallies each move I make?
5 If I have trodden the path of dishonesty or my steps have sprinted towards deception,
6 allow the Preeminent Sovereign to measure me with accurate scales, and He will recognize my innocence.
7 Should my footsteps have deviated from the integrid path if my desires guided my inner-self or if any impurity marred my palms?
8 Should another consume what I've cultivated, let my plantations be eradicated.
9 Suppose my inner-self was drawn to a woman, or I've lurked near my neighbor's door.
10 Should this come to pass, let my wife prepare another man's meal, and others share her bed.
11 Such an act would have been reprehensible, an offense that demands judicial scrutiny.
12 Such an unworthy choice is like a fire that obliterates until nothing remains. It would have eradicated all my crops.

13 "Suppose I refused justice to any of my employees, regardless of gender, when they complained.
14 How can I face the Preeminent Sovereign, and what can I say when He demands an explanation?

15 Isn't the same entity that created me in the womb also sculpted them? Didn't the same being shape us both in our mother's wombs?
16 Should I have rejected the under-privileged' wishes or allowed the suffering woman's gaze to tire?
17 If I have selfishly consumed my food without allowing the orphan to partake in it, 18 Since my early days, I have nurtured them as paternal figures and guided the widow since infancy.
19 Assuming I have observed anyone dying due to insufficient attire or the needy without clothes.
20 They did not sincerely express gratitude for the warmth my sheep's wool provided.
21 If I have ever threatened an orphan, realizing that I had backers in the judicial system, 22 if my arm detaches from my shoulder, it may fracture at the connection.
23 Indeed, I was terrified of the potential disaster from the Preeminent Sovereign. I could never undertake such actions due to the awe of His magnificence.

24 "Suppose I've placed my trust in gold, declaring it as my safety,
25 if my happiness was anchored in the vast riches I possessed, the affluence I had accrued with my efforts, [26] if I admired the sunlight for its brilliance or the moon for its majestic motion. He heeded Abraham's intervention, rescuing Lot from the calamity that engulfed the towns where Lot resided.

[27] If such sights secretly seduced my inner-self and made my hand throw kisses to the counterfeit idolized deities of sun and moon,
[28] these actions would also constitute transgressions warranting judgment, as they would demonstrate my disloyalty to the Supreme Preeminent Sovereign.

[29] "If I was glad when my adversary faced hardship or took pleasure when adversity befell him, [30] I have never permitted my mouth to commit an unworthy choice by seeking their life with a curse.
[31] Should the members of my household fail to inquire, 'Who hasn't been satisfied with the food Job provided?'
[32] No foreigner was ever necessitated to lodge outdoors, as my entrance was perpetually welcoming to those journeying.

[33] "Should I have done as others, cloaking my wrongdoings and burying my remorse deep within me?
[34] I remained mute. I never ventured outdoors due to my overwhelming fear of the masses and the terror of family disdain.
[35] I yearn for someone to lend me an ear! Here is my signature to prove my defense; may the Eternal Reality respond to me. I wish for the one who charges me to jot down his allegations.
[36] Undeniably, I would proudly carry it on my shoulder and adorn it as if it were a wreath.
[37] I would submit a detailed report of all my actions and present it to him as if he were a Prime Ruler.

[38] "Should my soil accuse me and its plowed rows be soaked with weeping,
[39] if I have consumed its produce without compensating or crushed the morale of its caretakers, [40] may thorns sprout instead of grain, and noxious weeds replace barley." Job's discourse has reached its conclusion.

§ 17930 ELIHU

[32] Consequently, these three individuals ceased responding to Job due to his firm trust in his innocence."
[2] Elihu, the offspring of Barakel the Buzite from the Ram people, got infuriated with Job because Job insisted on attesting to his correct standings more than acknowledging the Preeminent Sovereign.
[3] He was also enraged with the three companions, for they couldn't find a way to prove Job wrong. Still, they accused him.
[4] Elihu had held back his words to Job earlier due to their seniority over him.
[5] However, observing that the three men were out of words, his irritation was ignited.
[6] Elihu, the male heir of Barakel from Buz, articulated: "My years are few, while yours are many; this rendered me hesitant and intimidated to share my wisdom with you.
[7] I trusted that seniority should be the voice, and longevity of years should impart wisdom.
[8] Indeed, the intention within individuals, the exhale of the Eternal Reality, grants them comprehension.
[9] Wisdom isn't exclusive to those advanced in years, nor is understanding of justice restricted to older people.

10 So, I implore you to pay heed to me; I will also express what I have learned.
11 I held on to your dialogues and attended to your logic as you sought the correct terms.
12 I have listened carefully, yet none of you has refuted Job's assertions nor responded effectively to his points.
13 Avoid declaring, 'We've discovered wisdom; allow the Preeminent Sovereign, not a human, to disprove him. '

14 However, Job hasn't directed his arguments toward me, and I wouldn't use your reasoning to respond to him. "They're taken aback and have nothing more to say; their words have abandoned them. Should I remain quiet now that they've fallen silent, now that they're standing mute, I shall express my thoughts as well; I too will disclose what I
15 These individuals are confounded and cannot respond further; they've run out of things to express.
16 Should I continue to hold on? They are now quiet and have ceased to respond.
17 I will contribute my arguments as an answer; I'll declare what I know.
18 I am filled with statements, and the internal Eternal Spark urges me to voice them.
19 Internally, I resemble wine that has been sealed, just like fresh, flexible wine bags on the verge of rupture.
20 I must express my thoughts for solace; I'm obliged to part my lips and give a response.
21 I won't discriminate against anyone, and I won't provide undeserved praise to any person.

22 Because I have no idea how to flatter, otherwise my Great Innovator would take me away in a heartbeat.

33 My Innovator would rapidly remove me if I possessed expertise in sugarcoating words. "Job, I implore you now to heed my speech and take note of all I articulate.
2 I am poised to part my lips. The expressions are ready at the brink of my tongue.
3 The sincerity of my inner-self influences my words, and the authenticity is what my lips express based on my knowledge.
4 The Preeminent Sovereign's Eternal Spark fashioned me, and the life-giving breath of the Eternal Reality invigorates me.
5 If you are capable, respond to me, prepare your arguments, and take a stance against me.

6 In the view of Preeminent Sovereign, I am identical to you. I was also molded from a fragment of clay.
7-8 You do not need to be terrified of me; the pressure I exert on you won't be too hard. "You have spoken within range of my ears—I have absorbed every syllable.
9 'I am innocent, not guilty of any offense; I am pure and bear no iniquity.
10 The Preeminent Sovereign has discovered reasons to oppose me; he treats me like his Adversary.
11 He binds my feet with restraints and constantly monitors all my journeys. '
12 However, I must contradict you, as the Preeminent Sovereign is far superior to any human being.
13 Why are you arguing with him, asserting that he doesn't answer anyone's verbiage?
14 Despite lacking human understanding, the Preeminent Sovereign communicates in various ways.
15 Within a dream, during a night's vision, profound slumber descends on individuals while sleeping on their beds.
16 He might communicate in their hearing and instill fear through alarming alerts.
17 To divert them from misguided actions and shield them from arrogance.

18-19 To protect them from the abyss and prevent the tactical blade from extinguishing their existence. Alternatively, an individual might be disciplined through suffering on their sickbed, perpetually experiencing discomfort in their skeletal structure.
20 They might be in such a condition that their physical selves detest food, and their essence detests the most exquisite dishes.
21 Their bodies become so thin that there's almost nothing left, and their bones, which were once concealed, now become prominent.

22 They approach the grave's brink; their existence edges towards the harbingers of demise.
23 Nevertheless, if there's a Celestial Envoy by their side, a celestial spokesman, a single one in a thousand, assigned to instruct them on integrity,
24 And he shows mercy to that individual, pleading to the Preeminent Sovereign, 'Protect them from descending into the abyss; I have discovered a means for their redemption. '
25-26 Permit their bodies to regain their boyish freshness, allowing them to revert to the vigor of their youthful days. "That individual may petition the Preeminent Sovereign and be accepted by Him; they shall behold His countenance and exclaim with happiness; He will return them to complete health.
27 They will approach others, confessing, 'I have committed wrongdoings; I've distorted the authenticity, yet I didn't receive the punishment I merited. '
28 The Preeminent Sovereign has rescued me from descending into the grave. I will now bask in the illumination of existence.
29 The Preeminent Sovereign does all these actions towards an individual, not just once, twice, or thrice.
30-31 To guide them away from the abyss so they might bask in the illumination of existence. "Be attentive, Job; hear what I say; remain quiet, and I will continue.
32 If there's anything you wish to express, respond to me and voice your thoughts, as my objective is to prove your proper understanding.
33 If you have nothing to say, heed me; keep quiet, and I'll instruct you on wisdom."

§ 17940 ELIHU 2

34 Elihu proceeded to speak:
2 "Attend to my discourse, you that are wise and boast knowledge; heed what I utter.
3 Just as our taste buds discern the flavor of food, so does our ear evaluate the wisdom in words.

4 We should decide on our own what is correct. Let's jointly comprehend what is beneficial.
5 Job asserts, 'I am not guilty, yet Preeminent Sovereign has refused me a fair trial.
6 Even though I'm innocent, I'm perceived as a deceiver; despite being blameless, his metaphorical projectile has caused a wound that won't heal. '
7 Has there ever been a man comparable to Job, known to consume mockery as if it were water?
8 He shares companionship with those who commit bad actions and spend time with corrupt individuals.
9 He asserts that attempting to gratify the Preeminent Sovereign yields no benefits.
10 Engage your intellect and listen carefully; it is unthinkable for the Preeminent Sovereign to perform evil actions and for the Eternal Reality to act unjustly.
11 He rewards individuals based on their actions; he ensures that they face the consequences of their behavior.

12 The concept that the Preeminent Sovereign could act wickedly, or the Eternal Reality could distort justice is unfathomable.
13 Who assigned him authority over the Earth? Who entrusted the entire world to his supervision?
14 If He decided to pull back the life-giving Eternal Spark and the breath He shared, 15 all humanity would fade away together, and people would return to the very essence from which they came.
16 If you possess intellect, heed these words: Pay heed to my utterances.
17 Can an individual who despises integrity rule? Would you accuse the One who is integrid and supreme?
18 Is it not the entity that implies to Prime Rulers, ‘You are of no value, ’ and to high-ranking officials, ‘You are the fullness of unworthy choices’?

19 He doesn’t favor statespersons or give preference to the wealthy over the indigent, as all are creations of his own hands.
20 In a moment, they perish in the midnight’s midst; individuals are startled and cease to exist; even the powerful are taken away, not by the action of a human hand.
21 He observes humans’ paths and notes all their actions.
22 No alleyway or shadowy corner can conceal those who choose to harm others; nothing is truly hidden.
23 The Preeminent Sovereign does not have to scrutinize humans more closely for them to present themselves for his judgment.
24 He dismantles the powerful without needing an investigation and assigns others to take their positions.
25 Since he knows their actions, he destroys them at night.
26 He chastises them for their evil deeds in a visible location.
27 Since they ceased their pursuit of him and ignored all his directives.
28 They induced the intervention of people in need to reach him; in turn, he attended to the call of the necessitous.
29 Who has the right to criticize him if he chooses to stay quiet? If he decides to hide his face, who can observe him? Regardless, he still directs over individuals and nations, 30 to prevent those devoid of sovereign likeness from governing and setting traps for the populace.
31 Imagine a person proclaiming to the Preeminent Sovereign, ‘I admit my wrongdoings and will not commit them again. ’
32 ‘Instruct me on what is invisible. If I have committed evil, I won’t repeat it. ’
33 Is it your decision to have Preeminent Sovereign repay you in your way, even if you decline to change your ways? The choice is yours, not mine; hence, share your insights.

34 Those who grasp things will assert that enlightened individuals who listen to me communicate with me.
35 Job’s discourse lacks comprehension; his utterances are devoid of discernment.
36 It would be beneficial if Job were examined thoroughly for responding in a manner comparable to an evil man’s.
37 He compounds his wrongdoing with defiance; he irreverently applauds among us while amplifying his utterances against the Eternal Reality.”

35 Elihu continued speaking.
2 “Do you trust it’s fair to claim, ‘I’m more integrid than the Preeminent Sovereign?’
3 Still, you ask Him, ‘How does it benefit me, and what do I achieve by abstaining from committing unworthy choices?’

4 I plan on responding to both you and your companions who are present.”
5 “Observe the celestial realms and notice; consider the clouds towering so far above you.
6 Should you commit wrongdoing, how does it influence the clouds? If your wrongdoings build up, how does it affect him?
7 What can you offer Him in your integrity, or what does He obtain from your efforts?
8 The evil you do solely influences individuals like you, while your authentic actions apply exclusively to other humans.
9 Individuals lament under the heavy burden of unfair treatment; they seek liberation from the strong grasp of the powerful.
10 No one inquires, ‘Where is my Innovator, the Eternal Reality, who provides melodies during the darkness?’
11 Who imparts us greater wisdom than the creatures of the land and grants us more insight than the avians of the celestial realms?

12 The Preeminent Sovereign doesn’t respond to the pleas due to the audacity of evil individuals.
13 Truly, the Preeminent Sovereign does not respond to the worthless appeals; the Eternal Reality disregards them.
14 Indeed, he is less likely to pay heed when you claim not to perceive him, insisting that your matter is pending before him, and you must patiently await his decision.
15 Moreover, his wrath does not inflict punishment, nor does he acknowledge evil in the slightest.
16 Job mindlessly blurs words, adding more without proper understanding.”

§ 17950 ELIHU 3

36 Elihu continued, “Be patient a bit longer. I have more to say on behalf of the Preeminent Sovereign.
3 My understanding comes from afar; I will attribute integrity to my Innovator.
4 Rest assured, my words are authentic. A person with comprehensive wisdom is here.
5 The Preeminent Sovereign is almighty and doesn’t reject anyone; He remains unwavering in His intentions.
6 He doesn’t preserve the lifespan of wrongdoers but delivers justice to the oppressed.
7 He never diverts his gaze from the authentic; He positions them alongside Prime Rulers and elevates them perpetually.
8-9 He informs individuals, confined and entrapped by misery, about their actions and how they have transgressed with arrogance.
10 He causes them to heed his reproof and instructs them to abandon impurity.
11 If they listen and serve him, their remaining years will be filled with success, and their lives will conclude with satisfaction.

12 If they refuse to heed, they’ll meet their end through violence and expire in ignorance.
13 Those with impure inner selves nurture anger; even when shackled, they refuse to plead for assistance.
14 They expire prematurely amidst male harlots in exalted places.
15 He rescues those in distress through hardships; he communicates with them in adversity.
16 He gently leads you from hardship towards a liberating expanse, filling your dining setup with delectable sustenance.

17 Currently, you are burdened with the penalty for unworthy choices; fairness and retribution have grasped you.
18 Be cautious that wealth does not lure you into deceit. Do not allow a significant payoff to divert your path.
19 Can your affluence arrange for your security, so you do not suffer, even with your most robust efforts?
20 Avoid yearning for darkness when individuals are forcibly removed from their dwellings.
21 Be cautious not to resort to impurity, as it appears you've chosen it over suffering.
22 Indeed, the Preeminent Sovereign is strong. Is there a tutor equivalent to Him?
23 Who has set his path for him or accused him of wrongdoing?
24 Remember to magnify his deeds, which many have celebrated through chants.
25 Every person has beheld it. Esteemed people observe it from a great distance.
26 The Preeminent Sovereign's greatness is beyond our comprehension! No one can discover the length of His existence.
27 He lifts water droplets, transforming them into rainfall for rivers.

28 Sheets of rain are released from clouds, cascading bountiful showers on humanity.
29 Who can comprehend how he unfurls clouds or the booming sounds from his dwelling place?
30 Observe how his lightning disperses all around, illuminating the profound depths of the ocean.
31 This method of ruling supplies an abundance of sustenance to nations.
32 He seizes lightning with his palms and orders it to hit the target.
33 His thundering voice announces the impending storm awesomely. Livestock additionally signal its onset.

37 On this, my inner-self trembles and jumps out of its position.

2 "Pay close attention to the booming sound of his voice and the resonating noise that emerges from his lips.
3 He releases lightning throughout the sky to the corners of the world.
4 Following that, his thunderous rumbling reverberates; he delivers a compelling roar with a voice of grandeur. He doesn't restrain anything when his voice echoes.
5 The Preeminent Sovereign's voice roars wondrously, performing feats too profound for our comprehension.
6 He directs the snow to descend on the ground and rainstorms to transform into powerful outpours.
7 He ends all human tasks so that each being he has created may acknowledge his deeds.
8 Wild creatures retreat into their lairs and stay in their places.

9 The storage of wind releases the storm, accompanied by chills from gusting breezes.
10 The Preeminent Sovereign's exhale forms frost, causing vast expanses of water to solidify.
11 He saturates clouds with water and disperses his lightning through them.
12 The clouds move in a circular pattern according to His guidance, executing all His orders across the globe.
13 He instigates clouds to discipline people, nourish his Earth, and demonstrate compassion.

14 "Job, pay heed to this; halt and reflect on the marvels of the Preeminent Sovereign.
15 Are you aware of how the Preeminent Sovereign directs clouds and causes lightning to shine?
16 Are you aware of how clouds maintain their position in the sky, the incredible acts of one endowed with absolute understanding?

17 You, who feel your garments getting hot when the Earth calms down due to the southern breeze,
18 Can you, like the Eternal Reality, stretch out the celestial realms above, as polished and reflective as the glass windows of a skyscraper?
19 Teach us what we should articulate to him; our minds are blank and unable to prepare our defense due to ignorance.
20 Would it be communicated to him that I desire to talk? Does anybody seek to be devoured?
21 No one can gaze at the sun, which appears brilliant in the clear sky after the wind has removed all obscuring clouds.
22 He descends from the North, clothed in a golden glow. Fearsome majesty marks the Preeminent Sovereign's arrival.

23 We can't comprehend the Eternal Reality; he is majestic in strength and fairness, overflowing with right relationships, and never afflicts.
24 Individuals hold him in high esteem, as he does not show partiality to those with wisdom in their inner selves."

§ 17960 THE SOVEREIGN CAPTAIN SPEAKS

38 Out of the storm, the Sovereign Captain addressed Job, uttering these words.
2 "Who is this individual who clouds my intentions through ignorant utterances?
3 Get strong like a warrior, for I'll question you, and you'll answer me.
4 Were you present when I established the planet's base? Enlighten me if you possess comprehension.
5 Who determined its size? Indeed, you are aware of who laid a surveying line over it.
6 What supports its foundation, or who positioned its most crucial stone
7 when the stars of dawn broke into song, and the Eternal Reality's beings rejoiced with jubilance?
8 Who confined the sea within gates when it erupted from its genesis,
9 when I fashioned the clouds as its clothing and enveloped it in profound obscurity,
10 when I established its boundaries and securely positioned its gates and metal bars.
11 When I proclaimed, 'Your proud waves will cease at this limit and progress no further; here is where your majestic surges are restrained'?
12 Have you ever commanded the day's onset or defined the sunrise's position?
13 Could it grip the ends of the Earth and shake the fullness of unworthy choices from its surface?

14 The planet molds itself like clay, imprinted by a seal; its characteristics stick out like fashion designs.
15 Evil people are deprived of illumination, and their arms lifted in defiance are shattered.
16 Have you ever explored the origins of the ocean or roamed in its profound abyss?
17 Have you been disclosed to the portals of mortality? Have you glanced at the entrances to profound obscurity?
18 Do you grasp the immense breadth of the Earth? Inform me if you're aware of everything.
19 Can you point out the path to the dwelling of light and show the location of darkness?
20 Can you lead them to their respective areas? Are you familiar with the routes to their homes?
21 You must know this as you have existed since then! You've traversed through numerous years!
22 Have you journeyed into the repositories of the snow or beheld the vaults of the hail,

23 that I have stored up for periods of distress, for instances of warfare and conflict?
24 Can you show me the route to the location where the electricity from lightning is diffused or where the eastern winds are spread out across the planet?
25 Who carves out a route for the deluge of rain and a trajectory for the thunderstorm?
26 To bring precipitation to a region without inhabitants, a desolate wilderness, 27 to quench the thirst of a barren expanse, causing vegetation to emerge?
28 Who is the progenitor of the rain? Who gives birth to the dewdrops?

29 Who is the mother of the ice? Who brings forth the frost from the celestial spheres, 30 when water solidifies to the consistency of stone and the face of the profound abyss is iced over?
31 Are you able to connect the constellation Pleiades? Can you untie the belt of Orion?
32 Can you guide the stars in their appropriate times and direct the big and the little dipper?
33 Are you aware of the statutes of the universe? Can you establish celestial authority on this planet?
34 Can you shout to the clouds to drench yourself with water?
35 Can you dispatch bolts of lightning on their course, and do they announce to you, ‘Here we are’?
36 Who endows the ibis with wisdom or imparts understanding to the rooster?
37 Who possesses the intelligence to number the clouds? Who can tilt and pour out the water containers of the sky, 38 when the loose soil solidifies into a mass, and the clumps of dirt adhere?
39 Are you capable of stalking prey to feed the lioness and quench the lions’ appetites, 40 as they lie low in their dens or prepare an ambush in the bushes?
41 Who arranges nourishment for the raven when its offspring call to the Preeminent Sovereign and roam around due to a scarcity of sustenance?

39 Are you aware of when mountain goats deliver their young? Do you observe when female deer bring forth their offspring?
2 Can you track their gestation period and delivery timing?

3-4 They kneel to give birth; their ordeal is over. Their offspring flourish in the wilderness and never return.

5 Who has given freedom to wild donkeys and loosened their bonds?”

6 I made the salt flats his home and the wilderness my home.

7 He ignores the city’s clamor and doesn’t heed the driver’s yells.

8 He searches for any green object as he wanders the highlands in quest of grazing.

9 Does the wild ox agree to help you? Will he spend the night in your feeding trough?

10 Is there a harness you can use to keep him to the furrow? After you, will he plow the valleys?

11 Is it safe to trust his immense strength? Will you let him handle all of your hard work?

12 Can you have trust in him to collect your grain and deliver it to the threshing floor?

13 The ostrich’s wings flap happily, but not as long as the stork’s pinions and feathers.

14 Because she lets her eggs warm in the sand by leaving them on the ground.

15 She doesn't realize that a wild animal could tramp on them, or a foot could crush them.

16 She does not care that her work was in vain and treats her kids brutally as if they were not her own.

17 Because the Preeminent Sovereign has not given her understanding, He has robbed her of wisdom.

18 She chuckles at the horse and its jockey as she proudly extends her wings.

19 "Are you granting might to the horse or adorning its neck with a quivering mane?

20 Do you let it leap like a grasshopper, inspiring fear with its majestic nostril noises?
21 It digs the Earth with force, rejoices in its power, and rushes gallantly into battle.
22 It scoffs at dread, undaunted by anything; it does not retreat from the tactical blade.
23 A projectile produces a distinctive frequency. A tactical mortar emits another frequency. A long-range weapon radiates still another frequency.

24 Engulfed in anticipation, it cannot remain stationary through the battlefield. It simply charges forward when the alarm reverberates.

25 With the alarm's blast, it exclaims, 'Aha!' From a distance, it senses the aroma of conflict, the commanders' roaring, and the cry of battle.

26 Is it due to your insight that the hawk soars and expands its wings to the South?

27 Is it by your order that the eagle soars and constructs its nest on the cliffs?
28 It finds residence on a high cliff and remains at night. A jagged peak serves as its fortress.
29 From this position, it scouts for sustenance; its gaze perceives it at a considerable distance.
30 Its offspring relish the blood; wherever the carcasses lie, it can be found there. "

40 Job received a response from the Sovereign Captain.

2 "Can the one who disputes with the Eternal Reality instruct Him? Should the individual who blames the Preeminent Sovereign respond?"

3 Job replied to the Sovereign Captain.

4 "I am so insignificant; how can I respond to you? I'll place my hand over my mouth.

5 I've expressed my thoughts once, yet there's no reply. I have uttered my thoughts again, but I shall remain silent with nothing to add."

6 Subsequently, the Sovereign Captain addressed Job from the midst of the storm.

7 "Strengthen yourself as a warrior; I will pose queries, and you must respond to me.
8 Would you question my fairness? Would you declare me guilty to prove your innocence?
9 Is your strength comparable to that of the Preeminent Sovereign, and does your voice resound as loudly as His?

10 Proceed to enhance yourself with grandeur and magnificence while draping yourself in esteem and nobility.
11 Disperse the rage of your fury, observe every arrogant individual, and make them feel inferior.
12 Observe all those high in vanity and belittle them; annihilate the evil right where they exist.
13 Conceal them collectively in the dirt and mask their visages in the crypt.
14 I will acknowledge that your strength can provide your redemption.

15 Observe the behemoth created alongside you, grazing on grass as an ox would.
16 Notice the might in its lower body and the energy in the sinews of its abdomen!
17 Its tail swings like a cedar tree; the muscles of its thighs are tightly woven together.
18 Its skeletal structure is like conduits of bronze; its extremities resemble iron bars.

19 It is the foremost of the Preeminent Sovereign's creations, but its Innovator can confront it exclusively with a weapon.
20 The mountains provide sustenance while wild beasts frolic nearby.
21 It dwells beneath lotus vegetation, concealed amidst swampland reeds.
22 The lotus trees hide it in their cover; willow trees near the stream encircle it.
23 It remains unfazed by a turbulent river; it stands confident even as the Jordan swells and rushes against its mouth.

24 Can anyone catch him staring or stick a snare through his nose?

41 Can you extract the Leviathan, the Symbol of Chaos and an Opponent of the Preeminent Sovereign, using a fish hook or restrain its tongue with a rope?
2 Can you run a rope through its nostrils or poke a hook through its cheek?
3 Will it persistently appeal to you for leniency? Will it converse with you using tender expressions?
4 Will it consent to serve you and become your lifelong servant?"

5 "Can you treat it as a pet or tether it for your household's young females?
6 Will traders bargain over it? Will they divide it among merchants?"
7 "Can you fill its skin with darts or its head with fish spears?
8 If you touch it, you'll remember the battle and never try again!
9 The hope of subduing it is false; its mere sight is overwhelming.
10 No one is so fierce that they dare to rouse it. Who then can stand against me?

11 Who can confront me and demand repayment for everything under the sky that is mine?
12 I must speak of Leviathan's limbs, its strength, and its graceful form.
13 Who can strip off its outer coat? Who can penetrate its double ballistic body armor?
14 Who dares open its jaws, ringed with fearsome teeth?
15 Its back has rows of ballistic shields tightly sealed together.
16 Each is so close to the next that no air can pass between.
17 They are firmly attached to each other; they won't let go of the other.
18 Its eyes are similar to dawn's rays, and its snort shoots bursts of light.

19 "Fiery jets burst forth from its mouth; fiery streaks dart forth.
20 Smoke streams from its nostrils, resembling a kettle heated over brushwood.
21 Its breath kindles charcoal, and fire emerges from its mouth.
22 Power inhabits its neck, and terror dances ahead.
23 Its flesh's folds are firmly fused, making them unyielding.
24 Its chest is as hard as a stone, as hard as the lower millstone.

[25] The powerful are scared when Leviathan, the Symbol of Chaos and an Opponent of the Preeminent Sovereign, stands up and flees before his thrashing.

[26] Neither the tactical blade, tactical bayonet, dart, or projectile that gets to him hurts him.
[27] He sees bronze as decaying wood and iron as straw.

[28] Sling stones turn into chaff for him; no projectile can drive him away.
[29] It awakens up the sea like a pot of balm and causes the depths to churn like a boiling cauldron.
[30] Behind it, it leaves a shimmering wake that makes the deep appear to have white hair.
[31] Nothing on Earth is its equal—a creature without fear.
[32] It looks down on all that are haughty; it is Prime Ruler over all that are proud."

[33] There is nothing on Earth like it—a fearless creature.

[34] It looks down on all that are haughty; it is Prime Ruler over all that are proud."

§ 17970 JOB

42 Then Job answered the Sovereign Captain, saying:
[2] "I am aware of Your limitless potential and the fact that no scheme of Yours can fail.
[3] He admitted speaking on matters beyond his understanding and marveled at the Sovereign Captain's wonders.
[4] "Listen now, and I will speak," you said. I'll ask you some questions, and you tell Me.
[5] Although I had heard of You, I had never laid eyes on You.
[6] As a result, I take back what I spoke and confess my unworthy choices in ashes and dust.

[7] Following this, the Sovereign Captain rebuked Eliphaz the Temanite and his two friends for not speaking truthfully about Him, unlike Job.
[8] He instructed them to offer a scorched absolving payment and have Job intercede for them to avoid punishment.
[9] They complied, and the Sovereign Captain accepted Job's intervention.

[10] After Job's intercession, the Preeminent Sovereign restored his fortunes, doubling his previous wealth.
[11] His family and friends comforted him, giving him a silver coin and a gold earring.
[12-14] The latter part of Job's life was more fortunate than the beginning, with vast livestock and ten children—seven sons and three daughters named Jemimah, Keziah, and Keren-Happuch.
[15] His daughters were renowned for their beauty and received inheritances alongside their brothers.
[16-17] Job lived 140 more years, seeing four generations of his descendants, and died old and content.

~ 119 | Proclamation Songs | Psalms

§ 17980 PROCLAMATION SONG 1

1 Fortunate is the individual who avoids the path of the unauthentic, the route of wrongdoers, and the gatherings of pessimists.
2 Instead, he delights in the path of the Sovereign Captain, reflecting on it from dawn to dusk.

3 This individual is like a tree beside flowing streams, bearing seasonal fruit with evergreen leaves. All their actions are triumphant.
4 The unjust are not like that! The breeze carries them off like worthless straw.
5 Those opposed to the Preeminent Sovereign's lifestyle will not be justified in judgment, nor will culprits have a place among the authentic ensovereigned lifestyle community.
6 The Sovereign Captain knows the path of integrity, while the journey of the impure ends in ruin.

§ 17990 PROCLAMATION SONG 2

2 Why do nations embrace outrage and chaos, and people pursue empty vanity?
2 Earth's Prime Rulers unite, and leaders conspire against the Sovereign Captain and His chosen one, declaring,
3 "Let's rip their bonds apart and discard their restraints."
4 He who resides in the celestial realms with authority finds amusement in the Eternal Reality deriding them.
5 In His fury, He speaks harshly to them, and in His wrath, He fills them with fear.
6 "I have put my chosen ruler on the exalted hill of the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign."
7 I will declare the Eternal Reality's proclamation song of the Sovereign Captain: He told me,
"You are My offspring; today, I have taken your Life-Giver's role.
8 Request from Me, and I will grant you the nations as your heritage and the uttermost parts of the Earth as your personal property.
9 You'll shatter them like pottery; break them with an iron rod."
10 So, you Prime Rulers, act prudently; take caution, you heads of the Earth.

11 Serve the Eternal Reality with respect and awe and rejoice before His sovereignty in trembling delight.
12 Show reverence to His offspring, lest His fury be ignited, and your journey brings about your downfall because His anger can be sparked instantly. Fortunate are those who find a fortress in Him.

§ 18000 PROCLAMATION SONG 3

(David wrote a proclamation song while running away from his heir, Absalom.)

3 My Sovereign Captain, how many more are my enemies? How many turn their backs on me?
2 Many tell me that "the Preeminent Sovereign will not deliver him." Selah

[3] However, Captain, You serve as a protective barrier encompassing me; You are my honor, the One who elevates my inner-self.
[4] I lift my voice to the Sovereign Captain, who responds to me from His exalted heights. Selah
[5] I rest and rise, for the Sovereign Captain sustains me.
[6] Despite assaults from countless multitudes coming from every direction, I refuse to succumb to fear.
[7] Rise, Almighty One! Save me, my Preeminent Sovereign! Smite all my foes on the cheek; shatter the teeth of the people counterfeit.
[8] Redemption originates from the Sovereign Captain. May Your favor shower on Your people. Selah

§ 18010 PROCLAMATION SONG 4

(For the choir conductor. Using stringed instruments. A Davidic proclamation song.)

4 [4] When I call, hear me, Preeminent Sovereign of my integrity! My anxiety has subsided; please extend mercy and accept my request.
[2] How long will you turn my honor into disgrace? How long will you cherish illusions and pursue lies?
[3] Recall that the Sovereign Captain hears my calls and has set-apart those full of integrity for Himself.
[4] Feel furious, but do not transgress; lie in bed, calm yourself, and examine your inner-self. Selah
[5] Provide absolving payments for those properly related to the Sovereign Captain and rely on Him.
[6] “Who can show us the good?” many wonder. My Sovereign Captain, shine Your face on us.
[7] My inner-self is happier because of You than when there is an abundance of grain and fresh wine.
[8] I can rest and sleep comfortably knowing that You, My Sovereign Captain, exclusively provide me safety assurance.

§ 18020 PROCLAMATION SONG 5

(Flute accompaniment for the choir director. A Davidic proclamation song.)

5 “My Sovereign Captain, hear my words and consider my pleadings.
[2] Listen to my intervention for assistance, my Prime Ruler and Preeminent Sovereign; I meld my conscience with You.

[3] At dawn, Captain, You hear my intervention; I present my needs to You in the morning and eagerly await Your response.
[4] Indeed, You are not an Eternal Reality that delights in wrongdoing. Evildoers cannot reside with You.
[5] Arrogant people won’t last in Your sight. You detest all evildoers.
[6] You obliterate those who fabricate falsehoods. The violent and misleading ones, You loathe.
[7] However, due to Your abundant loving tenderness, I may enter Your fortress; with profound awe, I shall salute toward Your exalted fortress in joyful adoration.
[8] Guide me, My Sovereign Captain, in Your integrity due to my adversaries; make Your path straightforward before me.

9 My adversaries' words hold no ultimate authenticity; they harbor ill intent in their inner selves. They spew deceit as if their throats were yawning graves; their tongues are skilled in falsehood.
10 My Preeminent Sovereign, hold them accountable! Let their schemes lead to their downfall. Expel them due to their many transgressions, as they have turned against You.
11 Let all who find safety in You be happy; let them perpetually sing with elation. Extend Your shielding over them so those who appreciate Your Name can celebrate in You.
12 Undoubtedly, Captain, You grant empowerment to the integrid people; You enfold them with Your empowerment, like a protective ballistic shield. "

§ 18030 PROCLAMATION SONG 6

(For the choir conductor. With stringed instruments per Sheminith. A Davidic proclamation song.)

6 "Do not punish me in Your fury or chastise me in Your anger, My Sovereign Captain.
2 Show me transformative generosity, Eternal Preeminent Sovereign; I am entirely undone; mend my shattered bones, Eternal Reality, for they are troubled.

3 My inner-self is exceedingly disturbed. When will You appear, My Sovereign Captain? When will You show up?"

4 "Return, Captain, rescue my life; preserve me due to Your steadfast love.
5 No one can sing Your praises or remember You when they are among the deceased. Who will offer gratitude to You from the Underworld?
6 My sighing has left me exhausted. My bed is soaked with my tears as I weep throughout the night, and my couch is also saturated with my crying.
7 The grief has blurred my vision; it's failing due to all my adversaries.
8 All you who practice impurity, keep your distance, for the Sovereign Captain has acknowledged my lament.
9 The Sovereign Captain has listened to my intervention for transformative generosity and receives the melding of my consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign.
10 Disgrace will confound, and anxiety will torment all who oppose me."

§ 18040 PROCLAMATION SONG 7

(David's Shiggaion, which he sang to the Sovereign Captain about Cush, a Benjamite.)

7 I seek refuge in You, My Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign; protect and deliver me from all who would harm me,
2 or they will shred me as if I were prey to a lion, tearing me asunder with no one appearing to save me.
3 My Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, should I have committed this act, and if my hands are burdened with guilt?
4 Should I have wronged a friend or unjustly plundered an enemy for no reason?
5 May my foe chase and capture me, crushing my existence into the soil and compelling me to rest in the dust. Selah

6 Stand up, My Sovereign Captain, filled with Your wrath; confront the fury of my foes. Rouse Yourself, my Preeminent Sovereign, and establish justice.

7 Convene all nations before You, ruling over them from Your exalted authority base.
8 The Sovereign Captain judges the nations. Validate me, Captain, by having a targeted relationship of integrity.
9 Conclude the savagery of the impure and ensure the safety of those full of integrity—You, the integrid Eternal Reality who scrutinizes the minds and inner selves.
10 The Preeminent Sovereign, the Most High, is my defender, rescuing those whose inner selves are upright.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign is an honest judge, displaying His outrage throughout the day.
12 Without remorse, He will hone His blade, arm His projectile launcher, and activate its trigger.
13 He gets His lethal weapons ready; He equips His projectiles with fire.
14 Those full of impurity bring harm and produce deception.
15 The impure has hollowed out and excavated a hole for himself; he has fallen into a hole he crafted.
16 The mischief he instigates boomerangs back to him, and the aggressive actions he initiates descend on his skull.
17 I will thank the Sovereign Captain for His justice and praise the Name of the Foremost High Sovereign Captain in joyful song.

§ 18050 PROCLAMATION SONG 8

(For the choir conductor. As stated by Gittith. A Davidic proclamation song.)

8 "How glorious is Your name throughout Earth, My Sovereign Captain, our Eternal Reality! Above the celestial realms, You have established Your grandeur.
2 Using the acclamations of youngsters and little ones, You have constructed a bulwark against Your antagonists, muting the Adversary and the vindictive.
3 Whenever I observe Your celestial creations, the fruits of Your meticulous craftwork, such as the moon and stars You have meticulously positioned—
4 What significance does Humanity, or the Heir of Humanity hold that You remember them, and why do You bother to look after these mortals?
5 You've created them slightly inferior to the Celestial Envoys and embellished them with dignity and grandeur.
6 You appointed them to govern Your handiwork. All things were placed under their authority,
7 all varieties of sheep and cattle, as well as the creatures in the wilderness,
8 the avian creatures of the air, the marine life, and everything that navigates sea routes.
9 O Sovereign, our Sovereign Captain, Your global reputation is splendid and grand! "

§ 18060 PROCLAMATION SONG 9

(For the conductor of the choir. A proclamation song of David, set to the melody of "The Death of the Son.")

9 I will proclaim Your wonders and offer my sincere gratitude to the Sovereign Captain.
2 I will delight and be glad in You, making music to laud Your Name, O Most Elevated.
3 When my foes retreat, they are overwhelmed and meet their end in Your presence.
4 You have defended my cause, presiding from Your authority base as the fair judge.
5 You condemned the distrustful and eliminated the evil ones, erasing their remembrance permanently.

6 My foes have been eternally annihilated; their settlements demolished, leaving no trace.

7 The Sovereign Captain is ensovereigned eternally, establishing His authority base for delivering justice.
8 He judges globally fairly, imparting impartiality and justice to all nations.
9 The Eternal Reality is a fortress for the burdened, a secure fortification during hardship.
10 Those who recognize Your identity trust You, as You, oh Sovereign Captain, have continuously stood with those who earnestly seek Your presence.
11 Elevate the Sovereign Captain who reigns in the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign and announces His mighty acts to all nations, 12 because the Vengeful Avenger never forgets and hears the cries of the oppressed.
13 See how my adversaries torment me, My Sovereign Captain, and show me mercy! Raise me out of the grave, 14 so I can exalt You in all Your majesty and delight in Your redemption within the walls of Daughter, the hub of David.
15 The countries have sunk into the hole they've dug; their feet snared in the trap they've set.
16 His integrid judgments reveals the Sovereign Captain; His actions trap the evil ones. Higgaion Selah 17 Those who embrace evil will end in the domain of departed inner selves, as all nations neglecting the Eternal Reality will end likewise.
18 The Preeminent Sovereign will perpetually remember those in need; the aspirations of the oppressed will not be extinguished forever.
19 Captain, rise and don't let evil people win; let the nations come to You and be judged.

20 Instill fear in them, My Sovereign Captain, enlighten the nations that they are mere men.

§ 18070 PROCLAMATION SONG 10

10 "Captain, why do you appear so distant? Why do you veil yourself during challenging times?"
2 In their pride, the impure individuals hotly pursue the vulnerable, trapped in their crafted plots.
3 They take pride in the desires of their inner selves; they praise the covetous and show disrespect to the Preeminent Sovereign.
4 The arrogant wrongdoers do not pursue Him; their contemplations have no space for the Eternal Reality.
5 Their methods are invariably successful; they disregard Your directives; they laugh at all who oppose them.
6 They assure themselves, "We will never be unsettled." They vow, "We will experience no harm from anyone."
7 Deception and warnings fill their mouths; harm and impurity lie beneath their tongues.
8 They await in an ambush close to the settlements, secretly killing the innocent. Their gaze is surreptitiously set against their prey.
9 They lurk secretly like a lion in his den, poised to seize the disadvantaged; they ensnare the unfortunate, pulling them into their trap.
10 The helpless are overwhelmed, collapse, and succumb to their might.
11 They say to themselves, "The Preeminent Sovereign has forgotten; He hides His face and will never observe."
12 Rise, My Sovereign Captain! Elevate your hand, my Preeminent Sovereign. Do not ignore those who are suffering.

13 Why does the individual, full of unworthy choices, scorn the Eternal Reality? Why does he convince himself that he won't ever be held responsible?
14 Yet, You, Preeminent Sovereign, perceive the distress of the beleaguered; You take into account their sorrow and hold it within your control. The tormented entrust themselves to You; You stand as the protector of the fatherless.
15 Shatter the power of the person full of unworthy choices; hold the wrongdoer responsible for his hidden misdeeds until nobody is left to find.
16 The Sovereign Captain reigns eternally; nations will vanish from His realm.
17 Alright, My Sovereign Captain, You pay heed to the pleas for assistance that those in need make, you listen to their longings, you give them hope,
18 protecting the weak and the orphans so that people on Earth can no longer inspire terror.

§ 18080 PROCLAMATION SONG 11

(For the choir conductor. About David.)

11 I seek refuge in the Sovereign Captain. So, why say, 'Fly like a bird to your mountain!'?
2 Evildoers ready their projectile launchers, aiming to secretly attack those full of integrity from the cover of darkness.
3 What can authentic individuals do when their foundation is collapsing?
4 The Eternal Reality resides in His exalted fortress; His authority base is above the celestial realms. He scrutinizes every individual on Earth; His gaze meticulously evaluates them.
5 The Eternal Reality scrutinizes those who do what is right but detests those with unworthy choices, especially those who revel in harm.
6 For evildoers, He will shower down sizzling embers and smoldering brimstone; their destiny will be a blistering firestorm.
7 The Sovereign Captain cherishes right relationships; those who lead authentic lives will behold His countenance.

§ 18090 PROCLAMATION SONG 12

(For the choir conductor. As stated by Sheminith. A Davidic proclamation song.)

12 Help, My Sovereign Captain, for the authentic have perished, and the loyal have disappeared from the face of the Earth.
2 All people speak falsely to their fellow. They toast using their mouth while nurturing deceit within their inner-self.
3 May the Sovereign Captain chop off every arrogant tongue and every lip that flatters.
4 "We shall win with our mouths," they declare. "Who can be our boss when we possess our lips?"
5 The Sovereign Captain declares, "Now, I will rise for the sake of the oppressed and the whining poor. I will deliver safety to the one who longs for it."
6 The proclamation song songs of the Sovereign Captain are impeccable, resembling silver refined in a furnace, similar to gold purified sevenfold.
7 My Sovereign Captain, you will maintain the safety of people in need and forever shield us from evil individuals.
8 Vileness is elevated among people, and the impure are allowed to roam around.

§ 18100 PROCLAMATION SONG 13

(For the choir conductor. A Davidic proclamation song.)

13 “For how long, Captain? Will You always forget who I am? For what duration will You conceal Your face from me?
2 How long must I wrestle with my concerns and bear sadness in my inner-self each day? When will my Adversary stop crushing me?
3 Observe me and respond, Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign. Illuminate my eyes, or else I’ll enter the slumber of mortality.
4 My Adversary might proclaim they have prevailed over me, and those who oppose me will be joyful when I stumble.
5 In Your eternal love, I have placed my confidence; my inner-self exults in Your deliverance.
6 I will joyfully celebrate in song to the Sovereign Captain, for He has shown tremendous kindness to me.

§ 18110 PROCLAMATION SONG 14

(For David’s choir director. A Davidic proclamation song.)

14 The fool declares, “There is no Preeminent Sovereign” within. Their deeds are vile and corrupt; no one does good.
2 From the celestial realms, the Sovereign Captain observes humanity to see if any understand or seek the Preeminent Sovereign.
3 All have turned away; none live authentically, not one.
4 Do these wrongdoers not understand? They devour my chosen ones like bread and never call on the Eternal Reality.
5 But they are terrified because the Preeminent Sovereign is with the just.
6 You wrongdoers frustrate the poor’s plans, but the Eternal Reality is their fortress.
7 Israel’s rescue would come from the hub of David! Let Israel rejoice, and Jacob be glad when the Sovereign Captain restores His people!

§ 18120 PROCLAMATION SONG 15

(David’s proclamation.)

15 “Who may stay in Your tent, My Sovereign Captain? Who might occupy Your exalted mountain?”
2 He who upholds ethical principles walks uprightly and speaks with ultimate authenticity from his inner-self,
3 who doesn’t gossip, harm his neighbor, or treat his friend with contempt,
4 who honors those who respect the Sovereign Captain but scorns the despicable, who keeps his promises even at a cost, 5 who loans money interest-free and refuses bribes against the defenseless. Such a person will never be shaken.

§ 18130 PROCLAMATION SONG 16

(A Davidic Miktam)

16 Preserve me, O my Preeminent Sovereign, as I find shelter in You for my safety.
2 I told the Eternal Reality, “You are My Sovereign Captain; apart from You, I have nothing of value.”
3 Regarding the chosen ones in the land, they are the epitome of perfection, the source of all my delight.
4 Those who chase counterfeit idolized deities find their unhappiness multiplying. I refuse to offer blood-absolving payments to those entities, nor will I utter their names.
5 The Preeminent Sovereign, You are solely my inheritance and my cup of empowerment; You hold my future safe and secure.
6 The boundaries of my territory have been established in agreeable sites; indeed, I possess a beautiful heritage.
7 I thank the Sovereign Captain for His guidance; my conscience provides me wisdom throughout the night.
8 I constantly have the Sovereign Captain in my view. With His presence on my right side, I shall remain unswayed.
9 Consequently, my inner-self celebrates, and my speech is joyous; my physique will also live confidently.
10 You won’t forsake my inner-self to the Underworld, nor will You permit Your Exalted One to decay.
11 You make me aware of the path toward reality; in Your company, I will experience profound happiness and perpetual satisfaction at Your side.

§ 18140 PROCLAMATION SONG 17

(An intervention from David)

17 “My Sovereign Captain, my pleas are integrid; heed my impassioned appeal. Pay heed to the melding of my consciousness with You, which is not initiated from deceptive or false motives.
2 May Your presence be the source of my justification; Your eyes can recognize the ultimate authenticity.
3 You have visited me at night and tried my inner-self. I’m determined not to transgress with my lips now that you’ve attempted to me and discovered nothing wrong.
4 Regarding human deeds, by Your words, I have steered clear of violent paths.
5 I have always walked in Your way and have never strayed from it.
6 I implore You, my Eternal Reality, for I am confident in Your response; incline Your ear towards me and take heed of my request.
7 Exhibit the marvels of Your profound affection, who provide redemption with Your dominant hand to those seeking fortress in You from their adversaries.
8 Guard me as if I were the most precious part of your vision; shelter me within the protective presence of your arms.
9 Shield me from malicious individuals seeking to ruin me, from the lethal foes encircling me.
10 Their inner selves, devoid of compassion, express nothing but self-importance.
11 They have pursued us; now they surround us with watchful eyes, ready to grind us into the dirt.
12 They resemble a lion eager to rip apart its prey, just like a mighty lion lying in wait in hidden places.

13 Arise, My Sovereign Captain, oppose them, make them surrender; deliver me from the transgressors using Your celestial blade, 14 from such men, by Your hand, My Sovereign Captain; worldly men whose share is this life. May You fulfill the appetites of Your esteemed ones and their sons so they will pass along their abundance to their offspring.
15 When I awaken, I will see Your face in justice and find satisfaction in Your presence."

§ 18150 PROCLAMATION SONG 18

(For the choir conductor. Regarding David, the Sovereign Captain's servant, who performed this song to the Sovereign Captain on the day the Eternal Reality saved him from Saul's and all his adversaries' hands.)

18 "I love You, My Sovereign Captain, my strength," he said.
2 "The Eternal Reality is my foundation, my shelter in the storm, my ultimate protection, and my trusted fortress.
3 The Praised One, Yahweh, delivered me from my adversaries when I invoked Him.
4 The river of destruction poured over me, and the ropes of death were practically wrapped around me.
5 The ropes of the Underworld entwined me; death's traps lay ahead of me.
6 In my time of need, I sought the Sovereign Captain and implored the Preeminent Sovereign for support. He listened to my intervention from His exalted fortress; my appeal reached Him and resonated in His ears.
7 The world shivered and rocked; the foundations of the mountains shifted; they quaked due to His rage.
8 Fierce flames leaped from His mouth as smoke descended from His nose, glowing coals flaring up.
9 He opened the celestial realms and descended; thick darkness was beneath His steps.
10 He ascended on a celestial creature and swiftly traveled, carried by the gusts of the wind.
11 Darkness served as His shroud, His shelter from above the gloomy storm clouds of the celestial realms.
12 Clouds emerged from the brilliance of His manifestation, accompanied by hail and flashes of electricity.
13 The Preeminent Sovereign's mighty voice echoed as He roared from the celestial realms with hailstones and fiery brimstone.
14 He released His missiles, causing disarray among the foes, and with overwhelming flashes of lightning, He put them to flight.
15 Your firm reprimand, Captain, disclosed the depths of the sea and the Earth's foundations following the forceful gust from Your nose.
16 He grabbed me with His outstretched hand and pulled me out of the depths.
17 I was saved from my formidable Adversary and those who detested me, as they were overwhelming in their strength.
18 During my day of misfortune, they challenged me, yet the Sovereign Captain served as my sustenance.
19 He led me to a place of safety, for He takes delight in me.

20 The Sovereign Captain has endowed me in line with my authentic relationship; due to my pure motives, He has repaid me.
21 Because I have not foolishly turned away from my Preeminent Sovereign, I have walked in the paths of the Sovereign Captain.

22 I keep all His regulations in focus; I have not disregarded His directives.
23 I have lived with integrity in His presence, keeping myself healthy from unworthy choices.
24 The Sovereign Captain has compensated me according to my integrity, witnessing the purity of my deeds.
25 You present Yourself as blameless to the blameless and loyal to the loyal;
26 You present Yourself shrewd to the crooked, yet You appear pure to the pure.
27 You aid those afflicted but humble those arrogant in their gaze.
28 You, my Preeminent Sovereign, are the power behind my guiding light; you transform my darkest moments into clarity and hope.
29 With Your assistance, I can charge into an army with the help of my Preeminent Sovereign. I can leap over barriers.
30 The Preeminent Sovereign's path is without fault; the promises of the Sovereign Captain always prove accurate; He protects everyone who seeks shelter in Him.
31 Who exists as the Preeminent Sovereign if not the Sovereign Captain? Who else stands as our Solid Rock if not our Preeminent Sovereign?"

32 "The Preeminent Sovereign is the One who grants me strength and ensures my path is safe.
33 He ensures my steps are as steady as a deer's and places me securely on elevations.
34 He prepares me for combat, enabling my arms to flex a bronze projectile launcher.

35 Your protective assistance is my safeguard, and Your strong hand supports me; Your help has led to my rise.
36 You clear the way for me, ensuring my ankles do not falter.
37 I chased my foes, caught up to them, and did not cease until they were utterly defeated.
38 I shattered them to the point they couldn't stand; they collapsed under my soles.
39 You equipped me with war power and brought my opponents to kneel before me.
40 You have caused those opposing me to retreat, and I annihilated those who bore ill intentions toward me.
41 They shouted for assistance, yet there was no Redeemer; even to the Sovereign Captain, they called, but He remained silent.
42 I crushed them into a fine powder, which the wind carried away like dust and strewn like muck across the roadways. .

43 You have rescued me from the hostilities of the crowd and positioned me as the Prime Ruler of various nations. Even those unfamiliar to me now come forward to serve me.
44 As soon as they learn about me, outsiders submit in fear.
45 everyone loses their courage and comes shaking in fear from their fortresses.

46 The Sovereign Captain is real, and hallelujah for my Rock! And praise be to the Preeminent Sovereign of my redemption—
47 the Preeminent Sovereign who takes revenge on me, subduing nations beneath me, 48 who protects me from my adversaries. You lift me above my enemies and deliver me from men who use violence.

49 I honor You, My Sovereign Captain, in the presence of the nations and sing songs that elevate Your name.
50 He offers His Prime Ruler a great redemption. He demonstrates unwavering love and dedication to David and his offspring for all eternity."

§ 18160 PROCLAMATION SONG 19

(For the conductor of the choir. A Davidic proclamation song)

19 The sky showcases the Preeminent Sovereign's handiwork, and the celestial realms declare His acclaim.
2 Each day, the celestial realms share new knowledge every night.
3 They don't speak or utter a word; their resonance is indiscernible.
4 Their message spans the planet, reaching the world's ends. The Preeminent Sovereign has crafted a canopy for the sun,
5 like an overjoyed groom leaving his room or a triumphant athlete eager to start his race.
6 The sun rises from one end of the sky and travels to the other; nothing escapes its warmth.
7-8 The path of the Sovereign Captain is flawless, rejuvenating the spirit. His instructions are reliable, bringing clarity to life's complexities. His principles are uplifting, filling the heart with joy, and His commands are like neon signs, illuminating the way forward.

9 Reverence for the Sovereign Captain is pure, enduring forever. the Sovereign Captain's judgments are authentic and just.
10 They are more valuable than gold, even pure gold; sweeter than honey, even honey from the comb.

11 Through these teachings, Your person gains enlightenment; adhering to them brings immense rewards.
12 Who can recognize his lapses? Acquit me of hidden mistakes.
13 Protect your servant from intentional unworthy choices; let them not control me. Then, I will be pure and absolved from severe wrongdoing.
14 May my spoken and unspoken thoughts and words please You, My Sovereign Captain, my impenetrable Rock, and my Redeemer.

§ 18170 PROCLAMATION SONG 20

(For the conductor of the choir. A Davidic Proclamation.)

20 May Jacob's Preeminent Sovereign protect you, and may the Sovereign Captain answer you in times of trouble.
2 May He send hope and aid from His exalted fortress and assist you from His celestial fortress.
3 May your absolving payments and gifts be remembered, and your scorched absolving payments be accepted. Selah
4 May He grant your inner-self's desires and lead all your endeavors to success.
5 Let us celebrate your victory and raise a banner in the Name of our Preeminent Sovereign.
May the Sovereign Captain fulfill all your requests.
6 I am confident that the Sovereign Captain grants victory to His chosen one. From His celestial fortress, He responds with the strength of His arm.
7 While some trust in military might, our confidence is in the Eternal Reality, our Sovereign Captain.
8 They fall and collapse, but we rise and stand firm.
9 The Preeminent Sovereign grants success to our Prime Ruler! Answer us when we call for Your help!

§ 18180 PROCLAMATION SONG 21

(For the conductor of the choir. A Davidic proclamation song)

21 The Prime Ruler exults in Your might, My Sovereign Captain, rejoicing over Your redemption!
2 You fulfilled his inner-self's wish and did not deny his intervention. Selah
3 You granted him bountiful empowerment and ensovereigned him with great respect and value.
4 He pleaded for energy, which You granted—endless days stretching into eternity.
5 His fame and honor have significantly increased due to Your triumphs; You enshroud him in majestic grandeur.
6 You have endowed him with eternal empowerment and filled him with happiness from the pleasure of Your company.
7 The Prime Ruler trusts the Sovereign Captain, and owing to the persistent affection of the Most High, he remains unshaken.
8 Your grasp will capture all Your adversaries; Your dominant hand will clutch those who despise You.
9 As You manifest on the battlefield, You incinerate them like a fiercely flaming oven. the Sovereign Captain will engulf them in anger, and His firefight will devour them.
10 Their offspring will be eradicated from the world, and their family from the human race will be obliterated.
11 Even when they plan harm towards You and conceive malignant plans, they will not achieve victory.
12 You will cause them to retreat when You target them with Your projectile launcher ready to shoot.
13 Captain, may Your power honor You; we will sing and celebrate Your great strength.

§ 18190 PROCLAMATION SONG 22

(For the choir conductor. In time with "The Doe of the Dawn." A Davidic proclamation song.)

22 "My Preeminent Sovereign, why have You abandoned me? Why are You so distant from my cries of despair?
2 I call out to You during the day, but You remain silent; at night, I seek solace but find none.
3 You reign as the Exalted One, ensovereigned as the entity that Israel extols.
4 Our forefathers trusted You, and You rescued them.
5 They called out to You and were redeemed; they trusted You and were never disgraced.

6 "All ridicule me, and the populace loathes me, for I am merely an earthworm, not a human.
7 everyone who observes me mocks me; they throw insults and wag their heads.
8 'He trusts the Sovereign Captain, ' they say, 'Let the Eternal Reality bring him redemption. Let the Sovereign Captain liberate him since he delights in Him. '
9 You ushered me from the womb, enabling me to trust You while I was nurtured at my mom's bosom.
10 I've been entrusted to You since birth. You have been my Eternal Reality since I emerged from my mother's body.

11 “Please stay close, as distress is near, and I am without help.
12 Numerous adversaries, like bulls, besiege me; mighty creatures from Bashan envelop me.
13 Lions that roar and rip apart their prey bare their teeth at me.

14 My strength has drained away like water, and all my bones have detached. My inner-self feels like molten wax; it dissolves within me.
15 I feel utterly parched, my strength gone, and I am brought low, as if crumbling back to the foundation of the earth.

16 “Wolves encircle me; hateful people form a circle around me; they have injured my hands and feet.
17 My bones are visible; individuals look at me with wide eyes and gloat.
18 They rip apart my attire and decide who owns my apparel by casting dice.
19 My Sovereign Captain, don’t stay away. You supply my power. Rush to my assistance.
20 Rescue my life from violence, my dear existence, from these wolves’ clutches.
21 Shield me from the lions’ jaws; protect me from the untamed oxen’s prongs. You have replied to my intervention!

22 “I will proclaim Your Name to my brothers and sing Your praises among the ensovereigned lifestyle community.
23 All who respect the Sovereign Captain acclaim Him! All offspring of Jacob, give Him honor! Stand in awe of Him, all progeny of Israel!
24 He did not ignore or belittle the affliction of the distressed individual; He did not turn His face away but responded to the intervention for assistance.

25 “The motivation for my adoration originates from You; in the presence of those who elevate You, I will uphold my commitments.
26 Oppressed individuals will eat until they are full; those who look to the Preeminent Sovereign will honor Him—may your inner selves thrive indefinitely!

27 Every corner of the world will recall and return to the Sovereign Captain. All peoples of the nations will prostrate in adoration before Him.
28 The right to rule belongs to the Sovereign Captain, who governs all nations.

29 “Every affluent individual on Earth will partake and express reverence; all those heading to their earthly end will prostrate before Him—even those incapable of preserving their existence.
30 The people in the future will express joyful adoration to Him; the Sovereign Captain’s story will be handed down to the next era.
31 His integrid activations will be announced to those not yet born, declaring: ‘He has accomplished it. ’”

§ 18200 PROCLAMATION SONG 23

(A Davidic proclamation song.)

23 “The Sovereign Captain is my guide and provider; I have all I need. He gives me rest in peaceful parks, leads me along calm streets, and restores my spirit. He directs me through the maze of life’s challenges for the sake of His purpose. Even when I walk through the shadowed alleys of danger, I will not be afraid, for you are with me; your protection and support give me peace."

5 You arrange a feast for me within sight of my adversaries. You invigorate my mind with inspiration, causing my life to overflow with empowerment.
6 Undoubtedly, Your kindness and fidelity will stay with me for the rest of my life, and my residence shall be the fortress of the Sovereign Captain eternally. “

§ 18210 PROCLAMATION SONG 24

(A Davidic proclamation song)

24 The planet and everything in it belong to the Sovereign Captain, including our world and all its inhabitants.
2 He established its foundations on the oceans and set it firmly on the waters.
3 Who may ascend the Sovereign Captain’s celestial elevation? Who can stand in His Exalted Space?
4 Those with unblemished hands and an innocent inner-self who do not trust in idolized deities or swear deceitfully by a counterfeit deity.
5 They will receive goodwill from the Sovereign Captain and justification from the Preeminent Sovereign who delivers them.
6 This is the destiny of those who diligently seek Him and the presence of the Preeminent Sovereign of Jacob.
7-10 “Open wide, entryways; make way, timeless doors, for the majestic leader to arrive. Who is this majestic leader? The Sovereign Captain, powerful and invincible, the Sovereign Captain, victorious in every conflict.

§ 18220 PROCLAMATION SONG 25

(From David)

25 “Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, I place my confidence in Your hands.
2 I confide in You, my Preeminent Sovereign; don’t allow me to be humiliated, nor let my enemies revel in my defeat.
3 Those who wait on You will not be humiliated, but those who defy without reason will be disgraced.
4 Captain, make me understand Your ways and educate me on Your lifestyle pathways.
5 Direct me in Your integrity and instruct me, for You are the Preeminent Sovereign who redeems me. My trust lies in You throughout the day.
6 Captain, call to mind Your abundant compassion and unfailing love, for they have existed since long ago.
7 Ignore the transgressions of my early years and my disobedient actions; based on Your mercy, keep me in mind because You, Captain, epitomize kindness.
8 The Sovereign Captain is authentic and integrid; He shows transgressors the proper path.
9 He directs those with humility who seek integrity. He imparts to them His path.
10 The Sovereign Captain’s undying love and reliability lead every path for those who adhere to His solemn agreement and statutes.
11 Captain, please absolve my unworthy choices in the interest of Your reputation, acknowledging their magnitude.
12 Who are the individuals who acclaim the Sovereign Captain? He will enlighten them on the paths they ought to choose.
13 They will enjoy a prosperous life, and their children will receive the land the Preeminent Sovereign promised.

14 The Sovereign Captain shares His plans with those who reverence Him, teaching them about His solemn agreement.
15 I continuously look towards the Sovereign Captain, as He can exclusively free my feet from entrapment.
16 Show Your mercy and care towards me, as I am isolated and suffering.
17 Set my inner-self free from distress and deliver me from suffering.
18 Consider my suffering and misery; forgive all my transgressions.
19 Consider how vastly my adversaries have multiplied and the intensity of their hostility towards me.
20 Preserve my inner existence and redeem me; avoid letting me face disgrace as I find a fortress in You.
21 Let integrity and justice guard me as I trust You, Captain.
22 O my Preeminent Sovereign, liberate Israel from all its troubles!

§ 18230 PROCLAMATION SONG 26

(From David)

26 "Declare my innocence, My Sovereign Captain, for I have pursued a life of integrity, placed my confidence in the Eternal Reality, and never wavered.
2 Captain, put me to the test, cross-examine me, and judge my inner motives and thoughts.
3 I know Your steadfast love and have conducted my life with Your ultimate authenticity.
4 I don't spend time with people who tell lies, nor do I keep company with pretenders.
5 I detest the congregation of wrongdoers and decline to associate with those unaligned with the lifestyle of the Eternal Reality.
6 I cleanse my hands, proving my innocence, and proceed around your pedestal table, My Sovereign Captain,
7 voicing my gratitude loudly while narrating all Your marvelous activations.
8 Sovereign, I adore the fortress that is Your home, where Your brilliancy resides.
9 Please do not destroy my life along with the impure, nor kill me with those who thirst for blood,
10 those who harbor evil plans in their grasp and have hands bursting with bribe money.
11 I walk in my integrity, rescue me, and show me kindness.
12 I am secure and unwavering; I will praise the Sovereign Captain in the ensovereigned lifestyle community.

§ 18240 PROCLAMATION SONG 27

(From David)

27 The Sovereign Captain is my guiding light and my rescuer—why should I be afraid? The Sovereign Captain is my refuge and strength—there's no one I need to fear.
2 When the impure came to consume my flesh, my adversaries and foes faltered and collapsed.
3 Even if an army surrounds me, my inner-self will not fear; even if conflict erupts, my trust remains unshaken.
4 My sole request from the Sovereign Captain is to inhabit His fortress throughout my life, to marvel at His celestial splendor, and to seek His guidance within His exalted fortress.
5 During adversity, He will protect me in His fortress, conceal me within His Exalted Tent, and position me atop a boulder.
6 My head will be raised high over my adversaries; in His exalted fortress, I will offer absolving payments with joyful shouts and sing and create melodies to honor the Sovereign Captain.

7 Listen to my intervention, Captain; show favor and respond to the melding of my consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign.
8 My inner-self prompts me to search for Him. “Your presence, My Sovereign Captain, is what I desire.”
9 Don’t conceal Your presence or push Your servant aside in wrath; You have always been my aid. Don’t discard or abandon me, my Preeminent Sovereign, my Deliverer.
10 Even if my parents leave me, the Sovereign Captain will care for me.
11 Captain, instruct me in Your way and guide me along a straight path in light of those who oppress me.
12 Don’t hand me over to the whims of my adversaries, for they bear false witness and are verbally confrontational in their unfounded claims.
13 I will surely experience the Sovereign Captain’s transformative generosity in the living realm.
14 Put your hope in the Sovereign Captain; remain courageous and let your inner-self be resilient; yes, put your hope in the Sovereign Captain.

§ 18250 PROCLAMATION SONG 28

(From David)

28 I implore you, Captain, my stronghold, do not disregard my appeal. If You withhold Your response, I will be like those plunging into the grave.
2 “Listen to my intervention for transformative generosity when I seek Your assistance as I raise my hands towards Your supremely exalted fortress.”
3 “Refrain from associating me with the impure and those who practice corruption, converse amiably with those close to them, yet foster hatred deep within.”
4 “Recompense them according to their actions and the hostility of their undertakings; let them face the consequences of their handiwork and impose their rightfully earned punishment on them.”
5 “Since they neglect the actions of the Sovereign Captain and the accomplishments of His hands, He will disassemble them and not restore them.”
6 The Sovereign Captain deserves acknowledgment and listened to my compassionate intervention.
7 Yahweh serves as my strength and protector. My inner-self confides in Him, and I am aided.
My inner-self overflows with happiness, and I express my gratitude through a song of acclaim and thanksgiving.
8 The Sovereign Captain provides power to His populace as a saving refuge for His ensovereigned one.
9 Defend Your people, Captain, empower those who belong to You, guide them like a keeper, and take care of them for all time.

§ 18260 PROCLAMATION SONG 29

(A proclamation song of David)

29 “Attribute to the Sovereign Captain, you celestial entities, attribute to the Eternal Reality majesty and might.
2 Give the Sovereign Captain the honor that His Name merits; elevate the Sovereign Captain amid the brilliance of His exalted purity.

3 The resounding echo of the Sovereign Captain has been heard across the oceans; the glorious Preeminent Sovereign roars like thunder, and the Eternal Reality's powerful voice booms over the vast waters.
4 The Sovereign Captain's shout is potent; His voice resounds with grandeur.
5 The sound of the Sovereign Captain shatters the cedar trees; the Eternal Reality splinters the famed cedars of Lebanon.
6 Lebanon is caused to jump around as if it were a calf by Him, and Sirion behaves like a juvenile wild ox.
7 The Sovereign Captain's exclamation initiates lightning's sparkles.
8 Yahweh's utterance jolts the wilderness; Yahweh sends tremors through the wilderness of Kadesh.
9 The Sovereign Captain's utterance contorts the mighty oaks and lays the woodlands bare while everyone in His fortress proclaims, 'Acclaim!'.
10 The Preeminent Sovereign presides over the deluge indeed. He reigns as an Eternal Reality.
11 The Sovereign Captain endows His people with strength; He gives His people tranquility."

§ 18270 PROCLAMATION SONG 30

(A hymn for the fortress' dedication. From David.)

30 My Sovereign Captain, You have elevated me and prevented my enemies from celebrating over me; therefore, I will champion You.
2 O Yahweh, my Preeminent Sovereign, I pleaded with You, and You restored my health.
3 Captain, You led my inner-self out from the Underworld; You prevented me from descending into the abyss.
4 O chosen ones belonging to the Sovereign Captain, sing His praises and honor His Exalted Name.
5 His wrath is fleeting, yet His transformative generosity endures a lifetime; sorrow may persist through the night, yet elation welcomes the dawn.
6 I declared, "I shall never falter."
7 Captain, when You have given Your favor on me, You rendered my governance mountain unshakeable; nevertheless, when You concealed Your countenance, I was filled with trepidation.
8 I cried out to You, Captain, pleading for Your compassion and forgiveness.
9 "What benefits arise if I descend to the Pit if rendered mute? Can dust sing Your praises? Can it proclaim Your unwavering loyalty?
10 Listen and be generous to me, Captain; act as my helper.
11 You transformed my lament into a joyful dance; You took away my mourning attire and outfitted me with happiness.
12 So that my inner-self may vocalize Your commendations without ceasing, My Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, I will eternally express my gratitude to You.

§ 18280 PROCLAMATION SONG 31

(For the choir conductor. A Davidic proclamation song.)

31 I have sought refuge in You, My Sovereign Captain; never let me be ashamed; preserve me by Your integrity.

2 Listen closely to me, hasten to provide aid, be my solid Rock, a fortified citadel to secure my redemption.
3 You are my stronghold and Rock; lead and mentor me for the majesty of Your Name.
4 You are my refuge, so You set me free from the net set to trap me.
5 I entrust my inner-self into Your care; redeem me, My Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign who never fails.
6 I detest those who stick to futile idolized deities; however, I rely on the Sovereign Captain.
7 I will rejoice and celebrate in Your steadfast love as You have perceived my misery and understood the distress of my inner-self.
8 You haven't handed me over to my foes. Instead, You've established my stand in an expansive area.
9 Show compassion towards me, Captain, since I am undergoing hardship; my vision blurs from despair, and my inner-self and physique are burdened with sorrow.
10 Sorrow erodes my existence, and years of lamenting wear me down; unworthy choices deplete my power, and my bones crumble.
11 All my adversaries have led to my disgrace among my neighbors and caused fear in my closest allies; those who encounter me on the street tend to avoid me.
12 I am disregarded as if I were deceased; I resemble shattered ceramics.
13 I hear numerous slanderous rumors; dread is omnipresent! They conspire against me and strategize to end my existence.

14 My trust lies in You, Captain; I proclaim, "You are my Eternal Reality."
15 The course of my life is under Your control; rescue me from the clutches of my adversaries, from those who are relentlessly chasing me.
16 Smile on Your servant; deliver me because of Your loving loyalty.
17 May I not experience humiliation, Captain, as I've echoed my pleas. Instead, let the transgressors face disgrace and remain muted in the Afterlife.
18 May the deceitful tongues be quieted as they audaciously defame the authentic with arrogance and contempt.
19 How extraordinary is Your transformative generosity, which You have provided for those who fear You, and which You have given to those who seek refuge in You in front of the sons of humanity!
20 You ballistic shield them from all human schemes in the secret territory of Your presence; You maintain their safety in Your fortress, away from slanderous words.
21 Give acclaim to the Sovereign Captain, as He remarkably showed His unfailing affection when I was trapped in an embattled city.
22 In my fear, I believed I was concealed from Your gaze! However, my intervention for mercy was heard when I contacted You for support.
23 To all the chosen ones: express your affection for the Sovereign Captain! The Eternal Reality safeguards those who maintain their loyalty, but He fully reimburses the arrogance of the proud.
24 Be courageous and bolster your inner-self, all who trust the Sovereign Captain.

§ 18290 PROCLAMATION SONG 32

(From David. A Maskil)

32 How fortunate is the individual whose wrongdoings are pardoned and whose transgressions are concealed!

2 Fortunate is the individual the Sovereign Captain does not accuse of unworthy choices and in whose inner-self there is no dishonesty.
3 While I remained quiet, my body deteriorated due to my constant lamenting throughout the entire day.
4 Your hand weighed heavily on me day and night. My vitality drained away as though in the sweltering heat of summer. Selah
5 I admitted my wrongdoings to You, not attempting to hide my faults; I proclaimed that I would declare my misdeeds to the Sovereign Captain. And You absolved the shame of my unworthy choices.
6 So, every person of trust should seek melding of their conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign when You can be found; indeed, when the surge of powerful tides rises, You will not get to them.
7 You serve as my secret hideaway; you guard me from difficulties and encompass me with songs of redemption.
8 Says the Sovereign Captain, “I will make you wise and show you the path to tread. I will guide you while keeping a careful watch on you.
9 Avoid behaving like the horse or mule, devoid of understanding, which requires control through a bit and bridle, or else they won’t approach you.”
10 Impure people endure much pain, but His enduring love constantly envelops the one who trusts the Sovereign Captain.
11 Revel in the Sovereign Captain and express your delight. You are just individuals; bring forth jubilant melodies, all of you with authentic inner selves!

§ 18300 PROCLAMATION SONG 33

33 Rejoice in music to the Sovereign Captain, those on the rightful path; it’s fitting for the authentic to praise Him.
2 Acknowledge the Sovereign Captain with the harp; play melodies for Him on the ten-stringed lyre.
3 Sing new songs of acclaim; perform excellently and shout joyfully.
4 The Sovereign Captain’s declarations are accurate and authentic; His actions are reliable and just.
5 The Sovereign Captain loves what is right and fair; His steadfast love fills the world.
6 The Sovereign Captain’s authority created the celestial realms, and His whispers brought celestial bodies into existence.
7 He contains the sea waters and secures oceanic depths in vaults.
8 All people should hold the Sovereign Captain in high regard and be in awe of Him.
9 He spoke, and everything materialized; He decreed, and it stood firm.
10 The Sovereign Captain nullifies nations’ schemes and impedes the masses’ intentions.
11 The Sovereign Captain’s intentions are eternal; His designs persist through all ages.
12 Fortunate is the country that acknowledges the Sovereign Captain as their Preeminent Sovereign, the community He chose as His inheritance.
13-14 The Sovereign Captain watches humanity from His celestial realm.
15 He molds each person’s inner-self and considers all their efforts.
16 His armed forces don’t redeem a Prime Ruler; his might doesn’t help a fighter evade capture.
17 Trusting a horse for rescue is futile; its power doesn’t provide redemption.
18 The Sovereign Captain’s gaze is on those who elevate Him and trust His boundless kindness.
19 He redeems them from Death and sustains them in scarcity.
20 Our inner selves await the Sovereign Captain earnestly. He is our aide and safeguard.

21 Our inner selves delight in Him as we rely on His Exalted Name.
22 Captain, let Your constant love surround us, for our hopes are in You alone.

§ 18310 PROCLAMATION SONG 34

(From David, when he pretended to be insane in front of Abimelech so that the Prime Ruler would drive him out.)

34 I will always bless the Sovereign Captain; His praise will always be on my lips.
2 I will boast exclusively in the Sovereign Captain. Let those who suffer hear this and be filled with delight.
3 "Join me in spreading the news; let's elevate His Name."
4 I turned to the Sovereign Captain for help; He heard me and saved me from everything I feared.
5 Individuals who seek His guidance glimmer with elation. Disgrace will never tarnish their faces.
6 This distressed individual pleaded, and the Eternal Reality listened; He rescued him from every crisis.
7 The Celestial Envoy of the Eternal Reality forms a protective circle around those who elevate Him, saving them from harm.
8 Experience that the Preeminent Sovereign is kind and fortunate in the individual who finds shelter in Him.
9 "Elevate the Eternal Reality," His chosen ones. Those who respect Him are never in need.
10 Even mighty lions may be in need and suffer from hunger. Still, those pursuing the Sovereign Captain will not be barren of anything valuable.
11 Gather around, my young ones; let me instruct you about the reverence for the Sovereign Captain.
12 Any of you who cherish vitality and want to testify numerous joyful moments, 13 ensure that your tongue refrains from malicious talk and your lips avoid speaking falsehoods.
14 Avoid impurity and engage in integrid acts; strive for peace and work actively towards it.

15 The Sovereign Captain watches over those who do what is right and always listens to their pleas.
16 However, the Sovereign Captain opposes those who commit hateful acts, aiming to obliterate their existence from the world.
17 When individuals uphold their integrity and call out, the Sovereign Captain is responsive; He sets them free from all their challenges.
18 The Preeminent Sovereign is near those suffering disappointments and rescues those whose inner selves have been humbled and thoroughly crushed.
19 An authentic individual often faces numerous difficulties, yet Eternal Reality's help from the Sovereign Captain ensures an escape from each predicament.
20 He safeguards everyone of his bones, ensuring none get fractured.
21 The impure will be slaughtered by evil and those who despise the goodwill face punishment.
22 The Eternal Reality liberates His pathseekers; no seeking a fortress in Him will face judgment.

§ 18320 PROCLAMATION SONG 35

(From David)

35 “Captain, oppose those who oppose me; fight against my attackers.
2 Grasp your ballistic shield and protective gear. Rise and help me.
3 Wield your tactical bayonet and long-range ballistic weapon to confront my pursuers. Assure me, ‘I am your deliverance. ’
4 Let those seeking my life be humiliated and dishonored. Those plotting my downfall should retreat in shame.
5 May they be like husks blown by the wind, with the Sovereign Captain’s Celestial Envoy chasing them away.
6 Let their path be dark and treacherous as the Celestial Envoy of the Sovereign Captain pursues them.

7 Without cause, they set a trap and dug a pit for me.
8 Let sudden ruin overtake them; may the trap they set ensnare them, leading to their destruction.
9 My inner-self will delight in the Sovereign Captain, celebrating His deliverance.
10 Every fiber of my being will declare, ‘There is none like you, My Sovereign Captain. You protect the needy from those overpowering them, the impoverished from those who plunder them. ’
11 Malicious individuals step forward, interrogating me on unknown matters.
12 They return harm for the kindness I’ve shown, rendering my inner-self desolate.
13 I donned mourning attire and disciplined myself by skipping meals when they were wrong. Yet my pleas came back unanswered.
14 I paced around as if grieving over a friend or sibling, my head bowed in sorrow as if lamenting my mother’s passing.
15 When I stumbled, they celebrated with delight; attackers I was unaware of assembled against me. They continuously spread lies about me.
16 They derided me with evil, like those without reverence for the Eternal Reality. They ground their teeth at me.
17 Captain, how long will you merely observe? Safeguard my life from their destruction, my valuable life from these predatory lions.
18 In the ensovereigned lifestyle community, I will express my gratitude to you amidst the multitude and acclaim you.
19 Prevent those who have no basis for their hostility towards me from celebrating my downfall. Do not let those who despise me for no valid reason sneer at me with contempt.
20 They aren’t advocating for peace. Instead, they fabricate untrue charges against the serene inhabitants of the territory.
21 They mock me, exclaiming, ‘Yes, yes! We’ve witnessed it ourselves. ’

22 Almighty, You have witnessed this; do not withhold Your words. Do not distance Yourself from me, Eternal Reality.
23 Rouse Yourself; fight for me, Captain, and Preeminent Sovereign.
24 Defend me by Your integrity, My Sovereign Captain, and prevent them from rejoicing at my expense.
25 Prevent them from thinking, ‘Yes, exactly what we desired!’ or saying, ‘We have devoured him. ’

26 Let those who delight in my adversity be disgraced and confounded; those who elevate themselves over me be humiliated and scorned.
27 May those who celebrate my integrity cheer and be happy; let them perpetually proclaim that the Sovereign Captain is highly esteemed; He takes delight in the prosperity of His attendant.
28 My language shall continuously express Your integrity and applaud You throughout the day."

§ 18330 PROCLAMATION SONG 36

(David, the Sovereign Captain's servant, wrote a proclamation song for the choir conductor.)

36 "Regarding the transgression of the vile man, I have a vision in my inner-self that reportedly says there is no dread of the Preeminent Sovereign before his eyes."
2 His eyes are so self-absorbed that they fail to recognize and despise his wrongdoings.
3 The expressions on his lips are malicious and deceptive; he has abandoned the pursuit of wisdom and goodness.
4 Even when he rests, he conspires wickedly, engages in a corrupt path, and doesn't dismiss what is erroneous.

5 "Your steadfast affection, Captain, extends to the celestial realms; Your loyalty touches the clouds.
6 Your goodness is as towering as the mightiest mountains, Your judgments as profound as the deepest ocean. Captain, You safeguard both humans and creatures.
7 Your steadfast love is invaluable, Preeminent Sovereign. Individuals find safety under the protection of Your wings.
8-9 They thrive on the abundance of your community; you refresh them with boundless streams of joy. With you is the source of all vitality; in your guidance, we find clarity.

10 Persist with Your affection towards those aware of You, Your ultimate authenticity towards those with an integrid inner-self.
11 Let not the steps of arrogance overrun me, nor the deeds of the unjust propel me away.
12 Observe how the agents of impurity have been overthrown, pushed down, and incapable of standing up again!"

§ 18340 PROCLAMATION SONG 37

(From David)

37 "Don't let the actions of impure people trouble you, nor yearn to be like those engaged in wrongdoings.
2 They will quickly fade away as the grass does and wilt like the green herbs.
3 Put your trust in the Sovereign Captain and work for good; settle in the land and cultivate fidelity.
4 Find delight in the Sovereign Captain; He will grant you what your inner-self desires.
5 Entrust your future to the Sovereign Captain; have confidence in Him, and He will act on your behalf.
6 Your integrid reward will radiate like the dawn, and your justification will sparkle like the sun at noon.

7 Be calm in the presence of the Sovereign Captain; permit yourself patience for His actions, and avoid agitation when others attain prosperity through their nefarious plots.
8 Abstain from outrage and dump anger. Don't be disturbed; it tends solely to wrongdoing.
9 Those who engage in impure actions will face devastation. In contrast, those who trust the Sovereign Captain will receive the land as their inheritance.
10 In a short time, man's fullness of unworthy choices will cease to exist; even if you search for them, their presence will not be detected.
11 But those with a humble inner-self shall possess the Earth and enjoy its abundance of prosperity.
12 Evil individuals scheme against the authentic, showing aggression through gritting teeth.
13 Yet, the Sovereign Captain giggles at the evildoers as He knows their day of judgment approaches.
14 Evil individuals unsheath their weapons and prepare their projectile launchers, aiming to oppress and eradicate the impoverished and helpless, particularly those with authentic and honest conduct.
15 However, their weapons shall be thrust into their inner selves, and their markmanship gear will be shattered.
16 It is preferable to have fewer authentic people than many impure people in large quantities.
17 The Sovereign Captain upholds those full of integrity, but the power of the impure shall be destroyed.
18 The Sovereign Captain knows the innocent's days; their inheritance is perpetual.
19 They will remain unscathed during periods of catastrophe and still have an abundance when facing food scarcity.

20 Indeed, counterfeit individuals will be no more: Even though the adversaries of the Sovereign Captain could be as beautiful as the flowers in the meadow, they will be destroyed, disappearing as if in a puff of smoke.
21 Evil individuals take loans but fail to return them. However, authentic beings are generous in their giving.
22 Individuals favored by the Sovereign Captain will possess the Earth, but those He curses will be wiped out.
23 The Sovereign Captain stabilizes the path of the individual who finds delight in Him.
24 Even if he trips, he won't be ultimately brought down because the Sovereign Captain provides support through His hand.
25 I have yet to witness authentic people abandoned or their offspring pleading for sustenance from my youth to my present age.
26 They continuously display kindness and give liberally. Their offspring turn out to be a joyful empowerment.
27 To ensure your eternal presence, turn away from evil and pursue good.
28 The Sovereign Captain cherishes fairness and will never abandon those loyal to Him. Those who act unjustly will face destruction; the descendants of evil individuals will meet their end.
29 Those authentic shall take ownership of the Earth and establish their residence eternally.
30 Those who are upright dispense wisdom, and their language expresses fairness.
31 His steps never waver because he carries the Mosaic Law of his Preeminent Sovereign in his inner-self.
32 Those who are evil hide and wait for the people aligned with the Sovereign's lifestyle to kill them.
33 However, the Eternal Reality will not abandon them to the control of the evil ones, nor will He allow them to be found guilty when they face judgment.

34 Trust the Sovereign Captain and follow His path. He will elevate you to take possession of the land; on the demise of the impure, you will witness it.
35 I once observed an unkind and merciless individual thriving like a verdant tree in its homeland.
36 He vanished in no time and ceased to exist; although I sought out him, his whereabouts couldn't be discovered.
37 Think about the innocent and see those full of integrity, for the man of peace is coming for posterity.
38 All wrongdoers will be eliminated. There will be no tomorrow for the evil ones.
39 The Sovereign Captain grants the redemption of authentic individuals. He provides them with strength and refuge in times of distress.
40 Yahweh aids and rescues them, providing redemption from evil as they find shelter in His presence."

§ 18350 PROCLAMATION SONG 38

(A proclamation song of David, for memories)

38 "Almighty, please don't criticize me in Your fury or chastise me in Your anger.
2 Your projectiles have sunk into me, and Your hand has pressed on me.
3 Due to Your anger, my physical health is compromised; my bones lack strength due to my transgressions.
4 My wrongdoings have stacked higher than my head; they weigh too much for me, making it unbearable.
5 My injuries are infected and beginning to smell due to my reckless stupidity.
6 I am utterly sagging and prostrate; I spend the entire day walking around in sorrow.
7 My body suffers from intense agony; there's no wellness left in it.

8 I am exhausted and greatly devastated. My inner-self's turmoil makes me moan in pain.
9 Captain, all my desires are known to You; my groans do not escape Your notice.
10 My inner-self races, my energy leaves me, and even the brightness of my eyes has faded.
11 Because of my sickness, those close to me steer clear, and my nearby residents maintain a significant distance.
12 Individuals seeking to end my life lay their snares; those with the intent to injure me speak of my destruction; they constantly plot and deceive.
13 However, I am silent like a speechless guy and deaf like a man who cannot hear.
14 Indeed, I am just like a person incapable of hearing and unable to respond.
15 Captain, my anticipation lies with You; My Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, surely You will respond.
16 I declared, 'Prevent them from celebrating or boasting over my misstep. '
17 I am on the verge of collapsing, with my suffering persistently attending me.
18 I admit my wrongdoings and transgressions cause me distress.
19 Numerous individuals have become my adversaries for no apparent reason; the count of those who detest me groundlessly is extensive.
20 Those who reciprocate my generosity with malevolence falsely accuse me even though my only aim is to commit authentic deeds.
21 My Sovereign Captain, do not desert me; please stay close to me, my Preeminent Sovereign.
22 Hurry and assist me, My Sovereign Captain, my Redeemer."

§ 18360 PROCLAMATION SONG 39

(For the choir conductor. Regarding Jeduthun. A Davidic proclamation song.)

39 “I shall wear a muzzle to protect my mouth as long as evil people are around. I will watch my ways so I will not commit an unworthy choice with my tongue,” I stated.
2 So, I remained quiet, refraining from saying anything worthwhile, yet my distress escalated.
3 Inside me, my inner-self heated up. As I pondered, a flame sparked, following which I voiced my thoughts:
4 “Captain, enlighten me about the duration of my existence and the count of my days so I realize the transient nature of my existence.
5 My days are limited to a simple handbreadth; my existence is insignificant in Your sight. Every living being is merely a vapor, including those who trust they are stable. Selah 6 Indeed, all people walk about like a mere shadow; fruitlessly, they hustle, amassing riches without awareness of the ultimate heir.
7 At this point, what am I waiting for, Captain? My confidence resides in You.
8 Rescue me from everyone of my unworthy choices; avoid making me a subject of ridicule among the unwise.
9 I remained mute; I refrained from speaking, as You are responsible for this situation.
10 Cease Your torment on me; I am caving into the force of your thrashing.
11 When you chastise and correct an individual for their wrongdoing, their prosperity is consumed like a victim of a moth. Indeed, each person’s existence is merely a puff of air. Selah 12 Listen to my intervention, Almighty. Pay Heed to my desperate cry; do not ignore my tearful sighs. I exist among You as a temporary resident, an Outsider, just as all my forebears did.
13 Shift Your stare away from me so I can regain my delight and smile again before I leave this world and cease to exist.”

§ 18370 PROCLAMATION SONG 40

(For the choir conductor. A proclamation song of David.)

40 I waited patiently for the Sovereign Captain; He heard my intervention and inclined His ear to me.
2 He rescued me from the scary pit, the muck, and the mire; He provided me with a stable surface on which to stand.
3 He put a new song in my inner-self, a hymn of acclaim to our Preeminent Sovereign. Many will see and elevate the Sovereign Captain, placing their trust in Him.
4 Fortunate is the one who trusts in the Sovereign Captain and does not turn to the proud or those who follow falsehoods.
5 My Sovereign Captain, my Preeminent Sovereign, You have done many marvelous deeds and planned great things for us. There is none like You; I could not begin to recount the multitude of Your acts if I tried.
6 You did not desire absolving payments or offerings, but You have opened my ears. You did not require scorched absolving payments or transgression offerings.
7 I said, “Here I am—I have come—it is written about me in the Living Word.
8 I delight in doing Your will, O my Preeminent Sovereign; Your teachings are within my inner-self.
9 In the ensovereigned lifestyle community, I have proclaimed Your acts of Redemption; I have not sealed my lips, as You know, Captain.

10 I have not hidden Your integrity within my inner-self; I have spoken of Your loyalty and redemption. I have not concealed Your love or authenticity from the ensovereigned lifestyle community.
11 Captain, do not withhold Your mercy from me; may Your love and ultimate authenticity always protect me.

12 Troubles without number surround me; my unworthy choices have overtaken me, and I cannot see. They are more than the hairs of my head, and my inner-self fails within me.
13 Captain, be pleased to save me; come quickly, Captain, to help me.
14 I intervene that everyone who tries to kill me is humiliated and confused and that everyone who wants me to fail is turned around in shame.
15 May those who say to me, ‘Aha! Aha!’ be appalled at their shame.
16 But may all who seek You rejoice and be glad in You; may those who long for Your help always say, ‘the Sovereign Captain is great!’
17 But as for me, I am poor and needy; may the Eternal Reality think of me. You are my help and deliverer, my Preeminent Sovereign—do not delay.

§ 18380 PROCLAMATION SONG 41

(For the choir conductor. A proclamation song of David.)

41 Fortunate are those who empathize with the helpless; the Sovereign Captain rescues them in critical times.
2 Yahweh safeguards and maintains them; they are considered among the fortunate in the territory, and He doesn’t surrender them to the whims of their adversaries.
3 The Sovereign Captain gives them strength on their bed of sickness when they are ill, transforming their health condition.
4 I implored You, “Show compassion towards me, My Sovereign Captain; restore my health, acknowledging that I have transgressed against You.”
5 Those who despise me maliciously question when I will pass away, causing my reputation to fade.
6 When people visit me, they utter untruths, and their inner-self accumulates defamatory gossip; they disseminate it widely on leaving.
7 All those who despise me conspire in unison against me; they envision the most terrible outcome for me, suggesting,

8 “He has contracted a hideous illness; he is incapable of rising from his stricken position!”
9 Even my best companion, the one I confided in, who partook in my meals, has betrayed me.
10 Captain, grant your compassion on me; rejuvenate me so I can repay them.
11 You delight in me, seeing as my adversary hasn’t won a victory over me.
12 You have supported me due to my honesty and allowed me to stand eternally in Your presence.
13 The Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, deserves eternal honor. Let it be so, now and forever.

§ 18390 PROCLAMATION SONG 42

(For the choir conductor. One of Korah's sons' Maskils.)

42 Like someone parched and searching for a hydration station, my soul longs for you, my Sovereign Captain. My inner self craves connection to the life-renewing presence of the Eternal Reality.
3 Day and night, my tears have been my only sustenance while people constantly ask, "Where is your Eternal Reality?"
4 As I pour out my inner-self, I remember leading the procession to the Preeminent Sovereign's fortress with shouts of acclaim and delight among the multitude.
5 Why are you so dejected, my inner-self? Why such unrest within me? Place your trust in the Preeminent Sovereign; I will still praise Him, my Deliverer and Eternal Reality.
6 My inner-self is deeply dissatisfied; therefore, I bring You to mind from the land of Jordan, the peaks of Hermon, and Mount Mizar.
7 One profound depth calls to another at the thunder of Your cascades. All Your waves and surges have engulfed me.

8 The Sovereign Captain guides His affection during the day. In the evening, His melody accompanies me, melding my conscience with the Preeminent Sovereign who gives me life.
9 I ask the Eternal Reality, my sturdy Rock, "Why am I neglected? Why must adversaries torment me as I wander in sadness?"
10 The torment to my bones is unbearable as my adversaries mock me, incessantly asking, "Where is your Preeminent Sovereign?"
11 My inner-self, why are you so sad? Why are you so troubled deep inside me? Hope in the Preeminent Sovereign; I will have reason to praise Him again; He is my Redeemer and Eternal Reality.

§ 18400 PROCLAMATION SONG 43

43 Graciously stand up for me, my Preeminent Sovereign, and argue my case against those opposed to the Sovereign Lifestyle of His chosen people. Safeguard me from those who practice deceit and embrace impurity.
2 "You, the authentic Preeminent Sovereign, are my fortress. Why have You disregarded me? Why must I wander in sadness, burdened by the cruelty of my antagonists?"
3 "Let Your ultimate authenticity and light guide me; send them forth. Permit them to take me to Your fortress and exalted mountain."
4 "I will approach the pedestal table of the Preeminent Sovereign to the Eternal Reality, who is the source of my happiness and pleasure. I will use the harp to praise You, my Preeminent Sovereign, my Eternal Reality."
5 "Why does my inner-self feel so lonely? Why is there such turmoil within me? I should place my hope in the Preeminent Sovereign. I will praise Him again; He is my Redeemer and Eternal Reality."

§ 18410 PROCLAMATION SONG 44

(For the choir conductor. One of Korah's sons' Maskils.)

44 "O my Preeminent Sovereign, we've heard from our fathers about Your deeds in their days.
2 With Your might, You expelled nations and established our forefathers; You subdued the populace and enabled our ancestry to prosper.
3 Their land acquisition wasn't due to their tactical blade's might or power but Your formidable hand, strength, and the glow of Your presence, showing Your affection for them.
4 My Preeminent Sovereign, You're my Eternal Reality; Your directives lead Jacob's people to triumph.
5 With Your help, we repel our adversaries by Your Name and stomp down those tormenting us.
6 I don't rely on my projectile launcher or tactical blade for victory.
7 You rescue us from our foes, causing those who oppose us to be disgraced.
8 Our pride is in our Preeminent Sovereign all day, and Your Name will be appreciated forever.
9 However, You've turned away from us and left us degraded; You don't accompany our assault troops anymore.
10 You've caused us to retreat from our oppressors, and those who despise us have ransacked our possessions.
11 You permitted us to be eaten like sheep and dispersed us across the globe.
12 You traded Your people for a trivial amount and earned no profit from their transactions.

13 You've made us a laughing stock to our neighbors, a subject of mockery and ridicule by those around us.
14 You've turned us into an object lesson for other nations. They scornfully shake their heads at us.
15 All day long, I dwell in humiliation as shame masks my face,
16 due to the scorn and defamation of those who oppose me and the adversary's intent to retaliate.
17 Despite all that has occurred, we have not neglected You; we have remained authentic to Your solemn agreement.
18 We have not allowed our inner selves to waver, nor have our steps deviated from Your guidance.
19 You have distressingly crushed us in the place of jackals and enshrouded us with deep darkness.
20 If we have failed to remember the Name of our Eternal Reality or offered prayers to an unfamiliar deity, 21 would not the Preeminent Sovereign have found out, given He knows our most hidden thoughts?
22 Still, because of You, we confront mortality daily; we are regarded as sheep destined for the butcher's block.
23 Awake, My Sovereign Captain! Why are you slumbering? Arouse Yourself! Don't desert us forever.
24 Why do you turn away, ignoring our suffering and hardship?
25 We have fallen to the dust; our bodies stick to the Earth.
26 Arise, be our support, and redeem us with Your constant affection."

§ 18420 PROCLAMATION SONG 45

(For the choir conductor. With the music of “The Lilies.” One of Korah’s sons’ maskils. A song about love.)

45 A lofty theme stirs my inner-self as I read my rhymes before the Prime Ruler; my tongue has the pen of a good writer.
2 “You surpass all men magnificently, and generous words flow effortlessly from Your lips; indeed, the Preeminent Sovereign has eternally endowed you.
3-4 Equip yourself with the tools of justice, O leader of purpose; step forward with honor and integrity. Pursue truth, humility, and fairness, achieving remarkable works through your strength and wisdom.

5 May your sharpened projectiles penetrate the hearts of the Prime Ruler’s adversaries; let the countries succumb under your authority.
6 Our Preeminent Sovereign, Your reign is eternal; The power staff of integrity governs your sovereignty.
7 Your love for what is just and hatred for iniquity have led Your Preeminent Sovereign to exalt you above your peers by empowering you with abundant jubilation.
8 Your clothing is permeated with the scents of myrrh, aloes, and cassia; from ivory-decorated halls, the harmonies of string instruments bring you delight.
9 Among your respected females are the offspring of Prime Rulers; the First Lady, adorned in Ophir’s gold, stands to your right.
10 Hear this, my lady, and understand well: Disregard your relative and paternal home.
11 Let your attractiveness captivate the Prime Ruler; respect him, as he oversees you.
12 Tyre’s populace will arrive bearing gifts; affluent individuals will attempt to gain your goodwill.
13 The governor’s daughter is magnificent inside her room. Her dress is skillfully woven with threads of gold.
14 She is escorted to the Prime Ruler in beautifully adorned attire. Her maiden companions trail behind her, those who were gathered to accompany her.

15 Escorted with delight and cheer, they enter the governance palace.
16 Your heirs will follow your forefathers. You will appoint them as Prime Rulers across the globe.
17 I will ensure all future generations remember your name; accordingly, people will offer their praises to you indefinitely.”

§ 18430 PROCLAMATION SONG 46

(For the choir conductor. From Korah’s sons. As said by Alamoth. A melody.)

46 The Preeminent Sovereign is our strength, haven, and constant support throughout difficult times.
2 Even if the Earth ends and mountains tumble into the depths of the sea, we won’t be alarmed,
3 even when the mountains tremble with the surge of the roaring, foaming rivers. Selah
4 A river exists; its streams delight the Preeminent Sovereign’s city, the exalted fortress where the Most High resides.
5 The Preeminent Sovereign is within her; she will not be shaken; the Eternal Reality will support her at dawn.
6 Nations tremble, realms crumble, and land melts when He thunders.

7 The Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, is with us. The Preeminent Sovereign of Jacob is our stronghold. Selah
8 Witness the feats of the Sovereign Captain and the ravages He has inflicted on Earth.
9 He ends conflicts to the world's furthest corners. He breaks the projectile launcher, shatters the tactical bayonet, and sets ballistic shields on fire.
10 He asserts, "Be still and know that I am the Eternal Reality; I will be exalted among nations and admired throughout the Earth."

11 The Eternal Reality Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of Celestial Forces, is with us; the Preeminent Sovereign of Jacob is our stronghold.

§ 18440 PROCLAMATION SONG 47

(For the choir conductor. A proclamation song by Korah's sons.)

47 "Clap your hands, all my peoples; cry out to the Preeminent Sovereign in victory.
2 The Sovereign Captain Most High is genuinely fearsome, ruling as the magnificent Prime Ruler over the entire globe.
3 He triumphed over the nations for us, laying the peoples beneath our control.
4 He determines our heritage, the fulfillment of Jacob, a people He dearly cherishes. Selah
5 The Preeminent Sovereign has risen with a jubilant outcry, the Sovereign Captain with the resonance of trumpets.
6 Express your adoration for the Preeminent Sovereign through song, express adulation; voice your admiration to our Prime Ruler, voice your adoration.
7 Indeed, the Preeminent Sovereign reigns supremely worldwide; perform a melody of joyful adoration for Him.
8 The Preeminent Sovereign reigns over the nations. He rules from His exalted authority base.
9 Esteemed individuals from various nations unite as the pathseekers of Abraham's Preeminent Sovereign because all earthly Prime Rulers are under the Eternal Reality's authority; His magnificence is profoundly revered.

§ 18450 PROCLAMATION SONG 48

(A melody. A proclamation song by Korah's sons.)

48 In the city of our Preeminent Sovereign, on His exalted mountain, the Sovereign Captain is great and greatly to be praised.
2 City of the Eternal Reality, magnificent in its elevation, incites the delight of the entire world; reminiscent of the heights of Zaphon, it is the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign.
3 The Preeminent Sovereign is within its fortress. He has proven Himself to be its stronghold.
4 Once the Prime Rulers united, they marched in unison.
5 on seeing her, they were astonished and fled in apprehension.
6 There, they were gripped with terror, writhing in agony as a woman during childbirth.
7 Like the mightiest warships dismantled by a breath of wind, You brought them to ruin.
8 Just as we've heard, so too have we witnessed in the city of the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, within our Preeminent Sovereign's city: He ensures her steadfastness for eternity. Selah 9 O, my Preeminent Sovereign, we ponder Your constant love amid Your fortress.
10 O my Preeminent Sovereign, just as Your Name is recognized, Your admiration extends to the Earth's farthest corners; Your dominant arm is brimming with justice.

11 City of the Eternal Reality is filled with happiness; the towns of Judah celebrate due to Your rightful decisions.
12 March around the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign, make an accounting, and note all her towers.
13 Observe her defenses and tour her fortresses so you can relay their story to the forthcoming populace.
14 This One is our Preeminent Sovereign, eternally ours. He will lead us until our demise.

§ 18460 PROCLAMATION SONG 49

(For the choir conductor. A proclamation song by Korah's sons.)

49 "Listen, everyone on the planet;
2 listen, regardless of your status, whether affluent or impoverished.
3 My Path will convey wisdom, and my inner-self will guide you to discernment.
4 I will clarify my enigma through the music of a harp.
5 Why should I fear when times of hatred arrive, and dishonest scammers encircle me?
6 Individuals place confidence in their fortunes and take pride in their wealth.
7 A person cannot ransom another's life or offer the Preeminent Sovereign a satisfactory payment.
8 The price to save someone's life is too high; wealth will never fix things, 9 to persist forever and not experience the pit's corruption.
10 It's evident that the intelligent pass away just like the ignorant, giving their riches to others.
11 Their graves will forever be their homes, even though they claimed territories under their names.
12 Individuals, despite their affluence, cannot prevail. They are just like animals that expire.
13 Such is the destiny of those foolishly confident and their adherents who accept their ideas.
14 They are headed for the Underworld like sheep. Their keeper will be Death. In the morning, the integrid person will reign over them, and their bodies will wither in the Underworld, distant from their exalted fortress.
15 The Preeminent Sovereign will rescue me from Death. He will welcome me to His side.
16 Don't feel intimidated when someone acquires wealth and their home's grandeur grows.

17 When they pass away, they won't carry anything along; their glamour won't follow them.
18 In their lifetime, they consider themselves fortunate and receive accolades when they succeed.
19 They will unite with their predecessors, never to witness the illumination of their previous existence again.
20 Individuals possessing riches but devoid of comprehension are just like wild animals that meet their end."

§ 18470 PROCLAMATION SONG 50

(An Asaph Proclamation.)

50 The Eternal Reality, the Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, summons the Earth and speaks from sunrise to sunset.
2 The Preeminent Sovereign radiates His brilliance from the perfection of the beauty of the Celestial Fortress.

3 Our Preeminent Sovereign is coming and will not remain silent! A ravenous fire precedes Him, and a hurricane rages around Him.
4 He calls on the sky and the Earth to testify as He pronounces judgment on His people.
5 "Assemble this devoted group before Me, who has agreed by offering an absolving payment.
6 The celestial realms announce the Preeminent Sovereign's fairness, as He is the Eternal Reality of justice. Selah.
7 "Heed My words, My people, for I shall speak; I will testify against you, Israel: I, Your Preeminent Sovereign, am speaking."
8 I am not criticizing you for constantly offering absolving payments or your scorched offerings in front of Me.
9 I do not need to take a bull from your barn or goats from your corrals.

10 Every creature in the woods and all livestock across numerous hills already belong to Me.
11 Every mountain bird is familiar to Me, and the creatures roaming the fields belong to Me.
12 Even if I felt hungry, I wouldn't inform you, considering the Earth and everything it holds already belongs to Me.
13 Is it My habit to consume beef or drink goats' blood?
14 Instead, give a thanksgiving gift to the Preeminent Sovereign on the pedestal table, and keep your promises to the Most High.
15 When you are distressed, flag Me down; I will rescue you, and you shall celebrate Me in return.
16 To the individual acting wickedly, the Preeminent Sovereign asks: "On what grounds do you speak My laws or profess My agreement with your words?"
17 You despise My path and throw My watchwords in the trash.
18 You join forces with those who engage in an extramarital affair and become friends with thieves when you spot them.
19 You employ your speech for venom, and your language is tied to falseness.
20 You take a position of accusation against your relative and defame the offspring of your mother.
21 You committed these actions while I remained quiet, leading you to trust I was just like you.
However, I now condemn you and lay out My charges against you.
22 Reflect on this: you who disregard the Preeminent Sovereign, or I'll rip you apart, with no one to save you.
23 Those who give Thanksgiving gifts celebrate Me. I will reveal My power to deliver redemption to those who lead upright lives.

§ 18480 PROCLAMATION SONG 51

(For the choir conductor. A Davidic proclamation song. When the eternally wise servant, Nathan, visited him following his infidelity with Bathsheba.)

51 O my Preeminent Sovereign, pity me by Your tender devotion; blot out my unworthy choices by Your immense compassion.
2 Thoroughly cleanse me from my wrong-doings and make me pure again from my transgressions.
3 I recognize my faults and am always conscious of my unworthy choices.
4 It is against You and You alone that I have transgressed, committing actions full of unworthy choices in Your eyes. So, Your sentence is correct, and Your judgment is beyond reproach.
5 Indeed, I was guilty when I was born; I was full of unworthy choices from the moment my mother conceived me.

6 You teach me wisdom in the deepest area; undoubtedly, You seek ultimate authenticity in the deepest part of my inner-self.
7 Purify me with hyssop, and I shall become healthy. Cleanse me, and I shall turn out to be brighter than snow.
8 Permit me to experience happiness and delight. Allow the bones that You have shattered to celebrate.
9 Turn away Your countenance from my transgressions and erase all my wrongdoings.
10 Clear my mind of negativity, my Eternal Reality, and fill me with fresh purpose and direction in a world of distractions.
11 Please don't banish me from where You are, and do not remove Your exalted Eternal Spark from me.
12 Return the delight of Your redemption to me and provide a persistent control center within me.
13 I will instruct those who strayed from Your path, leading the wrongdoers to return to You.

14 Free me from the guilt of shedding a man's blood. O my Preeminent Sovereign, the One who saves me, and my tongue will joyfully express Your rightful relationship with me.
15 Captain, unseal my lips so my mouth can sing joyfully of Your grandeur.
16 You are not pleased merely with absolving payments. Otherwise, I would offer them scorched absolving payments, which would not delight You.
17 The Preeminent Sovereign's absolving payments are those of broken inner selves; You will not scorn a broken and contrite inner-self, my Eternal Reality.
18 May You find it in Your favor to cause the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign to thrive and fortify Yerushalayim's defenses.
19 Then bulls will be given on Your pedestal table, and You will take pleasure in whole-animal scorched absolving payments and full of integrity.

§ 18490 PROCLAMATION SONG 52

(For the director of the choir. A David Maskil. Doeg, the Edomite, tells Saul, 'David has gone to the house of Ahimelech. ')

52 O strong man, why do you boast of evil? The Preeminent Sovereign's unceasing love and devotion are evident throughout the day.
2 You who master deceit, your tongue conceives ruin; it resembles a keen-edged razor.
3 You prefer impurity to goodness and deception over speaking with honesty. Selah
4 You relish each destructive word; such dishonest speech!
5 The Preeminent Sovereign will certainly cast you into eternal devastation: He will seize and tear you from your dwelling; He will displace you from the world of the living. Selah
6 The authentic will witness and shudder; they will make fun of the evildoer and exclaim,

7 'Observe the man who strengthened himself by destruction and trusted in the abundance of his wealth rather than making the Preeminent Sovereign his refuge. '
8 Comparable to a verdant olive tree thriving in the fortress of Preeminent Sovereign, I have unwavering trust in Preeminent Sovereign's ceaseless love, now and for all eternity.
9 I will forever exalt You for Your deeds in the company of Your chosen ones. I will rest my hopes on Your reputation, for it is commendable.

§ 18500 PROCLAMATION SONG 53

(For the conductor of the choir. As said by Mahalath. A Davidic Maskil)

53 “Only foolish people would trust that no Preeminent Sovereign exists in their inner selves.
They are repulsive, their actions are awful, and no integrity is practiced.
2 ” From the celestial realms, the Preeminent Sovereign surveys humanity to discern if anyone possesses understanding or pursues Him.
3 All have deviated; everyone has become depraved; no individual performs integrity, not solitary.
4 “Are these wrongdoers completely ignorant? Such deviates consume My people as if feasting on bread, yet they fail to seek the Preeminent Sovereign’s guidance.
5 ” Yet here they are, seized with terror when there was nothing to be terrified of. The Preeminent Sovereign scattered the bones of those who besieged you. You humiliated them because the Preeminent Sovereign rejected them.
6 How I long for the liberation of Israel to emerge from the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign.
Once the Preeminent Sovereign restores the fortune of His people, may Jacob’s elation be unbounded and Israel be filled with delight!

§ 18510 PROCLAMATION SONG 54

(For the conductor of the choir. Using stringed instruments. A Davidic Maskil. When the Israelites approached Saul, they said, ‘Is David not among us?’)

54 “Through Your reputation, save me, my Preeminent Sovereign; defend me with Your power.
2 O, my Preeminent Sovereign, lend Your ear to my intervention and attend to my spoken words.
3 Insolent individuals are launching an assault on me; ruthless men are plotting my demise—individuals who have no consideration for the Preeminent Sovereign.
4 Indeed, the Preeminent Sovereign is my backer; the Sovereign Captain is the one who maintains my vitality.
5 May the hostile intentions of those who slander me backfire in Your unwavering loyalty and eradicate them.
6 Gladly, I bring my absolving payments to You; I will praise Your Name, Captain, for it is exemplary.
7 I have been rescued from all my difficulties and witnessed my adversaries’ downfall. “

§ 18520 PROCLAMATION SONG 55

(For the conductor of the choir. Using stringed instruments. A Davidic Maskil.)

55 “Hear my intervention, my Preeminent Sovereign, and do not ignore my request.
2 Listen and respond; my thoughts distress and disturb me.
3 Due to my Adversary’s harmful words and threats, they inflict distress and angrily attack me.
4 I’m suffering severe distress within; fears of death beset me.
5 Panic and trembling grip me; terror consumes me.
6 I wish for dove-like wings to soar away and find tranquility.
7 I would venture far off and reside in the wilderness. Selah
8 I would hasten to my refuge, far from the violent wind and raging tumult.

9 May the Eternal Reality confuse the wrongdoers and make their speech incomprehensible as I witness discord and aggression in the town.
10 They patrol its walls relentlessly day and night; malevolence and mistreatment are deeply ingrained within them.
11 The city is overrun by damaging powers; deception and danger persistently loom on its streets.
12 I could endure an enemy's insults and hide if a foe confronted me.
13 But it's you, a person like me, my associate, my close ally.
14 With whom I once relished delightful companionship at the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign while navigating amidst those in the melding of my consciousness with the Eternal Reality.
15 May death ambush my adversaries, and may they descend into the Afterlife while breathing, as hostility has found a home within them.
16 I will appeal to the Preeminent Sovereign, and the Sovereign Captain will deliver me.
17 I express my discomfort and distress during dusk, dawn, and midday, and He listens to my intervention.
18 Despite the vast multitude against me, He guards my inner-self, conflict-free from the warfare I am engaged in.

19 Because of their lack of respect and transformation, the Eternal Reality will hear and disgrace them, Selah.
20 The one who was once my ally has now turned against his companions. He breaks every promise he made.
21 While his speech is as silky as cream, his inner-self harbors conflict; his words might seem gentler than oil but resemble unsheathed weapons.
22 Put your worries on the Sovereign Captain. He will support you and never let those with integrity falter.
23 But You, my Preeminent Sovereign, will send them into the Pits of Destruction; those who sow discord and lies will not live more than fifty percent of their lives. But I'll put my trust in You."

§ 18530 PROCLAMATION SONG 56

(For the choir conductor: in time with "A Dove on Distant Oaks" music. A Miktam of David during his capture by the Philistine Warriors in Gath.)

56 Show kindness towards me, my Preeminent Sovereign, as those who oppose me relentlessly chase me all day.
2 Slanderers constantly hound me, many boldly confronting me in their arrogance.
3 My confidence remains in You even when fear strikes.
4 I trust in the Preeminent Sovereign's Living Path, celebrating His promises—I am fearless, for what harm can a mere human inflict on me?
5 They distort my words all day; their plans aim at my destruction.
6 They plot in secret, hide, and observe my every move to claim my life.
7 Preeminent Sovereign, for their evil deeds, ensure they don't get away; in Your wrath, bring down the nations.
8 Take note of my sorrow; place my tears in Your bucket—aren't they listed in Your ledger?

9 When I seek aid, my adversaries will retreat. This helps reassure me that the Eternal Reality is on my side.

10 I praise the Living Path of the Preeminent Sovereign and elevate the Sovereign Captain’s Living Path.
11 I place my confidence in the Preeminent Sovereign and hold no fear. What harm can mere humans inflict on me?
12 My promises bind me to You, my Preeminent Sovereign; I will render my thanksgiving absolving payments to You.
13 You have saved my life from the brink of death and preserved my feet from faltering, enabling me to serve in the Preeminent Sovereign’s presence, enveloped in the radiance of life.

§ 18540 PROCLAMATION SONG 57

(For the choir conductor. In time to the song “Do Not Destroy.” A Miktam of David when he ran into the cave to escape Saul.)

57 “Grant Your kindness on me, my Preeminent Sovereign, extend Your kindness to me, for my inner-self seeks fortress in You. I will seek shelter beneath the coverage of Your wings until the peril subsides.
2 I call on the Eternal Reality, the Most Prominent Sovereign in the Celestial Realms, who justifies my cause.
3 He dispatches from above and delivers me, rebuking those who fiercely chase me. The Preeminent Sovereign extends His affection and reliability. Selah
4 I find my inner-self amidst ferocious lions; I am compelled to exist among insatiable beasts—individuals whose teeth resemble long-range ballistics and projectiles, their tongues just like sharp tactical blades.
5 My Preeminent Sovereign, You are elevated above the celestial realms, and may Your acclaim fill the whole Earth.
6 They crafted a trap for my movement; my inner-self was laden with hardship. They constructed a pit on my path. Nonetheless, they took a fall into it.
7 My Preeminent Sovereign, my inner-self, is unwavering and stubborn; I will sing and create melodies.
8 Wake up, my splendor! Harp and lyre, awake! I am going to rise the sunshine.
9 Captain, I will exalt You among the peoples and play music about You among the nations.
10 Your boundless mercy rises to the celestial realms, and Your ultimate authenticity extends to the celestial realms.
11 My Preeminent Sovereign, rise above the celestial realms and let Your splendor cover the entirety of the Earth.

§ 18550 PROCLAMATION SONG 58

(For the choir conductor. In time with ‘Do Not Destroy. ’ A Miktam belonging to David.)

58 “Are you, the worldly authorities, truly impartial in your speech? Do you evaluate individuals with fairness?
2 You plot wrongdoings within your inner-self, and your hands spread brutality on the Earth.
3 From their birth, evildoers veer on the wrong path; they are born wayward, and from their infancy, they disseminate falsehoods.
4 Their poison reproduces that of a cobra, similar to a deaf cobra that has closed its ears,
5 refusing to listen to the melody of the snake charmer, regardless of the enchanter’s expertise.

6 My Preeminent Sovereign, shatter their teeth in their mouths; my Yahweh, dislodge the sharp teeth of these lions!
7 May they disappear as swiftly as water drains off; when they aim their projectile launchers, let their projectiles miss the target.
8 May they never witness the sun, like a slug that vanishes in its slime, like a mother's stillborn kid.
9 Before your cooking vessels can sense the burning of the thorns, the impure will be blown away regardless of their green or dry state.
10 Authentic people will rejoice when they witness retribution, bathing their feet in the blood of the impure.
11 Indeed, individuals will affirm: 'The upright unmistakably receives a reward; unquestionably, there is an Eternal Reality that administers justice in this world. ' "

§ 18560 PROCLAMATION SONG 59

(For the conductor of the choir. In time with 'Do Not Destroy. ' To assassinate David, Saul dispatched men to watch David's residence, according to a Miktam of David.)

59 My Preeminent Sovereign, rescue me from those who wish to harm me; shield me from those who launch assaults against me.
2 Rescue me from those who practice wrongdoing and protect me from bloodthirsty individuals.
3 Observe how they are preparing to ambush me. Violent people are plotting against me, yet I have committed no wrong or unworthy choice, My Sovereign Captain.

4 Despite my innocence, they're prepared to assault me. Awaken to assist me; scrutinize my predicament!
5 You, the Omnipotent Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality of Israel, stir Yourself to reprimand all the nations; refrain from showing compassion to evil betrayers. Selah
6 They return when the sun goes down, growling like wolves, and roam around the urban area.
7 Observe what bursts out of their mouths; the curses on their lips are as piercing as tactical blades, and they deliberate, "Who in the world will hear us?"
8 Yet, Captain, you deride them, mock all the foreign nations.
9 You are my source of strength; I keep looking for you, my Preeminent Sovereign, who is my stronghold.
10 My Preeminent Sovereign will allow me to confront my enemies with my loving, devoted Eternal Reality.
11 However, do not slay them, My Sovereign Captain, our protector, for my people may forget. With Your power, scatter them and bring them to a downfall.
12 Let them be imprisoned in their arrogance, in the swears and lies they speak, by the transgressions of their lips and the words that come out of them.
13 Eliminate them in your anger and wipe them out completely. Then, it will be recognized across the globe that the Preeminent Sovereign is sovereign over Jacob. Selah 14 They return after sunset, growling like wolves, and roam around the urban area.
15 They forage for food, emitting cries of discontent when they fail to satiate their hunger.
16 Yet, I will praise Your power and rejoice in Your steadfast love at dawn; You have been a stronghold, my fortress during adversity.
17 I thank You, my Preeminent Sovereign, for You are my stronghold and lovingly devoted Eternal Reality.

§ 18570 PROCLAMATION SONG 60

(For the conductor of the choir. To “The Lily of the Covenant” music. David’s Miktam for guidance. After defeating Aramnaharaim and Aram-Sabah, Joab returned and destroyed 12,000 Edomites in the Salt Valley.)

60 Our Preeminent Sovereign, You have forsaken and smitten us; Your anger is evident—now bring us restoration!
2 You have disturbed and cleaved the land; heal its breaches as it trembles.
3 You have subjected Your people to harsh circumstances and given us wine that causes us to stagger.
4 Yet, You have provided a rallying flag to those who elevate You, a symbol in the face of attacks.
5 Rescue those who cherish You with Your mighty hand.

6 The Preeminent Sovereign declared from His Exalted Space: “In victory, I will divide Shechem and mark out the Succoth Valley;
7 Gilead belongs to Me, as does Manasseh; Ephraim serves as My protective headgear, while Judah represents My governance rod of authority.
8 Moab serves Me like a bowl for washing My feet; I throw My shoe at Edom, indicating dominance; I declare My victory loudly over Philistia.”

9 Who will guide Me to the strong-walled city? Who will direct Me to Edom?
10 Isn’t it You, Preeminent Sovereign, who have discarded us and ceased to accompany our assault troops?
11 Assist us in our fight against the adversary since human assistance is futile.
12 We can succeed only through the Preeminent Sovereign, and the Eternal Reality alone will crush our adversaries.

§ 18580 PROCLAMATION SONG 61

(For the choir’s conductor. Use stringed instruments. From David.)

61 “My Preeminent Sovereign, hear my intervention; give attention to my intervention.
2 I reach out to You from the planet’s furthest corners as my inner-self weakens; guide me to an elevated prominence beyond my reach.
3 You’ve been my formidable fortress against the adversary.
4 I desire to reside in Your tent for eternity and seek protection under the cover of Your wings. Selah
5 My Preeminent Sovereign, You have acknowledged my commitments and given me the inheritance reserved for those who elevate Your Name.
6 Add many years to the Prime Ruler’s life; let his lifetime span multiple eras.
7 Let him reside eternally before the Preeminent Sovereign; decree Your affection and loyalty to safeguard him.
8 Subsequently, I will celebrate Your Name through song and uphold my promises daily. “

§ 18590 PROCLAMATION SONG 62

(For the choir conductor. As stated by Jeduthun. A Davidic proclamation song.)

62 Indeed, my inner-self reaches tranquility in the Preeminent Sovereign; it is from Him that I receive my redemption.
2 He alone serves as my safeguard and Rescuer. He is my stronghold, and I will perpetually remain unshaken.
3 How long will you persist in attacking me? Are you intent on knocking me down like a wall on the brink of collapse, a fence already faltering?
4 They desire to bring me down from my esteemed position; they find pleasure in falsehood. They give praises with their lips, but internally, they utter curses. Selah

5 Indeed, my inner-self finds tranquility in the Preeminent Sovereign; my expectation springs from Him.
6 He is my strength and my redemption. He is my stronghold; I shall not be troubled.
7 I rely on the Preeminent Sovereign for my deliverance and acclaim. He serves as my unyielding strength, my shelter.
8 Confide in Him in every circumstance, esteemed people; unleash your innermost feelings to Him, as He is our fortress.
9 Men with little intelligence are undoubtedly vain, and those with high intelligence are deceitful: their combined weight will fall short of vanity.
10 Refrain from relying on ill-gotten gain or placing vain confidence in stolen items. Even if your wealth multiplies, refrain from becoming attached to it.
11 The Preeminent Sovereign has said once, and I have grasped this principle twice: The strength is vested in You, the Preeminent Sovereign.
12 With You, Captain, Your affection endures. Moreover, You compensate each individual based on their actions.

§ 18600 PROCLAMATION SONG 63

(One of David’s proclamation songs from his time in the Judah wilderness.)

63 My Preeminent Sovereign, you are my source; I actively search for you. My inner-self craves connection to you, like someone in a concrete jungle longing for renewal amidst lifeless surroundings."
2 In the Exalted Space, I have admired Your might and magnificence.
3 Your steadfast love surpasses life itself, so my lips will laud You.
4 I will honor You by raising my hands in Your Name as long as I exist.
5 My inner-self will find contentment like a lavish feast, and my mouth will sing joyously to Your praise.
6 As I lie on my bed, my thoughts turn to You during the night.

7 You are my support; I rejoice under the protective shade of Your wings.
8 I cling to You; Your strong arm supports me.
9 Those plotting to annihilate me shall face doom; they will descend into the underworld.
10 They will be killed in battle, and foxes will eat their bodies.
11 The Prime Ruler will delight in the Eternal Reality; all who pledge in His Name shall exult while the deceitful talk of fakes will be halted.

§ 18610 PROCLAMATION SONG 64

(For the choir conductor. A Davidic proclamation song.)

64 “Listen to my intervention, my Eternal Reality, as I express my concerns; shield my existence from the peril my adversaries pose.
2 Shield me from the secret plans of the unjust and the scheming of those who carry out harmful deeds.
3 They hone their linguistic weapons like tactical blades and unleash harmful expressions as lethal as projectiles.
4 From their hiding places, they aim at the blameless; they strike at him abruptly without trepidation.
5 They support each other in their impure schemes; they converse about concealing their traps; they question, ‘Who will detect us?’
6 They orchestrate wrongdoing and declare they have crafted an impeccable scheme! Indeed, the human intellect and inner-self are elusive.
7 Without hesitation, the Authentic Preeminent Sovereign will swiftly wound them with His projectiles.
8 Their words will be used against them, destroying them. everyone who looks at them will respond with a shaking head in disapproval.

9 Fear will grip everyone; they will announce the actions of the Preeminent Sovereign and reflect on His accomplishments.
10 Individuals of integrity will delight in the Sovereign Captain, seeking His protection; everyone with pure intentions will take pride in Him! “

§ 18620 PROCLAMATION SONG 65

(For the choir conductor. A Davidic proclamation song. A melody.)

65 In the hub of David, our vows to You will be fulfilled, our Preeminent Sovereign, where tribute awaits You.
2 All humanity approaches You, the One who listens and responds to the meldings of their consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign.
3 When our wrongdoings overwhelmed us, You wiped away our rebellious acts.
4 Fortunate are those whom You select and draw close for lodging in Your fortress! We revel in the plentiful empowerments of Your exalted stronghold.
5 The Preeminent Sovereign, our Deliverer, You respond to us with awe-inspiring and authentic actions. You are the beacon of hope for every corner of the Earth and beyond the deepest oceans.
6 You have constructed the mountains by showcasing Your might, equipping Yourself with formidable strength,
7 calming the rumbling oceans, their crashing waves, and the clamor of myriad peoples.
8 The entire world stands in awe of Your marvelous deeds; from dawn to dusk, You inspire melodies of happiness.
9 You nurture and inundate the Earth, greatly enhancing its richness. The Preeminent Sovereign’s river is brimming with water to supply the populace with cereal crops, as You have planned it this way.
10 You saturate its trenches and level its banks; You mollify it with rain and favor its crops.

11 The year is adorned with Your transformative generosity and transports spill with prosperity.
12 The desert grasslands are abundant, and the hills are joyful.
13 The pastures are filled with herds, and the valleys are carpeted with grain. They burst out in joyous shouts and melodies.

§ 18630 PROCLAMATION SONG 66

(For the choir conductor. A melody. A proclamation song.)

66 Let all the Earth shout with delight to the Preeminent Sovereign.
2 Vocalize the magnificence of His Name; establish His acclaim as exquisite.
3 Communicate to the Preeminent Sovereign, “How awe-inspiring Your actions are! Such is Your immense strength that Your adversaries shrink in Your presence.
4 everyone on Earth expresses joyful adoration to You; they convey their admiration through song, extolling Your Name.” Selah
5 Witness the magnificent things that the Preeminent Sovereign has achieved: His awe-inspiring acts on behalf of humanity!
6 He transformed the ocean into dry ground, permitting them to traverse the waters by foot. Let’s celebrate in Him.
7 He governs eternally with His strength; His gaze is fixed on the nations. Do not allow those who are defiant to oppose Him.
8 All nations, pay tribute to our Preeminent Sovereign and ensure His praises reverberate.
9 He sustains our existence and prevents us from losing our footing.
10 Our Preeminent Sovereign, You have examined and refined us as One who purifies silver.
11 You led us into captivity and placed heavy weights on our shoulders.

12 Others trampled us because you allowed it; we journeyed through the perils of fire and water, yet you guided us to a land rich and abundant.
13 I shall enter Your fortress with scorched absolving payments, keeping my promised oaths to You.
14 My mouth articulated promises that emerged from my lips when I confronted distress.
15 In my absolving payment, I will present You plump beasts and the sweet smoke of purified rams; I will provide bulls and goats. Selah
16 All who elevate the Sovereign Captain gather as I recount the deeds He has performed for me.
17 I called to Him, my voice filled with admiration.
18 My Sovereign Captain would have disregarded my pleas if I held on to unworthy choices within my inner-self.
19 But my Preeminent Sovereign has paid attention and responded to my intervention.
20 All acclaim to the Eternal Reality. He did not dismiss my intervention nor cease His steadfast affection towards me!

§ 18640 PROCLAMATION SONG 67

(For the choir’s conductor. Use stringed instruments. A proclamation song. A melody.)

67 May the Preeminent Sovereign show us favor, empower us, and let His face shine upon us. Selah
2 So the world learns Your paths and recognizes Your saving power.

3 May all nations give thanks to You, our Preeminent Sovereign, and every group acknowledge You.
4 Let all countries rejoice and sing as You govern fairly and lead the nations. Selah
5 All individuals should acclaim You, the Preeminent Sovereign. Every person on Earth should do the same.
6 The Earth has yielded its bounty; our Eternal Reality empowers us.
7 Let the Preeminent Sovereign continue to empower us; people from all over will respect Him.

§ 18650 PROCLAMATION SONG 68

(For the choir conductor. A Davidic proclamation song. A melody.)

68 Let the Preeminent Sovereign ascend; His adversaries disperse; those united against Him should retreat in His presence.
2 Just as the wind spreads smoke, may You scatter them; as wax liquefies in the presence of fire, may the fullness of unworthy choices meet their end in the Preeminent Sovereign's presence.
3 Nonetheless, let those who do right find delight in the Preeminent Sovereign's presence; they should be filled with delight and happiness.
4 Offer praises to the Preeminent Sovereign, acclaim His Name, acclaim Him who traverses the sky; take delight before Him for His Name is the Sovereign Captain.
5 In His exalted fortress, the Preeminent Sovereign is a loving parent to those without one and a protector of the vulnerable, always present in His goodness.
6 The Preeminent Sovereign provides families for those alone and guides the prisoners towards freedom; however, those who oppose Him dwell in barren, arid lands.

7 My Preeminent Sovereign, when You led Your pathseekers through the barren wasteland,
8 the ground trembled, and the celestial realms released their rain before the Preeminent Sovereign; even Sinai shook in the presence of the Eternal Reality of Israel. Selah
9 You, my Preeminent Sovereign, poured bountiful rain; You revitalized Your tired legacy.
10 Your ensovereigned lifestyle community made their home there. With Your generous gifts, my Preeminent Sovereign, You catered to needy people.
11 The Sovereign Captain gives the command, with a large assembly of women spreading the news:
12 "'Prime Rulers and their assault troops retreat quickly. The females who remain indoors spread the takings.
13 Even as you rest among the sheep, the wings of my dove are cloaked in silver; its plumage gleams with bright gold. '"
14 When the Sovereign One dispersed the Prime Rulers across the territory, it appeared like snow was covering Mount Zalmon.
15 Mount Bashan is a mountain of the Preeminent Sovereign with numerous summits.
16 O mountains of multiple heights, why do you look on in jealousy? The Preeminent Sovereign selected this mountain as His fortress, and the Sovereign Captain will undoubtedly live there forever.
17 Preeminent Sovereign's celestial strike vehicles are in the multitude, counting in the myriads and countless thousands. Just as He was at Sinai, the Sovereign Captain is now in His fortress.
18 As You ascended to the heights, You led away numerous captives; You accepted absolving payments from humanity, including the rebellious, so that You, the Sovereign Captain, could reside there.

19 May we honor and thank the Sovereign Captain, our Rescuer, who carries our heavy loads daily. Selah 20 Our Preeminent Sovereign is the Eternal Reality of redemption; from the Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, we arise to live from mortality.

21 Indeed, the Preeminent Sovereign will shatter the heads of His opponents, the hairy heads of those who persist in their guilt.
22 The Sovereign Captain proclaims, "'I shall retrieve them from Bashan; I shall summon them from the ocean's depths, 23 so that your feet may trample in the blood of your adversaries, and your dogs may receive their portion. '"
24 My Preeminent Sovereign, Your triumph is visible, the exalted march of my Preeminent Sovereign and my Prime Ruler into the Exalted Space.
25 Leading the procession are the vocalists, followed by instrument performers; accompanying them are the maidens rhythmically beating the tambourines.
26 Give thanks to the Preeminent Sovereign in the great ensovereigned lifestyle community; commend the Sovereign Captain in the community of Israel.
27 Benjamin's smaller community leads them, followed by Judah's grand ensemble of leaders. Then, the leaders of Zebulun and Naphtali followed.
28 Call forth Your might, my Preeminent Sovereign; demonstrate Your potency, our Eternal Reality, as You've exhibited in the past.
29 Due to Your exalted fortress in Yerushalayim, Prime Rulers will present their absolving payments to You.
30 Give a stern warning to the creature among the reeds, the multitude of bulls among the calves of the nations until they present ingots of silver. Disperse the countries that find delight in war.
31 Ambassadors will arrive from Egypt; Ethiopia will yield herself to the Eternal Reality.
32 All realms of the Earth, vocalize in song to the Eternal Reality, express your adoration for the Sovereign Captain. Selah 33 To Him who flies atop the highest sky; His powerful voice is heard.

34 Announce that the Preeminent Sovereign is mighty, His rule extends over Israel, and His might is displayed in the celestial realms.
35 Our Preeminent Sovereign, You are awe-inspiring within Your fortress; the Eternal Reality of Israel grants might and vigor to His people. All recognition to the Preeminent Sovereign!

§ 18660 PROCLAMATION SONG 69

(For the conductor of the choir. To the melody of David's "Lilies")

69 "Help me, O Eternal Reality, for the floods have risen to my throat.
2 I'm sinking into profound muck, where nothing is solid to stand on. I have been submerged in deep waters; the deluge overwhelms me.
3 I am exhausted from screaming for assistance; my voice is scratchy and dry, and my eyes are strained and weary from awaiting my Preeminent Sovereign.
4 My adversaries, who detest me for no discernible reason, are more numerous than the hair strands on my head. I'm overwhelmed by countless baseless foes who are bent on my destruction. Despite my innocence, I'm coerced into making restitution for things I never stole.

5 "O Eternal Reality, You are well aware of my foolishness. My unworthy choices are not concealed from You.

6 To My Sovereign Captain, the Commander of all celestial realm forces and the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel: Let not those who place their confidence in You feel dishonored due to my actions.
7 I bear mockery because of You, and humiliation is evident.
8 My brothers treat me as unfamiliar and as if I come from another world.
9 Your enthusiasm for Your fortress engulfs me, and the insults directed at You descend on me.
10 I skipped meals and cried, yet it all humiliated me.

11 When I adorned myself in mourning attire, they turned me into a spectacle.
12 Individuals who linger at the city entrance ridicule me, and I've become a melody of the local drunkard.

13 "Yet, I direct my intervention to You, My Sovereign Captain, during Your favorable moment; in Your abundant compassion, my Preeminent Sovereign, respond to me with the assurance of Your deliverance.
14 Save me from sinking in the mud; keep me from going under; protect me from those who despise me and the watery depths.
15 Prevent the deluge from inundating me, and don't allow the abyss to consume me, nor should the grave seal its mouth on me.
16 Respond to me, My Sovereign Captain, from the depth of Your kind transformative generosity; with Your vast compassion, shift Your attention to me.
17 Please don't shield Your presence from me; I need Your swift reply.
18 Approach my inner-self and save me; set me free due to my adversaries.

19 "You know the disrespect, humiliation, and shame I endure; all those who oppose me are in Your sight.
20 Insults have shattered my inner-self, leaving me feeble; I sought compassion, yet it was absent, and solace, yet none was found.
21 They incorporated a poisoned substance into my meals and provided vinegar when I was parched.
22 May their dining table become a pitfall, resulting in repayment and a snare.
23 Let their vision be clouded, hindering their sight, and their bodies curled unendingly.

24 Show them how angry You are; allow the heat of Your anger to catch up with them.
25 Let their living area be unoccupied, leaving nobody in their shelters.

26 "They harass the ones You have disciplined and spread the news about the suffering of those You punished.
27 Let them not partake in Your integrity; let them add transgression to their transgression.
28 Let their names be wiped from the Book of Existence and not recorded among authentic people.

29 "I am tormented and suffering; may Your redemption, my Preeminent Sovereign, keep me safe.
30 I shall honor the Name of the Preeminent Sovereign through a melody and magnify Him with gratitude.
31 The Sovereign Captain will find this more gratifying than an ox, superior to a bull with horns and hoofs.
32 Those of humble means will witness this and rejoice. At the same time, those searching for the Preeminent Sovereign, may their inner selves renew life!
33 The Sovereign Captain listens to those in need and does not look down on those in bondage.

34 “Let the Celestial Realms and the whole Earth praise Him, the oceans, and everything that stirs in them.
35 The Preeminent Sovereign is set to rescue the fortress of the Eternal Reality and reconstruct the towns of Judah. Subsequently, individuals will inhabit and own the land.

36 The offspring of those who serve Him will receive it, and those who cherish His Name will reside there.”

§ 18670 PROCLAMATION SONG 70

(For the choir conductor. Regarding David to evoke memories.)

70 My Preeminent Sovereign, hurry to rescue me; Captain, please assist me swiftly.
2 Let those seeking my life experience humiliation and perplexity; let all those relishing in my misfortune be repelled and covered in shame.
3 Let those who utter “Aha! Aha!” at me retreat due to their humiliation.
4 May all who actively seek You find delight and happiness in You. Let those who yearn for Your Redemption continuously proclaim, “Preeminent Sovereign is marvelous!”
5 I am oppressed and helpless; Preeminent Sovereign hasten to my side. You are the One who assists and rescues me; Captain, please don’t tarry.

§ 18680 PROCLAMATION SONG 71

71 My Sovereign Captain, I seek fortress in You; ensure I am never disgraced.
2 For You are evenhanded, save and set me free, lend Your ear, and deliver me.
3 Serve as my sheltering stronghold, where I can constantly retreat; issue the decree to redeem me, as You are my bedrock and fortified protection.

4 My Preeminent Sovereign, save me from the power of wrongdoers and the hold of those who are mean and evil.
5 Captain, You have remained my beacon of hope, the source of unshakeable trust in my life from my youth.
6 I have depended on You; You were the One who safely guided me out of my mother’s womb. My praises for You will never cease.
7 I’ve become an example for numerous individuals; You are my sturdy fortress.
8 My mouth overflows with praises for You all day, proclaiming Your grandeur.
9 Accept me in my elderly years. Don’t discard me when my energy has depleted.
10 My adversaries discuss me negatively; those eagerly awaiting my demise are hatching a plot together.
11 They argue, “The Preeminent Sovereign has abandoned him; chase and capture him, as there is no one to save him.”
12 My Preeminent Sovereign, don’t distance Yourself from me. Hurry and lend Your help.
13 Let those who bring charges against me be humiliated and defeated. Let those who wish to inflict damage on me be surrounded in scorn and disgrace.
14 But I will continually remain hopeful and increasingly express my admiration for You.
15 I will recount Your just actions and deeds of redemption throughout the day, even though I can’t comprehend their full extent.

16 I will declare Your integrity, Your solitary targeted path as I go into the might of the Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign.
17 My Preeminent Sovereign, You have imparted wisdom to me from my early days. To this very moment, I proclaim Your extraordinary acts.
18 Do not abandon me, my Preeminent Sovereign, even in my old age and the years of grey hair, until I have relayed Your strength to the forthcoming generation and Your impressive deeds to all those yet to be born.

19 Your integrity extends as high as the celestial realms; You have accomplished magnificent deeds. Can anyone compare You to the Preeminent Sovereign?
20 While You have allowed me to experience many hardships and tribulations, You will rejuvenate my existence, raising me again from the deepest recesses of the Earth.
21 My honor will be enhanced, and You will console me again.
22 Your loyalty will be lauded with the strumming of a harp with the lyre; I will sing in Your honor, my Preeminent Sovereign of Israel.
23 My lips will rejoice aloud as I make music for You and my inner-self, which You have set free.
24 Throughout the day, my tongue will share tales of Your deeds of integrity; those with ill intentions towards me are now disgraced and bewildered.

§ 18690 PROCLAMATION SONG 72

(From Solomon, the builder of the fortress)

72 “Grant the Prime Ruler Your fair judgment, my Preeminent Sovereign, and grant the Prime Ruler Your integrity.
2 May He govern Your people fairly and decide rightly for the distressed and underprivileged.
3 May the people experience tranquility from the mountains, and may the hills yield justice.
4 May he support the disadvantaged and rescue the needy; may he overpower the tyrant.
5 As long as the sun shines and the moon exists, may all generations respect him.
6 Let him be as refreshing as rain on cut grass like showers nurturing the ground.
7 May the authentic people thrive, and prosperity be plentiful during his era until the moon ceases to exist.

8 May his authority extend from coast to coast and from the Euphrates River to the ends of the Earth.
9 Let desert nomads honor him. At the same time, his adversaries eat dirt.
10 Let the Prime Rulers of Tarshish and distant lands pay him respect. Let the Prime Rulers of Sheba and Seba offer tributes.
11 All Prime Rulers will bow before him, and every country will serve him.
12 He will aid the impoverished who plead for help and those in distress who lack assistance.
13 He will show compassion to the vulnerable and needy, delivering them from demise.
14 He will liberate them from persecution and violence. Their blood is valuable to him.
15 May his life be long! Let him receive Sheba’s gold. Continually, let him be the subject of your meldings with the Preeminent Sovereign, receiving empowerment throughout the day.
16 Let grain be plentiful across the land; even on hilltops, let it dance in the breeze. May its people thrive like field grass and fruit trees like Lebanon’s woods.
17 Let his fame persist eternally and grow while the sun shines. Consequently, all nations will receive empowerment through him and regard him as fortunate.

18 "'Honor and thanks to the Preeminent Sovereign of Israel, the Sovereign Captain of the Eternal Reality, who solely accomplishes astounding feats. '
19 May the entire world absorb His majestic splendor for all time. So be it. Indeed, so be it!

20 "So, the supplications of David, Jesse's offspring, have reached their conclusion."

§ 18700 PROCLAMATION SONG 73

(A proclamation song of Asaph)

73 Indeed, the Preeminent Sovereign extends His goodness to Israel, particularly those with pure inner selves.
2 However, I was on the verge of tripping; it was close to the point where I lost my balance.
3 I was jealous of the conceit of witnessing the success of unauthentic people.
4 They encounter no hardships in their demise; their bodies are robust and vigorous.
5 They do not experience the usual hardships of humanity and aren't afflicted in the same way as most individuals.
6 So, arrogance serves as their adornment; they garb themselves in brutality.
7 Impurity emerges from their prosperity; their vicious thoughts know no boundaries.
8 They mock and express evil intentions; loftily, they issue threats of tyranny.
9 They dare to speak against the celestial realms while their speech dominates the terrestrial realm.
10 His people turn to them and drink abundant water.
11 They inquire, "Can the Eternal Reality truly understand? Is the Preeminent Sovereign aware of anything?"
12 Such is the condition of the scandalous, perpetually untroubled; they continue to pile up riches.
13 Maintaining the purity of my inner-self and cleaning my hands while upholding innocence was pointless.
14 I suffer continuously throughout the day, and each dawn ushers in fresh punishments.
15 Had I expressed myself in such a manner, I would have been disloyal to Your offspring.

16 Attempting to comprehend all this greatly distressed me.
17 Only when I visited the Preeminent Sovereign's Exalted Space did I comprehend their ultimate fate.
18 Indeed, You set them on unstable terrain; You hurled them into destruction.
19 Disaster instantly devastates and utterly undoes them!
20 You, Captain, will loath them as fantasies when you awaken, despising their appearance.
21 When my inner-self was filled with sorrow and deeply distressed, 22 I was unthinking and lacked insight. I was like a wild animal in Your presence.
23 I am constantly in Your presence; You firmly grip my dominant hand.
24 With Your wisdom and advice, You lead and will ultimately welcome me into celestial grandeur.
25 Who else is there for me in the celestial realms? On Earth, there is no one I desire except
You.
26 My body and enthusiasm might weaken, yet the Preeminent Sovereign remains my innerself's pillar and eternal inheritance.
27 Individuals distancing themselves from You will meet their ruin; You annihilate all who prove disloyal to Yourself.

28 I trust drawing close to the Preeminent Sovereign is worthwhile. I've trusted the Eternal Reality Sovereign Captain as my fortress and will tell the story of all His accomplishments.

§ 18710 PROCLAMATION SONG 74

(A Maskil from Asaph.)

74 My Preeminent Sovereign, why have You abandoned us indefinitely? Why is Your ire burning against the protected community in Your territory?
2 Recall the ensovereigned lifestyle community You acquired in ancient times, the people of Your inheritance, whom You liberated—David's Mount, where You make Your fortress.
3 Steer Your course to the ceaseless devastations; observe every damage the adversary has inflicted on Your Exalted Space.
4 Your opponents triumphantly proclaimed the location of Your Exalted Place; they established their emblems as symbols.
5 They acted like individuals swinging axes in a dense forest of trees.
6 Their axes and hatchets demolished all the intricately crafted panels.
7 They torched Your Exalted Space, reducing it to ashes and tarnishing Your Name's fortress.
8 They declared within themselves, "Let's utterly subdue them!" They set fire to every location where the Preeminent Sovereign was honored throughout the territory.
9 We don't receive any celestial indicators. There are no more eternally wise servants, and none of us can predict the duration of this situation.
10 Our Preeminent Sovereign, how long will the adversary continue to belittle and disrespect Your Name? Will this insult persist forever?
11 Why are You restraining Your power, more so Your dominant hand? Extract Your hand from Your garment pocket and obliterate our adversary!
12 Since ancient times, the Preeminent Sovereign, my Prime Ruler, has delivered redemption across the land.
13 With Your might, You divided the sea; You pulverized the heads of the sea monsters in the oceans.
14 You were the One who shattered the Leviathan, the Symbol of Chaos, and an Opponent of the Preeminent Sovereign. You served it as a meal for the desert dwelling Ethiopians.
15 You were responsible for breaching springs and streams; You dried up perpetually flowing rivers.

16 You rule over the day and the night. You set the moon and the sun in place.
17 You determined all the Earth's borders; You created both the hot and cold seasons.
18 Recall, Captain, how Your adversaries have ridiculed You and how senseless individuals have disrespected Your Name.
19 Avoid surrendering the inner-self of Your turtledove to the wild animals; never disregard the lives of Your oppressed individuals forever.
20 Consider Your solemn agreement, given that pockets of violence are prevalent in obscure areas of the country.
21 Ensure that the oppressed do not return dishonored. Let the impoverished and destitute sing praises to Your Name.
22 Arise, O Celestial Sovereign, assert Your case; bear in mind the continuous ridicule from the ignorant all day.
23 Don't forget the continuous noise of those opposing You and Your foes' unceasing tumult.

§ 18720 PROCLAMATION SONG 75

(For the choir conductor: in time with ‘Do Not Destroy. ’ An Asaph proclamation song. A melody.)

75 We express our gratitude to You, my Preeminent Sovereign; we are thankful for Your imminent presence; individuals narrate Your extraordinary actions.
2 “When I determine the right moment, I am the One who dispenses justice fairly.
3 When the terrestrial sphere and all its occupants tremble, I stabilize its supports. Selah
4 I instruct the self-important, ‘Refrain from arrogance, ’ and caution the impure, ‘Do not enhance your symbols of power.
5 Don’t try to use your power against the celestial realms; avoid speaking with such arrogance. ’
6 Self-elevation does not originate in the East, West, or even from the desert.

7 Only the Preeminent Sovereign decides who is lowered and who is elevated.
8 The Sovereign Captain holds a cup of wrath brimming with spiced, bubbly wine; He dispenses it, directing all of the Earth’s evildoers to consume it until the residue is fully depleted.
9 On the other hand, I will continually proclaim this; I’ll sing acclaims to Jacob’s Preeminent Sovereign.
10 ‘I will abolish the power of the unjust, yet the power of authentic people shall be magnified. ’

§ 18730 PROCLAMATION SONG 76

(For the choir conductor: use stringed instruments. An Asaph proclamation song. A melody.)

76 The Preeminent Sovereign’s fame is celebrated in Judah; His reputation is revered in Israel.
2 His home is established in Salem; His fortress stands on David’s Mount.
3 There, He shattered deadly projectiles, ballistic body armor, tactical blades, and instruments of warfare.
4 You shine brightly, surpassing the grandeur of wildlife-abundant mountains.
5 Brave soldiers have been defeated; they rest eternally, unable to lift a hand.
6 Your rebuke stuns transport and operator, my Preeminent Sovereign of Jacob.
7 Indeed, You alone are to be respected. Who can withstand Your intense wrath?
8 From the celestial realms, Your verdict was declared, causing fear and silence across the land,
9 when You, Preeminent Sovereign, stood to establish justice, aiming to rescue all oppressed individuals on Earth. Selah
10 Even humanity’s wrath shall elevate You; with remnants of this rage, You shall gird Yourself.

11 Commit and keep your promises to the Sovereign Captain. Let all surrounding territories present tributes to the One who instills awe.
12 He humbles the disposition of Prime Rulers; He instills fear among Earth’s Prime Rulers.

§ 18740 PROCLAMATION SONG 77

(For the conductor of the choir: according to Jeduthun. A Proclamation of Asaph)

77 I implored the Preeminent Sovereign for assistance; I pleaded with the Eternal Reality to lend me His ear.
2 During my hardship, I contacted the Sovereign Captain. My hands were extended in a melding of my consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign throughout the night, yet I refused to find solace.
3 I express deep sorrow when I reminisce about You, Preeminent Sovereign. As I ponder, my inner-self weakens. Selah
4 You prevented my eyelids from shutting; I was too distressed to utter a word.
5 I contemplated the days of the past and the years from ages past.
6 I recalled my melodies, my inner conscience contemplated, and my inner-self posed queries at night.
7 “Is the Sovereign Captain going to scorn us for all time? Will He not be kind to us ever again?
8 Has His perpetual devotion disappeared for eternity?
9 Has the Preeminent Sovereign lost His memory of showing transformative generosity? In His fury, did He hold back His sympathy?” Selah 10 I said, “This is my disability, but I will never forget the years spent under the Most High’s dominant hand.”
11 I shall call the Eternal Reality’s actions to mind, reminiscing on Your ancient wonders.
12 I will reflect on all Your actions and thoughtfully consider Your wondrous deeds.

13 My Preeminent Sovereign, Your path is set-apart. What Celestial Envoy is as majestic as our Preeminent Sovereign?
14 You are the Eternal Reality who executes astonishing feats; Your strength is displayed among the nations.
15 Utilizing Your incredible power, You liberated Your chosen people, the offspring of Jacob and Joseph.
16 The Preeminent Sovereign, on witnessing You, the seas recoiled in unease; their darkest depths trembled profoundly.
17 Rain gushed from the clouds; the sky echoed with the rumble of thunder. Your lightning bolts darted in all directions.
18 The cry of Your thunder echoed in the storm; the flashes of Your lightning illuminated the globe; the whole planet was agitated and trembled.
19 You trod across the ocean and navigated through the colossal waves, yet Your traces weren’t visible.
20 Under the guidance of Moses and Aaron, You guided Your people as if they were a protected community.

§ 18750 PROCLAMATION SONG 78

(A Maskil from Asaph)

78 O my people, listen to my instruction; incline your ears to the proclamation songs from my mouth.
2 I will speak using stories; I will disclose secrets from the inception
3 —things that our fathers have told us, that we have heard, and that we know.

4 We won't conceal these realities from the next generation; instead, we'll tell the magnificent feats of the Sovereign Captain, His strength, and the marvelous wonders He has performed.

5 Because He appointed a Law in Israel and established a testimony in Jacob, our fathers must teach their offspring,
6 so the next generation and those yet unborn will acquire this knowledge and, in turn, share it with their descendants,
7 so they will place their trust in the Preeminent Sovereign, always remember His works, and diligently observe His directives.
8 Consequently, they won't replicate their ancestors' behaviors—a stubborn and defiant generation whose control cores weren't committed to the Preeminent Sovereign and whose inner selves didn't remain authentic.
9 Despite being equipped with projectile launchers, the warriors from Ephraim retreated when the combat commenced.
10 They were not loyal to the agreement with the Preeminent Sovereign and declined to follow His instructions.
11 They failed to remember His remarkable deeds, the extraordinary acts He did for them.
12 Wondrous acts were performed in the presence of their forefathers in the Egyptian territory, specifically in Zoan.
13 He controlled the sea and guided them across. He caused the waters to rise, forming a barrier like a wall.
14 During the day, He navigated them using a cloud and provided illumination at night using a brilliant light.
15 He cracked open rocks in the desert wilderness, providing them with water as plentiful as the ocean's depths.
16 He instigated the flow of water streams from the rocky bluff, causing the water to cascade like river currents.
17 They persisted in transgressions against Him, demonstrating defiance against the Eternal Reality in the arid wilderness.
18 They deliberately challenged the Preeminent Sovereign by insisting on their preferred food.

19 They questioned the Preeminent Sovereign's abilities, asking, "Is it possible for the Preeminent Sovereign to set up a feast in the desert?"
20 When He hit the rock, a flood of water raged forth; still, they asked, "Can He provide us with bread and meat?"
21 On hearing them, the Sovereign Captain was angry! His fiery fury erupted against Jacob, and His anger heightened against Israel.
22 They lacked trust in the Preeminent Sovereign and didn't rely on His ability to redeem them.
23 He instructed the celestial realms above and unlocked the celestial gates.
24-25 He provided a steady supply of sustenance, like a celestial delivery service. They experienced celestial nourishment, as though feasting on food reserved for celestial envoys, with an abundance for all.

26 He unleashed the East wind from the sky and steered the South wind with His might.
27 He rained flesh on them like dusted sand, and there were birds as many as sand grains on the shore.
28 He caused the birds to fall within the people's encampment, circling their homes.
29 They filled their stomachs with bird meat to the point of stuffing; He had accommodated their desire.
30 Yet the meat remained in their mouths even before they had deserted their cravings.

31 The ire of the Preeminent Sovereign flared against them, killing the hardiest individuals among them and bringing Israel's youth to their submission.
32 Regardless of everything, they persisted in their wrongdoings; they showed no trust in His wondrous deeds.
33 So, He brought their days to a close in meaninglessness and ended their years in abrupt horror.

34 Every time the Preeminent Sovereign took some of their lives, they would look for Him; they gladly changed their ways and turned back to Him.
35 They recollected that the Preeminent Sovereign was their strength, and the Eternal Reality was their Redeemer.
36 However, they would attempt to charm Him using their speech, deceiving Him with their linguistic manipulations;
37 Their inner selves did not continue with trust in Him and failed to uphold His agreement.
38 Still, He was forgiving; He pardoned their wrongdoings and refrained from exterminating them. He held back His fury frequently and did not unleash His complete indignation.
39 He remembered they were merely human, like a wind that sweeps by and never returns.
40 They repeatedly defied Him in the wilderness and caused Him sorrow in the barren land!
41 Repeatedly, they challenged the Preeminent Sovereign, causing distress to the Exalted One of Israel.
42 They failed to recall His strength the day He liberated them from their Adversary, 43 when He manifested His marvelous actions in Egypt, His wonders in the territory of Zoan.
44 Egypt's river was transformed into blood, making their streams undrinkable.
45 He dispatched hordes of flies to consume them and frogs to cause their ruin.
46 He surrendered their harvest to the grasshoppers and their yields to the locusts.
47 He obliterated their grapevines with hailstones and ruined their sycamore-fig trees with frost.
48 He exposed their farm animals to hailstorms and their herds to thunderbolts.

49 He unleashed His burning fury, resentment, wrath, and distress upon them, leading a group of Celestial Warriors to wreak havoc.
50 He carved out a road for His anger; He did not spare any from the sting of death but handed them over to the fangs of the plague.
51 He eliminated all the oldest Egyptian sons, the primary virility in the camps of Ham.
52 He guided His people like an inner shield, leading them safely like a protected community through the barren wilderness.
53 He directed them on a secure path, eradicating their fears. Meanwhile, the sea swallowed their foes.
54 So, He led them to the boundary of His exalted territory, to the mountainous region His mighty hand had claimed.
55 He expelled the nations from their path, divided their lands as a heritage, and established the Israeli communities in their dwellings.
56 Still, they challenged and defied the Preeminent Sovereign; they failed to observe His directives.
57 Like their forerunners, they exhibited disloyalty and distrustfulness, as unpredictable as a malfunctioning projectile launcher.
58 They provoked His wrath with their sites of idolized deity worship and stirred His jealousy with their carved images.
59 The Preeminent Sovereign boiled with anger on hearing them, and He completely turned His back on Israel.
60 He deserted the Tent in Shiloh, the place He had established among humanity.

61 He surrendered the symbol of His power to exile. His acclaim was given over to the control of the foe.
62 He offered His people to lethal conflicts; He seethed with His chosen nation.
63 Fire devoured the young men, and no marriage songs were sung for the young women.

64 His mediators met their end through violence, but the women who lost their husbands were unable to shed tears.
65 Then the Sovereign Captain was stirred up as if from slumber, just like a mighty fighter shaking off the effects of too much wine.
66 He drove His adversaries backward, subjecting them to a disgrace that would last forever.
67 The Sovereign Captain turned His back on Joseph's dwelling, showing no preference for the people of Ephraim.
68 Alternately, He chose the family of Judah in City of the Eternal Reality, the place He adored.
69 He constructed His Exalted Space like the high celestial realms, resembling the Earth He set up to last perpetually.
70 He chose His servant David from a background as a sheep bodyguard;
71 to become the guardian of all His chosen people—Jacob and Israel, His heritage.
72 David guided them with a sincere inner-self and led them skillfully with his authority.

§ 18760 PROCLAMATION SONG 79

(A Proclamation of Asaph.)

79 Foreign nations, my Preeminent Sovereign, have infiltrated Your land; they have tainted Your exalted fortress and left Yerushalayim in ruins.
2 The corpses of Your loyal pathseekers have been abandoned as food for the winged creatures of the skies, and the bodies of Your chosen people have been left for the beasts of the wilderness.
3 Blood has been shed like water all over Yerushalayim, with no one available to lay the deceased in the grave.
4 We've become a disgrace before our neighbors, a farce, and various mockings to those around us.

5 Captain, for how long will this continue? Will Your wrath persist indefinitely? Is Your envious anger going to smoke like a fire eternally?
6 Unleash Your outrage on the nations that fail to recognize You and those that refuse to petition to Your Name.
7 They have swallowed Jacob's family, leaving his native land in ruins.
8 Don't blame the transgressions of our forefathers on us; may Your kindness swiftly approach us, as we're incredibly needy.
9 Assist us, my Preeminent Sovereign of our redemption, for the honor of Your reputation; rescue us and wipe away our transgressions for Your Name's sake.
10 Why should "Where is their Preeminent Sovereign?" be a question for the nations? Declare in front of us Your punishment on the nations due to the slaughter of Your servants.
11 Allow the prisoners' sighs to reach You and use Your great power to save those sentenced to capital execution.
12 Our Sovereign Captain: dish out Your retaliation in our neighbor's laps by returning the disgrace they have directed towards You sevenfold.
13 As Your ensovereigned lifestyle community, the protected community in Your care, we will express our gratitude perpetually and broadcast Your commendation from era to era.

§ 18770 PROCLAMATION SONG 80

(For the choir conductor: in time with “The Lilies of the Covenant” music. An Asaph Proclamation.)

80 “Listen to us, the inner shield of Israel, who directs Joseph like a protected community—you who are ensovereigned above the Celestial Envoys who radiate Your light.
2 In the sight of Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh, churn up Your strength; come and rescue us.
3 Bring us back, my Preeminent Sovereign; let Your face glow light so we will be rescued.

4 Captain, the Chief Commander of Celestial Forces, for how much more time will Your wrath fume against your people’s meldings of their consciousness with the Preeminent Sovereign?
5 You forced them to drink the whole measure of your tears and fed them bread made of tears.
6 You have set us up as a subject of ridicule for our neighbors, and those who oppose us laugh at our expense.
7 My Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, heal us and show us Your face so we can be delivered.
8 You brought a struggling community out of neglect in Egypt and planted it in a promising location.
9 You prepared the environment, cleared obstacles, and set the foundation for growth.
10 It expanded, influencing neighborhoods and transforming the landscape.
11 Its reach extended beyond borders, revitalizing the entire region.
12 But now you’ve removed its safeguards, and it’s become vulnerable to those who would exploit it.
13 Opportunists take what they want; it’s plundered by those passing through.
14 Restore this community, Sovereign Planner! Reinvest in what once thrived.
15 Rebuild what your hands designed and nurtured.
16 If you don’t intervene, it will wither, and all its potential will be lost.
17 Let your guidance and support rest on the leader you have chosen, the one you’ve empowered to represent your purpose.
18 With renewed direction, we won’t lose our way; renew our energy and focus, and we will honor your name in all we do.

19 Bring us back to a thriving life, our Sovereign Captain; let your favor illuminate our path, so we can experience true renewal and restoration.

§ 18780 PROCLAMATION SONG 81

(For the conductor of the choir. As sung by Gittith. A Proclamation of Asaph.)

81 Express your happiness through song to our Preeminent Sovereign of Might; let your voice resound in joyous shouts to the Eternal Reality of Jacob!
2 Initiate the melodies, hit the tambourine, and perform the pleasant tunes on the lyre and harp.
3 Blow the trumpet during a new moon phase and the full moon on our feast day.
4 This statute is for Israel, a command from the Preeminent Sovereign of Jacob.
5 When Joseph left Egypt, the Preeminent Sovereign gave this order as a testament to him, which also heard a language he didn’t understand:
6 “I released your hands from the basket and took the weight off your shoulder.

7 During your hardship, you reached out, and I delivered you; I provided answers from the midst of a storm cloud; I examined your resolve at the waters of Meribah. Selah 8 Give ear to Me, My people, and I shall caution you if you heed My Path exclusively, Israel!
9 There must not be an idolized deity among you. You must not salute any deity. You must salute only to Me.
10 I am the Sovereign Captain, your authentic Preeminent Sovereign, who liberated you from Egypt. If you open your mouth wide, I will feed it.
11 My people refused to heed My command, and Israel wouldn't comply with Me.
12 I permitted them to pursue their strategies with their obstinate inner selves.
13 How I desire for My people to heed My voice if only Israel would walk along My paths, 14 I would swiftly defeat their adversaries and direct My power against those who oppose them!

15 Those despising the Sovereign Captain would tremble in His presence, and their consequences would be perpetual.
16 I would nourish you with the best wheat and satiate you with honey extracted from the rocks."

§ 18790 PROCLAMATION SONG 82

(A Proclamation of Asaph)

82 The Preeminent Sovereign stands in the ensovereigned lifestyle community, delivering judgment within the assembly.
2 "How long will you support the unjust and favor the impure?" Selah
3 Stand up for the weak and orphaned; uphold the rights of the impoverished and mistreated.
4 Rescue the helpless and defenseless from the grasp of evildoers.
5 They lack insight and clarity, stumbling through life's confusion, while everything they rely on feels unstable.
6 I declare you are Eternal Beings, children of the Preeminent Sovereign.
7 Yet, like humans, you will meet your end; like any Prime Ruler, you will eventually fall.
8 Rise, my Preeminent Sovereign, judge the Earth, for You possess all nations.

§ 18800 PROCLAMATION SONG 83

(A melody. A Proclamation of Asaph.)

83 My Eternal Reality, do not remain silent; don't ignore us; don't be inactive, my Preeminent Sovereign.
2 Observe how Your adversaries are making noises and how Your rivals wag their heads.

3 They conspire with intelligence against Your chosen people; they scheme against those You hold dear.
4 They growl, "Let's eradicate their existence as a nation, ensuring the name of Israel is obliterated from memory."
5 They conspire in unity; they establish a treaty against You—
6 the encampments of Edom and the Ishmaelites, along with those of Moab and the Hagrites, 7 citizens of Gebal, Ammon, Amalek, Philistia, and Tyre.
8 Assyria has allied themselves, strengthening the progeny of Lot. Selah
9 Deal with them as You dealt with Midian, just like Sisera and Jabin at the Kishon River.
10 They met their end at Endor, transforming into mere manure for the soil.

11 Render their influential figures like Zeeb, Oreb, and all their ruling members like Zebah and Zalmunna.
12 Those who declared, “We should own the meadows of the authentic Preeminent Sovereign.”
13 Transform them into whirling dust, my Preeminent Sovereign, like stubble caught in the wind.
14 Like a wildfire charging through the forest or a flame sprinting up the mountainside, 15 chase them away with Your blasts of wind and frighten them with Your storms.
16 Let their faces blush with disgrace, My Sovereign Captain, that they may look to You for help.
17 Let them continually be filled with disappointment and terror. May they die in dishonor.
18 May they realize that You, the Sovereign Captain, are the sole Eternal Reality governing the planet.

§ 18810 PROCLAMATION SONG 84

(For the choir conductor: As sung by Gittith. A Proclamation by Korah’s Sons.)

84 “Your fortress is breathtaking, My Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces!”
2 My inner-self aches and longs to be in the Sovereign Captain’s fortress. My inner-self and body express their deep desire for the living Preeminent Sovereign.
3 Even a little bird has discovered a dwelling, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she can raise her offspring—a location close to Your absolving pedestal table, Captain, the Chief Commander of Celestial Forces, my Prime Ruler, and my Preeminent Sovereign.
4 Fortunate reside within Your fortress, consistently singing Your praises. Selah
5 Fortunate are those who find their power in You, those whose desires are on an inner journey.
6 While journeying through the Baca Valley, they transform it into a spring-filled land; the fall showers drape it in water bodies.
7 They increasingly grow more robust until each of them stands in front of the Preeminent Sovereign in the fortress of the Celestial City.
8 Almighty Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces, lend Your ears to my request; heed me, my Preeminent Sovereign of Jacob. Selah 9 My Eternal Reality, consider our protection; show kindness to the one You have chosen.
10 A day spent in Your celestial chambers is worth more than a thousand elsewhere. I would choose to serve as a gatekeeper in the fortress of my Preeminent Sovereign rather than reside in the homes of the counterfeit.
11 Our Yahweh, our Sovereign Captain, is our light and safe-covering. He favors us with transformative generosity and recognition. He does not deny any good thing to those who lead an innocent, blameless life.

12 My Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of Celestial Forces, how fortunate is the one who places their confidence in You?

§ 18820 PROCLAMATION SONG 85

(For the choir director: A Proclamation of the Sons of Korah.)

85 My Sovereign Captain, You have shown kindness to Your land and reversed Jacob’s captivity.
2 You pardoned the wrongdoing of Your populace and concealed everyone of their transgressions. Selah
3 You’ve withdrawn all Your fury and turned away from Your intense rage.

4 My Preeminent Sovereign, our Rescuer, bring us back again and cease Your resentment toward us.
5 Will Your outrage against us persist indefinitely? Will Your resentment extend across all ages?
6 Won't You bring us back to life again so that Your people may find delight and pleasure in You?
7 Display Your enduring love for us, Captain, and provide us with Your redemption.
8 I am keen to understand what the Sovereign Captain will express. He assures tranquility to His people, His dedicated pathseekers; however, they must not revert to foolishness.
9 Indeed, His redemption is close to those who elevate Him so His grandeur can inhabit our territory.
10 Unfailing love and ultimate authenticity have united; integrity and peace have embraced each other.
11 Authentic sprouts rise from the ground while His integrity projects from the celestial realms.
12 The Sovereign Captain will grant His empowerment, and our Earth will produce a bountiful crop.
13 People with integrity march ahead of Him, setting a path for Him to follow.

§ 18830 PROCLAMATION SONG 86

(A intervention of David)

86 "My Sovereign Captain, hear me and respond, for I am needy and distressed.
2 Protect my existence, for I am loyal to You. Deliver me, Your servant who confides in You. You are my Eternal Reality.
3 My Sovereign Captain, show compassion towards me, for I consistently make my pleas to You throughout the day.
4 Make Your servant joyful, My Sovereign Captain, because I trust You.
5 My Sovereign Captain, You are merciful and kind, overflowing with steadfast love for everyone who reaches out to You.
6 My Sovereign Captain, perceive my intervention; pay close attention to my appeal for compassion.
7 Knowing You'll respond to my intervention, I contact You in trouble.
8 No idolized deities can match You, Captain; none can accomplish Your work.
9 Every country You have established will approach to elevate You, My Sovereign Captain, and they will enhance the reputation of Your great name.
10 You are mighty and perform extraordinary acts; You alone are the exclusively Eternal Reality.
11 Guide me in Your path, Captain, so that I may live by Your ultimate authenticity; instill a focused inner-self to elevate Your name.
12 I shall acknowledge You, My Sovereign Captain, with my whole inner-self and eternally honor
Your Name.
13 Your affection for me is immense; You have rescued my inner-self from the deepest parts of the Underworld, from the territory of the deceased.

14 Overbearing individuals are assaulting me, my Preeminent Sovereign; a relentless group seeks my demise—they hold no respect for You.
15 However, My Sovereign Captain, You are the Preeminent Sovereign of mercy, transformative generosity, patience, and overflowing with enduring love and ultimate authenticity.
16 Please turn to me and show me compassion. Give Your servant strength. Preserve Your personal assistant's son.

17 Show me proof of Your favor, which will embarrass those who wish me harm, for You, My Sovereign Captain, have provided me with assistance and solace.

§ 18840 PROCLAMATION SONG 87

(A Proclamation of the Sons of Korah: A song)

87 His city stands firm on the exalted hills.
2 The Sovereign Captain cherishes the city of the fortress above all Jacob's other habitats.
3 Wondrous tales are told about the city of the Preeminent Sovereign. Selah
4 "I will list Rahab and Babylon among those who know Me—along with Cush, Philistia, and Tyre—'This individual was nurtured in the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign. '"
5 Indeed, it can be said about the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign that each individual was born there, and the Eternal Reality himself will ensure its stability.
6 The Eternal Reality will be noted in the census of the nations. This individual was born in the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign. Selah
7 When the musicians create proclamation songs, they will say, 'All my sources of elation derive from You. '

§ 18850 PROCLAMATION SONG 88

(A song. A Proclamation of the Sons of Korah. For the choir director: from Mahalath Leannoth. A Heman the Ezrahite Maskil.)

88 My Preeminent Sovereign, You are the Eternal Reality who delivers me; unceasingly, I intervention with You both during the day and night.
2 Permit my intervention to reach Your presence and listen attentively to my outcry.
3 My inner-self is saturated with calamities, and I feel like I am on the verge of falling into the Pit.
4 I am considered suicidal by many. I am just like a man devoid of power.
5 You categorize me among the deceased, just like those resting in their crypts, killed and forgotten by You, severed from Your concern.
6 You've positioned me in the deepest hole within the darkest depths.
7 Your anger weighs me down; You have engulfed me wave after wave. Selah
8 You have driven my dearest associates away and made me abhorrent to them. I feel entrapped with no means to break free.
9 My eyesight grows dim from sorrow. Every day, I invoke You, My Sovereign Captain; I extend my hands towards You, melding my consciousness with the Eternal Reality.
10 "Will You perform marvelous works for those departed? Do their departed entities ascend and offer gratitude towards You?"
11 "Can Your unfailing love be spoken of in the tomb or Your constancy in the underworld?"
12 "Can your extraordinary deeds be recognized in darkness or authentic actions in the territory where all is forgotten?"
13 My Sovereign Captain, I appeal for Your assistance; with every dawn, my petition greets You.
14 Why, Captain, do You discard my existence and conceal Your face?
15 Ever since I was young, I've endured suffering and stood on the brink of death. I've withstood Your horrors and now stand in a state of hopelessness.

16 Your fierce anger has overwhelmed me. Your terrors have cut me off.
17 They encircle me like a deluge throughout the day, utterly submerging me.

18 You have distanced my companion and friend; darkness has become my most intimate associate.

§ 18860 PROCLAMATION SONG 89

(A Maskil of Ethan the Ezrahite)

89 I will always sing of the Sovereign Captain's enduring love; with My Path, I'll express Your trustworthiness to every age.
2 I proclaim, "Your affection is unwavering and eternal, and You have manifested Your loyalty in the celestial realms."
3 You announced, "I have established a pact with My selected one and pledged to My servant, David.
4 I will establish your descendants for all eternity and construct your authority base for all future generations." Selah
5 The celestial realms acclaim Your marvelous activations, My Sovereign Captain, and Your loyalty in the ensovereigned lifestyle community of the exalted chosen.
6 Who is equal to the Sovereign Captain in the celestial realms? None of the celestial entities is like the Sovereign Captain.
7 The Preeminent Sovereign is extraordinarily elevated within the Eternal Reality's Celestial Envoys assembly. His awe-inspiring presence surpasses all those enveloping Him.
8 Who can compare to You, My Sovereign Captain, the Commander Chief of the Celestial Forces? You are omnipotent, My Sovereign Captain, and consistently covered in Your ultimate authenticity.
9 You moderate the swelling ocean; as its waves escalate, You bring them calmness.
10 You smashed Rahab as if it were a casualty; Your powerful arm dispersed Your foes.

11 All celestial realms and the Earth are under Your sovereignty; You are the grand architect of the world and everything within it.
12 You have shaped the North and the South. Tabor and Hermon holler with delight in honor of Your Name.
13 Your arm possesses great might; Your hand is potent, and Your dominant hand is honored.
14 Your realm is founded on integrity and fairness. Loyal love and ultimate authenticity lead the way in Your presence.
15 Fortunate are those who understand how to elevate You and journey through life guided by the radiance of Your kindness, My Sovereign Captain.
16 They rejoice in Your identity throughout the day; they elevate Your integrity.
17 You are their magnificent power, and Your kindness heightens our authority.
18 Our ballistic shield is from the Sovereign Captain, and our Sovereign is the Exalted One of Israel.
19 Previously, you communicated to your loyal pathseekers through a vision: "I have granted the power to a warrior and selected and uplifted a youth from the populace.
20 I discovered David, My servant; I have appointed him with My exalted commissioning.
21 My authority will always remain with him; undoubtedly, My arm shall bolster him.
22 His enemies will never succeed against him. The impure will not defeat him.
23 His enemies will be shattered in his presence, and I will overtake those against him.
24 My unwavering affection shall accompany him; his power and influence will be elevated through My authority.
25 His authority will extend to the sea, and his dominant hand will govern the rivers.

26 He will cry, ‘You are my Protector, my Preeminent Sovereign, the Stronghold of my Redemption. ’
27 I will designate him as my premier offspring, surpassing all the Prime Rulers of the planet.
28 I will perpetually preserve My affection for him, and My solemn agreement will endure steadfastly.
29 His dynasty will be perpetuated indefinitely, and his reign will persist as long as the celestial realms exist.
30 Should his offspring abandon My path and disregard My principles, 31 should they violate My statutes and neglect My directives,
32 their wrongdoing will be corrected with a rod, and their misdeeds will be addressed with severe beatings.
33 But I will never remove My affection for him nor compromise My loyalty.
34 I will not dishonor my solemn agreement or change the words that have gone out of My mouth.
35 Grounded in My purity, I promised never to deceive David.
36 His family will persist eternally, and his dominion will remain before Me just like the sun.
37 It will last forever like the moon, serving as a reliable testament in the celestial realms.” Selah 38 But now You have shunned and rejected him; Your ensovereigned one has angered You.
39 You’ve annulled the agreement made with your servant and tarnished his authority by trashing it.
40 You’ve breached all his barriers and devastated his fortifications.
41 everyone passing by has robbed him; he’s become a laughingstock among his neighbors.

42 You have elevated the strength of his adversaries; you have provided all his opponents a reason to celebrate.
43 Indeed, You have deteriorated the war capability of his weapons and failed to assist him during combat.
44 You have halted His brilliance and toppled his authority base on the Earth.
45 The years of his youth have been prematurely ended; You have cloaked him in dishonor.” Selah 46 My Sovereign Captain, how long will You remain concealed? Will Your anger continue to blaze endlessly?
47 Take note of how brief my lifespan is. Have You crafted all of humanity for such a useless purpose?
48 Is anyone alive who will never experience death? Can anyone evade the grip of the Underworld? Selah 49 My Sovereign Captain, what happened to Your former abundant love that you trustfully promised to David?
50 My Sovereign Captain, remember the disgrace of Your servants that I carry inside me from so many individuals—
51 how Your adversaries have insulted and taunted Your ensovereigned one, My Sovereign Captain, at every step!
52 May the Sovereign Captain be acclaimed for eternity! So be it, indeed, so be it.

§ 18870 PROCLAMATION SONG 90

(A intervention of Moses, the Ensovereigned Mediator.)

90 My Sovereign Captain, You have been our fortress through all generations.

2 From ancient times to all ages, before the mountains arose or the Earth was formed, You are the Preeminent Sovereign.
3 You return humans to dust, commanding, “Return to your original state, you beings of mortal existence.”
4 For 1,000 years is but a day or a glimpse of the night in Your eyes.
5-6 You bring human lives to their end—they are like morning fog over the city: fresh and bright at dawn, but burned away by the afternoon heat.
7 Your wrath destroys us, and Your fury fills us with terror.
8 You’ve laid out our wrongdoings before You; Your presence illuminates our concealed transgressions.
9 Each day of our lives dwindles in Your fury; we conclude our years with a passing sigh.
10 Our existence may reach seventy or eighty years if our vitality persists; however, even the prime of these years is fraught with hardship and grief as they vanish swiftly, and we pass away.
11 If only we could comprehend the strength of Your fury! Your rage is as immense as the respect we owe to You.
12 Instruct us to comprehend the brevity of our existence to develop a wise understanding of our inner-self.
13 Come back, My Sovereign Captain! How long will it last? Show mercy to Your servants.
14 May Your unwavering affection gratify us each dawn, inspiring us to rejoice in delight and happiness throughout our existence.
15 Grant us delight equivalent to the days You have caused us torment, matching the years we have encountered adversity.
16 Let Your servants experience Your mighty tasks and reveal Your grandeur to their offspring.
17 Let the kindness of our Sovereign Captain be over us; make our endeavors successful indeed, make our efforts triumphant.

§ 18880 PROCLAMATION SONG 91

91 Those who reside within the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign will find tranquility under the cover of the Omnipotent One.
2 I declare about the Sovereign Captain: “He is my fortress and strong tower, my Eternal Reality, in whom I confide.”
3 He will rescue you from the hunter’s trap and the lethal disease.
4 He will shelter you like a secure canopy, and you’ll find safety in his steadfast care. His loyalty will be your ultimate protection and defense.
5 The terror that strikes at night or the projectile that soars during the day will not cause you to be afraid,
6 nor the disease that stalks in the obscurity nor the calamity that obliterates at noon.
7 Even if a thousand drop dead beside you, or even ten thousand entrenched on your right flank, no harm shall come on you.
8 Only by witnessing with your sight will you perceive the retribution of the unjust.
9 If you proclaim that the Sovereign Captain is your fortress, you choose the Most Elevated Almighty as your residence.
10 Evil shall not conquer you, nor shall any affliction approach your dwelling.
11 He will direct His Celestial Envoys to protect and keep you safe on all your paths.
12 They will uphold you with open arms, ensuring you don’t harm your foot on a rock.
13 You will defeat the most deadly snakes and the toughest lions. You will crush mighty lions and serpents under your feet.

14 “the Sovereign Captain affirms that he is devoted to Me; I will deliver him and ensure his safety as he recognizes My name.

15 When he reaches out to Me, I’ll respond; during his difficult times, I’ll stand by him, rescue him, and grant him respect.
16 I shall please him with extended days and demonstrate My means of redemption.”

§ 18890 PROCLAMATION SONG 92

(A Proclamation. A song for the Day of Rest)

92 Expressing gratitude to the Sovereign Captain and creating a melody for Your Name, My Eternal Reality, is beautiful,
2 announcing Your affection at daybreak and Your loyalty as dusk falls,
3 accompanied by the harmonious strumming of a ten-stringed instrument and the tuneful notes of a harp.
4 Your mighty acts, Captain, fill me with happiness; I passionately express my delight over the achievements of Your hands.
5 My Sovereign Captain, Your deeds are marvelous, and Your contemplations unfathomably deep.
6 A fool does not understand, and a senseless man does not know,
7 Even when corrupt schemes rise quickly, like pop-up stores in the city, their end is inevitable, and they will vanish for good.
8 You, My Sovereign Captain, are eternally honored.
9 Without a doubt, Your adversaries, My Sovereign Captain, will surely meet their end; all those who practice corruption will be scattered.
10 My strength has been amplified like a wild bull; I’ve been ensovereigned with prime commissioning.
11 I’ve witnessed the downfall of my enemies with my own eyes; the defeat of the impure who opposed me has reached my ears.
12-14 Individuals of integrity will thrive like green trees planted in a vibrant city plaza, bearing fruit and staying strong, even through the years.

15 announcing that the Sovereign Captain is upright, He is our Shelter, and there is no evil in Him.

§ 18900 PROCLAMATION SONG 93

93 The Sovereign Captain’s directives: He is adorned in splendor, decked in brilliance, and girded with awesome power; the whole planet is firmly set, unshakeable, and steadfast.
2 Your reign was established in ancient times; You have always been eternal.
3 The oceans have risen, Captain; they have raised thunderous roars and lifted their crashing waves.
4 The Sovereign Captain, reigning supreme in the celestial realms, is more powerful than the tumultuous roaring of deep waters or the forceful crashing waves of the ocean.
5 Your decrees, My Sovereign Captain, are steadfast; purification enhances Your fortress forever.

§ 18910 PROCLAMATION SONG 94

94 “Shine forth, My Sovereign Captain, the Preeminent Sovereign of vengeance, the Eternal Reality of revenge.
2 Arise, Judge of the Earth; deliver the due compensation to the arrogant.
3 My Sovereign Captain, how long will the fullness of unworthy choices keep rejoicing? For how long will they bask in elation?
4 Arrogant language flows from them. All those committing depraved acts brag incessantly.

5 Your people, My Sovereign Captain, are being shattered, and Your heritage is afflicted.
6 They slaughter the fatherless; they slay the widow and the immigrant.
7 They claim, ‘Jacob’s Preeminent Sovereign is not observing us; the Sovereign Captain doesn’t acknowledge our actions. ’
8 O thoughtless among the people, take notice! When will you, oh idiots, learn?
9 Isn’t the Innovator of the ear able to listen? Can’t the one who crafted the eye perceive?
10 Won’t the one instructing nations also correct them? Doesn’t the teacher of humanity possess understanding?
11 The Sovereign Captain fully understands all human intentions. He comprehends their insignificance.
12 Fortunate is the individual whom You discipline, My Sovereign Captain, whom You educate using Your Law;
13 You provide tranquility during adversity until a pit is prepared for the counterfeit.
14 The Eternal Reality will not turn His back on His chosen ones nor abandon His legacy.
15 Once more, the administration of justice will be based on integrity, and all those with authentic inner selves will uphold it.
16 Who will champion my cause against those who are full of unworthy choices? Who will stand by my side against those who do wrong?
17 Had the Sovereign Captain not assisted me, I would have quickly become DOA (dead on arrival).
18 If I express, ‘I am on the verge of falling, ’ Your steadfast affection, My Sovereign Captain, keeps me steady.
19 Your comfort brings happiness to my inner-self when I am worried.

20 Could an unjust leadership that induces suffering through its rulings ally with You?
21 Evil people join together against those who do what is right, sentencing those who aren’t guilty to their execution.
22 The Sovereign Captain has become my fortress, and my Preeminent Sovereign is the rock where I seek Shelter.
23 He will revisit their transgressions and annihilate them due to their iniquity; our Eternal Reality, the Sovereign Captain, will exterminate them.

§ 18920 PROCLAMATION SONG 95

95 Join us in expressing our happiness to the Sovereign Captain. Let’s joyously cry out to our Protector, who provides us redemption.
2 Approach His presence with gratitude and sing commendations filled with song and harmony.
3 Indeed, the Sovereign Captain is an extraordinary Preeminent Sovereign, the Eternal Reality transcending all idolized deities.

4 The Earth’s deepest recesses are in His hands, and the summits of the mountains are His.
5 The oceans belong to Him as He engineered them, and with His own hands, He terrascaped the terrain.
6 Elevate Him, prostrate yourselves, and submit before our Innovator, the Sovereign Captain.
7 He is our Sovereign Captain; we are the people He protects in His promised lands. If you would lend your ear to His words today,
8 avoid becoming stubborn like at Meribah, similar to that occasion at Massah in the remote wilderness,
9 where your forefathers put Me to the proof, scrutinizing Me despite witnessing My activities.

10 I harbored resentment against that era for four decades. I declared, “These are individuals whose inner selves wander off course and remain oblivious to My directions.”
11 In my fury, I emphatically vowed, “My tranquil shelter shall remain beyond their reach.”

§ 18930 PROCLAMATION SONG 96

96 Chant a fresh commendation to the Sovereign Captain. Let the entire world offer songs to the Eternal Reality.
2 Chant to the Sovereign Captain, elevate His Name, and declare His redemption day-to-day.
3 Transmit His grandeur to every nation and His marvelous acts to all neighborhoods.
4 The Sovereign Captain’s greatness is immense and genuinely deserving of eloquent adoration; His awe-inspiring essence surpasses all the idolized deities.
5 All idolized deities of other cultures are nothing more than artifacts, yet it was the Sovereign Captain who engineered the cosmos.
6 Majesty and recognition encompass His power, and loveliness resides in His Exalted Space.
7 All nations’ families credit the Sovereign Captain with acclaim, honor, and power.
8 Give the Sovereign Captain the honor His Name deserves; present a gift and enter into His Exalted Space.
9 Give adoration to the Sovereign Captain in His exquisite purity; quake in His presence all the globe.
10 Proclaim to all the nations, “the Sovereign Captain reigns!” The Earth stands firm and cannot be shaken. He will fairly judge the people.
11 May the celestial realms be full of delight, the Earth be filled with cheer; may the ocean and every creature within it bellow.

12 May the plains echo delight, and all within, let each tree in the woods belt out joyful melodies.
13 All living things should be joyful in the presence of the Sovereign Captain as He arrives to administer justice on Earth. He will integrally evaluate the world and trustfully assess all people.

§ 18940 PROCLAMATION SONG 97

97 The Sovereign Captain is the Preeminent Sovereign; let the Earth rejoice and distant shores be joyful.
2 Clouds and profound darkness envelop His presence; integrity and fairness are the bedrock of His rule.
3 Fire emanates from Him, incinerating adversaries around.
4 His lightning illuminates the planet; the Earth observes and shudders.

5 Mountains melt like wax before the Sovereign Captain, Sovereign of the entire planet.
6 The celestial realms declare His justice, and all nations testify His splendor.
7 Those who revere idolized deities should feel disgraced; they brag about their counterfeit idolized deities. Let every deity prostrate before the Preeminent Sovereign.
8 Yerushalayim listens and is elated, and Judah's towns express delight due to Your verdicts, My Sovereign Captain.
9 You, My Sovereign Captain, reign supreme over the entire Earth; You are elevated above all idolized deities.
10 Those fond of the Sovereign Captain should detest wrongdoing as He safeguards His committed pathseekers and rescues them from the unauthentic.
11 Illumination is given to the authentic and delight to those with integrity in their inner selves.

12 Find delight in the Sovereign Captain, you who do right, and acknowledge His Exalted Name.

§ 18950 PROCLAMATION SONG 98

98 Offer a fresh commendation to the Sovereign Captain, for He has performed marvelous deeds; His mighty hand and exalted arm have secured His triumph.
2 The Sovereign Captain has demonstrated His power to redeem and disclose His integrity to all nations.
3 He has kept in mind His devotion and loyalty to Israel; the furthest corners of the globe have witnessed our Preeminent Sovereign's redemption.
4 Let the whole Earth joyfully sing to the Sovereign Captain and burst into songs of delight with flowing tunes.
5 Perform tunes for the Sovereign Captain using a lyre accompanied by an echoing harp.
6 Blast the trumpets and blow the shofar, expressing delight in the presence of the Eternal Reality Supreme Sovereign Captain.
7 Permit the oceans to roar along with all their creatures, the whole planet, and all its inhabitants.
8 May the rivers applaud in unison, and the mountains harmonize their songs of delight.
9 Let them bring songs to honor the Sovereign Captain, for He approaches to bring justice on Earth. He will referee the world with integrity and administer fairness among the nations.

§ 18960 PROCLAMATION SONG 99

99 The Sovereign Captain rules, causing nations to shudder! He presides over the Celestial Envoys, prompting the Earth to shudder.
2 The Sovereign Captain's preeminence in the hub of David is apparent; He reigns supreme above all the nations.
3 "Let everyone admire Your immense and awe-inspiring identity—He is exalted."
4 The Preeminent Sovereign is Eternal Reality and cherishes fairness; You have initiated impartiality and acted with great integrity and fairness through Jacob.
5 Honor our Sovereign Captain, the Eternal Reality, and salute Him at His authority base, for He embodies exaltedness.
6 Moses and Aaron were part of His Mediatorship. Samuel was one of those who first invoked His Name; they implored the Sovereign Captain and received His response.
7 He communicated with them from a column of clouds; they observed His statutes and the directives He provided.

[8] Our Sovereign Captain and our Preeminent Sovereign, You responded to them; You to Israel, Your forgiving nature, yet You held them accountable for their wrong actions.
[9] Elevate our Sovereign Captain, our Preeminent Sovereign, and adore Him at His exalted hill. Our Preeminent Sovereign is set-apart.

§ 18970 PROCLAMATION SONG 100

(A Proclamation of Thanksgiving.)

100 Make a joyful noise to the Sovereign Captain, all the Earth's nations.
[2] Serve the Sovereign Captain cheerfully and approach Him with a triumphant song.
[3] Comprehend that the Sovereign Captain is the Preeminent Sovereign. He is the one who created us, and we belong to Him; we are His people, the community He cares for and nurtures."
[4] Approach His gates expressing gratitude, enter His courts singing commendations, express your thankfulness to Him, and elevate His Name.
[5] The Sovereign Captain is kind; His devotion persists perpetually, and His ultimate authenticity spans every generation.

§ 18980 PROCLAMATION SONG 101

(A Proclamation of David.)

101 I'll celebrate Your unwavering affection and fairness, My Sovereign Captain.
[2] I'll strive to maintain an impeccable life. When You plan to visit me, I'll walk in my dwelling with an inner-self of integrity.
[3] I refuse to let anything unworthy pass before my eyes. I detest the work of the disillusioned; such outcomes will not stick with me.
[4] I will distance myself from those with a twisted inner-self. I won't involve myself in any unethical actions.
[5] Anyone who whispers defamatory statements about their neighbor in secrecy, I will silence; anyone who possesses a disdainful gaze and an arrogant disposition, I will not endure.
[6] I will focus on the trustworthy individuals in the land, allowing them to reside with me; the person who leads a life of integrity will be privileged to serve me.
[7] A person who engages in dishonesty won't reside in my home. A liar won't remain within my sight.
[8] Each daybreak, I aim to eradicate the corrupt from the land and remove every evil individual from the Sovereign Captain's city.

§ 18990 PROCLAMATION SONG 102

(An intervention of an anxious individual who loses grip and expresses his heartache to the Sovereign Captain.)

102 My Sovereign Captain, hear my intervention and let my desperate call reach You.
[2] Do not turn away from me in my time of trouble; listen to my cry and swiftly respond when I reach out.
[3] My existence fades like smoke; my bones burn.
[4] My inner-self is stricken and parched like withered plants; I have lost my appetite.

5 My suffering triggers loud groans, leaving me with nothing but skin and bones.
6 I resemble a solitary owl in the desert, like a lone owl amid abandoned ruins.
7 I find myself unable to sleep, like a solitary bird perched atop a rooftop.
8 My adversaries ridicule me all day. They curse using my name.
9 I consume ashes instead of food and blend my beverages with my sobs.
10 You have lifted and heaved me away due to Your immense anger.
11 My life fades like a shadow at day's end, and I am like dry, dying grass.

12 However, You, My Sovereign Captain, rule eternally; Your fame persists across generations.
13 You will rise and extend mercy on the fortress of the Preeminent Sovereign because it's the right moment to grant her kindness; the designated moment has arrived.
14 Your loyal servants cherish every stone of hers and show compassion for her dust.
15 All Prime Rulers will honor Your grandeur, and Your Name will instill reverence among the nations.
16 The Sovereign Captain will reconstruct David's Hub, and His brilliance will be disclosed.
17 He will heed the intervention of the impoverished; their intervention will not be disregarded.
18 This reconstruction should be recorded for the forthcoming generation so that a race yet to exist may express its recognition to the Sovereign Captain.

19 The Sovereign Captain observed over the Earth from His celestial realm in a high place of exaltedness, 20 to listen to a prisoner's sighs and set free those destined for execution,
21 so that the Sovereign Captain's fame may be celebrated in the hub of David. His praises will resonate in Yerushalayim, 22 when nations and dominions come together to pay tribute to the Sovereign Captain.
23 He has sapped my vitality and reduced my days during my lifetime.
24 I pleaded: "Do not terminate my life, Captain, while I am still in the middle of my days; Your reality stretches from generation to generation.
25 In its inception, Your powers established the foundations of the Earth and innumerable celestial realms.
26 All these creations will eventually disappear, yet You endure; everything else will become worn out like an old garment. You will recycle these creations with new clothing, and they will be forever changed.
27 You stay constant, and Your energy will never cease.
28 The offspring of Your administrators will dwell in Your sight; their heirs will remain secure before You."

§ 19000 PROCLAMATION SONG 103

(From David)

103 "Exalt the Eternal Reality, my essence; every element within me, honor His exalted name.
2 Exalt the Sovereign Captain, my inner-self, and do not overlook His kindness.
3 He pardons all your iniquities and restores all your health afflictions.
4 He rescues your life from destruction and adorns you with affection and mercy,
5 who provides you with pleasant things, reviving your youth like a soaring eagle.

6 The Sovereign Captain performs deeds of integrity and brings justice to mistreated people.
